East Jordan School District Got Some Excellent Bargains

APPRAISAL OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS SHOWS BIG INCREASE OVER ORIGINAL COST

Owing to the rapid increase in the cost of school buildings over the past ten years, your Board of Education was at a loss to know the amount of insurance to carry in order to fully protect the district in case of a loss. The Industrial Appraisal Company, of Pittsburgh, was called in to go over our plant and set up insurance values for our various school buildings.

A preliminary report has been received and they have placed the insurance value of our high school building at $689,733, and the replacement value in case of a total loss at $803,611. As the east end of this building was built in 1935 and the remainder in 1942, all cost figures are available and total approximately $196,000. Of this amount, the Federal Government contributed $11,000 on the 1935 addition. As the cost of buildings of this type of construction throughout the country is now approximately 1.9 times the 1939 average, it indicates that the East Jordan School District really got some excellent bargains.

At times your Board has been complimented on its excellent high school plant, especially by people from out of town.

A number of our local people have indicated that steps should be taken to modernize the elementary building, or replace it with a new one. Your Board believes that to modernize the elementary building would be very expensive. When the work was completed, it would still be an old building. To build a new building at this time would probably be prohibitive.

However, the Board has seriously been thinking of giving school directors the opportunity, at the spring election or annual meeting, to desire whether or not a sinking fund should be established for the purpose of erecting an elementary building. This is the method for which will be let soon. This method would probably take ten years.

Further decisions of the Board of Education will be published after the April meeting.

W. G. Boswell, Secretary

P. J. Hoffmaster, 58, Director of Conservation, Died March 19th

P. J. Hoffmaster, director of the conservation department since 1934, died of a heart attack March 19 at the age of 58. He had joined the department in 1922 as superintendent of state parks.

Born in Pennsylvania, he was graduated from Michigan State College in 1918 with a B. S. degree in landscape architecture. Following brief service as a World War I artillery lieutenant, he was employed by the City of Detroit for two years.

He had longer consecutive service as head of a state conservation department than any man in the country. He was a member of the Water Resources Commission, Soil Conservation Commission, and was president of the International Association of Fish, Game and Conservation Commissioners for 5 years. He was also state supervisor of (oil and gas) wells.

Hoffmaster was largely responsible for extensive land acquisition for recreational purposes and for the development of the state park system. He was an early advocate of the use of the outdoors in the instruction of youth and was also instrumental in securing for Michigan its model oil and gas regulatory statute. He was a bitter foe of water pollution and a strong advocate of water conservation.

IN MEMORIAM

Charles Buchman — In loving memory of our dearly loved husband and daddy, who passed away one year ago, April 4, 1950.

He had a nature you couldn't help loving.

A heart that was better than gold—

And to those who knew him and loved him,

His memory will never grow cold.

Loosing one hog to cholera costs as much as vaccinating many young pigs.

Consider Wildlife While Planning That "Spring Cleanup"

Persons planning so-called spring "cleanup" fires are asked by the conservation department to consider some of the serious consequences to wildlife.

Burning of dead grass and leaves in fields, swales and along roadsides does not "hasten the vegetation utilized by rabbits and arrival of spring" but does destroy ground nesting birds. Fence-row burning may force pheasants to nest out in meadows which are likely to be mowed before the young are able to leave. The same fire can shorten the life of the wire fence by several years.

For those who insist on the spring burning ritual, the department points out that burning permits are required as soon as the snow leaves the ground, creating general forest fire hazard conditions.

Three Auxiliary Members Honored With Birthday Party

The American Legion Auxiliary Unit 227 of Rebec-Sweet Post held their semi-annual meeting on March 22 in the Legion home. After a short business meeting, at which several committee reports were read and a discussion held on plans for the District Meeting April 7 and 8, the meeting was adjourned and the March birthday party was held. Those present who were honored were Reva Walton, Gladys Archer and Bernadine Brown, each receiving several nice gifts. The delicious birthday cake baked by Annabelle Galmore was served. Sandwiches and coffee completed the lunch. Mary Lou Breaker, Community Service chairman, had charge of the entertainment for March. A fine time was had by all.

The next meeting to be April 5 at which time all plans for the District meeting will be complete. Be sure and attend as this will be a very important meeting.

Sportsmen and Others Can See Deer Yard Conditions April 8th

Sportsmen and others desiring to see deer yard conditions first hand are invited by the conservation department to make inspections on April 8th.

The department conducted tours of winter starvation areas will begin at 10:30 a. m., one starting at the Mio district headquarters and the other at Shoppenogon's Inn at Grayling.

Persons planning to go are advised to bring waterproof footwear, comfortable field clothes, and a compass if possible. Some may want to bring cameras to get picture evidence of the results of an overbrowed deer range.

Marriages Richards — Brennan

Janet Richards and James Brennan were united in marriage on Monday, March 26, in St. Joseph's Catholic Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. William A. Richards of East Jordan. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Brennan, also of East Jordan. Fr. Joseph J. Malnowski read the double ring ceremony before the altar decorated with Easter flowers.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Kenneth H. Richards, wore a white gown with fitted bodice and full skirt. Long gloves were worn with cap sleeves. The short veil was trimmed with lace and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses.

The maid of honor was Ann Richards, sister of the bride. Her gown was pink marquisette with lace trim. She carried white and pink carnations. John Brennan, attended his brother as best man. Serving as altar boys were four brothers and a cousin of the groom. The organist was Mrs. John B. Brennan, mother of the groom.

The bride's mother wore a navy dress with navy accessories. The groom's mother wore a flowered dress with black accessories. They each wore a corsage of red roses.

The bride is a member of the class of '51 and the groom graduated in '48 from East Jordan High School. He is now employed by the A & P Company in Battle Creek.

Following a family breakfast after the ceremony at the home of the groom's parents, the couple left on a two week's trip to Florida.

