4-H Dairy Clubs At Our Fair

ABOUT 70 MEMBERS TO ENTER EXHIBITS

There will be six 4-H dairy clubs represented at the Charlevoix county fair which will be held September 2 to 6 at East Jordan, Ed Rebban, county agricultural agent said today. These 4-H dairy clubs have about 70 members and it is expected that all of them will enter their dairy animals in the fair.

The leaders of these dairy clubs are as follows: Lawrence Elzinga, Douglas Knudsen, and Archie Murphy of East Jordan; Leonard Lick and Ann Pearsall of Boyne City; and Dick Smith of Charlevoix.

The 4-H dairy club members must start week before the fair in order that their animals will be ready for the show. Feeding the animal is only part of the job. Grooming and training the animal to lead are very important. This is more so in the 4-H dairy project than in the open class exhibitors. The 4-H awards are not based on the animal itself but rather on the ability of the 4-H member to handle the animal. They must be able to lead it when the judge requests them to do so; they must be able to make it stand whenever necessary and the animal must be fitted properly for the show.

Entry day for the 4-H animals and for all other exhibits is Tuesday, September 2. Judging of these dairy animals will take place Wednesday morning, starting about 9:00 a.m. It is hoped that Jason Shinn of Bellaire will again be the judge. It is always quite a show at the judging ring. After Mr. Shinn places the animals he does a very good job explaining why a certain group are 'A' animals, while others are 'B' or 'C' animals.

Auxiliary Delegates Give Convention Reports

The American Legion Auxiliary Unit 227 held their Business meeting Tuesday Aug. 12 at the Legion Home. Reports were read by Martha Kamradt and Peg Thomas Delegates to the Dept. Convention held recently at Grand Rapids, both thanked the Unit for the privilege of attending the Convention. Peg said she attended the meeting held on Civil Defence because our Unit has been particularly interested in this program. Dorothy Pearl conducted the meeting, she stressed the importance of Michigan in the Civil Defence Program, and urged each Unit to take more interest in this phase of our work. Peg also told how thrilled she was to carry our Unit Colors in the presentation of colors which is a part of the opening ceremony of the Convention. Martha being especially interested in the Gold Star Mothers and Jr. activities programs attended them. The girls also reported that Northern Michigan has been honored by having Bernice Collins, of Negaunee as Department President.

Due to a New ruling at the Convention the Aux. will elect officers prior to the Convention after this year. Unit 227 will hold their regular election of officers at the next meeting Tuesday, Aug. 26, so be sure and be present.

American Legion and Auxiliary Observe V-J Day

The American Legion Rebe-Sweet Post and Auxiliary Unit 227 entertained veterans and their families at Family Night Supper held Sunday August 17 in the Legion Home in commemoration of V-J Day. The Colors were presented and Martha Kamradt Unit President invoked the blessing. Frank Stucker Commander said he was sorry the speaker he planned couldn't be present so there was no official program, the evening was spent enjoying a fine meal and visiting with Buddies and their families. It is hoped that we will have more of these family get-togethers in the near future.

Man Has Own Funeral, Records it for Future

BURLINGTON, Col.—The town of Burlington received nation-wide publicity recently when J. N. Gerhardt, 75, one-time rancher and storekeeper, conducted his own funeral. The community of 1300 took in the show, but many of them expressed themselves as unhappy about the publicity.

It was no easy matter for Gerhardt to conduct his funeral. The school board would not allow him to use the school auditorium. He had to pack the overflow crowd of more than 1,000 into the local armory. (Burlington has a population of 1,300.) A scheduled singer backed out so he played records. Several ministers turned him down before the Rev. S. H. McHaffey of Kanorado, Kas., agreed to conduct the services, in which he said:

"Pray for this brother of ours, that he will somehow draw closer to God in the years left to him and that he will think piously of death and the resurrection."
Gerhardt, doubling as corpse, chief mourner and stage manager, served a dinner he cooked himself for the press and others. Then he rode to the services on the front seat of the hearse. He went home the same way. The casket was stored in his basement.

The entire service was recorded on tape to be replayed after his death. But the services will not be in Burlington, much to the relief of many of the home towners. Miffed at the opposition he says he encountered in his planning, Gerhardt has directed that he be buried at Goodland.
"I wouldn't be caught dead here," he declared.

Chief of Police Is Also Capable of Skulduggery
SALT LAKE CITY — Someone stole Police Chief L. C. Crowther's gold braided hat. As a result the chief routed out every top man on his force.

Then suddenly several days later it reappeared on his desk. During its absence, the fancy lid was photographed atop the head of the police chief of nearby Ogden. Investigation revealed that the Ogden chief, Maurice Schooff, and Ogden's chief of detectives, William Milligan, had made a hurried trip to Salt Lake City with a hat bag during the dark of night.

The Deer Problem

Shooting "any deer" during the last three days of the regular season in northern counties of the lower peninsula can help to save the herd's future winter food supply, according to Gerald E. Eddy, state conservation director.

"Most important benefit of conservation commission action in opening the entire north half of the lower peninsula to the taking of any deer during a three-day period next November can be the arresting of further damage to the deer range," Eddy says.

"The deer herd won't be injured by the removal of excess does and fawns," he adds.

"The herd's winter food supply has been deteriorating steadily in many parts of the country for more than 20 years," Eddy points out. "The situation can't be corrected in one year, or two, or three. But a start will be made in the approaching special season."

"A most hopeful development is the public's increased interest in, and understanding of, Michigan's deer problem. The conservation commission, with an open mind, listened to anyone who had an idea to contribute before determining how it would use the authority to manage the deer herd that was given it by the legislature during the last regular session."

"Support of the commission's decision by legislative leaders as well as by organized sportsmen, is gratifying."

Eddy says that his department will step up its efforts to provide more natural food for deer both on the public lands it manages and in co-operation with private land holders, recognizing that deer hunters' interests and a sound forest economy must be balanced.

AUCTION SALE CANCELED
Owing to the entire listings being sold at private sale, the Auction Sale, advertised last week by Mrs. Clyde Evans, for Aug. 23, is cancelled.

An icy voice cut into an uninhibited telephone conversation. "Do you know whom you are addressing?"

"No," said the sergeant. "Well, this is Major Throckmorton."

"Major," said the sergeant, "do you know whom you are addressing?"

"NO!" thundered the major. "Thank God!" said the sergeant and hung up.

"Keep In Line Don't Cut In"

SAYS OUR STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSIONER

State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler today made a second appeal to all motorists to cooperate with the State Safety Commission's safety campaign "Don't Cross the Yellow Line" and "Keep in Line, Don't Cut In."

"The trouble with passing," Commissioner Ziegler said, "is that on many two-lane highways and on many city streets you have to get on the wrong side of the roadway to do it. You may be facing on-coming traffic and not be able to get back to the right side in time."

"In some places," he continued, "a hill or a curve will make it impossible for you to see on-coming traffic. At such places the State Highway Department has placed yellow lines. These are signs of life. The life they save may be your own. So don't cross the yellow line."

Pointing to the disastrous effect of a head-on collision, the Commissioner listed other things to watch out for when attempting to pass a car ahead:

(1) Don't pass at an intersection because a cross traffic vehicle or a pedestrian may be hidden by the car you are trying to pass.

(2) Watch out for a car about to leave a filling station.

(3) Be wary of a car parked on the shoulder which may pull out and interfere with the car you are trying to pass.

(4) Look out for a pedestrian walking on the shoulder who may step out on the pavement and cause the car ahead to move over in front of you.

(5) Beware of the slow moving vehicle or farm tractor which may turn in front of you.

(6) Look for that "hidden car" behind you that may try to pass you just as you pull out to pass the car ahead of you.

Best Yielding Wheat Varieties Named For State

Farmers will soon be planting about 1,500,000 acres of wheat—about three-fourths of it being soft white winter wheat and the rest soft red winter wheat.

H. M. Brown and S. C. Hildebrand, Michigan State College farm crop authorities, have studied research results and talked with farmers to prepare recommendations on best varieties to plant.

Michigan has two outstanding white wheat varieties—Yorkwin and Cornell 595. Yield and test weights of the two are about the same, and both good. Yorkwin is slightly more winter hardy and has a more plump berry. Cornell 595 has a stiffer straw and a higher degree of resistance to loose smut.

Vigo, Thorne and Seneca are all highly recommended red wheat varieties. They yield about the same according to yield tests. All three have satisfactory winter hardiness and straw.

Vigo has slight advantages in test weight and observation indicates it may be more susceptible to mildew. Vigo and Thorne are well known, having been produced in Michigan for three years or more. Seneca is a newcomer, being developed in Ohio and produced in Michigan for the first time this season.

So far as a choice between red and white wheats is concerned, Brown and Hildebrand say it's largely a matter of growing what most farmers in your community grow. That will help avoid mixture of the two types at the local elevator.

City Folks Helping To Increase Price Of U.S. Farm Land

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The agriculture department reports that city folks with money and worries about possible further shrinkage in its buying power—are helping to inflate the farm-land market.

Many of the new buyers are businessmen and investors who are seeking good farms as an investment hedge against inflation, the department reported.

As a result farm prices increased on a national average basis 2 per cent between July and November. They now are 5 per cent above the record set in March, 1920.

The department also predicted further increases in prices, as more people seek what they consider to be safer places to invest their savings.

Also contributing to the increase is the improved farm-product prices. Some buying is being done by farmers who already own land and who wish to invest surplus cash in real estate and at the same time take advantage of the better farm-product prices.

According to one prediction, farm incomes in 1951 will be at least 15 per cent higher than in 1950.

The department said land values advanced in all states from July to November. The east north central states showed the largest average gain for any region—6 per cent—but the west north central, west south central and pacific regions were up 5 per cent.

Average prices were higher than a year ago in all but three states. Florida showed the largest gain—10 per cent—largely because of favorable returns from citrus fruits and pasture lands. During the year increases of 10 per cent or more occurred in Minnesota, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana and Texas.

There are also reports that many city people are buying farms as possible retreats in the event of war. Many seem to feel that in case large cities should be bombed it would be nice down on the farm again.

AA Rejects $10,000 Gift As Against Principles

NEW YORK.—Alcoholics Anonymous Intergroup Association of New York rejected a $10,000 legacy bequeathed by a grateful woman member.

A spokesman explained that acquisition of property or money, other than that raised by passing the hat at their own meetings, tended to divert members from their primary task of rehabilitating alcoholics.

"Members have discovered they cannot mix money and its management with the spiritual nature of the work they are trying to do," he said. "So, like the fellow at the end of the bar who has learned the hard way what's best for him, they, too, have said 'No' to this offer of 'One on the house.'"

Man Couldn't Put on Coat, Finds Ice Pick in Chest

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C.—William Hill is quite a man. He told police that when he couldn't get his overcoat on, he looked to see why and there was an ice pick sticking right out of his chest.

He remembered having a fight with several men the night before, he said, but he didn't remember how that ice pick got there.

He pulled it out and walked next door, where he summoned an ambulance. Doctors who treated the wound near his left collarbone said he would be all right.

Hunter Fires Shot at Crow, Fireworks Plant Blows Up

PEARL RIVER, N.Y. — Frank Perkins, Jr., 24, only fired his gun at a crow, but the whole countryside seemed to explode. It scared him so he jumped in the river.

He wasn't the only one scared. All wardens came running and police and firemen sped from nearby New York and New Jersey towns. Windows and dishes were shattered for a mile around and one man, three miles away, was dumped from his couch. Ambulances raced to the scene but nobody was injured.

Perkins said he was hunting crows near the Barnabas Fireworks company. He was in a thicket and could not see the company buildings about 50 yards away.

"I lifted my gun and fired," he related. "I missed the crow, but I guess I hit the building."

Nobody disputed Perkins' opinion. The shot is believed to have ignited gunpowder in one of the company's frame buildings, about the size of a two car garage. The concussion set off blasts in five other frame buildings, spaced about 50 yards apart. All the structures were leveled.

Workers in the plant had gone home just a few minutes before Perkins fired his mighty shot.

Jury 'Acquits' Actor's Dog in Large Damage Suit

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — Joe, a movie mongrel, was vindicated recently by a jury that decided he didn't spill a 60-year-old bicyclist. Joe belongs to actor Vincent Price.

The jurors deliberated one hour before deciding Joe wasn't at fault when building contractor Charles F. Benjamin's bicycle hit him. Benjamin had sued Price for $13,123, claiming it was Joe's fault he fell August 23, 1949, and broke his collarbone.

Joe wasn't in court when the verdict was returned. He made his appearance two days before. But Price reported the suit apparently took the case to heart because he hasn't budged from the house in two days.

"He has become a terror," the actor said. "He's got his nose up in the air all the time—except at dinner."

Price claimed, and the jury agreed, that Benjamin was as much at fault as Joe. The jury ruled the contractor's contributory negligence was a factor in his spill.

The Williamston Plan

The conservation department
urges southern Michigan farmers wanting to organize a Williamston plan hunting co-operative next fall to make application not later than September 1.

