Tid-Bits

"Guessing game of the week!" Guess whose car was parked in front of the bank for a half hour or more by a 10 minute parking sign?

Jim Doherty, in the Northern Michigan Review writes:

"When the editor writes an editorial he knows three things will happen.

"People will like it and once in awhile do something; they won't like it and will be mad at the editor; or third, it isn't read. What happens is seldom known in advance, although with the neck stuck out every week on an opinion it's known that every once in awhile somebody will take a swipe. "Actually, editorials are supposed to stimulate progressive thinking."

Seems like every time we write an editorial only one thing happens and that is: "Somebody doesn't like it and gets mad. Yet everyone that gets mad at us absolutely refuses to put it in writing for publication. Why?"

Our whole belief in editorial writing is this: "People will either like it—or won't like it—but will do something constructive about it."

Haven't heard any more about an Evis water conditioner for our City mains. How come the silence, fellows? Yes or no. If no, why no?

Speaking of getting mad, one of the best-businessmen East Jordan had (he's gone now) might get good and mad at you one day, but the next he was his same old friendly self again. In our book he was the most progressive businessman East Jordan has seen for a long time.

Speaking of checking up on their husbands! We hear that a couple of East Jordan women have devised the system of putting a self addressed postcard in a bunch of letters for friends' husband to mail. That way they can tell by the postcard when they were mailed!

The new administration in the City Building stirred things—up good at the Council meeting Tuesday night, firing the City Clerk, and putting in a new Treasurer.

Then there was the couple in a neighboring town who went to Florida last winter, she worked at restaurant work and he as a carpenter, and came back with $500 more than they took with them. Both of them claim they had a dandy vacation while there, too. Wonder what they pay printers down there?—In winter that is!

County Clerk Pete Bulow brought in a supply of the new Charlevoix County Maps Tuesday. Anyone wanting one can get it at the Herald Office or from Supervisor Barney Milstein.

We hear that one of our school teachers sat down the other night and figured out just how much an hour the yearly salary came to. It came to just 53c per hour.

Thelma Hegerberg, who was fired from the City Clerk office after five years and five months service, stated that she was fired on the fifth month and fifth day. Five seems to be her unlucky number, and she better be careful on May 5, 1955!

Cherryvale Extension Class Met With Mrs. Archie Griffin

Well, the Cherryvale Extension Class finally met at the home of Maxine Griffin, April 27. Nine members were present and we are honored to have one more of our neighbors join our group, Frances McLaughlin.

A very interesting business meeting was conducted with a lot of discussion. Mary Bennett was appointed as our Sunshine correspondent.

Very interesting lesson from State about "Your Insurance" was conducted by Lorna Beishlog. Sure was a good lesson and one can't know too much about insurance. Do you have the right insurance protection to meet the need of you family?

Most important they say is "read" your policy and know what you're paying for.

The meeting date has been changed to last Monday in the month. Next meeting will be held on my son, Roger Griffin's, first birthday, May 25th, at Jane Penny's. Pot luck dinner is planned for 12:30. See you there classmate.

Pease - McWatters

The Church of God, Charlevoix, was the scene of a wedding at 7:00 o'clock Saturday evening, May 2, 1953, when Bonita Pease of Charlevoix and George McWatters of East Jordan exchanged their wedding vows before Rev. George Majors, pastor of the Church of God.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Pease of Charlevoix, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry McWatters of East Jordan.

The bride wore a blue-gray suit with white accessories. Her corsage was of pink rose buds. Delores Pease, sister-in-law of the bride, served as maid of honor. She wore a light blue suit with navy and white accessories. Leon Pease, brother of the bride, served as best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was given by the bride's parents at the Marion Center Grange Hall for 100 guests who enjoyed music and dancing.

The bride attended Charlevoix High School and the groom attended the East Jordan High School. The young couple will make their home in East Jordan.

