EJHS Baseball Team Drop First Game to "Ramblers"

Antrim County Farm Bureau

Now is the time to watch bills coming up and send cards to our legislators and congressmen. Your Minutemen can give you explanations of bills. Possibly your secretary has postal cards along, then you can voice your opinions and mail the cards. Do you read Michigan Farm News and other farm papers to keep up on what goes on in Legislature? Also "Looking in on the Legislature," in Powell's "Farmer by Stanley M. Powell?"

Liability Insurance — Liability hazards increase during the summer months. It is well worth your while to look into the Farm Bureau Liability Insurance, as well as other branches of Farm Bureau Insurance.

"Thank you," so says Austin L. Pino, Rural Enrollment Manager of Blue Cross. "You have made a wonderful progress this year. We appreciate the amount of work that you folks have put into the job of building the roster, which is the list of names of who belongs to Farm Bureau and who have Blue Cross. Over 1100 groups were working on the problem."

Again congratulations and please convey our thanks to all of the local secretaries and committee members who have done such a good job.

Sincerely yours,
Austin L. Lino.

The Farm Bureau Women's Committee met with Kerney group, Tuesday, April 14th, at the home of Mrs. Nancy Montgomery of Bellaire. Nine groups were present and two groups were absent. To date 87 aprons and 8 dresses have been turned in for the Meadowbrook Hospital project. More are welcome.

Coming Events:
May 5, Tuesday — Pot luck at noon. Farm Bureau Women's District Meeting at Charlevoix. Election of officers.
May 20, Wednesday — Farm Bureau Women's County Meeting at Bellaire. All groups are invited. Bring a friend with you. Watch for more details in next week's news.

Tid-Bits

What with restaurants opening, gas stations opening, barber shops moving and what not, East Jordan was in quite a state of flurry the past few days. It must be an indication that spring is here.

Now that we have the Railway Express Agency in Chris' Barber Shop in the basement of the Herald Building we kind of wonder just what next is coming in the back basement door. Tuesday it was at least a million honey bees (thank heavens they were all INSIDE the cages). Wednesday it was a dog. Hope no one around here takes a notion to get a lion, tiger or hippopotamus for a pet!

There's been a change in East Jordan! At least someone else was setting on that table Tuesday night!

It's hard to get out a newspaper when Wednesday and Thursday have been so nice and balmy. This disease called Spring Fever really puts the brakes on doing any inside work!

Have heard considerable comment the past week about the way the Charlevoix County Road Commission has been grading roads. Seems that all this hullabaloo about the condition of roads in this section has finally stirred up some results. For instance reports are that many of the roads are now being graded from all the way back on the shoulders up to the center. Now if this loose dirt from the shoulders is covered with stabilized gravel maybe some of our roads will be passable again. Let us hope that this spring flurry for road fixing is not short lived.

Amy Alden, cookery authority, provides recipes for roast beef, deviled beef bones, broiled steak, London broil and beef roulades. Also tips on what cuts to buy and a roast beef temperature-time chart. See The American Weekly, famous color gravure magazine, with this Sunday's (April 26) issue of The Detroit Sunday Times.

After several postponements, Northern Michigan baseball, high school variety, finally got under way here on Tuesday afternoon of this week as the local high school nine dropped a 12 to 6 decision to the Boyne City High School "Ramblers" before a large crowd at the West Side Ball Park.

It was the first baseball contest of an East Jordan High School nine in two years in as much as the Red and Black did not field a baseball team last spring. The lack of experience showed in the opening contest as 15 miscues on the part of the local defense greatly aided the visitors' cause.

Keith Evans, making his first start as a pitcher, did a creditable job but he was constantly in hot water after the third frame as a result of erratic infield play.

Boyne City clinched its victory in the sixth frame as they came storming from behind with a seven run outburst.

Smith and Whale formed the winning battery with Evans, Danforth and Chanda toiling for the losers.

Evans picked up the two hits in three trips to the plate to lead the local offensive. Smith and Pratt each collected a pair of safeties for the winners.

