Raccoon Has Pendant For Joy Riding

Add a raccoon with a pendant for joy riding in a jeep to the list of crazy characters in the wild-life world.

Game men at the conservation department's Rose Lake wildlife station still are puzzled as to whether the young male raccoon used springs, differential housing or something else as a concealed perch for a bouncing three mile ride on the underside of a jeep.

Game biologist James Wheeler, running trap lines, tagged and released the animal. As many of the released 'coons do, this one temporarily scurried for cover beneath the jeep. Two hours and several miles later, Wheeler went home for lunch. After eating, game workers spotted a young raccoon near the jeep, which they trapper. Tag number proved it to be the same raccoon.

Mrs. Gus Anderson Badly Shaken Up In Accident Wednesday

In an accident at 6:30 p. m., Wednesday, a car, driven by Mrs. Gus Anderson, was damaged quite extensively in the front end. The scene of the accident was the LaLonde Hill on the East Jordan-Ellsworth Road.

According to Howard Johnson of Hart, Mich., a car driven by Dr. Beuker of East Jordan, stopped while descending the hill to determine the reason for the truck Johnson was driving being stalled on the hill. Immediately upon stopping, Mrs. Anderson approached over the top of the hill headed West and, evidently blinded by the sun, collided with the rear of Beuker's car.

Owned by the Hart Cherry Packers, the truck driven by Johnson was loaded with 10 1/2 tons of cherry juice from the Reid Murdoch plant at Ellsworth. About two weeks ago this same truck had the same misfortune and had to be assisted over the hill by Jack's Service wrecker from Boyne City.

Mrs. Anderson was badly shaken up but neither she or the ladies riding with her enroute to work at Ellsworth suffered any other ill effects.

If Hit By a Swinging Golf Club, May You Collect Damages?

A young married couple went for a round of golf, taking a friend along to watch the game. On the third tee, the husband made a bad drive. His wife exclaimed: "No, dear, you should keep your eye on the ball—like this." So saying, she seized a club and quickly swung at an imaginary ball. Unfortunately, ly, the friend was standing right next to her—and was caught unawares. The club hit him on the forehead, and knocked him flat. Later he sued the young woman for damages, on grounds of negligence. She contended: "Anybody who goes on a golf course has to take the risk that accidents of this kind will happen." However, the court ruled that she must pay for the friend's injury. The judge said that when a golfer makes a sudden, unexpected swing, she should at least look around to see that the coast is clear.

Should a Wife Be Condemned For Saving a Love Letter From an Old Friend?

A 65-year-old man wedded a 23-year-old girl, with unhappy consequences. It seems that the husband was jealous of a young man with whom the girl had formerly "gone steady." One fateful day, while rummaging through his wife's dresser, the man came upon a recent letter from the youth—proposing an illicit liaison. Promptly the husband filed suit for divorce on grounds of adultery. He told the court: "Where there's smoke, there's fire. If my wife is innocent, why would she keep such a letter?" However, the court refused to grant a decree, ruling that there was insufficient evidence of adultery. The judge said that merely saving the letter didn't prove the girl liked what it said—or ever accepted its invitation.

Should You Use Kerosene To Revive a Dying Fire?

A young couple rented a log cabin for a week's vacation. The first morning, the wife got up early and soon had a blaze going in the wood stove. When the fire began to grow feeble, she seized a can of kerosene and poured it into the stove. There was a blast, and the young woman suffered painful injuries. Afterward she brought a damage suit against the manufacturer of the kerosene, on the ground that the liquid's "flash point was too low." But the court turned down her claim. The judge said that pouring kerosene on a fire, no matter how feeble, is "contributory negligence."

Is it Negligence To Pet a Strange Dog?

An artist noticed that his bulldog was developing an ugly disposition, but he just couldn't bring himself to get rid of the animal. One day a woman passerby saw the dog on the sidewalk and reached out to pet him. He snarled, ducked, and then bit her in the leg. When the woman sued the artist for letting such an ill-tempered dog run loose, he retorted that she was equally responsible for the mishap. "It is plain carelessness," he argued, "for anybody to pet a strange dog." However, the court disagreed and granted the woman's claim. The judge said it's not wrong to pet a dog—even without a formal introduction!

A stenographer hurried too long at lunch, and had to hurry back to her office. On the way, she decided to take a short cut through the corridor of another building. There was a stairway in the corridor, and, as the girl put her foot on the first step, it cracked. She lost her balance, fell, and injured her elbow. Later she sued the owner of the building for his "negligence" in the maintenance of the premises—but the court turned down her claim. The judge said the owner was not responsible.

A COMBINATION OF GOOD FISHING & GOOD BATHING MUCH SOUGHT AFTER

What is a good fishing lake on which to buy a lot?

While the conservation department does not recommend purchasing a cottage site on any one particular lake in preference to others, it is suggesting to numerous inquirers several important points which should be considered in choosing a lot.

"Lakes with the combination of good fishing water and a good bathing beach of course are most sought after," reminds A. B. Cook, assistant state fisheries chief. "And they are least numerous since the two types of recreational uses generally mean different lake conditions. "Gun lake, Barry county; Orchard lake, Oakland county; and Hamlin lake in Mason county are examples of locations in this category. However many persons easily find a way of satisfying both requirements by locating the cottage on an ideal bathing lake which is but a short distance from good fishing water."

