Geese Remove Grasses In Strawberry Patch

Many Michigan strawberry growers using geese as "weeders" in 1950 were well pleased with results, reports John Tomkins of the Michigan State College department of horticulture. Geese will forage and consume large quantities of most grasses found in Michigan strawberry beds, though they do not touch most of the broadleaf weeds. Some growers obtain satisfactory results with five to seven geese per acre, while others prefer to use more geese per acre and move them to other areas every week or 10 days. Growers considering the use of geese would provide fences approximately 24 inches high, shade, water, and a small amount of grain.

Report on EJHS Library for the School Term of 1950-51

In our schools one of the most important yet seldom mentioned departments is our school library, which extends service to all teachers and students from the kindergarten through the twelfth grade.

At the close of the school year of 1950-51, our inventory shows a total of 3,432 volumes. During this year, 12,939 books were checked out. This did not include magazines, pamphlets, or textbooks.

We have the beginning of a fine reference department, which has five sets of encyclopedias, including 1950 editions of the Americana and the Britannica Junior.

The elementary section is rapidly expanding, and special books have been purchased for the kindergarten, first and second grades.

All books for the entire school are selected from book lists approved by the American Library Association, the Wilson Children's Catalog, and the State Department of Public Instruction.

All new cards have been made for our card catalog filing system, which is constantly kept up to date. All audio-visual aids, such as recordings, films, film guides etc. are kept in the library.

Open hours are from 8:30 A. M. to 4:30 P. M., which allows ample time for the completion of outside assignments.

Our school has a library of which it can be proud, not only because of the fine collection of material, but also because of the fact that all rural students as well as those in town can enjoy its benefits.

THANK YOU

We wish to thank all who contributed so generously of prizes, and those who came and played Bingo, Tuesday night which was given for the benefit of the community Service Club and which netted us.

The Red Cross and Civilian Defense

PROGRAM OUTLINED AT MEETING HELD LAST WEEK, TUESDAY

Charlevoix county Red Cross personnel and several local defense officials last Tuesday heard from Miss Helen Grandcolas, area field representative, the role the Red Cross will be expected to play in the civilian defense program in Michigan. At a meeting held in Charlevoix she told them that Charlevoix county was one of three counties in the northern tip of the lower peninsula listed among those which would be expected to assist a prime area such as Sault Ste Marie in case of an atom bomb attack.

In an effort to prepare the people of the area to assist in such an emergency, the American Red Cross has agreed to assist to the extent of its ability in the development and operation of a program of civil defense on national, state and local levels in five specific phases. They are: training civil defense workers and the general public in first aid; training in home care of the sick and injured and nurses' aid activities; provision of food, clothing and temporary shelter on a mass care basis during an immediate emergency period; participation in a wartime nationwide blood program; and making available its existing organized chapter volunteers and resources for participation in civil defense activities.

The foregoing statement provides the broad frame-work within which the American National Red Cross will participate in the development and operation of civil defense programs. Specific tasks which the Red Cross may undertake in planning for civil defense, or in implementation of those plans, will be developed within the frame-work.

The ways and means of performing the above mentioned duties on a chapter basis were also discussed by Miss Grandcolas. With the summer resort season to start, plans are being made to name chairman of the various activities and launch upon a program of first aid and home nursing in the fall. The disaster program in the county will also be enlarged under the direction of Charles Dunnette of Boyne City, county disaster chairman.

Plans are also under way to make a housing survey when the request is made by civil defense authorities. Charlevoix county is already participating in a blood program on a small scale.

At the blood procurement clinic he led in Boyne City in February under the direction of Mrs. Roy G. Bennett of Charlevoix, chapter blood chairman, 99 units of blood were given. The type O or universal type was immediately processed and sent to the fighting front in Korea. Other blood was processed into plasma and derivatives and prepared for use in this county.

The Charlevoix county chapter of the Red Cross was thus given list of activities it will be expected to perform in the next few months. Chairman for various programs will be needed and will be named by Frances Martin, chapter chairman and the chapter board within the next few weeks.

The success of the program as planned by the Michigan Civil Defense officials and the American National Red Cross will depend on the response to the request for volunteers. An atom bomb attack will not wait. The people of Charlevoix are urged to get ready now. Their neighbors and not wait until the emergency is here. It is for this reason that plans are being formulated for a stepped-up program within the county.

Attending from East Jordan Miss Ethel Crowell and Mrs. Guy Watson. Student to health and hygiene professor: "I didn't finish my paper, sir. I didn't think you would want me sitting up late at night writing that plenty of sleep is necessary to good health."

Iron Curtain Trade

FOR SOME time this column has called attention to the shipment of war materials behind the Iron Curtain by European nations. Most people don't realize that a steady trickle of strategic materials have been reaching Communist countries from the U.S.A. Here are some American firms which have been transshipping:

1. Rolfe G. Grote of New York, who sent chemicals to Switzerland, later transshipped them to Soviet Russia.
2. The Pacific Trading Corporation of Boston which transshipped steel plates to Communist China.
3. The Harris Chemical Corporation of New York which obtained a license to ship chemicals to Belgium, then transshipped them to Communist Czechoslovakia.