The Jordanites will meet the Mancelona High School "Ironmen" here at the West Side Ball Park this afternoon (Thursday) at 3:00 p. m. in their second home game of the season. Either Robert Romback or Robert Danforth will start on the mound for the Jordanites with Larry Chandt behind the plate.

CONVENIENCES, WASTE BOOST FOOD BUDGET

Having trouble with your food budget these days? Here are several suggestions from Mary Morr of the foods and nutrition department at Michigan State College to help ease the situation.

Watch how much edible food your dollar buys. Do a little arithmetic to see how much you pay for each serving portion you plan. For instance, does your family eat the fat of the meat, or do you discard most of the fat? Wasted fat represents lost dollars and cents from your food budget. Do you buy large amounts of bone? Bone, again, may be expensive. It represents money but cannot be eaten.

Miss Moor recommends watching closely how much you pay for services which you might do yourself. Is the convenience of buying some food ready to bake and serve worth more to you than the time it might take you to prepare these items for yourself? Some of these ready-to-bake-and-serve items are expensive from the viewpoint of the amounts of certain types of food they contain, she explains. When you try a product for the first time it is worth your while in dollars and cents to check how much you get for the money.

Always watch the labels on foods to get information about the products urges Miss Moor. Where ingredients are listed, the ingredient of largest amount is given first. This may be a clue to what you are buying for your money.

Compare the quality of the food you buy to the quality of the food product you can prepare at home, advises Miss Moor. Sometimes you can be a better cook and manager than you credit yourself.

Dahlquist Stores Purchase Former Lumber Co. Building

Cities Service Station 24 Hour Service

The Cities Service Station on the corner of M66 and M32 is again open for business after being closed the past winter. Under the management of Jerry Bingham and Don Webster, they will be open from 8:00 a. m. to 2:00 a. m. the first four days of the week, and Friday, Saturday and Sunday will offer 24 hour service.

Jerry Bingham, who lives between Elmira and Alba, has had four years experience as a motor mechanic in the army. He is a brother of Mrs. Kenneth Russell of the Peninsula.

Don Webster, of Wayne, has had four years experience in operating a gas station there.

Mrs. Verna Hubbard and daughter, Mrs. Emile Acitelli, and two daughters left Sunday from Traverse City by plane for Colorado for a vacation. From there they will fly to Indiana for the remainder of their vacation, returning to Traverse City by plane.

Dahlquist Stores, Inc. on April 17, purchased the former Lumber Co. building in East Jordan, from Leo Sommerville, and shortly will be operating a self-service variety store in the south side of the building.

According to Harold Dahlquist, president of Dahlquist Stores, Inc. of Traverse City, this new store will be an innovation in variety stores as it will be the first completely self service store of this type in Northern Michigan.

Mr. Dahlquist stated that they started their first store in Charlevoix in 1931, and rose to a chain of 23 stores, sold many of them to private individuals, and are now expanding again with 9 stores already operating mostly in Northern Michigan. Their line includes toilet articles, men and women's ready-to-wear, stationery, notions, etc.

Dahlquist Stores, Inc. are to be congratulated on this welcome addition to East Jordan's Main Street, and The Herald is confident they will maintain their reputation of giving the public quality merchandise at the lowest possible price.

Cancer Crusade Goal Is $1400 in Charlevoix County

"Those who work for cancer control all year around, in Charlevoix County, know how badly money is needed," said Mr. Basil Cummins, American Cancer Society Crusade Chairman. The Charlevoix County Unit is seeking to raise $1400.00 here.

"Our volunteers have been touched by the plight of the cancer patient," Mr. Cummins said. "Skilled in 'making something out of nothing,' they have used salvaged materials to make dressings, sickroom supplies, and other items for the comfort of cancer patients treated at home. But even these need some money."

"Cellucotton filler for dressings must be bought; and we are making dressings by the hundreds; sickroom equipment must be purchased when articles are not donated, and many other little items paid for."

One hundred volunteers are enrolled in the Charlevoix County Cancer Drive Unit under Mrs. Ronald Scott's leadership. "We realize that the major part of the Society's funds must go for the long range program of education and research so that those who might otherwise become victims can be saved if at all possible," Mr. Cummins, the campaign chairman, explained. "However, it is a natural desire to assist a stricken neighbor. That is why our volunteer program is so successful."

