After reaching Mackinaw City, the children boarded "The City of Petoskey" for a two hour boat ride. Sack lunches were brought by the children and eaten on the boat. All the children enjoyed themselves, but especially Mary Porter who became acquainted with the Chief Engineer of the boat who told many things about Great Lake boating.

Delbert Hart Farm Home, With Contents, Destroyed By Fire

WITH NO INSURANCE CARRIED, HOUSED TEMPORARILY IN SOUTH ARM GRANGE HALL.

The East Jordan Firemen answered a call for a fire at the Delbert Hart farm home, near the South Arm Grange Hall, Sunday, June 20, 2:00 p.m.

A neighbor discovered the fire, which had gained such headway that when the firemen arrived the roof and walls had fallen down and with the contents was completely destroyed, with no insurance.

Mr. and Mrs. Hart with 5 children had gone to Eastport to see a 4-H ball game. Upon their arrival home found the ruins. Lightning is believed to be the cause. The neighbors and friends are busy collecting household goods, clothing, and money for the family. A shower will be held at the South Arm Grange Hall this Thursday evening. Plans are for the family to reside in the Portz farm home very soon, until then they are in the Grange Hall.

Success is still operated on the self service plan.

Control of Flies

Sanitation is the answer to DDT-resistant flies, advises LaRue Miller, Chief of the section of Environmental Sanitation, Michigan Department of Health.

While repeated experience has proved that even the potent insecticides such as DDT are effective only until flies develop resistance to them, it has also proved that flies do not develop any resistance to sanitation," he asserts.

To be successful, a fly-control program must rely heavily on elimination of fly-breeding and fly-feeding places and tight screening, with insecticides playing an important secondary role. It must be carried out cooperatively by the individual and the community.

The individual can do his part by making his own premises as fly-free as possible.

In residential areas, garbage is the most important feeding and breeding medium. Garbage cans should be made of metal, should be clean and kept tightly covered at all times. Rotting vegetables, fruit or animal matter, piles of decaying leaves and grass, manure piles — all good feeding and breeding places — should be removed.

Screens should be in good repair, and all buildings in which humans live or in which food or milk is prepared or stored should be screened tightly.

All fly resting places such as under the overhang of roofs, doorways, windows, the garbage can and surrounding area should be sprayed with DDT, chlordane or solutions.

Because flies have a yen for travel and the ability to range freely over distances of four miles, the community must add its efforts to that of the individual to assure freedom from these pests.

The community program should extend into outlying areas where there are garbage or rubbish dumps which are natural breeding places. Usually they are few in number and can easily be included in a municipal clean-up program.

Community programs should include the cleaning up and spraying of the business areas which ordinarily are more heavily invaded by flies than residential areas. They should also provide complete garbage pick-up service (twice a week is needed to prevent fly breeding).

Flies are born, live and eat in the foulest refuse and are among the few living things which man has found serving no useful purpose. They are prodigious breeders, and if all the progeny lived, one pair could produce 191 septillion descendants between April and August. Besides being a nuisance to man, they are a hazard to his health, being capable of spreading 20 human diseases, including dysentery, typhoid fever and tuberculosis.

Despite all control measures, an occasional fly will get into the house. When this happens, swat it.

Notice

A Public Hearing will be held Wednesday, July 9, 1952, at 8:00 p.m. to determine whether Kenneth Diller's Box and Crate Factory property shall be changed from R. 3 Residential, as now zoned, to M 1 Light Manufacturing.

All adjacent property owners, who have any objections to this change in zoning, should be present at this hearing. Thelma M. Hegerberg, City Clerk

A hand-out is a good turn.

"Blood Month" In Charlevoix County

June will be known as Blood month in Charlevoix county as the county chapter of the American Red Cross formulates plans for the annual blood procurement program to be held June 24 in East Jordan and June 25 in Charlevoix, Mrs. R. G. Bennett, chapter blood chairman has announced.

The Michigan Department of Health Blood unit will be in the county on those two days to carry out the program. The East Jordan clinic will be held at the school building with Mrs. Theodore Malpass serving as chairman.

The goal of the two-day clinic has been set at 200 pints with at least 110 registrants each day in the two towns.

A percentage of the blood will go directly to the armed forces after it has been processed by the State Health Department while the remainder will be converted into plasma and fractions for use by Charlevoix county residents who will receive it free of charge except for administration costs, wherever they may be hospitalized.

Mrs. Iva Allen, R.N., field representative for the blood procurement program for the Michigan Department of Health, visited Charlevoix county recently to make tentative arrangements for the clinic.

This is the first blood procurement in the county since February 1951 when 99 pints were donated by county residents. The 1951 program was held in Boyne City.

