TRACK SEASON OPENS AT PETOSKEY TUESDAY

EAST JORDAN TEAM OUT TO TAKE SOME RECORDS

East Jordan's track team will travel to Petoskey next Tuesday to compete in their first meet this season. The meet is a quadrangular affair with East Jordan, Harbor Springs, Pellston, and the ninth and tenth grades from Petoskey taking part.

Coach Saxton is out for some new records for East Jordan High School this season. Ten out of twelve record standing at present were made between 1930 and 1932. Jim Milstein's 440 yd dash in 52.2 seconds made in 1950 and Larry Huckle's 180 yard low hurdles record made in 1951 are only two from recent years. Gayle especially has his eye on the 5'8" high jump record set by Bob Bennett in 1936, and 43' shot by Bud Somerville in 1932, and believes that in Don Whiteford track captain he has a lad capable at breaking one or both at the above marks.

Other High School records standing at the present time are the 100 yard dash in 10.4 seconds set by Francis Quinn in 1930; 220 yard dash, 23.3 seconds, by Francis Quinn in 1930; 100 yd hurdles, 24.6 seconds, by Ed Stanek in 1936; pole vault, 11' by Bud Somerville in 1932; broad jump, 20' 10" by Ed Stanek in 1936; mile run 4' 59" by Aiba Brooks in 1932; 1/2 mile run, 2' 06" by Walt Leist in 1935; 880 yard relay, 1'39.8" by W. Inman, H. Porter Jr., G. Malpass, Bill Bennett, in 1939.

Competing in Petoskey next week will be Don Whiteford—low hurdles, high jump, short put, broad jump, Sam Milstein—100 yd dash, 220 yd dash, broad jump, 880 yd relay, Ray Gee—100 yd dash, 220 yd dash, broad jump, 880 yd relay, Dick Freeman—880 yd run, shot put, broad jump, James Weisler—mile run, short put, high jump, James Shepard—440 yd dash, 880 yd relay, Warren Frank—Pole Vault, 880 yd relay, Keith Evans—Low hurdles, high hurdles, 880 yd relay, pole vault, Frank Russell—440 yd dash, Pete Nichols—Shot put, Jerry Evans—880 yd run, Herbert Romback—100 yd dash, 220 yd dash, 880 yd relay, broad jump, Robert Thomas—High hurdles, broad jump, 880 yd relay.

Others out for track but as yet unassigned are, Jack Zoulek, Francis Roberts, Jerry Nemecek, Ronald Wilson, Mike Davis, James Blaha, James Barnett, Allen Somerville, Roger Stokes, J. M. Ingalls, and Robert Danforth.

Following the Petoskey meet will be a dual meet at Mancelona on Thursday, April 24, at 4:00 p.m. On Saturday, May 3, the team will compete in the Central Michigan Relays at Mt. Pleasant.

The next two meets will be Charlevoix, a dual meet between East Jordan and Charlevoix on Tuesday, May 6, and the Northern Michigan Class C Conference meet on Saturday May 10. The Regional meet will be held at Cadillac on May 17, and State meet at Ann Arbor on May 24.

Coach Saxton says there is still a possibility of getting a couple of meets in East Jordan this spring.

When you select phonograph records for your preschool children, bear in mind three things; the records should be fun, simple and educational.

Their 47th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. George Kaake observed their forty-seventh wedding anniversary, Thursday, April 17.

Married April 17, 1906, in East Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. Kaake have lived here all their married life. Mrs. Kaaka was the former Hattie Hunt of East Jordan, Mr. Kaaka was from Boyne City.

Mr. and Mrs. Kaake have four daughters, Mrs. Blanch Kaley of Traverse City; Mrs. Leano Wilhelm of Flint; Mrs. Harriett Sweet of East Jordan, Mrs. Virginia Gecamolla, Detroit, also nine grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Auxiliary Appoint Poppy Chairman

The American Legion Rebecca Sweet Post Auxiliary Unit 227 held their regular business meeting of the month Tuesday, April 8, at the Legion Home. Sewing Chairman, Marie Woodcock, presented a lovely dress and slip which was made by Ann Kraft, as well as a colorful tablecloth to be sent to the Billet as our contribution to this program. Plans are well under way for the annual Poppy Sale to be held in East Jordan in May, Edna Wilkins, has been appointed as Chairman of this committee, she and her co-workers will be working hard to make this a record sale.

The next meeting is a semi-social meeting Tuesday, April 22, Reva Walton, Child Welfare Chairman, will have charge of entertainment, be sure and attend.

Community Service Room In Need of Childrens Clothes

Now that Spring is well along the housewives of East Jordan will be starting their annual spring house cleaning and no doubt there will be lots of clothes that have outdone their usefulness but are still wearable and could be used by people who may not be able to provide enough for their families, so the American Legion Auxiliary Unit 227 Community Service Room, Bernadine Brown, is making an appeal to everyone to not throw any useable clothing away but donate it to the Community Service Room in the basement of the City Building, all clothing will be accepted but there is a special need for childrens clothes. The room is open every Wednesday and Friday afternoon from 2:00 till 4:30 all donations will be gratefully received. With the high cost of clothing there are a great many families in our community who are having a hard time to provide for all their needs and as this is what Community Service is for, to give a helping hand whenever possible, we are happy to be able to help, but we do need more clothes if we are to continue this work. So some garment your child has out grown may help some other child that would otherwise be without adequate clothing. It will also be a great help if all clothes donated were laundered and mended ready to be worn.

Insure yourself of top garden yields by using varieties that are produced in your region. Adapted varieties do better.

Michigan 4-H Club Report Completed

Michigan's 4-H Club boys and girls completed a total of 95,274 projects in 1951, according to a report completed by A. G. Kettunen, state 4-H Club leader, Michigan State College. That's the second best year on record—in 1950 about 300 more projects were completed.

There were 4,868 clubs with 9,079 volunteer local leaders. Kettunen credits the local leaders for building the Michigan program and for allowing the state to maintain its high record of completions. Of all members starting projects, 89.2 percent carried them through to successful completion.

