Gregory bound over to circuit court on murder charge

By B. J. Conley

CHARLEVOIX — When the district court judge called for Sandra Gregory's case, the sheriff, who was in the courtroom, walked over to assist her in getting up out of her chair so she could appear before the judge. As she slowly walked to the podium where another chair had been placed she looked frail. Dressed in her bright orange jumpsuit with "Charlevoix County Jail" stamped on the back she seemed oddly out of place.

At a hearing on Tuesday, June 28, Judge Richard May was told by Gregory's attorney Kraag Lieberman that she would like to waive the preliminary examination. Judge May asked Gregory if she understood that she would be bound over to circuit court and she answered that she did.

Gregory, 74, was arrested on March 27 when police were called to her residence in Charlevoix to find Gregory's 94-year-old mother, Amelia Gregory, dead. Gre-

Two investigators from the Federal Aviation Administration began an investigation after arriving in Charlevoix from Grand Rapids. One is suited to prevent exposure to chemicals. The fatal crash occurred on Friday, June 24, about 7:30 p.m. One person survived the crash, but is in critical condition at Munson Medical Center in Traverse City. The survivor is Austin Hatch, son of Dr. Steven Hatch, the pilot, who was killed along with his wife, Kim.

CHARLEVOIX — A future basketball player for the University of Michigan who was in a plane crash in Charlevoix on Friday, June 24, is "holding his own" say friends of 16-year-old Austin Hatch who are holding a vigil at Munson Medical Center.

A high school junior at Canterbury School in Ft. Wayne, Ind., Austin was critically injured when the airplane slammed into the garage of a home in a neighborhood near the Charlevoix Municipal Airport. No one was in the house on Carpenter Street at the time of the crash. As of Monday, he was listed in critical but stable condition. A recent CT Scan shows no worsening in his condition.

His father, Dr. Stephen Hatch, was piloting the Beechcraft A36 single-engine airplane and his stepmother, Kim

EAST JORDAN Car and Boat Show plus Arts event next weekend in East Jordan

By Jim Akans

After a 4th of July weekend bustling with events and activities here in Northern Michigan, what could possibly be left to do next weekend?

East Jordan has something very exciting planned for the weekend of July 9th. In fact, there will be three fascinating events going on; the South Arm Classic Boat Show, the Jordan Valley Car Show, and The Jordan Valley Arts Council will be presenting "Art Jordan" with local artists displaying their works in the windows of downtown businesses from July 2nd through July 9th.

Let's start with the South Arm Classic Boat Show. This is the 6th year that a huge selection of vintage watercraft will be on display on land and in the water at Memorial Park during this one-day event. Attendees will be treated to a free viewing of beautiful mahogany and classic fiberglass boats. There will also be displays of antique outboard motors, canoes, kayaks, and several vendors on hand with boat and cottage themed merchandise for sale.

Reading Celebrated on Day of Action

The 4th Annual United Way Day of Action on June 21st connected volunteer readers in Charlevoix and Emmet County with children at local libraries and preschools. This event served as the starting point for an ongoing collaborative project to improve the reading skills of area youth. Community volunteers were available to read stories and poems to children at Charlevoix Public Library, Petoskey District Library, Boyne City District Library and North Country Kids.

Vehicle Crashes into Twp. Airport

On June 28th, 2011 at approximately 0917 hrs, Beaver Island EMS and the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office were called to the Township Airport (Fresh Air Aviation) for a vehicle that had crashed through the building.

The Sheriff's Office investigation revealed that a 75 year old Beaver Island woman had accidentally pressed the accelerator instead of the brake while parking her vehicle. Her vehicle, 2002 Ford SUV, crashed through a small wooden fence before traveling approximately fifty feet and then striking the airport building.

The female was transported to Charlevoix Hospital by Northflight with non-life threatening injuries.

gory told police she had killed her mother.

Since that day, Gregory has either been in the county jail or in mental health facilities where she underwent forensic psychiatric tests to determine if she was competent to stand trial and if she was insane at the time she killed her mother. One report from doctors found her competent to stand trial.

Lieberman asked the court to amend its order denying bond, saying that Gregory was emotionally and mentally better, was no threat to anyone and "certainly not a flight risk." She would stay with her sister, have a GPS tether and her sister and niece would arrange counseling for her.

Charlevoix County Prosecutor John Jarema told the judge that with the parameters Lieberman mentioned, he had no objection to the arrangement. The decision lies with Judge Richard M. Pajtas of the circuit court and it was scheduled for a hearing on July 8. reporterbjh@gmail.com motor." This is a great opportunity to see everything from vintage vehicles from the early 1900's, classic cars and trucks from the "golden age of the automobile," to contemporary sports cars, racing machines, and trucks. All proceeds from this event, which is sponsored by the East Jordan Firefighters Association, will go directly to the annual scholarship fund awarded to East Jordan High School seniors.

Local vintage vehicle enthusiast, Tom Sheridan, will have a replica he built of a 1901 experimental horseless carriage on display at the Car Show.

Sheridan, who was an automotive class instructor at East Jordan schools for 30 years, relates, "I debuted it during the Freedom Festival parade this year. It is a replica of Henry Ford's experimental car from 1901. The person I got the plans from did some research on the vehicle and got the idea for the design from a photo of the vehicle that was in the archives of Henry Ford's first cars. It was built after the Quadra cycle."

The horseless carriage boasts a 5.5 hp single cylinder engine capable of producing speeds approaching a whopping 18-mph. It has a metal frame, plywood body, and Sheridan fabricated and welded the entire vehicle himself.

While sauntering along Main Street, take some time to view "Art Jordan" in the windows of downtown business, and don't forget to vote for your favorite piece of artwork at several voting boxes located in the downtown area.

A real treat during the weekend festivities is the addition of a microbrew tent, featuring brews by Shorts Brewery in Bellaire. The tent will be located in the parking lot next to

Boyne City's manager keeps it positive

B. J. Conley

Boyne City's manager has much to do with the increase in businesses, tourists, events and even a six percent increase in the population.