Ethel Clark, East Jordan Director of Red Cross, attended the meeting of the Charlevoix County Red Cross held at Charlevoix, Wednesday evening. The fund drive was discussed.

Smith - Chipman

The East Jordan Methodist Church was the scene of a pretty wedding Saturday evening at 8:00 o'clock, May 2nd, 1953.

In an impressive double ring ceremony Catherine Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Smith, became the bride of Robert N. Chipman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Chipman of Mt. Pleasant.

Rev. Charles Thomson, pastor of the United Missions Church heard the couple speak their vows before over 250 friends and relatives who attended the ceremony.

Jason Snyder sang, "Because", "O Phomise Me" and "The Lord's Prayer", accompanied by Fred Stecker at the organ. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of brocade net, made princess style with high neckline, small collar, yoke of nylon net; the bodice buttoned back to the waistline, long sleeves with three buttons at wrist; the skirt ended in a four foot train. Her fingertip veil of nylon net bordered with brocade lace, was held in place by a crown of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white gardenias and red roses.

Jo Peterson of Petoskey, friend of the bride, served as maid of honor. She and the bridesmaids, Marian Smith and Joan Dilworth of Petoskey, friends of the bride, and Kay Hayes of East Jordan, cousin of the bride, wore gowns made of frosted-organza, two yolk and two orchid, made with V-necklines, tiny cap sleeves, gathered skirts, ballerina length, and wore headbands of sweet peas with yellow and orchid net. They carried bouquets of pompons and sweet peas with ribbon streamers of yellow and orchid.

Roy Wendt of Midland, friend of the groom, served as best man. Joe Smith, brother of the bride, Dick Thomas and Louie Rasmusson of Petoskey, friends of the groom, seated the guests. Tall baskets of white lilies and snapdragons with bridal wreath fern and potted palms decorated the altar.

Following the ceremony a reception was given by the bride's parents in the social room of the church to over 250 guests. The bride's table was decorated with a white linen cloth with evergreen and yellow daffodils and centered with a tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom in a large heart of lace.

The bride's aunts, Mrs. Laurence Hayes and Mrs. Marshall Behling, poured the tea and coffee at the long table spread with a white linen cloth with tall lighted tapers and bowls of yellow daffodils. Cakes and ice cream were served with the wedding cake.

For her wedding trip the bride chose a navy blue dress with red accessories. After a wedding trip of two weeks to Kentucky, back to New York and Canada by the coast, the young couple will make their home in Petoskey.

The bride attended the East Jordan High School and Ellhart Business School and at present is Laboratory Technician at Little Traverse Hospital, Petoskey. The groom attended Mt. Pleasant High School and Ferris Institute and is employed as Pharmacist at Spencer Drugs, Petoskey.

Ramblers Beat Jordanites 4-1 Last Thursday

Coach Earl Brotherston's Boyne City High School "Ramblers" handed the East Jordan High School nine its third setback of the season at Boyne City last Thursday afternoon as they triumphed over the Jordanites 4 to 1 in a ball game played in a steady downpour at the old Boyne City Fairgrounds.

East Jordan was able to get but three hits off "Shorty" Smith, Boyne City righthander, who registered his second pitching triumph over the Red and Black this spring. Robert Romback, Jordan Sophomore, hurling his first high school game did a creditable job giving up but six hits, walking two, and striking out two. Boyne City clinched the verdict in the third frame as they pushed across three big runs after two were out on three hits and four East Jordan misplays.

Smith and Whale formed the winning battery with Romback and Chanda toiling for the losers. The Jordanites will travel to Mancelona this afternoon (Thursday) where they will meet the "Ironmen" at 3:00 p. m.

(An Editorial)

The R. F. D. -- Waste or Service

Recent editorials and articles in certain newspapers have portrayed the Rural Free Delivery Service of the Post Office Department as a wasteful branch of the postal service of this Nation. It is not believed that these articles were based on a comprehensive study of the service or presented in the proper perspective.