Last December 27 this column also revealed that the Aluminum Corporation of Canada, an affiliate of the Mellon-controlled Aluminum Corporation of America, had shipped 3,000,000 pounds of aluminum to Communist Czechoslovakia, and 1,000,000 pounds of aluminum to Communist Poland, at a time when the American public was getting dangerously short.

Tax Tempers

There were some stormy dissents inside the house ways and means committee before it tentatively approved a 3 per cent, across-the-board boost in individual income taxes.

"This is an unfair imposition on the lower-bracket taxpayers," insisted Democrat Wilbur Mills of Arkansas. "Most of the new revenue in this legislation will come from the lower brackets anyhow, so why saddle the poor man with the same rate of increase as the upper-bracket taxpayer?"

Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana, who favored a graduated increase from 2 to 4 per cent on incomes up to $10,000 a year, also strongly opposed the across-the-board formula. So did another Democrat, John Dingell of Michigan.

Dingell was furious because the committee had raised corporation taxes only to 52 per cent instead of the 55 per cent, as recommended by the treasury.

"The coffers of some of these big companies are bulging with unexpended cash," exclaimed Dingell. "That's where the fat is. It isn't in the little man's pocket. I'm against all these excise taxes too, which are paid by the consumers—and that applies to excises on automobiles made in my own home town."

"America lives on wheels," said the congressman from Detroit. "But if you cripple the automobile industry by increasing excises to the point where the average fellow can't afford to buy a new car you are threatening the future of our whole economy."

Rep. Dan Reed of New York, the committee's No. 1 Republican, said he was willing to "go along" by not raising individual income taxes at all. While Democrats pinched themselves to be sure they weren't dreaming, Reed hastened to explain:

"If we cut non-essential government spending to the bone, maybe we wouldn't need a tax bill."

In the showdown, however, Reed and other committee Republicans voted solidly for the income-tax boost which hits little incomes as much as it does big.

Korean Air Disaster

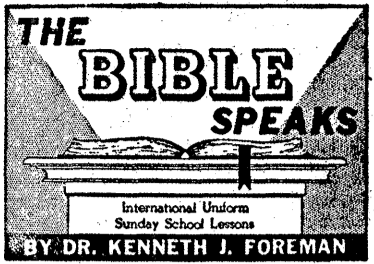

The American public has shown its ability to take the bad news along with the good and therefore has a right to know about our worst air disaster of the Korean war. So far the facts have not been released at the Pentagon.

Last month, however, 40 B-29 superfortresses, escorted by jet fighters, bombed the international bridge connecting Sinuiju, North Korea, with Antung, Manchuria. The B-29's were hugging so close to the Manchurian border that one side was exposed and approximately 100 Russian MIG-15 jet fighters hit them from the exposed Manchurian side, breaking up the formation.

Two B-29's were shot down, a third was listed as missing but was seen crashing into the sea. Seven of the big superfortresses had to crash-land in South Korea, while one was badly damaged but made it back to the home base.

Washington Pipeline

American scientists are unable to understand why the Russians have exploded only one A-bomb. Our most elaborate devices have detected no indication that the Kremlin has set off a second atomic explosion. Some of our experts feel that the Reds have found a method of detonating their bombs which eludes our instruments. Others claim the Russians are so far behind the U.S. that they would merely show their lack of progress by exploding another.

Not to Be Served
Lesson for June 10, 1951

THERE are at least three ideas of what religion is, and two of them are wrong if Jesus was right.

To put this more correctly: All three ideas have some truth in them, but if either the first or the second is taken as the main and only truth, then religion goes wrong; while Christ's truth carries in itself all the truth the others have.

Religion Is Not Retreat

FIRST of these wrong ideas about religion is that it is a retreat from the world, a private conference between God and the soul—and nothing more.

People holding this idea have literally fled from the world, they have lived as hermits, they have taken vows of silence and not spoken to a living soul for years on end, they have lived in little shut-in communities devoted to contemplation and prayer.

Now the relation between God and the soul is extremely important. Prayer and contemplation are the very atmosphere of religion, and the Christian ought always to be truly separate from the world. But retreating to a cell won't answer. Nobody is any better for taking a vow of silence.

Jesus was not that kind of person. His apartness from the world was not marked by a brick wall, but by his being a different kind of person, in the world.

Religion Is Not a Guarantee

ANOTHER wrong idea about religion is that it is a means of gain. Being religious is supposed to be a sure way of getting what you want, it means getting God on your side, it means having all your prayers answered, it means prosperity and success.

Surely no one could study the story of Jesus and come away with that notion in his head! Jesus got neither health, wealth, popularity nor success out of being what he was and doing what he did. The most respectable citizens regarded him as a wicked man; his property was only the clothes he wore; he is known to us as a "man of sorrows and acquainted with grief"; as for success, it is written that "he came to his own, and his own received him not."

Well, some one will ask, do you mean to say there is nothing in being a Christian? Don't you get anything at all out of it? That is a fair question.

Yes, there is everything to be gained; but not in that money-making, happiness-guaranteeing fashion. The person who "goes in for religion" hoping to advance his own interests, is still only a selfish man; and selfishness and Christianity are just crosswise.

Not To Be Served

THE third idea is in Jesus' words: "The son of man came not to be served but to serve, and to give his life a ransom for many." And as one of his great followers said: "As he is, so are we in this world." (1 John 4:17.)

