Red Devils drop pair to visiting Gaylord

By Chris Fiel

Gaylord 12-5, East Jordan 4-4
EAST JORDAN – The Red Devils dropped a pair of non-conference baseball games to the Blue Devils 12-4, 5-4 on May 11.

In game one, East Jordan opened with a here run first before Gaylord responded with a pair of runs in both the second and fourth innings. The Red Devils would knot the score at 4-4 with a run of their own in the bottom of the fourth.

Then in the top of the sixth, the wheels came off for the Red Devils as Gaylord scored eight times, aided by six EJ errors.

“We imploded in the sixth inning,” Red Devil coach Al Stallard said. “We are normally very good defensively, but it definitely got ugly. Hopefully we got that out of our system.”

Aaron Peck took the loss in relief of Matt Bolser. Peck gave up eight runs (only two earned) on five hits walked three and fanned four in three innings of work. Bolser allowed four runs (two earned), three hits two walks and struck out three.

Wyatt Werner had two hits, including a double to lead the Red Devils at the dish, while Jordan Harasewicz, Peck, Zak Shepard, and John Richards each singled.

In the second game, the EJ offense once again got off to a hot start, scoring three times in the first and added another in the second for a 4-0 lead, before Gaylord scored three times in the third and added what would prove to be the tying and winning runs in the top of the fourth.

Shepard took the loss for the Red Devils, giving up five runs (two earned) on four hits, fanning three and walking three in four innings of work. Peck pitched the final two innings, holding the Blue Devils hitless and fanning two.

Harasewicz led the offense with two hits and an RBI, Skyler Gibson, Shepard and Werner all added hits for the Red Devils. Shepard finished with two RBI.

“We played a little better in game two, but it was quiet night with the bats,” Stallard noted. “We’ll bounce back.”

East Jordan shuts out Rams
 Harasewicz tosses one-hitter, Mellios three-hitter
 By Chris Fiel

East Jordan 1-9, Harbor Springs 0-0
EAST JORDAN – The Red Devils some solid pitching and timely offense in the opener, and the bats came to life in the nightcap in propelling East Jordan to a Lake Michigan Conference sweep of Harbor Springs on May 9.

The Red Devils would score the lone run of the contest in the first inning on an Austen Mellios double.

Mellios led EJ with two hits and an RBI, while Jordan Harasewicz and Zak Shepard singled.

Harasewicz continued his dominance on the mound, tossing a one-hitter for the Red Devils. He struck out nine and walked three in the victory.

Scott Morse took the loss for the Rams, allowing three hits and fanning 10.

“Neither pitcher deserved to lose this game,” East Jordan coach Al Stallard said. “We managed to score one run in the first inning and we made it stand up, I said before the season that Scott Morse was the toughest guy we would see all year, and he was just what I expected. Jordan was also up to the task and had another dominant performance.”

In game two, Mellios picked up where Harasewicz left off on the mound, holding the Rams to three hits, while walking four and striking out four, he also continued with his offense, singling and going deep for a three-run home run.

EJ scored one in the first, two in the third, before putting the game out of reach with three runs in both the fourth and fifth innings.

Also for the Red Devils, Wyatt Werner singled twice, while Harasewicz, Zak Shepard, Tim Schutt (2 RBI's) and John Richards (RBI) all had hits.

“Austen came up big with a shut out performance on the mound and also hit a two run homerun in the third to give us some breathing room,” Stallard said.

“These were two huge wins for us against a good Harbor Springs team. We now have the opportunity to go to Traverse City St Francis next week and win a conference championship without worrying about what anybody else is doing,” the coach noted. “You can't ask for any more than that.”

East Jordan improved to 10 - 2 in the Lake Michigan Conference and 15 - 5 overall.

May: a time to celebrate mother

“No language can express the power, and beauty, and heroism of a mother’s love,” is a famous quote by Edwin Hubbell Chapin. Yet as we celebrate mothers this May, a health epidemic continues to impact our mothers, sisters, daughters, aunts, colleagues and female friends. This ongoing issue affects women every day, leaving them physically, mentally and emotionally injured. On average it kills three women a day in the U.S.

What is this plague upon women? It’s been said if it were between countries, we’d call it a war. If it were an oil spill, we’d call it a disaster. If it were a disease, we’d all it an epidemic. Yet it is just an everyday occurrence. It is violence against women.

More than 1 in 3 women (35.6%) in the U.S. have experienced rape, physical violence and/or stalking by an intimate partner in their lifetime, according to a recent National Intimate Partner and Sexual Violence survey conducted by Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC). About 1 in 4 women (24.3%) have experienced severe physical violence by an intimate partner – hit with a fist or something hard, beaten, or slammed against something — at some point in their lifetime.

