Annual Picnic of Charlevoix County Farmer's Union, Aug. 13

The Charlevoix County Farmer's Union held their annual picnic at Whiting Park last Sunday, Aug. 13th, with 75 members and their families present. The Locals represented were Wilson, Norwood, South Arm and Friangle (Dutch Town). The dinner was served at 12:30. Mr. Sim Martin, State President and his wife and twin daughters of Stanton were with us. After dinner Seth Whitmore gave a report on the fruit market situation and problems.

Mr. Martin gave a very interesting and impressive talk. He explained a lot about the Brannan Plan and made a report that Mr. Brannan would be at Michigan State College to speak August 22. There are several members planning to attend this meeting. If you are interested and would like to go contact Roy Hardy or Seth Whitmore of East Jordan.

The Archers of Deer Lake furnished us with music which we all enjoyed very much. Mr. McPherson, 80 years young, gave us a few old time dance tunes on his violin. Too bad some of these young men that have started to play and quit couldn't have heard him play. They would get out the old fiddle and dust her off a bit and do some brushing up on their music to keep it up as one sure can get a lot of enjoyment out of their musical instruments if they just put their hearts into it. Just watching Mr. McPherson play at his age makes one realize it.

There was a softball game between the Pecks and Jerks. The Pecks represented Charlevoix Co. and the Jerks, Antrim Co. The Echo Local was scheduled to play but for some reason were unable to be present so they organized the Jerk team and had Hilbert Hardy for Captain. Perk captain was August Knop. Clyde Goodman acted as umpire. Hugh Graham made a home run for the Jerks. The final score was Perks 21 and Jerks 4. Everybody spent a short time visiting after the ball game before departing for home.

Everyone present had a very enjoyable time and as they left stated they would see us all at the picnic next year.

Hunting Licenses and Game Law Digests Being Made Available

Michigan's 4,000 hunting license agents will have a stock of game licenses and copies of the 1950 game law digest by the second week of September, according to the conservation department. Final shipments to upper peninsula dealers now are being made.

License fees are unchanged with residents paying $2 for a small game license, $3.50 for deer and bear, $3.50 for bow and arrow hunting of deer and bear, and $2 for the trapping license. Nonresidents will continue to pay $15 for small game hunting, $35 for deer and bear, and $10 for bow and arrow deer and bear hunting.

Hunters of ducks and geese must purchase, attach to license, and cancel with signature a federal migratory waterfowl stamp. Stamps can be secured only at the postoffice.

The new 12-page game law digest folder, available from license agents without charge, contains the substance of basic laws on hunting, season dates and bag limits. The digest does not include waterfowl season closing dates, bag limits or possible regulation changes since this information will not be available until late August. When the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service sets final waterfowl regulations the hunter can check them in the newspaper and with the local conservation officer.

Last year sportsmen were issued 1,043,111 hunting and trapping licenses.

Presbyterian Boys Enjoy Trip

The following is an account of the trip as told by the boys themselves:—
At exactly 7:30 a. m., July 25, a strange looking bus equipped with sleeping quarters and loaded with boys, and pig iron for ballast—quietly stole out of East Jordan and headed for the big city. Through the courtesy of Mr. Dale Stafford, managing editor of the Detroit Free Press, tickets had been obtained for the game that night between the Tigers and Red Sox.

Clare was the first scheduled stop. Here we raided the bakeries and soda bars for one hour. Ice cream and cokes were consumed in surprising quantities.

Shortly after noon at a roadside park on the outskirts of Midland, the lunch boxes were opened, but strange to say we had little appetite.

Arriving in Grosse Pointe Park at 4 p. m. we witnessed a television program for an hour and a half in the home of Mrs. F. D. Stone. While there we obtained special permission from the Police Dept. to spend the night on beautiful Belle Isle.

The big event of course was the night ball game. Briggs Stadium, considered the finest in the American League, was truly a sight to see. Bathed in floodlights as light as day were its beautiful green grass infield and outfield and red colored cinder track. Surrounded on every side by double decks except in mid-center field, the stadium was packed with approximately 55,000 enthusiastic and noisy fans. Not knowing that we were coming the supply of hot dogs ran dangerously low, but a special truck load arriving at the last minute saved the night. After spending the brief night on Belle Isle—2 a. m.—6 a. m., and during which time we were awakened by police who wished to be assured that we were all good boys, we drove out East Jefferson Ave. and the St. Clair Shore Drive and then over to Woodward and out to Royal Oak where we visited the American Zoological Gardens covering 122 acres of land. Here we took the miniature train to "Africa" where we saw every type of animal, big and little. But the animals, big and little. But the monkeys, perhaps because they were so much like us—full of pep and monkeyshines. They enjoyed our chewing gum.

It had been originally planned to see another ball game that afternoon but by a majority vote it was decided to go to Greenfield Village at Dearborn instead. It was now nearly noon and as we all wished to see the Fisher Building we lunched at a drugstore directly across from it and at one o'clock took the conducted tour through the WJR Radio Studios which are on the 24th floor. Coming down from there we went diagonally across to the General Motors Building where again we saw many things of interest.

