Boyne City's Corey Redman makes early commitment to Central Michigan University

By Chris Fiel

BOYNE CITY – It's never too early to think long term.

Boyne City incoming sophomore Corey Redman, checked one important goal off his to-do-list by verbally committing to Central Michigan University and coach Ken Davis on Friday, August 3, becoming a member of the Chippewas 2015 Class.

Redman, who stands 6-4, was a member of the varsity squad last season for the district champion Ramblers. He averaged 12 points and five boards a game as a freshman. This summer he has been playing a lot of basketball, including two AAU teams where he played up an age group.

"They (CMU coaches) seemed very nice and they work you out hard, which I liked," Corey said. "They just seemed like a good group of guys and it's always been a dream to play D-1 basketball, and then to only be two hours away, that's perfect for my family to come watch me."

"He made the Reaching Higher Top 100 a couple of weeks ago," said Nick Redman, Corey's dad and Boyne City's coach. "There was about 150 college coaches there. He was one of only a few freshmen about to be sophomores there, and I thought he played well. He fit in and held his own."

When plans for Corey's AAU team to go to Indianapolis last week fell through, he went to Central Michigan's camp instead where he was named the camps MVP.

It turned out to be a blessing in disguise.

"I got a call from (assistant coach Jeff Smith) asking if I was going to pick Corey up from camp. I said, 'no, my wife is,'" Nick Redman said. "He told me Coach Davis wants to meet you and he's going to offer Corey a scholarship and I about fell over. I called my wife and told her not to leave yet, because the coach wants to talk to you. She and Corey went into Coach Davis' office and they talked about how much they like Corey."

"He tells my wife that he's offering a scholarship. My wife didn't know that Division 1 scholarships are full (tuition) so she asks how much money he's talking. He said 'no, you won't have to pay for anything.' Then she about fell over."

Prior to Davis' interest in Redman, former CMU coach Ernie Zeigler had also been intrigued by the young Redman a year ago. "He was kind of on the radar last year with Central with their old coaches," Nick Redman said.

"When we went to our team camp, he won a couple of games for us when he was an 8th grader, about to be a 9th grader. They invited him down to an underclassman recruitment day last year."

"I also want to thank Steve Bell, his Parallell 45 AAU and Bankhoops camps are a great way for Northern Michigan kids to have an opportunity to show that they can compete with the best players in the state."

While Corey won't be able to sign his letter of intent for a couple of more years, it was that time-span that was the only concern for Nick Redman. They asked that Corey not attend any more prospect camps, so Nick Redman asked coach Davis if he commits, will you hold up your end of the bargain when Corey becomes a senior. Davis said that the only thing that could hurt that would be if he got in trouble with the law or if his grades slipped, because he wants good character kids.

"I told him that I can guarantee that none of those will happen," Nick Redman said.

With those issues aside, Corey Redman was happy to offer a verbal commitment.

"We were just at Reaching Higher and Zack Novak had a speech about getting offered by Valparaiso as a sophomore," Nick Redman said. "He didn't commit and he didn't get another offer until the very end of his senior year, when he got lucky and got offered by (Michigan). He was that close to not getting a scholarship. It was a great speech from Zack, and it got me thinking. We had always talked about how that would be a perfect fit if he could somehow ever be good enough to play there."

With the whole basketball recruiting process out of the way, Corey can now focus on being a normal high school student.

"That's what we thought too," Nick said. "It's a perfect situation for him, and now he can just play high school sports and enjoy it."

Coery will be lacing up the sneaker in mid November for the hardwood, but in the meantime, football will take center-stage, where Redman is a quarterback for Boyne City, looking to take the position his older brother, Jay Redman, held the last couple of years. Jay graduated this spring and is playing basketball at Lawrence Tech.

"Coaches have been saying how important it is to be tough mentally as well as physically, and playing football has been a huge part of developing that and help build his character," Nick Redman said. "After getting the news, Jay was the first person I called and I told him that this would have not have happened without him, he put a lot of time in with Corey and was a great mentor for him."

2013 Dodge Dart

Dodge Hits the "Bull's Eye" with an all-new compact car – the 2013 Dodge Dart

The 2013 Dodge Dart redefines performance with Alfa Romeo DNA, fuel-efficient powertrains and Dodge's passion for performance. The all-new Dodge Dart is a thoroughly modern vehicle that's fuel-efficient, beautifully designed and crafted, agile and fun-to-drive. Loaded with innovative technology, class-leading safety features and clever functionality, the 2013 Dodge Dart sets a new standard in the compact car segment by offering unmatched personalization, roominess, style, functionality and fun-to-drive dynamics.

"The all-new Dodge Dart is a groundbreaking car that will surprise and delight customers who want a no-compromise, fun-to-drive car that's a great value," said Reid Bigland, President and Chief Executive Officer — Dodge Brand, Chrysler Group LLC. "With 12 exterior colors, 14 interior color and trim options, three powerful, fuel-efficient engines, three transmission choices, unsurpassed safety features and world-class aerodynamics, the new Dodge Dart sets a new standard for the compact car class at 41 miles per gallon on the highway."

"The Dodge Dart was a dream to design," said Joe Dehner, Head of Dodge Design — Chrysler Group LLC. "The Alfa Romeo-based architecture allowed us to design an exterior with great proportions that say 'fun-to-drive' when you look at it. Add in the Charger-inspired 'racetrack' taillamps, a new, sleek crosshair grille and piano black accents, and it all adds up to a performance-inspired design with just the right amount of attitude."