There were 57,851 different boys and girls participating in the program.

"Signal When You Turn"

SAYS MICHIGAN STATE SAFETY COMMISSION

Chief Harry Simmons this week ordered East Jordan policemen to step-up enforcement against drivers who fail to give a signal when they are turning left or right.

He pointed out that the traffic law requires that the driver, before turning, shall drive his car into the proper lane "and before stopping or materially varying the course in which he is proceeding", shall give a warning signal either by extending the arm in an outstretched horizontal position or by using a directional signal device to signify his intentions. "Failure to signal produces two chief results," Chief Harry Simmons said. "It is a violation of the law which causes a great number of accidents. Secondly, it causes more frayed tempers, which in turn produce accidents, than other violation.

He emphasized that this was not to be considered a crackdown.

SIGNAL WHEN YOU TURN

It is merely enforcement of a law, which is too often violated. Failure to signal is probably the chief "gripe" of drivers in our area, he said.

He cited a typical example of how this violation produces bad tempers and jangled nerves.

"A driver pulling up to make a left turn fails to signal, thereby holding up the driver behind him," he said. "The driver in the rear starts to blow his horn, more insistently the longer he is held up. The first driver, who should have signaled is held up by oncoming traffic, and becomes irritated at the hornblower behind him, muttering angrily to himself, he finally gets an opportunity to complete his turn. The hornblower is also talking to himself as he goes forward. This is the mood that too often leads to accidents.

An educational program emphasizing the importance of giving signals is being conducted by the police and the State Safety Commission. It stresses that the four steps in proper sequence to make a safe and legal turn are: (1) Observation (2) Pulling into the proper lane (3) Giving a signal well in advance, and (4) Completing the turn when safe.

Warnings Issued For Dealing With Anthrax Outbreak

Michigan State College veterinarians this week issued warnings to farmers to be on the lookout for anthrax, a livestock disease which has invaded Michigan.

They told farmers not to work with or open animals that have died from the disease. They also warned farmers to call their local veterinarian if they suspect the disease as a cause for livestock death on their place. The double warning came because anthrax is communicable to humans and if it gets a foothold on a farm without proper sanitary measures it may be years before the soil is free of the disease spores.

The disease, which is believed to have come into Michigan from a shipment of imported bone meal, attacks animals so fast that the first noticeable symptom usually is sudden death. If you suspect the disease contact your veterinarian or state disease regulatory officials immediately if you try to post the animals or work with the carcass without advice you may contact the disease yourself.

Animals which have died from the disease should be buried deeply or burned completely, along with manure and straw contaminated by the diseased animal. Anthrax affects all farm animals. It can be controlled if it is diagnosed before it strikes widely. If the disease breaks out in your community all dogs should be tied up, and traffic between farms of any kind eliminated as much as possible to avoid further spread of the disease.

Fertilizer Makes Big Difference In Legume Seedings

"A liberal application of fertilizer may make the difference between a good legume seeding and a poor one," E. D. Longnecker, extension soil specialist at Michigan State College, told farmers today.

In fact, he pointed out that "generally speaking, no seeding of legumes and grasses should be made in Michigan without a liberal application of fertilizer." It's a paying proposition since the legume and grasses usually are planted with a small grain crop like oats and barley. The fertilizer benefits both the grass legume seeding and the grain. Longnecker also made some specific recommendations for fertilizer application. Unless soil tests have been made recently and indicate otherwise the best rate of application on heavy soils will be 250 pounds of 4-24-12, 330 pounds of 3-18-9 or their equivalent to the acre. On sandy loam soils use 500 pounds of 3-12-12 or 400 pounds of 4-16-16 per acre. On light, coarse sands and loamy sands, use 400 to 500 pounds of 3-12-12 or 3-9-18 or their equivalent to the acre.

Better seedings will be obtained on the coarse, sandy soils if the grain is planted no heavier than one bushel per acre where grass-legume seedings are made with a grain crop. If no grass-legume seeding is made with the grain, the rates of fertilization may be reduced somewhat from the above recommendations. But don't skimp on the fertilizer where the combination seeding is being made, Longnecker cautioned, pointing out that "on a long-time basis, there is no more profitable spot to use fertilizer than with grass-legume seedings because they are the crops which give the soil its 'punch'."

Bowling News

With only three weeks left in the Merchants League, the contest has narrowed pretty much to the State Farm Insurance and Dip's Tavern teams. Dip's are five points behind the leaders, whom they will meet next Monday on the 9:00 p.m. shift. While the Canning Co. is still within range, they would have to lose that many.

In last Monday's bowling, Leo Dipzinski started off with a 235 game, high for the night both actual and over average by 69 pins. Dip gets the sweet sox at Bradshaws, Arrow shirt at Chris's, and Monarch canned goods. Dip will also have to split a pound of hamburger with Burl Braman for the high actual series. They each had a 570. Burl's series was 99 pins over his average which will be good for the 1/2 gallon of ice cream from Taylors Grocery, and $2.00 in trade at Jimmie Lilak's Grocery.

Jay Hite tried to save the salts with a nice 96 game, but Ike Rood nosed him out with a 93 for low for the night. Les Arndt got another clean and press job from East Jordan Cleaners for his 495 series which was closest to 500.

Athletic Banquet Speaker Changed

OWING TO ILLNESS OF GEORGE C. ALDERTON

Tommy Kaulakukui of Michigan State College at East Lansing, will be the main speaker at the All-Sports Banquet this Friday. George S. Anderson, who was originally scheduled to speak entered the hospital at Lansing the first part of the week and will be unable to fulfill the engagement.

The committee was very fortunate to get a substitute speaker at the late date. Tommy was head coach and athletic director at the University of Hawaii before coming to Michigan State to work on his Ph.D. in industrial relations.

While at State he has helped with the Freshman and Junior varsity squads. It was through the cooperation of Biggie Munn and Dan Devine that the committee was able to get him to fill in.