Registration cards and additional information may be received from Mrs. Malpass, or telephone 2545 or 7191. Other volunteer workers are: Mrs. Marvin Benson, Mrs. G. R. DeForest, Mrs. Wm. Grimm (Boyne City), Mrs. Wilbur Robertson, Mrs. H. W. Patrick & Mrs. Geo. Shiotelis, Boyne City; Mrs. Geo. Sherman, Mrs. Harry Watson, Mrs. W. E. Malpass, Mrs. John Seiler, Mrs. Bernard Pearce, Miss Judy Malpass.

Report of the East Jordan High School Library

FOR THE SCHOOL TERM OF 1951-1952

The library inventory for the school year of 1951-1952 shows that we now have a total of 3,630 volumes.

During this year 15,173 books were checked out. This does not include magazines, pamphlets, or text books.

267 new books were added since Sept. and a large shipment of elementary books is expected during the summer.

All library books for the entire school are selected from book lists approved of by the American Library Association, the Wilson's Children's catalog, and the State Dept. of Public Instruction.

Our card catalog filing system has all new cards and is completely up to date.

All audio-visual aids such as records, films, film guides, etc. are also kept in the library. To these were added this year thirteen new film strips.

Our collection of books and audio-visual aids has greatly increased during the past years so that we now have an adequate supply of material to meet the students needs.

Louise Scott, Librarian

NOTICE: Mrs. Howard Moore wishes to notify her piano pupils she will not be teaching in East Jordan this year. Rev. and Mrs. H. Moore are being transferred from Bellaire to the Rosebush Circuit, Big Rapids District, Michigan Methodist Conference.

Attention Legionnaires and Auxiliary

The Committee decided on a Round and Square Dance this coming Saturday night, June 21, at 9:00 p.m. We want all you Legionnaires and Auxiliary to bring your friends and join us at this dance. Admission will be $1.00 a couple or 50 cents to anyone single. The Auxiliary will be serving lunches.

Benefit Doings For The Delbert Hart Family

There will be a Benefit dance at the South Arm Grange Hall next Wednesday evening, June 25th, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. for the Delbert Hart family, who lost their home and contents by fire last Sunday afternoon, while they were attending a 4-H Soft ball game at Eastport.

The Extension Club is sponsoring a shower for the Harts at the Grange Hall this Thursday eve, June 19th at 8:00 p.m. everyone is welcome, their is to be a pot luck lunch.

Wednesday eve, Mrs. Alma Larson is entertaining a group of Sophomore girls, Sunday School, and 4-H girls with a personal shower for Ruth Hart.

After the fire was over the neighbors gathered up furniture and clothes and food and had things set up in the South Arm Grange Hall for the Hart family when they returned home. Mrs. Cliff Bailey had a lovely supper for the family that eve.

So lets not forget the "Dance" next Wednesday eve, June 25, beginning at 9 p.m. There will be tickets on sale at the Golden Rule Station, Automatic Laundry, Jordan Heating and Refrig. Co., and members of the community will also have tickets to sell. So lets all do our best for this family. Remember most fathers look forward to Fathers Day as a day of honor. As Mr. and Mrs. Hart drove away from their home Sunday afternoon with their family they were a happy family and everything was o.k. at home. But when they arrived home their home in ashes from the results of lightning, there was nothing saved, so all they had left was what they had on their backs. Mr. Portz has offered his house for them to live in until they get their new home built. The family expects to be ready to move in the last of the week. This place is better known to some people as the Waterman place.

WILL PLAY BALL TO AID SERVICE CLUB THIS FRIDAY EVENING

Mayor Leo Sommerville, with team captains Mae Evans and Bonnie O'Brien, pause in front of the newly erected Service-Club Honor Roll, to discuss the benefit softball game the girls' teams will play this Friday evening at 7:00 p.m. for the Community Service Club. Economic Security of Farmers

Excerpts from remarks by Nile L. Vermillion, manager of the Farm Bureau Insurance Services, at a meeting of Farm Bureau insurance representatives in East Lansing on Monday, June 9.

"The typical American farmer is the most dangerously unprotected business man in the nation's economy today.

"His capital investment in his farm, his mechanical equipment his livestock, his home, represents thousands of dollars. Many other highly profitable operate on much less capital.

"He is unprotected because the entire operation of his farm depends upon his own health and safety, but he employs practically none of the usual financial safeguards of comparable industrial enterprises.

"It is for these reasons that protection of the farmer and his property is an infant science demanding creative thinking on the part of the agricultural insurance industry.

"While most other segment of our society have been clamoring for the state to underwrite their security," he said, "the farmer has asked only that he be permitted to earn security for himself.

"Frankly, he has had very little help from insurance people. It is time that we started thinking in terms of organized programs developed particularly to meet his needs.