State game men are available to explain the plan to farmer groups unfamiliar with it. Department, as customary, furnished tickets and boundary, gate and safety zone signs last fall in consideration of farmers opening over 158,000 southern farm acres to controlled hunting.

Basic plan is for farmers on two or more square miles of land, joining together as a group, to determine the maximum number of hunters they desire to permit on their acreage. This number is apportioned among the plan members, who in hunting season issue
two, three or four tickets per day allotted to them. Thus the farmer has the chance to look over those who want to go onto his farm because the hunter must ask for his ticket at the farmhouse and leave his car in the yard.

In the past few years a number of southern farmers have found the Williamston plan a suitable means for permitting some hunting, without inviting trespass frequently incurred by completely banning hunting.

SHORT STORY

Another Good Crop

By James B. Holm

FARM FOLKS are always asking for a square for information and advice on law. Dave Tidwell was no exception.

Dave was a leathery faced man in his sixties. I was attracted by a peach tree on his place, then in full bearing. He gave me a few peaches.

Dave's place didn't look any too prosperous. He spoke of his dilap-dated old car near the barn.

"I guess I'll never have money enough to buy a new one," he said. "Can't make anything on this place now."

I could see he had something else on his mind. Pretty soon he started to ask questions.

"Squire, who does money belong to if it's found hidden in a man's barn?"

"Why, I suppose it would belong to him, unless someone else could prove direct ownership," I told him.

I could see he had something else on his mind. Pretty soon he started to ask questions.

More questions were asked, rather cautiously. At length he said:

"I used to have a hired man named Obie Hart. Don't know if you ever heard of him or not. He's dead now. He was a good fellow."

"When he was a young man, he and his brother Sid lived around here. Obie got engaged to a girl
but she threw him over for Sid.
Obie always hated Sid for that and left home. Never spoke to Sid again.
He came to work for me nearly forty years ago and stayed until my father when he died. I didn't pay him much but he saved his money. He didn't trust banks, either, and he never married."

"A few days later Obie died. The money wasn't quite enough to bury him, but that was all right. I paid the balance. Sure enough, Sid came smooping around, inquiring about Obie's money. I told him what I knew but I guess he didn't believe me. Argued on it and huffed and puffed. Was real ugly about it, too.
He claimed Obie's clothes and watch. Probably his by law anyhow.
I couldn't prove anything different,
could I?"

"Now here a couple of weeks ago I was working in the barn and came across a wad of ten dollar bills stuck away in a mortise slot. Wasn't a great deal. I don't know who put it there. Who does the money belong to?"

"Dave," I said, "I can't advise you, but if it had been me that found it, I wouldn't do any hunting for an owner. It's your barn, isn't it?"

"We looked at each other with the light of understanding between us."

"I don't know if there's any more there or not," said Dave. "As I said, I don't know what Obie did with his money. He must have accumulated quite a little in forty years. He may have done something with it I don't know about, or anyone. Anyhow, he liked to be alone around the barn a great deal."

"Dave," I said, "what people don't know won't hurt them. If I found any money in my barn I would regard it as another good crop. If anyone thought different, it would be up to him to prove his claim."

Dave looked satisfied. "I guess I can trust you, can't I, squire?"

I forgot all about the matter until a year later. Then Dave Tidwell came to my office carrying a half bushel basket of peaches.

"These are some of the peaches
you liked so well, squire," he said.
"I had another nice crop this year.
Matter of fact, all crops were good this year. No charge. My regards."

The look he gave me was a peculiar, knowing one and confidential like.

I looked out my window and saw Dave drive away. He was driving a nice new automobile. It was a make that must have cost twenty-five hundred dollars or more.

FARM FACTS

County
Agricultural Agent

Ed. Reisman, Co. Agr'l Agent

The marsh plow was the topic for discussion at the last regular board meeting of the Charlevoix Soil Conservation District. This
marsh plow was purchased for $375.00 with the assistance of the Charlevoix County State Bank,
the Charlevoix State Savings Bank, the State Bank of East Jordan and the Boysie City Branch Bank. The banks purchased the plow for the district and they are to be reimbursed with the earnings from the use of the marsh plow.

The board of directors set a very nominal charge of 75cents a hour for the use of this marsh plow. The purpose for this low charge was so that all farmers who had land that needed a marsh plow or a land breaker plow could get the use of this tool. The plow was not used too much during 1951 and may not be used too much during this year due to the excessive moisture which makes many low lands impossible to work.

The problem for discussion at the last board meeting was that some farmers had a little breakage on the marsh plow. There were two possibilities that the board could do. One was to leave the charge at the low rate of 75 cents per hour and have the farmers who use the marsh plow and break it stand the repairs. The other possibility was to increase the rental charge for the marsh plow and have the district stand the repairs. After careful consideration, Clayton Healey of East Jordan made a motion, supported by Bob Straw of Charlevoix, that farmers who use the marsh plow must stand the breakage and that they would leave the charge at 75 cents per hour. This motion carried.

Farmers who are interested in using this plow may contact any one of the directors, Clayton Healey and Harold Goebel of East Jordan, Bob Straw and Clyde
Warner of Charlevoix, Norval
Korthase of Boysie City, or Bill
Grimm, farm planner or Ed Reisman, county agricultural agent.

WEEKLY EATING CLUB

By Jim Barstow

At Our Tourist Park

It's even been hot in the park these days, generally it is cool here if anywhere.

We had to say so-long to the Keath Carstens, and mother, Mrs. Willia Carstens on Wednesday for at least this year. They returned to Grosse Pointe, where they both are teachers, on their way they visited their son and daughter at Shelby, who are Junior councilors at a youth camp.

Ralph Green, and F. C. Drouillard of Detroit who are connected with the Apex Oil Co. returned to the park for their second visit on Tuesday.

Wednesday Eve a group consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Roehm, of Utica, and their daughter, Mrs. Margery Randall and son Neil of Rochester came into the park for a picnic dinner. This is their first visit to this corner of Michigan, and seemed well pleased with what they saw. They were on their way from Lewiston home, so they really came out of their way to pay us a call.

Due to some of the park ladies visiting in Wis. Mrs. Earl Barge felt sort of sorry for the bachelors and entertained them to a home-cooked meal in one of the kitchens.

A family group had a picnic dinner on Sunday, those here were Mr. and Mrs. Steve Somerville and daughter Autumn, of Central Lake, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dawson and sons of Royal Oak.

The Ellsworth Extension group met for a co-operative dinner in the park on Tuesday Evening.

We welcome back to the park Mr. and Mrs. Millard Wagner of Flat Rock. They spent some time earlier in the season here, but left to attend the T.C.T. Convention at Traverse City, then on to Mackinac City for awhile before coming back here to round out the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Rickard Sr., returned to their trailer from their home in Detroit, their son, Norman Jr. and family occupied the trailer for a week and returned to Detroit on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lows of Detroit are spending their vacation here.

Tenting in the park for a few days are Mr. and Mrs. Orley Hulberger of Lake Odessa, and Mr. and Mrs. Rex Wickham of Clarksville.

The dining room was quite a lively place this Friday Eve. when several families gathered for a co-operative dinner. Those attending were Mr. John Drenth, Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Drenth and family, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Drenth, and family, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Essenberg, and family, Miss Betty Drenth and friend Bud Klooster, all of Ellsworth, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Boes, and family of Muskegon, Mr. and Mrs. John Van Straten of Grand Rapids, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Drenth and family of East Jordan.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Martin, son David and sister Carol June Ward, have concluded their two weeks vacation, and returned to their homes at Belding, Saturday.

Another family leaving our park on Saturday was Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Stewart and son Danny. They plan to be in Kalkaska for awhile as Mr. Stewart is working with the Superior Electric Co. and that is nearer his work.

The Stewarts have been in the park since it opened this summer. Mrs. Harold Whiteford and Gary are entertaining another brother of hers from Flint, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Harrod, and four sons. This makes two brothers and two sisters and their families all from Flint tenting in a group in the park.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Pierson returned to the park from their home in Sparta Sunday.

We are sorry the Bert Putnams have been unable to be here so far this year, due to the poor health of Mrs. Putnam. It just doesn't seem right without them as they started spending their summers here about nineteen years ago. We certainly do hope her health improves quickly.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Strobel and children, Marcia and Martin of Dearborn came in for a two weeks vacation. Mr. Strobel had to return to his work Sunday, but plans to re-join his family here again next week.

E. N. Arntson of Lansing spent a couple of days in his trailer here, and did some fishing.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stephen and son David of Flint are spending a week visiting her parents, the Jess Robinson.

The East Jordan tourist park was the happy meeting place when the relatives from the east met the relatives from the west for a picnic dinner Sunday. Those from the east were Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Wagner, and Mrs. Wagner's mother, Mrs. Ella C. Shaw, all of Richmond Hill, N.Y., those from the west were Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Shaw and son Richard of Lincoln, Nebraska, also present were cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford J. Mizer of Mancelona. Mrs. Shaw was formerly Miss Ella Troyer, and lived between Mancelona and Bellaire during her girlhood, and is enjoying her return visit here. Mrs. Wagner and Mr. Shaw are her daughter and son, the group plan to spend a week in this vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Sholten and son Gail of Sparta arrived in our park Saturday. Mr. Sholten returned to his work while his wife and son remained during the hay fever season.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rickard and children of Flint have concluded their vacation, and returned to their home Monday, while here they occupied one of Miller's cabins.

Our newly married couple Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Walker is another one of the group leaving for Kalkaska to be nearer his work with the Electric Co.

Mr. Carl Koch spent the weekend at his home in Hart, he returned Sunday bringing his wife and son Donnie for the remainder of their stay here. He is also connected with the Electric Co. We are all glad to see that Mr. and Mrs. Dan Edwards of Newago and Bradenton, Fla. were able to be with us again this summer. Both the Mr. and Mrs. have been in poor health, and we feared they would be unable to make the trip. They were accompanied here by their son and daughter-in-law of Newage.

Tenting in the park for a few days and doing some fishing are Harry Gorter, and Milton Lamberts, both of Grand Rapids.

Well, black-berry time is here again, and folks of the park are taking advantage of it. Some days it looks like there might be a hard-times party some where, and most of us were going to it by the way some look.

Atomic Engine To Run 10 Years On Little Fuel

RALEIGH, N.C. — North Carolina State College plans to run its new atomic reactor for 10 years on four gallons of a green-yellow liquid fuel that is about as heavy as ginger ale.

Even at the end of 10 years of non-stop operations this wonderful four gallons still will be good, but will have to be purified of the new atoms which will have been created by splitting of uranium. Maybe a pint of fresh fuel will have to be added to run it another 10 years.

All the time there will be no smoke, no fumes, no sound except a slight bubbling noise made by the liquid just starting to boil. It will never reach real boiling.

Safest Engine Built
It is probably the safest engine ever built, certainly about the coolest. It won't get hot enough even to start a fire. It can't explode—by atomic, by radioactive, or by any other internal force. Lightning can't explode it, even an earthquake cannot wreck it sufficiently to create a hazard beyond some escaping radioactivity that can be avoided completely by keeping a short distance away.

The reactor will be about the size of a two-car garage. Even if a saboteur were to blow it sky-high, the only risk, barring falling bits of concrete or metal, would be scattered radioactive fragments.

The greatest risk probably would be the souvenir-hunter who put a piece in his pocket and leaves it there a long time.

Construction is expected to be completed this year, along with a building and laboratory. The public will be permitted to look at this reactor, close-up, through a window which is really a goldfish bowl: Plate-glass sides with eight inches of water between.

The atomic engine is a cylinder of stainless steel, one foot in diameter, containing the green-yellow liquid. That is all. There isn't anything else, except the shields of lead, graphite and concrete and pipes for cooling and some rods which start, stop and control the heat and splitting.

New to Education
The little steel cylinder does it all alone. Its atoms split, the splitting creates heat and, along with the heat, neutrons go flying away at speeds of 10,000 miles a second.

The liquid is purified uranium 235. About 80 per cent of the liquid is this bare uranium.

This reactor is the start of something new in education—four-year undergraduate courses in nuclear engineering, plus courses looking forward to graduate degrees. The purpose is to educate professional experts for atomic age.

Already 60 students have started the course. Half are air force officers, a sign that American military planes may be expected to take to the air and stay aloft for weeks, if they wish, flying on atomic power. The others are university students of all classes, including candidates for master's degrees.

The plan is to graduate men and women with nuclear degrees, but who have well rounded training also in the humanities and the engineering sciences. They can, if they choose, graduate in ordinary engineering, but they will have the additional atomic training. The nuclear part of their courses will take 11 per cent of the time.

Truman Shies at Elephant Gift from Eastern Kingdom
WASHINGTON, D.C. — President Truman has many troubles, and not the least is the gifts people send him. The latest problem is a sacred elephant that the tiny kingdom of Cambodia offered.