But Michael Cain is the first one to say it's not one person but the community working together that makes the city a success. It's easy to see he has boundless energy, even when he is walking he seems to be running, and he tackles demands with the best of the multi-taskers.

Cain has been the city's manager for eight years and has helped to make many changes for the better, such as new water wells, the wastewater treatment plant ("people don't have to worry about sewage going into the lake"), the marina improvements, downtown building renovations, park improvements, infrastructure improvements and downtown activities and events.

He says that qualifying for the Main Street Program has made a great, positive impact on the city.

"Main Street has led to so many other accomplishments," Cain said. "Boyne City is unique. Look at our downtown with the small, unique businesses."

An estimated five new or expanded businesses have made downtown Boyne City the place to settle each year for the past three years, according to the Chamber. A developer chose Boyne City to build a resort on Lake Charlevoix.

Main Street Program is a state program that assists cities in Michigan in designing and implementing plans to restore downtown areas under strict criteria, such as maintaining the history when restoring a building. It funds qualified projects with grants.

Cain said when he was first considering applying for the Main Street Program someone said not to do it.

"It was the best advice I didn't take," Cain said.

The tight economy has affected Boyne City as it has cities across the nation. The city's 2011 budget expenditures are $9.7 million, down from 2010 when it was $10.8 million. The city has not refilled positions when an employee retires, but no one has been laid off, Cain said.

"It's been one economic challenge after another since I've been here. For us to be where we are I think is pretty good. Things remain strong in Boyne City."

Cain's method for employees is to give them what they need then leave them alone, he said, adding that his door is always open to them.

Boyne City manager Michael Cain

"I try to find strong people who can get things done, and who can communicate."

He describes himself as a team builder who builds alliances to make things happen.

Residents fill county meeting

B. J. Conley

CHARLEVOIX — County commissioners met before a full house, with a full agenda that included a proposed non-motorized trail discussion, which was much of the reason for the full house, a discussion of the state's requirements for planning commissions and retirement and hiring matters.

The meeting on Wednesday, June 22, was dominated by the long debated recreational trail. Most of the citizens who spoke at the meeting favored the construction of it.

"I urge commissioners to support the trail," Steve Van Dam of Bay Township said.

John McCahan from Boyne City said he also favors the trail. And Bob Waldie of Hayes Township said that most of the people he's talked to want the trail, but he added that the people who want it don't live on the road. The proposed trail route is the county road that runs from Boyne City to U.S. 31 at Charlevoix, known as the Boyne City-Charlevoix Road.

One of the issues that has stalled the county board of commissioners is that some of the residents along the road do not want the trail to cut through their property. Roger Conaway who lives near Horton Bay said he is concerned about violation of property rights.

"We need to protect our property rights and we'll fight this in court if we have to."

That prompted commission chairman, Joel Evans, to speak about property rights.

"The county can't take people's property," he said. "No one is going to construct a trail through anyone's living room," he said, referring to the rumors circulating.

Evans said the county would ask permission and if residents did not want the trail on a portion of their property the users of the trail would cross over to the other side of the road as needed. Evans ended by addressing the audience.

"All you bicyclists out there, I want you to know, we're going to make this work."

Ross Maxwell is the director of parks and recreation for the county. He asked commissioners to give approval for him to apply for a grant to help pay for the construction of the trail. He was told that a resolution to approve would be drafted and presented for approval at the next meeting, which is a special meeting scheduled for 9:30 a.m. on Wednesday, June 29. reporterbjh@gmail.com

Hatch, was seated alongside her husband. Austin was in the back of the plane.

Austin led the Canterbury basketball team to its first sectional title. The University of Michigan learned of the 6-foot, 6-inch guard's talents and recruited him. It was just recently, June 15, that Austin made a commitment to U-M beginning in 2013, according to the Detroit Free Press and the News-Sentinel of Ft. Wayne, Ind.

The plane crash is the second crash for Austin with his father as pilot. In 2003, a family plane crashed when it ran out of fuel and hit a utility pole. Austin lost his mother, Julie, 38, sister Lindsay, 11, and brother Ian, 5, when they all died in the crash. The crash on June 24 killed his father and his stepmother.

Friday's northern Michigan weather was occasional rain with heavy, dense clouds and fog, but it is not known at this time if the weather caused or contributed to the crash. The Federal Aviation Administration and National Transportation Safety Board are investigating the accident. A preliminary report may be issued within a couple of weeks. reporterbjh@gmail.com

Join the 1st Annual Ellsworth "Ellebration" this weekend spend the Fourth in the North.

"Ellebration" is a new spin on a longstanding summertime tradition in the Ellsworth area - a new incarnation of the always-popular "Ellsworth Pig Roast." Many of the events that drew area residents and visitors to the charming community of Ellsworth each year will remain a part of Ellebration, such as the Breezeway Cruise, the Grand Parade, the Horse Pull and of course the Roast Pork Luncheon, but many new activities have been added to this four-day weekend of fun.

For instance, there will be a very exciting Chain-O-Lakes Bike Tour on Saturday morning, spanning a 32-mile route along the beautiful scenery and open rolling countryside through the Chain-O-Lakes. Don't worry if you don't feel up to the whole trip, the last five miles (reportedly the hilliest) are optional. Those registering for the even will receive a free T-shirt commemorating their participation, a gift bag and a ticket to the Roast Pork dinner, which starts at noon on Saturday.

Another unique event during Ellebration is a Historic Trolley Tour sponsored by the Banks Township Historical Society.

The Society's vice-president, Shirely Tornga, states, "We have hired the services of the Mackinaw Trolley Company and we will be offering four, one-hour tours of the Ellsworth area that will include 47 places of historical interest. We have a narrator on board the trolley who will talk about the background of these places as the trolley slowly passes by them. There are lots of exciting home and business, some of which are still there, some that have changed over the years, and some that are no longer there. It's a lot of fun, and a very interesting tour for those who would like to learn more about the history of our area."

Best of all, the tours are free, though Tornga does note that seating on the trolley is on a first come-first serve basis. Tours will embark from the new pavilion by the Ellsworth Coop, and are offered hourly at 10 and 11 am, and at noon and 1 pm.