Friends from away who attended the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. W. L. DeFore, Sturgis; Mrs. Hattie Bush, Mrs. Bernice McKenny, Mrs. Eliza Roberts, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. John Brennan, Jr., Lansing.

Announce Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Trojanek announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen May, and DuWayne Penfold of El Centro, Calif., son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Penfold. Plans are being made for a Spring wedding.

Governor Williams reports an expected deficit of $80,000,000 by 1952. He figured a deficit of $21,311,231 at the end of the last fiscal year, $50,597,835 at the end of the current year and $79,997,835 at the end of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1952.

He boosted the '51-'52 budget from $294,900,000 to $304,400,000 for civil defense ($6,000,000) and for state office building repairs ($3,500,000).

Michigan has taken at least one step to halt the diminishing number of physicians in the state by offering reciprocity to Canada in licensing of the profession. The state has agreed to admit all graduates of Canadian medical schools and those licensed by Canadian provincial boards to Michigan licensing exams without the one-year American training period usually required of "foreign" doctors.

The "little Hoover commission" most recently under fire for being a "theorist organization", has made its first official recommendation. A bill repealing the law making the state police commissioner removable only by the supreme court is the upshot.

Highly skilled designers and production engineers are being recruited from Michigan by defense-contract firms from all over the country. The labor carpet baggers, competing in the labor market with government funds, offer fantastic salaries—salaries no huge few men can afford to refuse.

And this state still has its own little labor problem in the search for experienced men for new defense-contract plants. Factories are sponsoring schools and short courses to speed up the training of skilled operators.

Walter J. Kershner of Wilson Township Passes Away

Walter J. Kershner was born Jan. 20, 1872, in Ohio and passed away at Grandview hospital March 17, 1951, being 79 years of age. He came to Wilson Twp. in 1931 and settled on a farm which he has operated since.

Surviving is the widow; a son, Albert, of Gaylord. Two grandchildren and one great grand-daughter.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday, March 20, at Watson's Funeral Home, East Jordan, conducted by Rev. Edward DeHaven. Interment at Grand Lawn Cemetery, Redford, Mich.

Joel Johnston Dies In New Orleans

Joel Johnston, formerly of Evine Twp., and later owner of a dahlia farm at Charlevoix, died unexpectedly Saturday at New Orleans, La. The remains were sent to Charlevoix for burial.

The sudden flow of women back into the assembly line, however, has halted. The first flurry of defense work pulled several thousand back, but the babushka brigade never reached World War II proportions.

The house of representatives has passed a bill making it illegal to hunt on property without the owner's permission—a law long sought by the state's farmers.

Since June 1, 1950, wholesale prices increased at a rate of two percent a month; prices received by farmers have risen during this period by 24 percent. Inflation definitely is on the march—and there is little evidence to indicate it will be halted in the remaining months of this year.

By the end of 1951, according to economists, prices received for products sold from the farm will probably have increased 10 to 12 percent over current prices while prices will have gone up only 7-8 percent.

How to build more cars with less steel may be demonstrated by Michigan's auto industry after April 1. That's when the 20 percent steel consumption cutback becomes effective. They will do it by producing a greater proportion of their lighter weight models.

Latest twist in civilian defense is the "alert" card. Brig. Gen. Lester C. Maitland, Michigan CD director, will distribute them. They describe air alert warning signals and give instructions for self protection in case of enemy attack. The cards are printed so they may be cut into wall cards and tacked up in homes or buildings.

Michigan now has more than $2,000,000,000 in defense contracts. So rapidly have the orders rolled in that the predicted labor shortage during conversion has not occurred. The contracts should require two years to complete. Henry C. Markle, executive director of the Michigan unemployment compensation commission, says the state still is not loaded to capacity from a manpower standpoint.

Reapportionment comes up again. This time Sen. Creighton R. Coleman (R-Battle Creek) has a plan to reshuffle rural and city representation in state legislature. It would "parcel out membership in the house according to population while preserving a geographical balance, heavily weighted according to population in the senate."

Federal and state prisoners may be used on work projects on Michigan lands under the jurisdiction of the United States. Currently, 250 inmates of state institutions are assigned to projects in state parks and game areas. A bill now in the Washington hopper extending such activity to federal holdings. The federal government controls some 2,500,000 acres in Michigan.

Rebekah Lodge

Jessamine Rebekah Lodge met in the hall March 21. A pot luck supper was held at 6:30, honoring those with birthdays the past six months.

At 8:00 o'clock lodge was called to order with our Noble Grand Effie Weldy in the chair. Twenty-nine members were present. It was voted to give the Cancer Society $10.00.

Eleven of our members journeyed to Manclona to attend the Visitation of the lodges. All report a good time.

We hope all the members will keep an open date for the Lodge Visitation which will be held in East Jordan April 4. Pot luck lunch will be held after Lodge. Everyone is requested to bring their own table service. Beatrice Kopkau, reporter.

Early Pastures Save On Livestock Costs

Livestock raisers know that their animals convert pasture and other roughages into highly nutritious and valuable products like meat, wool, fat and hides.

L. H. Blakeslee, Michigan State College animal husbandry specialist, says that early pasture planning will be wise this year. Legumes, rape and other pastures reduce the cost of grains in pork production, fattening cattle and lamb production.

The earliest pastures usually available are winter hardy crops such as rye and winter wheat. The use of small areas of these crops provides clean pasture for wine, preventing anemia from lack of iron and copper and worm infestation from infected hog lots.

These early pastures also help supplement a low supply of hay or other roughages for sheep or cattle and also relieve pressure for early pasturing of legumes.

A good spring seeded pasture, which can be available in case winter killing occurs, is oats and peas. Another area could also be seeded to rape and be available after oats and peas are grazed. Late in the fall when pasture is short, rye or wheat is commonly planted for grazing to extend the pasture season and reduce the winter feed requirements.