This is the ideal of service, in its deepest, widest sense; and it takes in both those other ideals of religion. One of the best ways of serving others is to pray for them, as Jesus did. One of the best things we can do for others is to live as close to God as we can. But as Jesus himself said: "For their sakes I dedicate myself."

It is true, also, that something is to be gained from religion; but nothing that a selfish, greedy, money-loving person can understand. As one of the great creeds expresses it, the "benefits of redemption" are the assurance of God's love, peace of conscience, increase of grace, and perseverance therein to the end.

These are priceless, but no one can understand such things or even wish for them so long as he is a self-loving person, Jesus served men's bodies and minds, he taught and healed; but deeper than this, he came to save men—save them from their worst selves, bringing them out from slavery of sin, into the freedom of God.

So the Christian who wants to know the full meaning of his religion will, like his Master, so far as he can find opportunity, serve others' needs in every way he can. And the best service one person can do for another, after all, is to introduce him to Christ.

Looking Backward . . .

In the years gone by practically all barrels used in this vicinity for shipping apples etc, have been purchased of outside firms and shipped in. The A.M. Haight Co-operative and Box Co. realizing the necessity of such a need in East Jordan have decided to build a factory for the manufacture of barrels. A tract of land has been purchased adjoining their present plant on the East and will erect there on two buildings one 24 x 60 feet. A carload of machinery has been purchased and is now on its way here. The power capacity of the plant will be 1000 barrels per day and they will be ready for operation about July 1st.

Sunday evening June 4th, the Baccalaureate address will be given by Rev. T. Porter Bennett at the Methodist Episcopal church. Commencement Exercises will be held Thursday evening at Methodist Church. The address will be given by Rev. Louis S. Brooke of Howell. His subject will be "The Recreation of Pools." The Class roll this year only includes three names, Louise S. Gleason, Gladys B. Hudkins and Esther L. Monroe.

Contractor Harry S. Price has been awarded the contract by the Antrim County Board of Supervisors for the addition to be build on the County Poor House.

Dr. R. A. Risk and family now occupy the S. J. Colter residence on Second St.

JUNE 3, 1921

The committee in charge of naming the East Jordan Cemetery decided upon the name of "Sunset Hill" as being the most suitable. Among the many lists submitted to the Herald were a few of "Sunset, Mrs. G. W. Kitsman whose contribution was the fifty-fifth received, suggested the name adopted and received the cash prize offered by the Herald. Had it been left to a popularity contest, "Lakeview" would have been the name adopted as probably ninety per cent of the list submitted contained this name. We trust that the Cemetery Committee of our City Council will, in the near future erect a suitable main entrance to the cemetery with the name adopted placed thereon.

SCANNING THE WEEK'S NEWS of Main Street and the World

Small Business Casualty of Defense; Meat Price Rules Confuse Consumer

THE FOUNDATION THREATENED—According to several national economic surveys made public in the last week or so, small business is becoming a casualty of defense. This is a serious and frightening fact for thousands of small towns, because about 3,670,000 small businesses form the foundation of the American economic pyramid, many of them located in the home towns of the nation.

UP A TREE—Mild mannered, popular Gen. Omar Bradley, remembered by thousands of World War II veterans in the home towns of America as the "GI's general," put the combined senate armed services and foreign relations committees up a tree during his testimony on the removal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur from his Pacific commands.

To begin with, General Bradley caused a stir among the Republican members of the committees by upholding the administration's actions with the sweeping statement that General MacArthur's Korean plans "would involve us in the wrong war, at the wrong place, at the wrong time, and with the wrong enemy."

But when he flatly refused to tell the senators about his private talks with the President on the recall of MacArthur, he chased the committees up a tree.

For a day committee members argued among themselves whether they should take some kind of contempt action against the general. They voted 18 to 8, however, against such action expressing the view that it might set a dangerous precedent.

To the home town veteran, however, it seemed more likely the senators remembered Gen. Bradley's popularity with the men that make up a big part of today's Main Street population.

NEW DRAFT LAW—Senate and house conferees, attempting to reach a compromise on the two bills previously passed by the groups, finally reached a settlement calling for extension of the draft until July 1, 1955, with men of 18½ eligible for induction for 24 months of service.

The old draft bill expires July 1. The new one will require all men to register on becoming 18. They would be examined and classified before they were 18½ and would be eligible for induction thereafter, providing the pool of men from 19 to 26 in their individual draft districts had been exhausted by the local boards.

The bill will put a five million person ceiling on the combined army, navy, air forces and marines. It also requires that all draftees, volunteers, and reserves have at least four months' basic training before being assigned outside the United States.

UP TO OLD TRICKS—After rejecting American plans for a peace treaty with Japan, the Russians reverted to their old tricks in proposing their version of a treaty. The Soviet plan, which was rejected by the United States, would bar foreign forces from Japan after the occupation ends and thereby block an arrangement for American troops to help provide Japanese security.

It was the same type of thing the Russians so successfully carried out in Korea and which led to the present situation in Asia. No one can believe the Russians thought the United States would accept their plan, but one has to give them credit for having the nerve to suggest it.

There is little possibility now of Russia joining in the American peace treaty which is nearing conclusion.

BEWILDERED HOUSEWIVES—Home town housewives entered their Main Street stores and meat markets on Monday, May 14, without their usual dread of visiting a meat counter. The government had just ordered a cut in meat prices.