We now set out for Dearborn and enroute stopped at Briggs Stadium for more souvenirs, arriving at Greenfield Village at 4 p. m. We found to our dismay that four o'clock was the closing hour and were told we could not see it that day. With tears in our eyes and a sob in our throats we pleaded our cause: "Just country boys", we said: "Come from a great distance to see this sight". The hearts of the guards were melted and the portals were opened to us free of charge for one hour. No one should miss seeing this great museum, a hobby of the late Henry Ford. It was an eye opener to all of us. Here you can see every type of horse drawn vehicle, every type of auto, every type of airplane and every type of locomotive, from Cyrus McCormick's original reaper to the most modern combine. Instead of one hour we could have spent three days there with profit.

Leaving Dearborn we cut over Grand River and out to Lansing. Here we took US 27 north. After patronizing a Drive-In Theater near Alma, we camped for the night in a roadside park, just south of Mt. Pleasant. Shortly before 7 a. m. we drove into Mt. Pleasant where, after driving around the Central Normal Campus, we breakfasted and then entered the last stretch of our journey home. Here we arrived all safe and sound shortly after noon.

FORMER PLAYBOY Expects War With Russia

NEW YORK — James Hazen Hyde, the man who once gave parties costing as much as $200,000 each and spent 36 years of self imposed exile in France, has returned to the United States to live. "America is a great and wonderful country," he observed after so many years abroad. He lived in France until 1941. Hyde fell heir at 23 to the controlling interest in Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, a company with a billion dollars worth of insurance on its books.

Shortly after he became head of the company, he was taken in tow by unscrupulous financiers with an eye on the 400 million dollars in Equitable assets. These funds were manipulated to make enormous profits for the operators.

Gave Expensive Parties
 Meanwhile, Hyde was throwing some of his biggest parties. The last one was held at Sherry's ballroom in New York and is reported to have cost between $100,000 and $200,000. It drew criticism from newspapers throughout the country. Hyde was called a gilded, scented youth in editorials and the incident helped to end his career as an executive.

Insurance policy holders sued the company charging officers with squandering company funds a n d receiving extravagant salaries. As a result, Charles Evans Hughes directed a cleanup of the affair and enactment of legislation controlling insurance companies. It made Hughes a great public figure.

When the investigation reached the courts Hyde took the stand and hurled charges at nearly every important executive in the company. He indicated that he had been used as a catspaw.

When he left the stand, hundreds of people followed him through the streets, cheering.

Views Russian Power
 To get himself out of the mess, however, Hyde sold his interests in the company for $2,500,000 and went to Paris to live. He had an important part in liaison during World War I.

Now, back in New York, Hyde said he is going to spend the coming war—he believes there will be one—in America.

In explaining the present European situation, Hyde said, "The only thing the Russians understand is force."
 He believes our state department is doing a good job fighting communism in Europe through the Marshall plan, and favors the Atlantic pact.

But Americans do not always understand the position of western European countries, he said. Those nations admire and like the United States, but they are living in deadly fear of the huge military force maintained in Europe by Russia.

"Before the United States could ever come to their aid, England and France would be destroyed," he added.

Hyde said the western powers are handicapped in their battle with Russia because the governments of France and England are in control only by bare majorities and because the state department is "weakened by the unfortunate scandal and investigations in Washington."

U.S. Locksmiths Making It Tough Upon Spies
 NEW YORK — American locksmiths.

"They have come up with some new locks which they say will defy the best efforts of the finest espionage agents in the world. Even our own agents, and there are none finer, admit they can't crack the new locks.
 As for burglars and criminal safe crackers, they just aren't in the running.
 Three new locks now are being shown. One already is in use, a second is ready for general distribution, and a third was set up on an experimental basis only a few days ago. All three are made by Sargent & Greenleaf, Inc., of Rochester, N. Y.
 The company, founded in 1857, says its invention of the time lock was the greatest forward step in the industry until today.
 To mark that milestone, Sargent Greenleaf invited to a private showing in a New York hotel what it considers some of the best picklocks in the country. They also invited bankers, businessmen and government agents.
 Some of these lock experts can be quoted. The agents can't, because their job is two-fold. One is to pick the other fellow's lock. The second is to protect their secrets.
 Combination locks are simple. Discs with slots are aligned until a lever falls into the slots. Then the lock opens. The moving discs and the falling lever makes a noise.
 Legendary cracksmen filed their fingertips to the quick and felt the movement. So locks were refined. Then cracksmen used stethoscopes to listen to the movement. Locks then were made too smooth for that device.

ALL OVER WORLD Dogs Work For Living

PHILADELPHIA—All over the world, dogs work for a living and appear to get as much satisfaction, if less money, out of their labors as do their masters. Companion dogs guide their sightless owners to business and social appointments. Guard dogs protect homes and industrial plants against nocturnal prowlers. Farm dogs herd cattle or sheep.

But Tom Farley, radio commentator who collects odd stories about dogs, tells of canines with more unusual occupations. For instance, everyone knows of human baby sitters but a dog that baby sits is more rare. In Pennsylvania, there's a Dachshund named Gloria that minds the infant son of her owner for a penny an hour. Human sitters would scoff at such a modest stipend, but to date, Gloria has rolled up a bank account of $4.84.