Cook sites Higgins and Houghton lakes—the former with natural bathing beaches its prime asset and the latter always noted for fine fishing. Still another popular variation is locating on a good bathing lake which is centrally located and surrounded by several good fishing lakes. An example is Crystal lake in Montcalm county which is within 10 miles of a dozen or more good fishing spots.

Once a person has made up his mind what his recreational demands are in terms of lake character and location, Cook continues, a closer appraisal of possible lot sites is warranted.

The would-be cottager should check: stability of lake water level, possible inlet and outlet to the lake, and whether a legal lake level ever has been set. In checking plat restrictions and title records, he should determine whether the lot gives him exclusive riparian rights or whether the property is subject to certain public rights. In the event riparian rights are restricted, he should find out if there is other reasonable access for boating, bathing and fishing. He should determine that good well water is available at reasonable depth and that the land is high enough above the lake level to allow installation of septic tank and sewage disposal field.

One of the best means of finding out whether the lake has the facilities desired, Cook suggests, is to rent a cottage or camp on the lake and spend several weeks there if possible.

He who laughs last may laugh best, but he soon acquires a reputation for being sort of dumb.

He: "You should see the beautiful altar in our church." She: "Lead me to it."

He: "I'm knee deep in love with you." She: "I'll put you on my wading list."

MILDEW CAN BE PREVENTED EASILY

Muggy, warm, weather is the ideal time for the molds that cause mildew. They thrive on cloth, paper, wood and leather, warns Olevia Meyer, Michigan State College extension specialist. Mildew discolors, leaves a musty odor and causes decay.

First step in preventing mildew is to remove moisture. Windows and doors should be opened for airing only when the air outside is cooler and drier than the air inside. A cool night is a good time to freshen the air in the entire house and a little heat in a stove will speed up the drying process.

Electric fans are helpful in circulating the warm damp air out. A small electric light burning in a closet is sufficient to dry the air and a fan may be used for circulation.

One of the chemicals available to absorb moisture is calcium chloride. If a musty odor persists it may be removed by sprinkling chloride of lime in the areas, as on a basement floor.

A few simple rules will help you prevent mildew from growing on clothing and other household articles. Never allow damp or wet articles to lie around. Stretch out to dry all moist or wet soiled clothing and unironed dampened garments. Sprinkle only enough pieces for one day's ironing. Give leather articles a coat of wax before storing. Remember to wax the soles of shoes, too.

If mildew stain remains after washing and drying in the sun, it may be bleached out by moistening with lemon juice and salt and then spreading in the sun. Use this treatment with care on colored clothes advises Olevia Meyer, Michigan State College home economist.

If your cake falls perhaps you are not using the right sized pan. When pans are too small the cake batter will run over the edges and burn. When the pans are too large the cake tends to be thin and overbaked.

If you are having difficulty in getting your youngsters to drink their full quota of milk every day, try disguising it as a milk shake or a special fruit drink, advise Michigan State College home economists.

Hard cooked eggs for summer picnics, salads, and cold plates should be cooled promptly to prevent over-cooking and to help prevent the dark ring that sometimes appears around the yolk.

In building fires for camp cooking, oak, elm, white ash, and hickory give long lasting coals. Remember that huge forest fires can start from a smoldering match. Be sure your fire is completely out before you leave it.

Dairy Products Form Big Part of Industry

We usually think of the dairy cow primarily as a source of income for farmers and fresh milk for our tables. G. G. Quackenbush, dairy economist at Michigan State College, says we shouldn't overlook her important role as provider for specialized manufacturing operations which have become big business in Michigan.

More than two billion pounds of milk, over half of Michigan's total commercial supply, is processed into manufactured dairy products in state dairy plants each year.

Butter accounts for 40 percent of all milk used for manufactured products, according to Quackenbush. About 43 million pounds of butter were produced in Michigan in 1948, requiring approximately 900 million pounds of milk. It takes about 21 pounds of milk to make one pound of butter.

The next most important use of milk for manufacturing was for evaporated and condensed milk products. This group took about 600 million pounds of milk in 1948.

Ice cream was third. About 362 million pounds of milk were used to produce more than 26 million gallons of ice cream. Cheese raked fourth using 245 million pounds of milk.

Quackenbush reports that nearly two-thirds of Michigan's ice cream production is centered in a 10-county area surrounding Detroit. Two-thirds of the cheese produced in the state is made in the Upper Peninsula.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Reds Make New Advance in Korea; Living Costs Continue to Climb Truman Asks Mobilization Steps;

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

KOREA:

Reds Advance

For four weeks Americans had picked up their morning newspapers and read about the Communist advances in Korea. Now, as the fifth week of the conflict began, the Reds continued to make advances, but not with the ease of the early weeks of the invasion.

The military picture in Korea was not bright by any means, but at the same time, it was not so hopeless as it seemed a few days ago.

The Communists had advanced into Yongdong, about 20 miles south of fallen Taejon, on the central front. Along the western coast, the Communists advanced south to Mokpo on the southern tip of Korea. On the northern front that touches the east coast, Yongdok, captured by American forces, was retaken by Red troops.