After one quick look she became a startled and confused housewife. For the next 10 days she became more bewildered. Meat prices were not down according to her figures—but up!

What the home town housewife saw was porterhouse steak up 7 cents a pound and sirloin up 9 cents. Round steak was down 2 cents—not enough to mention, and short ribs of beef down 8 cents—as she had expected of other cuts.

According to the government, however, the up and down price juggling of beef actually produced an over-all savings to the housewife of one-half of 1 per cent.

This she couldn't understand. One-half of 1 per cent didn't do a thing for her meat budget.

FAIR TRADE RULING—By a vote of 6-to-3, the supreme court ruled that merchants who did not sign fair-trade agreements are free to charge cut-rate prices if they wish.

Under the laws of 45 states, distributors of trade-mark or brand goods may enter into agreements with retail dealers to sell their products at filed minimum prices. Under the new court ruling, however, the home town merchant who did not sign such a contract or agreement can sell the product at whatever price he desires.

The only states not having fair-trade laws are Vermont, Texas, and Missouri.

The ruling will have little effect on most classes of merchandise as long as business is good, most Main Street businessmen believe. This would not hold true, however, if business went into a slump.

Homeward Bound on Rotation Express American GI's, veterans of the Korean fighting board a truck bound for a rotation center where they will be processed for return to the United States. Tired GI's slugged the truck appropriately, "Rotation Express."

LAND BOOM OF 1950

Farm Mortgage Debt Up 8 Per Cent

The agriculture department reported recently the land boom of 1950 boosted the farm real-estate debt 8 per cent, totaling $5,800,000,000 at the end of the year. Likewise, the rising demand and increased prices for farm commodities led farmers to add to their non-real-estate debt. They borrowed heavily to buy additional equipment and machinery.

The department said the real-estate-mortgage debt, however, was only 54 per cent of the record reached in 1923. Twelve states have a higher mortgage debt than in the peak year of 1923. These are New Hampshire, Rhode Island, New Jersey, Delaware, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, Florida, Tennessee, Alabama, Louisiana and New Mexico.

SHORT STORY Lover's Quarrel By Laura M. Welch

I MUST HAVE been about ten or eleven, a rather intense little girl with a twenty year old sister whom I adored. She was in love with a young druggist, a handsome young man and she always kept a large photograph of him in the center of our upright piano, usually with a small fluted bowl of pansies or violets in front of it.

3-Minute Fiction

One night about one o'clock my sister came upstairs to the room we shared and came to bed and cried nearly all night. Several times I asked her what was the matter and she'd say, "Nothing, honey, go back to sleep."

I knew she and Clyde had been to a dance and I was sure they had quarreled. The next morning she still wouldn't tell me why she had cried so much.

Later on in the day I went into the parlor to practice my scales and there was his photograph right there in front of me. I couldn't bear to look at it. He had made my sister cry. He had hurt her dreadfully and I hated him. I hated him so much I couldn't bear to see his picture.

I took the picture and slid it along the baseboard behind the piano. I gave it a hard shape and was sure it would never be found again.

Two or three days went by. My sister was still sad. I wondered if she and Clyde would ever make up their quarrel.

Some of her friends got together and decided to do something to help them make up. They came down to the house and brought Clyde with them, stayed a short time and went off leaving Clyde and Bess together. But it didn't do any good. Clyde left early, too, and my sister was just as sad as ever.

One day I heard her talking to one of her girl friends. "It was a hateful sort of thing for him to do. He could have asked me, you know. That would have been the honorable thing to do, even if he had wanted to give it to another girl!" She swallowed a sob and went on, "I know he's just laughing to himself, thinking how he put it over on me."

I didn't have the slightest idea what she was talking about.

THE WHOLE TOWN was interested in the quarrel. They'd been expecting a big church wedding with all the fixings and were disappointed. As for myself, I just got madder and madder.

One morning I was sent uptown for the mail and met Clyde on the street. I started to go by him without speaking, which I knew was very rude, but I didn't care if it was. He reached out and caught my hand.

"Look, honey, don't be mad at me," he said. "Don't you know this thing is hurting me too?"

I said angrily, "You made her cry."

He turned a little pale and looked very serious. "Did she really cry, Becky?"

"Yes, she does . . . did, I mean. That's why I took your picture and hid it behind our old piano."

"You took the photograph?"

I nodded. "It's behind the piano." "And all this time I thought she took it away because she was going to put another one there."

Quite suddenly I began to understand. "And she thought you took it to give to another girl?"

He took my hand again. "Look, I'm going home with you, Becky. Will you tell Bess what you've just told me?"

I nodded. And we went home together and I told her. There was a wedding after all.

Proper Timing Joady Briggs had been celebrating an expected addition to his family and returned home at two o'clock in the morning in time to be presented with twins. Just at the moment of his arrival the clock, by coincidence, chimed the hour of two. "Mighty lucky thing for me I didn't stay out until four," said Joady.

Short Short Shorts "Why worry because your hair falls out? Suppose it ached and you had to have it pulled like your teeth?"

"My memory is excellent," said the stout lady. "There are only three things I can't remember. I can't remember names, and I can't remember faces, and I can't remember what the third thing is."

Voice in Fraternity House: "Is this dance formal, or can I wear my own clothes?"