Homemakers' Corner

Home Economics Specialists Michigan State College

ELECTROLYTIC BATH WILL CLEAN SILVER WITH LESS EFFORT

Silver polishing is a bug-a-boo for many homemakers. To help over that hump, Dorothy M. Greey, home management specialist at Michigan State College, suggests an easy electrolytic bath method.

But before she would go to explain the method she cautioned homemakers that it is not satisfactory for hollow ware or flatware that is soldered. Only one-piece construction silver, either plated or sterling, can be cleaned in this method. Tea service or silverserving dishes with soldered handles are not suitable for the electrolytic bath.

Use a porcelain enamel pan lined with aluminum foil, she instructed. Put in enough quarts of water to cover the silver, bring it to a boil and add a teaspoon of washing soda and a teaspoon of salt for each quart of water. Lower the silver into the boiling water-bath and boil for one minute. Rinse the silver in a pan of warm water.

The home economist recommended using tongs for handling the silver during this process. For hollow ware that must be polished by hand, Miss Greey suggested using a commercial silver cream and a soft toothbrush for embossed, ornate portions of the piece. And by all means, wear rubber gloves, she said. Tarnish gets under nails and into skin if hands are unprotected.

To keep silver from tarnishing badly, she advised storing the pieces in an airtight plastic container. Plastic bags may not keep the silver entirely tarnish free, she said, but they could be easily brightened by a quick going over with silver polish.

Shifting To Grass Doesn't Mean Drop In Output of Grain

"Grassland farming" is not going "all out" to grass. R. G. Hill, Michigan State College Extension Specialist in soil Conservation, believes too many people have the wrong conception of the aim of those advocating grassland farming.

Shifting of more land to grasses and legumes or using more legumes in crop rotations as soil conservation measures would not result in over-all fewer bushels of grain or row crops in the future, Hill contends. Increased yields of cultivated crops following the grasses and legumes and with the application of other conservation practices would make up for the small decrease in total cultivated crop acreage.

Hill pointed to results of experiments conducted by the Michigan State College Soil Science Department at the Ferdin Farm where alfalfa-booms preceded near Chesaning. In 1951 on plots of corn, the average yield was 63 bushels an acre. Where no legume was used in the rotation, the average yield was less than 14 bushels an acre. All plots were fertilized alike.

Another consideration is the fact that there are thousands of acres of rolling land on which corn is being grown where the average yield is too low to justify its continued production. This same land would produce a greater tonnage of roughage and animal nutrients if converted to grass and legumes. In addition, rolling land used for cultivated crops will continue to become less productive unless intensive erosion control practices are applied.

"If we would put more of our eroded fields that are yielding an average of 40 bushels of corn per acre per year of less, into grass and legumes, and if legumes are used in regular crop rotations, our over-all production could be increased without adding more acres in crops. At the same time, we would be conserving our soil for future use. There will be greater demands by people and industry from about the same number of acres as the years go by," Hill concluded.

Jordan River Sportsman's Club Membership Drive Under Way

At the organization meeting of The Jordan River Sportsman's Club, the following officers were installed: President — John Downing; Vice-president — Walt Hickox; Secretary — Roman Dubas; Treasurer — "Andy" Anderson.

It was urged that a membership drive be held for the next two weeks. Membership is open to women and to boys in high school or under, 18 years of age. A vote gave membership to boys for the subscription cost of the magazine which is $5.00. Adult dues are $2.00. Andy Anderson, Keith Annear and Gib Sturgill are members of the soliciting committee and will enroll you into the Club.

May 1, at 8:00 p.m., in the Legion Hall will be a program for his meeting is under the direction of Pete Hammond, Vern Whiteford and Max Damoth. It is sincerely hoped that The Jordan River Sportsman Club will gain in strength and force in decisions for the betterment of sportsman's ideals, conservation of woods and waters and their inhabitants.

The School Bell...

Third Grade — Mrs. Hughes Everyone was in school after the Easter Holiday except Judy Kotalik who is home with the measles.

Our study of the birds has become more interesting because of the pictures to color and the catchy stories Mrs. Hughes reads us. We have been able to identify a great many more over the week end.

There were a few interesting reports in English today concerning the flood area, Easter basket hunts and birds identified. We would encourage more news from the daily papers.

The class is working on a book to represent life in the United States of America, as the final to our study in social studies of the book "Now and Then." We think every child should get a better idea of our own country by putting together such a book for themselves.

Mr. Downing and Mr. Ogden attended the Communication Skills Workshop for High School and College teachers held April 10 at the Kellogg Center. This was sponsored by the Written and Spoken English Departments of Michigan State College in cooperation with the continuing Education Services.

Mr. Downing attended a meeting on "What Experiences in Communication do the Colleges Expect of Entering Freshman". Mr. Ogden attended a meeting on "What Communication Skills should be taught in High School to the non-college students".

They heard a speech on the theory of group dynamics and another speaker explained the relationship of high school English to industry.

If you're one of the thousands of trout fishermen who plan to take a crack at those steelhead trout before the regular opening of the trout season this year, here's a bit of advice! While many of the big streams and rivers flowing into the Great Lakes are legally open on April 12th, don't expect them all to produce good fishing. Too many factors enter the picture.

High, muddy waters may harbor lots of fish, but you can't find the fish, and they can't find your lure. Successful steelhead fishermen often locate their quarry by sight, on or near spawning beds, stand well upstream, and cast so that the lure will drift across the fish. This is obviously impossible in rocky waters.

Watch the Weather When planning your fishing trip for steelhead watch the weather. If a runoff of snow or heavy rains has preceded your trip head for a river containing a minimum of clay or mud banks. The Manistee just below Tippee Dam, the upper reaches of the Au Gres in Arenac County, and the Black in Mackinac County are typical examples of this type. These may not be the best steelhead waters, but your chances of hooking a fish under adverse conditions will be better there.

From all indications streams emptying into Lake Michigan and Lake Superior will be the best steelhead streams this year. Specifically I'll recommend the Betate near Honor, the Pere Marquette near Indian Bridge, and the Choclay River below M-28 near Marquette. The Jordan in Antrim County will be heavily fished but the lamprey got there first!

