Our Sunday School meetings at 9:45 each Sunday morning for religious instruction and inspiration. There are classes for each age group from 2 years old up. The most pressing need of our day is the discovery of new moral and religious values that can meet life as we must meet it today. We invite and urge everyone to avail themselves of the instruction available to all through the churches of our community.

Our Worship Service begins at 11:00 a. m. each Sunday Morning. There is something important to be gained by each who will come and worship together in a congregation of people of a kindred mind. There is something that is the awareness of God in our midst as we worship together. Here we are joined together not only with the visible congregation in which we sit but also with the innumerable host of men and women of all generations who have found God and know Him to be good. The sermon this coming Sunday will be on the Subject, "The Unknown Foundation" Come and Worship with us.

The Community Vacation Bible School will begin Monday July 2, 1951 and will continue for two weeks ending on Friday July 13th. All children between ages of 3 and 12 are invited and encouraged to attend this school.

Clinic For Crippled and Afflicted Children at Charlevoix, June 26

Plans have been completed for the special clinic for crippled and afflicted children from four northern Michigan counties at the Charlevoix Elementary school, Tuesday, June 26.

Dr. A. F. Litzenger, director of the District Health Unit 3 who is arranging the clinic, said the success of the clinic is assured. "Many appointments have been made and more are expected before next Tuesday," he said. "Mrs. Robert McClure, chairman of the committee of volunteer workers, has her staff for the day. Mrs. Margaret Devoport and Mrs. Marian of the Health Unit staff here have completed their arrangements and we will be prepared for any number of children."

Dr. Carl Badgley, chief of the orthopedic department at the University of Michigan, and Dr. J. T. Jerome, orthopedic specialist of Traverse City, will conduct the clinic which is being held through the auspices of Michigan Crippled Children's Commission.

The District Health Unit which embraces Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet and Otsego counties and the Northern Michigan Medical Society are combining their efforts to bring crippled and afflicted children from the four counties to Charlevoix where they may be examined by specialists.

Appointments must be made to attend the clinic. They may be made through family physicians or the Health Unit.

Antrim County Farm Bureau News

Plans are under way for the biggest and best annual picnic ever to be held at the Eastport Park the week of July 16. Watch your papers for the definite date. We hope all farmers and families whether Farm Bureau members or not will come and enjoy the day with us.

This week Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Bush, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Chellis, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Finger are representing our county at the Midwest Farm Bureau Conference at Michigan State College.

Mr. Clifton Jacobs, District Insurance Agent of Alpena, attended the last Board of Directors meeting at Carl Conents'.

Several people from Antrim County attended the meeting at Gaylord Michigan June 12 where Farm Bureau members from 11 counties in district 10 of the state organization called upon Congress to lower price and wage controls to end June 30.

They asked Congress to substitute a seven point program for controlling inflation. They said it is supported by farm and business groups throughout the nation.

C. L. Brody, executive secretary of the Michigan Farm Bureau, led the discussion which held that price and wage controls are promoting inflation. It was said that unworkable regulations will discourage farm and industrial production.

"Direct price and wage controls," said Mr. Brody, "discourage future planning and assumption of risks necessary to rising production. We notice cattle feeders hesitate to fill their feed lots because of uncertainties created by present beef roll-back and price controls. Unfinished and lighter cattle are going to market."

"There are over 400 different grades of cotton, with standards for quality in each grade. Bureaucratic regulation is impossible. Each new government order leads to further orders and regulations. They lead to rationing and orders which tell the consumer what he may buy and when."

"In a free market all price and quality relations and prices are automatically determined by supply and demand, and what the consumer is willing to pay."

Why not drop a postcard or letter to your representative and your senators in Washington, D.C. and tell them how you wish them to vote on this price and wage control matter? Do it today!

"Chicken of Tomorrow" Winners In Contest at Hamilton, Mich.

Robert E. DeWitt of Zeeland gained the title of king of Michigan poultrymen June 18 in a state Chicken-of-Tomorrow competition so close that the judges required an extra hour of deliberation.