"Why are you eating with your knife?" "My fork leaks."

Famous Last Words: "Lend me two bucks and you'll get the whole five next payday."

"I will now illustrate what I have in mind," said the teacher as she erased everything from the blackboard.

NATURAL MISTAKE

The absent minded professor reported that he'd been the victim of a pickpocket.

"But," the police sergeant asked, "didn't you feel anything, say a hand, in your pocket?"

"To be sure, to be sure," replied the learned gentleman. "But I thought it was my own."

With the adjournment of the legislature the political pot has subsided to a mere simmer—the large question in Michigan being, of course, the race for the senate next fall. But the gubernatorial picture must not be overlooked.

Republicans have more or less settled on Fred M. Alger, Jr., secretary of state, as their standard bearer in the next election. Mystery shrouds the Democratic position.

Will Williams run? Yes, most agree—unless he gets a bid from Washington. The popular young governor has been clocked as a possible vice-presidential starter. Washington isn't talking—yet.

Business in Michigan has declined. In April sales tax collections in the decline totaled $19,529,793, a drop of $1,000,000 from the previous month. Half of the decline was in automobile sales.

After battling through hundreds of amendments to the state budget bill, legislative aides report the total figure to be $306,113,205. Expenditures: $199,916,654, general government; $89,032,394, school aid; $14,679,157, repayment of veterans bonus bonds; $1,900,000 civil defense, and $585,000, airport matching money.

Lansing, which has the only state-owned airport in Michigan (Capital City Airport), will get $100,000 for port improvements to be matched by an equal amount from the federal government.

Former Governor Kim Sigler, a flying enthusiast, claims Lansing has the nation's second worst state capitol airport.

Saginaw, in passing a municipal income tax on businesses, has stirred up a cyclone of reaction. This may be the answer for fund-starved cities all over the state. But corporations and big business-

Backbone of the set-up is the 5,011 volunteer pilots, 243 airports and 162 aviation schools operating with the project.

Some 4,596 new teachers will be graduated from Michigan colleges this year as against 1,360 four years ago, but the teacher shortage will continue. Dr. T. Luther Purdom, University of Michigan director of occupational information, predicts 2,000 more instructors will be needed.

Beaver Island Airport Being Improved To Modernize It

The Beaver Island airport has undergone a series of improvements to modernize it for use of planes that carry summer vacationists here.

Both of the principal runways, one 3,500 feet and the other 2,500 feet, have been resodded on 100-foot strips down the center of them, approaches to the runways have been cleared and a new steel tower has been erected for the wind indicator. Telephone service also has been established between the airport and St. James.

Regular airplane service is maintained between Charlevoix and Beaver Island, with flights made at the convenience of the passengers. The airport also is open for use of private planes that carry passengers. The airport also is open for use of private planes that fly here.

Located five miles south of here in the heart of the 16-mile long island, transportation is available to the hotels and other places in St. James and throughout the island.

Adjust Sprayer for Best Insect Control

Equipment in good condition is just necessary for insect control as the correct insecticide, report Michigan State College entomologists. Poor equipment will do a good job of coverage.

Good coverage is highly important and requires enough nozzles and correct pressure. Nozzles should be adjusted to meet the spraying and dusting requirements of each crop treated. Needs vary with the crops and should be considered each time a different crop is treated.

The entomologists emphasize that nozzles of dusters and sprayers can be too close or too far away from crops. Canvas trailers can be used with the dust to improve coverage, provided they do not damage the crop mechanically or scatter diseases.

South Arm, No. 380

South Arm Farmers Union No. 380 met last Monday eve, at the Grange Hall with 15 members present.

The Credit Union was explained and voted to do our share to help get one going as a Co. wide organization. An article was read of the case between the Farm Bureau and F. U. which the Utah Farm Bureau made smear and false remarks about the Farmers Union. The Farmers Union became sick of being called communist, so they proceeded to sue the F. B. and got a judgment of $25,000.

The F. B. found they could not prove their statement's to be true. I hope I never have to see anything like this happen here in Michigan. It is always better to stop and think your smear remarks over before making them public, and just because some one else makes such remarks it is not all ways best to repeat them, for your own organization, as well as for your self's sake; life is too short for all of us. So it is much better to work together co-operate together and play together, than to be always on the opposite side of every public program. The Farmers will find if they stick together and work for better farm programs they surly will accomplish much more, than what they have in the past, by bucking each other and making such smear attacks all the time.

It was voted to get 25 new song books and also windshield stickers.

The Jr. Camp was discussed which is to be held the 3rd week in August, near Grand Rapids. There will be transportation down and back. So if any Farmers Union members wishing to send their boy or girl to camp that week please get in touch with Mrs. Archie Murphy before the next co. meeting; which is June 19th at Wilson Farmers Union Hall. We voted to pay half of our gr's expenses. Meeting closed and not lunch was served by the committee. Next meeting July 2nd and Kitchen Com. Irene Crawford, Gir-drude Graham and Georga Murphy.

State Police Recruits Are Being Sought

Applications for enlistment as recruits to fill vacant trooper positions are now being accepted for the next Michigan State Police training school, tentatively scheduled to open June 25.