Steelhead May be Doomed While the early opening of 55 streams and lakes marks a real step forward in Michigan trout management, fishermen planning to cash in on the fun better make the most of it before it's too late. The lake-run rainbow trout or steelhead as it is commonly called, may be doomed for some time to come.

According to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service the steelhead and the sea lamprey use the same spawning grounds at almost the same time of the year. Present plans call for the installation of lamprey trapping devices on virtually all spawning streams—some 200 of them in the entire Great Lakes area—within the next few years. Weirs, electric fences or other barricades to lamprey spawning are sure to seriously deplete the number of steelhead trout in these rivers as was proven not too many years ago on the Platte, one-time producer of numerous national prize-winning fish.

So, if you like fishing for those big, scrappy, lake-run rainbows better do it now, or you'll soon be hearing that familiar old "libi from the natives," "You should'a been here last year!"

WHEN YOUR "E" BONDS MATURE

The Treasury Department offers three choices to holders of Series E, United States Defense Bonds, when their Bonds mature: Choices: You may: One, accept cash, if you so desire; Two, continue to hold the present bond with an automatic interest-bearing extension; Three, exchange your bonds in amounts of $500 or multiples for a Defense Bond of Series G, which earns current income at the rate of 2 1/2 percent payable semi-annually.

Action: If you want to obtain cash, you simply present your bond, with proper identification, to any paying agent. If you want to extend the matured bond you have ABSOLUTELY NOTHING TO DO—just continue to hold it. Extended bonds may be cashed at any time you wish. If you want a G Bond, see your bank for details.

Interest: The extended bond will earn simple interest on the face amount at the rate of 2 1/2 percent for the first seven and one-half years. Thereafter it will be at a higher rate sufficient to provide a total return for the 10-year extension period of 2.9 percent compounded.

Taxes: You have the choice of (1) reporting E Bond interest for Federal income taxes on an annual basis or (2) paying the taxes on the interest in the year when the bonds finally mature or are redeemed. The privilege of deferring taxes does not apply if the E Bond is exchanged for a G Bond.

California: Where Lobbyists Grow Big and Mobsters Thrive

Crime and corruption in California had a special flavor—exotic, over-ripe and a little sickening. The rackets, like the state itself, were big and colorful.

For years, parts of California literally have been infested with every conceivable kind of gambling racket. The "take" runs into the millions.

One big gambling racket broken up in Los Angeles after the California Crime Commission went into business was the so-called Guarantee Finance Co., which posed as a legitimate loan agency while fronting for a $6,000,000 bookmaking combine. Its records disclosed payments totaling $108,000 for "juice," the California gamblers euphemism (in Florida, it's "ice") for "protection" money.

The Los Angeles city police department was headed by a determined officer, Chief William H. Parker. Our committee, however, was not impressed by the Los Angeles County sheriff's office.

Guarantee Finance Co. shrewdly had set up its headquarters in a particular political "island" known as "Sunset Strip" inside Los Angeles proper. This was county territory and, accordingly, not subject to the tougher Los Angeles police.

One of Chief Parker's aggressive officers, Lt. James Fiske, finally became so incensed by the sheriff's inactivity that he entered Sunset Strip and came down through a skylight into the huge telephone room of the bookmaking operation.

Out of his jurisdiction, he was unable to make any arrests, but he did tear up all the bookies' rackets so they were at a loss as to how to settle their bets for that day. As a result, Lieutenant Fiske said, a stern letter was received from Al Guasti, then a captain in the sheriff's office, demanding that city police stay out of county territory.

A county grand jury was probing payoffs to law enforcement officers by Guarantee Finance. The grand jury foreman and four county officials met in secret to plan the inquiry. The only other persons let in on the plans were two process servers who were to serve subpoenas. The very next day, someone "leaked" the plans to Sammy Rummel, lawyer for gangsters, and reputedly the brains behind the mobster, Mickey Cohen.

A series of incredible events followed. First, Rummel arranged a rendezvous with Captain Guasti. Guasti, in turn, arranged for the "mouthpiece" to meet that night with Captain Carl Pearson and Sgt. Lawrence Shaffer, of the sheriff's vice squad. At this meeting, Guasti said, Sergeant Shaffer actually exhibited to Rummel the sheriff's confidential files dealing with the Guarantee case. Next morning Rummel was found dead—killed in his yard by a close-range shotgun blast.

Police Chief Parker, who has made life miserable for Mickey Cohen in recent years, told us that he does not go along with the rumor that the little ex-pug is now a second-rater.

Mickey, gambler and bookmaker, extortionist and all-around racketeer, is still decidedly important. His "business interests" invade many spheres, including prostitution, Chief Parker said.

Cohen, a Simian-like figure, with thinning hair and spreading paunch, appeared before us in a suitcoat of exaggerated length, excessively shoulder-padded, and a hat with a ludicrously broad brim. Apart from police embarrassment, Mickey's troubles—at least five attempts to assassinate him—have been due to his falling out with the Sicilian-controlled Mafia element on the West coast.

"I have never been a strong-arm man for nobody," Mickey howled at us almost hysterically. "I have never bulldozed anybody in my life." His testimony contradicted this. There was the time that one Max Shaman entered Mickey's "Paint Shop" (Mickey always seemed to have either a paint shop, a jewelry store or a haberdashery—some investigators are unkind enough to believe that he used them as fronts for bookmaking.) Mickey had had a fist fight with Shaman's brother, and Shaman "came in with his gun." Mickey pulled his own out of the desk, killed Shaman first and was acquitted on his plea of self defense.

There was at least one other arrest on suspicion of murder, and an assortment of beatings which Cohen admitted he had administered to various characters.

Mickey painted us a lugubrious picture of his financial condition. All the money he had in the world was in his pocket, he said. Checking his roll, Mickey sadly told us it came to only $288. However, in four years, Cohen had "borrowed" approximately $300,000, he said, from various sources. Most remarkable of all his loans was the $35,000 he said he had borrowed from the president (no longer there) of a Hollywood bank, without giving a note or paying any interest.

