East Jordan High School's Red and Black cagers scored a brilliant 55 to 54 victory over the Mancelona "Ironmen" at Mancelona last Friday evening in one of the closest court battles in Northern Michigan this winter.

Keith Evans, junior guard, provided the climax to a hectic hard-fought contest when he dropped in a pair of charity tosses in the final second of play to assure the Jordanites of their fourth conference victory of the season. With his team trailing 54 to 53, Evans was fouled at midcourt and under the new 1952-53 rules was awarded a pair of free throws. Despite all the pressure and the frenzy of the crowd, Evans promptly proceeded to make good on both tries, thus giving the "Red Devils" the win by a slim one point margin.

The lead changed hands many times during the contest. Mancelona was out in front 15 to 14 at the close of the first period. At halftime the score was knotted at 27 all. The locals forged to the front 41 to 40 at the three quarter marker.

Evans topped the local scoring column, tallying 22 points on 8 field goals and 6 free throws. Holstad and H. Patrick shared top scoring honors for the losers with 13 points each.

East Jordan's Reserves ran up against a sharp shooting Mancelona Second team in Friday night's opener and were beaten 67 to 54. McGeorge tallied 12 points to lead the local cause.

The locals will meet a fast improving Boyne City High School quintet here tomorrow (Friday) evening in what promises to be another thriller. Tuesday evening, January 20th, the Red and Black will be hosts to a strong Reed City High School quintet at the local high school gymnasium.

Small but Spacious Plan

Practical Construction

Here is a design full of "different" ideas by Architect Herman H. York. The house is so practical from both the builder's and the home owner's point of view, that it was almost inevitable for the Small Homes Guide board of judges to award it first prize for excellence of design. Something brand new is the louvered front opening of the breezeway, which ties house and garage together as a unit, yet allows full play to summer breezes. This, combined with attractive treatment at the rear, and the built-in barbecue, (fast becoming a standard item in today's home), makes an outdoor living room of this area. Another good feature is the double bath arranged back-to-back, with one unit private to the master bedroom. Built-in shower is extra large. Kitchen work area bypasses back-to-front traffic perfectly. Convenience of basement stairway to service entrance is a definite plus. Floor area 1,389 sq. ft.

Soil Conservat'n Progress Shown

The past years accomplishment of the cooperators of the Charlevoix Soil Conservation District have been many and varied, stated Clayton Healey, chairman of the C. S. C. D.

Cooperators are applying more and more conservation practices on their land as they progress into their conservation program. The paragraph below shows the progress in a few of the conservation practices since 1949. Other conservation practices applied by the cooperators are: Woodlot Management, prevention of grazing of woodlots, diversions, cover crops, orchard management, pasture improvement, construction of waterways, open and closed drains, and tiling.

For instance — Contour strip cropping in 1949 was 120 acres, 1950 — 236 acres, 1951 — 625, 1952 — 690 acres, total 1671 acres. Contour farming in 1951 was 154 acres, 1952 — 182 acres total — 336 acres. Contour orchard 1949 — 5 acres, 1951 — 4 acres, 1952 — 15 acres total 24 acres. Tree plant 1951 — 44 acres, 1952 — 90 acres total 133 acres.

In the past year, states Clayton Healey, the district received through the Federal nurseries about 102,000 trees including 8,000 scotch, 70,000 red pine, 26,000 white pine. There were also 23,000 mult Flora rose planted for experimental purposes.

A few of the cooperators took advantage of the Districts land breaker plow. This plow was used on Adam Prowdzik's farm in Boyne Falls, Ed Thompson's farm in East Jordan, and Norbert Nachazel farm at East Jordan. These cooperators have established 30 acres of low land pasture which means that 30 acres more into production that otherwise would have been idle. The charge for the plow is $.75 an hour and a minimum charge of $5.00.

Harold Goebel, CSCD director and leader of 4-H conservation club, took his club through a capability tour and three meetings in farm planning. As one of their projects they planted trees for cooperators in their neighborhood. They climaxed their program by a conservation field trip to Hardwick Pines and the Higgins Lake Nursery. One of the members Ed Shank, of their club sponsored partly by CSCD, attended Conservation Camp at Kinross, Mich.