North Korean troops had captured two-thirds of South Korea and were continuing steady pressure upon American and South Korean troops. The line was slowly being pushed back toward the main American supply port of Pusan.

According to U. S. military experts, however, the picture had its brighter side. They pointed to the number of reinforcements that have reached Korea, the telling blows of the U. S. air force on supply lines and tanks, and the success of the new 3 1/2-inch bazooka against Red tanks.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, commander of United Nations forces in Korea, made the statement that the Communists have lost their chance for victory.

A new view of the conflict has been taken by the Pentagon. At first the Korean affair was looked upon as a minor fight which this country could take care of in six months. That estimate has been revised sharply upward.

There is no lack of optimism over the eventual result, but there is a clearly defined desire to discourage any thought of a swift victory. In fact, some military authorities report it may be next spring before an offensive can be launched and as many as 200,000 men may be used in it.

A general summary of the situation would seem to indicate the picture has many unpleasant features, but is not entirely hopeless.

LIVING COSTS:

Continue to Climb

To the average American, the man who has a definite income within which he must live, a new and serious worry has appeared. Prices have continued to climb since the beginning of the Korean war, not as fast as the first days after the opening of the conflict, but a steady upward spiral that is beginning to cause hardship for those with low incomes.

The creeping advance widened out through the list of goods, clothing and food. Only a few items essential to America's standard of living remained at the level of the first frightening days of the Korean conflict.

The experts believe the American people are bringing the increases upon themselves. Consumers still crowded into stores to stock up on goods they remembered as scarce in the last war. Department store sales soared 24 percent above the same period of last year. The greatest gain was 39 percent in Dallas, Texas.

Sugar, coffee, cocoa, flour, lard and eggs were reported higher throughout the country. The price of meat climbed rapidly in some localities, although wholesale prices were reported to have fallen since the opening of the Korean conflict.

Observers pointed out that by hoarding, Americans are creating a demand. In turn retailers are taking advantage of the demand and increasing prices for quick profit.

It was the old story of quick profit and greed and the selfishness of a minor group of individuals causing hardship on the public generally.

As compared to prices a week before the conflict began, tin was up 15 cents a pound, wheat up 18 1/2 cents a bushel, rubber up 1 1/2 cents a pound, eggs up 8 cents a dozen, lard up 4 1/2 cents a pound, and hogs up $4 a hundredweight.

This trend, if continued, can mean price controls will become necessary. It may mean, also, rationing of food, clothing and vital industrial materials.

POPULATION:

Up 19 Million

The 1950 population of the United States has been estimated at 150,520,000, almost 19 million higher than the 1940 total, the Census bureau reports.

The nation's population has just about doubled in 50 years and the 1940 to 1950 jump was the greatest for any 10-year period in history. The figures will not be official until checked and revised where necessary.

Eisenhower

Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, president of Columbia University and a national defense consultant of President Truman, wears a quizzical expression as he is interviewed by newsmen. He does not see today's Korean fighting as necessarily the start of World War III, but insisted "we've got to win". He added, "If our forces in Korea are defeated the entire world will be thrown into another great war."

TRUMAN:

Report to Congress

President Truman in his message to congress on the Korean situation called for $10,000,000,000 down payment on a vast mobilization drive to win the war and combat any Red aggression elsewhere in the world.

He left no doubt in the minds of Americans, and the world in general, about the situation when he said:

"The free world has made it clear, through the United Nations, that lawless aggression will be met with force. This is the significance of Korea and it is a significance whose importance cannot be overlooked."

"I shall not attempt to predict the course of events. But I am sure that those who have it in their power to unleash or withhold acts of armed aggression must realize that new recourse to aggression in the world today might well strain to the breaking point the fabric of world peace. We will not flinch in the face of danger or difficulty."

He recommended anti-inflation controls, a swift stepping up of war production, additional huge sums to arm non-Communist nations and a sharp boost in taxes. He authorized the calling of reservists and guardsmen, along with free use of the draft law to build up fighting units. Secretary of Defense Johnson was authorized to call units as needed.

A summary of the steps asked of congress:

Remove all statutory limits on size of the armed forces.

Provide $10,000,000,000 additional military funds; details to be supplied later.

Authorize a priorities-and-allocation system for materials for non-essential purposes; prevent inventory hoarding; authorize seizure of materials needed for the fighting effort.

Authorize government loans and loan guarantees to spur defense productions.

SECURITY:

Call F. B. I.

President Truman's statement asking all law-enforcement officers and amateur detectives to channel suspicious information regarding espionage, sabotage, and subversive activities, to the F. B. I. has caused many Americans to wonder what is in store for the U. S.

The statement presumably was prompted by the Korean war. Truman stressed that all such inquiries "must be conducted in a comprehensive manner on a national basis, and all information carefully sifted out and correlated in order to avoid confusion".

Truman made no mention of Communists in his statement. Anyone with information should report in person to the nearest F. B. I. office, located in each of the nation's 51 major cities, or ask the telephone operator to connect them to the nearest office, an F. B. I. spokesman reported.