We have no argument against the soundness of economy in government, or in the postal service. The rural letter carriers of this Country, through this Association, have pledged their fullest cooperation to Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield in his endeavor to bring a more adequate and economical postal service to the American public. It is the intention of the rural carriers of this nation to fulfill that pledge. It is felt however, that a clearer picture should be given to the scope of the RFD and the service it renders.

The RFD is literally a post office on wheels. The rural carrier brings all the services of any post office directly to the roadside mailbox of over nine million families and hundreds of thousands of business establishments in the rural and suburban areas of this country. They sell stamps, write and cash money orders, register letters, accept and insure parcel post and deliver all classes of mail. They are not just a delivery or message type service but in actually a traveling post office.

The RFD has been the pioneer within the Post Office Department in improving, and extending service—and in doing so with a great reduction in the number of employees. In 1925 there were 45,189 rural carriers, who drove 1,223,391 miles daily and served 6,598,178 families with a population of 30,351,618. In 1952 there were 32,546 rural carriers who drove 1,492,935 miles daily and served 9,294,171 families with a total population of 33,586,928.

A comparison indicates that the Rural Delivery Service is today traveling 22 percent more miles, serving 40 percent more families and 10 percent more people with 28 percent fewer rural carriers than in 1925. Thus, the RFD is today serving more people, driving more miles, handling a tremendously increased mail volume, and doing it with 12,643 less carriers than in 1925. A national average of people served on the RFD discloses that each rural carrier renders a complete postal service—not just delivery—to more than 1,000 rural Americans six days a week.

It should also be pointed out that there are 1,806,000 miles of dirt and unimproved roads in this nation. The rural carrier travels a large portion of these roads each day and often maintains several pieces of equipment in order to serve his route under varying weather conditions.

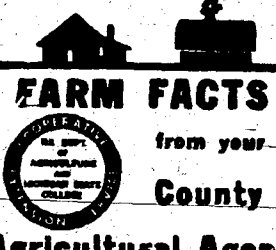

It was noted in the articles referred to that the average yearly salary of the rural carrier was $5,462. This included $1,260 equipment allowance paid at the rate of nine cents per mile. A recent survey indicated that the national average cost of maintaining equipment to serve a rural mail route was 10.7 cents per mile. Thus, the $1,260 is not in any sense income and is insufficient to maintain equipment to perform the service required. The difference is assumed by the individual carrier out of his income, thereby reducing his net take-home pay, on a national average, by over $200 per year. This results in a final net income of less than $4,000 per year.

The rural carriers of this nation—and this Association holds the membership of more than 90 percent of them—point with justifiable pride to the growth and scope of our service. We are proud of the contribution the RFD has made to rural and suburban living in the providing of a complete and adequate postal service. We feel assured that the growth and usefulness of the RFD will continue, predicated upon the practice of courteous, efficient and economical service.

The RFD will shoulder its share of responsibility and work with the team to reach the announced goal of economy in the Post Office Department. We are a group who are close to the people of rural America. We know they will applaud a program for the elimination of waste and the institution of economy. We know, too, they will differentiate between waste and service in an agency so important in their daily lives.

We have, therefore, been compelled to rally to the defense of our service and ask only that the facts be known before the misnomer, waste, be applied to the RFD.

FARM FACTS
 from your County
Agricultural Agent
 Ed. Rebman, Co. Agr'l Agent

Fruit doesn't just happen on the tree—it's there, because of good pollination. "Whether or not trees will be pollinated depends on careful planning," says Ed. Rebman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent. A good orchard must be planned out for proper pollination. Farmers must take into account whether trees will pollinate themselves, whether they must receive pollen from other varieties, or whether they are incompatible with other varieties. The four important Michigan apple varieties—Jonathan, McIntosh, Delicious and Northern Spy—all have viable pollen and will pollinate each other.

As for pears, Bartlett, Seckel will not set fruit from each other's pollen but all other varieties are cross fruitful.