Spaniel Is Perfect Model
 Modeling is the job of Butch, pet of animal artist Albert Staehle. You probably know the cocker spaniel from his merry antics which are pictured on covers of the Saturday Evening Post. Butch, who is now three and a half years old, has appeared as Post cover dog a record of 24 times. Staehle says he is a natural born ham and loves posing. He obligingly tears up slippers, dons a raincoat, or dashes about the house with a nylon stocking between his teeth, for the sake of "art."

Perhaps an even more unusual occupation is eating for science in the laboratories where dog food formulas are worked out. Several of the makers of canned dog food, for example, maintain kennels where dogs have been fed on the same formula for ten generations. And when the U. S. Department of Agriculture set up standards for certification of the better foods a few years ago, they were able to study not only laboratory records but the dogs themselves to determine that the formulas would keep America's 20,000,000 dogs in sparkling health.

Placed in Zoo
 Last, but far from least interesting, on Farley's list of odd canine occupations is pinch hitting for lions and tigers in a zoo. In pre-war days, the Budapest, Hungary, zoo had an animal population of 3,000. However, during the war, the animals were either killed by bombs or slaughtered for food and when the park was reopened, only 14 wild animals remained.
 Officials, to enliven the vast park, placed dogs in some of the deserted pens. The dogs proved nearly as big an attraction as the lions, tigers and ant eaters they replaced, and Hungarians visited the zoo in almost pre-war numbers.

Man Ignored 41 Years Makes Big News Now

ASHOKAN, N. Y. — For over 40 years Virgil C. Gordon has carried on at the same job and no one paid much attention to his daily reports.

In those 40 years Gordon has gone down every day into the "still box" beneath the surface of Ashokan reservoir that supplies New York with water and made his readings.

Now, when he makes a reading, every newspaper in New York city wants to know about it. For on those readings depend the future of the city that has suffered a serious water shortage.

He telephones his reports: "Ashokan down eight hundredths of an inch," or "up six hundredths of an inch". The small fractions are vital.

"The newspapers print my reports every day now," he said. "And I'm enjoying getting some attention for a change. I didn't think my job was important. But more and more I get the feeling that it is. It's fine."

Gordon says the official New York rainmaker is helping the situation. Many of the city officials, however, hesitate to express an opinion.

U. S. Official Defends Ban on BCG Vaccine

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Dr. Robert J. Anderson, chief of the tuberculosis division of the U. S. public health service, defended the government's refusal to license the vaccine BCG, designed to whip tuberculosis.

Said Dr. Anderson: "The controversy about its effectiveness has not been resolved by clinical application."

Furthermore, the vaccine has not met minimum standards for commercial production, he said. "If it is licensed, it will be the most unstable vaccine licensed."

Anderson admitted the vaccine has been used widely in other parts of the world, but said its usefulness probably is confined to "emergency" areas and test programs.

He also pointed out that BCG vaccination money would divert funds from present control programs and treatment of those who now have the disease.
 BCG has been in existence many years, but its usefulness has been debated vigorously in recent months.

898 Steps

Birthdays Exercise

WASHINGTON — Climbing the 898 steps to the top of Washington monument is a job for any man, but Frederick Miller did it just to celebrate his 70th birthday.

While three reporters and three photographers panted in their struggle to follow, Miller made the journey in 17 minutes. He complained that the photographers slowed him up or he could have made it in fifteen. He came down in 13 minutes. After it was all over, Miller said he felt fine and thought he would try it again when he was 90. "We'll do it different then," he told the reporters. "We'll walk up backwards."

The aged Washington man revealed he had climbed the steps a week before when he had a "practice try" to see if he could make it on his birthday. When he came down he climbed aboard his bicycle and waved goodbye to the winded photographers and reporters, and pedaled off toward home, six miles away.

Well Digger Trapped In Shaft; Rescue Efforts Are Futile

NEW YORK — While hundreds looked on and prayed, Dominick Atteo, trapped at the bottom of a 20-foot well shaft for more than 27 hours, died shortly before rescuers finally reached him.

Atteo's courage was unbelievable. But burns, pain, exhaustion and pressure of rocks and earth were more than his strong frame could stand.

The 45-year-old well digger was trapped in the 20-foot shaft he was digging beneath a Brooklyn garage when the walls gave way. He was buried to the armpits and one leg was pinioned by a large Boulder.

Police emergency squads labored for 12 hours to help the husky contractor dig himself out. Then they abandoned direct rescue efforts and started digging a trench from a point 30 feet away, constantly facing the risk that the floor and roof of the garage might cave in because of the undermining.

Atteo was burned when a cigaret lowered to him by his son, John, 26, came into contact with oxygen pumped down the shaft. The son lowered the cigaret at the request of his father. Although police had forbidden smoking in the vicinity, John consented when his father kept begging for it.

More dirt and stone showered down on the pinioned man. He cried aloud at the pain from blast burns on his unprotected face.

Dr. Harold Gerson was lowered into the well and gave Atteo a hypodermic.