"Make no mistake about it; our farmer of today runs a business that is exposed to the same hazards and uncertainty as his city cousin encounters. To succeed, he has to combine the qualities of an economist, a capitalist, a prophet and a gambler.

"The days when he merely tilled the land and hoped for the best now exist only in the minds of urban folk who haven't ventured past city limits since World War I. In every respect but one, today's farmer has taken fullest advantage of the technological advancement of our age.

"Where he has not completed his adjustment is in the field of self-protection. He is keenly aware of the dangers to his production caused by the weather, because that is a visible element of chance that he confronts year in and year out. But as the promoter of his own business, he does not yet realize how much his business depends upon the protection of his own life and health.

"He may borrow thousands of dollars on a herd, for instance, without a dime of protection against the personal risks that can prevent him from bringing the herd to maturity and to the market. He may be completely unaware of the possibility that his investment can be wiped out if something happens to him.

"Perhaps, because they have been capitalists longer than have farmers, the businessmen in the city accept protection against such risks as a routine precaution. One of the most important improvements in agricultural economics will be the development of the same type of thinking on the farm."

"The economic security of farmers is more important to the future of our nation than that of any other group. Farmers need your service to assure its continuance. We can best serve the farmer by bringing to his attention these needs for personal protection."

An applicant for a position as child's nurse was asked: "Have you ever had any experience with children?"
"Sure ma'am," she replied confidently. "I used to be a child myself."
"Are you homesick?" the aunt asked a small girl, away overnight for the first time.
"No," the child sobbed, "I'm here sick."

The Servicemen's Letter

Hi Fellas:

Do you suppose someone could be monkeying around with the weather? This is the third Sunday in a row that we have had a heavy rain. It sure is good for the hay and other crops but if it continues it will play hob with the tourists. Maybe it's all those atoms that they were letting loose around Nob Hill. Do you suppose he could have brought some of them back with him?

One of our overseas men was home this week. Clare Loomis is home on a 20 day furlough from Cuba. When he goes back in he reports to Davisville, R.I. to the same old outfit. Clare said that he enjoyed being in Cuba but not nearly as much as being back home again. He stressed the fact that he was definitely not going to be a 20 year man. Clare will be leaving for duty again on July 1st. He has been working as a truck driver around the Navy construction jobs. His outfit, the MCB No. 8 is due to go to the Mediterranean sometime in July and Clare is hoping that he lands somewhere near Hersh Young.

Here's wishing a Happy Birthday to Norman Beal. His brother Leland was in the office on June 12th and let slip that that was Norm's birthday. We all hope that everything is going smoothly for you, Norm.

Maybe my griping about not receiving any mail from overseas is beginning to pay off. Here's a letter from Howard. Summer away down in the Canal Zone. He writes, "I think it's about time I got a few lines off to you. It has been a long time since the last. I don't know where to start but first of all a couple of months ago I ran into Donald Braman over in Balboa. It sure is good to see someone from home. Especially when you're down here. I have been intending to go over to see him again but have been putting it off."

"The 20th of this month I'll have eleven months of overseas duty in out of a total of sixteen. It won't be so long. It is almost done for me. I'm supposed to get out the 1st of February. Don't know when I'll leave here, maybe sometime in December."

"Things are sort of dead here now. Company B & C left for operations about like we had when we went to Greenland last June. Only the RAs will return here. The draftees will go to a camp closer to home."

"I think I'll be home in September for about a month. I sort of plan on it anyway. We sure are getting our share of the rain. Too bad old EJ doesn't have some of it. In fact the winds are blowing now and it will rain before long. It really can come down too."

"I get the paper every Monday at the noon mail call. I see in it where a lot of the EJ boys are getting in now."

"The President of Panama is in office now and things are not so bad. Before the elections people were fighting all the time. Well, Jake, I think I'll sign off now and get ready for guard duty."

"Thanks for writing, Howard. I sure do appreciate your letter. Although the men who are overseas are in the minority on our list (thank God), I enjoy a letter from an overseas man the most. And I also believe that they are the ones who should have priority in our thoughts here at home."

"We take the name of another Korean veteran from our mailing list this week. Dale McWatters has finished his hitch and was discharged on June 13th. Our best wishes go to him and his Japanese bride in hoping that they make as much of a success of civilian life as Dale did of his military one."

"Don Dixon stuck his mug through the window at me this week and told me not to send any papers out to Norfolk for him until after July 1st. Don is home on a 20 day furlough and is going back to the same pier at Norfolk after July 1st. He had the good fortune to see Joe Hammond in Norfolk not long before he sailed for across the wide Atlantic. It seems that Joe was a little worried at the time that Don was talking with him about the disappearance of about a hundred thousand gallons of fuel oil which was under his charge. Don said that he probably didn't read the gauges right. Don calls himself a 'land-lubber' of a seaman. He's doing repair work on the tugs that shuttle the big boats around the harbor. He says that the best of them break down sometime and they keep him fairly busy all of the time. He works, eats, and sleeps on the same section of the base at all times."