"What do you do for them," I inquired, "that makes them so generous with you?" Cohen replied: "I can't answer that; they must just like me."

Our Committee had uncovered some interesting facts on Mickey's method of reporting income to the government. These interested the Internal Revenue Bureau, too, and after our final hearings, Cohen and his blonde wife, Lavonne, were indicted for alleged income tax evasion over a period of three years. Instead of paying taxes on approximately $18,500 income, they reported and paid on only $87,500, the government contends (Cohen was found guilty and sentenced to 5 years in prison).

The piece de resistance of our West coast investigation was the appearance of Arthur H. Samish, the portly million-dollar beer lobbyist—Californians have had snatches of his squalid story before, but never in quite such detail direct from the lips of the master string puller himself.

Samish stands over 6 feet, 2 inches and must weigh better than 300 pounds. He is bald with a monk's tonsure of grey fringe, and a face of bland innocence. He gesticulates freely in the grand style, stabbing the air with his horn-rimmed glasses or fiddling with his watch chain, a heavy affair of white gold or platinum, made up of large links which form and repeat his initials—A. H. S. He speaks magniloquently. "I am here to cooperate," he would boom at us.

We kept hearing of connections involving him and Mickey Cohen, and Samish admitted he regularly took the baths at Hot Springs, Ark., a gangster-favored resort. There on his last trip, he met the East coast gangster, Joe Adonis, and put in a long distance call to Gambler Dandy Phil Kastel, who looks after Frank Costello's interests in New Orleans.

From his 1949 tax return, we knew Samish's gross reported income had been $143,697. Of this income, $90,999.94 represented fees from his "public relations" clients.

The principal contributor was the California State Brewers' institute, which provided a modest $30,000 in salary and expenses, plus control of a $153,000-a-year slush fund.

A 1938 report from Howard R. Philbrick, investigator for a California legislative committee, had charged: "The principal source of corruption in the legislature has been money pressure. . . . The principal offender among the lobbyists has been Arthur E. Samish. . . . It was the Philbrick report which credited to Samish the famous declaration that he was 'the governor of the legislature'—and 'to hell with the governor of the state.'"

The State Brewers' institute, a non-profit organization, has a special so-called "5-cent fund." For every barrel of beer produced, the brewers paid 5 cents into a fund which Samish spent as he saw fit.

Into the 5-cent "Samish fund," over a period of six years, $953,943.19 has flowed. All but $43,913.29 of the $935,000 has been spent by sole and exclusive direction of Samish. Some of it, he admitted, went to pay his own personal hotel expenses when he was presumably engaged in business for the institute. He didn't mention this in his tax returns.

The fireworks began after our investigator had gone over the books and records which Samish had turned over with flourish. It developed that Samish's personal records and books were in understandable shape, but there were no records concerning the "Samish fund" of nearly $1,000,000.

We asked him what happened to canceled checks and stubs written on this fund. He said he throws them in the wastebasket.

Finally, he relinquished to us a typewritten "analysis." It wasn't much of an "analysis," it merely showed that most of the big checks—from $10,000 to $40,000—were made out to "cash" or "contributions." Samish admitted that "cash" and "contributions" are the same thing—and that these items in most cases meant that money was distributed by him personally—and in cash—to good, honest, out-standing officials that subscribed to "the temperate use of beer, wine and spirits. . . ." He demanded no receipts from them.

He made contributions to the candidates of both major parties, but he couldn't seem to remember to whom he gave the money.

Jesus and the Law

Lesson for April 20, 1952

THE ELKS CLUB has a constitution and by-laws, but if you are not an Elk you can pass by the clubhouse a dozen times a week and never so much as wonder what the by-laws are. No Elk will think the worse of you for it, either. The laws of the Elks are, not the general public.

The Christian church also has a set of laws posted somewhere in every church building, or at least written in a book you will find in every church; namely the Ten Commandments.

People who do not belong to the church sometimes give these laws no more thought than they would give to the Elks' constitution or to the ritual of the Signa Phi Nuthin' fraternity. But that is a mistake. The Ten Commandments are a kind of constitution of mankind, not a set of rules for a private club.

No Ladder to Heaven

HOWEVER, even inside the church, Christians often have mistaken notions about the law of God, particularly the basic laws embodied in the Ten Commandments. Two of these wrong ideas are almost exactly opposite each other, with the truth in the middle.

One mistaken idea is that the law is a kind of ladder to Heaven. That is to say: God is supposed to run a sort of book-keeping department, with a Recording Angel (or perhaps millions of them, one looking over every man's shoulder), jotting down everything a person does from birth to death. Every time he acts in accordance with the Commandments, down goes a plus mark. Every time he breaks one, down goes a minus mark. At the time of his death the account is balanced. If there are more pluses than minuses, then the man is admitted to heaven; if the minuses side puts the man "in the red" with God, then off he is hustled to Hell. In other words, on this theory (which is very popular though false), you write your own ticket to Heaven, you climb there on a ladder of your own good deeds.

Jesus did not hold to this notion, indeed taught quite the contrary. Call no man good! he said. For one thing, plus-marks do not cancel out minus marks, and for another thing, seen with the eyes of God, as the famous Richard Hooker said, "the best things we do have something in them to be pardoned."

Jesus, the New Testament, and the church after them, teach with one voice that we are saved by faith—it is God that saves us, not we ourselves.

Love Is No Excuse for Sin

THE mistake at the opposite end of the line is to fancy that if we love God we can do as we please. In other words, the idea is that love is a substitute for obedience. If we just love God fervently enough, then his laws do not apply to us.

Now this mistake is just as bad as the first one. What would we say to a man who is a careless driver, and when arrested for hit-and-run driving tells the Judge, "Your honor, I love everybody, I have nothing against anybody, I love my country, and you ought not to bother me with traffic laws!"

What could we say about a man who claimed he loved his wife very much but never paid any attention to the common rules of politeness when in her presence? What would a grocer say to a man who owed him fifty dollars if the customer claimed to be such a good friend the grocer ought not to send him a bill?

