Charlevoix forum on new health care options

CHARLEVOIX - As of October there will be new health insurance options, opening up insurance and health care to people who have been struggling to find coverage. Yet people are confused or overwhelmed as to how the Affordable Healthcare Act ("Obamacare") will impact them.

Answers to most of these questions will be presented at the Charlevoix Public Library on September 16 at 6:30 p.m. Leading this public forum will be Lyn Jenks, CEO of Charlevoix Area Hospital and Linda Yaroch, RN, Health Officer with the Health Department of Northern Michigan.

People previously denied coverage, people who have not been able to afford health insurance, people who are under-insured will have better access to insurance and health care under the Affordable Health Care Act. The enrollment period begins this October.

The gathering will be a nuts and bolts discussion, clarifying the facts of the Affordable Health Care Act and how individuals can navigate the system, including where to find assistance.

"People are frightened and confused," Ms. Jenks recently observed.

"We will deal with questions that directly affect individuals," she continued.

The forum will explain how the insurance exchanges will work, how the new plans will affect individual premiums, how to enroll, what resources are available to help individuals apply, and what tax credits and subsidies are available for low-income individuals and families.

Ms. Jenks will focus on federal and state impacts of the new law.

Ms. Jenks will also clear up misconceptions including the fear that senior citizens' Medicare or Medicare Advantage plans will be impacted. In fact, people currently enrolled in Medicare will see no change in their insurance nor their premiums.

"What I can do is help people understand the new law," Ms. Jenks says.

Local responses and the application process will be explained by Linda Yaroch, Health Officer and Public Health Nurse with the County Health Department.

"We are developing robust out-reach and education plans for 8 counties across northern Michigan including Charlevoix," said Ms.

Yaroch.
"There will be enrollment opportunities and application assistance through the health department, hospitals, federally qualified health centers, and other community partners.

"Individuals may also enroll on their own but if they want assistance there will be people trained to help."

Uninsured, under-insured, and people who have previously been denied coverage will receive help never before available, according to both Ms. Jenks and Ms. Yaroch.

"Thirty two million Americans who could not get health insurance will now be helped," noted Ms. Jenks.

"When the dust settles Americans will look back and ultimately say it is a good thing."

Studies from other states, including California and New York, have shown that individual premiums are actually falling and the subsidies to help poorer individuals are having a positive impact, according to recent reports.

Already there has been a positive impact on hospital and health care costs, the Charlevoix Area Hospital CEO added.

"We are seeing a bending of the health care costs curve where in the past they have done nothing but escalate. We will now be paid for quality and out-comes not volume. We will be penalized if hospital readmission rates are too high. Physicians will be encouraged to not duplicate tests and to think twice before ordering inappropriate tests.

"Electronic health records will bring portability. For example, your doctor in Florida will see the exact same records as your doctor in Charlevoix, ultimately saving the whole system money."

The informational forum on September 16, (6:30 pm) at the Charlevoix Public Library (Community Rooms), is designed to provide vital information to everyone in the community. Time will be allowed for the many questions people will have. A non-partisan event, it is being hosted by the Charlevoix Democratic Party.

"Many people are confused and frightened and are hearing way too much political rhetoric. Health care should not be political," states Kris Busk, local party chairperson.

"We hope everyone with a question, everyone with concerns or doubts, will come listen to these two experts."

East Jordan EMS to re-chassis old rig, saving city and townships $30K

By Krystal Johnson

EAST JORDAN—East Jordan EMS plans to move forward with the replacement of an ambulance chassis to bring new life to an old rig, while offering cost savings of $30K.

At the September 3 meeting of the East Jordan city commission, commissioners agreed to participate in the replacement of an ambulance chassis and sign an interim agreement for the $127,886 purchase.

During recent meetings of the East Jordan EMS Authority Steering Committee, the committee began looking at the condition and mileage of the city's four ambulances. It came to their attention that Unit 54 Alpha-1, a 2001 ambulance, has 190K miles on it and should be considered for replacement.

While the city and townships are currently working together to form an ambulance authority, the new entity will not become effective until April 1, 2015, pending voter approval and collection of its first millage. The city and township representatives of the committee do not feel that the ambulance in question will be safe to run in its current state until that time.

EMS director Jay Peck said it quickly became a question of ambulance replacement versus chassis replacement. To purchase a new ambulance would cost roughly $160K, whereas it would cost just under $130K to install the existing box of the ambulance on a new chassis.

"We're talking 30 thousand [dollars]," said Peck. "If we can save 30 now and 30 down the road...now we're at 60 thousand [dollars] towards a new [ambulance]."

Peck said they have spoken with most of the other townships, and they have been in agreement to move forward with the new chassis.

"Once all seven municipalities adopt the interim agree-

East Jordan's Cutler Enters House Race

East Jordan, MI - Promising a platform of fresh ideas and a new open-door approach to state governance, well-known East Jordan resident Tony Cutler announced his candidacy for the 105th house seat.

"It has been an honor and a privilege to serve the residents of East Jordan these past years, and I can think of nothing greater than continuing to work on everyone's behalf in the House of Representatives," he announced.