"A new address for Vale Keller locates him away back down in Texas again. His address is now: A/3C Vale Keller, 1700 Air Transport Service, Box 1769, Kelly AFB, Texas. It must be that Vale has finished his training in loading ships and has now been transferred to a unit where his knowledge may be put to good use. How about that, Vale? Am I right?"

Darwin Morris checked in from Fort Devens, Mass., and settled for me all this talk of separating these two twins. He writes, "This address won't be with us for very long but I just thought I'd let you know where we are. We are still together and probably will stay that way. We flew up here from Fort Riley to Boston. Stopped twice, once in Saint Louis and again in Cleveland. It is sure a great way to travel. The temperature is quite a lot different here than down in Kansas. Must close now and will send a permanent address as soon as we get one." I'm sure glad that you two are still together.

Broek Peacock — you had had Fort Devens for yourself for so long now that you should know most of the ropes out there. Look these two men up and make them at home. They are in ASA Tr Ree, 8622 AAU, Fort Devens, Massachusetts. Darwin and Delwin — if you want to do the looking hunt up Broek in the 334 Comm Recon, ASATR, Fort Devens.

A new man in our midst this week is Ivan Chew. His address is: Pvt Ivan Chew, RA 16 401 782, Co B, 16th AFB, 1st Armored Div, Fort Hood, Texas. How about dropping me a line and giving us the lowdown on what they are doing with you, Ivan.

So Long until next week.
"Jake" Snyder

There are no reports that any State legislator received a speeding ticket while hurrying to Lansing Tuesday for the last regular session. They'll probably be traveling considerably faster when they head for home next week.

For legislative duties have cooked up unusually severe headaches this term. Solons will be glad to call it quits sometime around a week from today.

As in many Michigan homes today, finances are causing furrowed brows.

Like John Q. Public and his family, legislators are faced with the problem of balancing income and expenses. There are only two ways to do that: Cut your expenses or raise your income.

Here's an over-all picture of what Michigan legislators are up against.

Then listen to what State Treasurer D. Hale Brake says about the tax situation.

Cutting expenses is simpler in theory than in practice.

For example: 78 per cent of state sales tax revenues are automatically returned to home governments — schools, cities and townships — under a twice-approved constitutional amendment. Faced with a deficit of $50 to $60 million by July 1, the legislature has to save—or increase its income—$30 to $40 million.

Such savings would have to be made from one or all of the regular accounts which represents Michigan's expenditures:

General Government, operating offices, cost of the legislature, civil service and retirement, takes $12.5 million a year. Education takes $154 million appropriated money.

Public Health needs $13.77 million and Mental Hygiene, after years of neglect, costs $38.28 million. Public Welfare costs $54.4 million.

Safety and Defense (state police and National Guard) at $8.6 million; Adult Corrections (that's prison, parole setup) at $10.6 million. Conservation, Recreation and Agriculture: at $6.69 are essential as bread and butter.

Debt Service (to pay off our bonds) takes $14.49 million and Aeronautics grants of $287,000 brings the total budget for '52-'53 to three hundred thirty million dollars.

Estimated income for that period is $303 million.

John Q. Public can cut his expenses by putting his family on a diet of hog jowls and barley kibble. But they wouldn't stay healthy—or happy—very long.

These basic public services might be cut drastically, too. But it's debatable how healthy governments would be. It's beyond debate that the citizens of our fair state would squawk loud when such cuts would curtail services they have grown to consider and accept as necessities.

State Treasurer Brake, who knows more about Michigan dollars and cents than anyone on both peninsulas, has been doing lots of back-of-an-envelope figuring on the problem. He observes: "From time to time the suggestion has been made that public welfare, which was formerly a local problem, be returned to local units. Rural townships, in many cases, could probably handle direct relief but most of our cities couldn't—and there the problem is greatest. Neither cities nor townships could take on old age assistance and aid to dependent children which make up most of the $52 million."

Unable to cut expenses appreciably, the State can do only one other thing: Raise its income.

Michigan's income is its taxes.

Raising taxes always brings protest from the taxpayers. That isn't bad enough; legislative attempts to raise the intake have run into vetoes by Governor Williams.

"Mr. Brake reminds us that 'the legislature was urged by the Governor to pass a corporate income tax law. Some legislators favored a general income tax. But the majority turned down both propositions and sought by a series of increases of taxes already in use to build up State income by $30 million and avoid any increase in the deficit."

"They passed a USED CAR TRANSFER tax that was to raise $12 million. This the Governor vetoed," says Mr. Brake.