Because of the short time remaining in which to conduct entrance examinations field investigations, prospective candidates should act immediately in obtaining desired information and filling out application forms. For best and quicker results, they are urged to go to their nearest State Police post, where they will be given complete particulars and supplied with application forms. If preferred, however, they may write to State Police headquarters or the State Civil Service Commission in Lansing.

Married men are now being enlisted in the State Police as well as those who are single. Candidates must be between the ages of 21 and 30, inclusive, not less than five feet, ten inches in height, and possess good health.

In addition to general salary raise granted to troopers last December there has been a new raise in the pay received during the eight-weeks' training period and effective July 1 the five-year step salary range will be condensed into four in order to increase the trooper's earning capacity more rapidly. Troopers also receive subsistence pay and are given their uniforms and equipment.

Membership in the State Police is regarded as a career profession offering interesting work and various security advantages. After 25 years of service an officer also may retire on a pension which in event of his death, goes to his widow.

F. B. Smear False; Jury Awards F. U. $25,000 Damages

A Utah federal court jury has awarded Farmers Union $25,000 damages against Utah Farm Bureau for calling the Farmers Union "Communist dominated" during the last election campaign in that state.

After a week-long trial, in which Federal Judge Willis Ritter called some of the Farm Bureau's evidence "ridiculous" and admonished their attorneys repeatedly to produce some facts, the jury voted that the Farm Bureau charges were untrue. The jury considered the case approximately 4 hours. Apparently most of the time was taken agreeing on the amount.

Although the defendants in the case were the Utah Farm Bureau, its executive secretary and its vice-president, Frank Shelley and A. V. Smoot, it developed during the trial that the American Farm Bureau Federation was participating in the background and had supplied Robert Cruise McManus, a violently anti-Farmers Union writer, to "prove" the charge. (The Utah Farm Bureau had at one time agreed to apologize and settle, but it is now clear that it canceled that arrangement because of the American Farm Bureau action).

Advised of the jury's verdict, President James G. Patton of National Farmers Union, said: "We are, of course, gratified with the outcome of our libel suit against the Farm Bureau Federation in Utah. We hope that the Farmers Union shall now be permitted to devote its full energies to organizing and representing the interests of family farmers."

CORRECT CAKE ADVISED FOR TIN COOKING PANS

Treat your tin cooking utensils well if you want them to last and be of service advises Marjorie Knoll of the Michigan State College school of home economics. Tin pans are iron or steel base with only a thin coating of tin. Lightweight tin utensils buckle and dent easily unless handled carefully. Though the tin does not rust, the steel base rusts when the tin coating wears off or is scratched through. The tin coat is also slightly porous and allows moisture to penetrate to the steel base. Tinned utensils conduct heat rapidly but do not hold it well, the home economist points out. When new, they are light in color and baked products do not brown very well. When the surface becomes darkened from use, heat is absorbed more rapidly and products turn out with a darker brown color.

If a tin utensil darkens in spots, heat is being absorbed unevenly. This discoloration, however, is and food is apt to stick and burn.

not injurious to health. If you have food particles stuck tightly to tin, soak the pan for a time or boil a little soda water in the pan. Do not run the risk of scorching with a harsh metal cleaner.

Care for your tin utensils, advises Miss Knoll, and they will give lasting and useful service.

As Old Hi says in the booklet "Fishing For The Millions," we owe a lot to pan fish. They give us plenty of fun and sport when the game fish may be off their feed, and let us spend many pleasant hours in company with congenial friends.

Pan fish seem to have about everything in their favor. They cover the country in a variety of species, are sweet tasting when properly cooked, fight nimbly in cool and clean waters, live close to our homes, are ready biters, will nip at artificial flies and spinners in many cases, and thrive abundantly.

You are seated in a boat anchored over a shallow gravelly bottom, holding a 9½-foot "President" tonkin bamboo live bait rod, with a "Top Flight" level wind reel filled with Old Hi's Favorite 9 pound test nylon line, snelled bob, and a soft-shelled crawfish or bass bug for bait.

Suddenly there comes a gentle stirring of your plastic float, and a moment later it slips from view as a sizable sunfish grabs the bait and heads for a weedy refuge. With a quick lift of the rod tip you tighten the line and imbed the hook.

Then, for a short interval, you play a vigorous scrapper until he can be brought to the gunwale and lifted aboard in the net.

You have a 10-inch gleaming blue-gill weighing about a pound, one of the most favored of all pan fish. His kinsmen include such notables as the black bass. It's no wonder, then, that he's a highly sportive rogue.

In fact, you can have a great deal of fun with bluegills—as well as with yellow perch and rock bass—on a light 2-piece "Woodman" tubular glass fly rod, or on one of the new 2-piece "Golden Rod" tubular glass spinning rods.

For something different in sport, take this spinning rod and cast out a weighted streamer fly, the Spinning Wonder, Spintwiler, or a Hico fly rod minnow. Big bluegills, perch, and crappies gobble up these lures, and fight like demons on the resilient glass rod.

But let "Fishing For The Millions" give you all the dope on catching the various pan fish. Just send a penny postcard to Old Hi today, in care of this newspaper, and shortly you'll be having more fun and better luck with the many sunfish and their cronies that lurk in the weed beds of lake and river.