By contributing to the American Cancer Society our workers know that all phases of the fight against cancer are being covered, in not only service, but in education and research as well."

The American Cancer Society is the only national organization supported by your gifts, which battle cancer on three fronts. These fronts are Research, Education, and Service to Patients.

"You, too, can help prevent cancer. You can help the potential cancer patient. You can help those who have cancer now. And you can help support those who are working to find the answer to cancer through research. It is a wonderful cause. It is well worth your support."

THE ELUSIVE OTTER

To a trapper an otter represents a valuable and highly prized pelt—and a real trapping achievement, for the otter is an extremely wary and intelligent animal. To the hunter an otter is a rare sight indeed. While he may upland game along a river bank, the sportsman's chance of watching the otter for more than a fleeting moment is one in a thousand. To the wildlife photographer, the picture of a family of otter playing in the water, or enjoying a slide down a steep river bank is a long-cherished dream—and one which rarely materializes.

Otter Native to Michigan

The fact that few people ever see an otter in the wild does not mean the animal is nearing extinction in Michigan. Its population is still probably just about as high as ever, for this interesting mammal has few enemies other than man—and man's trapping activities have a very slight effect on population figures. Biologists say that no known North American animal found in otter territory is capable of killing them in the water, from which they rarely stray but a few yards. When surprised they are fierce and dangerous fighters, and in England where otter-hunting with dogs is an ancient sport, many a valued hound has been killed in the fight to the finish which is often a result of a meeting.

Wide Travelers

Restless and always active, winter and summer, the otter rarely stays in one place for any length of time. Trappers say the animals have a regular "beat" of 20 miles or more, about every two weeks. Normally this course is along a stream or river, where fish are always available—a food which is on the otter menu practically every meal. While some fishermen and woodsmen say they have actually watched otter chase and overtake trout under water, it is more common to find the animal eating slower-swimming rough fish such as suckers and carp.

Most Playful Animal

With an intelligence far ahead of most other Michigan mammals, otter constantly invent new playthings, and build suitable playgrounds. As jugglers they are second only to the seal. And as tobogganists (with a "built-in" toboggan) they have no peers! In snow, ice and mud, they construct slides from the tops of the steepest riverbanks, straight down into a deep pool. Whole families will play for hours, and it is the ambition of this writer to film such an episode here in Michigan. If any readers discover such an otter "playground," a note to me in care of this paper will bring immediate action, and with your help we'll try to bring this highlight of Michigan Outdoors via thousands of fellow sportsmen via the modern miracle of television.

FARM FACTS from your County Agricultural Agent

Ed. Rebmam, Co. Agr'l Agent

Plans for a bigger and better soil conservation program in the Charlevoix Soil Conservation District were made last week by members of the program committee of the soil district, Ed Rebmam county agr'l agent and secretary of the board reported today. The members of this program committee and others who met last week were Clayton Healey, East Jordan; Leslie Sheridan, East Jordan; Percy Penfold, East Jordan; Bill Grimm, Boyne City; Ed Rebmam, Boyne City; K. C. Festerling, Boyne City; Roy Hardy, Boyne City; Agnes Healey, East Jordan; Bob Straw, Charlevoix; Bob Reidel, Boyne City; Doug Gilkerson, East Jordan. Others who were on the committee but who were unable to attend were E. D. Bowman of Charlevoix and Emma Reinbold of East Jordan.

There were four other committees appointed by the board of directors of the Charlevoix Soil Conservation District to aid in the program of greater service to the people. They are the publicity committee, machinery dealers committee, finance committee and education committee. All of these committees will have a part in this great program in order that the Charlevoix Soil Conservation District may become one of the best in the state.

Clayton Healey was appointed chairman of the committee and Ed Rebmam secretary. Many programs were discussed. Among them were the following: tours, poster contest, essay contest, soil samples, demonstrations, demonstration teams, a pamphlet, joint meetings of rural and urban people, regation Sunday and a county-wide banquet.