Mr. Truman has no place to keep the animal and the Washington Zoo already has enough elephants. So, the U.S. has cautiously suggested that it might be better for Cambodia to send a tiger. The zop could use one.

The tiger-or-the-elephant problem is one of the first to arise between the U.S. and the Kingdom of Cambodia, which was part of Indo-China until a year ago.

President Lincoln dealt with a similar embarrassing elephant problem back in 1862 in a letter to the King of Siam, politely refusing a herd of elephants.

Saleswoman Halts Runaway Truck at Busy Crossing
TAWUCKET, R. I. — Miss Theresa Sullivan, 23, a saleswoman, leaped aboard a driverless runaway truck, stamped hard on the brake, and halted its downhill course barely 10 feet from the busy Main Street.

Afterwards the attractive brunette couldn't account for her deed. "Why did I do it? I don't know," she said. "I just did it. And I'm still shaking."

Miss Sullivan was returning to her job behind a hosiery counter, walking down hill, when she saw the truck rolling along beside her without a driver.

Witnesses said the girl leaped on the running board, seized the wheel, slid into the driver's seat, and jumped down, the brake pedal.

MEET THE NIXONS

They're an amazed—and amazing couple. Meet Republican Vice-Presidential Candidate Richard M. Nixon and his attractive wife, Patricia. As the speaker of the evening sat at the banquet table, during his introduction, he coughed and dislodged his upper plate. It fell to the floor and broke.

A guest at his side realized the man's plight, dug into his pocket and came up with a set. They were too big. The helpful guest supplied another set. They were too small. The third set fit.

TIPS ON FREEZING GIVEN HOMEMAKERS

Freezing does not improve foods. But through freezing a greater amount of original flavor and color can be retained than through any other method of preservation, according to Dr. Pauline Paul of the Michigan State College foods and nutrition department.

Original food value is well retained by freezing, too. And it is interesting to note that greater loss of minerals and vitamins comes from careless handling than from frozen storage, Dr. Paul advised.

In considering what products to freeze, a good rule of thumb is that fruits and vegetables which are usually canned will freeze satisfactorily. Meats, poultry, fish and eggs may also be preserved by freezing. There are exceptions, of course—foods eaten raw like lettuce, celery, onions, cucumbers and radishes do not freeze well. Tomatoes and pears are not practical freezing products, nor are high starch content foods such as potatoes, rice and macaroni.

In general, freeze only the best—firm, well-ripened fruits and fresh, tender vegetables. Meats must be high in quality and handled properly from the time of slaughtering to freezing, Dr. Paul warned.

Field and tree-ripened fruits have the richest color and flavor for frozen storage. The fruit should be firm-ripe and freshly picked. In sorting and washing the fruit, take care to prevent bruising. Drain well after washing and pack in moisture-vapor-proof containers, dry or with sugar or sirup, depending upon the fruit. Sugar and sirup help preserve color and flavor, as well as prolong the storage time of the fruit.

For more information, ask for the Michigan State College bulletin "Freezing Foods for Michigan Homes." Your home demonstration agent has copies.

Little Helen Louise, three months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Scott received a fractured skull in a runaway accident Saturday and is still in a critical condition. A single horse and buggy belonging to Delbert Hale was standing in front of Clarence Bowman's residence on Main street; an automobile came, frightening the horse who bolted. In front of Mr. Love's residence was a baby cab containing the little girl in charge was the young brother, Robert. The horse and buggy collided with the cab, overturning it and throwing the infant to the pavement, striking on the back of its head, fracturing the skull and rendering her unconscious. She was rushed to a physicians office and revived, but it is still a question if the little one will survive the injury.

Are Michigan's "independent voters" too independent for their own good?

At least one political stalwart thinks so and that feeling is growing in circles interested in good government on a non-partisan basis.

"People have crossed party lines so often to 'vote for the man instead of the party' that we are losing our characteristic form of American government," he says. He doesn't want his name used but he would be considered quite an expert by any observer.

Because of that habit we've had a Democratic Governor and a Republican Legislature in Michigan these past years—and everyone knows the situation isn't healthy.

"There has often been so much political sniping that neither the executive nor the legislative branches have been willing or able to settle down to business. At best, the fact they didn't see eye-to-eye on basic issues has made cooperation difficult and short-lived.

"We've seen the disastrous results on national levels when Herbert Hoover could get no sorely needed legislation from a Democratic Congress. And four years ago when Harry Truman had a GOP Congress, Capitol Hill and the White House worked at cross purposes," he cites.

What's the answer? Party discipline, says the commentator.

"Parties should have well-defined platforms and stick to them. Each member of that party should support those basic principles under penalty of being read out of the party. It works in England; it'd work here."

This man, incidentally, like the typical Midwestern manufacturer and politician that he is, doesn't admire England to a fault. He's probably inclined a little the other way but he does concede good points in their political system.

"If we had that party discipline we wouldn't have such splits as the Dixiecrats and the Northern Liberals in the Democratic party or the isolation-internationalism or conservative-liberal wings in the GOP," he believes.

"The voter would have to be trained, too, to realize that he gets a better government (and usually a more efficient and economical one) if there is party harmony between the executive and the legislature.

"If the voters were assured that all members of one party were strictly obligated to carry out its platform, there wouldn't be the need to cross party lines to elect the individual he favors personally."

On a national level this would probably mean an eventual realignment of political parties as we know them. He believes that a more clear-cut distinction would then be made between the conservative and liberal elements in the country no matter what political label they now bear.

"That would get us back to the traditional two-party system where the entire state or national government—executive and legislative—would be voted in or out of office as a body."

On the Michigan level, the change wouldn't be so marked, he believes, because party platforms have never figured so prominently in campaigns.

There are plenty of issues in Michigan.

Right now the corporation profits tax that Governor Williams has long espoused is indicative of the basic differences of Democratic and Republican views on taxation.

Reapportionment of the Legislature—coming up for an electoral decision in the Constitutional amendment ballot in November—is another that goes down to the most elemental philosophy of government.

That question is—phrased as simply as possible and therefore not entirely adequate—shall the Legislature be made up solely on a population basis or shall it be so divided that no one geographical area dominates State government?

But with such a personality expert as Gov. Williams running against Fred M. Alger, himself no mean shakes as a call-em-by-their-first-name-er, it's pretty safe to bet an inflated dime that the 1952 elections will find most voters more interested in State personalities than in platforms.

The Prohibition Party will be on the Michigan ballot this Fall.

Although for the record, they maintain they're in the race to win, few of its own members are as naive as to believe that they can actually out-poll the two major parties.

But the Prohibition Party may play a more important role this year than it has since the days of Prohibition.

The reason is pure mathematics.

The "experts" around the Capitol—real or self-styled—think that there will be about 12,000 voters roughly classified as "Prohibition party voters". This 12,000 might well be the decisive margin in as closely a fought campaign as this one already shapes up to be.

If they vote for the Prohibition Party, which of the major parties is going to lose those votes? If individuals switch, which party will gain those votes?

Republican leaders, knowing the Prohibitionists are conservative people, hope the individual voters in the small party will hesitate to waste a ballot for a candidate that can't possible win.

Then, the GOP is sure, they'll find the Republican party appeals to their conservatism and add at least the major portion of that 12,000 to the GOP totals.

Intuition is that gift which enables a woman to arrive instantly at an infallible and irrevocable decision, without the aid of reason, judgement or discussion.

New "Early Red" raspberry lengthens season, boosts yield

A new red raspberry variety, named "Early Red," has been developed at Michigan State College's South Haven Experiment Station, after 20 years of breeding and testing. The "Early Red" starts producing berries early in the season when the crop is small and prices are usually higher. Plants are upright, tall, vigorous, hardy and very productive. The berries have good flavor and a long ripening season. They withstand canning without crumbling and freeze as well as Latham raspberries. For more information, call your County Agricultural Agent.

"Daddy Longlegs" guards the nation

This curious-looking device is a "thermistor." It's a speck of metallic oxide imbedded in a glass bead half the size of a grain of rice (or smaller). The bead thermistor controls and measures the flow of electric current in radar sets used to guard the nation's defenses. It's also used in telephone equipment. Developed by Bell Telephone Laboratories and made by Western Electric Company, the bead thermistor is an example of the precision accuracy which has helped give America the finest telephone service in the world.

The Servicemen's Letter

Hi Fellas:
We have the address of two more overseas men this week. They are Bob Farmer, who has evidently reached Japan safely, and Claude McGeorge, who is new to this letter but assuming by his address is not new by far to the army.

Bob Farmers address is A/3c Robert C. Farmer, AF 16 379 489, Prov Sqd 1583, APO 959, c/o PM, San Francisco, Calif. I have no other news about Bob. Perhaps there has not been time for much news to come over from there.

Claude McGeorge is somewhat of a newcomer to East Jordan as well as to this letter. His family originally lived in Boyne City but a few years ago they moved to Route 2 out of East Jordan. Claude is a step brother to Dewey Laisure who was over in Germany with me during the last fracas. Claudes address is Pvt Claude McGeorge, US 55 224 492, Co A, 23 RCT, 2nd Inf Div, APO 248, C/o PM, San Francisco, California. Aside from knowing that the 2nd Division is on the Western front in Korea we don't know just where you are, Claude. Will you write me a note when you get this paper and let us all in on what is happening—to you over there?

Leo Danforth left Fort Riley on July 7th and up until this week we did not have a correct address for him. However, this week someone brought in his new address and we can now send him the paper. His address is Pvt Leo G. Danforth, RA 16 405 487.

Processing Co, TSESS, Camp Gordon, Georgia. Judging from the sound of that address you are still waiting around for an assignment. Is that correct, Leo?

Pvt Donald W. Danforth down in Fort Riley, Kansas has a small change in his address. Just add WC 31 to his original Sv Btry. 35th FA n, 10th Inf Div and you will have it.

There's a picture of a mighty handsome looking soldier looking at me from the top of my notes just now. Fort Knox sent along a little news item about Don Trojaneck who has just finished his basic there a short time past and with it they sent a very good photo of Don. Here's the way the news item goes. "Pvt Donald L. Trojaneck has completed Army basic training conducted by the 3rd Armored Division here. During his sixteen weeks of intensive training he attended classes on General Military Subjects and had practical work in the many combat skills. He also learned to fire the basic Army weapons, the M-1 rifle, carbine, mortar, .45 pistol and light machine gun. As a prospective infantry rifleman he received special training in scouting and patrolling and squad, platoon and rifle company tactics. He entered the Army on February 27, 1952."

Some men are on the way overseas and others have finished their hitch over there and are on their way home. Sam Bricker is expecting to pull out for home at any time and sent along a stop order for his paper. His letter follows: "Here it is Sunday and they gave us the day off seeing we are in training. We have been replaced by the second division on the western front and now we have moved to the central eastern sector and are in corps reserve training the new boys that have come in. The Division will have better than a 75% turn over by the middle of September. There shouldn't be any old men left in the division at all as just about everybody will be out on E.T.S. and points. Maybe you have seen Jerry McKenny and Wayne Flora by now as they should be home about the time you receive this unless they get held up some place. We were hoping to all go home together but it didn't quite work out that way. Jerry and Wayne went out on points and I will get out of here on E.T.S."

We had quite a little rain here last week. It rained 12 inches in 5 days of steady raining. It really raised heck with the roads, washing them out in places left cliff slides across the roads. The new men are going through basic again. I guess though you never get over that."

Guess I'll have to thank Sam for that letter when he gets home.

Here are two news letters from Lackland AFB in Texas which are worded just like so I'm going to combine them in one. "Airman Stanley Antoine and Airman William A. Streeter are completing their AF basic airman indoctrination course at Lackland, Air Force Base, the "Gateway to the Air Force. Lackland, situation near San Antonio, is the world's largest air force base, site of Air Force basic training for men and women, headquarters of the Human Resource Research Center, and home of AF's Officer Candidate School. Their basic training is preparing them for entrance into Air Force technical training and for assignment in specialized work. The course includes a scientific evaluation of their aptitude and inclination for following a particular vocation and career."

Jim Raymond and Dave Valance left for Detroit today to take their physicals for enlistment in the Air Force. We'll let you know next week how they came out.

Here's a letter from Everett Vermillion in which he states his plans were changed somewhat. "Just got back from my leave a while back so will drop you a few lines to give you the news. I didn't get married while on leave. My wife to be was taken ill so now we are going to wait until I'm out of the Army."

"The Army sure keeps us on the go. We are working on radiological warfare now. It's sure interesting work."

"I'm going to try to get up to E. J. this month on a three day pass. I can make it in about 10 hours in my Ford. Say, do you know Jack Bennetts address. I would like to write him." Say Everett, I think that Jack has been discharged. His folks told me some time ago that there was no use starting to send him the paper again as he was being discharged soon. That's the last I heard about Jack."

A letter from Howard Stanek informs us that he is going to be moved much closer to home. He writes. "Well, I guess it's about time I was dropping you a few lines. How is everything back in East Jordan? It's pretty hot down here."