Kenneth Van Hoesen, continued Clayton Healey, participated in the Spencer Chemical Company Conservation speaking contest. The theme of the speech was "The Job Ahead in My Soil Conservation District." Kenny won third prize in the state and has been asked to attend the Annual Meeting of the Association of Soil Conservation Districts in Michigan, January 30 and 31.

We must not forget the wonderful job in conservation being done by our teachers in our local schools. Through the cooperation of Max Novak, Charlevoix, Pat Dougherty, Boyne City, and Dick Schroeder, Frank Malone, and Sadie Liskum of East Jordan. Mrs. Sadie Liskum has really done a magnificent job with her 5 grade class. Her class made a model farm showing good and bad practices in conservation, one farm called "Happy Valley" and the other "Gloomy Gulley." Her class also made a conservation alphabet and wrote English compositions on conservation. Finally, Mrs. Liskum and her class received honorable mention in an article in the National publication of the "Soil Conservation" magazine.

Ed Rehman, county agr'l agent, has aided the district in many ways. His excellent job of secretary, plus the varied news articles on conservation deserves a big word of "thanks." The churches, highway department, bankers, machinery dealers have cooperated and assisted us also. By asking the cooperation of other groups and agencies to act on advisory committees to the CSCD board of directors is like cutting the pie into smaller pieces in making the conservation job easier.

The real progress of the district comes when the cooperators show that conservation has been applied on the land. Action speaks louder than words. And the districts cooperators have shown and are doing a real good job. Remember Patrick Henry's famous quotation "He is the greatest patriot that saves his land from the most gullies."

Aside from the potential timber values on Michigan's forest lands, the woods and waters form the main drawing card in the annual $500 million tourist and recreation industry.

Ten dedicated state forests in the upper peninsula total more than 1.8 million acres of state land. The forests range in size from 75,000 to 311,000 acres.

Eggs that are tossed around and jarred will crack or develop broken air cells — both mean lower prices, caution Michigan State College marketing specialists.

THE AMERICAN WAY

Pilgrims' Thanksgiving

BEAR HUNTING CHAMPION

The year's best bear hunting story is in — with adequate proof in bear meat and a pair of witnesses. Hero of the tale is Leslie Royer of Wyandotte, with two substantial backers — Bruce Royer and Don Janneck of Trenton.

The trio went deer hunting near Iron Mountain in the west end of the upper peninsula. They scoured the ordinary fine deer country in that neighborhood for days looking for horns. Nary a shot was fired. All three were just about ready to call it quits when Leslie Royer started something that looked like nuclear chain reaction before the shooting was over.

Fireworks in a Bear Den
Les was hunting alone, about two miles from camp when he happened upon an unusually large stump — hair overturned. Leaves were piled around the base in a rather peculiar way, and Royer's sharp eyes saw bear fur under those leaves. He cocked his rifle, got a long stick, and gingerly probed the pile. Things began to happen immediately. With a great snorting and growling the bear shook off the leafy robe, rared up out of the den and looked Mr. Royer square in the eye. The rifle barked just once. The bear dropped back into the hole, and the hunter, delighted with his luck, pondered his next move. He figured the bear was dead, but he'd take no chances on pulling it out of that hole without help. So back he hurried to bring son Bruce and hunting pal Janneck.

Bear Hunters' Jackpot
When the three reached the den the bear was still there — hadn't moved a hair. Don Janneck bravely offered to pull the animal out of the hole while Royer covered him with the one rifle in the group. This turned out to be a big job, and eventually it took all three of them pulling and tugging together. Before the bear began to move, and then the fun began! No sooner was the big, 300-pound she-bear pulled clear of the den than a 75-pound cub scrambled out of the hole and made a break for freedom. Royer dropped this one, too. Now they were more cautious, figuring on another cub in the den, and sure enough a little problem with the stick drove the second cub into the open. Janneck got that one with a single shot, then stepped down into the hole which now looked as big as a cellar, and out popped a third cub almost knocking him down. Young Bruce killed cub number three — and there wasn't even time to comment on their luck when a fourth cub burst from the den! This went to Royer — his third bear for the day! It'll be a long time before quadruplet cubs are found again — and still longer before 3 hunters bag 5 bear in less than one hour!