The 28-year-old manager of DeWitt's Zeeland Hatchery won the Michigan championship with a White Rock-New Hampshire Cross entry in the contest to produce better meat-type chickens.

For his triumph in a field of entrants representing the Wolverine State's top poultry producers DeWitt was presented a handsome trophy awarded by A & P Food Stores which sponsors the chicken derby with the Michigan State College poultry extension department and the broiler industry.

Less than a single point separated the top three winners in eyes of judges. E. G. Gattinger, Lake Odessa poultry dealer, and L. A. Dawson of Michigan State's poultry extension department.

Runnerup was a 4-H club agent, Leonard Hill of Berrien Springs making his initial start in the C-of-T contest. Hill previously had coached youngsters who were winners in the 1949 and 1950 junior chicken events.

Third prize went to Mrs. Pearl Willer of Sandusky, a poultry raiser for 40 years. Both Hill and Mrs. Willer had White Rock entries.

In the judges' scoring, DeWitt's birds rated 87.75 points to 87.50 for the Hill entry and 87.00 for Mrs. Willer's chickens.

Other DeWitts entries captured fourth and sixth places. Lial Gifford, St. John hatcheryman who captured the title last year, finished in fifth position.

on any laying flock, a second application ten days later is necessary to kill the lice that have hatched since the first treatment.

Lice have chewing mouth parts. Mites are blood suckers. The latter live in and around perches and nests. These pests come on the birds only to drink blood and return to their hiding places in cracks and crevices. Here their eggs are laid.

To control mites, some paint or spray must be used on perches, perch supports and nests if mites are to be kept under control. The best time of year to do this is when the laying house has its annual cleaning. All perches, perch supports and nests should be removed from the house and cleaned. They should then be painted with a solution of anthracene oil. This material should control the common red mite for one year's time. Care should be taken that the anthracene oil is painted, not sprayed, unless protection to face, hands and arms is provided. It may burn.

The common red mite and lice are our greatest trouble makers. A third insect, not so numerous, is the northern fowl mite. The red mite is found near the birds, the northern mite is found in the fluffy feathers of the bird. Its treatment is three applications of the nicotinic sulphate at three day intervals. The treatment is to the roost in the same manner as given for red mite control.

of Main Street and the World

Johnston Urges Strong Price Laws; Price War Confined to Large Cities

BUSINESS AS USUAL—For some time the home town has been uneasy over the nation's economical outlook. Headlines in the last few days haven't helped his uneasiness any.

Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston's charge that the nation is sitting on an "economic time bomb" that may explode into runaway inflation next fall, unless congress keeps a strong program on the law books, caused considerable comment and worry. On top this the beef industry—all the way from farmer to grocer—was in an uproar over his charge that the beef industry is trying to ride roughshod over the American housewife with a cry of "damn the consumer and full pockets ahead."

Economic Stabilizer Johnston
"Damn the consumer and full pockets ahead."

Noted for speaking his mind, Johnston said that "business as usual" has an ominous ring to me at a time when men are dying in battle in Korea for a free way of life. He added that the consumer, the housewife, is not going to be the forgotten American if I can help it.

Shortly before making these statements Johnston proposed a new wage formula pegging pay ceiling to living costs and permitting for millions of workers an immediate boost ranging up to 12 1/2 per cent above the levels of January, 1950.

The belief is becoming more universal that the government must take a firmer stand and congress must enact stricter laws governing prices and wages. The threat to the nation today is as great from the inside as from the outside.

SWEET MUSIC—And while home towners tried to understand statements from Washington on the economic situation, the average small town resident read of reports from New York, Oklahoma City, and Atlanta of red-hot price cutting wars following the supreme court fair trade decision with a feeling of awe and incredulity. To many it was like sweet music of yesterday.

Tens of thousands of gleeful shoppers—men and women—rushed wildly through New York bargain basements in search for nationally advertised goods that had been marked down, some of it as much as 40 per cent. Small electrical appliances, summer-weight suits, cosmetic items, best-selling novels, sheets, pillow cases, nylon hose and girdles were marked down again and again. It was a consumer's paradise.