Cutler, a Republican, has emphasized the importance of the future role Michigan's legislature in leading a strong economic comeback and reaching an improved quality of life for the Northern Michigan region. "Our focus needs to continue to be on creating high quality, high paying jobs for our friends and family, by identifying and capitalizing on the unique and incredible economic climate we have as a tourism, agricultural, and educational hub in this state."

Cutler pledged to make his campaign about people, not politics. "We need representation who won't forget their Northern Michigan roots," Cutler, 30, added.

Cutler will also be strongly advocating for wise and critical infrastructure investments while removing redundancy and political waste. "Michigan has to be smarter about how we approach these issues without raising the burden on our taxpayers and residents."

Cutler is currently the deputy mayor of the City of East Jordan and has previously served on the Board of Review. He is a graduate of Lake Superior State University where he earned degrees in finance and economics and business administration management.

 Tony Cutler currently works for Boyne City High School and Baker College instructing Business, Marketing, Management and Personal Finance. In 2013 he served BCHS as a long term sub teaching economics. And in 2011 was hired by Charlevoix High School to teach a section of Algebra II to high school sophomores and juniors.

Ebenezer Christian School Hires New Staff

By Tina Sundelius

ELLSWORTH—The small private school located within the limits of Ellsworth Village experienced a turnover in staff similar to that of the village's public schools this year. Upon arrival on the first day of school last week, students in grades third through eighth were greeted by new teachers at Ebenezer Christian School.

The Preschool through eighth grade Christian Worldview school educates in a style similar to the old one room classroom. "Our teachers teach in a multi-age classroom in which all students are part of the instruction and have an opportunity to be involved in advanced learning. Because of the blended classrooms, students learn to become independent workers, and problems solvers which challenge them academically and socially," said Ebenezer Administrator Sarah Essenberg. The school has been operating in Ellsworth for the last 70 years and follows the state mandated Common Core curriculum with a faith based perspective. "Our students have been very successful academically and our highly qualified staff is very innovative and creative within the classroom," she said.

Jeanine Sladick, the new high energy third and fourth grade teacher, is a perfect example of the innovative and creative staff Essenberg was speaking of. She has prior teaching experience at East Jordan Elementary School and Concord Academy Antrim and has received a Bachelor of Arts in Elementary Education from Spring Arbor University. She taught the K-12 dance at Concord as well as after school dance and for the traditional percussive dance company, Dance Attack. "Movement and dance have been my passion for many years, fueling my energy for many collaborative projects involving the academic and arts teachers in our building. Though it is no longer the sole focus of my teaching, I do hope to incorporate purposeful movement into our classroom to enhance learning. It's not just a fun way to learn, it is the most effective way or brains retain information," said Sladick.

She has five children, Peter 25, Ehren, 22, Briana 20, Isaiah 17, and Simon 15, and has lived in East Jordan since 2003. Sladick has successfully integrated academic subjects into the dance curriculum for students in grades K-12 throughout her career. "The acquired experience in dance added the necessary element of creativity every teacher must display in the classroom. This has allowed me to design creative memorable lessons to meet the multiple intelligences of students across the curriculum," she said. Most of her lessons incorporate a variety of manipulatives and brain-compatible activities. She explained that one of her greatest strengths is creating lesson plans that actively involve the students and keep their attention. "I also feel strongly that affirming every student throughout the day as they build their self-confidence must be a top priority," she said. Sladick's favorite subjects have always been the arts and especially dance but when pressed to choose an academic she chose math. "I love teaching math and coming up with fun active ways to engage students but I also enjoy guiding students to becoming better readers and writers. It is extremely rewarding to watch them gain confidence and a sense of accomplishment as their skills improve so they can truly comprehend what they read and then convey their thoughts in their own published works," she said. Fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth graders were greeted by Natalie Malpass and her circle of power and respect. She comes to Ebenezer with a Bachelor's degree in communications from De-

Paul University and a Masters degree in education from Arizona State University. "During my two years in Phoenix I taught 4th grade and truly fell in love with teaching," said Malpass. She moved to Chicago to join a team of passionate teachers and start a new charter school in the city that focused on creating a rigorous college prep academic program to help prepare students to be the first generation in their families to go to college. There she taught kindergarten and first grade. "After teaching for 5 years, I moved into administration and worked on curriculum development, teacher coaching, and professional development," she said. Malpass is a recent transplant to Northern Michigan having just moved to East Jordan where her husband's extended family lives, in July. She has been married for 6 years to husband, Matthew and the couple's immediate family includes a golden retriever, Hanzel, and Bailey, a poodle mix. "We are happy to be here in such a beautiful place with his family so nearby," she said. Malpass was attracted to Ebenezer because of its great word of mouth reputation. "Everyone speaks highly of the quality of education children get there. The students are wonderful and come from great families," she said. She also likes the small class size and multiage set up. Her goal is to push her students to work harder and think more critically, but understands that every student should feel a great sense of accomplishment with how much they grow in a year. "I am hoping to support students to take charge of their own learning and push themselves to be the best they can," she said. The school will be incorporating some other changes as well. "I'm excited to have both Natalie and Jeanine here at Ebenezer as I feel they are both bringing new ideas and teaching strategies from their past experiences not only into their own classroom, but the others as well. They are both strong leaders who have a passion for teaching that was clear the first week of school. We will also be using Lucy Calkins new writing program for the whole school, which is new to the school this year," said Essenberg.