In asking for your free copy of this illustrated booklet, and also for the others called "Salt Water Sports Fishing" and "Pacific Coastal Fishing," please be sure to print your name and address plainly, so there will be no delay or mistake in sending the books to you. And at the same time you might request the leaflet "Spinning For Sport" if you would like to know the best spinning outfit to obtain for taking trout and pan fish. Tight lines, fellows, and let's get together here again next week.

SKY WONDERS

Glowing Gas Found in Sky

CLEVELAND, O.—Dr. Edwin F. Carpenter of the University of Arizona reported the recent discovery of vast rivers of glowing gas and stars formed by cosmic collisions. Long and thin, the streams of gas stretch like a faint filament or link between two galaxies, the great star cities of the universe, he said. He suggested that they were formed by a great sideswiping collision of two galaxies that lasted for 1,000,000 years. Hot gases were sucked out as a long streamer of wreckage as the galaxies tore through each other and then rushed apart. The swirling river of gas apparently condenses into stars as it cools, and thus keeps glowing at the time. The rivers give a clue as to how some stars are created, and indicate that more stars are being born continually.

Gas Clouds Collide
Dr. Carpenter said he found 15 cases in which pairs of galaxies are engaged in collision or emerging from one. Galaxies are great collections of stars, containing up to 100,000,000,000. Our Milky Way is one of the largest. Some are spiral and some globular. They may be 100,000 light years wide, a light year being the distance light travels in one year. There are millions or billions of galaxies in the universe. Stars in a galaxy are so widely separated that one galaxy can go right through another "without either group being aware of the other," Dr. Carpenter said. But gas clouds in the galaxies collide and grow hot, and the glowing filament of gas is pulled and trailed out as the star cities race on away. In some 4,000,000 to 6,000,000 years, the streamer becomes as long as a galaxy is wide.

Some are relatively thin, forming almost threadlike streams. Others are wide and fuzzy in appearance. Some look like an axle connecting two spiral galaxies. New Type Star Found
Dr. Carpenter found the rivers in studying pairs of galaxies, or even larger groups, far out in space. Meanwhile, three other astronomers have announced the findings of what seems to be a brand-new type of star, a blue dwarf. It is one of the bluest stars in the heavens, and very hot. All other very hot blue stars are extremely large. The blue dwarf lies in the Northern Cross constellation, but is well outside the Milky Way. That is, in a place where hot stars are found only rarely, they explained. It may represent a new family of dwarf high-temperature stars, never before seen.

Washed Out French Cadet Steals Army Plane, Dies
CALDWELL, Tex.—A French air cadet, heavy hearted because he couldn't win his wings, stole an air force plane and, laughing, flew it to his death. Jean M. le Mitourad, 22, son of a French surgeon, was at the Randolph air force base with other young Frenchmen for training under the north Atlantic pact. Randolph officials said that he had been downcast since failing as a pilot trainee. The cadet went to the flight line, climbed into the plane and took off. He zoomed low over Stinson and Brooks air bases, whizzed down over Randolph, then headed north. A note indicating that he intended to crash the plane was found just after he took off. In it he apologized to "the American air force for destroying this plane." Flights of other planes chased him over the skies, but returned to base when their gas started running low. Capt. Alain Jourdan, a French liaison officer, who flew along-side the cadet in another trainer in an effort to coax him down, said le Mitourad told him by radio: "I spend my last hours in the air and then I die." Jourdan said the cadet seemed in command of his emotions and "laughed many times." He crashed in a wooded pasture about five miles west of Caldwell.

Glasgow University Rector Showered With Eggs, Fruit
GLASGOW, Scotland — Glasgow University has a new rector, but not without a bit of a ruckus. Dr. John MacCormick took office in a shower of tomatoes, firecrackers and rotten eggs. Rattles, bells, shouts and piercing blasts of a trumpet drowned out the speech-making. A live duck flung on the platform by angry students lurched around under the feet of the assembled dignitaries. When it was all over, Dr. MacCormick, daubing at egg, and tomato stains on his suit, told reporters: "One of the liveliest installations I've ever seen." Dr. MacCormick, one of the best hated and best loved men in Scotland, was elected rector in a lively campaign a month before. He is chairman of the Scottish Covenant association which demands a greater measure of home rule for the highlands. The association claims it is supported by 60 to 70 per cent of the Scottish people.

The Servicemen's Letter

Hi Fellas:
Another week has rolled around Memorial Day has come and gone with its usual amount of marching, flag waving, and celebration. I sometimes wonder if we get the true meaning of this day. We celebrate - that is true. But do we fully realize that this day is dedicated to those who have lost their lives for our sake?

During the past week seven new addresses were turned in but I still have a list of 21 men in the service for whom I have no addresses. Their names appear at the end of this letter. Will anyone who has an address of one or more of these men please turn it in?

Mr. Lisk received a letter this past week from Great Lakes, Ill., announcing that Seaman Apprentice Ralph E. Hott of RFD 1, East Jordan is serving aboard the destroyer USS Samuel B. Roberts with the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean. The Sixth Fleet is one of the largest continuous operational fleets afloat today, second only to the Seventh Fleet which is supporting United Nations efforts in Korea. Ralph will be able to participate in special conducted tours of Rome, Paris and other cities and countries they are in-land from the coast cities.