Home towners then took a quick look at their local newspapers in the hope that Main Street merchants had some new bargains. Most of them, however, were disappointed. The big city price-war had not yet reached the home town level. And economists reported it was not likely to.

Most retail organizations predicted the New York price-war would level off quickly, with prices from 8 to 15 per cent below the former fixed-price levels.

Trade sources, also, pointed out that the price-war was not likely to spread because most home town merchants signed fair trade contracts. On top of this, consumer goods may become tighter as the summer progresses and defense needs begin to eat into present backlogs.

HOW CLOSE TO WAR?—The man on Main Street, who never knows all the facts, received a shock that sent a shiver of fear down his back as the MacArthur hearing continued in Washington. The shock was delivered by Adm. Forrest Sherman who told senators that the U.S. government so feared a world war last December that its field commanders were ordered by the high command to "increase their readiness" and the Mediterranean fleet went to sea.

Sherman said the orders were issued after MacArthur told the joint chiefs of staff that the U.N. should accept an armistice in Korea "on the best terms available", and the army would have to quit Korea unless the war could be carried against Red China.

Sherman's testimony before the armed services and foreign relations committees again impressed the average American with the fact this nation barely escaped World War III in recent months. Many are wondering how close to war we are today?

RURAL BANK DEPOSITS UP—Rural banks, largely farmer-owned and reflecting farmer finances, have shown amazing increases in deposits during the past 10 years, a recent survey of seven states revealed.

One bank, in an Illinois town of less than 400 population, increased its bank deposits from $168,000 in 1940 to $3,480,000, more than 20 times as much. In the same 10 years, its population dropped from 500 to 359. Country banks, generally, in the seven-state midwest survey area, showed deposits rose from three to 20 times, many of them 10 times, in the 10-year period.

The survey was conducted in Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Missouri. All of the towns had less than 600 population.

PEACE RUMORS CONTINUE—Rumors of peace in Korea continued to circulate in many world capitals although they were denied by high government officials. The move, if any is made, apparently will come from the United Nations side.

Some reports indicate the United States might be willing to halt the fighting at the 38th parallel provided it was a "real" settlement with assurances of no further Red aggression.

Observers in the far east, however, were skeptical that any peace feelers will come from Peiping. They might come from Moscow. Communist China might be thoroughly licked, but they could simply call its "volunteers" back behind the Yalu river boundary and sit and lose little face.

SAME AS REFUSAL—The Russians now say they are willing to hold a foreign ministers' meeting if the ministers would discuss the North Atlantic pact and U. S. bases in Europe. The Soviet note with the big "if" was sent to the U. S. after 2 weeks of meetings in Paris by deputy foreign ministers of U. S., France, Britain and Russia.

According to western diplomats the Russian note amounts to the same thing as refusal to attend a foreign ministers' meeting. The U. S. has told the Russians many times they would not discuss the North Atlantic pact. The new Soviet line is that U.S. bases in Europe are "the essential cause of the worsening of relations between the U.S.S.R. and the three powers."

PRICE-WAR SHOPPERS
It's not likely to happen in the home towns. (See story above.)

BIGGEST CATALOG EVER
Sears, Roebuck Mails Largest Catalog

Home towners and rural families who have for years received the Sears, Roebuck catalog will soon get the new edition. It is the biggest sale catalog the firm has ever published, containing 404 pages. A year ago, the corresponding sales book contained 284 pages.

Hundreds of items, ranging from wading pools to wire records are offered at knock-down prices.

Notable by their absence from the current catalog are certain appliances that were featured a year ago. The sales book at that time contained refrigerators and washing machines at special prices. This year they aren't listed. Automobile tires are also missing from this year's catalog; a year ago they were offered less than the regular prices.

Anglers who like to battle with tackle-testing fish of the ocean should send for Old Hi's free illustrated booklets called "Salt Water Sports Fishing" (dealing with the Atlantic and Gulf of Mexico Coastlines) and "Pacific Coastal Fishing". The latter includes the exciting sport of taking the various species of Pacific salmon by trolling, spinning, and fly rod fishing. Please print your name and address plainly. See you here again next week.