Williams vetoed a bill replacing the 3% sales tax on liquor (which has to be split up with schools and local governments) with a 3% HANDLING TAX (which the State can keep entirely). He also vetoed an attempt to keep $1.5 million in LIQUOR LICENSE FEES in the State treasury instead of passing it down to local government.

"They raised the CORPORATION FRANCHISE TAX from 3 1/2 to 4 mills—this is supposed to yield an additional $10 million." Increases and revisions in INTANGIBLES TAXES should add $6.5 million. Another million is to come from changes in INSURANCE COMPANY and NATIONAL BANK taxes.

Now hopes for a balanced budget lie in the proposed 2% industrial processing tax estimated to raise $20 million. That faces rough sledding. In the House this week, it goes to the Senate next week if approved.

"Position of legislators is not enviable," he opines. "Folks back home don't want new taxes; serious curtailment of (public) services would bring vigorous protests."

So when the legislature adjourns next week (if it can really push all pending legislation to a final vote by that time), lawmakers will be glad to get away the whole mess for a while.

If one of the solons speeds through your town on his way back home, don't blame him. Just sympathize with his problem of making two plus two in income equal two plus three in expense.

Delbert Hart Farm Home, With Contents, Destroyed By Fire

WITH NO INSURANCE CARRIED, HOUSED TEMPORARILY IN SOUTH ARM GRANGE HALL.

The East Jordan Firemen answered a call for a fire at the Delbert Hart farm home, near the South Arm Grange Hall, Sunday, at 2:00 p.m.

A neighbor discovered the fire, which had gained such headway that when the firemen arrived, the roof and walls had fallen down and, with the contents, was completely destroyed, with no insurance.

Mr. and Mrs. Hart with 5 children had gone to Eastport to see a 4-H ball game. Upon their arrival home found the ruins. Lightning is believed to be the cause. The neighbors and friends are busy collecting household goods, clothing, and money for the family. A shower will be held at the South Arm Grange Hall this Thursday evening. Plans are for the family to reside in the Portz farm home very soon, until then they are in the Grange Hall.

Success is still operated on the self service plan.

Control of Flies

Sanitation is the answer to DDT-resistant flies, advises LaRue Miller, Chief of the section of Environmental Sanitation, Michigan Department of Health.

"While repeated experience has proved that even the potent insecticides such as DDT are effective only until flies develop resistance to them, it has also proved that flies do not develop any resistance to sanitation," he asserts.

To be successful, a fly-control program must rely heavily on elimination of fly-breeding and fly-feeding places and tight screening, with insecticides playing an important secondary role. It must be carried out cooperatively by the individual and the community.

The individual can do his part by making his own premises as fly-free as possible.

In residential areas, garbage is the most important feeding and breeding medium. Garbage cans should be made of metal, should be clean and kept tightly covered at all times. Rotting vegetables, fruit or animal matter, piles of decaying leaves and grass, manure piles — all good feeding and breeding places — should be removed.

Screens should be in good repair, and all buildings in which humans live or in which food or milk is prepared or stored should be screened tightly.

All fly resting places such as under the overhang of roofs, doorways, windows, the garbage can and surrounding area should be sprayed with DDT, chlordane or solutions.

Because flies have a yen for travel and the ability to range freely over distances of four miles, the community must add its efforts to that of the individual to assure freedom from these pests.

The community program should extend into outlying areas where there are garbage or rubbish dumps which are natural breeding places. Usually they are few in number and can easily be included in a municipal clean-up program.

Community programs should include the cleaning up and spraying of the business areas which ordinarily are more heavily invaded by flies than residential areas. They should also provide complete garbage pick-up service (twice a week is needed to prevent fly breeding).

Flies are born, live and eat in the foulest refuse and are among the few living things which man has found serving no useful purpose. They are prodigious breeders, and if all the progeny lived, one pair could produce 191 septillion descendants between April and August. Besides being a nuisance to man, they are a hazard to his health, being capable of spreading 20 human diseases, including dysentery, typhoid fever and tuberculosis.

Despite all control measures, an occasional fly will get into the house, when this happens, swat it.

"Blood Month" In Charlevoix County

June will be known as Blood month in Charlevoix county as the county chapter of the American Red Cross formulates plans for the annual blood procurement program to be held June 24 in East Jordan and June 25 in Charlevoix, Mrs. R. G. Bennett, chapter blood chairman has announced.

The Michigan Department of Health Blood unit will be in the count on those two days to carry out the program. The East Jordan clinic will be held at the school building with Mrs. Theodore Malpass serving as chairman.

The goal of the two-day clinic has been set at 200 pints with at least 110 registrants each day in the two towns.