The members of the committee thought that this concentrated program should have a great wind-up. A county-wide banquet was mentioned as a possibility regarding the outstanding work in the education program. There may be awards for winners in the contests, demonstrations, and other programs. Another meeting of this committee was planned for May 27 to complete arrangements.

If you feel tired most of the time, take stock of your work habits, advise Michigan State College home economists. After a thorough physical examination you may find that fatigue comes simply from just dressing to do a job. If that is the case, break the job up in several parts over a period of several days, they suggest.

HEALTH FACTS

Most men with heart ailments can and should work—at their old jobs or at ones better suited to their physical limitations...

In its Industrial Cardiology program, the Michigan Heart Association is seeking to develop practical selection and job placement program to match the worker to the job...

Recent studies show that where cardiac workers are matched to their jobs they produced 2% above unimpaired workers on the same job!

Jet Has Exceptional Luggage Space

Due to ingenious use of inside space, the Hudson Jet has more usable trunk room than many higher-priced cars. Spare tire is located in upright position for easy removal. Spring-loaded hinges provide effortless opening and closing of trunk lid. Trunk is key-opening and self-locking.

And they thought that last year was good. Also they're one of our advertisers. Hmhmhm!

The Dropped Gauntlet
BY ED LEHRBASS

The opinions expressed by Ed Lehrbass in this column are not to be construed necessarily, nor even probably as those of The Herald. They are only those of an experienced and responsible commentator.

Went to Maurice Hartung's auction sale. The larger part of both Charlevoix and Antrim counties attending. With cars strung along M-66 half a mile each way from the farm came to mind what I've been preaching about advertising. A paper with the circulation such as our Herald, plus the hand bills put out, informed the folks. And then they came. So busy talking to many friends that I didn't even enter one bid. And that's unusual for yours truly.

Among the information reaching my ears this past week came this about new industry for our East Jordan area. This fellow said, "Ed, any industry coming to East Jordan, and there are more than just one looking over the situation, are very much interested in taxes, and why and the wherefor. This fellow Downing is scratching the surface of something which we've been observing for some time past. And what are they going to do about the sewage disposal system? Tax a new industry to death to pay for it?" There's the sum and substance of someones reasoning and thinking and it matters a lot what our new administration in the city building puts on record about it. Our Herald travels far and is read by many, which makes it the great paper it is. Therefor when you boys decide what to do, let us know and we'll print it.

An interesting item from the Ellsworth Farm Store. They're way ahead of last year's business in volume and dollars and cents.

Among the letters arriving this past week came one about the road commission which sort of made my hair stand on end. It has a lot of names and places, factual stuff, but the writer asks me not to mention the name attached. A reworded excerpt asks if the people of Charlevoix county have the intestinal fortitude for referendum and recall? I guess this end of the county isn't the only possessor of such wonderful road engineering.

MICHIGAN OUTDOORS

EARLY SEASON TROUT TECHNIQUE

Too many would-be trout fishermen specialize in a single technique rather than acquiring a working knowledge of several. For instance, the so-called "dry-fly purist" pursues his trout using only an assortment of dry flies whether the fish are rising to such flies or not. On the other hand the man who's an expert with streamer flies has a tendency to stay with that type of lure thru thick and thin. And the real wet-fly angler is getting to be a rare commodity!