Forgotten Man

MOST HOUSEWIVES don't realize it, but the honest meat dealers are the forgotten men in the big squabble over the price of beef. These wholesale and retail meat men are caught between two of the most powerful and vocal groups in the nation—the organized meat packers and the angry, unorganized housewife.

Hundreds of these wholesalers and retailers have been taking their beating in silence because, if they protested, they fear they'll be blackballed by the big packers. And they have good reason to fear the packers' wrath.

Said one meat wholesaler: "If I complain to the OPS, and the packers find out about it, I'll never be able to buy another pound of meat. I'd have to leave the meat business and become a wholesaler for vegetarians."

Here is what the meat middle-men are up against: When the government freeze was imposed last January, choice beef in carload lots was selling for a top price of 53 cents a pound. Despite the freeze, and in direct violation of the government's order, the price of exactly the same carload of beef continued to mount. By April the price had moved up to 57 cents, was even quoted openly at this figure in the trade journals.

Grocer Gets Squeezed

This four-cent rise at the wholesale level meant about a 10-cent rise per pound to the housewife—if the local grocer passed on the illegal increase. But if he didn't pass it on, he had to pocket the loss and thereby risked going bankrupt.

More recently OPS has adopted a new pricing formula, whereby each cut of beef is given a specific price, and the price must be posted for the housewife's inspection.

This new scheme is aimed at showing up the price gouger and bringing an end to the black market. But to get around the law, some packers—including some of the biggest names in the industry—have now come up with a new wrinkle. They're forcing their customers to accept tie-in sales, to buy unwanted cuts of meat in order to get the most salable cuts. One wholesaler, for example, was recently forced to buy 4,000 pounds of highly perishable sausage he couldn't possibly sell. Nevertheless the packer required him to buy the sausage before he could purchase a single carload of beef.

Net result of this price gouging by the meat packers is an intolerable squeeze on the wholesaler and retailer.

Friend of Big Business

GOP Congressman Kenneth Keating of New York has emerged as the newest congressional champion of big business.

Keating's district, Rochester, N.Y., is a long way from California; yet it was he who pulled chestnuts out of the fire for Pacific Gas and Electric in California and sponsored the amendment killing urgently needed government power lines.

Colleagues who wondered what the Rochester, N.Y., Republican was doing meddling in California affairs also were astonished when he popped up as sponsor of another project of the big-business lobbies—aimed at crippling the antitrust laws.

His amendment would undercut a plan proposed by another Republican, Herbert Hoover, who, when President, urged that the Clayton anti-trust act be strengthened in order to prevent the acquisition of "assets" such as factories and equipment in mergers that created unfair trade competition.

Presidents Roosevelt and Truman both followed up Hoover's recommendation and finally this important addition to the Clayton anti-trust law was passed by congress last December. One of those who voted for it was Rep. Keating of New York.

However, when it came time to appropriate funds by which the federal trade commission could put the new law into operation, Keating had a mysterious change of heart.

He calmly rose on the house floor and sabotaged the measure he had once championed by offering an amendment cancelling $245,000 of enforcement funds needed by the trade commission. The amendment carried by a vote of 73 to 49. And since a law is no good without funds to enforce it, the law Keating originally voted for now becomes just so much printed paper.

Small Airlines

Mild-mannered Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama, the conscientious chairman of the small business committee, is burned up over pressure from the civil aeronautics board to suppress a report lambasting the major airlines.

Mysteriously, a copy of this report disappeared from the committee offices and was seen by airlines, though marked "confidential." The report criticized the CAB's order closing down the independent, nonscheduled airlines on June 5.

A Case For The Kids
By O. F. Lathrop

3 Minute Fiction

SAM BROMLEY replaced the telephone in its cradle with a slam and reached for his broad-brimmed felt.

