Legion Auxiliary To Canvas for "Poppy Day"

The girls of the American Legion Auxiliary Rebec-Sweet Post Unit 227 will soon be asking everyone in our community to wear a Memorial Poppy. A house to house canvas will be made in East Jordan May 21 and 22 and poppies will be sold on the streets on Saturday, May 23. This date is the official Poppy Day throughout most of the nation.

These poppies, blooming in the hospital wards throughout the long, stormy winter months, will come forth on Poppy Day to wing their three-fold message of Remembrance, Helpfulness and Service, straight to the heart of an understanding America, as it listens to the voice of the poppy as it rests over every loyal heart.

"I am not just a crepe paper flower. I am a glowing symbol of the sacrifice made by that gallant flower of American manhood who marched away at the call of country and who sleeps here and over there, under their white crosses, row on row, where poppies sway and toss, to kiss each cross.

"I am not just a crushed bud of paper, wound together and fashioned by the tired hands of those other thousands who marched away at call of country, only to return home, broken in body and spirit with the thread of economic success in life broken. I am the wistful symbol of their sacrifice, made daily, behind white hospital walls, without the blare of drums and cheers of frenzied multitudes.

"I am not just a tag flower, offered by the American Legion Auxiliary. I am the living, throbbing symbol of the obligations and sacrifices required of all good citizens in binding up the wounds of a nation's disabled and I represent your contribution to that cause.

"In remembrance of America's heroic dead and in helpfulness to her living disabled and dependents, wear me on Poppy Day!"

The Dropped Gauntlet
 BY ED LEHRBASS

The opinions expressed by Ed Lehrbass in this column are not to be construed necessarily, nor even probably as those of The Herald. They are only those of an experienced and responsible commentator.

Met a man with the heart of the thinking of the Mackinaw bridge in mind. His version was that folks, up around the area where the bridge would have its beginning from the lower part of Michigan, haven't heard of a poll. And if someone took it why didn't they contact all the folks instead of just those that were against getting the bridge?

He lives right up there, too. Hmmm—and have you noticed how things are proceeding?

Ah, here's a note! Versal Crawford tore the front end of his pickup apart on a bit of unusual road engineering which was done out our way. Just be careful folks when you use our re-engineered circle drive from M-66 to Ranney School to Nettleton's Corners.

Phil Gothro, poor fellow, must get accused a lot by some folks of telling me a lot of things which are put into my column. Matter of fact, on my last visit he left the shop and paraded the street to make sure observers knew that he wasn't spilling the beans.

This secretive stuff, as mentioned last week, isn't quite kosher. But to me is means that I get a lot of information that much quicker.

Stopped to see Ed Rebec. He mentioned that when folks got to talking about wages he totaled up his hours as Alderman and found he is working for the city for the healthy sum of seven cents per hour.

The firing of our past City Clerk sort of touched our heart. She may not have been the perfect clerk, (and among you who is faultless?), but dad-gum-it, she was an individual. And even if some of the things she was criticized for were true, being in the public eye, she was at least entitled to a hearing.

I should have believed Bud Hite when he told me, before the last election, that the clerk would be unceremoniously fired when Taylor became Mayor. I thought it was just a campaign threat and it makes me feel bad inside that the people voiced their opinion to this by electing him on it. But then things being as they are, hope our new clerk doesn't suffer the same fate. Didn't know Thelma Hegerberg, but am on speaking terms with Alberta Nowland.

As Ed Rebec was opinioning, appointments were read over so fast that it sort of caught a guy off base, sort of like railroading. Didn't even have enough time to question a thing before the motion was made and seconded that appointments be approved. But the little item which tells where the votes on this are, tells the whole story.

As Alderman Strehl would say, everything went as smooth as glass.

Another thing which must be attributed to our astute thinking Ed Rebec. He has found, as Ing Olson has, which I mentioned some weeks ago, that our town is pulling together as it never has before. And he attributes it back to a certain editorial by our editor. The editorial may have made some folks very unhappy but it has dawned on the unhappy ones, my quotes, "When the truth is spoke, it hurts, but we'll all live to be happier by it."

Another Bridge item. Mr. Fairman, from over Ellsworth way, from reading his bit in the Grand Rapids Press, is on our side of the fence. He puts up some pretty good arguments too.

Another just said, "Are you past thirty and wrinkled?" When I grabbed my handy baseball bat, she, showed me an add in the Detroit News.

Present for the meeting were: Mr. and Mrs. Patrick, Mrs. Haig and Mrs. Fritz, Boyne City; Mrs. Burns of Walloon Lake; Mrs. E. H. Clark, East Jordan; Mrs. Ross Alexander, Ironton; Mr. and Mrs. Livingston, Mrs. Bennett and Fran Martin of Charlevoix.