"I'm not on the boats any more. But I'm still in the boat section. I'm an engineer. I'm supposed to go to school for engineer training. The school is at Great Lakes Navy Station and is supposed to start the 8th of September. So I'll be a little closer to home for awhile. The school will be 14 weeks and then I'm planning on taking a furlough before coming back down here to the island again. So I may be home for Christmas. I hope so."

Thanks for the letter, Howard. Let me know your unit number when you get to Great Lakes."

Last but not least it this letter concerning Bruce Bolser which I believe is slightly late in both dispatch from Great Lakes and in arrival here. It reads, "Bruce E. Bolser, Seaman, USN is serving aboard the destroyer USS James C. Owens, which is on its way around the world with three other destroyers after a tour of duty in Korean waters. The Owens recently visited Singapore where her crew took bicycle-powered rickshaws to see the city's sights. One of the more interesting sights was a visit to a Buddha Temple in which the story of the Buddhist religion was told in a series of figurines. The destroyer next visited the Royal Botanic Gardens at Peradeniya, Ceylon. The gardens represent 125 years of labor in collecting and classifying tropical plants from all over the world."

"The Owens will complete its world cruise, which began last January, at Norfolk, Virginia this August."

Well, this is August 18th so the chances are that Bruce is now in Norfolk. Don Dixon and Bud Cummings, be on the lookout for the Owens and you'll find Bruce on her somewhere. His address doesn't give a division. So Long until next week, men. "Jake" Snyder.

Livestock Losses By Poor Hauling Can Be Reduced

Bruising, crippling and killing livestock by careless loading is costly and can be avoided, says Charles J. Little, Michigan State College extension livestock specialist.

Marketing time and show time are two dangerous periods. Even though some animals are insured, the loss is still great. Here are some suggestions that Little says will help reduce livestock handling losses.

Remove nails, wire, splinters and broken boards from hauling racks. Use a smooth loading chute that is not too steep. Bed trucks with sand or other material that will keep the animals from slipping.

Partition loads of animals of different sizes to prevent injury to the smaller ones. Load slowly to prevent crowding against sharp corners and to avoid excitement. Little warns against beating animals into the truck, since this will bruise animals.

The MSC livestock specialist also advises covering the truck to protect the animals during bad weather. Drive carefully, inspect the load enroute and unload slowly. These suggestions will help cut losses and increase pounds of meat that reach the market.

Magic Material, Jack-of-Trades Is Little Known

What is it that fire-protects the home, was used in the construction of the pyramids of ancient Egypt, helped keep Roman contractors out of jail, makes your glass of beer more enjoyable, is important in the manufacture of aircraft, has its part in the sale of women's wearing apparel, greets you every morning in your toothpaste and has a thousand other uses?

What is this substance that stares at you from the walls of your home and office, helps you recover from a broken leg and is used by farmers to condition the soil?

What is this magic material that was putty in the hands of Michelangelo, that has its own sprinkler system and helps make American dentistry the best in the world? No, it's not the "Thing."

It's just common, ordinary CaSO₄·2H₂O, or, to put that in English: it's hydrous calcium sulphate.

Simple Definition
Of course, we could come down to earth and tell you it is just plain "gypsum," but it's an amazing thing nine out of ten men and women on the street will come back with the question, "What's gypsum?" despite the fact that practically everyone comes in contact with gypsum in some form or another throughout the day.

Gypsum is a mineral; it's a rock. It is one of the earth's most plentiful natural resources. In its natural state it is about one-fifth water by weight. This is not free water, rather, it is water in chemical combination.

It is the water-chemical content that makes gypsum one of nature's most amazing substances.

The gypsum rock, which is mined and/or quarried, releases about three-quarters of its water content when it is calcined, or heated. The residue is a powdery, white substance, which has a great affinity for water.

When the plaster powder, plus water, sets, the substance again becomes rock gypsum—the same material that was taken from the earth. But now it is in the shape to which it was molded in its plastic state.

Nothing New
Builders, sculptors and surgeons have known about gypsum for years and years. The latter call gypsum, processed for their purposes, "Plaster of Paris." The name derives from the fact that the city of Paris, in France, is built over gypsum deposits.

Historians report that the Assyrians, 6,000 years ago, used gypsum as a fire protection. They recall that the body of King Tut was encased in gypsum plaster. Minoes, semi-legendary king of ancient Crete, is said to have had a throne of pure white gypsum. Egyptian building genius which conceived the Great Pyramids also employed gypsum mortar to bed the blocks and gypsum plaster to cover the interior. Today, after more than forty-five centuries the plaster is still evident.

The Bible, in the book of Leviticus, tells of a law which required that all houses where leprosy existed be completely replastered with gypsum. Roman legislation, at the height of the Empire's glory, insisted that the magic mineral be employed in the fire-proofing of dwellings. Contractors who failed in the requirement were liable for fine, imprisonment or the death penalty, depending on the fire damage to life and property.

Army Water Supply Units Keep Troop Supply Fresh

The water supply units of the United States Army's Eighth Engineer Battalion in Korea, have purified nearly 60,000,000 gallons of water. The units convert contaminated Korean river water into safe drinking water for use by 1st Cavalry Division combatants.

Before the units can begin to function, small reconnaissance patrols locate suitable riverside pumping points; usually about 2,000 yards from the frontlines. The points selected must be protected from enemy artillery fire and accessible to regimental water trucks using the main roads.

It takes approximately 45 minutes to process one cycle of water after the unit is put into operation. The processing, which includes filtering, cleansing, and purification involves the use of assorted chemicals and three separate water tanks in which water is pumped from the river. Thus far, there has been no evidence that the enemy is poisoning water but, as an added precaution, water points are placed at flowing streams because such water is less likely to be affected by poison.

The fifteen 3,000 gallon tanks used in the operation could theoretically turn out 60,000 gallons of water in one 20-hour period.

Angler Who Flashed Banks Seen Is Hotted by FBI

NEW YORK, N.Y.—The FBI recently announced the capture of a unique angler who fished not for fishes, but for greenbacks, behind teller's windows in banks. The "fisherman", Peter Hanson, 51, was captured with one of his favorite tools—a paper-covered ruler with a wad of oiled gum on one end.

Agent Edward Scheidt said the angler "poached" on a bank in Kansas City and one in Weehawken, N.J., by flashing through the teller's window. Fingerprints on a rod he left behind in the Kansas City bank led to his capture.

Asiatic Religious Belief Fostered 'White Elephant'

An ancient Asiatic religious belief, a financially embarrassed king, and an animal's liquor bill, were responsible for bringing to our civilization the term "white elephant" which has come to mean any regrettable and unprofitable possession.

Research experts with the World Book Encyclopedia, examining the customs of mankind, have discovered that in Siam a white elephant was considered to possess the soul of a dead god. Therefore when a white elephant was captured, it immediately became the sacred property of the king—and was baptized, worshipped, and finally buried and mourned like a human being. One King of Siam gave the white elephant saying its probable start when he initiated the custom of giving the elephant to any member of his court who had displeased him. The elephant-god could do no work, could not be ridden, and the huge cost of his upkeep soon meant financial ruin to his new owner.

A British King, Charles the First, in 1629, had the misfortune to receive a white elephant as a gift from Siam. Unfortunately, Charles was financially embarrassed, due to an un-cooperative Parliament, and even considered selling the crown jewels to raise funds. The cost of keeping the elephant was so high that the King and Queen had to give up their customary vacation at Bath. The record regarding the elephant's maintenance makes note of the fact that "from the month of September until April, he must drink, not water but wine, and from April unto September he must have a gallon of wine a day."

It is believed that this old occurrence firmly implanted the saying "white elephant" in the English language.

Manhole Cover Blows Top; Man Files Through Air

JANESVILLE, Wis.—There are many stories about people who fell through manhole covers, but Towald Hovland, 79, of this city, is perhaps the first to have one explode beneath his feet.

Hovland had the misfortune to be standing on a downtown manhole cover when a sewer blew its top. He was tossed into the air and came to rest about four feet away. For no explained reason the cover had suddenly lifted into the air in an unexplained explosion followed by a burst of flame. Hovland and eight others waiting for a bus on the street corner, were taken to a doctor's office and treated for minor burns.

Power and light officials said that the blast could have resulted from a broken gas main or from sewer gas.

Village Votes Two Times On Building New School

MIDDLEVILLE, Mich.—For the second time within a month the people of Middleville voted against a $158,000 bond issue to construct a new five room elementary school building.

The second special election was called as a result of being petitioned by residents who expressed the belief it would result in a favorable vote because they thought many people misunderstood the issues in the first election.

The bond proposal was defeated by a vote of 423 to 241.

The big question in the election that may have caused the negative vote concerned the location of the school. Many wanted it built in a new location, while others wanted it on property adjacent to the present school.

Those who advocated a new location did so because they believed little children of the village should not be forced to walk at least a mile to their school across a dangerous railroad crossing, a more dangerous bridge and a still more dangerous state highway.

The school problem, which has had the community in an uproar for almost two months, may come up for another vote. Those who advocated the construction of the school on property adjacent to the present school may petition for a vote.

War-Casualty Pen Is Returned; No Thanks

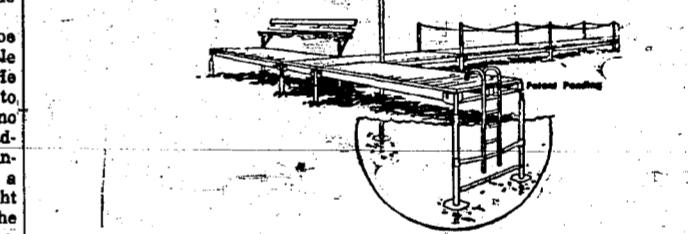

FORT MADISON, Iowa—It's a long way from the South Pacific to the little town of Fort Madison on the banks of the Mississippi, but a fountain pen that was "missing and presumed lost" in action five years ago has just made that trip and rejoined its owner.

It came to the home office of the Sheaffer pen company, sent in by a man who wanted it repaired per the guarantee under which, he said, he had "bought" it. The pen was brought to the attention of Bud Covington for two reasons: One, it had Bud's name printed on it; Two, Covington is inspection foreman for the repair department.

So the pen was repaired but it still stayed here, also for two reasons: One, it was Bud's pen to begin with; Two, the man who sent it in was one of Bud's shipmates on the USS Tolland in Pacific waters at the time the pen was "lost". Apparently he didn't know Bud had such a "strategic" position in the pen business.

OUTBOARD BOOM
In the last ten years the sale of outboard motors has more than doubled in this country—and the curve is still going up. Despite current high production costs models are hard to get and one begins to wonder where all these compact little power plants are going.

Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin supply just about one third of the answer. These three states bordering on the Great Lakes, and each with thousands of inland lakes, absorb more than 30% of the industry's total output of about a half million units annually.

You can get outboards in a dozen well-known makes in just about any size or power rating you want, to drive anything from a little 1-man 8-foot car-top boat to a full-sized cabin cruiser. And they'll do a good job. Nevertheless they've made a lot of enemies here and there, mostly thru no fault of their own.

The Buzz Boys
On quiet inland lakes of modest size there'll always be one or two maniac hot-rod pilots who have a knack for picking the wrong time and place to "open her up," dart in and out among fishermen, or swoop close to shore right in front of a cottage owned by an elderly couple who came to the lake for a quiet rest. These buzz boys are ruining the reputations of a lot of outboard motors that actually lead a model life. The conscientious and careful owners avoid such indiscretions. They know that these little gasoline engines turning up 4,000 revolutions per minute can kick up quite a fuss at full throttle. So they hold her down a bit. It's early in the morning or late evening they'll be especially careful in due respect to the neighbors. And they'll avoid fishermen.

Fish Not Bothered
The outboard motor industry got together and conducted a survey to find out what effect their product had on fish. In a hatchery pond where bluegills were being spawned in preparation for spawning an outboard-powered boat went round and round right over the spawning area. The bluegills may have become nervous wrecks, but they stayed right on the nest in spite of the noise and churning waters above. In another test a boat anchored and fished every day in a certain spot. Every other day an outboard motor boat buzzed back and forth past the fishing boat all day long. Careful figures were kept on the days when the outboard wasn't operating and the days when it was. There was no perceptible difference in the catch. The survey didn't report the effect on the fishermen, however. They might have wished for a shotgun!

So, if you own an outboard let the golden rule apply there as elsewhere!

BEER
AMERICA'S BEVERAGE OF MODERATION

The American Way

The words "Michigan" and "fishing" are practically synonymous at this time of the year. And after a day's fishing, it's the "American Way" to enjoy a glass of cool, refreshing Michigan brewed beer.

For beer belongs... to pleasant living, to good fellowship, to sensible moderation. And our right to enjoy it, this too, belongs... to our own American heritage of personal freedom. Beer Belongs... Enjoy It!

4-H Dairy Clubs At Our Fair

ABOUT 70 MEMBERS TO ENTER EXHIBITS

There will be six 4-H dairy clubs represented at the Charlevoix county fair which will be held September 2 to 6 at East Jordan, Ed Rehman, county agricultural agent said today. These 4-H dairy clubs have about 70 members and it is expected that all of them will enter their dairy animals in the fair.