There will be many other exciting events going on during Ellebration, including a softball tournament at Ellsworth Elementary on Friday evening (following a 1950's style drive-in dinner) and all day Saturday, plus there will be a community bonfire (with s'mores and live music) at Ellsworth Community Park on Friday evening starting at 7 pm. At the bonfire, attendees are invited to write their worries and concerns on a piece of paper, throw them in a gigantic wooden shoe that will be at the event, and watch as their cares literally go up in smoke when the wooden shoe is burned.

The Grand Parade will roll through town at 11 am on Saturday, followed by live music at the pavilion on Saturday afternoon.

Saturday evening, don't miss one of the best fireworks displays in Northern Michigan, sponsored by the Ellsworth St. Clair Fireworks Committee, with spectacular, dazzling displays bursting over the waters of Lake St. Clair following a fantastic boat parade.

A full schedule of events appears in this edition of The Charlevoix County News. For additional information about Ellebration, visit www.ellebration.com.

It's an "Up North Fourth" festival in Charlevoix

This is the first annual occasion for this event, and it promises to be a truly memorable celebration for all. There will be plenty of great music, fantastic local cuisine, and a tantalizing assortment of craft brews from Short's Brewery during the afternoon and evening event.

This Up North Fourth is being presented by the Charlevoix Convention & Visitors Bureau, Charlevoix Downtown Development Authority, Porterhouse Productions, Downtown Merchants and Community Volunteers. The food selections are incredible; with everything from ribs to pulled pork and potato salad offered by Friske Orchards to whitefish tacos prepared by Cross Fisheries.

There will also be delicious vegetarian options available, and over ten varieties of beer offered by Short's Brewery. Proceeds generated by the Short's Brewery Experience benefit "Keep Charlevoix Beautiful," a local non-profit organization and the folks behind Charlevoix's petunias.

Let's not forget the music! Live musical performances will include the rockabilly and honky-tonk sounds of Delilah DeWylde and the Lost Boys, followed by the self-described "Afro-Caribbean-Barnyard-Funk" sounds of the band Euroforquestra. Additionally, Hula-hoopers and West African hand-drumming ensembles will march the harbor and festival grounds to entertain the crowd. All performances will take place in East Park's Odmark Performance Pavilion.

Up North Fourth kicks off at 4 pm on Saturday, and general admission tickets are $10 in advance or $15 at the door. The Short's Brewery Experience admission is separate, and is available for $20 per person and offers a commemorative pint glass and five 7-oz pours. Please note that in order to participate in the Short's Brewery Experience, you MUST purchase both the GA ticket and the Short's ticket.

So join the fun at East Park this coming Saturday, and enjoy a community picnic experience like no other in a gorgeous setting that Forbes Magazine recently named as one of "America's Prettiest Towns." Tickets are available at Downtown Charlevoix merchant Ga Ga for Kids, at The Chamber of Commerce and online at www.porterhouseproductions.com.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY

Weather Warning Signal

The cities of Charlevoix, East Jordan and Boyne City will be testing their siren signals for severe weather and tornado. The tests will occur the first Tuesday of each month at 7pm. The three communities have been and will continue to work jointly to come up with a consistent warning signal that will be used county-wide to warn residents that severe weather or a tornado is approaching. The municipalities are also reaching out to township fire departments within the County as well. The goal of having a common warning siren is to warn citizens in a consistent manner of severe weather and tornados so they can take shelter, get off the roads, etc. Being consistent county-wide will aid citizens in identifying the signal and what it stands for, regardless of which community they are in around the county. If you have questions regarding the upcoming siren test or questions or concerns after the test sirens are run, please contact the City Hall or Fire Department in your community.

SALADS

...That Will Change the Way You Eat

By Mollie Katzen

Really healthful and refreshing salads bear no resemblance to those boring bowlfuls of wilted, nutrient-challenged iceberg lettuce. For maximum health benefits and enjoyment, we want salads that are culinary creations -- unique blends packed with nutrition and full of textures, colors and flavor, yet simple and speedy to prepare.

Mollie Katzen, author of the famed Moosewood Cookbook and charter member of the Harvard School of Public Health Nutrition Roundtable, has plenty of super salad recipes that fit the bill.

Bonus: Fiber-rich salads are filling, so food cravings are kept in check. Each of the following recipes makes four to six servings. Try one today -- it will forever change the way you think about salad.

Katzen's California Waldorf Salad

SPECIAL HEALTH BENEFITS: The yogurt has calcium to strengthen bones... oranges provide vitamin C to support the immune system... and the omega-3 fatty acids in the avocado contribute to a healthy heart and brain.

Salad...
 3 medium apples
 2 navel oranges, sectioned
 1 stalk celery, minced
 1/4 cup packed raisins or currants
 Lettuce leaves
 1 cup sliced ripe mango or papaya
 1 cup toasted cashew pieces

Dressing...
 1 cup plain low-fat yogurt
 1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind
 2 Tablespoons lemon juice
 1 ripe avocado, mashed
 1 Tablespoon honey

In a medium-sized bowl, combine apples, oranges, celery and raisins. In a blender or food processor, puree together all dressing ingredients. Pour dressing over apple mixture and toss well. Spoon onto a bed of lettuce leaves. Top with mango or papaya slices and cashews.

Marinated Sweet Potato & Broccoli Salad

SPECIAL HEALTH BENEFITS: The sweet potatoes are rich in immune-boosting beta-carotene plus vitamin A for healthy skin and eyes... and the walnut oil provides monounsaturated fats for cardiovascular protection.

Salad...
 3 medium-sized sweet potatoes or yams, peeled
 1 large bunch broccoli, cut into small spears
 1 green apple, thinly sliced (optional)

Marinade...
 1/2 cup roasted walnut oil or olive oil
 1 garlic clove, minced
 3 Tablespoons lemon juice
 2 Tablespoons raspberry vinegar or red wine vinegar
 1 teaspoon salt
 1 Tablespoon dry mustard
 1 Tablespoon honey
 Freshly ground black pepper, to taste

Cut the sweet potatoes into quarters, then into thin slices. Steam or boil potatoes until soft, about eight to 10 minutes. In a medium-sized bowl, combine marinade ingredients. Add hot potatoes to marinade and mix gently. Steam broccoli until bright green and just tender, about five minutes. Rinse broccoli under cold water and drain well. Lay broccoli spears on top of potato-marinade mixture. Cover tightly and refrigerate for several hours. About 15 minutes before serving, stir broccoli into potato mixture. Serve garnished with green apple slices, if desired.