The spokesman emphasized the informant's identity would be kept confidential and he would not normally be brought face to face with the accused. He said anonymous letters are not welcome.

Unemployment

With nearly everything going up these days, it is astonishing to find anything going down very fast. There is one thing, however: the number of payments to the unemployed.

According to the labor department, between January and June there was a 30 per cent drop in the number of people drawing unemployment insurance benefits under state laws.

FOOD SUPPLY:

More Than Enough

As prices continued to climb, the government began a campaign of telling the American people there is more than enough food in this country and that hoarding is selfish and unnecessary.

President Truman stressed that point in a recent speech and the department of agriculture repeated it with a statement that the nation's food supply is so plentiful that price increases are unwarranted.

The department's report stated flatly that with high production prospects and large storage stocks, supplies of food for civilians in this country are expected to continue at the same high level as in past years.

"There has apparently been some speculative buying and price increases in food in recent weeks substantially similar to those occurring in 1939, which receded as soon as consumers realized that food supplies are adequate," the report said.

But the increases in prices, despite the report, caused a number of repercussions on the home front. An immediate investigation into supply, demand and cost was indicated by some government sources. American housewives added their voice to the turmoil. More than one retailer found his displays ignored and demands for price controls and even rationing were being heard in some quarters.

The government reported commodities on which stocks were high included dairy products, eggs, poultry and potatoes. Fruits and vegetables were termed ample. Total meat output in 1950 probably will be slightly larger than last year, the report said.

Many believe any campaign the government might launch for voluntary rationing is doomed to failure.

AUTOMOBILES:

Production Drop

A spokesman for the automobile industry has predicted a sharp dip in the industry's production within the next five months.

Evidently many Americans have already figured the same way, because dealers throughout the country report a great jump in orders for new automobiles. In many localities waiting lists have already been formed.

The automobile industry does not need a big volume of war orders to curtail its civilian car and truck production. All that is needed is the diversion of large amounts of steel to arms output. Building automobiles also takes a lot of critical materials besides steel. It requires copper, zinc, aluminum, lead and other such materials vital to aircraft and other war weapons.

As a result, estimates of this year's probable car and truck output were being revised downward. Before the Korean outbreak, industry sources agreed 1950 vehicle output would approximate 7,000,000 units, even with numerous shut-downs for new model change-overs.

Now most informed sources don't want to guess how many vehicles will be added in the rest of the year to the 4,255,373 built since January 1.

Landing

In a surprise move the First Cavalry Division of the U. S. Army made a beachhead landing near Pohang on the east coast of Korea. The landing was made without casualties or opposition.

SENATOR TAFT:

Pay as We Go

Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio, who has preached economy and a balanced budget to the Democratic administration for years, caused a mild wave of shock among many legislators when he proposed slapping taxes on everybody immediately to pay for the Korean war.

The senator said the Russian threat is clamping a "semi-military" condition on the U. S. at a "permanent" extra cost of $10 to $20 a billion a year.

"Since this is not a temporary condition but one that may continue indefinitely, we should tax the people for the whole cost," said Taft. He observed the condition may last "perhaps 10 or 15 years".

Many observers believe that pressure is building up on congress for quick and drastic tax boosts to carry the defense load.

LEOPOLD III:

Uneasy Return

Leopold III, King of the Belgians, returned to his throne after an absence of six years, but it was not a secure throne observers believed.

The king surrendered to the Nazis in 1944 and was held prisoner by them during World War II. He is unpopular with a large group because he did not resist the Germans to the last ditch in the early years of the war. Many do not like his wife who is a commoner.

He Loved Teaching
Lesson for August 13, 1950

WHAT WOULD you do if you had a million dollars? Several thousand school teachers were asked that question a few years ago. Seventy-five per cent of them gave the same answer: "I'd resign." They weren't real teachers, they were only hired help. The other twenty-five per cent were the real teachers. A great university teacher, Palmer of Harvard, wrote that he had the perfect job. Believe it or not, he said, "Harvard actually pays me for doing what—if I could afford it—I would gladly pay Harvard to let me do."

No Finished Product
THE REAL thing about teaching is that you are dealing with people, young people, growing people. In every other line of business, whatever you turn out begins to depreciate almost as soon as it leaves the factory. It doesn't take long for butter to get rancid, or bread stale. A cold-storage egg is a feeble imitation of a fresh one. A car that has changed hands once, even if it has run less than 1,000 miles, is already a "used" car on its way to the junk-pile. But the products of the teacher's classroom are by no means "finished" products when they leave it, even if it is a finishing school. If the teacher's work has been done well, the product will go on improving for years, instead of running down.