Just five minutes before rescuers reached him, Atteo, writhing with pain and almost out of his mind, started struggling in the vise that held him. His son warned him to remain still and "you'll get out." It was too late, however, Atteo was dead.

Mother of Seven Children is 'College Mother of '50'

CINCINNATI, O. — Mrs. Reba Gilbert has been named the all-city American college mother of 1950.

The gray-haired Mrs. Gilbert, who performs the usual tasks of a farm wife and also drives back and forth to Cincinnati to attend classes, was graduated this spring with a certificate in journalism.

But that's not all. Five of her seven children also received college degrees this spring.

Major Raymond A. Gilbert, her oldest son, received a bachelor of science degree at Ohio State; John, the youngest son, received a bachelor of science degree from Ohio University; another son, Charles, received a master of arts degree at Otterbein college; and a daughter, Janet, received a bachelor of education degree at the same school.

The college mother of 1950 drove 56 miles a day to attend classes twice a week. The past semester she drove 4,500 miles. Next fall she plans to be back to continue her work toward a degree.

In addition to her studies, she gardens and cans 500 cans of vegetables and fruit each year. Her husband, Arthur M. Gilbert, is an electrical engineer. He and Mrs. Gilbert live on a 54-acre farm.

Men's Two-Pants Suits Reported Coming Back

NEW YORK — The two-pants suit, a wartime casualty, is staging a comeback.

Max Udell Sons & company, clothing manufacturer, discovered that in a survey.

A questionnaire answered by 209 retailers around the country disclosed that two-pants suits are growing rapidly in popularity.

An estimated 34 per cent of retailers are going to get their suits with two pants. And "some areas, such as Detroit and Chicago, plan to buy all of their suits with two trousers," the survey said.

A New Rural Youth Educational System For Northern Michigan

Several months ago the Northern Michigan Agr'l Planning Committee appointed a group of farm leaders to work on a plan to set up an educational system for the rural youth of northern Michigan. A school or college to be centrally located in the 21 northern counties on a tract of land large enough to allow for considerable diversification and demonstration and allow for future expansion, preferably situated on a small lake or river.

Boys and girls from 16 years up would be offered an opportunity for "on the ground" training, stressing "Learning by Doing" and given an appreciation of the full possibilities of country life and the importance of Agriculture to the Nation. Farmers make up about 20 percent of the population and produce over 80 percent of the new raw wealth each year and receive about 10 percent of the national income. Their investment is greater than that of all business and industry combined. More farm youth might stay in the country if they could see and make use of the resources and opportunities in the country and develop them. The Cooperative Philosophy and Way is not well enough understood.

This Community College is so designed that high school experience will not be required and would offer balanced courses to meet the needs of the students; shops, outside demonstrations, adequate housing and elective as well as required courses under competent instructors.

Tuition fees would be as low as possible and crops produced on the farm would be used by the school which would lower the cost to the students.

Do we want such a school in northern Michigan?

Are we willing, as farm people, to help establish such a system?

The idea is considered good by many who are in a position to help us carry out the plan. Let's get behind them and keep our youth on the farm.

If you wish to know more about this proposed Community College attend your nearest Farm Bureau Community group, contact your group director or attend the next M. M. A. R. C. meeting at Gaylord Courthouse at 8 p. m., Sept. 5th.

Are you registered? If not, register on or before Aug. 23. Then Vote Sept. 12.

Good resolutions must find quick employment or spoil.

The less a man knows, the longer it takes him to tell it.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Walsh of Rustan spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gaunt, Sr. Mrs. Walsh will be remembered as Mary Simmerman of East Jordan some years ago.

Mrs. Hazel Swatosh and son arrived Saturday evening at the Gaunt home. Also Mrs. Virginia Sunigal and baby of Beaver Island to spend the week end and attending the Gaunt reunion.

U. S. Forces Ordered to Stand Or Die on Korean Battle Front; Baruch Urges All-Out Controls

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

KOREA: Stand or Die

For many Americans, who had been inclined to look upon the Korean war with indifference and an attitude of "business as usual", there came a rude awakening during the fifth week of the conflict. Casualties began to arrive from Korea, youngsters without legs and arms, bullet-riddled young men who kept their eyes closed as they were transferred from planes to ambulances, boys who did not wish to talk or be quoted.

To the millions who had no brothers and fathers and husbands in Korea, the scenes brought back frightening pictures of World War II, memories of days filled with tears and prayers, and sometimes, utter despair.

And to the awakening American public came another shock. The commanding general in Korea, Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, said: "There is no point in not telling the simple truth, which is that the war has reached its critical stage." The American army had retreated as far as it would retreat, General Walker said. He gave one order to his troops: "Stand or die."

Americans were shocked by his flat statement that his army must win or die where they stood without hope of surrender or retreat and a mass evacuation as at Dunkerque.

And in Korea the G. I. has a question for the war correspondents: "Are you telling the folks back home the truth—that it is a tough and hard fight, and we need more help at once?"

That was the situation as 120,000 Communists began a steady attack upon U. S. positions. Along the entire front, stretched in an arc from Yongdok on the north to Hadong on the south, Communist troops hammered at American lines.