Plan your pasture schedule now, Blakeslee advises, to make sure that the needs of your livestock will be met.

Tests Show Corn Silage Profitable For Steer Feeding

Feeding steers primarily on silage has proven profitable in experiments at the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station. Carcass quality and profits were studied in a three-year research program, reports G. A. Branaman, of the animal husbandry department.

Comparisons made between silage fed and corn fed steers showed the similar results were produced by the two feeding methods, he states. Similar results were found in tests in Ohio.

In the Michigan State College tests, yearling steers weighing 700 pounds were marked at 1,000 pounds after 158 day feeding. One group was full-fed on corn silage with cottonseed meal and alfalfa hay in addition. The other group was fed shocked corn and given the same amounts of protein supplement and alfalfa hay.

It took only six-tenths of an acre of corn to fill the needs of silage-fed steers. Each of the steers in the lot eating the shocked corn consumed approximately the yield of one full acre from the same field. The return per acre of corn at present costs and prices would approximately $156 for silage-fed cattle and $97 per acre for those fed shocked corn. Labor, machinery costs for harvesting, and silo costs were included.

When the cattle were slaughtered in a Detroit packing house, all carcasses were ribbed, graded and compared.

In the silage lot, there were seven Choice carcasses, 21 Good, and two Medium.

In the shock corn lot, there were two Good carcasses and one Medium.

Remember, Branaman advises, that corn silage must be balanced adequately for protein if steers are to gain well and produce desirable carcasses.

I wish to thank each and every one that were so kind to my husband and I before his death, April 4, 1950. Since he was taken away your kindness and sympathy has been such a help to keep up my spirit. Thanks for everything. 13x1 Mrs. Bessie Buchman

Field Assistance and Counsel

NORTHWEST MICHIGAN ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT COMMITTEE ORGANIZED

A special committee organized to consider problems of the northwestern part of the Lower Peninsula has agreed upon the organization of the Northwest Michigan Economic Development Committee, Ward Stubbs, chairman, announces.

The new organization will operate over an area of 10 counties and will deal with special economic questions, especially those having to do with industrial development.

"Opinion surveys taken in various towns of the area all clearly indicate that the securing of new factories and the expansion of existing industries dominates the thinking of most residents," Stubbs, a Frankfort banker, said in making the announcement. "The near exhaustion of our timber supplies and the short tourist and resort season make it imperative that additional jobs be provided if our section of the state is to hold its own."

The state Economic Development has been asked to provide field assistance and counsel to the new organization, in addition to individual services already performed in behalf of several individual communities.

"With one or two exceptions, the smaller towns of Northwest Michigan need assistance in formulating successful plans for industrial development," Stubbs asserts. "We know that we cannot expect to pass our burden along to the state, and that we must do the greater part of the work ourselves, but we lack the know-how for many of the technical aspects of the job, which the Economic Development Department is able to supply."

Representatives from towns throughout the ten counties will be urged to attend the first general meeting of the northwestern group, which will be held at ELLSWORTH in May. At this time a program will be presented for seeking potential industrial prospects among the heavy vacation population which visits the area during the summer months.

The committee which formulated the present plan of organization has been quietly at work on the problem for several months. Little publicity has attended the earlier meeting, which have numbered representatives from several of the counties which will be included. Individuals from counties not represented have expressed a desire to participate.

Railroads and utility companies, among others will be asked to lend assistance to the program. Former residents now living in other sections of the state will be enlisted in the effort, attempts will be made to secure the help of salesmen who regularly travel the territory, and every effort will be made to create strong local development groups in all interested communities.

"We haven't the slightest doubt that we can strengthen the economy of the whole area," Stubbs said. "The result should help our own towns through new pay rolls and new real estate taxes. The state should benefit by increased sales tax revenue and by the lifting of some part of the burden which more favored areas now have to bear."

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for the lovely floral offerings, also the kind messages of sympathy during the illness and death of our loved one, Leone Ostrander.

FARM FACTS
from your County
Agricultural Agent
Ed. Rebman, Co. Agr'l Agent

GET OAT SEED NOW:

With oat planting time around the corner, now is a good time to buy your seed oats if you need them, Ed Rebman, county agr'l agent, advised this week.

Some of the common varieties for Michigan are Eaton, Clinton, and Kent. Eaton has a white grain and stiff straw. It is adapted to the whole of the lower peninsula and is invariably among the better yielding varieties. Date of maturity is medium. It has medium to light test weight and certified seed is available.

Clinton has yellow grain and stiff straw. Adaptability is the same as Eaton but it is most popular in the southern part of the lower peninsula. Farmers growing this variety should use an improved Clinton strain such as Clinton 59 or Clinton Reselect because they are more uniform in growing habit than the original Clinton. It has a medium test weight and has given very good yields in recent tests. Medium in maturity.

Kent has white grain and heavy test weight. It is midseason in maturity and is adapted to soils of medium to low fertility. Kent variety is quite susceptible to Septoria or "black stem." Septoria disease reduced the yield of Kent in 1950. Certified seed is available.

A list of sources for oatified seed is available from the agent's office, located at Boyne City.

SECOND ANNUAL MICHIAN CONSERVATION FIELD DAY:

The application of conservation methods to land forests for greater returns to land owners and sportsmen will again be demonstrated at the second annual Michigan Conservation Field Day at Kingsley on May 9 and 10 according to Ed Rebman, county agr'l agent.

Federal, State and educational agencies, together with many organizations of farm and sportsmen's groups are cooperating with the Kingsley Chamber of Commerce in providing displays and demonstrations on land use, forest, game, fish and recreational themes related to conservation, according to Harold Stinson, Kingsley General Chairman.

Cooperation of commercial companies will provide additional demonstrations on equipment and materials from power saws to poison ivy control.