Fungicides can be sprinkled right into garden seed packets and shaken around to coat the seeds and fight disease, suggests Dr. Edward A. Andrews, Michigan State College plant pathologist.

Blood Procurement Clinic in County
 June 29-30, July 1

The Charlevoix county blood procurement clinic, conducted annually under the direction of the Charlevoix county chapter of the American Red Cross in co-operation with the Michigan Health Department will be held June 29 and 30 and July 1. Mrs. R. G. Bennett, blood chairman for the local Red Cross chapter, announced Wednesday at a regular meeting of the chapter at the home of Mrs. A. L. Livingston in Charlevoix.

Mrs. Bennett also reported that the county's quota for the three-day clinic has been set at 260 pints of blood. A percentage of this will be processed into plasma and fractions including gamma globulin used in the treatment of polio, for civilian use and the remainder will be shipped as whole blood to the fighting front in Korea.

Local chairman who will serve in their respective communities are Mrs. Don Haig of Boyne City, who is also chapter chairman; Mrs. T. D. Malpass of East Jordan, who has served for several years; Mrs. Frank Burns of Walloon Lake, who is also a chapter director; and Mrs. George Wolf of Charlevoix.

The Michigan State Health Department blood mobile unit will spend one day each in Boyne City, East Jordan and Charlevoix.

At the business session at which Mrs. Haig presided, the chapter also voted to send four candidates to the Red Cross Aquatic school at Whitehall next month for specialized training to become qualified lifeguards. The chapter will finance one candidate from Walloon Lake, Boyne City, East Jordan and Charlevoix.

Each trainee must be 18 years old and after receiving the water safety training must return to his community to serve as a life guard on a beach in the area. Each community may send more than one candidate but must finance any extra candidates.

Other business included the presentation of the treasurer's report by Mrs. Livingston which revealed that the annual fund drive netted a total of $4,531.96; a secretary's report by Mrs. Hazel Fritz of Boyne City, and executive secretary's report by Mrs. H. W. Patrick of Boyne City.

At the close of the meeting, the chapter officers and directors enjoyed a social hour and refreshments.

Present for the meeting were: Mr. and Mrs. Patrick, Mrs. Haig and Mrs. Fritz, Boyne City; Mrs. Burns of Walloon Lake; Mrs. E. H. Clark, East Jordan; Mrs. Ross Alexander, Ironton; Mr. and Mrs. Livingston, Mrs. Bennett and Fran Martin of Charlevoix.

USE CHEESE FOR SAVING, GOOD HEALTH

Cheese usually plays a supporting role in menu planning, but it deserves a starring role, points out a Michigan State College nutritionist. Not only is cheese a concentrated, valuable food, it's also in abundant supply now and relatively inexpensive.

Mrs. Lucile Decker of the M. S. C. School of Home Economics reminds homemakers that one pound of cheese contains the equivalent of four quarts of milk fat and the equivalent of three quarts of milk in protein, calcium and phosphorus. Cheese is rich in vitamin A and riboflavin. Compared with other common protein-rich foods, cheese rates high in fat, protein, ash and calories.

Mrs. Decker wants to correct the mistaken notion that cheese is indigestible. Nutritional research has proved that cheese is one of the most completely digestible foods.

There are two general kinds of cheeses, process and natural. Spreads and other cheese products which have added ingredients such as cream milk, skim milk or cheese when in addition to natural cheese are called process cheeses. Mrs. Decker points out that process cheeses are somewhat diluted and contain less of the natural cheese nutrients. However, the handy sizes and the convenience of process cheeses make it attractive to many homemakers.

FARM FACTS
 from your County
Agricultural Agent
 BY ED REBMAN

Cooking garbage which is fed to swine is the newest step being advocated by federal and state authorities for controlling velicular exanthema in hogs, says Ed Rebman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent.

Rebman cited the 27 cases of V. E. in 10 Michigan counties since last October 5. The outbreak cost the state $11,756.81 besides the share contributed to matching federal funds.

Dr. Glen W. Reed, Michigan State College extension veterinarian, says that 26 out of 27 cases of the disease in Michigan were in garbage feeding establishments. The other one was traced to the feeding of scraps, which also are garbage.

Now, Macomb, Wayne and Oakland counties are under federal quarantine because of the disease. Dr. Reed says the proper cooking of garbage fed to hogs can eliminate losses from V. E. and can aid greatly in the control of hog cholera. Garbage containing raw meat scraps, he adds, can spread other damaging diseases such as foot and mouth, Newcastle disease in poultry, swine tuberculosis and erysipelas.

(A law requiring the cooking of garbage to be fed to livestock was introduced at the current session of the Michigan legislature.)

The only way of eliminating rats on the farm is through a program of sanitation, says Ed Rebman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent.