A percentage of the blood will go directly to the armed forces after it has been processed by the State Health Department while the remainder will be converted into plasma and fractions for use by Charlevoix county residents who will receive it free of charge except for administration costs, wherever they may be hospitalized.

Mrs. Iva Allen R.N., field representative for the blood procurement program for the Michigan Department of Health, visited Charlevoix county recently to make tentative arrangements for the clinic.

This is the first blood procurement in the county since January 1951 when 89 pints were donated by county residents. The 1951 program was held in Boyne City.

Registration cards and additional information may be received from Mrs. Malpass, or telephone 2545 or 7191. Other volunteer workers are: Mrs. Marvin Benson, Mrs. G. R. DeForest, Mrs. Wm. Grimm (Boyne City), Mrs. Wilbur Robertson, Mrs. H. W. Patriek & Mrs. Geo. Shiohala, Boyne City; Mrs. Geo. Sherman, Mrs. Harry Watson, Mrs. W. E. Report of the East Jordan High School Library

FOR THE SCHOOL TERM OF 1951-1952

The library inventory for the school year of 1951-1952 shows that we now have a total of 3,630 volumes.

During this year 15,173 books were checked out. This does not include magazines, pamphlets, or text books.

267 new books were added since Sept. and a large shipment of elementary books is expected during the summer.

All library books for the entire school are selected from book lists approved by the American Library Association, the Wilson's Children's catalog, and the State Dept. of Public Instruction.

Our card catalog filing system has all new cards and is completely up to date.

All audio-visual aids such as records, films, film guides, etc. are also kept in the library. To these were added this year thirteen new film strips.

Our collection of books and audio-visual aids has greatly increased during the past years so that we now have an adequate supply of material to meet the students needs.

Economic Security of Farmers

Excerpts from remarks by Nile L. Vermillion, manager of the Farm Bureau Insurance Services, at a meeting of Farm Bureau insurance representatives in East Jordan, on Monday, June 9.

"The typical American farmer is the most dangerously unprotected business man in the nation's economy today."

"His capital investment in his farm, his mechanical equipment his livestock, his home, represents thousands of dollars. Many other highly profitable operations of much less capital."

"He is unprotected because the entire operation of his farm depends upon his own health and safety, but he employs practically none of the usual financial safeguards of comparable industrial enterprises."

"It is for these reasons that protection of the farmer and his property is an infant science demanding creative thinking on the part of the agricultural insurance industry."

"While most other segment of our society have been clamoring for the state to underwrite their security," he said, "the farmer has asked only that he be permitted to earn security for himself. Frankly, he has had very little help from insurance people. It is time that we started thinking in terms of organized programs developed particularly to meet his needs."

"Make no mistake about it; our farmer of today runs a business that is exposed to the same hazards and uncertainty as his city cousin encounters. To succeed, he has to combine the qualities of an economist, a capitalist, a prophet and a gambler."

"The days when he merely tilled the land and hoped for the best now exist only in the minds of urban folk who haven't ventured past city limits since World War I. In every respect but one, today's farmer has taken fullest advantage of the technological advancement of our age."

"Where he has not completed his adjustment is in the field of self-protection. He is keenly aware of the dangers to his production caused by the weather, because that is a visible element of chance that he confronts year in and year out. But as the promoter of his own business, he does not yet realize how much his business depends upon the protection of his own life and health."

"He may borrow thousands of dollars on a herd, for instance, without a dime of protection against the personal risks that can prevent him from bringing the herd to maturity and to the market. He may be completely unaware of the possibility that his investment can be wiped out if something happens to him."

"Perhaps because they have been capitalists longer than have farmers, the businessmen in the city accept protection against such risks as a routine precaution. One of the most important improvements in agricultural economics will be the development of the same type of thinking on the farm."

"The economic security of farmers is more important to the future of our nation than that of any other group. Farmers need your service to assure its continuance. We can best serve the farmer by bringing to his attention these needs for personal protection."

Reduce Speed, Cut Accidents Officer Urges

Sgt. Harold Moore, commander of the Gaylord post of the Michigan State Police, is appealing to motorists to practice strict, self-enforced speed control to reduce the alarming high number of highway accidents.

"Excessive speed is public enemy number one on the highways," Sgt. Moore said. "It is a factor in two out of every five fatal traffic accidents."

"During the summer months when travel is at a peak, speeding is especially hazardous and deadly. Week ends are the worst."

"Last year 470 persons were killed in Michigan traffic during June, July and August. An average of 21 fatalities occurred every week end."

"Motor vehicle travel this summer is expected to exceed an average of 80 million miles per day. Unless greater caution is taken, particularly in maintaining safe driving speeds, the accident toll will again be shamefully high."