Wet-Fly Fishing Productive

In the early days of a typical Michigan trout season the fish are just beginning to return to normal feeding habits after spending of winter moving about as little as possible and thereby requiring very little food. At such times their energies are not at peak, and very naturally one may expect to find them feeding beneath the surface rather than rushing upward in the effort required to snatch a dry fly as it floats by. Nymphs, or flies in their larval stage, crawl about on gravel bottoms, and are often dislodged by the current. That's when they become targets for hungry trout, and in the spring probably 90% of a trout's diet is made up of such larvae. So the wise fisherman imitates nature by presenting a nymph facsimile, or a suitable wet fly. Upstream Casting Wet-fly fishing is difficult—not in the casting itself, but in the ability to hook your fish. To do the job properly the angler must use a leader no larger than 2X in-tippet size, and should cast at a quartering angle upstream. Some prefer a tiny split shot about 18" above the fly to carry it quickly to the bottom. Now one must watch the floating line and what is visible of the leader above water for the slightest unnatural movement which might indicate fish action. Slack line must be taken in constantly, but without exerting pressure on the fly which should roll along the bottom as freely as possible. While you may miss many strikes in this type of fishing you'll find yourself getting much more attention from the trout, and with practice your early-season catch is sure to be considerably better than that of your dry-fly competitors. The fact that trout feed more underwater in the spring is further proven by the unflinching luck of the worm-fishermen during the opening days. Later in the season many a dry-fly expert can outclass bait fishermen—and take bigger fish, too. But take our tip in May: Practice and learn the art of wet-fly fishing in your favorite trout stream anywhere in Michigan Outdoors!

Speaking of roads, and who can't, our 66 to Ranney School road was reworked. Engineered so that our many friends may feel that they have company. Our bit of road is something you want to take pictures of. I'm going to when I can, because it'll look nice in that book I hope to write about our most unusual methods of road building. Must remember to sometime tell you folks about the little story that came my way. About the two men traveling at night. And when they passed the 32 and 66 junction the blazing sign lamp was seen. One of the men lost a bet when that name couldn't be found on the map.

WEED WORK NEEDS TIMING IN PASTURES

The secret to having good pastures is keeping weeds down, says a Michigan State College plant physiologist. Buford H. Grigsby, MSC weed control specialist, suggests that very weedy pastures can be profitably plowed and reseeded. But for pastures which cannot be plowed, or where grass is worth saving, Grigsby has some suggestions. Some weeds can be checked by mowing at the right time of the year. Wild carrot, dock and bull thistle should be mowed when in the bud or the first flower stage to prevent spreading of seed. Two or more seasons of mowing will be needed to control carrot, bull thistle and chicory, Grigsby says. Mowing will probably not check spotted knapweed, Canada thistle, hoary alyssum and orange hawkweed. Weeds can also be controlled by applications of 2, 4-D. The spray, applied when plants are young and growing, will control most annual and some biennial weeds. Grigsby warns that spraying will cause some damage to legumes, but he adds that established white clover and alfalfa are seldom destroyed by properly timed spraying — when there is less than two inches of new growth. "Early spring, while legumes are still dormant, or late fall, after the first killing frost, are the best times to apply 2, 4-D for the control of pasture weeds," he says. "Very weedy pasture may be harmed less by spray than by weed competition." Brush in pastures can be killed by: Foliage sprays, applied during the growing season when the brush is in full leaf; cut-stump treatment, spraying the stump after cutting it near the ground; and the basal-bark method, treating the lower 10 inches of the trunk with oil spray.

DISEASE FOUND IN BEAVERS

A number of dead and partially decomposed beavers have been found in the back country of the western upper peninsula, possibly the victims of deadly tularemia, the conservation department reports. The disease has not been positively identified as tularemia but trappers have been cautioned to use extreme care in handling the animals during the present trapping season. Two trappers have been admitted to the Escanaba hospital, where their ailment was diagnosed as tularemia. Formerly the disease was often lethal in humans, but with new "wonder" drugs much of the danger has been removed. However, the bacteria is particularly harmful to rodents and to some rodent-like animals such as hares and rabbits. Trappers in the Baraga district report finding about 15 beaver carcasses, many obviously dead at least since mid-winter. Thirty-six were reported found in the Crystal Falls area and department biologists picked up 12 of these for

Michigan Mirror

The "advantages" of being in debt will soon be described by factions in government who take a long range view of the state's operating deficit. Arguments can be heard on the beneficial aspects of a "manageable deficit." And, surprisingly enough, there are some sound reasons why a government deficit is of less importance than one in your family-finances.

For one thing, they say, the estimated $65 million deficit is really only a bookkeeping figure. For example, the state orders a building to be constructed at a cost of $5 million with completion in two years. That $5 million immediately shows because the service had not yet been performed.