He says poisoning is not the only answer. Farms must be rat-proofed to do the job completely. Don W. Hayne, Michigan State College zoologist, says poisoning has its limitation. Poisoning, he explains, reduces the rat numbers but makes it easier for the remaining rats to survive. And rats are prolific—more so when there are fewer rats.

With a program of sanitation, however, the zoologist says, the farm's ability to support rats is very low.

Sanitation includes cleaning up refuse as well as ratproofing. County Agent Rebman says grain bins can be ratproofed by putting sheet metal or heavy hardware cloth around them and screening ventilators. New bins should be planned so that they are ratproofed.

That means, he says, that a farmer must plan ahead if he is going to store grain properly. Zoologist Hayne says that Warfarin is the recommended poison for use on the farm. It should be mixed with corn meal, rolled or ground oats, or powdered sugar and vegetable oil for best results.

Placing of fertilizer in bands two inches below onions, sugar beets, head lettuce and spinach gave much bigger yields in Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station tests than drilling it in with seed.

Caught Red Handed

The time for wildlife to produce its youngsters is fast approaching, a time when conservation officers are faced with a hatful of headaches caused by such "cute" youngsters as this baby raccoon, live-trapped last year at Rose Lake wildlife station. Fawns, bear cubs and baby raccoons all make fine enough pets, but it's strictly against the law to keep them. Conservation officers, charged with keeping wild animals in the wild, are yearly faced with the tough job of preventing people from picking up woodland youngsters and are asking help in the problem. This young coon was given an ear tag and immediately released for later study at the game

Michigan Mirror

Spending money may be fun to some people, but to Legislators this year its the occasion for bickering, badgering and even open warfare. Both House and Senate have passed bills appropriating money they except to collect from the new tax program so long in the making.

House proposals, which were concerned with expenditures for operating funds, were passed with little controversy. Only important change was the elimination of money to operate Michigan's naval reserve; a saving of $27,167. Representatives voting against this appropriation charged that the naval militia is made up of 1,900 men who do nothing; constitute nothing more than an officers club. The men draw $50 allowance for uniforms that have no use. Only meetings held, according to Representatives fighting the appropriation, are for an hour or two every six months to figure out how much to ask from the state.

More controversy existed in the Senate where a small band of Senators tried unsuccessfully to reduce appropriation bills for capital outlay mostly for new building or remodeling. The group aimed to deduct $4,494,000 from a total $7,938,000 which the Committee on Appropriations has designed for new construction of State institutions.

Representatives rubbed their hands in gleeful anticipation of some wholesale cutting of the Senate provisions as they reached the House floor for consideration. They felt safe on their own program since expenditures were about the same as last year. By legislative custom the chambers alternate in the designing of a budget. One year the House studies and proposes capital outlay measures; the Senate operating expense. The next year, the subjects are reversed.

Basic difference in thinking between those who proposed the spending of money for new buildings and those who oppose it seems to be this: One group says we need the buildings now, with emphasis on the now. The second group believes that the state should spend no money until its present deficit problem is solved. Senator Creighton Coleman, a young Republican leader, pointed out that an elaborate program is needed now because Michigan has done little building in the last 20 or 30 years while the population has increased from 30 to 40 percent. The Jackson prison situation, for example, demands immediate action.

A major attack was made to remove funds for an artificial ice rink in the Upper Peninsula. Critics of the appropriation pointed to this expenditure of $159,100 for Dee Stadium at Houghton College of Mining and Technology, claiming that the money was desperately needed for medical aid for Michigan citizens, and should not be spent for such facetious items as ice rinks in north Michigan. Other efforts were made to reduce expenditures for libraries and other buildings at Michigan State College and University of Michigan. But in the end, bills passed were very similar to what the Appropriation's Committee recommended.

Much study was devoted, said members of the Senate Appropriation Committee, to the proposals they made and they stood behind them. Senator Don Vanderwerp, western Michigan Republican, said that Houghton was the first college in the state to make much of ice hockey and that investigation showed the rink was an integral part of the recreation program. He also indicated that committee members were not surprised at attempts to reduce their appropriation plans, adding that it is much easier to try to improve a thing than it is to create it in the first place.

Memories of troubles at Jackson prison were recalled by the budget which allows a total of $487,000 for that institution. Of this $81,000 is earmarked to remodel Cell Block 9; $32,000 to remodel a dining room; $250,000 to remodel two floors of cell block 1. Marquette would receive $529,700 from the proposed budget, $500,000 of which is designated to pay for the construction of 200 new cells at a total cost of $950,000.

Other figures include $660,000 for modernizing University Hospital in Ann Arbor; $1,320,000 for libraries and roads for U of M; $1,370,000 for a new library, new barns and storage space at MSC; $58,000 for improving facilities at Ferris Institute; $169,200 (includes the $159,100 for the ice rink) for College of Mining and Technology in Houghton; $500,000 for libraries and classrooms at Central Michigan College of Education in Kalamazoo; $26,682 for water mains at Michigan State Normal; $125,000 for the Northern Michigan College of Education improvements, and $100,000 for a maintenance building at Western Michigan College of Education.

