Dry Harbour (Charlevoix) finishes runner up

Dry Harbour opened pool play with a tough loss to Mt. Pleasant, Isaac Mortensen (Central Lake) drove in the only run as Dry Harbour lost 4-1. Nate Moon (Charlevoix) and Hunter Cox (Charlevoix) had the only hits.

Game two saw DH pull out a come from behind 9-8 bottom of the sixth victory over Midwest Lightning (Livonia).

DNR offers ORV safety tips Conservation officers remind ORV riders to ride safely and legally LANSING – Summer means more and more Michigan residents and visitors are in the outdoors enjoying the state's abundant natural resources, and one of the more popular activities is off-road vehicle (ORV) riding. Conservation officers with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources are reminding ORV enthusiasts to ride safely and legally this summer.

"With the holiday weekend approaching, we know more ORV riders will be out enjoying Michigan's designated trail system," said Lt. Andrew Turner, who leads the DNR's recreation safety program. "We want all riders to have a fun and safe experience, and that is why we want to remind them of some important safety information." signed to accommodate a passenger.

* Do not operate your vehicle at excessive speeds.

* Do a pre-ride check of your vehicle to make sure it is in proper working order. Pay close attention to the tires, making sure they aren't low and don't have a leak. Low tire pressure can cause handling issues for your ORV.

* Know your trail - study the map for where you are riding and become familiar with where the sharp curves are located.

* Know where you're riding before heading out, make sure

Jordan Valley Triathlon

Lt. Turner offered the following tips and guidelines for ORV riders:

* As with any vehicle, do not drink and drive.

* Know your ORV - study your owner's manual and become familiar with your vehicle's features. Know where they are located without having to look at them.

* Wear a helmet. While Michigan law recently changed to give motorcycle riders the option not to wear a helmet, the law does not apply to ORV riders. Also wear eye protection, such as goggles, or have a face shield on your helmet.

* Wear gloves and other proper clothing, including boots, long pants and longsleeved shirts.

* Only have a passenger ride with you if your ORV is de-you know whether or not the county you're riding in allows ORV use on county roads. Do not mistake state forest roads for county roads. Contact the county clerk's office where you want to ride and request a plat book that shows county roads for each township. The DNR also keeps updated ORV maps on its website at www.michigan.gov/orvtrails.

ORVs are primarily designed for off-road use. Driving on paved surfaces is hazardous because of handling issues. Riding on paved roads is the leading cause of ORV-related fatalities.

For a complete overview of ORV rules and regulations in Michigan, go to the Michigan ORV Handbook online at www.offroad-ed.com. While out riding, those who encounter anyone violating land use rules for ORVs are asked to call the DNR's Report All Poaching law enforcement line at 800-292-7800. For the 28th consecutive year, the East Jordan Ambulance Association hosted the annual Jordan Valley Triathlon.

The course is a total of 22.2 miles of swimming, biking and running throughout the East Jordan community and surrounding area.

The event is the associations primary fund raiser each year and attracts entrants from all over Michigan and other states as far away as Arizona.

The EJ EMS uses the funds raised by this event to support the department's equipment needs as well as donate funds into a scholarship program for East Jordan High School graduates entering both the EMS field as well as higher education.

Check Back next week for race results.

Health & Wellness Are you getting enough sleep?

By Deb Hagen-Foley

Do you get enough sleep? How much sleep do you need? Children need more sleep than adults, the younger the child the more sleep they need. A two-month-old needs twelve to eighteen hours of sleep per day. An adult should get 7.5 to 9 hours of sleep. With our busy schedules, it often feels like there aren't enough hours in the day. We might reduce sleep time to make time for everything else!

According to the National Institutes of Health, the average adult sleeps less than seven hours per night. If you consistently get less than eight hours of sleep per night, you are probably sleep deprived. You may be sleep deprived if:

- you need an alarm clock to wake up on time;

- you hit the snooze button or have a hard time getting out of bed in the morning

- you feel sluggish in the afternoon or get sleepy in meetings or lectures.