Sour cherries are self fruitful and require no pollinator. Peaches will set their own fruit, except for J. H. Hale, Mikado and a few other varieties not widely grown. Most plum varieties are helped by cross pollination. Stanley, Reine Claude and German Prune appear self fruitful, other varieties aren't. Sweet cherries are all self unfruitful, and Bing, Emperor Francis, Lambert and Napoleon will not set fruit if pollinated by each other. Cross pollination can be provided for in several ways. The best time is when the orchard is planted. Self unfruitful varieties should never be planted singly or in blocks. Varieties planted together should have about the same blooming season and come into bearing at the same time. Varieties planted for pollinizers should be compatible with the variety to be pollinated, produce a large amount of pollen and bear blossoms every year.

Other methods to assure pollination are: (1) Planting vacancies in young orchards where cross pollination is not sufficient with suitable varieties. (2) Grafting branches which will pollinize. They should be grafted high up in the parent trees, preferably in the south or southeast portion of the tree. (3) Placing bouquets of cross pollinating varieties around the orchard in pails hanging on the trees or on stands several feet above the ground. For further information write the county agricultural office for folder 129.

Michigan State College home management specialists point out that fatigue can come from just thinking about a long, difficult task you have to do, like a family ironing. They suggest that breaking up such a job into several short periods would likely eliminate the tired feeling you get just thinking about it.

For the last two years Craig was first with 72 bushels per acre, Eaton was second with 63 bushels and Beaver was third with 62 bushels per acre. Craig is a new New York variety and it is hoped it will continue to be a higher yielder. No seed of Craig is available. Rebman says visitors will be welcome to observe these varieties growing on the Nicoloy farm.

Rural Life Sunday Is Fifth Sunday After Easter

Rural Life Sunday falls annually on the Fifth Sunday after Easter. This will make it May 10th this year stated Bill Grimm farm planner for the Charlevoix Soil Conservation District. Rural Life Sunday is a recognized day on the Church calendar in most of the Protestant denominations. The Catholics and to some extent the Episcopalians have been observing the day as Rogation Sunday. Here is an opportunity to highlight Soil and Water Conservation, a list of Bible texts on which sermons may be based can be secured from the Soil Conservation Service Federal building in Boyne City.

"The Creed of the Soil Conservation Service seems appropriate at this time. As a soil conservationist, I believe God created by His divine processes for the benefit of man, not one man, nor one generation, but man-kind for all time. I believe the Almighty gave man an inheritance of the earth, not to be hoarded as a miser guards his treasure, but to be used with wisdom and in the fullest for the perpetual benefit of all men.

I believe all of man-kind, regardless of race or creed are entitled to a fair and equitable share of the earth's bounty commensurate with their own efforts. But in so believing, I hold the irrevocable conviction that man himself owes earth a debt of respect and fealty. I believe that whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap; that he who manages his fields, pastures, woodlands, and streams with respect and wisdom shall reap the bountiful harvest and so shall his descendants while he who uses them selfishly, thinking only of his own immediate gain, shall bring to grief his land, himself, and his children's children.

Holding these beliefs to be true I dedicate myself to the task of helping my fellow men realize their own personal responsibility in conserving the earth for the generations which follow them. To this end I shall devote my knowledge in guiding the efforts of those who till the soil so that the land which nurtures us shall be fruitful without end.

For truly, the earth is the Lords and the fullness thereof, but the responsibility for its stewardship is vested in man.

The Dropped Gauntlet BY ED LEHRBASS The opinions expressed by Ed Lehrbass in this column are not to be construed necessarily, nor even probably as those of The Herald. They are only those of an experienced and responsible commentator.

With the official announcement of Spring, our usual Memorial Day parade, now nearing, comes this thought. It's an interesting item that our eminent expolitic, ex-elderman and present keeper of the store, Wm. Taylor, does a wonderful job at the business end of a tootling horn. As a suggestion we might interest him in dressing as a major domo and tootlingly lead the Memorial Day affair.