The leaders of these dairy clubs are as follows: Lawrence Elzinga, Douglas Knudsen, and Archie Murphy of East Jordan; Leonard Lick and Ann Pearsall of Boyne City; and Dick Smith of Charlevoix.

The 4-H dairy club members must start week before the fair in order that their animals will be ready for the show. Feeding the animal is only part of the job. Grooming and training the animal to lead are very important. This is more so in the 4-H dairy project than in the open class exhibitors. The 4-H awards are not based on the animal itself but rather on the ability of the 4-H member to handle the animal. They must be able to lead it when the judge requests them to do so; they must be able to make it stand whenever necessary and the animal must be fitted properly for the show.

Entry day for the 4-H animals and for all other exhibits is Tuesday, September 2. Judging of these dairy animals will take place Wednesday morning starting about 9:00 a.m. It is hoped that Jason Shinn of Bellaire will again be the judge. It is always quite a show at the judging ring. After Mr. Shinn places the animals he does a very good job explaining why a certain group are 'A' animals, while others are 'B' or 'C' animals.

Man Has Own Funeral, Records it for Future

BURLINGTON, Col.—The town of Burlington received nation-wide publicity recently when J. N. Gerhardt, 75, onetime rancher and storekeeper, conducted his own funeral. The community of 1800 took in the show, but many of them expressed themselves as unhappy about the publicity.

It was no easy matter for Gerhardt to conduct his funeral. The school board would not allow him to pack the overflow crowd of more than 1,000 into the local armory. (Burlington has a population of 4,800.) A scheduled singer backed out so he played records. Several ministers turned him down before the Rev. S. H. Mahaffey of Kanorado, Kas., agreed to conduct the services, in which he said:

"Pray for this brother of ours, that he will somehow draw closer to God in the years left to him and that he will think plently of death and the resurrection."

Gerhardt, doubling as corpse, chief mourner and stage manager, served a dinner he cooked himself for the press and others. Then he rode to the services on the front seat of the hearse. He went home the same way. The casket was stored in his basement.

The entire service was recorded on tape to be replayed after his death. But the services will not be in Burlington, much to the relief of many of the home towners. Miffed at the opposition he says he encountered in his planning, Gerhardt has directed that he be buried at Goodland.

"I wouldn't be caught dead here," he declared.

Then suddenly several days later it reappeared on his desk.

Investigation revealed that the Ogden chief, Maurice Schooff, and Ogden's chief of detectives, William Milligan, had made a hurried trip to Salt Lake City with a hat bag during the dark of night.

The Deer Problem

Shooting "any deer" during the last three days of the deer season in northern counties of the lower peninsula can help to save the herd's future winter food supply, according to Gerald E. Eddy, state conservation director.

"Most important benefit of conservation commission action in opening the entire north half of the lower peninsula to the taking of any deer during a three-day period next November can be the arresting of further damage to the deer range," Eddy says.

"The deer herd won't be injured by the removal of excess does and fawns," he adds.

"The herd's winter food supply has been deteriorating steadily in many parts of the country for more than 20 years," Eddy points out. "The situation can't be corrected in one year, or two, or three. But a start will be made in the approaching special season."

"A most hopeful development is the public's increased interest in, and understanding of, Michigan's deer problem. The conservation commission, with an open mind, listened to anyone who had an idea to contribute before determining how it would use the authority to manage the deer herd that was given it by the legislature during the last regular session.

"Support of the commission's decision by legislative leaders as well as by organized sportsmen, is gratifying."

Eddy says that his department will step up its efforts to provide more natural food for deer both on the public lands it manages and in co-operation with private land holders, recognizing that deer hunters' interests and a sound forest economy must be balanced.

AUCTION SALE CANCELED

Owing to the entire listings being sold at private sale, the Auction Sale, advertised last week by Mrs. Clyde Evans, for Aug. 23, is cancelled.

An icy voice cut into an uninhibited telephone conversation. "Do you know whom you are addressing?"

"No," said the sergeant.

"Well, this is Major Throckmorton."

"Major," said the sergeant, "do you know whom you are addressing?"

"NO!" thundered the major.

"Thank God!" said the sergeant and hung up.

"Keep In Line Don't Cut In"

State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler today made a second appeal to all motorists to cooperate with the State Safety Commission's safety campaign "Don't Cross the Yellow Line" and "Keep in Line, Don't Cut In."

"The trouble with passing," Commissioner Ziegler said, "is that on many two-lane highways and on many city streets you have to get on the wrong side of the roadway to do it. You may be facing on-coming traffic and not be able to get back to the right side in time.

"In some places," he continued, "a hill or a curve will make it impossible for you to see on-coming traffic. At such places the State Highway Department has placed yellow lines. These are

'signs of life.' The life they save may be your own. So don't cross the yellow line."

Pointing to the disastrous effect of a head-on collision, the Commissioner listed other things to watch out for when attempting to pass a car ahead:

- (1) Don't pass at an intersection because a cross traffic vehicle or a pedestrian may be hidden by the car you are trying to pass.
- (2) Watch out for a car about to leave a filling station.
- (3) Be wary of a car parked on the shoulder which may pull out and interfere with the car you are trying to pass.
- (4) Look out for a pedestrian walking on the shoulder who may step out on the pavement and cause the car ahead to move over in front of you.
- (5) Beware of the slow moving vehicle or farm tractor which may turn in front of you.
- (6) Look for that "hidden car" behind you that may try to pass you just as you pull out to pass the car ahead of you.

Best Yielding Wheat Varieties Named For State

Farmers will soon be planting about 1,500,000 acres of wheat—about three-fourths of it being soft white winter wheat and the rest soft red winter wheat.

H. M. Brown and S. C. Hildebrand, Michigan State College farm crops authorities, have studied research results and talked with farmers to prepare recommendations on best varieties to plant.

Michigan has two outstanding white wheat varieties—Yorkwin and Cornell 595. Yield and test weights of the two are about the same, and both good. Yorkwin is slightly more winter hardy and has a more plump berry. Cornell 595 has a stiffer straw and a higher degree of resistance to loose smut.

Vigo, Thorne and Seneca are all highly recommended red wheat varieties. They yield about the same according to field tests. All three have satisfactory winter hardiness and straw.

Vigo has slight advantages in test weight and observation indicates it may be more susceptible to mildew. Vigo and Thorne are well known, having been produced in Michigan for three years or more. Seneca is a newcomer, being developed in Ohio and produced in Michigan for the first time this season.

So far as a choice between red and white wheats is concerned, Brown and Hildebrand say it's largely a matter of growing what most farmers in your community grow. That will help avoid mixture of the two types at the local elevator.

City Folks Helping To Increase Price Of U.S. Farm Land

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The agriculture department reports that city folks with money—and worries about possible further shrinkage in its buying power—are helping to inflate the farm-land market.

Many of the new buyers are businessmen and investors who are seeking good farms as an investment hedge against inflation, the department reported.

As a result farm prices increased on a national average basis 3 per cent between July and November. They now are 5 per cent above the record set in March, 1920.

The department also predicted further increases in prices, as more people seek what they consider to be safer places to invest their savings.

Also contributing to the increase is the improved farm-product prices. Some buying is being done by farmers who already own land and who wish to invest surplus cash in real estate and at the same time take advantage of the better farm-produce prices.

According to one prediction, farm incomes in 1951 will be at least 15 per cent higher than in 1950.

The department said land values advanced in all states from July to November. The east north central states showed the largest average gain for any region—8 per cent—but the west north central, west south central and pacific regions were up 5 per cent.

Average prices were higher than a year ago in all but three states. Florida showed the largest gain—10 per cent—largely because of favorable returns from citrus fruits and pasture lands. During the year increases of 10 per cent or more occurred in Minnesota, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana and Texas.

There are also reports that many city people are buying farms as possible retreats in the event of war. Many seem to feel that in case large cities should be bombed it would be nice down on the farm again.

AA Rejects $10,000 Gift As Against Principles

NEW YORK.—Alcoholics Anonymous Intergroup Association of New York rejected a $10,000 legacy bequeathed by a grateful woman member.

A spokesman explained that acquisition of property or money, other than that raised by passing the hat at their own meetings, tended to divert members from their primary task of rehabilitating alcoholics.

"Members have discovered they cannot mix money and its management with the spiritual nature of the work they are trying to do," he said. "So, like the fellow at the end of the bar who has learned the hard way what's best for him, they, too, have said 'No' to this offer of 'One on the house.'"

Man Couldn't Put on Coat, Finds Ice Pick in Chest

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C.—William Hill is quite a man. He told police that when he couldn't get his overcoat on, he looked to see why and there was an ice pick sticking right out of his chest.

He remembered having a fight with several men the night before, he said, but he didn't remember how that ice pick got there.

Doctors who treated the wound near his left collarbone said he would be all right.

Hunter Fires Shot at Crow, Fireworks Plant Blows Up

PEARL RIVER, N.Y. — Frank Perkins, Jr., 24, only fired his gun at a crow, but the whole countryside seemed to explode. It scared him so bad he jumped in the river. He wasn't the only one scared. Air raid wardens came running and police and firemen sped from nearby New York and New Jersey towns. Windows and dishes were shattered for a mile around and one man, three miles away, was dumped from his couch. Ambulances raced to the scene but nobody was injured.

Perkins said he was hunting crows near the Barnabas Fireworks company. He was in a thicket and could not see the company buildings about 50 yards away.

"I lifted my gun and fired," he related. "I missed the crow, but I guess I hit the building."

Nobody disputed Perkins' opinion. The shot is believed to have ignited gunpowder in one of the company's frame buildings, about the size of a two car garage. The concussion set off blasts in five other frame buildings, spaced about 50 yards apart. All the structures were leveled.

Workers in the plant had gone home just a few minutes before Perkins fired his mighty shot.

Jury 'Acquits' Actor's Dog in Large Damage Suit

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — Joe, a movie mongrel, was vindicated recently by a jury that decided he didn't spill a 60-year-old bicyclist. Joe belongs to actor Vincent Price.

The jurors deliberated one hour before deciding Joe wasn't at fault when building contractor Charles F. Benjamin's bicycle hit him. Benjamin had sued Price for $15,153, claiming it was Joe's fault he fell August 23, 1948, and broke his collarbone.

Joe wasn't in court when the verdict was returned. He made his appearance two days before. But Price reported the mutt apparently took the case to heart because he hasn't budged from the house in two days.

"He has become a terrible snob since he appeared in court," the actor said. "He's got his nose up in the air all the time—except at dinner."

Price claimed, and the jury agreed, that Benjamin was as much at fault as Joe. The jury ruled the contractor's contributory negligence was a factor in his spill.

The Williamston Plan
The conservation department urges southern Michigan farmers wanting to organize a Williamston plan hunting co-operative next fall to make application not later than September 1.

State game men are available to explain the plan to farmer groups unfamiliar with it. Department, as customary, furnished tickets and boundary, gate and safety zone signs last fall in consideration of farmers opening over 158,000 southern farm acres to controlled hunting.

Basic plan is for farmers on two or more square miles of land, joining together as a group, to determine the maximum number of hunters they desire to permit on their acreage. This number is apportioned among the plan members, who in hunting season issue two, three or four tickets per day allotted to them. Thus the farmer has the chance to look over those who want to go onto his farm because the hunter must ask for his ticket at the farmhouse and leave his car in the yard.

In the past few years a number of southern farmers have found the Williamston plan a suitable means for permitting some hunting, without inviting trespass frequently incurred by completely banning hunting.

SHORT STORY

Another Good Crop

By James B. Holm

FARM FOLKS are always asking a square for information and advice on law. Dave Tidwell was no exception.

Dave was a leathery faced man in his sixties. I was attracted by a peach tree on his place, then in full bearing. He gave me a few peaches.

"I guess I'll never have money enough to buy a new one," he said. "Can't make anything on this place now."

I could see he had something else on his mind. Pretty soon he started to ask questions.

"Squire, who does money belong to if it's found hidden in a man's barn?"

"Why, I suppose it would belong to him, unless someone else could prove direct ownership," I told him.

I could see he had something else on his mind. Pretty soon he started to ask questions.

More questions were asked, rather cautiously. At length he said:

"I used to have a hiked man named Obie Hart. Don't know if you ever heard of him or not. He's dead now. He was a good fellow."

"When he was a young man, he and his brother Sid lived around here. Obie got engaged to a girl but she threw him over for Sid. Obie always hated Sid for that and left home. Never spoke to Sid again. He came to work for me nearly forty years ago and stayed until last year when he died. I didn't pay him much but he saved his money. He didn't trust banks, either, and he never married."

"AFTER HE GOT sick last year Obie didn't live long. One day I was talking to him and he said, 'Dave, if anything happens to me I got money enough in my clothes to bury me. Better get it right now—over there. I did and we counted it out. He acted like he wanted to tell me something more, but all he ever said was that he didn't want Sid to have anything of his.'"