"I'm going out on this case myself," he told the office girl. "That's the third call in an hour about these explosions and the deputies don't seem to be doing a thing. The pavement just blew up over beating in silence because, if they protested, they fear they'll be blackballed by the big packers. And they have good reason to fear the packers' wrath."

He had an uneasy feeling about these blasts and a very personal reason for investigating them himself. People in little towns all over the country had been calling for the last twenty-four hours. And his son, Tommy, was missing.

"I thought the Rooshians had bombed us," old Ben Grubbs in Claremont had said. "Busted the sidewalk over the crick like eggshells."

Sam drove to all the spots reported and inspected the damage. Sidewalks heaved up, windows shattered, but not a clue. At the Sunville Hatchery he met his deputies.

"What do you make of it, Sheriff? Could be Red sabotage, eh?"

Sam shook his head. "Hoodlums, probably. Not any real damage done." But he didn't say what was in his mind—that it could even be kids' pranks. He thought uneasily again of his own son, Tommy, and that crazy gang of his. Still, it didn't seem as if kids would go that far.

All day he drove around and at supper-time he went worriedly home. Somehow the baked potatoes and ham didn't appeal to him.

"Where's Tommy?" he demanded of his wife.

"He'll be coming later," Ida assured him. "He's all excited about these explosions. The fellows have been kidding him about his dad not stopping them. I'm sorry, Sam," she said, as he jumped up.

"Where was he last night?" he persisted. "Out all hours!"

"Oh, just around, as he says. Studying at Ted's and they stopped for a hamburger at Joe's place. I believe him, Sam."

BUT Sam put on his hat and went out. He had to know. At Joe's place he got out of the car and went in.

"Tommy in here last night for a hamburger, Joe?" he asked.

"Yep, he was, Sam," Joe answered. Just then there was another low boom and a thud. Sam made for the door. He tracked the sound by the crowd. And there he found Tommy and his gang hovering over a hole in the bridge.

As he came into the light, Sam saw dark rings around his son's eyes and smudges among the freckles.

"I saw 'em, Dad. We've followed that old jalopy till we saw them stop by this creek, and we slipped up and watched. It was that wild bunch from Milville High. They had a great stunt—balloons filled with gas. They light the kerosene-soaked string and then beat it. And by the time the string burns up to the balloon they can be miles away."

Sam scratched his head sheepishly. "As simple as that, eh? But we'll soon have them in jail if you've got the proof."

Tommy looked thoughtful. "Oh, I have. But what those kids need is something to do—not jail. There's nothing for kids to do around these little towns but think up devilry for excitement. People ought to help plan something for them to do instead. I might have been one of them myself."

Sam grinned. "I guess you're right at that. In fact, I thought that you might be in on it."

"Me? Huh! I've been trailing them down because the fellows said my dad was a no-good sheriff, and I knew better. I had to help."

Sam smiled again. "Guess I better put you on as deputy. You had me worried. Maybe we've been going at this whole business wrong-end-to-'tilly. I'll try your angle and see what we can do."

But farmers continue to claim theirs is the second largest business in Michigan—probably rightly—but most officials figure agricultural doesn't fit the term "industry." First? Automobiles, of course.

The 1,683 delegates to the moral rearmament world assembly trekked homeward after a 12-day conference at Mackinac Island which ended on an excellent if intangible note. Says Rep. Louis Rabaut (D-Mich), "Moral Rearmament brings together people in a common program for humanity."

Of the 169 persons drowned in Michigan last year, only seven were swimming at places set aside and designated for swimming. Gravel pits and the like took the lives of 122 persons.

Michigan State College has issued a plea to stop the flood of cash and checks piling up for tickets to the M.S.C.-Notre Dame game Nov. 10. The stadium is sold out. Officials say they could have sold 100,000 seats. Macklin stadium holds some 55,000 persons.

The State Highway Department expects to run in the red for nine months and then appeal to the legislature. Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler says his department will fall $6,000,000 short because of the peculiar effects of the new highway tax distribution formula approved by the legislature along with the 1 1/2 cent per gallon gas increase.