Survivors of this type of violence are more likely to experience health issues such as chronic pain, headaches, difficulty sleeping, poor overall physical and mental health, asthma, irritable bowel syndrome and diabetes. Violence against women extends its hand into our communities, as well. Domestic violence, alone, costs the U.S. economy more than $8.3 billion annually including medical care, mental health services and lost work productivity. Sadly, this violence creates a climate of fear and mistrust among women causing them to feel unsafe in their own homes.

The Women’s Resource Center of Northern Michigan provides immediate help to survivors of violent crimes, ongoing counseling, support groups and medical, legal, financial and housing advocacy. Yet, to eradicate violence against women one must acknowledge the problem and root cause; support survivors of domestic abuse, sexual assault, child abuse and child sexual assault; model healthy and respectful relationships; and hold perpetrators accountable. Equally important, is an awareness of the beliefs, attitudes and messages we see deeply imbedded in our society which sustain a culture of violence against women and girls. These messages glorify rape, demean women, limit equality, perpetuate sexism and equate masculinity with violence, power and privilege. Change the message to change the culture.

Recently, hundreds of local people attended screenings of the documentary Miss Representation. The film reveals how women and girls are consistently and overwhelmingly devalued and demeaned in television shows, movies, news broadcasts, magazines, advertising and music. This is the result of an industry dominated by men; 97% of what we watch comes from a male perspective, yet more than half of the U.S. population is female. These misrepresentations impact our culture and how we view and ultimately treat women and girls, while giving men and boys a distorted, unrealistic and sometimes aggressive view toward women.

A mother’s love is the fuel that enables a normal human being to do the impossible. As we honor our mothers during May, and every day, let her love for us and our love for her help us do the possible. Let us understand violence against women and girls continues to be one of our nation’s greatest health epidemics and take steps to eradicate it. Let us challenge media that limits and demeans women, and choose to be selective consumers of media and the products they promote. Together, we can create a culture that respects and encourages all people—one that would make any mom proud.

The Women’s Resource Center of Northern Michigan (WRCNM) is a non-profit, community-based organization founded in 1977. The agency has become one of the largest, most comprehensive and multifaceted human services organizations in Michigan, offering programs and services that benefit thousands of women, children and families in Antrim, Cheboygan, Charlevoix, Emmet and Otsego counties. For more information, contact the WRCNM Administrative Offices at 423 Porter Street, Petoskey, call (231) 347-0067, or visit their website at wrncnm.org.

Bert Notestine retires from the Health Department after 39 years of service

Thirty-nine years after taking what was supposed to be a temporary job at the local health department, Bert Notestine’s last day was May 10. The Board of Health for the Health Department of Northwest Michigan presented him with a resolution of appreciation for his service at its May meeting and friends and co-workers gathered recently for Notestine’s send off party. For almost four decades, Notestine worked in Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet, and Otsego counties, providing a wide range of public health services.

“As a health educator, Bert was a versatile staff member,” said Pat Fralick, Director of Family & Community Health. “Over the years, he’s had a wide variety of assignments, often focusing on children or safety, his special interests.”

For many years, Notestine led the Safe Kids Coalition of Northern Michigan, which distributed safety equipment like car seats, bike helmets, and gun locks to families through community events. Notestine also worked in the Health Department’s HIV Testing & Counseling Program and followed up on clients who were infected with sexually transmitted infections. “The favorite part of my job was calling clients to tell them they did not have HIV, gonorrhea, or another sexually transmitted disease,” Notestine said.

Notestine is leaving the Health Department to seek an elected position in Emmet County.

“Bert definitely contributed to the health and safety of our communities,” said Fralick. “We wish him all the best.”

The Health Department of Northwest Michigan is mandated by the Michigan Public Health Code to promote wellness, prevent disease, provide quality healthcare, address health problems of vulnerable populations, and protect the environment for the residents and visitors of Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet, and Otsego counties.

Health officials urge everyone to reduce your exposure to rabies

Public health officials remind residents and visitors to reduce their exposure to rabies by avoiding contact with wild animals, especially bats. Fortunately, a series of anti-rabies shots prevents rabies from developing in people who have been exposed to an infected animal. However, once a person develops signs or symptoms of rabies infection there is no treatment and it is always fatal. In 2009, a Michigan resident unfortunately died from rabies that he contracted from a bat exposure.

Most bats are not infected with rabies; it is estimated that 4 - 6% of the bats tested for rabies by Michigan Department of Community Health each year had the disease. Locally, about one animal tests positive for rabies every year in the Health Department’s four-county service area. Raccoons, skunks, and bats are most often tested for rabies, and bats are responsible for most rabies exposure.