School for the Blind picked up what most people considered a well deserved boost when Senators Harold M. Ryan (D Detroit) and Elmer R. Porter (R Blissfield) called for and won $125,000 to make the structure fireproof. About 140 blind children are housed in a four story building which will be improved.

Usual objections from Wayne County are present when it comes to the localities where money is being spent. They point out that their area has greatest need for hospitals of all types. Still bitter about the state distribution of tuberculosis hospitals. Detroit people claim they don't get a fair shake of Michigan money considering the vast sums that are collected from Wayne and spent outside.

Detroit's Senator Ryan lost his fight last week to get a new children's hospital for Wayne University or in Northville. One million dollars was being appropriated for a new institution, which will cost $2 million, for children needing psychiatric treatment. Debate grew bitter over this question with Senator Ryan stating that the University of Michigan didn't even need lobbyists to get whatever it wants from the Legislature. The Senate voted to locate the hospital at Ann Arbor.

The Servicemens' LETTER

Hello Fellas:
"Jake" is in Munson Hospital in Traverse City having an old back injury taken care of and will probably be on the "sick list" from 4 to 6 weeks. I'm sure all of you men will join me in wishing him a very successful operation and speedy recovery.

Dave Vallance has been home on a 10 day leave and wishes to say "Hello" to all his buddies. Dave left Saturday (May 9) for Reg. Air Police Duty at the same camp—Truax Field in Madison, Wisconsin.

Lt. Alfred C. Nelson has been transferred from Fort Knox, Ky., to Salt Lake City. Al's new address is 3176 Marie Avenue, Salt Lake City, Utah.

Here's a letter from Rod Gibbard out in Seattle, Wash.: "A few lines to let you know that some changes are being made and to have you notify the Herald to discontinue mailing for awhile. Last week, orders came through sending me to the European Command, with 15 weeks of schooling at Fort Harrison, Indiana, enroute. So we are heading for Michigan on May 23, will drop the family off in Bay Shore, and then on to school. The school will be followed by the usual 30-day leave, then on to Camp Kilmer, New Jersey, to report there late in October.

'Can't seem to find any fault with the assignment as I haven't been overseas since re-enlisting in 1947. We have enjoyed our 17 months in Seattle, but will all welcome another change.

'Will probably be in East Jordan for Memorial Day and hope to see you all then.' Thanks for the letter, Rod. Will take care of the paper for you.

Say, the above letter was the only one this week—how about a few more of you guys writing this week. It probably would cause less confusion if you kept addressing your letters to "Jake" (the same East Jordan address) and he will pass them on to me.

Sincerely, Betty Jo Strehl.

PETS FROM THE WILD

In late April, May and June life begins for many new residents everywhere in Michigan Outdoors. Skunks, raccoons, foxes, opossums, squirrels and most other mammals produce their young and expose them to a host of natural enemies not the least of which is man. Between the ages of one and two months almost every animal is irresistibly "cute." It is a natural temptation for man to pick up the youngster of the wilderness and attempt to domesticate it. In many instances the net results may prove disastrous.

Raccoons First Choice

Because of the appealing masked face, and playful antics of a young 'coon this common Michigan animal is most frequently appropriated from its natural wild habitat by man. If the animal is no more than a couple of months old when acquired it is likely to make an interesting pet for the first six or seven months of its life. Its mischievous curiosity is comical to watch, and the native intelligence of the 'coon ranks very high in the animal kingdom.

However, with the coming of winter the raccoon wants less and less attention from man, preferring to curl up in seclusion in a state of partial hibernation. The appetite all but disappears and the animal ceases to offer much attraction as a pet.

In February, as the mating season approaches, the raccoon awakens and becomes restless and petulant. An inborn spirit of independence asserts itself. It may resent handling, and more often than not will "bite the hand that feeds it." And the penetrating power of the fang teeth cannot be overestimated.

Some Remain Docile

While mammal biologists predict this "reversion to the wild" as commonplace, some animals retain a strong affinity for man and remain devoted pets. BUT, your chances of finding such a youngster are extremely slim. Skunks are probably most likely to remain more or less domesticated, but not many people are attracted to their slothful habits.

A fawn taken from the woods can prove itself a dangerous "pet." Razor-sharp hooves have inflicted serious injury to young children.

Conservation Legislation

That's why our Conservation Department discourages wild animal "pets." It's not a matter of saving the species—it is a matter of saving YOU! A permit from the Conservation Department is required if you plan to keep a wild animal as a pet—and be forewarned: such a permit will not be readily given. Wild animals don't belong in back yards. Nature put them in Michigan Outdoors. They're better off living there!