No: Jesus did not teach that God's children have any right to disregard their Father's will.

Living in Obedience

ON the contrary, a Christian will be all the more eager to do what God commands, not because he fears punishment, not because he thinks he can earn his way into God's love, but because obedience is the way God has given us by which we can sincerely show our love to him and to our fellowmen.

As Cardinal Newman put it: "Justification (the theologians' word for a person's being on right terms with God) is received by faith; consists in God's inward presence, and lives in obedience."

To put it another way: Doing what God desires is not the cause of being saved; it is the result of being saved. When we have done all we can, indeed all we have been commanded, Jesus said, we are still "unprofitable servants;" we have nothing to boast of, at our best, for our best comes from God.

Michigan Mirror

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

While the political whirl keeps Michigan in a continual tizzy—and will until next November—the state again is afflicted with Communism.

Since the hearing of Rep. Potter's congressional subcommittee in Detroit, the state has been buzzing with the "did you know" whispering which normally follows any investigation or exposure.

Now more investigators are in the air—especially in Wayne county.

Are there political overtones? Well, it can not be denied that Potter's political career was not injured by his work in Detroit. Nor has Kefauver been hurt by his work in the now socially proper "corruption investigation" which now is almost mandatory before a man can run for any office.

But what are the results of such committees? Kefauver's probe resulted in the jailing of Costello for a short time for contempt of congress.

Potter's committee revealed that Communism is rife in Local 600, the Ford company's United Auto Workers union. That was important, of course, since Local 600 has 50,000 to 60,000 members and is the largest union local in the world.

But it wasn't news. Since the union organized the plant in 1943, it has been known to the state police and anyone else who took the trouble to ask that the union was controlled by the reds and pinks.

More important so far as the people are concerned is that the committee put their information on public record by its questioning.

All Communist Witnesses—that is, these known Communists—refused to testify, hiding behind the fifth amendment of the U.S. constitution, a document they have fore sworn as archaic and decadent.

Friendly witnesses, ex-Communists and fellow travelers, exposed Communists throughout the state, naming some and giving detailed accounts of Red activities throughout the state.

But the testimony primarily was concerned with Wayne county, which of course, houses the world's automobile center and is more currently the crucible for molding weapons of defense—and war.

What will a new investigation show? It will bring out many new facts of the battle against Communism if all the evidence now collected is brought out.

Donald S. Leonard, who as state police commissioner, asked for an investigation, saying he had proof of a Communist conspiracy against the constitution and its laws.

Such an investigation would: 1. Put state police records before the public. 2. Allow more time and manpower for an investigation than could be allowed by congressional probes. 3. Bring pinks and fellow travelers into the open. 4. Bring the seriousness of the situation to public attention.

Officials sanction for an investigation would add a great deal of impetus to a program of prosecuting the Commies in Michigan, our own. When a reporter gets involved in Communist investigations he suddenly finds there is no one to quote or eulogize statement.

But this observer predicts that (1) Communism in state government will be de-emphasized and (2) little will be done to expose red activities in our schools, universities, and colleges.

The pressure will just be too great.

ANGLING ANGLES

BY Old Hi

Today, fellows, Old Hi has something to say about spin fishing and fish cleaning, in reply to a couple of readers who wrote me for some dope. So here goes:

One angler wants to know if the method of spinning may be used for early season trout fishing, when the streams are high and swift.

Well, it sure can . . . and with good results! The nickel spinners or wobblers, Spinning Wonder, Rangley Minnow, and weighted streamer flies which you cast are all adapted for taking large spotted trout feeding close to the bottom.

This holds for steelheads, cutthroats, Dolly Vardens, rainbows, browns, and speckled brook trout, for they all like minnows and so hit the lures that resemble bait fish in action. These lures hauled out by a tubular power-glass spinning rod 7 feet in length, fitted with a Bracco fixed-spool reel and Skirr nylon spinning line, are just the ticket for those big trout of early season.

Fact is, you'll be apt to take more of these lunkers on such an outfit than by using a fly rod and regular wet flies or streamers without a sinker. You need to get the lure close to the bottom, then retrieve it in a manner that is best created by the rotations of a spinning reel spool.

You add enough sinker weight to get the lure at the right depth, according to the type of artificial used and the swiftness of the current. Then you reel at a moderate rate and twitch the rod tip so the wobbler or streamer acts like a darting minnow. Brother, you'll have brisk action from the trout on your glass spinning rod!

Another reader wants to know how best to clean fish "without getting stuck by the sharp fins." Likely he's referring to the stabbers on bullheads and catfish, or the spines on black bass and similar fish.

You can avoid being punctured by any sharp fins by always using a certain handy tool—carpenter's pliers. The jaws of these pliers are curved just right for snipping off the prongs of catfish, and for gripping and tearing out the fins of bass, etc., after both sides of the fins have been slit by a sharp knife blade.

This is a quick and easy way of disarming a spiny fish, and saves you from getting hurt. I've used these pliers for years, and have found them to be ideal for the purpose.

Old Hi believes you'll be interested in reading the two-part story entitled "A Fishing Party In Bermuda," by Mortimer Norton, in the April and May issues of Fun-Fish-Game magazine. This tells about the exciting sport Old Hi and his friends had last September when we caught various fish in the salt waters of Bermuda. You'll learn what good H-I tackle can really do with rugged fighters.

If you plan on some salty sport yourself this year, get your free copies of Old Hi's booklets, "Salt Water Sports Fishing" and "Pacific Coastal Fishing," by sending a postcard request to me in care of this newspaper. Also ask for "Fishing For The Millions," on fresh water, game and pan fish.