"There is no good reason why accidents cannot be kept at a minimum. It simply requires some effort on the part of drivers. By practicing courtesy, caution and common sense lives can be saved and injuries and accidents prevented."

"If you take a motor trip, get off to an early start. Take your time and stay with the normal flow of traffic. Adjust your driving speed to conditions. Be careful and be here next year."

The decrepit old car drove up to the toll bridge. "Fifty cents," yelled the gate-man. "Sold," replied the driver.

The Servicemen's Letter

Hi Fellas:

Do you suppose someone could be monkeying around with the weather? This is the third Sunday in a row that we have had a heavy rain. It sure is good for the hay and other crops but if it continues it will play hob with the tourists. Maybe it's all those atoms that they were letting loose around Nob Hill. Do you suppose he could have brought some of them back with him?

One of our overseas men was home this week. Clare Loomis is home on a 20 day furlough from Cuba. When he goes back in he reports to Davisville, R.I. to the same old outfit. Clare said that he enjoyed being in Cuba but not nearly as much as being back home again. He stressed the fact that he was definitely not going to be a 20 year man. Clare will be leaving for duty again on July 1st. He has been working as a truck driver around the Navy construction jobs. His outfit, the MCB No. 8 is due to go to the Mediterranean sometime in July and Clare is hoping that he lands somewhere near Hersh Young.

Here's wishing a Happy Birthday to Norman Beal. His brother Leland was in the office on June 12th and let slip that that was Norm's birthday. We all hope that everything is going smoothly for you, Norm.

Maybe my griping about not receiving any mail from overseas is beginning to pay off. Here's a letter from Howard Sumner away down in the Canal Zone. He writes, "I think it is about time I got a few lines off to you. It has been a long time since the last. I don't know where to start but first of all a couple of months ago I ran into Donald Braman over in Balboa. It sure is good to see someone from home. Especially when you're down here. I have been intending to go over to see him again but have been putting it off."

The 20th of this month I'll have eleven months of overseas duty in out of a total of sixteen. It won't be so long. It is almost done for me. I'm supposed to get out the 1st of February. Don't know when I'll leave here, maybe sometime in December.

Things are sort of dead here now. Company B & C left for operations about like we had when we went to Greenland last June. Only the RAs will return here. The draftees will go to a camp closer to home.

I think I'll be home in September for about a month. I sort of plan on it anyway. We sure are getting our share of the rain. Too bad old EJ doesn't have some of it. In fact the winds are blowing now and it will rain before long. It really can come down too.

I get the paper every Monday at the noon mail call. I see in it where a lot of the EJ boys are getting in now.

The President of Panama is in office now and things are not so bad. Before the elections people were fighting all the time. Well, Jake, I think I'll sign off now and get ready for guard duty."

Thanks for writing, Howard. I sure do appreciate your letter. Although the men who are overseas are in the minority on our list (thank God), I enjoy a letter from an overseas man the most. And I also believe that they are the ones who should have priority in our thoughts here at home.

We take the name of another Korean veteran from our mailing list this week. Dale McWatters has finished his hitch and was discharged on June 13th. Our best wishes go to him and his Japanese bride in hoping that they make as much of a success of civilian life as Dale did of his military one.

Don Dixon stuck his mug through the window at me this week and told me not to send any papers out to Norfolk for him until after July 1st. Don is home on a 20 day furlough and is going back to the same pier at Norfolk after July 1st. He had the good fortune to see Joe Hammond in Norfolk not long before he sailed for across the wide Atlantic. It seems that Joe was a little worried at the time that Don was talking with him about the disappearance of about a hundred thousand gallons of fuel oil which was under his charge. Don said that he probably didn't read the gauges right. Don calls himself a land-lubber of a seaman. He's doing repair work on the tugs that shuttle the big boats around the harbor. He says that the best of them break down sometime and they keep him fairly busy all of the time. He works, eats, and sleeps on the same section of the base at all times.

A new address for Vale Keller locates him way back down in Texas again. His address is now: A/3C Vale Keller, 1700 Air Transport Service, Box 1769, Kelly AFB, Texas. It must be that Vale has finished his training in loading ships and has now been transferred to a unit where his knowledge may be put to good use. How about that, Vale? Am I right?

Darwin Morris checked in from Fort Devens, Mass., and settled these two twins. He writes, "This address won't be with us for very long but I just thought I'd let you know where we are. We are still together and probably will stay that way. We flew up here from Fort Riley to Boston. Stopped twice, once in Saint Louis and again in Cleveland. It is sure a great way to travel. The temperature is quite a lot different here than down in Kansas. Must close now and will send a permanent address as soon as we get one." I'm sure glad that you two are still together.