Three Aims
PROFESSOR EZRA, of Babylon and Jerusalem, was one of history's most famous teachers. We note (Ezra 7:10) the same three aims in Ezra's life that you would expect to find in all good teachers. First of all, he "prepared his heart" to do what he did. The "heart" is the Bible expression for character, for life as a whole. No one can be a truly good teacher who has a bad character. Now Ezra prepared his heart to do three things. The first was to "seek the law of the Lord." What a teacher teaches may be as important as who his pupils are; and Ezra's "subject" was the law which God had given his people—part of what we now call the Old Testament. Nowadays this is called research, but a simple word for it is just study. A lazy teacher is a poor one. A good teacher will spend more time studying than any of the pupils do—and will learn more, too. In fact, the best way to learn anything, including the Bible, is to try to teach it for a while. Second, Ezra prepared his heart to do the law. The old sneer, "He who can, does; he who cannot, teaches," is true of poor teachers, not of the good ones. Particularly not true of Bible teachers. The aim of Bible teaching, from Moses' time till now, is always practical, "Truth is in order to goodness," as the Presbyterians say. One who has not tried out the Bible ideals in daily living will never do for a Bible teacher. And third, Ezra set out to "teach in Israel." Your research scholar may or may not make a good teacher. The good teacher is not bored by teaching as some researchers are. He loves it. He is happiest at it.

Take Yourself, for Example
NOW LET US see how this comes out in your own home Sunday school. If yours is like most Sunday schools, the main trouble with it is that they can't find enough good teachers, enough people who really want to know about God's word themselves, who live and love to help others know it. The Rev. H. M. Lewis of Texas has said in his essay, The Dividends of Teaching:

"When you begin to teach you will realize that at last you have found a purpose for your religion. Teaching gives a motive, the highest motive, for all acts of religion and for all pursuit of knowledge—'For their sakes.' Every Christian has the missionary obligation and is by virtue of his profession of faith, a missionary.—'Go, teach all nations.' Make your particular nation young America and your special opportunity systematic work in the Church school. Once you believe that you must be a teacher because you are a Christian... you will have heard your life's call."

If a Bull Gets Loose in a China Shop, Must the Bull's Owner Pay for the Damage?

A farmer was leading his prize bull through a village street one morning when the usually placid beast suddenly broke loose. Spying an open door, he charged right through—and found himself in (of all places!) a china shop. The farmer and the storekeeper did their best to shoo the animal out, but it took them 45 hectic minutes to accomplish the task. By that time the shop was a shambles, and the merchant later sued the farmer for the damage done. But the court held the farmer not liable. The judge said that the bull's action was so sudden and unexpected that the farmer could not have prevented it.

May a Religious Sect Practice Communism?

Twenty young couples formed a new religious sect, based on the common ownership of all their worldly goods. Each one sold whatever he owned, and put the proceeds into a single fund—to be used according to the needs of the members. But as converts flocked to the sect, the treasury sank lower and lower. At last one of the original couples quit, and filed suit to get back their "investment." The pair contended: "This was a communistic scheme, contrary to the policies of our country. Therefore the entire deal was null and void, and we are entitled to a refund of our money." But the court turned down their demand, ruling that the arrangement had been perfectly legal. The judge said that people have a constitutional right to put their religious beliefs into practice, so long as they don't infringe on the rights of outsiders.

When a Doctor Retires, May He Sell His Name to Another Doctor?

An elderly doctor made the following proposition to a young man recently out of medical school: "Pay me $4,000 per year, and in return you can have my office, my practice, and my reputation. You can even use my name, and tell patients that you are me." The young man agreed and the contract went into effect. Soon after, the older doctor had a change of heart and decided to "call the whole thing off." When his successor carried the matter to court, the judge ruled that the pact was illegal and unenforceable. His Honor pointed out that the effect of the agreement was to deceive the unsuspecting public.

Is it Dangerous To Contradict a Judge?

A man was summoned before a judge in connection with a probe of local gangsterism. When the judge made a remark about the course of the inquiry, the man said: "Your Honor, your comment is so utterly wrong that I'm surprised you would even say such a thing." The judge was furious at this impudence, and sentenced the man to five days in jail for "contempt of court." But when the matter was appealed, the upper court decided that the judge had been altogether too sensitive—and cancelled the sentence. The higher court said that a person has a perfect right to voice his disagreement with a judge, so long as he does it in a respectful manner.

A railroad worker picked up a bad case of poison ivy, while clearing underbrush away from the tracks. He was laid up for several weeks and later filed a claim for workmen's compensation. The company protested: "The compensation law protects against accidents, but not against diseases—and poison ivy is a disease." However, the court gave the worker a substantial award. The judge said that, although poison ivy develops as a disease, it begins with an accident.

Henry LaClair and son, Dennis Ray, of Great Falls, Montana, arrived Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Nowland for a two-week visit with them and other relatives here and in Ellsworth. He will also visit relatives at Lansing and Monroe. He is employed with the Mountain State Telephone Co. in Montana.

The Penalty of Paying Cash!

When this man was released from the army five years ago, he had two ambitions: to become a partner in his father's architectural firm and to own his own house.

Four years later, after supervising construction of a notable cathedral, he was made a partner in the firm. Then he bought a lot and drew up the plans for his house.

Plans in hand, he went to one of the city's large banks to arrange for a loan. He was assured the loan would be made.

But the investigations hit a snag. The various credit agencies reported they had no rating or history on this individual. He assured the bank there was nothing unusual about this because he had always been a buyer for cash; in fact he was in a position to make the down payment on his house because of careful handling of his money.

Needless to say, the loan was denied. Furiously this man set about establishing a credit rating. He opened charge accounts at department stores and turned his wife loose; he bought an automobile and a washing machine, both on time.