I know that with Spring work there are many busy moments, but withal some of you might set down of an evening and write a few letters to the editor. Or are your taxes O. K. and are your roads in most excellent shape and is the city reading its water meters right and is the police department doing its duty in a manner which pleases everyone and is the weatherman turning on the right valve at the right time and are the fish biting the right bait and are you satisfied that our businessmen's committee is doing justice to your pledge of faith in them, your monies?

When our current leaders in interesting a business to locate in our East Jordan area run into difficulty, invariably the comment is made to me, "Ed, why don't the Porters and the Malpasses do the talking to our prospects?" My thought on that is: "The Porters and the Malpasses are big business and we're happy that they're a part of East Jordan. And they know how to talk to others in big business. But we must all realize that no matter to whom you are talking they're folks like you and I. And they meet honesty with honesty. Also if we don't veil our intentions with secrecy you'll find that they are regular folks too. It has been my experience in meeting with a lot of folks from the top to the bottom of that ladder of success, that they all want to be just folks and treated as such. The hoiety-toity treatment is a throwback to England and as they like it over there, let them keep it where it is. We, being founded on the basis of just folks, let's keep it that way and look around at the wonderful results."

Now that the road commission has seen to it that the hole in the road from M-66 to Ranney school, the one near Versal Crawford's, has been given a face lifting, Bill Murray won't know how to drive. He says that hole has been in the middle of the road for more years than he cares to remember. Seems as though all the voters in Charlevoix county are checking the road commission's engineering project out this way. We'll report to you folks as things continue to happen. I know you'll like to see for yourselves. And it touches us deeply at the interest you take.

The other day I saw a write up in the Grand Rapids Press about our Mackinaw bridge situation and why the deal should be left as it is. Without a bridge, that is. The thought occurred that we can't be too far from a realization of our dreams that there will be a bridge. For the same folks are fighting against it that fought the opening to the public of Dead Man Hill in Antrim county. Their fighting did just the right thing. It called folk's attention to the faults with our procedure of going at the situation. We correct them and then a realization of our dreams, the bridge. Also the folks I run into seem to be the ones not contacted by their poll. They want the bridge as I do.

Did you folks notice in the picture "Ivanhoe" the purpose of "The Dropped Gauntlet"? Sort of explains the name for the column.

Letterbox To the Editor: I was one of a group of 27 Michigan farmers who went to Washington, D. C., on April 25th, on a chartered Greyhound bus. There were seven women and twenty men in our group. (With delegations from Ohio and Pennsylvania we totaled in all, one hundred people.) We had four complete days in our Nation's Capitol, cram-packed with sight-seeing, conferences with U. S. D. A. and State Dept. officials, and visits, by appointment, with the Michigan Senators, Homer Ferguson and Charles Potter, and with most of the 18 Representatives from Michigan. We had an interesting and snappy session with the two Senators, in Ferguson's office, which lasted one hour, on Wednesday morning, April 29th. Our Michigan group then split up, with from one to seven persons calling on their Congressmen (including one Congresswoman, Ruth Thompson of Whitehall) in their respective offices in the House Office Building. I was the only one in our group from the 11th Congressional District, so I called on Rep. Victor A. Knox. Several others accompanied me, as

The state's hot potato tax problem was passed deftly from freshly washed hands of Representatives into reluctant laps of Senators last week when the House approved both an income tax bill sponsored by Senator Joseph P. Cloon and the Mill corporate profits tax. By their action, House members removed pressures from themselves and left the next move up to the Senate.

First reaction there was to arrange an organized stall for time, so the Senate asked for an agreement with House members to recess from May 22 to June 15 at which time only tax and appropriation bills could be considered. In the meantime, Senate logic went, the path would be clear for many other bills, which have been sidetracked by lack of time, to be considered.