Scientists Convert Chicken Feathers Into Good Fertilizer

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Agricultural department officials reported recently the solution of one of the biggest headaches for poultry packing plants—the disposal of feathers. Disposal of feathers has developed into a serious problem for packers throughout the nation, since they amount to more than 40,000 tons annually. Agricultural department research agencies were asked to help with the problem. Industry pointed out that unless disposed of promptly, the wet, dirty feathers putridy and create a sanitation problem. Scientists hit upon several ideas, one included the possibility of converting the feathers into fertilizer. As a result, a cheap, simple chemical process of converting the feathers into an organic fertilizer material containing 12 to 15 percent nitrogen has been developed. The fertilizer is especially valuable because only a small part is immediately soluble and available to plants. The remainder is released slowly in the soil. As a consequence, the material is especially valuable mixed with other fertilizers. There is practically no loss in processing. A ton of raw feathers processes a ton of the fertilizer material. The department says other uses may be found for feathers. Other possibilities were said to include a meal used in plaster, a bulk protein in mixed livestock feed and a filler and supplement in plywood adhesives. Fibers and bristles have been prepared from cleaned feathers on a laboratory basis. The bristles offered promise use in brushes and fibers could find use, officials said, in such places as inner linings for clothing.

'Naughty Words' Broadcast During Denver Radio Mixup

DENVER, Col.—Denver radio listeners were thrown into an uproar recently as a stream of "naughty words" came pouring out of receivers. It continued for eight minutes. Radio station KMYR was thrown into an uproar also when pianist Frank White's melodies abruptly gave way to a round of cursing. The conversation on electricity, mingled with profanity, continued while the studio frantically sought to locate the trouble. They finally found two telephone repairmen who had cut into the wrong circuit while arranging for a move of the station's transmitter. "A lot of nice old grandmothers listen to my show—and I don't think they like what they heard," White commented.

Hunter Fires Shot at Crow, Fireworks Plant Blows Up

PEARL RIVER, N.Y. — Frank Perkins, Jr., 24, only fired his gun at a crow, but the whole countryside seemed to explode. It scared him so bad he jumped in the river. He wasn't the only one scared. Air raid wardens came running and police and firemen sped from nearby New York and New Jersey towns. Windows and dishes were shattered for a mile around and one man, three miles away, was dumped from his couch. Ambulances raced to the scene but nobody was injured. Perkins said he was hunting crows near the Barnabas Fireworks company. He was in a thicket and could not see the company buildings about 50 yards away. "I lifted my gun and fired," he related. "I missed the crow, but I guess I hit the building." Nobody disputed Perkins' opinion. The shot is believed to have ignited gunpowder in one of the company's frame buildings, about the size of a two car garage. The concussion set off blasts in five other frame buildings, spaced about 50 yards apart. All the structures were leveled. Workers in the plant had gone home just a few minutes before Perkins fired his mighty shot.

Jury 'Acquits' Actor's Dog in Large Damage Suit

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — Joe, a movie mongrel, was vindicated recently by a jury that decided he didn't spill a 60-year-old bicyclist. Joe belongs to actor Vincent Price. The jurors deliberated one hour before deciding Joe wasn't at fault when building contractor Charles F. Benjamin's bicycle hit him. Benjamin had sued Price for $13,183, claiming it was Joe's fault he fell August 23, 1948, and broke his collarbone. Joe wasn't in court when the verdict was returned. He made his appearance two days before. But Price reported the mutt apparently took the case to heart because he hasn't budged from the house in two days. "He has become a terrible snob since he appeared in court," the actor said. "He's got his nose up in the air all the time—except at dinner." Price claimed, and the jury agreed, that Benjamin was as much at fault as Joe. The jury ruled the contractor's contributory negligence was a factor in his spill.

Fire of an unknown origin completely destroyed the George Carr grocery and Albert Touch shoe shop on State Street at an early hour Wednesday morning. A high wind was blowing. By good work the firemen were able to hold the fire to the two buildings, saving those across the street and directly in the path of the flames and flying cinders. The building occupied by Carr's Grocery and Meat Market was owned by Walter French, and although some insurance was carried on the building and contents, both gentlemen are heavy losers. Mr. Carr has been located in this building for the past sixteen years. Mr. Touch owned the building which he occupied. He estimates his loss at about $3500 on building and contents with an insurance of $2500. The corner building was a well known landmark, having been erected some forty years ago. We understand it was first used as a furniture store.

The Servicemen's Letter

Hi Fellas:

You should see the head of the lake now. When I wrote about it two weeks ago it wasn't nearly as high as it is now. This past week-end we had a terrific rain and snow storm and it surely swelled the river to the breaking point. Sunday afternoon the river up at Rogers bridge was level with the banks. And all that water is coming down into the already overflowing lake. Talk about a Missouri flood - we've got a little one here ourselves. Squint Meredith says he's going to raise frogs in his basement this summer.

I saw Maurice Murphy getting on the bus this noon down at Sinclair on his way back to Brooke. He said, "Gotta get back - they need me now." I think he was kidding but in a way he's right. Every man in the service is a cog in the big gear. Right now there seems to be plenty of monkey wrenches being thrown in the gears at times but each of us can make that big gear run more smoothly by doing our bit as best we can.

Ed Drappage has evidently finished his basic down at Lackland as his dad turned in a stop order on his paper for this week. They don't want to do much forwarding down at that base. Ed will probably check in from a new base before next week.

Lawrence Wright did not end up in the AF Base that he started for when he left here. I note that the unit is of the same lettering but he has evidently been sent to a different base in New York State. Here's his address: S/Sgt. Lawrence A. Wright, AF 16 254 296, 763 A.C.W. Sqd, Shawnee AFB, Lockport, New York. How about letting us know what that A.C.W. stands for, Lawrence?

Dale McWatters, who returned from Korea quite some time ago, has been on duty at Fort Custer, Michigan. Expecting that he would be resigned soon he did not give me his address. Also he was home on week ends quite often. However, now he has come through with the following address at Custer: Cpl. Dale McWatters, 16 261 895, Hq. Battery, 711 AAA Gun Bn, Fort Custer, Mich. I understand that Dale's Japanese bride is still here with his folks in East Jordan and that Dale gets home as often as he can to see that these wolves around here haven't carried her off.