Shortly thereafter the credit agencies were making flattering reports on him. The last of its qualifications having been met, the bank granted him a loan.

"This is an ideal spot for a picnic," said the father of the family. "Sure, it must be," agreed his wife. "Fifty million insects can't be wrong."

NATION WEEPS

Recalls Last War Message

NEW YORK—A little over eight years ago, May 6, 1942, to be exact, the United States suffered one of its worst defeats after a hard, bitter battle—the fall of Corregidor.

And, it was on that day that Irving Strobog, 22, a radio operator in the signal corps, sent the farewell message that made a nation weep.

Strobog was on General Wainwright's staff and knew on May 5 that surrender was only a matter of hours. He helped set up the broadcast by which surrender was arranged for the next day at noon.

Even with surrender arranged, however, the Japanese continued to attack. Then, when he had cleared all official radio traffic, Strobog began to send his own account of the surrender and moments leading up to it.

It's Haunted Now

This is what they received in Honolulu: "We are waiting for God only knows what . . . lots of heavy fighting going on. General Wainwright is a right guy and we are willing to go for him, but shells were dropping all night faster than hell. Damage terrific. Too much for guys to take . . . Corregidor used to be a nice place, but it's haunted now . . ."

He told about the surrender broadcast and then went on: "The jig is up. Everyone is bawling like a baby. They are piling dead and wounded in our tunnel . . . I know now how a mouse feels, caught in a trap and waiting for guys to come along and finish it up . . ."

Then, as the first Japanese tank approached the tunnel from which he was sending his messages: "My name is Irving Strobog. Get this to my mother, Mrs. Minnie Strobog, 605 Barbey street, Brooklyn, New York . . . My love to Pa, Joe, She, Mac, Garry, Joyce and Paul. God bless 'em all. Hope they will be there when I come home."

"Tell Joe wherever he is to give 'em hell for us!"

Shocked Nation

That was the last message from Corregidor. Army and navy officials at Honolulu hovered over radios. But there was only silence. A month later a stunned nation wept when the last broadcast was made public.

But Irving Strobog went home to Brooklyn. In October, 1945, he went home just like he said he would. After that there was a round of publicity and welcome that upset Strobog who had spent the intervening years in a Japanese prison camp.

A regular army man, he stayed in after the war and went to Paris for a while. He later resigned to take a job in Paris.

That patchy and profane last message probably shocked the nation as much as did the attack on Pearl Harbor. That was just a little over eight years ago.

Illustrating the A-1 problem of Michigan governments since Pearl Harbor is this personal story of how your "Michigan Mirror" writer in 1940 invested $75 to buy a $100 U. S. Defense bond.

That was ten years ago. The bond will come due next month—September. In ten years the value of the investment will have increased 33 1/3 percent, or about 3 1/3 percent each year. Our profit in terms of 1940 dollars will be $25.

But what has happened to the purchasing power of the 1940 dollar?

No secret about that. It is worth about 60 cents, probably a bit less.

The loss is $40. Thus, our $75 bond investment of 1940 is going to bring us $60 worth of 1940 dollars. That, ladies and gentlemen, is what inflation has done to Michigan governments and Michigan citizens in the past ten years. By constantly driving down the purchasing power of the dollar, inflation causes a perpetual off-balance. As cost of living goes up, wages must be increased. As wages go higher, prices must go up. It's a senseless merry-go-round at the best.

Our purpose in calling attention to our 1940 investment is not to criticize buying of government bonds. Our intangible return from that 1940 bond was the priceless right of freedom, our American heritage which you and I would have lost if Germany and Japan had won World War II.

We would like to emphasize one point: The postwar inflation problems of Michigan governments and Michigan people will become WORSE, not better, unless our government at Washington acts immediately to avoid the tragic mistakes of World War II.

Every now and then a voice is heard at Washington which courageously forewarns against the needless price of inflation.

Bernard Baruch, chairman of the 1918 War Industries Board during World War I, has been advisor to two presidents through two world wars. Recently he appeared before the Senate Banking Currency Committee at Washington. He condemned the Truman plan for priorities over production (without price and wage controls) as an open invitation to more inflation.

Here is a quotation: "It may be argued that the menace of inflation is not so frightful today, since we are not yet at war. Actually, the danger is greater. Today our economy already is operating at full blast, with little or no slack. Our national debt is about 257 billion dollars, about six times what it was when Hitler invaded Poland. Living costs have climbed so high that serious hardship already is being inflicted on many, particularly those with low or fixed incomes.

"Everywhere cities and States are searching desperately for the means of raising the salaries of teachers, firemen, policemen, nurses and others whose real wages have been so cruelly slashed by the inflation of the last 10 years. How much further can our cities and States go and still avoid disaster?"

"The inflation of the last 10 years has undermined the stability of all our colleges, churches, hospitals and other institutions, shrinking the value of endowment funds while raising operating costs.

"It is forcing the reorganization of health insurance and hospitalization plans raising the cost beyond the capacity of many to pay.

"It is cheapening the real worth of all insurance, all annuities, all savings.

"How much more inflation can our society stand?"