Buttermilk Spinach Salad w/ Strawberries

SPECIAL HEALTH BENEFITS: Bone-building benefits come from the calcium in the spinach and the cheese... strawberries are packed with antioxidant vitamin C.

Salad...
 10 ounces fresh spinach leaves, stemmed and chopped

 1/2 pint fresh strawberries, hulled and quartered
 1/4 cup thinly sliced red onion
 3 ounces fresh goat cheese or Feta cheese, crumbled
 Freshly ground black pepper, to taste

Dressing...
 2 Tablespoons balsamic vinegar
 4 Tablespoons buttermilk
 2 Tablespoons light-colored honey
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 2 teaspoons finely minced shallots
 5 Tablespoons extra-virgin olive oil

In a large salad bowl, gently toss spinach, strawberries and onion. Top with crumbled cheese and black pepper. Set aside. In a small bowl, combine all dressing ingredients except the olive oil and whisk until blended. Continue whisking as you drizzle in the olive oil in a slow, steady stream. (If the taste is too sharp, whisk in more oil.) Pour dressing over salad and toss.

Mollie's Cauliflower-Carrot Medley

SPECIAL HEALTH BENEFITS: Cauliflower, a cruciferous vegetable, has anticancer properties. Try the new purple or orange varieties of cauliflower, which have higher concentrations of antioxidants. More pluses: Beta-carotene from the carrots... and the heart-healthy properties of garlic.

Ingredients...
 2 Tablespoons extra-virgin olive oil
 4 cups chopped cauliflower, cut into 1-inch florets
 3 medium carrots, cut into thin 1/2-inch strips
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 2 large cloves garlic, minced
 2 Tablespoons balsamic vinegar

Freshly ground black pepper, to taste
 4 fresh basil leaves, cut into strips

In a medium-to-large skillet, warm the olive oil over medium heat. Add cauliflower, carrots and salt and sauté over medium heat until almost tender, about eight to 10 minutes. Stir in garlic and continue to sauté for three minutes. Transfer mixture to a bowl. Stir in vinegar, pepper and basil. Versatile: This salad can be served warm, cold or at room temperature.

Gingery Marinated Chickpea Salad

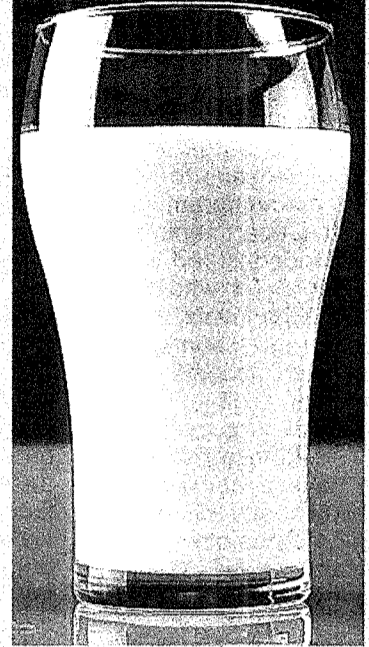

SPECIAL HEALTH BENEFITS: Ginger has anti-inflammatory properties... chickpeas are packed with energizing protein plus immune-boosting zinc.

Ingredients...
 5 cups cooked chickpeas
 5 Tablespoons lemon juice
 2 large cloves garlic, minced
 2 Tablespoons finely minced ginger
 2 Tablespoons red wine vinegar
 1/2 cup finely minced red onion
 1 teaspoon salt
 Freshly ground black pepper, to taste

Rinse and drain the chickpeas. In a medium-sized bowl, combine all ingredients and mix well. Cover tightly and refrigerate for at least four hours, stirring periodically. Serve alone... or with lettuce leaves or over rice, if desired.

Mollie Katzen is author or coauthor of 11 books, including the best-selling Moosewood Cookbook and Mollie Katzen's Recipes: Salads (both from Ten Speed). She is a member of the Harvard School of Public Health Nutrition Roundtable and was named by Health magazine as one of the five "Women Who Changed the Way We Eat."

HEALTH ALERT

Downstate infections demonstrate risks of drinking raw milk

The two downstate patients who recently became ill with Q fever from drinking raw milk highlight the risks of drinking un-pasteurized milk, local public health officials say. Cow-sharing is reported to be the source of two cases of Q fever reported in southeast Michigan. "It's not possible to keep all bacteria out of raw milk," said Joshua Meyerson, MD, Medical Director for the Health Department of Northwest Michigan. "Raw milk has not been heat treated, or pasteurized, to kill germs like salmonella, campylobacter, or E.coli. Pasteurization kills these harmful bacteria that cause food borne illnesses."

In most cases of food borne illnesses, symptoms resemble intestinal flu and may last a few hours or even several days. Symptoms can range from mild to serious and include abdominal cramps; nausea; vomiting; diarrhea, which is sometimes bloody; fever; and/or dehydration.

Food borne illnesses are especially dangerous to pregnant women, infants, young children, the elderly, and people with weakened immune systems, Meyerson said.

"If you think you've developed a food borne illness from drinking raw milk or dairy products, call your doctor right away," said Meyerson. "Early antibiotic treatment of suspected cases can prevent serious illness."

The Health Department of Northwest Michigan is mandated by the Michigan Public Health Code to promote wellness, prevent disease, provide quality healthcare, address health problems of vulnerable populations, and protect the environment for the residents and visitors of Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet, and Otsego counties.

For more information about Q fever, visit <http://www.cdc.gov/qfever/symptoms/index.html>.

"Music in the Park" to feature highly-acclaimed Detour band this Friday

By Jim Akans

Music fans, clear your Friday night schedule, because the East Jordan "Music in the Park" series brings the highly acclaimed bluegrass ensemble, Detour, into town for a free concert starting at 7 pm at the Band Shell in Memorial Park.