The demonstration area consists of over a section of land in the Kingsley School Forest and the certified tree farm of Howard Dunn. A variety of land types and forestry cover includes pine lands, swamps, and hardwood forests. Plantings and management practices followed over a period of the last twenty years provides an abundance of natural displays of management practices for game and forest production. A stream flowing from three large springs within the Kingsley School Forest also provides demonstration material of interest to fisherman.

Farm equipment companies are cooperating to provide transportation over 604 acre demonstration area.

Additions in the program are expected to increase interest in the event this year. Over 4000 attended the Field Day last year.

Many advance reservations have been received from schools. Additional reservations may be made by writing Clare Dunsworth, Kingsley High School, Kingsley. A special guide service will be arranged for all groups making advance registration.

Penny Postcard Pays Fine For Student Now In France

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — Andre Michel, Paris, France, was arrested recently for speeding. A week later the Cambridge district court received a post card signed by Michel in which he said he was sorry he couldn't be in court because he was on his way to France.

The card added: "I would like you to excuse me. I apologize and wish you a happy summer."

Judge Arthur P. Stone said with a smile, "I guess it wouldn't be very economical to extradite him."

Michel was a student at Harvard university.

The human race is divided into four classes of people: wise ones, foolish ones, nuts and those who believe in campaign promises.

Contrary to tradition, Michigan woodchucks do not emerge from winters sleep promptly at sunrise of February second, to watch for their shadows on the snow on earth.

Woman Wills U. S. Bonds and Her Ashes To Red Army Chief

NEW YORK—Miss Agnes Smedley, the Missouri born newspaperwoman and well-known writer on China, bequeathed her ashes and her residuary estate to Gen. Chu Teh, commander of Red China's armies.

Miss Smedley, who won a retraction of charges that she spied for Russia, died last May at the age of 55 in Oxford, England.

She willed her bank accounts and cash to her niece, Mary Smedley. Chu Teh was named heir to U. S. government bonds and royalties and "anything else of value included in my estate."

The will was dated April 27, 1949. It directed that her personal possessions, such as clothes, typewriter, and furnishings, be sent to China for relief or other purposes.

The will also ordered her body cremated and directed that her ashes "be shipped to China for Gen. Chu Teh, commander in chief of the people's liberation army or his heirs, and there be laid to rest at any place designated by General Chu or his heirs."

It was in February, 1949, that a United States army report named Miss Smedley as a Soviet spy in Shanghai. Miss Smedley called this a "despicable lie" and the army soon retracted the charge, saying it had no proof.

She served as a correspondent with the Chinese armies fighting the Japanese and her magazine and newspaper articles on that conflict were widely read. She wrote five books, including an autobiography, "Daughter of the Earth."

Mounties Are Mechanized, Now Have Only 153 Horses

OTTAWA, Canada.—The Royal Canadian Mounted Police have only 153 horses, it was disclosed recently.

In its annual report, the R.C.M.P. revealed the force of 3,489 uniformed members is gradually going mechanized, with 17 fewer horses than the year before. It added an airplane to its equipment and is seeking a helicopter.

But its members in the vast northland patrolled 539,000 miles, 46,860 of them by dog sled last year.

Activities included everything from recovering a lost wallet to getting its man—43,000 convictions.

TV Show Is Sparkler On 27,000-Volt Hookup

SOUTH BEND, Ind.—Ernest Kolesiak's television antenna fell across a 27,000-volt power line with these results:

The plumbing began throwing off sparks and pipes melted around the kitchen sink.

Mrs. Kolesiak, peeling potatoes, found her spectacles speckled with molten metal.

Balls of fire bounced up and down on the roof with thunderous explosions.

The high voltage burned out the television set and blew off one of the knobs before the Indiana and Michigan electric company shut off the power.

The telephone burned out. A glove lying in the yard burst into flames.

The house was scorched in three places where wires passed through the walls.

Mr. Kolesiak, who was trying to tighten the antenna guy wires, was only slightly burned.

The family dog ran off. He was found, but refused to go home.

Dutch Jungle Girl Refuses Mother's Appeal to Return

SINGAPORE.—The "jungle girl", 13-year-old Bertha Hertogh, has refused to return to Holland with her mother.

Clinging to her foster mother, Che Aminah, a Malayan who reared her after the Japanese fell upon the Hertoghs' home in Java, the girl defiantly told her mother: "I don't love you and never would and I'll never go with you."

The girl has married a Malayan school teacher. A court recently gave custody of the child to Che Aminah, her former nurse.

Mrs. Hertogh called at Bertha's home and saw her for the first time in eight years. It was a tearful scene in which her daughter told her: "You left me and gave me to Aminah. Now all you want is to start trouble. Of course you are my mother. But I am a Moslem. I'll never leave my husband or go to Holland with you."

Mrs. Hertogh left weeping.

SCANNING THE WEEK'S NEWS of Main Street and the World
Eisenhower Says He Would Employ A-Bomb Under Certain Conditions

DECISION—"To my mind the use of the atomic bomb would be on this basis."
"Does it advantage me, or does it not, when I get into a war? Now, if I felt that the material destruction that I was going to accomplish was not equal to the moral or great reaction otherwise to this act, then I would abstain."
"If I thought the net was on my side, I would use it instantly, because I proceed from this basis: The United States is not going to declare war or conduct an aggressive campaign. It is merely going to defend itself, and if someone, in spite of its peaceful purpose, jumps on it, I believe in using what we have in defending ourselves."

With these words Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower told the world—friend and foe alike—just how far he would go to defend western Europe. It was the kind of clear-headed, logical reasoning that people in the home towns of the nation could understand. It reaffirmed their faith in the man chosen to fill the most important post in modern history. It is this kind of reasoning and determination that the Communist nations of the world understand. And if the world understands this reasoning, it could mean another step toward the preservation of peace.