“If a bat does happen to get in your home, it’s important to call your Health Department office to rule out rabies,” said Joshua Meyerson, MD, Medical Director for the Health Department of Northwest Michigan. “If you wake up and find a bat in your room; that is considered an exposure to rabies, even if you haven’t touched it.”

“Make every effort to capture the bat in a container and call us to have it tested,” he said. “If we can test it, we can determine if treatment is warranted. Without the bat, we have to assume it had rabies—and treatment is crucial to avoid developing the disease, which is fatal without treatment. Only one person is on record of surviving rabies.” Treatment for rabies consists of 5 anti-rabies shots over 28 days.

The best way to prevent rabies is to avoid contact with potentially infected animals. Parents should advise children not to pet or touch wild animals. Never approach or handle any animal that looks or acts ill, or behaves strangely. In addition, vaccinate your pets against rabies.

The U.S. Centers for Disease Control (CDC) & Prevention recommends the following steps to avoid exposure to animals infected with rabies:

Vaccinate all pet dogs, cats, ferrets, and other animals that have frequent contact with humans. Consider vaccinating horses and other livestock.

Do not let pets roam free. Spay or neuter pets to reduce dog and cat overpopulation.

Don’t feed or water pets outside — even empty bowls attract wild animals.

Keep garbage securely covered. Do not keep wild animals as pets.

Never handle unfamiliar or wild animals, even if they appear friendly.

If you see a wild animal acting strangely, report it to animal control officials.

Bat proof your home in the fall and winter.

Question & Answers About Selling Real Estate

Summer Moving tips: How to prepare for a seamless transition

Mike Stark

Compliments of Mike Stark, Stark Realty, Inc. (231) 536-7700

If you're moving this summer, the busiest season for moving, you know how daunting it can be. But if you create a blueprint for your move, the transition from house to house will go more smoothly.

Here are the first 3 of 10 things you can do to prepare for a seamless transition.

1. Full serve, partial serve or a do-it-yourself move. Can you do it alone or should you hire a licensed moving company for a full-service or partial-service move? This is one of the first and often most difficult questions soon-to-be moving households face. The answer depends on your lifestyle, household size, budget and amount of time you have to get everything accomplished. Get written quotes from at least three licensed moving companies so you know you're getting the best deal based on your specific moving needs. Moving yourself or doing a partial-service move? Packing calculators can make it easier to estimate the amount of boxes and packing materials needed.

2. Plan to unpack BEFORE you pack. Take photos of each room in the new home before you arrive with furniture, plants, appliances and family in tow. Write down on a clip board where each item should go in your next home before packing, and carry it with you on moving day. List out the major items that need to be assembled first. As you place each item in its new room, cross it off the list and you will be one step closer to enjoying your new home.

3. Be strategic about packing. If you have more than a month to 'pick up and move', start early. Complete a free change of address and schedule utilities ahead of time at Moving.com. Start packing early. Whether it's one room, one cabinet or a drawer at a time, weed through what may be years of accumulation. As you're going through your belongings, divide everything into these helpful categories: donate to charity, give to a friend, recycle, trash, pack now, or keep handy until moving day. You'll be surprised at how much you can donate, recycle or give to friends. And, you'll not be overwhelmed with the task at hand three days before you move.

Featured Property

In the heart of the Northern Michigan country

By Jim Akans

Set upon just over two acres of property featuring a gorgeous mix of hardwood and pines, this spacious two story home is all about living the good life in the heart of the Northern Michigan country. Just outside of Boyne City, this location offers the relaxed and peaceful ambience of country living that is within easy reach of the wide variety of shopping, dining and recreation Boyne City offers.

The versatile floor plan is designed accommodate virtually any homeowner need, and offers a whopping 3,328 square feet of living space. That's a lot of room for the growing family to enjoy, with 2,080 square feet on the main two levels and the remainder in the finished lower level walkout. That includes four generously sized bedrooms and three and a half baths – another very good feature for growing families!

Among the other design features in the home are cathedral ceilings and an open living, dining and kitchen layout – with lots of cabinet space and a convenient preparation island in the kitchen. The home also has central air conditioning, which is a real bonus during those hot early autumn days, and an attached two and a half-car garage. There is a huge 26 x 32 foot family room area in the lower level walkout that offers access to an outdoor patio.

The views that are captured from that patio, as well as the raised 20 x 20 foot deck above it that extends across the entire rear elevation of the home, are absolutely wonderful. A stunning palette filled with woodlands and wildlife embrace the home in scenic splendor.

This spacious country home, perfectly complimented by the natural surroundings, is located at 2700 Pleasant Valley Road near Boyne City, and is being offered at $189,000.