But House officials refused to go along with this plan and Senate members had to devise a different program. Ironic outcome of the rapid maneuvering in the House is that Sen. George N. Higgins, bitter foe of corporate profit taxation, found the wording of Rep. Walter H. Nill's bill substituted for his own in a proposal already cleared through the Senate. This has the parliamentary effect of making Higgins sponsor of the corporate profits tax, which he detests.

The maneuver was possible because a majority of House Republicans and Democrats got together on the plan to get some action on tax legislation. Once an agreement was reached, it took about 15 minutes to make it legal by floor action. Voting ran about 70-15 on the issues as they came up rapidly for action. The procedure involved a vote for immediate consideration of the Christmas tax bill which provided a flat one per cent income tax. The House then approved a motion to substitute the words of the Cloon Senate bill for a tax on business and individuals with incomes over $10,000, which was bottled up in the Senate Tax Committee. It was then voted to change the wording of Senator Higgins' bill by inserting Nill's, and the deed was done. The problem became the Senate's.

Michigan's Supreme Court elections have taken to the limelight lately. Chief Justice John R. Dethmers recently attacked the present system of selecting judges asking, "Can judicial officials be expected to hand down impartial decisions when those decisions may affect their re-election?" He also cited instances where organizations worked in elections to defeat judges who had ruled unfavorably in litigation effecting the group. The Chief Justice supports a plan currently advanced by the Michigan Bar Association where judges would be appointed rather than elected. Justice Dethmers won the recent election for his position over Justice Clark J. Adams by only 2,054 votes and many people expected the loser to ask for a recount. Although this may seem close, its a wide margin compared to the spring of 1943 when Emerson R. Boyles of Charlotte defeated Bert D. Chandler of Adrian 179,288 to 179,226. Despite the slim two vote margin, Chandler did not ask for a recount. Adams followed this precedent, holding that the integrity of the Supreme Court should be held above the questioning of a vote of the people.

Senate approval for the Mackinac Bridge maintenance bill was predicted by Senator William A. Ellsworth, one of its sponsors. But he made no such predictions about the House. Decision on this matter seems to boil down to the committee that will study the bill. If it is reported out, Representatives will have a chance to vote it through. If not, it will die.

Tough luck has dogged Bridge financing. Bond salesmen say the identical issue which was refused last month without a guarantee of maintenance could have been sold in January. Several similar issues from other states were brought up, but the abundance of such bonds on the national market, forced sellers to make their deals better. The state must now agree to maintain the bridge during retirement of the bonds (to the tune of an estimated $419,000 per year) if the bonds are to be sold. Arguments on both sides of this question may lead to some interesting battles.

Resorters and cottages expressed happiness earlier in the session with a bill which controlled the speed of motor boats on lakes and rivers. The bill passed almost unanimously in the House and was sent to the Senate. There it died in committee. Reason given is that sections of the bill proposed drastic police control and no time remained to revise the terms. Other objections were made against provisions which required permits from a proposed waterways commission for the use of lake bottom to build docks or wharves. An offer to remove this section of the bill did not convince members of the committee. The speed control portion should be approved for Senate vote.

Watch labels on canned foods to get information about the product you are buying, remind Michigan State College nutritionists. Where ingredients are listed, they are given in order of ingredient of largest amount and other ingredients placed in order of decreasing amounts. For instance, a can label saying "beans and pork" would indicate there are more beans than pork.

The Servicemen's LETTER

Hi Fellas:
Bill Streeter arrived down in Georgia just after that twister hit there last week. Following are a few notes that I stole from a letter we wrote to his folks. Will you forgive me Bill? You most likely heard about the tornado and read about it in the papers. Boy, it's the first one I've ever seen and I hope it's the last. We've been busy ever since it hit. It tore up a lot of buildings on base—just flattened them right out or carried them away.