Four U. S. divisions, none at full strength, with the aid of some South Korean troops, the exact number unknown, slugged it out with the invaders. American supplies and reinforcements were rushed to the battle area, but if they would be enough and in time was still the question uppermost in the minds of military leaders.

One outstanding truth stood out from all the rest: American troops were locked in the battle that would decide the Korean war and possibly the peace of the world for the next 10 to 15 years.

As Gen. Eisenhower said, "If our forces in Korea are defeated the entire world will be thrown into another great war."

It was a rude awakening for the American people, but a necessary one, most observers agreed. It was now time for the American people to get down to the bloody, unpleasant job of winning a first class war.

INFLATION: Invitation to Defeat

Elder statesman Bernard Baruch spoke his mind (and the mind of a great segment of the public) to the senate banking committee when he urged congress to freeze all wages, prices and rents, boost taxes, and ration essential goods in a broad program to mobilize the nation's economic strength.

In his clear and determined way, Baruch asked the question that has been in the mind of the average citizen since prices began to rise after the Korean war started: "Shall we do now what we know will have to be done later, and thus hasten the victory of peace? Or shall we fumble and falter and invite defeat?"

Baruch, who played an important part in economic mobilization in two wars, urged:

Priorities and allocations as proposed by the President. Elimination of profiteering. Higher taxes. Effective price, wage and rent controls. Power to ration scarce civilian essentials where necessary. The postponement of all less essential works. A reduction of unnecessary public and private expenditures. Every effort to increase production.

Also, the development of substitutes for things in short supply. Control of all exports and imports. Conservation of whatever is scarce. And organized self-restraint among the people—"the enlightened self-discipline to accept the denials which winning the peace entails."

Congressional leaders seem divided on Baruch's plan even if the public was not. Said Sen. Robert A. Taft, he "wholly disagrees" with the elder statesman who, he asserted is "for all-out dictatorship."

INDUSTRY: Higher Profit Rates

The Federal Trade Commission reported that 17 of 25 major U.S. manufacturing industries had higher profit rates in 1949 than in the prewar year of 1940.

Most striking increases in the rate of return were motor vehicles from 17.3 to 29.6 per cent, biscuits and crackers from 8.7 to 18.8 per cent and bread 7.6 to 15.3 per cent. Percentage rates were based on stockholders investment after taxes.

Battle Lines

A desperate all-out push by North Korean Communists, aimed at Taegu, center of American defenses in South Korea, is underway. The Red forces hurled nine divisions against the allied line. U. S. forces gave up Hadong (1) and fell back to Chinju. Hamyang (2) was under heavy attack. In the Yondong (3) and Hamchang (4) sectors, the U. S. first cavalry and South Korean troops blunted a powerful Communist assault.

ATOMIC BOMB: Won't Be Used

Many people have wondered in recent weeks whether or not the atomic bomb would be used in Korea. President Truman has announced it will not be used in Korea, but it was recalled that the President has asserted several times that he would not hesitate to use atomic bombs to assure the security of the United States.

As the world situation became more tense, it was obvious that officials were carefully avoiding any public discussion of the use of atomic weapons, though strategists have indicated that there are no worthwhile targets for such weapons in North Korea.

Another angle of atomic warfare was under consideration by defense officials, however. Ways and means of stopping any ship from entering American harbors that might be carrying an atomic bomb were being worked out.

Port authorities in San Francisco and New York have announced all ships from Russia or Russian satellite nations will be stopped and searched before allowed to enter into those ports.

EMPLOYMENT: Highest in Two Years

Except for farm work, employment in the United States set a two year record during the first week of July with 52,774,000 persons employed. The previous peak was 52,452,000 in July, 1948.

The department of commerce estimated 8,440,000 farm workers were employed during the first week of July as compared with 9,647,000 in early July, 1949. The increase in employment was attributed to a stepped up production in industries directly related to the nation's mobilization drive, most observers believed.

Secretary of Commerce Sawyer made this comment on the employment situation:

"It should be noted that, with the nation again approaching full employment, it may be necessary once more to find ways to expand our labor force to permit the increased industrial production and strengthening of the armed forces requested by the President."

He was quick to deny, however, that he had any thought of possible manpower controls in making that statement.

PLANES: $4 Billion Order

As the Korean war developed it became obvious to all observers that the United States air force has the best planes in the world. That superiority will be increased. The air force has announced 200 manufacturers have been ordered to begin work immediately on nearly $4-billion worth of new planes and parts.

Considerable secrecy enveloped the details of the order. Manufacturers were authorized to announce the number of additional workers they would need to fill the orders, but they were prohibited from disclosing the type of production, the number of units, the dollar value of the orders, or other information relating to the contracts.

New Economy

With an eye on the huge amounts being spent for the armed forces and defense, the house appropriations committee decided to take another look at non-military appropriations and cut them where it can. Some observers think the cuts may be drastic.

A committee spokesman said the group had no fixed goal, but was determined to "cancel all appropriations" that can be cancelled.