Michigan Mirror

Dr. Lee M. Thurston, state superintendent of public instruction, leaves his post next June 30 to become dean of education at Michigan State College.

The intent lister might hear a gentle scuffling in the higher echelons of Thurston's department over who will be nominated by the G. O. P. state convention February 21.

Top men on the pole are Dr. C. L. Taylor, deputy superintendent, and Dr. John S. Haitema, assistant superintendent.

But there is a fly in the ointment. Both men are "available" to succeed their boss—and both men are civil service employees.

The rub is that according to civil service commission ruling, no worker under its jurisdiction may become a candidate for elective office unless he resigns out-right or takes a leave of absence at the time petitions are filed.

From here on it gets complicated. Since this is a spring election no petition will be filed—the G. O. P. nominee will be selected at the state convention.

Taylor and Haitema figure they can keep on working until convention time, and then the chosen one will take a leave of absence until the April 6 election.

But Arthur G. Rasch, civil service chief, announces that it is his interpretation that the political candidacy rule becomes effective when an employe makes any move to win the nomination—and that includes the early jockeying before the convention.

The question is are they candidates before the convention meets to select the party representative? Mr. Rasch says yes. Messrs. Taylor and Haitema say no.

Two other gentlemen surely will be highly interested in the outcome. They also would like to head the department of public instruction. They are: William Emerson, Oakland county school superintendent, and George Schutt, member of the field staff of Central Michigan College.

Robert Poe, vitriolic, outspoken lobbyist for the Michigan C.I.O. council, has waxed bitter over Gov. Williams' appointment of James M. Moses, Marshall publisher to the civil service commission.

It would appear that the C. I. O. was thumping for Walter Krapohl, Flint attorney.

Mr. Poe made it clear—as only he can—that his union might easily be very busy with other things when the Democrats look for help in the spring election.

Michigan now has 6,000 doctors. Not an earthshaking statement, but compared to the war years when the number of medical men dropped to 3,900, it's a comforting feeling.

The recent increase in the number of physicians may be partly due to the liberalization of basic science and medical practice requirements in 1952. The new laws permit doctors from foreign countries to practice in Michigan on one-year licenses while they are becoming U. S. citizens.

"While we still don't have a doctor for every community," says William J. Burns, executive secretary of the Michigan State Medical society, "we have gained several hundred practitioners in the last year."

Michigan's civil defense corps officially has accepted defeat to its once extensive plans for the defense of the state.

Last year the department asked for $3,000,000. It got 853,778 from economy-minded legislators. It was a blow, but Brig. Gen. Lester J. Maitland, civil defense director, with army stoicism, scrapped extensive plans and concentrated on cutting down his staff.

This year budget drafters report he is asking for only $730,782 for 1953-54 to "maintain a nucleus organization of workers."

After his elaborate plans and preparedness schedules had been scuttled, Maitland was forced to telescope his activities into purely administrative functions.

"Another year with a sizeable budget and his staff would have gotten the program rolling..." he said. But he says his present staff (he dropped 38 employes in the cut-back) can handle extension of the corps if disaster strikes, with the addition of a few key workers.

The conservation department reported 1,485 sawmills operating in the state in 1952. Of this total, 540 were in the upper peninsula.

There were 15 present at Sunday School.

Mr. Elisha Rose spent the week end from his work in Greenville with his family.

The Grange Ladies Aid met with Bea Peters Thursday. They are quilting a quilt to be raffled.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Loomis of Advance, helped their daughter celebrate her birthday Sunday.

The Pinochle Club met with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Chanda. They had an oyster supper with 16 present.

Mrs. Allan Reich is a surgical patient at Charlevoix. Her family is staying at the Lewis Prebble home.

The knitting 4-H Club met with Sandra Howard Monday evening. Next meeting is at the Russell home January 27.