"Price and other controls are often opposed out of fear that such measures will concentrate power in the Government and threaten our freedoms. By inclination, I, too, am opposed to Government controls. But the gravest threats to the preservation of the American system today are not Government controls. They are military defeat abroad and further inflation at home."

Mr. Baruch pointed out that the Congressional price control bill of 1942 "legalized inflation" by permitting "wages to run free and farm prices to rise to 110 percent of parity." The result: "A terrible price" paid by inflation which "added a hundred billions to the cost of the war, needlessly prolonging the conflict, unnecessarily increasing the toll of dead and wounded."

That's why our $75 bond of 1940 paid off with only $60.

Dangers Resulting From Failure To Obey Stop Signs

Chief Harry Simmons today announced that the East Jordan Police Department is participating with the Michigan State Highway Department and the Michigan State Safety Commission in a program to save lives and prevent accidents by emphasizing the dangers resulting from failure to obey stop signs.

The special importance of this program is illustrated by State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler's statement that "Every day millions of motorists traveling on the 107,000 miles comprising Michigan's highway system are dependent for their safety on stop sign protection, and that this situation has been made much more critical because since 1941 there has been an increase of 1/3 more traffic which has badly overloaded many of these highways."

According to Chief Harry Simmons several thousand of the most serious accidents in Michigan last year were due to a failure of motorists to obey stop signs.

Chief Simmons urges all local organizations to cooperate in the campaign by stressing the importance of observing stop signs to their members.

In commenting on how to avoid stop sign accidents he said "The driver of a car approaching a stop sign has a responsibility to come to a full stop, look carefully to the right and left, and wait for a gap in traffic wide enough to permit safe entry". If all motorists will cooperate on this safety campaign by obeying stop signs, many lives can be saved, the Chief stated.

Justice

Very Strict at Times

MILWAUKEE — Coley B. McAllister, 37, has learned that judges can be very strict.

McAllister was released from the house of correction after serving 30 days for vagrancy. A couple of days later he stopped Patrolman Clement Schmidt and said: "Take me in. I want another 30 days."

Again he was taken before District Judge Harvey L. Neelen on a vagrancy charge. Said the defendant:

"I've reconsidered my proposition, judge. I don't want any more time in jail. What I plan to do is write to my sister in Greenville, S. C., and ask her for money to return home."

"Well, you can do that when you're in the county jail," replied the judge. "There'll be pen and ink."

"Oh, I won't get any money if I have to write from jail," McAllister said.

"What difference does it make where you write the letter to your sister?"

"It makes all the difference in the world: I planned to tell her to send me money because I was sick."

"That would be obtaining money under false pretenses," said the judge. "Ten days in the house of correction."

Air Force Drops Thousands of Men On War Games Area

SOUTHERN PINES—The army air force, in constant search for new and improved methods of delivering men and equipment to any given area for defense or attack, recently completed the largest maneuver since the war in which thousands of men and tons of supplies were delivered by parachute.

In the first 48 hours of operation Swarmer, 15,465 men invaded the North Carolina "combat zone" by parachute or were landed on the airstrip "captured" by first invaders.

Supplies totaling 6,397 tons, including jeeps and three-quarter ton trucks, were also delivered by air. Some of the jeeps and much of the supplies were parachuted from the 807 flights that passed over the area.

In all, 44,000 troops and 46,000 tons were delivered into the zone by air during the 11 day maneuver.

Air Force and Army leaders indicated that they believed the practice airlift, although far from perfect in execution, was demonstrating the practicability of an entirely air-flown attack or counter-attack.

Gen. J. Lawton Collins, army chief of staff, called the maneuver "wonderful" and said it was "the biggest step forward since the war."

Much of the technique used in dropping men and supplies, and scheduling flights over the combat area, were developed in the "Berlin airlift," army officials reported.

Officers said that much of the improvised loading and unloading equipment had not worked as well as expected during the maneuver.

They added, however, that the purpose of the operation was to find answer to those questions:

"How did we err in planning?" "What is good and bad about our equipment?"

The maneuver was a severe test of airborne operations and answered many of the defense department's questions.

Skunks Invade Canadian Town; Citizens Evacuate

PARIS, ONT. — Twisting Shakespeare slightly, the residents of Paris are convinced that a skunk by any other names will smell just as bad.

They should know. Three hundred skunks invaded the town, leaving hundreds of wounded human dignities in its wake. Chickens were killed. Houses were evacuated. And cleaning firms were conducting the greatest amount of business in years.

The army of skunks indiscriminately victimized men, women and children from ambush under porches and in chicken coops.

A skirmish between a group of girls and a family of skunks in the basement of the Y. W. C. A. forced all residents to evacuate.

Alen Clarkson, town councillor, one of the chief victims of the invasion, was ambushed just outside his front door. Several other skunks contaminated his beehives.

Clarkson suggested traps in the human counteroffensive on the invaders. He will be delighted, he said, to give each of the pests a whiff of the exhaust from his automobile in retaliation for the whiffs they have been giving the town.

Hen Rides Three Days Under Hood of Car; Lays Two Eggs

MEMPHIS — W. H. Ellis complained for days about the smell coming from the hood of his automobile. When he finally lifted the hood, he found a hen and two eggs, one broken, the other perfect.