- Do you feel the need to sleep in on weekends, nap to get through the day or fall asleep in the evening while watching television?

- Do you fall asleep within five minutes of going to bed?

You are probably sleep deprived. Maybe you have gotten used to being tired most of the time. It might seem normal to you and you have forgotten what it is like to feel wide-awake. Sleep deprivation not only isn't normal, it can be dangerous. Sleep deprivation, if prolonged or repeated, can have many negative effects. Beyond the obvious fatigue, sleep deprivation can result in concentration and memory problems, inability to cope with stress, moodiness and irritability. Sleep deprivation can lead to weight gain and difficulty making decisions, impaired motor skills and increased risk of accidents. Sleep deprivation can also negatively impact physical health, leading to reduced immunity, frequent colds and infections, and an increased risk of diabetes and heart disease. Driving while sleep-deprived is as dangerous as driving while intoxicated.

Sleep deprivation is a result of sleep that is not of acceptable quantity or quality. To feel fully rested, it is important to experience REM sleep and deep sleep as both provide benefits. The stages of deep, restorative sleep alternate with more alert REM sleep. Each cycle typically lasts about 90 minutes and repeats four to six times per night, with deep sleep occurring more in the first half of the night and REM sleep in the latter half.

Lack of deep sleep is the most damaging type of sleep deprivation. In deep sleep, the body repairs itself and builds energy for the next day. Deep sleep is important in maintaining your health, repairing muscles and tissues and boosting your immune system. Being regularly awoken during the night or working night shifts can disrupt your deep sleep cycles.

REM sleep gives your brain an opportunity to consolidate the information learned during the day, improve memory, and replenish neurotransmitters, including serotonin and dopamine - feel-good chemicals that boost your mood. Now that you are convinced of the importance of an adequate amount of quality sleep, next week I will share how to improve your sleep and repay the sleep debt you may have from continued sleep deprivation.

Children need more sleep than adults. Most adults need at least 7.5 hours of quality sleep per day. WIKIPEDIA COMMONS PHOTO

MCSI: Investigating the possibilities.

Students explore futures in health and medicine at Charlevoix Area Hospital.

Local students recently had the chance to get a crash-course in what a real medical career would be like when Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District and North Central Michigan College teamed up with Charlevoix Area Hospital to give students up-close and personal interactions in a variety of health-related fields.

MCSI, which stands for Medical Career Scene Investigation, invites students in grades 6, 7, and 8 to explore their futures in the fields of Nursing, Pathology, Radiology, Patient Simulation, Geographic Information Systems and Medical Decisions, EMT/Paramedics and Wilderness Medicine.

Sessions were held at North Central Michigan College and Charlevoix Area Hospital over the course of two days and included ambulance and hospital tours, health screenings, dissection, and chemistry demonstrations. At the hospital, students had first-hand experiences with scrub techs, sleep studies, vein finders, ultrasounds and other medical equipment.

Interactive groups encouraged students to ask questions and speak directly to college students and professionals in the field. "We really want the students to get engaged and ask questions," said Charlevoix Area Hospital Community Health Director Kathy Jacobsen. "This is their chance to learn more about potential health careers and to see if it is something they may want to pursue in the future.'

Each summer, the Health Department of Northwest Michigan receives inquiries from tourists and residents concerned about cercarial dermatitis, commonly known as "swimmer's itch," occurring after swimming or wading in local lakes and rivers. The condition appears as a skin rash and is caused by a reaction to parsite comes into contact with a swimmer, it burrows into the skin.

As unpleasant as this sounds, swimmer's itch doesn't usually require any type of medical attention, according to Joshua Meyerson, M.D., Medical Director for the Health Department.

"Swimmer's itch is common throughout the world," Dr. Meyerson said. "A topical hydrocortisone cream, an antihistamine like prevent a secondary infection."