Meanwhile the Michigan CIO is fighting the gas tax boost with petitions for a referendum. If 100,000 signatures are garnered on the petitions the tax will be dropped until after November when the citizens would have a chance to approve or disapprove at the polls.

The 35,000 to 50,000 estimated deer kill in Michigan has been affirmed—largest starvation loss in the state's history. Searchers of the state conservation department counted 1,345 carcasses in one area alone. Loss is estimated at 25-30 deer per square mile in critical areas.

Some 419,000 visitors reached Michigan state parks during week of May 27-June 2, national park and recreation week. Parks with highest attendance were Bay City, Holland, Island Lake and Grand Haven.

Michigan college graduates are more fertile than those of the other 47 states—if anyone is interested. Population Reference Bureau says so. Matter of fact the class of '41 had so many more babies than graduates of other years it is known to the Bureau as "Fertile Forty-One".

Among 59 Naval Reserve Officer candidates slated to take a six week summer cruise in Atlantic and Caribbean coastal waters beginning in August 3rd is James W. Nachazel who is a member of the ROTC unit at Marquette university at Milwaukee, Wisconsin. James will report to the U. S. Naval receiving station at Norfolk, Va. on July 30th prior to embarking with the practice squadron comprised of the battleship Wisconsin, three destroyers, a radar jockey ship and a landing ship dock. The fleet will make port at Nova Scotia, Halifax, Boston, New York and Guantanamo, Cuba. Marquette's unit of 107 men will be a part of an estimated 9,000 man contingent of reserve officer candidates and Annapolis midshipmen taking part in one of three summer cruises designed to give on-the-job training in all phases of shipboard operation. Sounds like a lot of competition, Jim.

A new man on the list this week is Cpl Ernest Pinney, AF 16 323 082, APO 959, c/o PM, San Francisco, Calif. He was on a flat top headed for Japan when he last wrote from this address so I'm not sure that he'll get this weeks paper very promptly. They tell me, however, that all such mail follows them and catches up eventually. Whenever or wherever you get this letter Ernest write and let me know your new one. It must be quite a thing crossing an ocean on as large a ship as a flat top. He says there are only about 400 navels and 300 airforce personnel on board. I have a letter here written by

The Servicemen's Letter

Hi Fellas; Addresses, change of addresses, new addresses, old addresses. At last they are pouring in and my mailing list is almost complete. I'm hoping by next week to report that I have the addresses of all known servicemen from East Jordan. Incidentally these new addresses give me something to write about until you fellows start writing in about the things you are doing.

Yesterday I received my first letter in response to this column. The honor of being first goes to Pfc. J. M. Kershner of 1st Mtr Beh Sq at Georgia AFB, Calif. He reports that he is working in the motor pool — driving everything from a jeep and staffcar to a bulldozer. He sees a lot of California as he is on the road most of the time. He reports that the desert isn't as bad as he thought it was going to be. When he first landed there he thought was a regular hell-hole but now he says it is sort of growing on him. John stopped in at San Pedro a short time ago to see Howard Sumner but he was out on sea duty.

That reminds me, we just received a new address for Howard. It is Pvt Howard Sumner Jr., US 55 097 641, A Co, 370th Sng R & S Regt, APO 23, c/o PM, New York, N.Y. Evidently he has left San Pedro area and the sunny climate and is heading for someplace in Europe. Let us know when it snows over there will you Howard?

Jim Persons mother tells me he has been running in a bit of hard luck. His address at present is, US Naval Hosp, Ward 83B Oakland, Calif. He fell and hurt his back quite seriously, was sent to the hospital and just when about ready to be released he hurt his arm and was in the hospital for a longer period. He now is in Ward 83B waiting to be discharged. When his discharge comes through he will be heading for home — but fast.

This week we start sending the paper to Pvt Brock Peacock, RA 163 55 695, Co F, ASA Stu Bn, 8622 AAU, Fort Devens, Mass. He is one of three from here who are in the service in Massachusetts. The other two are Francis Nachzel, who is in the Coast Guard at Woods Hole, and Ivan Nemecek at Westover Air Force Base.