Ellis described the hen as singed and pretty bedraggled. He calculated that he had driven about 90 miles with her under the hood.

At Our Tourist Park

The weather didn't seem to hinder the crowd that came to enjoy themselves in the recreation building on Wednesday evening as there was a very large group of both young and old. Everyone seemed to enjoy themselves immensely. The orchestra kept everyone dancing in any kind of a dance one cares for. Carl Bergman was also on hand to call. We thank the Community Chest for sponsoring these fine supervised Wednesday evening dances.

On Thursday evening the Original Birthday Club held their co-operative dinner in the dining hall. There were twelve members and two guests present. The honored guests were Myrtle Cook of Drayton Plains, and Maud Fites of Aberdeen, South Dakota.

The recreation building accommodated the Atwood Reformed Missionary Society on Thursday evening, while in one of the kitchens, the married couples of the Atwood Christian Reformed Church held a weiner roast.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Putman are spending a few days at their home in Sparta.

Marshall Koontz, who with his family are vacationing in our park, spent a few days in Cleveland, Ohio, on business.

Friday afternoon our park was swamped with girls and their sponsors from the 4-Way Lodge Girl's Camp at Torch Lake. Like the boys who have been visiting us, they too paddled their canoes down the Jordan river from Chestonia. They set up their pup tents for the night then walked over to the theatre. Next morning after breakfast we caught a glimpse of several canoes heading towards Ironton full of girls paddling like veterans on the lake.

On Saturday evening Rev. and Mrs. Shaver of California very graciously showed us their colored pictures they took while on a trip to the Holy Land, Italy and Switzerland. After seeing these wonderful pictures we feel very grateful to Mr. and Mrs. Shaver for bringing these pictures to us. We only wish more could have been here to enjoy them with us.

A picnic dinner was held on the outdoor tables Sunday. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Hjalmar Hansen and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Weigel and children, all of Lansing; Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Hansen and family and Leona Schroeder, all of Mancelona. They praised our park and said they did not know East Jordan had such a nice place, but from now on they would remember it and try to come more often.

Callers at the Meredith home the past week were their son, Russell, of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Townsend of Detroit, Mrs. Fern Scott, a cousin of Mrs. Merdiths, of Detroit, and Mr. and Mrs. George Coon and son, Harry Bryant, of Houghton Lake.

Another Sunday afternoon picnic took place when Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Campbell of St. Petersburg, Fla., and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gray of Boyne City gathered around the outdoor tables.

Sunday guests at the J. Robinson trailer home were Mr. and Mrs. Hazel Norton of Bellaire, Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Woolverton of Eastport and Mr. and Mrs. Mason Clark of East Jordan.

Monday and Tuesday guests of the Robinsons were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd VanSteenburg and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Ennix and granddaughter, Darlene, all of Flint.

Friday evening the Ellsworth Mission Sunday School occupied the recreation building for a social time.

Our park has the greatest number of trailers this week than at any time this year. To date there are thirteen trailers and several tents. Among the latest arrivals are Mr. and Mrs. Warren E. Stangel and daughter, Sharon, of Jackson; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Martin and son, David, and Mrs. Martin's brother, Ronnie Ward, all of Belding; Mr. and Mrs. George E. Also on Tuesday evening a large group of ladies from the Ellsworth Extension Club met in the dining room.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hoeker and son, David, of Muskegon, are camping for a few days in our park.

On Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. Jim DeCamp and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Egidio DeMaio and two children spent the day on Mackinaw Island. They took moving pictures while there.

Joe Hammond has been substituting as lifeguard for Don Whiteford on Don's off days. Last week the water was minus swimmers on account of the cold weather but this week is full of bathers again.

A rumor is circulating again that our laundry room in the park may become a reality. Tenants may not have to take their laundry to neighboring towns any more.

FARM FACTS from your County Agricultural Agent Ed. Rebman, Co. Agr'l Agent

ALL CATTLE TO BE BANG'S RETESTED

Notice was received from a Bureau of Animal Industry from Michigan Department of Agriculture stating that a county wide retest for brucellosis (Bang's disease) in all herds of Charlevoix county is to be made. This retest is necessary for Charlevoix county to maintain the status of accreditation.

All farmers are urged by Ed Rebman, county agr'l agent, to assist the veterinarian in any way possible. Keep your cattle in on the date that you notified for testing. This testing is a safeguard to the health of your family. It is better to find a reactor cow now than to be ill the rest of your life.

BEEES AND SEED PRODUCTION GO TOGETHER

Farmers are reminded by Ed Rebman, county agr'l agent, that bees are necessary in raising alfalfa, red clover and other kinds of leguminous seeds. It has been found that there are at least 3 important factors involved in good seed production namely good farming, insect control and pollination.

It is important to have bees in your seed producing fields. Exceptional work in the west indicates that yields were increased materially when more than two colonies were used per acre. Up to five colonies per acre were used and the profits were notable. One thing is important, bees should be moved continuously into those places in the field where they are not working. Exposure of these areas to bees usually results in important seed set.

Blossom, other than alfalfa, red clover, etc. furnish competition for bees activity. Hives should be so placed as to favor activity in the legumes.