There will be a "Penny Party" at Star School Saturday evening at 8:00 p. m. Everyone bring a few pennies and share in the fun.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Howard are spending a few days with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Howard. Norm has just completed his stay with the Army. He expects to work in Flint.

Mich. Bell Tel. Co. Largest Contributor Prim'y School Fund

The Michigan Bell Telephone Company again was the largest single contributor to the state Primary School Fund with a payment totaling $7,178,184.

According to figures released today by C. L. Johnson, manager here for Michigan Bell, $4,402 of the total was allocated to the public school system of East Jordan.

Schools throughout Charlevoix County, including the city of East Jordan, received a total of $18,626 from the company's tax payment.

Johnson said the payments were based on a school census of 932 in East Jordan and 3,943 in Charlevoix County, as compiled by the State Department of Public Instruction.

The company's tax payment this year, largest in its history, amounted to $4.72 for each of the 1,519,514 youngsters in the state, between the ages of 5 and 19 who are on the census rolls.

Michigan Bell, in common with railroads, Pullman, railway express, telegraph, and other telephone companies, pays a state property tax earmarked for the Primary Fund in lieu of other property taxes.

Inside the Capitol

by Lt. Governor Clarence A. Reid

Michigan's Legislature convenes this week in what will be one of the most important sessions of modern times.

This is not a usual session in many respects. The State has a large deficit. There is the question of raising sufficient revenue to maintain State services and at the same time handle the deficit.

This will be one of the last sessions of the Legislature as it now is constituted because of the re-appointment amendment approved by the voters last November 4. This Legislature must also face the problem of expanding educational and State institution needs, particularly in the fields of mental health and tuberculosis care.

I am confident that the Legislature will meet and solve these problems for the best interests of all the people. The question of raising additional money for State purposes can be met so that the interests of local units of government and the schools, which now receive substantial amounts from the State, will not be prejudiced. Realistically, the State must have more money to maintain its operations. I am waiting with interest the report of the Tax Study Committee which has been functioning for more than a year studying Michigan's financial structure.

As a State Senator for 10 years, I was active in helping sponsor plans for expanding our educational institutions and in providing more beds for the mentally ill and tubercular of the State. Progress on this program has been made by every Legislature and plans are under way for further expansion this year.

All in all, this legislative session may well mark the turn of events in Michigan for years to come and I know that the Legislature faces its responsibilities with the determination to develop a sound, constructive program.

The 1953 Farmer's Week at Michigan State College, January 26-30, is for women, too. A special program Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of the week has been set — including the annual style revue staged by MSC coeds who have designed and made their own costumes.

The Job Ahead In Soil Conservation

(by Kenneth VanHoesen)

As the title of this topic indicates you can readily understand how we, who are interested in soil conservation are faced with a tremendous task. Those very enthusiastic individuals in any endeavor can convey their ideas by thoughtful, kind and most persistent leadership. My district has not attained the accomplishments either on the farm or in the hearts of the people who inhabit them; to the degree where a conservationist has his sights set. However, the district organization has, in my opinion, far exceeded the expectation of many of us at the beginning of the district due to many factors present locally, some of these are: the lack of education, finance, bias thinking and desire to improve.