"A few days later Obie died. The money wasn't quite enough to bury him, but that was all right. I paid the balance. Sure enough, Sid came snooping around, inquiring about Obie's money. I told him what I knew but I guess he didn't believe me. Argued on it and huffed and puffed. Was real ugly about it, too. He claimed Obie's clothes and watch. Probably his by law anyhow. I couldn't prove anything different, could I?"

"Now here a couple of weeks ago I was working in the barn and came across a wad of ten dollar bills stuck away in a mortise slot. Wasn't a great deal. I don't know who put it there. Who does the money belong to?"

"Dave," I said, "I can't advise you, but if it had been me that found it, I wouldn't do any hunting for an owner. It's your barn, isn't it?"

We looked at each other with the light of understanding between us.

"I don't know if there's any more there or not," said Dave. "As I said, I don't know what Obie did with his money. He must have accumulated quite a little in forty years. He may have done something with it I don't know about, or anyone. Anyhow, he liked to be alone around the barn a great deal."

"Dave," I said, "what people don't know won't hurt them. If I found any money in my barn I would regard it as another good crop. If anyone thought different, it would be up to him to prove his claim."

Dave looked satisfied. "I guess I can trust you, can't I, squire?"

I forgot all about the matter until a year later. Then Dave Tidwell came to my office carrying a half bushel basket of peaches.

"These are some of the peaches you liked so well, squire," he said. "I had another nice crop this year. Matter of fact, all crops were good this year. No charge. My regards."

The look he gave me was a peculiar, knowing one and confidential like.

I looked out my window and saw Dave drive away. He was driving a nice new automobile. It was a make that must have cost twenty-five hundred dollars or more.

FARM FACTS

from your County Agricultural Agent

Ed. Rebman, Co. Agr'l Agent

The marsh plow was the topic for discussion at the last regular board meeting of the Charlevoix Soil Conservation District. This marsh plow was purchased for $375.00 with the assistance of the Charlevoix County State Bank, the Charlevoix State Savings Bank, the State Bank of East Jordan and the Boyne City Branch Bank. The banks purchased the plow for the district and they are to be reimbursed with the earnings from the use of the marsh plow.

The board of directors set a very nominal charge of 75cents per hour for the use of this marsh plow. The purpose for this low charge was so that all farmers who had land that needed a marsh plow or a land breaker plow could get the use of this tool. The plow was not used too much during 1951 and may not be used too much during this year due to the excessive moisture which makes many low lands impossible to work.

The problem for discussion at the last board meeting was that some farmers had a little breakage on the marsh plow. There were two possibilities that the board could do. One was to leave the charge at the low rate of 75 cents per hour and have the farmers who use the marsh plow and break it stand the repairs. The other possibility was to increase the rental charge for the marsh plow and have the district stand the repairs. After careful consideration, Clayton Healey of East Jordan made a motion, supported by Bob Straw of Charlevoix, that farmers who use the marsh plow must stand the breakage and that they would leave the charge at 75 cents per hour. This motion carried.

Farmers who are interested in using this plow may contact any one of the directors, Clayton Healey and Harold Goebel of East Jordan, Bob Straw and Clyde Warner of Charlevoix, Norval Korthase of Boyne City, or Bill Grimm, farm planner or Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent.

Junior: "Father, why do women always try to make men eat salads?"

Father: "I have a theory about that son. It goes like this: when Eve picked the apple in the Garden of Eden, she picked some leaves with it. Now, Adam ate only the apple and women have been trying to get us men to eat the leaves ever since."

At Our Tourist Park

It's even been hot in the park these days, generally it is cool here if anywhere.

We had to say so-long to the Keath Carstens, and mother, Mrs. Willia Carstens on Wednesday for at least this year. They returned to Grosse Pointe, where they both are teachers, on their way they visited their son and daughter at Shelby, who are Junior councilors at a youth camp.

Ralph Green, and F. C. Drouillard of Detroit who are connected with the Apex Oil Co. returned to the park for their second visit on Tuesday.

Wednesday Eve a group consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Roehm, of Utica, and their daughter, Mrs. Margery Randall and son Neil of Rochester came into the park for a picnic dinner. This is their first visit to this corner of Michigan, and seemed well pleased with what they saw. They were on their way from Lewiston home, so they really came out of their way to pay us a call.

Due to some of the park ladies visiting in Wis. Mrs. Earl Barge felt sort of sorry for the bachelors and entertained them to a home cooked meal in one of the kitchens.

A family group had a picnic dinner on Sunday, those here were Mr. and Mrs. Steve Somerville and daughter Autumn, of Central Lake, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dawson and sons of Royal Oak.

The Ellsworth Extension group met for a co-operative dinner in the park on Tuesday Evening.

We welcome back to the park Mr. and Mrs. Millard Wagner of Flat Rock. They spent some time earlier in the season here, but left to attend the T.C.T. Convention at Traverse City, then on to Mackinaw City for awhile before coming back here to round out the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Rickard Sr., returned to their trailer from their home in Detroit, their son, Norman Jr. and family occupied the trailer for a week and returned to Detroit on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lows of Detroit are spending their vacation here.

Tenting in the park for a few days are Mr. and Mrs. Orley Hulberg of Lake Odessa, and Mr. and Mrs. Rex Wickham of Clarksville.

The dining room was quite a lively place this Friday Eve. when several families gathered for a Co-operative dinner. Those attending were Mr. John Drenth, Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Drenth and family, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Drenth, and family, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Essenberg, and family, Miss Betty Drenth and friend Bud Klooster, all of Ellsworth, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Boes, and family of Muskegon, Mr. and Mrs. John Van Straten of Grand Rapids, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Drenth and family of East Jordan.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Martin, son David and sister Carol June Ward, have concluded their two weeks vacation, and returned to their homes at Belding Saturday.

Another family leaving our park on Saturday was Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Stewart and son Danny. They plan to be in Kalkaska for awhile as Mr. Stewart is working with the Superior Electric Co. and that is nearer his work. The Stewarts have been in the park since it opened this summer.

Mrs. Harold Whiteford and Gary are entertaining another brother of hers from Flint, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Harrod, and four sons. This makes two brothers and two sisters and their families all from Flint tenting in a group in the park.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Pierson returned to the park from their home in Sparta Sunday.

We are sorry the Bert Putnams have been unable to be here so far this year, due to the poor health of Mrs. Putnam. It just doesn't seem right without them as they started spending their summers here about nineteen years ago. We certainly do hope her health improves quickly.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Strobel and children, Marcia and Martin of Dearborn came in for a two weeks vacation. Mr. Strobel had to return to his work Sunday, but plans to re-join his family here again next week.

E. N. Arntson of Lansing spent a couple of days in his trailer here, and did some fishing.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stephen and son David of Flint are spending a week visiting her parents, the Jess Robinsons.

The East Jordan tourist park was the happy meeting place when the relatives from the east met the relatives from the west for a picnic dinner Sunday. Those from the east were Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Wagner, and Mrs. Wagner's mother, Mrs. Ella C. Shaw, all of Richmond Hill, N.Y., those from the west were Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Shaw and son Richard of Lincoln, Nebraska, also present were cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford J. Mizer of Mancelona, N.Y. Shaw was formerly Miss Ella Troy and lived between Mancelona and Bellaire during her girlhood, and is enjoying her return visit here. Mrs. Wagner and Mr. Shaw are her daughter and son, the group plan to spend a week in this vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Sholten and son Gail of Sparta arrived in our park Saturday. Mr. Sholten returned to his work while his wife and son remained during the hay fever season.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rickard and children of Flint have concluded their vacation, and returned to their home Monday, while here they occupied one of Miller's cabins.

Our newly married couple Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Walker is another one of the group leaving for Kalkaska to be nearer his work with the Electric Co.

Mr. Carl Koch spent the weekend at his home in Hart, he returned Sunday bringing his wife and son Donnie for the remainder of their stay here. He is also connected with the Electric Co.

We are all glad to see that Mr. and Mrs. Dan Edwards of Newage and Bradenton, Fla. were able to be with us again this summer. Both the Mr. and Mrs. have been in poor health, and we feared they would be unable to make the trip. They were accompanied here by their son and daughter-in-law of Newage.

Tenting in the park for a few days and doing some fishing are Harry Gorter, and Milton Lamberts, both of Grand Rapids.

Well, black-berry time is here again, and folks of the park are taking advantage of it. Some days it looks like there might be a hard-times party some where, and most of us were going to it by the way some look.

Atomic Engine To Run 10 Years On Little Fuel

RALEIGH, N.C. — North Carolina State College plans to run its new atomic reactor for 10 years on four gallons of a green-yellow liquid fuel that is about as heavy as ginger ale.

Even at the end of 10 years of non-stop operations this wonderful four gallons still will be good, but will have to be purified of the new atoms which will be filled in by splitting of uranium. Maybe a pint of fresh fuel will have to be added to run it another 10 years.

All the time there will be no smoke, no fumes, no sound except a slight bubbling noise made by the liquid just starting to boil. It will never reach real boiling.

Safest Engine Built

It is probably the safest engine ever built, certainly about the coolest. It won't get hot enough even to start a fire. It can't explode—by atomic, by radioactive or any other internal force. Lightning can't explode it, even an earthquake cannot wreck it sufficiently to create a hazard beyond some escaping radioactivity that can be avoided completely by keeping a short distance away.

The reactor will be about the size of a two-car garage. Even if a saboteur were to blow it sky-high, the only risk, barring falling bits of concrete or metal, would be scattered radioactive fragments. The greatest risk probably would be the souvenir-hunter who put a piece in his pocket and leaves it there a long time.

Construction is expected to be completed this year, along with a building and laboratory. The public will be permitted to look at this reactor, close-up, through a window which is really a goldfish bowl: Plate-glass sides with eight inches of water between.

The atomic engine is a cylinder of stainless steel, one foot in diameter, containing the green-yellow liquid. That is all. There isn't anything else, except the shields of lead, graphite and concrete and pipes for cooling and some rods which start, stop and control the heat and splitting.

New to Education

The little steel cylinder does it all alone. Its atoms split, the splitting creates heat and, along with the heat, neutrons go flying away at speeds of 10,000 miles a second. The liquid is enriched uranium 235. About 80 per cent of the liquid is this bare uranium.

This reactor is the start of something new in education—four-year undergraduate courses in nuclear engineering, plus courses looking forward to graduate degrees. The purpose is to educate professional experts for atomic age.

Already 80 students have started the course. Half are air force officers, a sign that American military planes may be expected to take to the air and stay aloft for weeks, if they wish, flying on atomic power. The others are university students of all classes, including candidates for master's degrees.

The plan is to graduate men and women with nuclear degrees, but who have well rounded training also in the humanities and the engineering sciences. They can, if they choose, graduate in ordinary engineering, but they will have the additional atomic training. The nuclear part of their courses will take 11 per cent of the time.

WEST PENINSULA . . . (Edited by Mrs. Wm. Gaunt)

The Advance Board of Commerce met at their regular meeting last Tuesday evening at the Town Hall with 21 members present. They decided to hold a party walk at the Community Hall at Whittings Park, Aug. 22. The Walk will start promptly at 8:00 p.m. as the building has to be closed at 10. The public is invited.

The Model Business meeting at the City Building at East Jordan was held last Saturday. The Peninsula 4-H Club defeated South Arm.

The Big R.E.A. Annual meeting at Boyne City Friday evening was well attended by the most of the farmers. Most of the prizes went out of Charlevoix County.

Mr. Henry Howard drove to Lansing the past week with his son, Lester and Steve Hayden to a farmers meeting. They all returned home again Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Colville and family and Mr. and Mrs. Ira Weaver and family have been spending some time at the Weaver farm enjoying the country life and sight seeing.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gaunt of Flint and their daughter and family Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Murdiek also of Flint took supper Thursday night with their sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Myers. They spent Thursday night with their brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gaunt. They stopped at Benzonia calling on Mrs. Gaunt's sister-in-law, Mrs. Hewitt, also the Bill Gaunt Jr., home. Mr. Gaunt has improved from his sickness enough so he can drive his car.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Harsh of Columbus, Ohio spent two nights the past week at the Wm. Gaunt home. They were visiting with some friends at the Rustan but didn't have room to stay nights.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Tuttle of Fenton and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ferez of Marshall have been vacationing at their cabin the past week. The Ferez family left for their home Sunday. Another daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil LeRoy and two children of Grand Rapids arrived Sunday to spend a week at the cabin with their parents.

Mrs. Anna Johnston of Cadillac, is spending some time visiting with her sister Mrs. Robert Myers. She has improved considerably since her operation this summer.

MEET THE NIXONS

They're an amazed—and amazing couple. Meet Republican Vice-Presidential Candidate Richard M. Nixon and his attractive wife, Patricia. For the intimate inside story of Senator Nixon's sensational rise to national political fame, see this Sunday's (Aug. 24) issue of The New Color Gravure American Weekly, exclusively with Detroit, Sunday Times.