SABOTAGE: U. S. Starts Drive

The Federal Bureau of Investigation was back in the news with the announcement of two new arrests of spy suspects. They were identified as Abraham Brothman, 37, and Miriam Moscovitz, 34.

The couple was arrested after Harry Gold, confessed atomic spy, named the man as his one-time associate in espionage activities for Russia. Miss Moscovitz is a partner in Brothman's engineering firm.

In all, seven Americans now have been arrested since Dr. Klaus Fuchs' trial conviction and sentencing to 14 years in prison in England.

Meanwhile, the government started a campaign to catch and prosecute spies and saboteurs.

J. Edgar Hoover, F. B. I. director, said each citizen can play an important part in stopping Communists who would bore from within. The citizen's job, he said, is to report quickly to the F. B. I. any evidence of subversion or sabotage.

And Attorney General McGrath announced that the justice department intends to be ready for any evidence that might be turned up. Effective October 1, he said, four federal grand juries—instead of the usual two—will be kept on duty in Washington. At least one grand jury will be used exclusively to deal with charges of subversive activity.

CANDY: Important Food Item

Candy has become one of the nation's important food items and America's sweet tooth demands an average of 17 pounds of candy per capita each year.

This figure is taken from a book just published by Edwin J. Brach, Chicago candy manufacturer, who reports on America's candy-eating habits. Using figures from the department of commerce, he shows that candy is an important food item in the American family budget.

On a per capita basis each American eats almost seven pounds more candy than butter annually; almost 10 pounds more candy than cheese; about 11 pounds more candy than margarine; nine pounds more candy than cereals and only 2½ fewer pounds of candy than coffee.

Citing figures from the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics, the Brach report showed that the average family spends 25.2 cents per week on candy in food stores alone compared to 23.7 cents for canned juices, 21.5 cents for cakes, 19.8 cents for shortenings, 18.7 cents for soups and 16.3 cents for white flour.

Almost half of the candy purchased today is sold in food stores.

RUSSIA: Returns to U. N.

The Soviet Union ended its boycott of the United Nations as Deputy Foreign Minister Jacob A. Malik took over the council chair for August.

The democratic nations of the world immediately raised the question of why had the Russians called off their six-month walkout, especially at this time.

There appeared many possibilities, the most important of which was a belief the Soviet Union would attempt to sabotage the work of the council.

Other observers pointed out that the so-called Stockholm Peace Petition campaign by the Soviet Union had failed and the Russians must now try something else. The security council offers an ideal place for a "so-called" peace move.

Still another possibility presented by observers was founded on the belief by the Russians that the Communists may win the Korean war soon and that the Kremlin decided to step back to the council and demand peace at that stage.

Primary Winner

Rep. Mike Monroney defeated Sen. Elmer Thomas in a runoff primary election, and thus won the right to represent the Democratic party in the November senatorial election in Oklahoma. Democratic nomination in Oklahoma is tantamount to election.

MACHINE TOOLS: Aging Alarming

The nation's population isn't alone in growing older. Machine tools are, too, and at a rate that a wartime production expert finds "alarming."

"Our industrial equipment is deteriorating so rapidly that the nation could be placed at a serious disadvantage in an emergency," said William L. Batt, president of SKF Industries, Inc., and former war production board chairman.

A Great Preacher?
Lesson for August 20, 1950

JESUS SAID of him that there had never been a greater man than John, the Baptist. Certainly there has never been a greater preacher, to this day. He had none of the aids a modern preacher has. He had no song leader, no music of any kind; no church organization, no building, not even a tent. He was not even in a village but in a bandit-infested wilderness. There was little "dramatic" about him or his methods.

Yet he started a tremendous revival, and he won higher praise from Jesus than any other human being received from him.

Candor
CONSIDER SOME of the qualities of this famous man. One was candor, that is, he was not afraid to speak his mind. His opinions were not always popular; his verdicts were not always those of the masses. But he spoke his mind all the same.

He called his hearers "generation of vipers," "snakes' babies, in modern words. He freely admitted he was no Messiah. When on a later occasion he had his doubts about Jesus, he did not conceal them, but told Jesus straight from the shoulder that he questioned him. And Jesus honored his honesty.

Candor is a rare article. Those few persons in public life who are willing to speak their minds may make some enemies but they make more admirers. The odd thing is that people cover up their minds for fear they will be unpopular; whereas you will generally find that the candid person does not lack for friends.

Courage
THAT BRINGS up another quality outstanding in this extraordinary man: his courage. He could stand up to the most prominent citizens and tell them they were sinners, and name their sins.

It doesn't take much courage to say you are a sinner, or to say that any one is. Aren't we all? It takes more nerve to speak out in plain language, as John did to the Pharisees and Herod for example. When he called on men to repent, he meant a specific repentance, not repentance-in-general.

In a southern state there was a prison chaplain at the penitentiary. One of the prisoners had been convicted of stealing funds from the state bank. But he never had admitted his guilt, in court or afterwards. He was stand-offish with the chaplain, though before his conviction he used to be a church officer and a praying man, the chaplain could hardly get next to him.