There seems to be no end to the problems which face the Charlevoix Soil Conservation District today. For the more we know the more we don't know. When we think of soil conservation, we are sometimes likely to think of the land alone and this is primarily our aim. However, there are literally hundreds of things directly related to soil conservation. To mention a few: economic health of our nation, community and the individual occupying the land, physical ability, intelligence, cooperation in the particular locality, christian and moral standards. These have a tremendous bearing as to what degree of success any district may reach. Our district has the usual kinds of communities within its borders and there is very concrete evidence of bringing together the good from each of these and creating teachers and leaders who have and are showing the fruits of conservation to the local people through a better living, eye appealing places and increased production. My farm is one of a thousand in the Charlevoix District. However, I am one of only 157 farmers who have asked for assistance from the district. Since having become an active participating member, my farm has gradually increased its production to nearly twice what it produced at the start of my plan four years ago. The practices responsible for these increases are contouring, soil building, fertilizing and a livestock program. There is a great deal more to be done as we started working our plan a little at a time and in two more years will have the whole farm plan completed, which is, I believe, the right way to accomplish the task with a family supporting farm. Other farms in the district are working from the same angle and still others must be, to attain the trusteeship of which they are entrusted. Soil conservation, to a man who is well versed in the subject, means building a way to conserve the soil we still have left, then increasing its fertility so we will have more to conserve for a bigger and better yield. Now, gentlemen, I can produce concrete evidence of all these things and more as a participating cooperator. Also I can show you very definitely here in my own locality how the thing catches on once you as a leader can tell, show and live the benefits. Very plainly speaking, there will be no end to any educational plan for conservation, any more than there has been an end to conversion to christianity. We can thank God for our progress of forty years, so let us not be discouraged. God has had a problem comparable to ours, but it has taken centuries to do and there is much more to be done, so when a man or group of men say to you, how can we complete this job quickly and to an effective conclusion, you can tell him there is none. We enthusiasts who trod the road as missionaries in conservation of soil are the same as He who teaches the word of righteousness. From my standpoint of view as a teacher and farmer, I firmly believe education of the young farmer is the key to the problem at hand.

EDUCATION consists of three parts. 1. Telling, which arouses interest. 2. Showing or seeing how, why and when to do the job. 3. Doing the actual practice on his own farm with TECHNICAL help from the district's technician. The problem of education does not only lie on the farm and in the farmer, it must go much further, primarily to every citizen of these United States whether he be a small city dweller or a large city inhabitant. Conservation is to the utmost concern of ever individual, thus I believe expenditure through taxation of all is the most just and far reaching of any assessments we now are asked to contribute, however, the populace must be told why. By this I mean taxation will be used for far better training, supervision and care of the soil than is now being done. My district has embarked on a financial and publicity program designed to let all of the people in on the problems. Why not do it also from a national level as the Army, Navy and Airforce are advertising for our young people to join up and ease out their lives. It is gratifying to see so many new ways of getting soil conservation before the people with more and more printed in text books for children. These, I am sure are the grass roots of our soil saving problems. Technical educational service alone is not enough in any soil district, we must have far better scientific experimentation applicable to the local aspects of the scene.

FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE must be administered far better than it is now being done by the P. M. A. for 1953 which, as I see it, is as good as none for the small farmer, who is now and always will be the backbone of agriculture. First of all a farmer must live from his farm; second, improve it; third, he must conserve it. From an economical standpoint of today's statistics where does he end up? I can tell you, with a very modest living, a very poor soils building program and no conservation. May I suggest a remedy for part of this dilemma of finance? Don't depend upon the P. M. A. or anyone else to help support your program; make your plan for your farm, whether large or small, and follow it; determination and the will to do it will win your goal.

Through a little closer cooperation of the agencies charged with the responsibility of promoting soil conservation service there can be greater progress for a better living and a better place to live. The day is here when farming is a profession not an occupation, let's have more and better men to do a better job.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Pretty "Foxy" Terrier

Talking about dogs the other night—and Sandy Johnson topped everything off with a tall story about his fox terrier, "Boscom."

According to Sandy, "Comes bird season and that dog won't stir if I take down my rifle. Same if it's deer season and I go for my shotgun—he won't move, but he's scratching at the door if I so much as look at my rifle!"

One day, Sandy decided to fool him. He took down both his shotgun and his rifle—and whosh, Boscom was on his way! So Sandy put the guns back and took out his fishing rod. He went outside and there was Boscom—digging like crazy for worms! From where I sit, a dog that can outguess humans is as rare as a human that can outguess other humans. For instance, I like a glass of beer with lunch but I wouldn't think of pouring you one without first asking. Everybody has preferences—and it's finding out what they are and respecting them that keeps freedom from "going to the dogs."

Kindergarten — Helen Witte

We all had a wonderful time during Christmas vacation.

We started school again by learning about snow. We talked about what good things snow does, then we made a list of things that are fun to do in the snow. We filled dishes heaping full of snow then brought them inside and let it melt. We were surprised there was such a little water.

Friday we had a toy show. We each brought something we received for Christmas. It was lots of fun.