As the speaker of the evening at the banquet table, during his introduction, he coughed and dislodged his upper plate. It fell to the floor and broke.

A guest at his side realized the man's plight, dug into his pocket and came up with a set. They were too big. The helpful guest supplied another set. They were too small. The third set fit.

The speaker got through his address perfectly with the borrowed teeth and, as he sat down, he returned them to his neighbor with profuse thanks. "By the way," he said, "are you a dentist?"

The helpful guest shook his head. "No. An undertaker."

TIPS ON FREEZING GIVEN HOME MAKERS

Freezing does not improve foods. But through freezing a greater amount of original flavor and color can be retained than through any other method of preservation, according to Dr. Pauline Paul of the Michigan State College foods and nutrition department.

Original food value is well retained by freezing, too. And it is interesting to note that greater loss of minerals and vitamins comes from careless handling than from frozen storage, Dr. Paul advised.

In considering what products to freeze, a good rule of thumb is that fruits and vegetables which are usually canned will freeze satisfactorily. Meats, poultry, fish and eggs may also be preserved by freezing. There are exceptions, of course—foods eaten raw like lettuce, celery, onions, cucumbers and radishes do not freeze well. Tomatoes and pears are not practical freezing products, nor are high starch content foods such as potatoes, rice and macaroni.

In general, freeze only the best—firm, well-ripened fruits and fresh, tender vegetables. Meats must be high in quality and handled properly from the time of slaughtering to freezing, Dr. Paul warned.

Field and tree-ripened fruits have the richest color and flavor for frozen storage. The fruit should be firm-ripe and freshly picked. In sorting and washing the fruit, take care to prevent bruising. Drain well after washing and pack in moisture-vapor-proof containers, dry or with sugar or sirup, depending upon the fruit. Sugar and sirup help preserve color and flavor, as well as prolong the storage time of the fruit.

For more information, ask for the Michigan State College bulletin "Freezing Foods for Michigan Homes." Your home demonstration agent has copies.

Truman Shies at Elephant Gift from Eastern Kingdom

WASHINGTON, D.C. — President Truman has many troubles, and not the least is the gifts people send him. The latest problem is a sacred elephant that the tiny kingdom of Cambodia offered.

Mr. Truman has no place to keep the animal and the Washington Zoo already has enough elephants. So, the U.S. has cautiously suggested that it might be better for Cambodia to send a tiger. The zoo could use one.

The tiger-or-the-elephant problem is one of the first to arise between the U.S. and the Kingdom of Cambodia, which was part of Indo-China until a year ago.

President Lincoln dealt with a similar embarrassing elephant problem back in 1862 in a letter to the King of Siam, politely refusing a herd of elephants.

Saleswoman Halts Runaway Truck at Busy Crossing

PAWTUCKET, R. I. — Miss Theresa Sullivan, 23, a saleswoman, leaped aboard a driverless runaway truck, stamped hard on the brake, and halted its downhill course barely 10 feet from the busy Main Street.

Afterwards the attractive brunette couldn't account for her deed. "Why did I do it? I don't know," she said. "I just did it. And I'm still shaking."

Miss Sullivan was returning to her job behind a hosiery counter, walking down hill, when she saw the truck rolling along beside her without a driver.

Witnesses said the girl leaped on the running board, seized the wheel, slid into the driver's seat, and jammed down the brake pedal.

Little Helen Louise, three months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Scott received a fractured skull in a runaway accident Saturday and is still in a critical condition. A single horse and buggy belonging to Delbert Hale was standing in front of Clarence Bowmans resident on Main street; an automobile came, frightening the horse who bolted. In front of Mr. Love's residence was a baby cab containing the little girl in charge was the young brother, Robert. The horse and buggy collided with the cab, overturning it and throwing the infant to the pavement, striking on the back of his head, fracturing the skull and rendering her unconscious. She was rushed to a physicians office and revived, but it is still a question if the little one will survive the injury.

Are, Michigan's "independent voters" too independent for their own good?

At least one political stalwart thinks so and that feeling is growing in circles interested in good government on a non-partisan basis.

"People have crossed party lines so often to vote for the man instead of the party that we are losing our characteristic form of American government," he says. He doesn't want his name used but he would be considered quite an expert by any observer.

Because of that habit we've had a Democratic Governor and a Republican Legislature in Michigan these past years—and everyone knows the situation isn't healthy."

"There has often been so much political sniping that neither the executive nor the legislative branches have been willing or able to settle down to business. At best, the fact they didn't see eye-to-eye on basic issues has made cooperation difficult and short-lived."

"We've seen the disastrous results on national levels when Herbert Hoover could get no sorely needed legislation from a Democratic Congress. And four years ago when Harry Truman had a GOP Congress, Capitol Hill and the White House worked at cross purposes," he cites.

What's the answer? Party discipline, says the commentator.

"Parties should have well-defined platforms and stick to them. Each member of that party should support those basic principles under penalty of being read out of the party. It works in England; it'd work here."

This man, incidentally, like the typical midwestern manufacturer and politician that he is, doesn't admire England to a fault. He's probably inclined a little the other way but he does concede good points in their political system.

"If we had that party discipline we wouldn't have such splits as the Dixiecrats and the Northern Liberals in the Democratic party or the isolation-internationalism or conservative-liberal wings in the GOP," he believes.

"The voter would have to be trained, too, to realize that he gets a better government (and usually a more efficient and economical one) if there is party harmony between the executive and the legislature.

"If the voters were assured that all members of one party were strictly obligated to carry out its platform, there wouldn't be the need to cross party lines to elect the individual he favors personally."

On a national level this would probably mean an eventual realignment of political parties as we know them. He believes that a more clear-cut distinction would then be made between the conservative and liberal elements in the country no matter what political label they now bear.

"That would get us back to the traditional two-party system where the entire state or national government—executive and legislative—would be voted in or out of office as a body."

On the Michigan level, the change wouldn't be so marked, he believes, because party platforms have never figured so prominently in campaigns.

There are plenty of issues in Michigan.

Right now the corporation profits tax that Governor Williams has long espoused is indicative of the basic differences of Democratic and Republican views on taxation.

Reapportionment of the Legislature—coming up for an electoral decision in the Constitutional amendment ballot in November—is another that goes down to the most elemental philosophy of government.

That question is—phrased as simply as possible and therefore not entirely adequate—: Shall the Legislature be made up solely on a population basis or shall it be so divided that no one geographical area dominates State government?

But with such a personality expert as Gov. Williams running against Fred M. Alger, himself no mean shakes as a call-'em-by-their-first-name-er, it's pretty safe to bet an inflated dime that the 1952 elections will find most voters more interested in State personalities than in platforms.

The Prohibition Party will be on the Michigan ballot this Fall.

Although for the record, they maintain they're in the race to win, few of its own members are as naive as to believe that they can actually out-poll the two major parties.

But the Prohibition Party may play a more important role this year than it has since the days of Prohibition.

The reason is pure mathematics.

The "experts" ground the Capitol—real or self-styled—think that there will be about 12,000 voters roughly classified as "Prohibition party voters." This 12,000 might well be the decisive margin in as closely a fought campaign as this one already shapes up to be.

If they vote for the Prohibition Party, which of the major parties is going to lose those votes? If individuals switch, which party will gain those votes?

Republican leaders, knowing the Prohibitionists are conservative people, hope the individual voters in the small party will hesitate to waste a ballot for a candidate that can't possibly win. Then, the GOP is sure, they'll find the Republican party appeals to their conservatism and add at least the major portion of that 12,000 to the GOP totals.

Atomic energy is like a woman; you can recognize its powers even if you can't understand it.

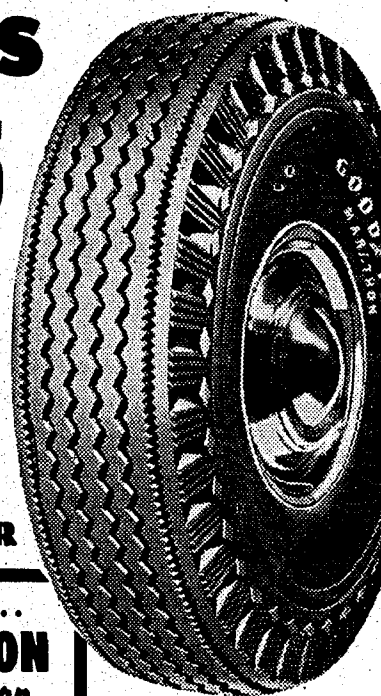

Intuition is that gift which enables a woman to arrive instantly at an infallible and irrevocable decision, without the aid of reason, judgement or discussion.

New "Early Red" raspberry lengthens season, boosts yield

A new red raspberry variety, named "Early Red," has been developed at Michigan State College's South Haven Experiment Station, after 20 years of breeding and testing. The "Early Red" starts producing berries early in the season when the crop is small and prices are usually higher. Plants are upright, tall, vigorous, hardy and very productive. The berries have good flavor and a long ripening season. They withstand canning without crumbling and freeze as well as Latham raspberries. For more information, call your County Agricultural Agent.

"Daddy Longlegs" guards the nation
This curious-looking device is a "thermistor." It's a speck of metallic oxide imbedded in a glass bead half the size of a grain of rice (or smaller). The bead thermistor controls and measures the flow of electric current in radar sets used to guard the nation's defenses. It's also used in telephone equipment. Developed by Bell Telephone Laboratories and made by Western Electric Company, the bead thermistor is an example of the precision accuracy which has helped give America the finest telephone service in the world.

The Servicemen's Letter

Hi Fellas:
We have the address of two more overseas men this week. They are Bob Farmer, who has evidently reached Japan safely, and Claude McGeorge, who is new to this letter but assuming by his address is not new by far to the army.

Bob Farmers address is A/3c Robert C. Farmer, AF 16 379 489, Prov Sqd 1583, APO 959, c/o PM, San Francisco, Calif. I have no other news about Bob. Perhaps there has not been time for much news to come over from there.

Claude McGeorge is somewhat of a newcomer to East Jordan as well as to this letter. His family originally lived in Boyne City but a few years ago they moved to Route 2 out of East Jordan. Claude is a step brother to Dewey Laisure who was over in Germany with me during the last fracas. Claudes address is Pvt Claude McGeorge, US 55 224 492, Co A, 23 RCT, 2nd Inf Div, APO 248, C/o PM, San Francisco, California. Aside from knowing that the 2nd Division is on the Western front in Korea we don't know just where you are, Claude. Will you write me a note when you get this paper and let us all in on what is happening to you over there?

Leo Danforth left Fort Riley on July 7th and up until this week we did not have a correct address for him. However, this week someone brought in his new address and we can now send him the paper. His address is Pvt Leo G. Danforth, RA 16 405 487,

Processing Co, TSESS, Camp Gordon, Georgia. Judging from the sound of that address you are still waiting around for an assignment. Is that correct, Leo?

Pvt Donald W. Danforth down in Fort Riley, Kansas has a small change in his address. Just add WC 81 to his original Sv Btry. 35th FA n, 10th Inf Div and you will have it.

There's a picture of a mighty handsome looking soldier looking at me from the top of my notes just now. Fort Knox sent along a little news item about Don Trojaneck who has just finished his basic there a short time past and with it they sent a very good photo of Don. Here's the way the news item goes. "Pvt Donald L. Trojaneck has completed Army basic training conducted by the 3rd Armored Division here. During his sixteen weeks of intensive training he attended classes on General Military Subjects and had practical work in the many combat skills. He also learned to fire the basic Army weapons, the M-1 rifle, carbine, mortar, .45 pistol and light machine gun. As a prospective infantry rifleman received special training in scouting and patrolling and squad, platoon and rifle company tactics. He entered the Army on February 27, 1952."

Some men are on the way overseas and others have finished their hitch over there and are on their way home. Sam Bricker is expecting to pull out for home at any time and sent along a stop order for his paper. His letter follows: "Here it is Sunday and they gave us the day off seeing we are in training. We have been replaced by the second division on the western front and now we have moved to the central eastern sector and are in corps reserve training the new boys that have come in. The Division will have better than a 75% turn over by the middle of September. There shouldn't be any old men left in the division at all as just about everybody will be out on E.T.S. and points. Maybe you have seen Jerry McKenny and Wayne Flora by now as they should be home about the time you receive this unless they get held up some place. We were hoping to all go home together but it didn't quite work out that way. Jerry and Wayne went out on points and I will get out of here on E.T.S."

"We had quite a little rain here last week. It rained 12 inches in 5 days of steady raining. It really raised heck with the roads, washing them out in places left cliff slides across the roads. The new men are going through basic again. I guess though you never get over that."