Dan Miller, who helps to organize the Music in the Park series along with Mark Panzien, states, "I truly believe this will be the best free concert in Northern Michigan this summer."

This band is phenomenal. Even for those who are not huge fans of bluegrass, these musicians are so good this is not an event to miss."

Detour is a Michigan-based group of extremely talented musicians. The band's line-up features the soaring lead vocals of Missy Armstrong, the championship fiddling of Peter Knupfer, the inventive rhythm lines of Jack Grant on bass, the soulful guitar of Scott Zylstra, the hard driving mandolin and superb song writing of Jeff Rose, and the stellar banjo playing of Kevin Gaugier. Detour has enjoyed four highly successful seasons receiving great critical acclaim at numerous concerts and festivals including Dunegrass, Wheatland, the Great Lakes Folk Festival, Virginia Public Television's "Song of the Mountains" concert series, and Interlochen Center for the Arts, among many others. Lansing State Journal acclaims Detour as "perhaps the best bluegrass band Michigan has yet produced."

East Jordan's Music in the Park series plays weekly from now through the second week of August, with a variety of music styles represented each Friday evening at the Bandshell from 7 to 9 pm. There is no admission charge for the concerts, though donations are encouraged to ensure the continuation of this exciting concert series each summer season.

"This is our fifth season," notes Miller. "Last year our average crowd was about 250 people, though that can grow much larger depending on the night. Each Friday night concert features a different musical style, and we are always looking for talented Michigan bands who are looking for exposure."

After the performance by Detour this Friday evening, the remainder of the Music in the Park season schedule will be:

July 8th - Worker Bees (Honky-tonk and Rockabilly)
July 15th - Peacemeal String Band (Old time string music)
July 22nd - Loudmouth Soup (Contemporary rock genre)
July 29th - Crooked Trio (Jazz band)

Detour, a Michigan-based bluegrass band that combines original contemporary bluegrass sounds with great traditional favorites, will perform a free Music in the Park concert in East Jordan starting at 7 pm at the Band Shell in Memorial Park. COURTESY PHOTO

August 5th - Elizabeth Sexton Rivers (Blues and jazz)
August 12th - Second Time Around (Local classic country band)
"We are very excited about this season," states Miller. "We encourage people to come out, bring a lawn chair, and enjoy a great evening of music along the waterfront."

Otis Pottery Celebrates 14th Annual Open House

East Jordan - For one weekend each summer, Otis Pottery studio and gallery becomes a concert hall. The pottery wheels, greenware, and kilns are pushed to the sides of the studio, and more than 100 chairs fill the empty space. A piano is situated at one end of the room, and around it musicians stand, bringing their talents to share with the crowd. The Annual Open House Weekend of Art and Chamber Music has become a long-standing tradition for many area residents. Always on July 4th weekend, the Chamber Music Concerts are well-loved celebrations of art and music-and this year marks the 14th annual event.

The gathering begins at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, July 1 with a chamber music concert. Fran Shelly, principal flutist of the Wichita Symphony Orchestra and Professor of Flute at Wichita State University will perform again this year. Shelly is an old friend of pottery owners David and June Otis, and has played at the open house every year. This year Elizabeth Bert, principal cellist of the Traverse City Symphony Orchestra and baritone vocalist JungWoo Kin, Assistant Professor of Music at Hope College in Holland, Michigan will also perform on Friday and Saturday evenings. Pianist Dorothy Vogel, private instructor in Traverse City, has been performing at the Otis open house for nine years, and will perform again this year for another two evenings. The performances will include music by J.S. Bach, Caplet, Denza, Bowles, Rachmaninoff, Rutter, Martinu, and others.

"This is going to be a wonderful program," says David Otis. "We try to do something a little different every year, and this year, we are happy to have Fran and Dorothy perform, and also to have Elizabeth and JungWoo. They are all magnificent musicians."

On Sunday afternoon, the Bay View Woodwind Players will perform at 4 p.m. The performers include Donna Shin, flute; Jill Maderness, bassoon; Celeste Johnson, oboe. Dorothy Vogel, will join them on piano. Guests are welcome to arrive early to view the artwork and to stay after the concerts for refreshments in the garden. Even if visitors cannot attend one of the concerts, they are always welcome to come anytime throughout the weekend to visit the studio and gallery. The backdrop for the event is the working studio of David, June and Andrew Otis. The front two gallery rooms display new work by all three artists, and the studio gives visitors a peek into their daily workshop.

The pottery will be open all day Friday and Saturday, and noon to 6 pm on Sunday. Otis Pottery is located one mile south of the Ironton Ferry on M-66 North. For more information, call (231) 536-7856.

BOYNE CITY - The 2011 Charlevoix County All-Area softball is loaded with talent at every position, hard throwers, big hitters, and solid defense are featured.

Charlevoix catcher Katie Hybl is the Charlevoix County News Player of the Year. Hybl helped lead the Lake Michigan Conference and District Champion Rayders with a .500 batting average, pounding out 52 hits in 104 plate appearances while having the honors of catching one of the best pitching duos in Northern Michigan.

The Dream Team pitching staff is lead by the Charlevoix Rayder duo of Hannah Hybl and Kristen Mielke along with Kaley Aown of Boyne City. Hybl went 11-5-1 in 95 2/3 innings of work fanning 115 batters with a 2.63 ERA. Mielke finished with a record of 11-2 and struck out 66 batters in 70 innings with an amazing 1.54 ERA. Aown showed great senior leadership for the Ramblers this season, tossing 141 2/3 innings of ball and striking out 88 in the process.

Those three also boasted some big numbers at the plate; Hannah Hybl batted .429, delivered four home runs, 35 RBI's and had a slugging percentage of .774. Mielke hit .395, with seven doubles and 28 RBI's. Aown batted .287, scored 25 runs and finished with 19 RBI's.

With a strong field of catchers to choose from in the area, it was a difficult to pick only one, so in addition to Katie Hybl of Charlevoix; Haley Drenth of Ellsworth has been selected. Drenth batted .388 with an on-base-percentage (OBP) of .490, knocked in 20 RBI's while scoring 22 times and sported a .930 fielding percentage.