First Grade—Mrs. Brooks

The Rabbit class is reading Fun with Pets and Toys in the new Dick and Jane book. The squirrels are enjoying the new "Guess Who" book.

Those who got a perfect score on the Friday vocabulary test were Winona Cihak, Shirley Crawford, Dick Eichlor, Jim Goebel, Terry Lord, and Frances Wilson.

Many children received story books for Christmas and are bringing them to school to be read during our story hour. We like them very much.

We are glad to begin having a gym period. It is fun to play in the gym just like big folks.

Second Grade — Cora Seiler

All of the children in our room were present on the first school day of the New Year.

Many new baby dolls and 'big dolls too were in attendance. The boys told of their new sleds, skis and electric trains while the girls told of their new toys, books and dishes.

Some of the children told of their big brothers who are in service being home for Christmas.

Richard Chanda went with his mother, father and brother and sister to Fort Knox, Kentucky, to visit his brother Al Chanda who is in training there. His cousins, Boyd and Virginia Crawford went with them.

Lyle Bennett's big brother, Earl, who is in training in the Air Corps, came all the way from Texas to spend Christmas with his family.

Charlene Arnott's brother, Jim, who is in training in the Coastguards in New Jersey, was home for Christmas.

Harold Snyder's brother, Bill, who is in the Army, came home from Georgia for Christmas.

Mrs. Seiler spent her Christmas in Birmingham, Michigan, visiting her nephew, Bruce Sanderson and family.

Having completed their first basic Second grade reader, the children in the "Yellow Class" are reading "More Friends and Neighbors."

The children in the "Green Class" are happy to be reading their new book "Friends and Neighbors."

We have a large map puzzle of the United States. Stanley Sincway can put it together in four minutes.

For stormy days when we can't play out, we have some new games to play and tinker toys and dominoes.

Second Grade — Agnes Johnston

We were all glad to be back in school Monday after having a nice long vacation of two weeks. Many of us were eager to tell about and show some of our gifts we received for Christmas. Each of us told some incident enjoyed during the holidays.

Our gym period, during the winter months, comes on Thursday from 9:00 — 9:30. Some of our time will be devoted to organized play, the rest will be free play.

New magazines for us to read were brought to school by Carol Fales, Donald Bowerman, Betsy Bell and Johnny Mathews.

We are learning the months of the year.

Our new January calendar tells us that Linda Sommerville has a birthday the 16th. Linda will be seven years old.

We chose new room helpers last Wednesday.

Last week we had a perfect attendance in our room.

Our motto for January is "Be Safety Smart in 1932."

Third Grade—Adeline Bowerman

Last week we had only one absence during the week. This week

Monday, we have perfect attendance.

We think this is quite a record for this time of year and it makes us appreciate much more the efforts of our school nurse to provide and encourage inoculation for diseases usually prevalent at this time of year.

Two of our members, Keith Holley and Ila Mae Ingalls, celebrated their ninth birthday this last week, Keith on the ninth and Ila Mae on the eleventh.

We are making a study of Alaska with special emphasis on how industry is helping Alaska. Several magazine articles and pictures have been brought to help us.

Fourth Grade—Grace Galmpe

The first thing we noticed on coming back to school after the holidays was how clean everything looked. It made us feel more than ever glad to be back.

The boys and girls could hardly wait to tell everyone what they got for Christmas and many during the week brought their gifts to show the room.

We wish to thank those who made it possible for us to have the movie, "The Enchanted Forest" as part of our Christmas celebration at school. In addition we would like to thank those who gave us the movie downtown.

A glance at our bulletin board reminds us of the weather outside. Barbara Kortan and Sharon Hughey have set us up a very attractive and appropriate scene for January. A snow man is standing bravely among the drifts while more snow flakes are falling from the sky.

Our new poem "A Wonderful Weaver" by George Cooper, which we are learning, also fits the season.

For a study of winter birds, Harold Murray, and Gary Craig, fixed a lilac branch in a coffee can of cement. On the twigs we are placing paper models of the birds we see, colored as nearly like the real ones as possible.