18-YEAR-OLDS—It would be difficult to say at this point who was more surprised by the 79 to 5 senate vote that passed the bill to draft 18-year-olds, opponents or supporters of the measure.
For weeks the debate had raged in the senate over lowering the draft age from the 19-year-old limit. And although the bill must go to the house for action, it appeared that much of the pressure against the administration's defense plans has been relieved. Most observers were inclined to believe the bill will eventually reach the President's desk.

The senate vote caused considerable speculation across the nation. In the first place, the man on main street wanted to know is it possible for five senators—the number who voted against the measure—to bombard the U. S. senate with so much propaganda that it completely ties up important legislation for weeks? Second, what happened to the other senators who had ranted and raged against drafting the 18-year-olds? And third, were the statements by opponents that the mothers of the nation flooded Washington with telegrams against the draft entirely true?

NO! NO! NO!—After a full week of conferences, watched anxiously by the "average man" who does not understand very clearly the niceties of diplomatic language and maneuvers, the foreign ministers' deputies of the United States, France, Britain and Russia, meeting in Paris, had nothing to report. The only statements were "no, no" issued by Russia's Andrei Gromyko to every proposal put forth by the western powers. Gromyko first gained the attention of the home-town owners of the nation as the "no" man of the United Nations.

The main point of difference between the west and east remained the subject of rearming Germany.
KOREAN BATTLE—Slowly, methodically United Nations troops advanced in Korea, storming the hills, digging the Communists out of foxholes with bayonets, stopping and breaking a Red attack at other points, but always pushing toward the 38th parallel.
U. N. commanders continued to expect a spring offensive by the Reds, scheduled for some time during the last part of March or April. Meanwhile, the Chinese suffered severe casualties as U. S. troops pushed ahead, estimated by some observers at 20,000 to 30,000 in two weeks.
There were reports that the Communists had 200,000 men in the front lines below the parallel. In addition they were reported to have 100,000 more troops in immediate reserve in North Korea and a great reservoir, perhaps more than 300,000, across the Yalu river in Manchuria.

RUSSIAN ARMS—According to Russian reports the Supreme Soviet (Parliament) has adopted a 1951 budget of 451½ billion rubles, of which 96 billion would go for defense purposes.
Russia has placed a value on the ruble of four to the American dollar, but since there are so many imponderables involved, the rate does not reflect the true position of the ruble. If the rate is taken, it would indicate a total defense budget of $24 billion.
However, Soviet production, through use of forced labor and purchases from dominated countries at extremely favorable rates, is considerably cheaper than that of the United States.

A NEW JOLT—The administration's price stabilization effort which has been called nearly everything, including "fraud", received another jolt, this time in the black and white of the wholesale price index.
The bureau of labor statistics' index hit an all time peak of 17 per cent above pre-Korean war prices and 20.2 per cent over a year ago. The bureau said all major commodities advanced except building materials.
The new figures wiped out any hope that the stabilization effort had finally started taking effect and a leveling-off was about to take place. The figures also brought renewed charges from labor that it would take a law "with teeth in it" to stop the inflation spiral.
Michael V. DiSalle, price director, told worried housewives in a television speech that it would be three more months before ceiling prices on food will be posted in stores. It couldn't be done sooner, he reported, because food prices vary by localities.

LAST HOPE—The supreme court refused by a vote of 6 to 0 to review the case of Alger Hiss, convicted of giving government secrets to a Russian spy ring before World War II. It was Hiss' last hope of escaping a five year prison sentence.
The Hiss trial made headlines in the nation's press for months. A guilty verdict and prison sentence was returned after a second trial. The slender, brilliant attorney has stubbornly denied the charges of giving away government secrets.

COST OF LIBERTY
1,000,000th Man to Die for Country
The cost of liberty is high for this Republic.
As mothers and fathers throughout the nation ponder over the world's ills and worry about their sons in service, or soon to join the armed forces, somewhere in the mind and fifth of Korea the 1,000,000th soldier to die for this nation may already be a casualty.
Adding in the Korea casualties, 995,000 men have died in defense of this Republic. This total, however, is not up to date since reporting of Korean casualties is two to four weeks behind. The latest Korean total stood at 52,448. Of these, 3,853 were dead of all causes and 9,899 missing. The remainder were wounded. This amounted to 300 weekly since the war started last June.

Pigeons Taught to Play Piano, Understand Colors

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—Those pigeons you have in your barn mister are mighty smart, so says Prof. B. F. Skinner of Harvard.

The professor has a flock of pigeons that play tunes on a piano, play table tennis, push buttons to get food, tell time, and understand changing colors—like traffic lights. Dr. Skinner is using the pigeons to discover new methods for studying human behavior. He has arrived at the theory that reward is more effective than punishment. The birds have learned to peck signs labeled "yellow," "green," "blue," and "red," always picking the proper sign when a light of the same color is flashed on.

He has taught pigeons to play a modified table tennis—without net—on a two-foot-square table. One pigeon, using his beak, tries to bat the ball past his opponent. Rallies sometimes go three or four shots—though most are aces. An advanced lesson is to play a tune on a piano of seven keys. By rewarding the pigeon when he strikes the keys in a certain sequence, Dr. Skinner and his assistants have taught pigeons to play simple tunes such as "Over the Fence is Out, Boys," and "Take Me Out to the Ball Game."

TRICKS OF TRADE

Scene: An employment bureau. A gentleman in the optical business was instructing his son in the technique of chiseling a fair and honest price out of a customer. He said, "Son after you have fitted the glasses to the customer, and he asks, 'What is the charge?', you should say: 'The charge is ten dollars.' Then pause and watch for the flinch."
"If the customer does not flinch you say: 'That's for the frames; the lenses will be another ten dollars.'"
"Then you pause again—but this time only slightly—and again you watch for the flinch."
"If the customer doesn't flinch, you say: 'Each.'"