Here's a change of address on government stationery from Johnny Kershner. His new one is: A/2c John M. Kershner, AF 16 333 955, 87th AB Sq., Geiger Field, Spokane, Washington. Note that John has one of those new Air Force ratings. What is the dope on these new rates, John? How do they compare with your old Pfc., Cpl. and Sgt ratings?

Carroll Bartholomew has signed his last pay voucher in the Army and is by this time on his way home. Here's a letter from him written on April 4th. "Well, it looks like I will be seeing spring twice this year. Been having a lot of rain and wind down here. The grass is starting to turn green and the leaves are coming out to the trees. Not too long after I get home I will see the same thing again. I am just writing to tell you that you can stop sending the paper to me. You can ever scratch my name off your mailing list. Thursday, April 10th I get out of this Army - for good I hope. Not that the Army isn't a good place to be but I have had all of it I care about."

That was short and to the point, Carroll. I'm hoping to see you when you get home and possible clean a few sentences from you for this letter at a later date.

Men are getting out and other men are going in. This is really rotation. Delwin and Darwin Morris finally made the step and close beside them is Dale Lavanway. Delwin and Darwin were accepted by the Infantry on a twin status. They told by the recruiting officer that if they enlisted as twins they would be sent to the same camps and would be kept together throughout their term of service. Sounds fishy to me but lets hope it's right for here is their address. (And I notice that their folks are mailing parcels in just this manner) Pvt Delwin L. Morris, RA 16 391 032; Pvt Darwin D. Morris, RA 16 391 033, 86th Inf Regt, 10th Inf Div, Fort Riley, Kansas. With them in the same camp, Division, and Regiment is Pvt. Dale Lavanway, RA 16 404 493, Co. D, 86th Inf. Rgt, 10th Inf Div, Fort Riley, Kansas. That's all the news I have of them for now but I'll expect at least one of you three to keep me posted on your doings.

A letter from the front in Korea advises us that Sam Bricker, Wayne Flora, and Jerry McKenny are still kicking and expected to be home and discharged this summer. Sam writes, "It's about time I dropped you a few lines. Everything is about the same as before when I wrote you:

We have real nice weather here now but from what they say it will start the rainy season pretty soon. They have plenty of rain. I see that Wayne Pearce is a brave boy going right up to Hqs that way. I'm pretty sure it wouldn't work in this division.

The way things look for Wayne Flora, Jerry McKenny and myself is that we might be home the last of July or first of Aug. We'll have our 21 months in by then and have served time in Korea so after our 21 months we are eligible for discharge. If you know the army it is pretty much in changing things when you get your hopes up. We are getting quite a few replacements in now to take care of the National Guardsmen that are getting discharged. If you hear from any of the E.J. boys getting in the 45th Div let us know. Maybe we can look them up. By the time you receive this letter we will have moved back in reserve again for about three weeks.

The paper comes through just fine since you have been sending it by Air Mail. Thanks for writing, Sam. Let's all hope that nothing comes up to delay that July or August discharge. If any of you men over in Korea are near the 45th Division you can find Sam Bricker in Hq & Hq Co, 179th Inf Div, APO 86. He'll look up the other two for you.

Here's news of John and Guy Valance. John has just completed his course in demolition school and graduated with honors. He is back in Leipzig now. When he first arrived there the company commander gave him a two day pass as a bonus for his good work in school. His company is now on maneuvers - building bridges and roads. John says that they are fighting about 10 inches of mud. Boy, John, I know what German mud is. John is with Co C, 54th Engr C. Bn, APO 46.

Guy Valance, who has been in port in California for some time has just set sail again for about a 5 weeks cruise. Guy is cooking now and feels that he is faring quite well. Can you stand your own cooking, Guy? That's the acid test, Guy is aboard the USS Cimarron, c/o FPO, San Francisco, California.

Joe Hammond did ship out - but then a generator burned out and here he is back again in Portsmouth - still aboard the USS Aucilla (A056) 4th Div.

Wayne and Bernard Pearce were in to see me today. They had a death in the family - their stepfather, Charles Graham, passed away quite suddenly last Friday and they were called home. They both came by Air and reached here within 48 hours of when they were called. While they were visiting with me they were swapping anecdotes on army life between themselves. Bernard is a Pvt and a cannoneer in the Field Artillery. That involves a certain amount of hardship such as doublingtime about 8 miles a day, standing quite a rigid inspection, regular pulling of KP duty. That last item especially brought on a little argument. Wayne is a cook in the Infantry and he bosses the KPs around. There would be room for quite a bit of discussion, especially between brothers, don't you think? Wayne and Bernard are both due back at their respective camps next week. Wayne is confronted with the not too pleasant prospect of a maneuvers when he gets back.

My notes have run out - my head is empty of further news. Guess I better quit for tonight. So Long, "Jake" Snyder

First Presbyterian Church

Edward O. DeHaven, Pastor

This Thursday night, tonight, the Church will gather again for one of its Family Nights. Pot-luck Supper will be served at 6:45. Bring your own table service, food to pass and the whole family. There will be special music for this meeting. The outstanding attraction is the speaker of the evening, Miss Ann Hoffman, a missionary on furlough from Thailand. It will be highly interesting to learn of the condition of life in this little country which is in the midst of the Asiatic problem that faces the world. Our church has maintained a strong mission there for many years and we shall learn something of it from this one who has so recently returned from there. The public is cordially invited.

This coming Sunday morning there will be the usual services in our church. The Sunday School meets at 9:45 a.m. with classes for all ages. An especial invocation is given to adults to join their respective classes for the study of the Book of Romans. In the opinion of your pastor these are some of the most worthwhile lessons that have been offered to our people for some time. You will want to learn from them. The Morning Worship Service begins at 11:00 a.m. with a dignified for-ship service for all. The sermon subject for this coming Sunday will be, "The Recovery of Truth" with the manifest power of God so evident in the Easter experience, we need to go on from here to discover what it can mean in our lives.

The W.Y.F. will go to Boyne City this coming Sunday evening for the Annual Spring Rally of the Youth of Presbytery. Cars will leave the Church for Boyne City at 3:45 p.m.