Then, with Michigan's poorly devised earmarking of state funds, it is easy for one state account to run into the red and show a deficit, while other accounts have an over supply of money which cannot be used to balance things up.

A deficit, particularly of the "manageable" variety, is a great advantage, it is believed, in riding herd on a legislature which might otherwise be inclined to spend a surplus frivolously. Dr. William Miller, one of the two Princeton tax experts who analyzed Michigan's financial condition, remarked in a speech, "That Michigan could go on living quite nicely forever with a $40 million deficit of the type it now has."

Trick is to turn the deficit liability into an asset in an argument which will help hold off the present legislature from making new tax laws. The idea is that people, faced with the possibility of paying new taxes, can more easily be sold on changing the Constitution to remove many of the earmarking provisions in this way, Michigan will end up with what's generally considered a fairer, more efficient tax system.

If no tax action is taken this session, don't be surprised. Legislatures might make signs like coming up with something, but many of them (unofficially) would like to wait until after June 1, the end of the state's fiscal year, to see what conditions look like with all the records compiled. While there exists some pressure to come up with a tax program, there exists terrific pressure from every direction to "tax the other guy." This leaves the legislator in middle, wondering whether to alienate one group severely by taxing, or leave a much larger group only a little annoyed that the problem has not been solved.

Most legislators agree privately that the Princeton report is sound economically. But politicians shake their heads at the political aspects which will force many of them to support legislation which would reduce state spending in local areas where it is now being unfairly and unwisely distributed. If the problem can be solved by a referendum vote of the people changing diversion provisions, all legislators would be taken off the hook.

No one should be amazed that Michigan's deficit problem, which is really more a political problem than one of finance, should seek a political rather than a financial solution.

Little support was forthcoming for a bill in the Senate designed to change the dates to Monday of all national holidays except Christmas and New Years and provide the public several more long week ends. The bill is back in committee and has little chance of passing this session. Its sponsor, Sen. Don Vander Werp, had the blessing of Labor and Industry and the active backing of the tourists associations in prospect of changes. Similar changes are being submitted to 42 state governments this year, part of a national plan to be constant in holiday celebration.

laboratory autopsy. Apparently the disease has traveled through where beavers are found. Biologists say deer, fish and carnivores such as otter, mink, raccoon and bear are not generally susceptible to the disease.

A friend told us of a strange errand. She was asked by a friend to meet her at a dentist's office at 9:30 one morning to pass judgment on an upper plate which said dentist had made for said friend of our friend.

The bulk of nursery orders for plantings under the conservation department's game habitat improvement program was mailed last week. A total of 731 farm co-operators may expect to receive the roses, pines and other planting stocks from nurseries in a short time. Many applicants were received too late for the spring season; these will be processed during the summer and fall for spring plantings next fall.

Only reason Senator Vander Werp could see for the lack of interest among other Michigan senators is a sentimental one, or the tendency to "leave things as they are."

If the proposal gets the backing he hopes to get from the common man in Michigan, he is confident that next time around, the bill will become law.

All Michigan drivers will be effected if a proposed bill becomes law. For one thing, it sets the date of each license expiration to coincide with the driver's birthday. This provision alone is expected to save the state $30,000 annually, for notices reminding drivers to renew their licenses will no longer be sent. They will be expected to remind themselves when their birthday anniversary arrives.

A more important provision of the new law will set up a department in the Secretary of State's office; require complete files showing histories of moving traffic violations and accidents. Rate structure for licenses will be changed. A new license will be $3 for three years and $1.50 for each subsequent renewal. Chauffeur licenses will be $2; minor's restricted licenses, $1.

Tightening of driver licensing operations is guaranteed by traffic experts to reduce by one-third the number of traffic fatalities in a year, so this bill will receive close study by legislators.

ARBOR DAY

Tree planting ceremonies date back to early civilizations for trees have always been important to man's existence. Arbor Day, as such, however, is purely American in origin and was first observed in the State of Nebraska. The plan was conceived and the name "Arbor Day" proposed by J. Sterling Morton, then a member of the Nebraska State Board of Agriculture. At a meeting of the Board held at Lincoln, January 4, 1872, he introduced a resolution to the effect that Wednesday, the 10th day of April, be especially set apart and consecrated to tree planting in the State of Nebraska and named Arbor Day.