Guess I'll have to thank Sam for that letter when he gets home. Here are two news letters from Lackland AFB in Texas which are worded just alike so I'm going to combine them in one. "Airman Stanley Antoine and Airman William A. Streeter are completing their AF basic airman indoctrination course at Lackland, Air Force Base, the "Gateway to the Air Force. Lackland, situation near San Antonio, is the world's largest air force base, site of Air Force basic training for men and women, headquarters of the Human Resource Research Center, and home of AF's Officer Candidate School. Their basic training is preparing them for entrance into Air Force technical training and for assignment in specialized work. The course includes a scientific evaluation of their aptitude and inclination for following a particular vocation and career."

Jim Raymond and Dave Valance left for Detroit today to take their physicals for enlistment in the Air Force. We'll let you know next week how they came out. Here's a letter from Everett Vermillion in which he states his plans were changed somewhat. "Just got back from my leave a while back so will drop you a few lines to give you the news. I didn't get married while on leave. My wife to be was taken ill so now we are going to wait until I'm out of the Army."

"The Army sure keeps us on the go. We are working on radiological warfare now. It's sure interesting work."

"I'm going to try to get up to E. J. this month on a three day pass. I can make it in about 10 hours in my Ford. Say, do you know Jack Bennetts address. I would like to write him." Say Everett, I think that Jack has been discharged. His folks told me some time ago that there was no use starting to send him the paper again as he was being discharged soon. That's the last I heard about Jack."

A letter from Howard Stanek informs us that he is going to be moved much closer to home. He writes, "Well, I guess it's about time I was dropping you a few lines. How is everything back in East Jordan? It's pretty hot down here."

"I'm not on the boats any more. But I'm still in the boat section. I'm an engineer. I'm supposed to go to school for engineer training. The school is at Great Lakes Navy Station and is supposed to start the 8th of September. So I'll be a little closer to home for awhile. The school will be 14 weeks and then I'm planning on taking a furlough before coming back down here to the island again. So I may be home for Christmas. I hope so."

Thanks for the letter, Howard. Let me know your unit number when you get to Great Lakes."

Last but not least is this letter concerning Bruce Bolser which I believe is slightly late in both dispatch from Great Lakes and in arrival here. It reads, "Bruce E. Bolser, Seaman, USN is serving aboard the destroyer USS James C. Owens, which is on its way around the world with three other destroyers after a tour of duty in Korean waters."

"The Owens recently visited Singapore where her crew took bicycle-powered rickshaws to see the city's sights. One of the more interesting sights was a visit to a Buddha Temple in which the story of the Buddhist religion was told in a series of figures. The destroyer next visited the Royal Botanic Gardens at Peradeniya, Ceylon. The gardens represent 125 years of labor in collecting and classifying tropical plants from all over the world."

"The Owens will complete its world cruise, which began last January, at Norfolk, Virginia this August."

Well, this is August 18th so the chances are that Bruce is now in Norfolk. Don Dixon and Bud Cummings — be on the lookout for the Owens and you'll find Bruce on her somewhere. His address doesn't give a division. So Long until next week, men. "Jake" Snyder.

Livestock Losses By Poor Hauling Can Be Reduced

Bruising, crippling and killing livestock by careless loading is costly and can be avoided, says Charles J. Little, Michigan State College extension livestock specialist.

Marketing time and show time are two dangerous periods. Even though some animals are insured, the loss is still great. Here are some suggestions that Little says will help reduce livestock handling losses.

Remove nails, wire, splinters and broken boards from hauling racks. Use a smooth loading chute that is not too steep. Bed trucks with sand or other material that will keep the animals from slipping.

Partition loads of animals of different sizes to prevent injury to the smaller ones. Load slowly to prevent crowding against sharp corners and to avoid excitement. Little warns against beating animals into the truck, since this will bruise animals.

The MSC livestock specialist also advises covering the truck to protect the animals during bad weather. Drive carefully, inspect the load enroute and unload slowly. These suggestions will help cut losses and increase pounds of meat that reach the market.

Magic Material, Jack-of-Trades Is Little Known

What is it that fire-protects the home, was used in the construction of the pyramids of ancient Egypt, helped keep Roman contractors out of jail, makes your glass of beer more enjoyable, is important in the manufacture of aircraft, has its part in the sale of women's wearing apparel, greets you every morning in your toothpaste and has a thousand other uses?

What is this substance that stares at you from the walls of your home and office, helps you recover from a broken leg and is used by farmers to condition the soil?

What is this magic material that was putty in the hands of Michelangelo, that has its own sprinkler system and helps make American dentistry the best in the world?

No, it's not the "Thing."

It's just common, ordinary CaSO₄·2H₂O; or, to put that in English: it's hydrous calcium sulphate.

Simple Definition
Of course, we could come down to earth and tell you it is just plain "gypsum," but it's an amazing thing nine out of ten men and women on the street will come back with the question, "What's gypsum?" despite the fact that practically everyone comes in contact with gypsum in some form or another throughout the day.

Gypsum is a mineral; it's a rock. It is one of the earth's most plentiful natural resources. In its natural state it is about one-fifth water by weight. This is not free water, rather, it is water in chemical combination.

It is the water-chemical content that makes gypsum one of nature's most amazing substances.

The gypsum rock, which is mined and/or quarried, releases about three-quarters of its water content when it is calcined, or heated. The residue is a powdery, white substance, which has a great affinity for water.

It is, in effect, plaster powder. When water is added and mixed into the plaster powder, a plastic substance results, which substance can be worked into any shape desired — into a statue, a dental cast, a mannequin for a store window, precision molds for airplane engine parts, a cast for a fractured limb or a wall for a room.

When the plaster powder, plus water, sets, the substance again becomes rock gypsum—the same material that was taken from the earth. But now it is in the shape to which it was molded in its plastic state.

Nothing New
Builders, sculptors and surgeons have known about gypsum for years and years. The latter call gypsum, processed for their purposes, "Plaster of Paris." The name derives from the fact that the city of Paris, in France, is built over gypsum deposits.

Historians report that the Assyrians, 6,000 years ago, used gypsum as a fire protection. They recall that the body of King Tut was encased in gypsum plaster. Minos, semi-legendary king of ancient Crete, is said to have had a throne of pure white gypsum. Egyptian building genius which conceived the Great Pyramids also employed gypsum mortar to bed the blocks and gypsum plaster to cover the interior. Today, after more than forty-five centuries the plaster is still evident.

The Bible, in the book of Leviticus, tells of a law which required that all houses where leprosy existed be completely replastered with gypsum. Roman legislation, at the height of the Empire's glory, insisted that the magic mineral be employed in the fire-proofing of dwellings. Contractors who failed in the requirement were liable for fine, imprisonment or the death penalty, depending on the fire damage to life and property.

Power and light officials said that the blast could have resulted from a broken gas main or from sewer gas.

Angler Who Fished Banks Soon Is Notted by FBI

NEW YORK, N.Y.—The FBI recently announced the capture of a unique angler who fished not for fishes, but for greenbacks behind teller's windows in banks.

The "fisherman", Peter Hanson, 51, was captured with one of his favorite rods—a paper-covered ruler with a wad of chewing gum on one end.

Agent Edward Scheidt said the angler "poached" on a bank in Kansas City and one in Weehawken, N.J., by fishing through the teller's window. Fingerprints on a rod he left behind in the Kansas City bank led to his capture.

Asiatic Religious Belief Fostered 'White Elephant'

An ancient Asiatic religious belief, a financially embarrassed king, and an animal's liquor bill, were responsible for bringing to our civilization the term "white elephant" which has come to mean any regrettable and unprofitable possession.

Research experts with the World Book Encyclopedia, examining the customs of mankind, have discovered that in Siam a white elephant was considered to possess the soul of a dead god. Therefore when a white elephant was captured, it immediately became the sacred property of the king—and was worshiped, and finally buried and mourned like a human being. One King of Siam gave the white elephant saying its probable start when he initiated the custom of giving the elephant to any member of his court who had displeased him. The elephant-god could do no work, could not be ridden, and the huge cost of his upkeep soon meant financial ruin to his new owner.

A British King, Charles the First, in 1629, had the misfortune to receive a white elephant as a gift from Siam. Unfortunately, Charles was financially embarrassed, due to an un-cooperative Parliament, and even considered selling the crown jewels to raise funds. The cost of keeping the elephant was so high that the King and Queen had to give up their customary vacation at Bath. The record regarding the elephant's maintenance makes note of the fact that "from the month of September until April, he must drink, not water but Wyne, and from April until September he must have a gallon of Wyne a day."

It is believed that this old occurrence firmly implanted the saying "white elephant" in the English language.

Manhole Cover Blows Top; Man Files Through Air

JANESVILLE, Wis.—There are many stories about people who fell through manhole covers, but Towald Hovland, 79, of this city, is perhaps the first to have one explode beneath his feet.

Hovland had the misfortune to be standing on a downtown manhole cover when a sewer blew its top. He was tossed into the air and came to rest about four feet away. For no explained reason the cover had suddenly lifted into the air in an unexplained explosion followed by a burst of flame. Hovland and eight others waiting for a bus on the street corner were taken to a doctor's office and treated for minor burns.

Power and light officials said that the blast could have resulted from a broken gas main or from sewer gas.

Village Votes Two Times On Building New School

MIDDLEVILLE, Mich.—For the second time within a month the people of Middleville voted against a $185,000 bond issue to construct a new five room elementary school building.

The second special election was called as a result of being petitioned by residents who expressed the belief it would result in a favorable vote because they thought many people misunderstood the issues in the first election.

The bond proposal was defeated by a vote of 432 to 341.

The big question in the election that may have caused the negative vote concerned the location of the school. Many wanted it built in a new location, while others wanted it on property adjacent to the present school.

Those who advocated a new location did so because they believed little children of the village should not be forced to walk at least a mile to their school across a dangerous railroad crossing, a more dangerous bridge and a still more dangerous state highway.

The school problem, which has had the community in an uproar for almost two months, may come up for another vote. Those who advocated the construction of the school on property adjacent to the present school may petition for a vote.

War-Casualty Pen Is Returned; No Thanks

FORT MADISON, Iowa—It's a long way from the South Pacific to the little town of Fort Madison on the banks of the Mississippi, but a fountain pen that was "missing and presumed lost" in action five years ago has just made that trip and rejoined its owner.

It came to the home office of the Sheaffer pen company, sent in by a man who wanted it repaired per the guarantee under which, he said, he had "bought" it. The pen was brought to the attention of Bud Covington for two reasons: One, it had Bud's name printed on it; Two, Covington is inspection foreman for the repair department.

So the pen was repaired but it will stay here, also for two reasons: One, it was Bud's pen to begin with; Two, the man who sent it in was one of Bud's shipmates on the USS Tolland in Pacific waters at the time the pen was "lost". Apparently he didn't know Bud had such a "strategic" position in the pen business.

OUTBOARD BOOM

In the last ten years the sale of outboard motors has more than doubled in this country—and the curve is still going up. Despite current high production some models are hard to get and one begins to wonder where all these compact little power plants are going.

Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin supply just about one third of the answer. These three states bordering on the Great Lakes, and each with thousands of inland lakes, absorb more than 30% of the industry's total output of about a half million units annually.

You can get outboards in a dozen well-known makes in just about any size or power rating you want, to drive anything from a little 1-man 6-foot car-top boat to a full-sized cabin cruiser. And they'll do a good job. Nevertheless they've made a lot of enemies here and there, mostly thru no fault of their own.

The Buzz Boys
On quiet inland lakes of modest size there'll always be one or two marine hot-rod pilots who have a knack for picking the wrong time and place to "open her up" dart in and out among fishermen, or swoop close to shore right in front of a cottage owned by an elderly couple who came to the lake for a quiet rest. These buzz boys are ruining the reputations of a lot of outboard motors that actually lead a model life. The conscientious and careful owners avoid such indiscretions. They know that these little gasoline engines turning up 4,000 revolutions per minute can kick up quite a fuss at full throttle. So they hold her down a bit. If it's early in the morning or late evening they'll be especially careful in cue respect to the neighbors. And they'll avoid fishermen.

Fish Not Bothered
The outboard motor industry got together and conducted a survey to find out what effect their product had on fish. In a hatchery pond where bluegills were building a nest in preparation for spawning an outboard-powered boat went 'round and 'round right over the spawning area. The bluegills may have become nervous wrecks, but they stayed right on the nest in spite of the noise and churning waters above. In another test a boat anchored and fished every day in a certain spot. Every other day an outboard motor boat buzzed back and forth past the fishing boat all day long. Careful figures were kept on the fish caught per hour on the days when the outboard wasn't operating and the days when it was. There was no perceptible difference in the catch. The survey didn't report the effect on the fishermen, however. They might have wished for a shotgun!

So, if you own an outboard let the golden rule apply there as elsewhere!

BEER AMERICA'S BEVERAGE OF MODERATION

The American Way
The words "Michigan" and "fishing" are practically synonymous at this time of the year. And after a day's fishing, it's the "American Way" to enjoy a glass of cool, refreshing Michigan brewed beer. For beer belongs... to pleasant living, to good fellowship, to sensible moderation. And our right to enjoy it, this too, belongs... to our own American heritage of personal freedom. Beer Belongs...