Another man has been added to our list of men at Great Lakes, Illinois. Guy D. Vallance is taking a 16 weeks course in Machinist Mate School there. His address is MM School, Bldg 215, Service School Command, USNTC, Great Lakes, Ill.

Guys brother John is in Germany. His address is Pfc. John E. Vallance, 16 297 006, Co C, 54 Eng C, APO 154, c/o PM, New York, NY. He is at present studying in a booby thap school, learning how to set em up for the enemy. He is located near the famous ski resort of Garmish in southern Germany. That is a beautiful country John, don't get too busy to take a look at the scenery once in a while.

Paul Bennet has just been promoted from Pfc. to Cpl. Guess he must have something on the ball, eh fellas? His address is Cpl Paul J. Bennett, 1095441, A Co, 6th Marine Regt, 2nd Div, FMF, Camp Lejeune, North Carolina. We also have another man away down in North Carolina. He is Floyd D. Dufore, Air FMFLANT Pool, Hq S2, Cherry Point, N. C. Take a look at the map fellows. Are you two very far apart?

Alfred Nelson's wife (not addressed to me) in which she writes that Al likes his work there in Fort Knox, Ky. pretty well. He works outside all the time and he sees a deer now and then. He killed three copperhead snakes the other day. They complain about the heat though. I can just imagine that Kentucky clay gets just as hot as that Virginia clay used to.

Did any of you fellows know Keith Smith. He lived out in the country outside of East Jordan for quite a while. He didn't get around much while he was here but he sure has covered the territory since he left East Jordan. He is now away out in Korea. His address is Pfc Keith F. Smith, 16 233 649, Hq Co, 3rd Bn, 23rd Inf Regt, APO 248, c/o PM, San Francisco, Calif. He reports that it takes about a month for a letter to get through to him. According to that I hope this paper isn't too yellow with age and too torn before he gets to read it.

Murray Nelson sent me a change of address this past week and I see that he too has had a promotion. It's Warrant Officer Nelson now instead of Sgt Nelson. Congratulations and how are those degree lessons coming? Say Murray, did you know that you had a boy from East Jordan right there in the same division with you? He is Pvt Wilbur Craft, 26 864 305, Hq Co, 6th Armed Div, G4, Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri. If you run into him tell him hello for me. It's been a long time since I looked him up in the motor pool at Fort Belvoir, Virginia. Eh, Wilbur?

Well, fellows, it's getting rather late. Guess I'll close this typewriter for tonight.

See you next week. "Jake" Snyder

Church Under Fire
Lesson for June 24, 1951

ABOUT two thousand Christian missionaries have been forced to leave China during 1950 and 1951. In more than one country "freedom of religion" has meant, in practice, freedom to ridicule and hinder religion.

In Spain, Protestants are forbidden to use the name "church," to meet in any building on a main thoroughfare, or to worship in buildings that in any way resemble a church. In Colombia, churches have been burned by mobs without the slightest interference from the police. All this is bad; but it is nothing new.

When Christian Meant Criminal

AT the time the Christian religion began, it came under fire from the authorities of Jerusalem. It was to be expected that the same men who had condemned, cast out and crucified Jesus would try to stamp out his followers as well.

But one of the leading men of Jerusalem said, in effect: "If this new cause is God's cause there is no use in our fighting it." It was God's cause, and so the opposition at Jerusalem not only did not stop or destroy the church but actually only succeeded in spreading it.

As the new Christian religion then moved out into all parts of the Roman Empire, at first the imperial and local authorities paid it no attention; and in fact for some years it enjoyed the protection of the government. So long as it was supposed that Christianity was simply a sect of Judaism, the Roman government let it go.

But when it came out that Christianity was a new religion, and especially when it became clear that the Christians acknowledged only one Lord, and would not worship the Emperor, the Roman government began a long series of persecutions, which lasted for close to three hundred years.

Inspiration Behind Bars

FIVE letters of Paul, including II Timothy, were written from Roman jails, and reliable tradition tells us that Paul was finally beheaded just because he was a Christian.