I was one of the first to go into Robins (the town). I saw quite a few people who were hurt and bleeding and a few of them dead. It sure was a horrible sight. Houses just flattened all over the place. I saw one house that was crushed and had 4 cars on top of it—completely ruined. I saw four foundations of houses, but no houses in sight. Cars were turned over all over the place—telephone poles were down and some had fallen on top of cars. Our job was to search through ruins of homes looking for bodies of people who were missing this afternoon and tonight. We were relieved just a little while ago.

Bill's new address is: A3C William A. Streeter, 7th Radio Relay Sqdn, Robins AFB, Ga.

Dick Sommerville checked in from Korea with the following letter: "The snow is all gone here in Korea and it's getting warmer every day. I suppose before too long it will be too hot to be comfortable."

There are quite a few fellows from EJ here in Korea, but it is rather difficult to look them up. Jack Wilson is in this same division with me. I went up to see him today but I didn't have much time to locate him. I've about got him pin-pointed though. I'll surprise him one of these days and walk in on him.

I am a radio operator with the combat engineers. We are located about 10 miles from the Punch Bowl. I guess there are quite a few fellows from EJ in this vicinity. It isn't bad over here but it gets awfully lonesome at times. Don't all you fellows from EJ, here in Korea, agree with me?

"Say 'Hello' to all the fellows for me. Pfc Richard E. Sommer-ville, H & S Co, 120 Engr C, Bn, APO 86, c/o PM, San Francisco, Calif."

Pete Lundy is back in Fort Knox with the following address: Pvt Richard Lundy, 5th Co, Student Regt, The Armored School, Fort Knox, Kentucky.

Don Braman is on his way home from the Canal Zone. He will not be here at EJ for a time as he is taking some schooling before he gets his leave.

A new man in our midst this week is Pvt Rodney C. Steenbergh, Co A, 84th C. B. N., APO 301, c/o PM, San Francisco, Calif. Rod is building bridges with the engineers over in Korea. He writes home that he is now working about 18 hours a day and 7 days a week. That's a long week, man.

Here's a letter from Al Chanda down in Fort Knox. "I have a few minutes so will write a line. When I arrived back at Knox, leadership school was full and no new classes for three weeks. So we are now attached to Hq & Hq Co, Div Arty and we are serving as instructors on training committees. It's a good deal, as they say in the Army. We get up at 5:30; go to work at 7:30; get off at 11:00; go back on at 12:30; and get off at 4:00. We all have Class "A" passes and are given one three day pass a month in addition to our 30 days per year leave time. As of now we are attached here indefinitely, so unless something comes up I might not leave Knox for the next 18 months. Even if it can last 10 months then they can't ship me overseas."

Well, Jake, some of the guys are going to the movies so I'll close and tag along with them. Pvt A. Chanda, Hq & Hq Co, Div Arty, 3rd Armd Div, Fort Knox, Kentucky."

Roger Benson didn't get home after his graduation from OCS as he planned. The Monday after his graduation he had to go back to work again at Aberdeen Proving Grounds. He is now in the Student Officer Detachment, Box 772, at Aberdeen. On May 25th he is going to start another school. Ammunition Supply. It's an eight week course after which he thinks he will be shipped overseas.

Jim Pollitt wrote from Korea and the first thing he mentioned was the heat. Guess from the sound of that the snow must be pretty well gone over there. He says the winds sure do blow the sand around and that it is hot in the bay but at night it is like an ice-box. He is sleeping in a tent. Jim is working in the truck almost every day. He is supplying the front and has been doing so for the past two weeks. Jim is expecting to go on R & R the 8th of May. He has five months in Korea and has 23 points to his credit. When he gets his 40 he expects to be sent home.

I'm sorry you've been missing some of the copies of the Herald, Jim. I've checked your address and it is the same as you put on this last letter. There must be a slip-up somewhere on your end. Better catch that mail clerk and give him the deuce. Jim Russell's address is: Btry C, 158 FA Bn, APO 86, c/o PM, San Francisco, Calif. Take it easy on those narrow roads up those mountains, Jim.