Since that first Arbor Day the idea has spread and been adopted throughout the United States and by many foreign countries. The Arbor Day celebration is a means of giving public recognition to the many benefits provided to man by trees.

In 1885 the Michigan legislature resolved "That the Governor is hereby requested to call the attention of the people of this state to the importance of planting trees for ornament and shade by naming a day upon which the work shall be given special attention to be known as Arbor Day." Each year the Governor has designated which day shall be set aside for Arbor Day activities. For many years the last Friday in April has been selected since this day is generally suitable for tree planting in both northern and southern limits of the state. This year Arbor Day will be celebrated in Michigan on Friday, April 24th.

As a school activity the observance of Arbor Day has spread throughout the United States and to practically all the major nations of the world. Michigan schools often observe Arbor Day by planting activities on the school forest or the planting of a shade tree on the school grounds.

Many memorial plantings dedicated to fallen war heroes or others are made on Arbor Day. Forest or group plantings are always more appropriate for memorial purposes than individual plantings since too often an individual tree is damaged or dies and the memorial is lost.

Many cities and town celebrate Arbor Day with ceremonies accompanying the planting of street or park trees. Such ceremonies serve a useful purpose in encouraging individuals to establish tree plantings of their own and in making the public aware to the need for plantings in public areas. Every city and town in the state would benefit from well planned street tree planting programs. Trees are not for just today but are living monuments which can provide happiness for generations yet to come.

- ✓ Greatest durability, yet most reasonable price
- ✓ World's best ride, yet no useless weight
- ✓ Highest power to weight, yet utmost safety

ANSWER: Only the HUDSON JET

For the first time anywhere you can get all the qualities shown above in one economical, compact car that sells at a low price—the new Hudson Jet.

This new kind of car is possible only because of Hudson's exclusive "step-down" design (the floor is recessed), which provides the lowest center of gravity among American cars.

That is why the Hudson Jet safely handles more power in relation to its weight, and provides far greater performance than any other car in the low-price field.

Moreover, this highest power to weight is a key factor in the Hudson Jet's outstanding economy in gas, oil, tires and upkeep. Try this new kind of car.

The Servicemen's LETTER

Hi Fellas:

It seems that some time ago when I wrote that Mrs. Pauline (Clark) Nichols could be found at a certain Air Base outside of Tokyo that I was given and in turn gave out the wrong address. Pauline is actually at Tachikawa Air Base about 20 miles outside of Tokyo. Her husband, Col. R. T. Nichols, Jr., is Vice Commander of Overall Headquarters, FEALOGFOR at this base and anyone wishing to contact Mrs. Nichols can do so through him at the headquarters building. Pauline, herself, is now working with the Red Cross Base Unit which is in charge of receiving and caring for the casualties that are being flown in from the Korean front lines. She says that most of the wounded reach this base within 24 to 36 hours after they leave the front lines.

Robert Vrontron, who has been in Fitzsimmons General Hospital at Denver, Colorado, for quite a while is finally due to be discharged in about four weeks. He expects to get home sometime in the last of May.

Pete Lundy pulled a fast one on us this past week. Of course you read in last week's letter that he was due for a leave at home. But what did that feller do? He came home on Sunday and got married on Monday. And guess what he told me. He said that he didn't even know it himself before Sunday. Of course, you've got to take that with a grain of salt. It was just Tuesday that he told me all this and I don't think the poor guy was quite back in his right mind yet. How about that, Pete? Anyway, Pete had to go back to Knox on Friday the 17th to start leadership school. And say, Pete, you won't be seeing Al Nelson there after all. That dope that I gave you about his being an instructor there was all wet. He himself was taking instruction to prepare him for a further teaching assignment at a new camp out West. In fact, he's on his way out there right now. Gosh, I almost forgot to tell you men that the girl who snared Pete was Theda Hart.