Take a Rest
When Fred Astaire went to Hollywood to make his first picture, he was determined to act as well as dance. With this in mind, he called at his producer's office and said: "Look here, all I've been doing for the past 20 years is dancing, dancing, dancing! From now on—"

"Sit down, Fred," interrupted the producer. "You must be terribly tired."

Homemakers' Corner

by Home Economics Specialist Michigan State College

CHECK FEATURES WHEN BUYING NEW RAINCOAT

April showers will soon be with us and though they bring May flowers they also create a need for a serviceable raincoat, says Lola-Belle Green of the Michigan State College school of home economics.

Two types of raincoats are on the market, she reports. One type is completely water-proof, the material is treated to make it water-resistant. The pores of the fabric remain open so air can penetrate the fabric and perspiration can evaporate. Thus, water-repellent coats remain comfortable, particularly in hot weather.

A good water-repellent coat will shed water well except when exposed to very heavy or prolonged rain, Miss Green reports. If the raincoat is to give satisfactory wear, the material, whether made from cotton, rayon, silk, wool, or nylon or a blend of these fibers, should have a firm, close weave.

Water-repellent finishes may be durable or non-durable. The durable finish will withstand numerous launderings or dry cleanings. The non-durable finish must be replaced after these operations.

When you buy a water-repellent coat, read the tag or label and ask the clerk or buyer for information so that you know the type of finish that has been used.

If the finish is durable, you want to know how many dry cleanings or launderings it will withstand.

If you are considering a raincoat with a non-durable finish, it is advised to learn the cost of replacing the finish before you make a decision. Some makes have to be sent back to the manufacturer to have the finish replaced. With other makes, the water-repellent finish may be restored by a drycleaner. Having to replace the finish each time the coat is cleaned adds materially to the upkeep of the raincoat.

Casters on heavy furniture will cut into all types of smooth surface floor coverings. Michigan State College home economists say that furniture with pointed legs should be placed in wide-bottomed plastic, glass, metal, or rubber "shoes."

To avoid soggy salads, Michigan State College home economists offer these guides: Mix the salad just before serving it. Be careful not to add too much salad dressing. Mix lightly with as few motions as possible.

The first litter of rabbits usually is born early in April although young occasionally are found even earlier. Three or four litters per year are common with southern Michigan cottontails.

Little Iron Curtain

FOR MOST of one day I have driven along what is sometimes called "the little iron curtain"—the border where Yugoslavia and Albania meet, for Yugoslavia enjoys the unenviable distinction of being squeezed between two sections of the iron curtain with Bulgaria and Hungary on one side and Albania on the other.

How tiny, primitive Albania—chiefly a Mohammedan country—happened to fall for Russian communism has always been a mystery to me. I lived on the Albanian border for two years after the first World War, once crossed it on horseback, and its people at that time were rugged individualists who hated all governments, including their own, with the passion of Pennsylvania's high-tariff Joe Grundy. Perhaps the explanation is that Albania is a nation of extreme poverty where the people have nothing to lose by trying new experiments plus the fact that any nation torn by a never-ending series of wars is an easy mark for communism.

At any rate, the border between Russianized Albania and anti-Russian Yugoslavia now is studded with armed guards, and strangers are not permitted within 20 kilometers (about 12½ miles). I managed to remember enough of the local language to talk my way past the first guard in the restricted zone and thereafter managed to talk my way past guards who stopped our jeep every half hour until we had passed through the old Turkish Albanian city of Prizrend, the border town of Jakovitz, and Deceny monastery—one of the oldest in Serbia, but it now bristles with armament.

Denounce Russians

My purpose in visiting this isolated, desolate part of the Balkans was partly sentimental, partly to see whether the United States is getting credit for its good program, partly to gauge Yugoslav sentiment toward Russia and the United States in an area far from the official blarney handed out by the diplomats in Belgrade.

Regarding the food program, the United States has given the Yugoslav government $1,000,000 worth of flour with the understanding that they sell it through their regular ration system but making it clear that the flour comes from us. Its distribution was organized under Richard Allen of Carmel, Calif., a former Hoover food man who has also arranged for American inspectors to travel through the country. I traveled part of the time with one of these inspectors—efficient George Treit—as he interviewed local officials and local farmers and it appears the United States is getting credit.

Lesson for U. S.

Thirty years ago I had charge of 100 Bulgar prisoners in a diminutive Serbian village called Dobro Do, which means good valley—but the valley wasn't good, because it had been burned out by the Bulgarian army and my job was to rebuild the homes of Serbian widows, using Bulgarian prisoners for labor. We also had a transport company of 100 mules and 100 conscripted Albanian mule drivers who every night sat around campfires—the Albanians, the Bulgar prisoners and their Serbian guards discussing war and what caused war.

That was in 1919 and they recalled that in 1912 Serbia and Greece had fought Turkey, then in 1913 Bulgaria had fought Serbia and Greece, and in 1914 the World War started. Thus for six long years the Balkans were plunged in war—war which neither the Serbian guards nor their Bulgarian prisoners nor the Albanian conscripts wanted. Their hope, they said, was Woodrow Wilson—he was going to proclaim a new world in which there would be eternal peace.

Well, the years have come and gone since then, Woodrow Wilson tried and failed, and Dobro Do since then once again was ravished—this time by the Germans, later by the Italians—and then liberated by the Russians who, at times, acted more like conquerors than liberators.

This is the history of a typical Balkan village and when you look round at the poverty which always follows in the wake of war you understand why there is communism in the Balkans, for people who are poor, who are bred white, who have nothing to lose, turn in their desperation to desperate remedies.

Rental Racket

A new racket has sprung up in crowded west coast cities, such as San Diego—and Los Angeles. Rental agents are trying to cash in on the housing shortage by selling leads to apartment hunters. A fee of five or ten dollars is charged for rental leads, which usually turn out to be apartments already rented.