So Long Men, "Jake" Snyder

We hear from the grapevine that the trout are moving up the Jordan, the smaller ones, that is. The big fellows made it both ways without any interference from us. Never let it be said that we are in favor of opposing Nature. In addition, those seven and eight inch trout are much tastier than any whopper, be it rainbow or steelhead. They must be a recent poll of trout-eaters clearly shows that more small trout are consumed during the season than large trout during twenty seasons. The evidence is there! Well—it was there once.

Another rumor has it that there is a movement afoot. We think it's better that way—suppose it were on horseback.

Scholarships Awarded Students By MSC

A total of 455 entrance scholarships have been awarded to high school graduates from 76 Michigan counties by Michigan State College, according to J. Robert Stewart, M. S. C. scholarship director.

The awards, which became effective in fall term, 1953, were made on the basis of financial need of each candidate in addition to their scholastic achievement, leadership ability, and contribution to school life, Stewart said.

The scholarships cover tuition fees of the recipients. They are awarded for one year, but may be renewed for four years if the student maintains a satisfactory scholastic average.

Scholarship winners, listed by cities within the county classification, are as follows (if the high school has the same name as the city, the city is not listed):

ANTRIM — LaVerna R. Root, Central Rural Agricultural school; Harold LeRoy Patrick, Mancelona high school; Helen Patricia Goetz, Elk Rapids high school.
CHARLEVOIX — Bette Jean Nichols, Boyne City high school; Amy Lou Kipke, Charlevoix high school; Sally Beth Nesman, East Jordan high school.
EMMET — Nancy Anne Moore and Robert Merriek Warner, Petoskey high school.

GOVERNOR'S CONFERENCE INAUGURATED

The first annual Governor's Tourist and Resort Conference in Lansing proved itself a springboard for a lot of new thinking on outdoor problems. Our natural resources were put under a kind of microscope for study, carefully appraised, then considered in the light of long range planning.

Dr. Justin W. Leonard, Research Chief of our Conservation Department, explained the "new look" at wildlife management—an approach that has been widely discussed and discussed by sportsmen everywhere in Michigan.

By most of our old standards when a species of fish or game began to disappear there was only one logical move: The State must restock in a hurry. This called for game farms and fish hatcheries operating full blast at a cost that put a terrific price tag on every planted fish or game bird brought home as a trophy of the chase. Pheasants were worth about $3.50 each . . . legal sized trout in the creel about $1.20 per. It was costing the sportsmen and taxpayer a lot of money—some of it still on the books.

But gradually more and more straight thinking is taking place among the sportsmen of Michigan who are finally beginning to believe the research biologists. They've been telling us for the last ten years that money used for stocking and planting would be far better spent in habitat improvement.

They've been preaching that a given amount of land or water endowed with definite food and cover limitations can harbor just so much fish or game and no more. And more often than not the encroachments of civilization are doing more harm than good to game and fish living quarters. So the combination of more fishermen and hunters plus the degeneration of habitat has resulted in a steady reduction of the "take" per customer.

Will planting or restocking help in such a case? Definitely not, say the experts, except on a "put and take" basis. By that they mean plant today and kill tomorrow by rod or gun before natural limitations step in and kill the fish or game by starvation.

Trout Planting Persists
About a million legal-sized trout are planted each year for "put and take" purposes. Most of them are caught in a hurry. It costs plenty—and our research experts say this money, too, would be far better spent in stream improvement, enabling more wild trout to live and to reproduce naturally. There are hundreds of miles of trout streams in Michigan in dire need of improvement. Here's hoping the day will come—and soon—when the cost of planting trout will be diverted to the cost of opening up long miles of new trout fishing spread over a lot more area in Michigan Outdoors!

Michigan State College potato specialists are cooperating with the U. S. Department of Agriculture and colleges all over the nation to try to develop potato varieties that will resist 25 viruses diseases which threaten potatoes. More than 2100 varieties are being used in cooperative work at Sturgeon Bay, Wis.