PeeWee Peck writes from Korea, "I guess it is about time that I let you know where I am and what I'm doing. I'm about 50 miles from the front lines. I don't know how long I'll stay here but I'm going to school for five days. Boy, I sure am getting a lot of schooling now."

"I have been moving around a lot these last weeks but I hope I will stay here for awhile. I might, too, because my outfit is here. They built this school."

"I am writing this while I am on guard duty. It is about 8:30 in the morning. It sure is cold here at night. Not too bad in the day time. I am in the 578th Engr Bn, 40th Inf Division. I am glad I stayed in the Engineers as I like the work they do."

"Well guess I'll have to close now as I've got to go out on stand for two hours. Pvt Lyle R. Peck, 578 Engr Bn, 40th Inf Div, APO 6, c/o PM, San Francisco, Calif."

Roger Benson is completing his last few days work down at Aberdeen Proving Grounds. He is due to graduate on April 25th as a 2nd Lieutenant. He expects to reach home here about the 27th. Good going, Roger.

Harry Webster wrote on the 13th, which was just about a day before he should have received his paper with the changed address. "The training has been going fair, so far, but they clamped me in the hospital for a week so I'll probably be transferred to another company."

"I see the smelt fishing is about to start. I'll bet there will be a lot of fellows that're going to miss that old dipping this year, like me. I tried to find Don Gifford but couldn't locate him in that company. If he is located in Co C, A. I. B., he is just across the street from our outfit."

"It seems to me that all it does around here is rain, or should I say cloud bursts, because it really comes down. What they call a little old shower, we would call a flood in Michigan."

"I'm in my fifth week of training and it isn't as bad as the first two or three weeks were. It seems to be getting easier. We are supposed to be in Artillery but I'm beginning to have my doubts the way the training goes."

"As far as Arkansas goes I wouldn't trade Michigan for 20 of them. I just don't care for the country at all. It's got some terrific mud, so our outfit found out, mostly red clay and it really gets slick when it rains."

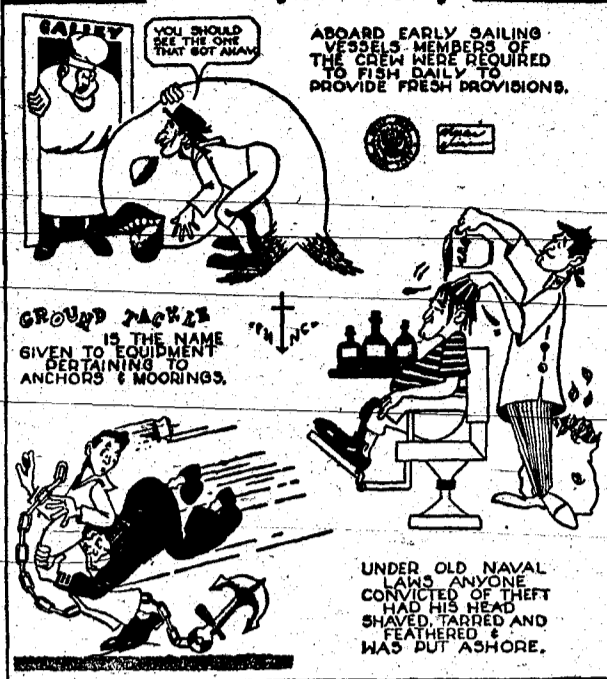

"Guess that's all for this time. Pvt. Harry G. Webster, Co D, 15th A. I. B., CCA, 5th Arm'd Div., Camp Chaffee, Ark."

I've rechecked my address for Don Gifford, Harry, and we have it just as you gave it. If he's not there he must have moved and we haven't been notified."

Earl Hart writes from Schwienfurt, Germany. "Well, guess it's about time to be dropping you a line. Nothing much new has happened over here except that I'm a Pfc now. I just turned around the wrong way in the orderly room and got hit with a pair of flying stripes and there I was, and about time. The 29th of April I will have a year in and just one more to go."

"The weather has been nice since the last of February in this part and not much rain. I work in Battalion supply (S-4) so I get a lot of time on the road. I get to see a lot of country that way.