Finally one day he agreed to pray. As he and the chaplain knelt down together, the prisoner began: "Lord, thou knowest that we are all miserable sinners. . . . The chaplain stopped him. Leaning over he said to the prisoner: "What are you in here for?" The man was still a moment. Then in a quite different tone of voice he began again: "O God, forgive me for stealing from the State Bank." It was the first time he had ever admitted his guilt. But it took courage on the chaplain's part as well as his own.

Common Sense
ANOTHER QUALITY of John which deserves notice is his simple common-sense. Listen to what he tells the men who come with this question: What must we do? John's common-sense mind knew that repentance, just by itself, is not enough. Repentance is turning from something bad to something good, from wrong to right.

Let the man with two shirts share with the man who has none, he said. Let him who has food do likewise. Let the tax-collector be honest. Let the soldier stop grumbling; even in an "occupied country" a soldier must not be unjust or cruel.

Pointing to Christ
WHAT MAKES John best remembered is that he preached Christ. He is known as the forerunner; he was the man who said of Jesus, "He must increase but I must decrease." The preacher who calls attention to himself is an egotist, a show-off; the preacher who draws men's eyes and hearts to Jesus Christ may himself be small, but his work will be great.

Reader's Courtroom
Forgets Faces
Look Before Leaping
Act of Nature
By Will Bernard, LL.B.

State laws vary. For personal guidance see your local attorney.

Does Forgetting Names and Faces Indicate Mental Weakness?

The children of a wealthy widow were dismayed to find that they had been left out of her will entirely. They determined to contest the will, on the ground that their mother had been "mentally incompetent." To prove it, they recalled that she would often start telling a joke, get half way through, and then forget the punch line. Moreover, they said she would introduce herself to a stranger at a party, shake hands, and then—a few minutes later—do the same thing with the same person. But the court found this evidence inadequate to prove incompetency, and held the will valid. The judge figured that a woman should not be considered mentally unbalanced—just because she lacked a few social graces!

Should You Wait Until the Last Moment — Before Jumping From a Burning Building?
A careless janitor dropped a match in the basement of an old hotel, and fire soon enveloped the building. A guest on the third floor, seeing flames in the corridor, quickly decided to take the only other exit—the window. He jumped, breaking both legs in his fall. Later he sued the hotel for damages. At the trial, the hotel attorney argued: "The fire in the corridor wasn't very bad at the time this man jumped out the window. If he had gone through the corridor, he probably wouldn't have been injured at all." But the court still held the hotel liable. The judge said that a person can't be expected to make a discriminating choice of exits — at such a moment!

If a Landslide Derails a Train, Is the Railroad to Blame?
The scenic route of a certain railroad led through a narrow gorge, cut sharply into the hillside. One day an express train arrived at this spot just after a hard rain had soaked the sides of the passageway. Jarrred by the vibration of the engine, the water-loosened earth came cascading down in a sudden landslide. The train was derailed, and five passengers were injured. When they sued for damages, the company protested: "This accident was the result of natural forces, so why should we take the blame?" But the court granted the passengers' claims. The judge said that, in building its roadways, a railroad must take into account the ordinary hazards of weather—plus the law of gravity.

May a Pupil Collect Damages For Being Kept After School?
A schoolgirl made so much noise during class that her teacher kept her after school for 15 minutes. A few days later, the teacher was startled to find himself named defendant in a "false imprisonment" action. The girl claimed: "I hadn't committed any crime, and therefore my teacher had no legal right to detain me against my will." However, the court turned down the girl's demand. The judge said that a teacher must have some kind of disciplinary powers, to keep his students under control.

A man was arrested after casting his ballot in a city election. It seems he had once served a sentence for burglary, and a state law forbade all ex-felons to vote. At his trial, the defendant pleaded: "It's true I'm an ex-convict, and it's true I voted. But Your Honor, I never even heard of this state law until I was arrested." However, the court found the man guilty as charged. The judge said that ignorance of the law is no excuse—because that would provide an easy "out" for any lawbreakers.

Nazis

53 Still Active

BONN, Germany. — After months of research it was announced that there are 53 former Nazis in the German government, members of the popularly elected Bundestag, or parliament, of west Germany. Of the 53, three were members of the elite guard. The three party government coalition breaks down like this: Of 139 Christian democrats, 21 were Nazis. Of 52 Free Democrats, 16 were Nazis. Of 17 German party deputies, six were Nazis. The cluster of nazis represents more than one-eighth of the 402-man Bundestag. Most of them probably were pressured into joining the party after Adolf Hitler came to power, but nine joined up before he became chancellor. Ten of the Nazis were from United States-occupied Bavaria. The British-occupied area of northern Germany contributed 27. The Rhur state of North Rhine-Westphalia, the most populous in western Germany, had only seven former Nazis in its 109-man delegation.

Modern Seamen Tell Of Strange Visions, Vanishing Islands

NEW YORK — The ancient tales of seamen about strange visions and ghost ships and vanishing islands are being retold by modern seamen.