Brock Peacock — you have had Fort Devens for yourself for so long now that you should know most of the ropes out there. Look these two men up and make them at home. They are in ASA Tr Rec, 8622 AAU, Fort Devens, Massachusetts. Darwin and Delwin — if you want to do the looking hunt up Brock in the 334 Comm Recon, ASATR, Fort Devens.

A new man in our midst this week is Ivan Chew. His address is: Pvt Ivan Chew, RA 16 401 782, Co B, 16th AFB, 1st Armor Div, Fort Hood, Texas. How about dropping me a line and giving us the lowdown on what they are doing with you, Ivan.

So Long until next week.
"Jake" Snyder

There are no reports that any State legislator received a speeding ticket while hurrying to Lansing Tuesday for the last regular session. They'll probably be travelling considerably faster when they head for home next week.

For legislative duties have cooked up unusually severe headaches this term. Solons will be glad to call it quits sometime around a week from today.

As in many Michigan homes today, finances are causing furrowed brows.

Like John Q. Public and his family, legislators are faced with the problem of balancing income and expenses. There are only two ways to do that: Cut your expenses or raise your income.

Here's an over-all picture of what Michigan legislators are up against.

Then listen to what State Treasurer D. Hale Brake says about the tax situation.

Cutting expenses is simpler in theory than in practice. For example: 78 per cent of state sales tax revenues are automatically returned to home governments — schools, cities and townships — under a twice-approved constitutional amendment.

Faced with a deficit of $50 to $60 million by July 1, the legislature has to save—or increase its income—$30 to $40 million.

Such savings would have to be made from one or all of the regular accounts which represents Michigan's expenditures:

General Government, operating offices, cost of the legislature, civil service and retirement, takes $12.5 million a year. Education takes $154 million appropriated money.

Public Health needs $13.77 million and Mental Hygiene, after years of neglect, costs $38.28 million. Public Welfare costs $54.4 million.

Safety and Defense (state police and National Guard) at $8.6 million; Adult Corrections (that's prison, parole setup) at $10.6 million. Conservation, Recreation and Agriculture at $6.69 are essential as bread and butter.

Debt Service (to pay off our bonds) takes $14.49 million and Aeronautics grants of $287,000 brings the total budget for '52-'53 to three hundred thirty million dollars.

Estimated income for that period is $303 million.

John Q. Public can cut his expenses by putting his family on a diet of hog jowls and barley grits. But they wouldn't stay healthy—or happy—very long. These basic public services might be cut drastically, too. But it's debatable how healthy governments would be. It's beyond debate that the citizens of our fair state would squawk loud when such cuts would curtail services they have grown to consider and accept as necessities.

State Treasurer Brake, who knows more about Michigan dollars and cents than anyone on both peninsulas, has been doing lots of back-of-an-envelope figuring on the problem. He observes:

"From time to time the suggestion has been made that public welfare, which was formerly a local problem, be returned to local units. Rural townships, in many cases, could probably handle direct relief but most of our cities couldn't—and there the problem is greatest. Neither cities nor townships could take on old age assistance and aid to dependent children which make up most of the $52 million."

Unable to cut expenses appreciably, the State can do only one other thing: Raise its income.

Michigan's income is its taxes. Raising taxes always brings protest from the taxpayers. That isn't bad enough; legislative attempts to raise the intake have run into vetoes by Governor Williams. Mr. Brake reminds us that "the legislature was urged by the Governor to pass a corporate income tax law. Some legislators favored a general income tax. But the majority turned down both propositions and sought by a series of increases of taxes already in use to build up State income by $30 million and avoid any increase in the deficit.

"They passed a USED CAR TRANSFER tax that was to raise $12 million. This the Governor vetoed," says Mr. Brake.

Williams vetoed a bill replacing the 3% sales tax on liquor (which has to be split up with schools and local governments) with a 3% HANDLING TAX (which the State can keep entirely). He also vetoed an attempt to keep $1.5 million in LIQUOR LICENSE FEES in the State treasury instead of passing it down to local government.

"They raised the CORPORATION FRANCHISE TAX from 3 1/2 to 4 mills—this is supposed to yield an additional $10 million." Increases and revisions in INTANGIBLES TAXES should add $6.5 million. Another million is to come from changes in INSURANCE COMPANY and NATIONAL BANK taxes.

Now hopes for a balanced budget lie in the proposed 2% industrial processing tax estimated to raise $20 million. That faces rough sledding. In the House this week, it goes to the Senate next week if approved.

"Position of legislators is not enviable," he opines. "Folks back home don't want new taxes; serious curtailment of (public) services would bring vigorous protests."

So when the legislature adjourns next week (if it can really push all pending legislation to a final vote by that time), lawmakers will be glad to get away the whole mess for a while.

If one of the solons speeds through your town on his way back home, don't blame him. Just sympathize with his problem of making two plus two in income equal two plus three in expense.