The Fiat Group-based Compact U.S. Wide architecture's low, wide and long dimensions ensured a stable "body-in, wheels-out" stance and coupe-like silhouette. The platform allowed for accentuating the fender formations and pushing the wheels as far out to the corners as possible, creating a very stable look, which gave Dodge designers incredible opportunities for some very dramatic sculpturing. Designers visually stretched the skin of the car over the vehicle framework as if stretching nylon over a surface.

The Dart's "driver-centric" layout is designed to put all controls within easy reach of the driver. Customizable displays and comfort-tuned seats are packaged in an exceptionally spacious, pleasing interior. Photo copyright 2012 Chrysler Group LLC.

"When designing the all-new Dodge Dart, we were inspired by classic, beautifully designed vehicles throughout time," Dehner added. "Each car was beautiful, based on its surface work and presence alone; they didn't need unnecessary cladding, jewelry or lines that confuse the eye."

The Dart's "driver-centric" layout is designed to put all controls within easy reach of the driver. Customizable displays and comfort-tuned seats are packaged in an exceptionally spacious, pleasing interior. Packaged in the footprint of a compact car, the 2013 Dodge Dart features the interior spaciousness of a mid-size sedan, and it boasts best-in-class hip and shoulder room.

"The all-new Dodge Dart is the showpiece for Dodge's next generation philosophy of interior design," said Klaus Busse, Head of Interior Design — Chrysler Group LLC. "The Dart interior takes the beautiful, precision-crafted interiors we rolled out last year and adds a little bit of fun with surprises of color, eye-catching ambient lighting and some really cool technology."

Dodge expects the Dart to appeal to a wide-ranging group of new car buyers, from millennials to empty nesters. The millennial customer is a young professional most likely purchasing their first new car. They desire a car that is truly an expression of self, a car they can personalize and call their own. The millennial customer is connected with their friends, enjoys having a great time and is never without their phone. They grew up with technology and they indulge in the latest high-tech features.

The empty nester customer is in the process of redefining their lifestyle, and they have more time for themselves than in their recent past. This customer typically knows what they like and purchases things and participates in activities that make them happy. The empty nester appreciates what they have, leads an active lifestyle and is always up for a challenge. This customer is interested in not only the way things work, but why. The empty nester appreciates a good value, but doesn't want to sacrifice the level of quality and amenities they have worked hard to attain.

Available 3rd quarter of 2012, the all-new Dodge Dart has been engineered with great levels of refinement, craftsmanship and engaging driving dynamics. Consumers can get more information at www.Dodge.com/Dart.

Real Estate Corner Question & Answers About Selling Real Estate Summer Moving Tips PT. 4 OF 5

Compliments of Mike Stark, Stark Realty, Inc. (231) 536-7700

How to prepare for a seamless transition

If you're moving this summer, the busiest season for moving, you know how daunting it can be. But if you create a blueprint for your move, the transition from house to house will go more smoothly.

Here are 2 more of 10 things you can do to prepare for a seamless transition.

7. Take pictures of electronic hook-ups. Hooking up TVs, DVRs, home theater systems and computers can be challenging. Before unplugging any wires for the move, take a photo of the connections, print them out and label them in detail. This will create fewer headaches when setting up technology in the new home. Keep track of all loose wires using baggies or boxes that are clearly labeled, and personally carry these easy-to-lose items on moving day.

8. Packing cleaning products and toxins. Products such as detergents, pesticides and paint are heavy and unwieldy to pack. Dispose of as many as possible before the move in an eco-friendly way. Call your city's waste disposal department for guidance on proper disposal. For items that must be transported, pack them in a small box within a larger box for protection against leaks. Don't overstuff boxes with these items! Consider marking these boxes in a different color, and seal them extra tight. Keep them separate from the rest of the boxes, particularly if you have kids and pets.

Outstanding starter or "down-sizer" just a few blocks from Lake Charlevoix

By Jim Akans

What an excellent real estate opportunity for those looking for that first home, or perhaps looking to down-size from their current residence.

Located in a wonderful Boyne City neighborhood, this sharp single-level home is just three blocks away from beautiful Lake Charlevoix and the marina. So when the mood hits, it's just a short walk to downtown or the lake. Now that's in-town living with a huge PLUS.

The home features approximately 1,035 square feet of nicely appointed living space. There are two bedrooms and a galley style kitchen, plus a full bath that has been updated to include a whirlpool tub and a separate shower. The home also features energy efficient Andersen windows, and the exterior is maintenance free vinyl siding.

The pleasant backyard includes a handy storage shed for storing lawn equipment, outdoor "toys" or to simply accommodate extra storage needs (something every homeowner can utilize).

Located at 317 South East Street in Boyne City, this fantastic home close to downtown

Boyne City and Lake Charlevoix is being offered at $79,900.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY RECYCLING HAULERS BID

Charlevoix County provides drop-off stations for the collection of recyclable items such as cardboard, office paper, newspapers/magazines, plastic, tin/aluminum, glass and trucking of recycling pallets from Beaver Island to Emmet County.

Charlevoix County is seeking firm transportation cost to the Emmet County Recycling Facility (Pleasantview Rd., Harbor Springs) from the various collection sites in Charlevoix County.