This practice may not be illegal. However, in San Diego, the better business bureau has privately warned some rental agents.

The ticket takers at theaters where "Brute Forces" is showing don't tear your tickets in half—they tear your arms off!

They've invented an empty barrel on roller skates—so guys who have lost their shirts at the racetrack can get home.

LINE UP!

The other day one of the fellows in his house received a letter that went something like this:

Dear Mr. Morchowar: I am engaged and I have recently discovered that you were out necking with my girl the other night.

If you will drop down to my fraternity house tomorrow at 11:00 P. M., I would like to discuss this matter with you.

Robert J. Smith Immediately the answer came back:

Dear Mr. Smith: I have received your circular form letter and I will be glad to attend your meeting tomorrow.

A Kiss

"Kiss," explained the young English teacher to her class, "is a noun. It is not singular because it is used in the plural. It is more common than proper, and it is never declined—in fact," she added, forgetting for a moment that she had an audience, "it is really very nice."

THE AMERICAN WAY

Wouldn't That Be Just Dandy!

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Slim And His "Ali Species"

Slim Baker, who's always doing something crazy, had a lot of people smiling last week because his entry won a ribbon in the Women's Club Annual Pet Show.

Seems as though Slim saw a strange-colored alley cat with no tail over at Central City and brought it home. He washed, combed, and brushed it and put a collar on it with a card reading "Ali Species." Then he enters it in the show.

Hanged if the ladies didn't think it was some rare kind of cat and gave it a special award! When one of them asked Slim where she could get one like it, he said, "It's all yours, M'am—I can get an 'Alley Cat' anytime I want!"

From where I sit, some of us are pretty easily "taken in" just because someone else says it's so. Whether it's awarding prizes or passing judgment on a person's right to enjoy a temperate glass of beer—let's take a good look from stem to stern, and learn what it's all about before making up our minds.

The sea lamprey which is present in all Great Lakes is most abundant in Lakes Huron and Ontario where it is found at depths as great as 65 fathoms.

Joel M.: "May I take you home?"

Gal: "Yes, where do you live?"

WHEN "THANK YOU" MEANS YOU

Red Cross Field Director Henry Hedges, one of 65 serving with combat troops in Korea, helps a Marine with a family problem. A third of Red Cross funds goes to provide this friendly counsel and personal assistance to the fast-growing military forces.

"Thank you, Red Cross" was heard hundreds of thousands of times during the last twelve months—gratefully from servicemen in Korea for help with personal or family problems, for blood; from wounded soldiers in hospitals for the kindly acts and comfort articles by volunteers; from victims of accident, sickness and disaster, many whose actual lives had been saved. Those "Thank You's," the Red Cross points out, go to those who contributed to the Red Cross and made this possible.

Urgent need for expanding Red Cross services in Civil Defense, for blood to meet military, national emergency and civilian needs, for welfare services to the fast growing armed forces, for veterans, and disaster relief, amount to an increased budget of $85,000,000 for this next year. More people than before are being asked to share in making "Thank You, Red Cross" possible for tomorrow's humanitarian needs.

Top—Success of the Red Cross drive means first aid training for millions of persons for civil defense. This trainee uses her lipstick to mark 'T' for tourniquet on forehead of "air attack victim."

Bottom—Red Cross Home Nursing classes are being expanded to help all health care patients in every family to cope with the emergency of illness, accident, and disaster.

Top—Warm food and friendly service ease tension from this young torpedo victim. Always ready to meet natural disaster, this Red Cross service has a vital role in civil defense to help in feeding, clothing and sheltering refugees, after sudden attack.

Bottom—Eats only once, but this little boy is getting a treat's sight, one of 700 of his kind, from a Red Cross food train volunteer. He is in a hospital, recovering from a serious illness.

Election Fraud

They say nothing is more uncommon than a Republican voter in Mississippi, as this story proves. The election board in this Mississippi town came across a Republican vote. Caught by surprise, they didn't know what to do, so they laid it aside. Some time later they found a second G.O.P. vote. By now entirely confused, they visited the election judge.

"Why," the judge roared, "throw 'em both out—the dirty so-and-so voted twice!"

YAKETY-YAK

Jones suggested to his wife that they go over to the neighbor's house and watch the baseball game on television. For three hours they watched the game, then sat through a wrestling match for another hour. Finally Mrs. Jones said:

"Harry, don't you think it's about time . . ."

"Say!" interrupted her husband. "did you come over here to jabber or to watch television?"

Just as Effective

Jud had been given a jail sentence for stealing a keg of beer. An elderly lady, who made it a practice to visit the prisoners sought to comfort him. "Remember," she said brightly, "stone walls do not a prison make." "That may be," replied Jud, gloomily "but they sure keep a fellow from getting out."

FAIR DIVISION

His health wasn't any too good, so the Eastern city-dweller went looking for a place to live in the Southwest. In one small town in Arizona he approached an old timer sitting on the steps of the general store. "Say," he asked, "What's the death rate around here?"

"Same as it is back East, bub," answered the old fellow, "one to a person."

No Guide Needed

The two women were telling each other about weddings. "I went to Jean's wedding the other day and, as she and the groom were going down the aisle, the lights went out!"

"Go'ness!" exclaimed the other femme. "What did they do?"

"They just kept on walking. This is Jean's seventh marriage, you know, and she's familiar with every step of the way."

YOUNG AMERICA

The beginners at Sunday school were told to draw a picture of the flight into Egypt. One little girl turned in a picture of an airplane, with three people in the back, wearing hats, and a fourth up front, without a halo. Perplexed, the teacher asked the little girl who the fourth person was.

"Oh," replied the youngster, "that's Pontius, the pilot."