The infield positions belong to East Jordan's shortstop Val Peters and first baseman Emily Crick, Kristen Matelski of Boyne Falls, Abbi Fair of Boyne City, and Kari Steenwyck of Ellsworth. Peters hit .423, with an OBP of .500, and she was as solid as they come in the field with a .952 fielding percentage, committing only five errors in 106 attempts. Crick batted .338 with a .413 OBP and a fielding percentage of .956. Matelski hit .552, having 21 hits; including six doubles, three triples and two home runs and 14 RBI's for the Loggers. Steenwyck was the Lancers leadoff hitter and batted .361, scored 23 times, and knocked in 10 runs.

The outfield is comprised of Jen Archey of Charlevoix, Morgan Skop of East Jordan and Stephanie Munk of Boyne City. Archey hit .359 for the Rayders, Skop batted .366 and had 16 putouts in centerfield for the Red Devils, while Munk finished the season with a .368 batting average to lead Boyne City and also finished with 17 putouts in centerfield.

Coach of the year is first-year coach Ken Hoffman of Charlevoix. Hoffman led the Rayders to a 24-7 record and collected the Lake Michigan Conference and district crowns along the way.

The All-Area second team is made up of Katelyn Lutterbach of Boyne City, Ali Bearss, Emily Matelski and Kaitlan Deming of Boyne Falls. Emily Mielke, Maddie Zimmerman and Chelsie Hoffman of Charlevoix, Kara LaVanway of East Jordan, along with Tara Essenberg and Kim Hoeksema of

Ellsworth. Northern Lakes Conference co-champion Ellsworth coach Tex Drenth has been selected as the second team coach

The Boyer City F. Grant Moore Municipal Marina is collecting unwanted fishing line

Boyer City's monofilament recycling bin for unwanted fishing line is located near the mouth of the Boyer River, just off Lake St. near the day dock/fishing pier. If this bin is successful, others may be added at our boat launches. Users may deposit tangled, unwanted monofilament (i.e. fishing line) in the bin. Staff or a volunteer periodically empty the bin and ship the monofilament to the program's recycling facility.

The Michigan Clean Marina Program is a local sponsor of Boat.U.S. Foundation's "Reel In and Recycle!" campaign to recycle monofilament. The program was designed to make proper disposal of monofilament more accessible, by creating a network of monofilament recycling collectors.

Why Recycle Monofilament? Because it is strong, thin, durable and nearly invisible, monofilament is widely used by anglers. But those same qualities can make it extremely hazardous to wildlife when left behind.

Inappropriately discarded monofilament often accumulates in popular fishing areas and may tangle around boat propellers and aquatic life, while taking over 500 years to decompose. This poses threats to fishermen, the fish they catch and important fish habitat and breeding grounds. Abandoned line can "ghost fish" by continuing to catch aquatic species (e.g., fish, turtles and birds) in makeshift nets for many years.

What Happens to the Monofilament? The Berkley Conservation Institute, a branch of the popular monofilament fishing line manufacturer, provides the recycling service and has recycled more than 9 million miles of fishing line since 1990. The recovered monofilament (along with other post consumer materials) is recycled into artificial underwater habitat structures called Berkley FishHab™.

Fact: It is estimated that ingestion of, and entanglement in, marine debris causes the deaths of more than 1 million birds and 100,000 marine mammals each year. If properly disposed, such harm can be averted. COURTESY PHOTO

Mancelona Crush take on TC Rockets in Season Opener

The Mancelona Crush opened their Great Lakes Baseball season by traveling to Benzie Central High School to battle the Traverse City Rockets in an afternoon double header on June 24th.

Travis Schuba pitched for the Crush in the opener and limited the Rockets to single runs in the second and forth innings while the Crush hitters scored in five of their seven at bats to take a 10-2 victory. Schuba gave up eight hits, struck out five and walked zero for the win.

Craig Conway had two hits and a run batted in, Schuba a two run single, and Kyle Coggins had a two run homerun to lead the Crush offense.

In the nightcap the Rockets scored five first inning runs and held on for a 7-6 victory. The Crush took advantage of four walks and an error to score four runs with one hit in the second inning but they managed only three more hits the rest of the night. Coggins had two hits, with Conway and Gage Burt contributing one hit each.

Nick Lockman was the losing pitcher for the Crush as the Rockets scored seven runs on eight hits in the three and two-thirds innings. Kolbi Shumaker pitched two and one-third inning of scoreless relief for the Crush.

DAVE Says

Ignore the math

Dear Dave,
Should I continue to contribute to my 401(k) at work up to the match if I'm still trying to get out of debt?

Anonymous

Dear Anonymous,

Nope! I know, you probably think I've lost my mind on this one. Yeah, I know how important it is to take the match in a situation like that. In fact, it still kind of irks me to have to say these kinds of things. I'm a math nerd, so I really don't like the whole idea of it very much.

But I've learned a few things over the years. One of those things is that personal finance is 80 percent behavior and only about 20 percent head knowledge. And in the short term, the power of passionately focusing and sacrificing deeply to attack your debt will supersede the mathematics involved where your company match is concerned. In other words, if you stop saving temporarily for a year or two, and in that time wipe out your debts, the power you'll gain in being free from those debts will be more beneficial to you than a couple of years of your company match.

I would never tell you to stop investing or doing the company match for 10 years or anything silly like that. But if you stop for just a little while and clean up your mess, then go back to investing for retirement, you'll reap so many more rewards down the road. Not only will you have permanently changed your behavior, but you'll also be able to invest even more for retirement and other things!

—Dave

You can't make him grow up

Dear Dave,

I've tried for years, but I can't convince my husband to plan for tomorrow and stop living just for today. Is there anything I can do?

Candace

Dear Candace,

I hate to say it, but I don't think you can convince him. The essence of your question is this: "How do I get him to grow up?" If he's not willing to delay getting or doing things he wants, that's a sign of immaturity. You guys are probably going to struggle with money as long as he has an attitude of "Thank God, it's Friday! Oh, God! It's Monday..."