We have three men at Great Lakes Naval Training Center now. They are Fred Burbank who is located in Camp Downs, 104th Bn, Co No 454; Robert Anderson who is in Bldg 309 and who is attending Engineman School Class "A"; and James Meredith whose address is MM School, Bks 301, Ser 3, Billet 356, Seaman School Command. Jim's wife, Gloria, has gone out to be near him while he is in training. She has a job as a typist to keep her busy. Maybe you four could get together sometime?

S/Sgt Dale Gee and Sgt Lawrence Wright are stationed at the same place in England. Dale reenlisted soon after the close of the last war and has been stationed in England ever since. We understand that he has made quite a hit with the civilians in that locality.

Carroll Bartholomew and Howard Evans are listed as having landed in this country enroute home for furlough.

Pvt. Ralph E. Scott of the 517th Ord HM Co at Fort Knox, Kentucky is reported as studying for the job of cook. His dad says, "You wouldn't know Ralph. He's as fat as a pig". Watch out Ralph, the new bride may not like that. Ralph just got married on April 28th.

James Graham who is in Fort Hood, Texas, expects to take the long hop soon. His mother tells me he will be on his way to Germany before long. Jim — you'll have to check with George Rogers on the best way to get along with those Krauts and Fraulins. His address is Sgt/FC Alfred G. Rogers, Hq - Hq Co, 1st Bn, 30th Inf Regt, Fort Benning, Georgia.

Pvt. Ronald B. Kenny of Squadron 3760 Bks 764 at Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas, is studying airplane mechanic. He says his work is real interesting. We have quite a number of men from East Jordan in the air service. Pfc Ivan Nemecek is away out in Chicopee Falls, Mass. at the Westover AFB. He is a stock man of airplane parts, checks inventories and makes deliveries. Away out on the other side is M/Sgt Louis Addis of the 10th Air Rescue Sqdn. who is located in Anchorage, Alaska. I'd like to hear from you, Louis. How are things in Alaska? Pfc John M. Kershner of the 1st Motor Veh Sq is located at the George AFB in Calif. What are your duties, John? Ross Nichols is at the Scott AFB in Ill. Donald Olson is at the Cal Aereo Tech Inst in Glendale, Calif. Robert Cummins is at the US Naval Amphibious Base at Little Creek, Va. We'd like to hear from all of you fellows.

So — I'll sign off for another week hoping to hear from some of you.

So Long,
"Jake" Snyder

The following is a list of the servicemen whose addresses we do not have:

William Antoine, Bruce Bolser, Paul Bennett, Wilber Craft, Clifford Cutler, Basil Carney, Joe Hammond, Norman Howard, Clare Loomis, Ronald Lundy, Dale McWatters, Fern Morris, Alfred Nelson, John Pawnesing, Glen Persons, Milse Prevo, Clifford Schultz, William Schiska, Everett Vermillion, Guy Vallance, Ralph E. Hott.

During a recent dry spell in Texas, servicemen got a new thrill. "It's an amazing thing," one husband commented happily. "For years I've been kissing my wife and it was not much—just a kiss. But now all of a sudden, we kiss and zip, crackle, snap . . . there's a real tingle to it."

The local weather bureau reports that cool dry weather produces such a huge amount of static electricity that when lips meet . . . wham!

FARM FACTS
from your County
Agricultural Agent
Ed. Rebman, Co. Agr'l Agent

GREEN MANURE CROPS:
Northern Michigan farmers have found using green manure of the soil and help control weeds crops will increase yielding power and unwanted grasses. D. L. Clanhahan, farm crops extension specialist at Michigan State College recommends buckwheat, rye, oats or any of the clover or alfalfa for summer green manure crops in the area.

Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent, says the demands for alfalfa and clover for hay and seed purposes exceed the demands to use these crops for green manure. He also points out that some of the depleted soils cannot produce clover or alfalfa satisfactorily. Buckwheat is the best crop for a summer green manure, the agent believes.

Several steps are necessary to get a good seeding of buckwheat for a green manure crop, according to Clanhahan. First, the soil must be tested and limed to raise the pH to 6.5. Seed buckwheat in early June at a rate of 1 1/2 bushels an acre on a well prepared seedbed. At least 300 pounds of 10-6-4 fertilizer an acre should be used. In August, when the first blossoms appear and well ahead of seed setting, disc down the buckwheat.

Plant a fall rye crop in the acre to cover the land over winter. This can be plowed down the following spring and a crop for harvest planted.

GRASS DAYS
GETTING CLOSER:

The fourth round of Grass Days in Michigan will be staged this year in six counties of the lower peninsula. In case you're memory designed to promote more and needs refreshing, Grass Days are better grassland farming in Michigan by demonstrating the kind of good practices that enable you to get the most from the use of grass on your farm. And by grassland farming the agriculturalists don't mean turning the entire farm over to grass and legumes but rather getting the right balance into your regular rotation.

The two days in this area, according to Ed Reman, county agr'l agent, are Friday, June 22 in Magistee county at the Flora Doniz farm near Mainstee on a Monday, June 25 in Oscoda county at the Clifford Shantz and Ellsworth and Arnold Handrick farms.

At grass days you will see the near Fairview results of fertilization plots, best recommended practices for seeding grass and legumes, conservation practices, chemical weed control, and many other things. Farm machinery dealers will have the usual big displays and the machinery for harvesting forage will be seen in action on the afternoon program. We think it's good business to attend the Grass Day in your area.