God Invented Us

Lesson for April 1, 1951

"GOD INVENTED IT," says C. S. Lewis about the universe. It is a 20th-century way of saying what the Bible says about God and the world. There have been whole religions based on the idea that God is good and spirit is good, but anything which is not God or not spirit is bad. If this were true, then our bodies would be bad, and all the physical world about us would be bad; our souls would be prisoners, so to speak, in a vast fortress of evil.

Dr. Foreman

This is not the truth the Bible tells. The story of Creation in Genesis tells us that when God had finished with making the world he saw that it was good, very good. He invented the world, he invented spirit and matter both, he invented us body and soul. Whatever evil is now in the world and in man did not come from God, it is not a mistake of God's. The world, as God invented it and intends it, is good.

The World Did Not Happen

THE Christian church has changed some of its ideas about creation, but it has never ceased to believe in creation. Very few churches, if any, now affirm that the world was created in precisely six 24-hour days, and still fewer would be willing to name the dates on which creation took place.

Nevertheless the Christian church has not given up, and will not give up, her belief that God created all things. The doctrine of creation means, first of all, that the one God willed the universe and what is in it.

The universe did not happen, it did not make itself. It was not made by different gods working against one another. Zoroastrianism, for instance, teaches that the world was made by two gods, one of light and one of darkness. Whatever the god of light created, the god of darkness would make something exactly opposite. No, Jews and Christians alike say, there is only one Creator, the infinitely wise and good God.

Nature's Laws

NON-RELIGIOUS philosophers have sometimes said that the world explains itself. But Christian philosophers, not to mention Jewish ones as well, have seen that the world does not explain itself. There is too much evidence of purpose and design running through the patterns of the universe. Definite laws can be discovered and to some degree understood.

The same laws which govern matter on this planet, and indeed the very same elements, the "building-blocks of the universe," are to be discovered in the remotest stars. If the universe were an accident it would not be tied together as it is.

It would not be a universe of law but one in which nothing could be counted on, nothing expected. It would be no universe but a multiverse, a mad world, indeed no world at all but an infinite confusion.

Why Are We Here?

BUT CREATION means something more personal. It means that we ourselves have been called into existence by the Almighty,—not by a god of mere sheer power, but by the one God of infinite and all-powerful Love. Man is not here on this planet by some trick of blind fate, mankind is not a mere fleck of foam tossed up by the restless ocean of the Infinite, soon to be washed away in the ebbing tides. Man—that means also, we ourselves—are God's invention.

We are not now as he intended us, to be sure; sin has changed the picture sadly, as we shall be thinking next week.

Why are we here? We are here because God put us here. This means that life has a meaning; but also that we cannot find that meaning without knowing the will of God. His will is for our welfare; only the Creator knows what is best for his creatures. God intended this world to be used by us, not abused.

When any man or group of men get the notion that this world belongs to them alone; or when one generation misuses the resources of the lands and the waters, leaving to their descendants a wasted earth, then God's will in creation is being defied. But when we take his will as life's guide, we are on the way to fulfilling his purpose in Creation.

FARM FACTS

from your County Agricultural Agent

Ed. Rebman, Co. Agr'l Agent
ESTABLISHING REED CANARY GRASS

Each year more Charlevoix County farmers with wet, low, mucky land are using reed canary grass to make these areas a productive part of the farm according to Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent. It will produce plenty of green succulent feed as pasture for five to six months each year. It is particularly well adapted and makes good growth on wet, fertile, mucky soils which are subject to frequent flooding.

Here is a rule of thumb for determining whether an area should be planted to reed canary or brome grass: If the area is well enough drained so that corn can be successfully grown, then brome grass instead of reed canary can be grown. If it's too wet to grow corn, then use reed canary.

Most of the areas on which reed canary grass can be grown are too wet in the spring of the year to go in and prepare good seedbed. Because of this it's usually best to prepare the seedbed on these poorly drained areas during the dry part of the summer. For this job, regular muck breaking plows and crawler-type tractors are most often used. Follow this operation by disking enough to get a good seedbed.

The recommended rate of seeding is four to six pounds per acre. If you use a grain drill it can be made to sow the right amount of seed by adjusting to the same setting necessary to deliver 12 pounds of alfalfa or sweet clover to the acre. Adjust the seed-distributing tubes on the drill to put the seed just behind the disks of the drill and then cover it no deeper than one-quarter to one-half inch. Follow this operation with a cultipacker or roller.

As to fertilizer, here are recommendations: At time of seeding use 300 to 600 pounds of 0-10-30 or 9-3-18 fertilizer depending on how wet and how well drained the area is. The 3-9-18 is better for the water areas. In extremely wet areas a 10-10-10 might be used. If the soil has a pH of 6.0 or below add five to ten percent of copper sulphate. If the pH is 7.0 or above add ten percent of Manganese sulphate.

SPRING OPERETTA

The East Jordan grade school will present a spring operetta, "I Hear America Singing", in the afternoon of April 6th. It will be held in the high school gymnasium.

Each grade had an allotment of eight minutes where they planned their own conversation and costumes. Mrs. Drapeau acted as a resource to any group needing help in the selection of songs. The setting is a television studio.

Grades in the order in which they appear are as follows:
Third grade — Indian songs.
Fourth grade — Colonial Period songs.
Sixth grade — Pioneer songs.
Kindergarten — Nursery songs.
First grade — Easter Parade.
Second grade — Negro songs.
Fifth grade — Work songs.
Whole group songs in Finale.
Everyone is welcome to come.

Rebec, Chairman, N. McGeorge, G. Neuman, R. Klimkiewicz, M. Keller, I. Thomson. Invitations: J. Nachazel, Chairman, F. Brach, D. Whiteford, B. Lehebrass, and J. Malpass.

Chickens are a good source of cash income practicing the year around and they also supply the family with a source of good, wholesome food, points out the Michigan State College poultry department.

If you see a few hawks and owls around the place, don't get too concerned because in reasonable numbers these birds give you good assistance in pest control.