Being careful with your money and planning for the future doesn't mean you can't have any fun. It just means you may have to delay certain things for a little while. My wife and I have lots of fun and cool things now. Why? Because we saved like crazy and sacrificed. We lived like no one else, so now we're able to live like no one else. In other words, we paid a price to win.

Your husband's problem is that he's not willing to pay a price for a short period of time. That kind of immature thinking is a one-way ticket to a lifetime of mediocrity. And if you're unwilling to pay the price to win, then you're going to end up paying the price that comes with never having paid the price.

FOCUS ON THE FAMILY

with Jim Daly & Juli Slattery

Dr. Juli Slattery

Parents try balancing needs of sick child with others

Q: We have four children between the ages of 5 and 13. Our youngest son has a serious medical condition that requires the majority of our time. What can we do to make sure we're not shortchanging our other children while dealing with the burden of our youngest?

Juli: Our hearts go out to you and your son as you travel this difficult road together. Many families have gone through similar circumstances and found the stress to be profound. In fact, most children's hospitals have support groups for family members of children with prolonged or terminal illness.

In situations like yours, it's common for the child who is ill to adopt the role of "sick child." When this happens, the entire family revolves around protecting and providing for the one in the sick role. Be intentional about carving out family space that does not revolve around your youngest being ill. For example, never talk about anything related to the illness at the dinner table. Be sure that family members don't overly coddle your youngest. If he's able to do chores or get his own glass of water, let him.

As much as possible, shift doctor and hospital visits to allow one parent to be with the other children. They need time with you. Try to schedule a "date" with each child alone, even if it's just a trip to the grocery store or attending a volleyball game. Extended family members and close friends can be a big help in filling some of the gaps.

Give your other children room to process their feelings with you and/or a counselor. Siblings of a sick child feel the full range of valid emotions, including guilt, anger, jealousy, sadness and fear. Because Mom and Dad are also emotionally overwhelmed, the kids may believe they have to keep these feelings to themselves. If you see behaviors like aggression, withdrawal, extreme immaturity or trying to be a "perfect child," you should understand these are indications that a child is not processing these feelings well.

No parent would choose the circumstances you find yourselves in. However, siblings of sick children often develop extraordinary character traits like empathy, unselfishness and responsibility as a result of their unusual family dynamics.

Q: My husband has a week's vacation coming up in July. My parents are in California, his are in Ohio, and we're in Georgia. Both sets of parents are itching to see the grandkids. How do we handle this no-win situation?

Jim: At some point, most married couples have an argument over where to spend vacation time. A lot of the pressure for this decision comes from extended family members, as you know. Throw grandchildren into the mix and things can get downright ugly!

As eager as they are to see you, your parents can surely sympathize with your inability to be in two places at once. With that in mind, as you decide where to spend your husband's vacation time, it's important to remember two principles: be fair, and be flexible.

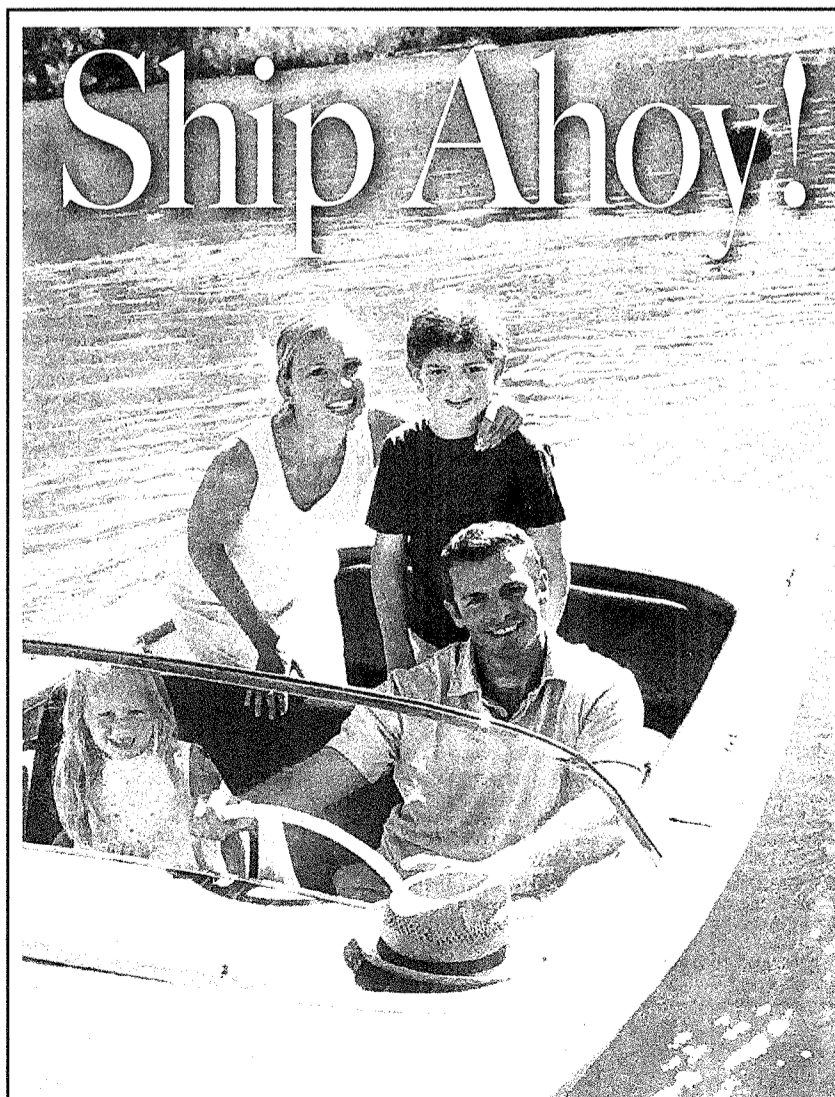

When it comes to being fair, try to come up with a solution that works for both extended families. That might mean spending summer vacation in California and Christmas in Ohio, and then switching off next year.