If you will look on a map of the Roman Empire for the places mentioned at the beginning of I Peter, you can see how widespread was the "fiery trial" which the readers of that letter were then suffering. As for the book of Revelation, its writer was, he says, "on the isle of Patmos for the word of God and the testimony of Jesus Christ."

Patmos Island was no rest-haven for tired missionaries; it was not a missionary field either. It was a barren island, a convict camp, where many Christian missionaries, on being arrested, were sent after their trial and sentence, to work at forced labor in the mines there.

If the scenes of that book often flow with blood and blaze with fire, it is not because the writer had a too vivid imagination. He might have seen with his own eyes Christians, men, women and even children, with their heads chopped off by the public executioner, or dying amid the flames at the stake. Those were terrible times, and it took courage to be a Christian at all.

The Victory

THE message of the New Testament is never optimism, but always hope. That is to say, no one in the New Testament, from Jesus in Galilee to John on Patmos, holds out any promise or picture of smooth and easy going for the Christian church.

It will have trouble, and the more faithful it is to Christ the more trouble it is likely to meet. But in the long run, Christ's true church (which means simply all those who are true to Christ) will conquer all her enemies, for the reason that it is Christ's church and not ours alone.

It has recently been reported that the Russian government has thought up a smart idea. They find that the more religion is persecuted, the more stubbornly vigorous it grows. So the government has given up persecuting religion, and proposes to let it "die on the vine."

That may work; if Christians have too easy a time, the church will attract only the lazy and the comfort-loving—which will kill off the church. But the vine will not die, if only every branch is close-joined to Christ, the ever-living Vine of God.

SCOTCH PINE AND RED PINE TREES ARE READY TO PRUNE

There are many plantations of Red and coteh Pine trees in Charlevoix County that are being grown for Christmas trees. Ed Rebmam county agricultural agent stated today. The recent upswing in the popularity of pines for this use hinges primarily on their inherent ability to retain needles when exposed to high room temperatures and low humidities.

According to Lester E. Bell, Extension Forester at Michigan State College, the quality of these trees can be materially increased by judicious pruning or shaping. Bell recommends that the pruning be done on the new growth in the early part of the summer. He says the pines in southern Michigan are ready to prune now and that the trees in the northern counties will be ready by the tenth of June.

The technique employed is aimed at shaping the tree to a conical outline, reducing excessive height growth, and producing a tree with dense foliage free of noticeable holes or open spots.

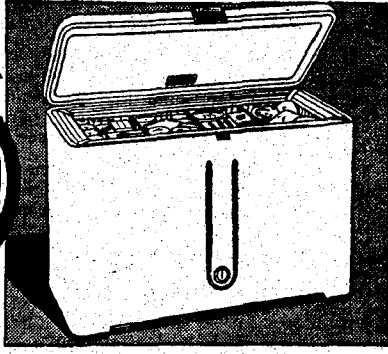

Only new growth should be pruned unless some radical change in the tree form is desired. Complete information on tree pruning techniques can be obtained from the various county agricultural agents office or by writing to the Forestry Department at Michigan State College.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

Governor Williams still is booming the St. Lawrence Seaway project which would dredge out the St. Lawrence river and make Ladrador ore available to Midwest smelters. Jointly sponsoring a conference of inland and Great Lakes states in Omaha, Nebraska with the Nebraska governor, Williams says: "This conference brings to the people of inland America the first opportunity to have this issue placed squarely before them."

He's grown-fast!

Pearl Harbor—1941. Korea—1951. Only ten years. But in that time the Bell System's capacity to serve the nation has literally doubled!

And the Long Distance telephone network which ties America together has grown even more. In 1941, there was very little coaxial cable in use. Radio relay was still in an experimental stage. Yet today there are 8,000 miles of coaxial cable in service—plus thousands of miles of radio relay. And Long Distance telephone circuits have increased in ten years from about 4,800,000 miles to 20,800,000.

In times like these, telephone lines are defense lines. For they are helping America rush its big production program. It's fortunate this nationwide network has grown so big, so fast.