Last week we enjoyed three movies — Land of Liberty Part II, one about Lincoln and one about the Crusades. Seeing these movies made us think of the many brave men who gave their lives to right a wrong. In connection with this we discussed what a democracy was and we are looking up in books how the Indians chose their chiefs.

Fourth Grade — Jean Strehl

Everyone is glad to be back in school again after the Christmas Holidays. Many of the children brought some of their dolls, toys and games to share with the room.

Donelda Scott celebrated her birthday at school last Wednesday. She is now ten years old. Donelda's mother treated the children with ice cream and cup cakes. The children sang our Birthday song and made cards to celebrate the occasion. We wish to thank Mrs. Scott.

We saw two very interesting movies last week. They were Land of Liberty and Abraham Lincoln.

During our library period last week, we visited the library again. After browsing awhile we picked some new books for our room.

We are all anxious to use our new skates we got for Christmas. We are hoping the rink will be ready soon. Monday we had our first gym period.

Mary Porter brought the book "Mary Poppins Opens the Door" by P. L. Travers to school. Mrs. Strehl is reading it to us.

Sixth Grade — Frank Malone

In Arithmetic we are reviewing the addition and subtraction of fractions. In Geography we are making maps of Western Europe. In Science we have finished the chapter on light and are starting the one on airplanes.

We are looking forward to having fun on the skating rink as we watch the ice being built up on the rink.

We had our first gymnasium period Friday and the first chance for many of us, to shoot baskets.

Mr. Malone has finished reading Tom Sawyer to us and has started Huckleberry Finn with the same author, Mark Twain.

Michigan women who go to Farmer's Week at Michigan State College with their husbands won't be "tag-alongs" at all. A special lively program has been set for them on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this 38th annual Farmer's Week in East Lansing, January 26 to 30.

Headliner in the program is the style revue slated for Thursday afternoon. Nearly 50 Michigan State College coeds will model costumes they have designed and made in their home economics classes.

All meetings for women this year will be held in the main auditorium on the MSC campus.

"Philosophy through Your Hat" is the title of a talk to be given by Mrs. C. White of Kansas City, Mo. Mrs. White will speak Thursday morning about a philosophy of life dramatized and illustrated with hats.

Another important speaker will be Dr. Pauline P. Knapp, director of the Merrill-Palmer school in Detroit. Dr. Knapp will speak on the subject, "Are Family Values Changing?"

An international flavor for women at Farmer's Week this year will come from two illustrated talks — one on Holland and another on Finland. Arne G. Kettunen, state 4-H Club leader who spent last summer in Europe, will talk on his native Finland. Evelyn Zwermer, a member of the MSC home economics staff, will talk about Dutch homes from her experience studying a year in the Hague.

Legion Zouaves to Star on TV and Presidential Inaugural Parade

The Michigan American Legion crack drill-team, the Zouaves, from Jackson, Michigan, were accorded national and local acclaim this week when it was announced they would appear on Ed Sullivan's national television show Sunday, January 18, and would represent the state of Michigan in behalf of the Republican party in the Presidential Inaugural parade January

20, Washington, D. C. The state Central Republican Committee chose the Zouaves for their brilliant, eye-catching parade maneuvers and also because their hometown is Jackson, Michigan, the birthplace of the National Republican party. Above, the 21-man team scales a 14' foot wall to climb a 15 minute drill which is geared to 300 steps a minute. The team, all members of the Richard P. Smith Post 29, Jackson, is comprised mostly of World War II vets but boasts four from World War I of which three are grandfathers. They are the only civilian drill team to perform for the cadets of West Point and famed crowned heads of Europe.

AT&T Co. Show No. Phones in World

Recent statistics released by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company show that the present number of telephones in the world exceeds 79,000,000.

There were nearly 5,000,000 telephones added to the global network during 1951, to bring the world total to 79,400,000. AT&T explained that it takes more than a year to gather information for its annual count, hence all of its figures quoted are as of January 1, 1952.

More than half the increase in telephones was in the United States, which has only six percent of the world's inhabitants. The U. S. tabulation shows one telephone for every three persons in the country, compared with average of only one in every 68 persons in other countries.