Here are some of the most recent tales as reported in the Coast Guard Bulletin:

The U. S. S. Chicago, a cruiser, reported Urania Island, jutting 110 feet out of the sea, near Ago Shima in the Pacific. A year later, seamen were astonished to find no land at all there, but only a row of breakers. Two months later the Lindenwood Victory reported not even the breakers remained.

The American freighter, Charles A. McCue, sailed for 15 miles through a patch of blood red water off the west coast of South America. The second mate and helmsman saw a 30 foot octopus frailing about helplessly in the water while many large and small fish floated on the surface. The water changed color to pea green when lifted aboard and placed in a bottle.

The second officer of the American ship Henry Lamb reports he clearly saw the peaks of mountains which he identified as the Azores, 680 miles away. The United States navy later explained that the irregular sunset heat had turned the atmosphere into gigantic lens and that he actually had seen the islands.

Capt. G. T. Boyett of the Bluefield Victory reported 20 different mirages on one evening in the short journey from England to France. They rated from three lighthouses side by side and two coastal cities, one inverted on top of the other, to two tall, thin ships also one inverted on the other.

New Cancer Technique Like Barbecuing Roast

NEW YORK. — The American Cancer society has reported a new method of giving X-rays which works like barbecuing of roasts.

The patient sits on a turntable, which slowly revolves, while a beam of X-rays plays on him. The difference between this X-ray treatment and barbecuing is that the ray strikes only in a narrow zone around the body.

This new method is used to treat cancer deep within the body. The X-ray is focused so its principal strength hits about the site of the cancer.

Such rays, however, burn all the tissues through which they pass before reaching the deep cancer. Frequently the amount of X-rays which can be given the patient are limited by the amount of burning of the healthy tissues.

The burning of the healthy tissues sometimes interferes so much that a patient's life cannot be saved.

By the barbecue method the X-rays remain focused on the cancer all the time, but are never on one spot of healthy tissues for long. This results in a wider area burned but in less severe burning in any one healthy area.

This technique was developed at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology by Dr. John G. Trump, associate professor of electrical engineering. Dr. Hugh F. Hare of the Lahey Clinic, Boston reported: "This is the most promising method evolved so far of treating deep tumors susceptible to radiation, including many cases previously considered inaccessible."

The barbecue ray is two million volts. As a substitute, when the patient cannot be rotated on account of the cancer, several simultaneous beams are used. They enter from different angles. The healthy tissues are subjected to the burning effects of only one ray, while the cancer gets the combined effect of several.

from your County
Agricultural Agent

Ed. Rebman, Co. Agr'l Agent
FARM ACCOUNT DAY
AUGUST 30th

Farm account day for summer visits for farmers who are keeping farm accounts with the Cooperative Extension Service will be Wednesday, August 30th, according to announcement by Ed Rebman, county agr'l agent, Everett Elwood, extension specialist in agricultural economics from Michigan State College will be in the county to return the records of those farmers who had their books checked for last year. While returning the records Mr. Elwood and the county agent will point out the weak points of the report to the farmer so that changes may be made in his farming program. Keeping farm accounts is the only sure way of knowing whether or not you are making money. All farmers should plan now to start a good farm account book at the beginning of next year.

HOLSTEIN PRODUCES 81 POUNDS OF FAT

A Holstein cow owned by Nicoly & Sons of East Jordan produced during the month of July, 81.3 pounds of butterfat, according to the monthly report of Don Graham, tester, as turned over to Ed Rebman, county agr'l agent. The next highest cow was also Holstein, owned by John Wieland of Ellsworth and she produced 72.6 pounds of butterfat during the month. The high herd of 8 Guernsey cows was owned by Franklin Cellner of Charlevoix. This herd averaged during the month of July, 47.9 pounds of butterfat per cow. There were a total of 36 herds on test during the month with a total of 403 cows. The average test was 4.01 percent with an average production of 796 pounds of milk and 31.9 pounds of butterfat for the month for all cows.

CHICKWEED CAN BE CONTROLLED

Control of chickweed in strawberries has been obtained with a compound known as IPC according to Ed Rebman, county agr'l agent. This compound was used at the rates of 5, 10, 15 and 25 lbs. per acre applied in September, October and November. The chickweed at first exhibits a water-soaked appearance at the basal portion of the stem then turns brown and dies approximately two months after application. Yields of fruit from treated plants have been equal to that of plants in hand weeded rows. At the lower application rates no damage was noticed on the roots of the strawberry plants. Some injury was noticed on roots of plants with 25 pounds of chemical per acre and on formation of new roots at the base of the ground.

Early spring application of IPC will also control chickweed in strawberries. It should be applied as early as one can get on the soil.

DON'T KILL YOUR CHICKENS
Farmers who bring used chicken crates into their poultry yards and houses are "flirting with disease," thinks Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent.

Many farmers pick up crates at produce houses when they are ready to cull their flock or sell broilers and fryers. These used crates, unless thoroughly washed and sterilized, may carry many kinds of poultry diseases picked up from previous use.

"If you must rely on borrowed crates, leave them on your truck and carry the poultry from the poultry house or yard to the crates," the agent warned.

In moving birds from one farm to another he suggests putting wire or canvas over the top of a two-box wagon or trailer instead of borrowing crates.