In terms of flexibility, consider what is in the best interests of those around you. Perhaps spending half of your husband's vacation in airports is not what your budget -- or your kids -- can handle right now. Don't be afraid to tell both sets of grandparents that it's honestly not a good idea for you to travel this year, so you'll be taking a "staycation."

Whatever you decide, make sure that you and your husband are engaged in healthy communication on the subject. Your final decision should be one that you're both comfortable with, even if you have to compromise to get there.

Question & Answers
About Selling Real Estate

Closing Costs

Mike Stark

By Mike Stark,
Stark Realty, Inc.
(231) 536-7700

First, the responsibility of who pays for closing costs is always negotiable.

Local custom may dictate which fees the buyer will pay and those the seller pays.

Typically, the buyer pays for home inspection services and escrow, deed preparation and recording fees, depending upon what is customary for the county the property is located in. He or she may also pay for title insurance, since this is required by the lender. The buyer is also responsible for any fees or costs associated with obtaining the purchase loan.

The seller customarily pays the real estate agent's commission, as well as costs associated with transferring an unencumbered title, such as a title search, reconveyance deed and documentary transfer tax.

Often, a seller will sweeten the deal by offering a one-year home warranty.

Who will pay for what closing costs customarily differs from county to county and should always be clearly spelled out in the purchase offer. A creative sales associate will consider the cash, income and tax situation of the home seller and the buyer when constructing an offer. For instance, if the buyer is short of cash, the agent may ask the seller to pay the buyer's loan points up front in exchange for some other concessions from the buyer. In this scenario, the buyer and seller benefit and both get what they want.

Gorgeous detailing highlights custom built home on 15 acres

By Jim Akans

This custom-built home on 15 scenic acres near East Jordan has an remarkable number of lifestyle amenities, both indoors and out, plus design and construction detailing that is simply amazing to behold.

The home is a ranch style design, offering 2,344 square feet of living area featuring a spacious floor plan that includes three large bedrooms and two full baths. Cathedral ceilings and a towering stone fireplace accent the main living area, and there is a separate game room area that is the perfect spot for a game of pool with family and friends, or for taking some quality time out to work on that exercise routine.

While the interior layout is versatile, roomy and comfortable, what really sets this home apart is the incredible finish details. Wood flooring and tongue and groove wood-working extends throughout, warming the interior walls and ceilings, and creating a true Northern Michigan ambience of rustic elegance. Even the kitchen and bathroom cabinetry is hand made.

As exceptional as the interior of this home is, the property outdoors is equally impressive. The 15 acres of land surrounding the home features a combination of open and wooded areas, and is abundant with seasonal wildlife. There are two outbuildings; a huge 36 x 64 pole barn with radiant heating; a great place for a year round woodshop, mechanical shop, or for any type of hobbyist. There is also a vintage looking storage shed. Both outbuildings feature durable, metal roofs.

This property is also in a wonderful location, just steps away from the Jordan River and Jordan River Valley, near snowmobile trails, and within easy reach of the many shopping and recreational opportunities offered in East Jordan.

This artist is like a folk hero and we should all sign up for this class. His work will enchant and make you laugh until you simply cannot stop. It will also endear certain pieces of art that will make you an instant fan of his work.

4th of July Fun Facts

By Erin Schlicher

The Fourth of July is right around the corner!

It is a holiday celebrating our unique way of life, rooted in history that began 235 years ago when the Continental Congress approved the Declaration of Independence, setting the 13 colonies on the road to freedom as a sovereign nation. Independence Day is commemorated with parades, fireworks, and backyard barbecues across the country.

As you prepare for your own celebrations, take a minute to learn a little more about this most American of holidays with our 4th of July trivia.

The actual vote on the resolution for independence was made on July 2nd, 1776, not on July 4th.

John Hancock was the first to sign the Declaration of Independence. It wasn't until August when the 55 other signers got the chance. Hancock signed his name very large on the center of the document, so everyone else had to sign around his name in very small print.

France played a vital role in helping the United States to win independence. France provided a navy, troops, and 90 percent of the gunpowder that the Patriots used.

Independence Day was first celebrated in Philadelphia on July 8, 1776.

The first Fourth of July party held at the White House was in 1801.

The Fourth of July was not declared a national holiday until 1941. The U.S. imported $3 million worth of American flags in 2009, of which $2.5 million was for U.S. flags made in China.

$197.3 million worth of fireworks was imported into the United States in 2010, $190.7 million of which was imported from China. By comparison, U.S. exports of fireworks came to just $37.0 million in 2010, with Japan purchasing more than any other country ($6.3 million).

More than 74 million Americans will barbecue on the Fourth of July, and they will consume an estimated 150 million hot dogs.

Have an enjoyable and safe 4th of July holiday!

Pat O'Brien & Associates would like to wish everyone a

SAFE & HAPPY

July 4th Holiday!

Pat O'Brien & Associates had a successful 2010 (and 2011 is awfully good too!), which sparked discussion about how we could give back to our community. Our agents came up with the idea to donate some of the sales commissions to local food pantries to help people who are going through tough times.

We have a true family atmosphere in our office - a closeness that inspires this kind of thinking.

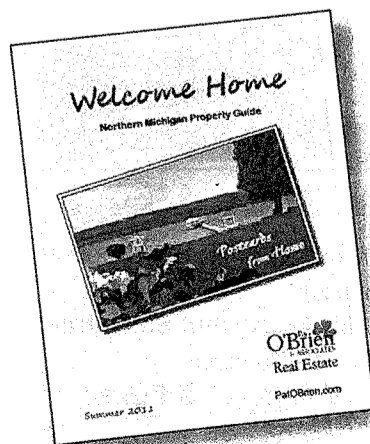

The first contribution was given to the Seventh-day Adventist Food Pantry in Boyne City. Most recently, Pat O'Brien & Associates donated

Will work for food.. for others over $2,260 to the East Jordan Care and Share Food Pantry. We are nearing the half-way point to our $10,000 goal.

We are happy with the decision we've made and will continue to work hard to ensure our goal to help local food pantries is met.

While you are out enjoying the holiday festivities, please stop in for a copy of our newest Property Guide and for your complimentary map of Charlevoix County and surrounding cities.