Swimmer's itch can occur in any of Michigan's lakes, rivers or ponds, and is not a sign that a swimming area is unsafe. While the Health Department monitors public beaches in Northwest Michigan for the presence of E.coli bacteria - a much more serious threat that can lead to beach closures - beaches are not closed based on reports of swimmer's

(DEQ) Web site at www.deq.state.mi.us/beach.

Dr. Meyerson adds that swimmer's itch is not contagious, and it does not occur in swimming pools that are properly maintained and chlorinated. He recommends that lake swimmers towel off quickly and thoroughly after leaving the water, to minimize any possible effects. Showering upon leaving the water is also helpful. Children

Real Estate Corner Question & Answers About Selling Real Estate

Compliments of Mike Stark, Stark Realty, Inc. (231) 536-7700

Do you need Title Insurance

When you buy a home you want to make sure that the people selling it actually have full and legal title. The party who conducts closing will check this out by going down to the local property records office to research the history of ownership.

But-and here's the tricky partthose records down at the property office may be official, but they may also be wrong. It's also possible that the person who does the title search can make a mistake and also that important information may simply not be recorded.

For instance, maybe a bill against the property was not recorded or some taxes were not been paid. Or, suppose that 40 years ago the property you want to purchase was owned by Smith. Let's also imagine that Smith was a bigamist with an extra spouse. Will this matter show up on the local property records? Not likely. Does the additional Smith spouse have an ownership claim against the property? That may only be clear after a lot of legal wrangling-and if you lose, you could lose the house.

There may be other odd and bizarre claims as well. Was an owner an alcoholic? Insane? A drug user? Is there a contractor with a claim against the property? Such issues can "cloud" titles and neither lenders nor owners want clouds.

One form of title insurance, "lenders" coverage, is designed to protect (who else?) your lender in case of title problems. "Lenders" coverage is required and generally provides protection up to the original mortgage amount-if you buy a home for $300,000 and get a $250,000 mortgage, then $250,000 is as much coverage as you can get with a lender's policy. If there's a claim, the title insurer will fight on your behalf and if there's a claim the policy will pay off the loan if necessary. This is good news for you because you won't owe the lender a dime if you lose in court.

But there are also some options.

For instance, you can also get "owners" coverage. This will protect your equity—that $50,000 in the example above not covered by the lender's policy. And you can often get an "inflation rider" with an owner's policy—as the value of your home goes up, so does the value of your title coverage.

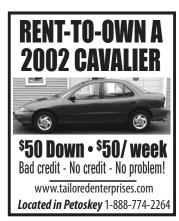

While title insurance is required by virtually all lenders, there is one big exception: Loans made in Iowa. In Iowa, the state says that attorneys and others who do title work must participate in a title guarantee program. If there's a title error, the state fund provides coverage.

PUBLIC NOTICE CITY OF EAST JORDAN REQUEST FOR VARIANCES

The City of East Jordan Zoning Board of Appeals has received a variance request from Joseph & Robyn Rebec for the property commonly known as 403 Mill Street, which is in an R-1 Single-Family Residential zoning district. The applicant proposes to demolish the existing garage, and build a new garage and a new breezeway connecting it to the existing house. The project as proposed would require three variances from the City's Zoning Code: 1) increasing the lot coverage from 33% to 37%, both of which exceed the maximum 30% density of the site (the % of property covered by structures such as buildings & parking areas); 2) requiring a rear yard setback for the garage of 37.5 feet (minimum required is 40 feet); 3) enlarging an existing nonconforming structure (at 19.6 feet, the existing house does not meet the 35foot minimum front yard setback.)

A Public Hearing to receive comments on this request will be held on Monday, July 22, 2013 at 5:15 PM in City Hall, 201 Main Street, East Jordan, MI. Written comments may be submitted to the East Jordan Zoning Board of Appeals, c/o the City Clerk, PO Box 499, East Jordan, MI 49727.