New York City, with 3,349,323 telephones, had more than any other city in the world. Among the foreign cities, London, with 1,710,000 telephones ranked first. Washington, D. C., had the greatest density of telephones per population with about 64 for every 100 persons. Atlantic City was second with nearly 55, and San Francisco was third with about 54. The foreign city reporting the greatest telephone saturation was Stockholm with almost 50 telephones per 100 persons.

Canadians averaged 378 telephone conversations per person for the year, the highest per capita calling rate reported. The United States ranks second in this respect with approximately 376 conversations, and Sweden was third with about 309.

Besides the Bell System, telephone service in the United States was provided by nearly 5,500 other privately-owned telephone companies as of January 1, 1952.

Letter to The Editor

To The Editor:
Have you ever put your hand into a bumble bees nest? Dad burn it there are so many folks that don't see eye to eye with me trying to protect our experienced road commission, that I'm inclined to believe they don't like the condition of our roads. And it makes me think of a bumble bees nest because things are sure humming.

Now just this last Sunday I found another item that gives me hope and strength to carry on, what appears to be a one man crusade. My son-in-law Bob Pearsall, to take as many of his last few days of leave at home as possible, found it necessary to fly out to his new assignment on the West coast. Going over our slippery Charlevoix county roads, things were going fairly smooth until we reached Emmet county, on our way to Pellston, and what do we find? They went and put salt and sand on the roads so things were not so slippery. Can you imagine what that salt is doing to the finish of the paint and the chrome bumpers? We may have a few heart rending accidents in our county but at least the finish on our cars will be in good condition. Your Charlevoix County Road Commission Protector,
ED LEHRBASS.

Two Michigan counties are among the 100 top U. S. counties in chicken raising — Allegan being 27th and Ottawa 81st. Allegan was 25th in egg sales and Ottawa was 85th in U. S. census figures.

A husband went out with the boys one night, and before he realized it the next day had already dawned. He hesitated to call his wife, but finally hit upon an idea. "I'm back!" he shouted into the phone. "Don't pay the ratsom!"

Soil and Water Conservation Correlated With School Subjects

An effective way to teach soil and water conservation is to correlate it with as many school subjects as possible, so say Mr. R. V. Liskum, East Jordan teacher and veteran 4-H club leader.

For several years Mrs. Liskum has conducted a 4-H club in soil and water conservation teaching it incidently in school studies. Conservation is a natural. Kids like it and it works in well with social science, general science, English and reading.

Children are naturally interested in nature. A complete understanding of the simplest facts concerning the soil, sunlight, water and their effect on plant growth is placed before them with the tremendous amount of literature available in this field.

Although Mrs. Liskum has a rather young group, 6th graders, they never-the-less will learn about such things as soil formation, wind and water erosion, elements necessary for plant growth and the need for better management of the soil.

Last year this group made a living model of two farms. One whose soil was improperly handled and one whose soil was handled according to today's knowledge of the best land use. Their models contained average soil, with miniature farm buildings, fences and trees. Actual plants grew. There were low wet areas planted to reed canary grass, there were good pastures of ladino clover, alfalfa, and there were grasses areas. Water was applied according to the growing plants needs and the same amount and method of application was made on each

Karen Johnstone entertained few friends at her father's house

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnston Saturday night. Those there were Gale Pageau, Sue Kaley, Joa Edson, Mary Anne Riddell, Janet Yettaw and Charlotte White of Ellsworth, Gene Nachazel, Leon Bartlett, Mike Davis, Floyd Duffall, Gordon Danforth, Bud Simonson and Dick Freeman of East Jordan.

The youngsters saw what happens, a visual demonstration of soil management in a classroom. This winter the class will make another model to demonstrate to themselves and others what they have learned. Forty members are in the club.

Teachers interested in soil conservation should contact K. C. Festerling, district 4-H club agent at Boyne City.

A variety of 4-H conservation projects are available to 4-H members according to K. C. Festerling. They include forestry, bird study, wildflowers, wildlife study, deer yard and fur trapping. Most popular is wildlife study in which the members study the habits and generally acquaint themselves with local game animals and birds. Literature for these projects is available from the 4-H club office in Boyne City.