Family thwarts home invasion in Boyne City

The Boyne City Police responded to a call of Home Invasion at approximately 4:15 this morning in the 1400 block of Pleasant Avenue. A homeowner called 911 and reported that an intoxicated male had broken their front door and entered the residence. When the responding officer arrived, he found the intruder being detained in a chair by the male homeowner. The homeowner had armed himself with a hand gun and ordered the intruder to sit there until police arrived. The suspect was arrested at the scene without further incident. The responding officer found the suspect to be highly intoxicated and police believe he may have also been using drugs. The suspect also lives in Boyne City. While the family was sleeping in the house, the suspect apparently tried to get in the back door and was unsuccessful. He then went to the front of the house, kicked in the door and entered the front room. The homeowners 2 teenage children were awakened by the sound of the intrusion and alerted their parents. The parents confronted the suspect in the front room. Boyne City Police Chief Jeff Gaither said that the homeowners showed amazing composure and restraint in the confrontation. Although this was a scary experience for the homeowners and their family, nobody was hurt. This appears to be a random home invasion and nothing was taken by the suspect. There was damage to the front door which had been deadbolt locked.

Goodwill Retail & Distribution Centers in Petoskey and Gaylord

By Jim Akans

It is a well-recognized name that symbolizes services and programs that provide a means for people in need to get back on their feet and regain their treasured independence. Goodwill has been around since 1902, when a Boston area Methodist Minister named Rev. Edgar Helms began collecting used household goods and clothing, and hired those who were down on their luck to mend and repair those goods for resale. Here in Northern Michigan, Goodwill opened their doors at Asgard Enterprises in 1972, and today the non-profit organization offers vocational, housing, transportation, nutritional and family strengthening programs across the region.

Goodwill also continues to offer gently used clothing, household items, books, home décor accessories and more at their Retail and Donation Centers. In our area, centers are located in Petoskey and Gaylord, employing a total of 34 people, utilizing proceeds from sales at each location to help support programs throughout Northern Michigan that help people overcome barriers to independence.

"Part of our business model is also being 'green,'" observes Ruth Blick, Director of Marketing and Communications for Goodwill Industries of Northern Michigan. "Everything that is donated to our stores is either reduced, reused or recycled. Items that come in that don't meet quality standards go thro our salvage program. We are also in partnership with Dell Reconnect and we accept all types of computer equipment and recycle those items. Many people don't realize that a computer monitor can contain up to a pound of lead. We are able to safely recycle those units."

Goodwill also recycles metal items, cardboard, purses, belts, shoes, books and clothing. The gently used items on the sales floor follow a rotation model where they are on display for four weeks a regular price, then half-off for a week, then reduced per item to 99-cents for adult sizes and 49-cents for children sizes, and those items are finally recycled if not sold.

"So there are always items at sale prices when someone visits our store," observes Ruth Blick. "People want to see different items on display when they visit us. Thousands of items are regularly coming in and going out of our stores."

Submitting items for donation is easy. Each location has a drive up donation center, open 7 days a week, and members of the Goodwill team will happily unload items from the donor's vehicle.

The 6,000 square foot Goodwill Retail and Donation Center at 1361 Pineview Drive in Gaylord is open Monday through Saturday from 9 am to 7 pm, and Sunday from 11am until 6 pm. The 6,700 square foot Goodwill Retail and Donation Center at 1600 Anderson Road in Petoskey is open Monday through Saturday from 9 am to 8 pm, and Sunday from 11am until 6 pm.

Ribbon Cutting at The Landings

The Landing Restaurant owners Preston Parish and Bob Berg stand on the docks that welcome boaters to the only restaurant that will serve them on their boats, during a celebration and ribbon cutting in honor of the restaurants opening Monday, September 9. Although most people didn't even realize that it had been closed, after sixteen years, previous owners Lyle Miller and Tom Sherridan had decided to close down the restaurant and turn the property into a luxury motor home complex this past fall. Berg and Parish were able to purchase and open the restaurant in time for Memorial Day weekend. "We were so busy right out of the gate we hadn't had time for the ribbon cutting," said Parish. "This summer has exceeded all of our expectations, here we are still busy and it's after Labor Day," said Berg. Hors d'oeuvres, live music and perfect weather made the celebration a success.

Norwood History Movie Night at the Old Schoolhouse

The Norwood Area Historical Society will present the all-star adventure classic The Spoilers Wednesday, September 18 at dusk at the Old Schoolhouse in the Village of Norwood.

This 1942 oscar-nominated movie version of the popular 1905 Rex Beach novel stars a young John Wayne, Marlene Dietrich, and Randolph Scott.

Adventure author Rex Beach was born in Atwood, Michigan in 1877. His contemporaries include Jack London and Zane Grey. Twenty-seven of Beach's stories and novels became successful Hollywood movies, and The Spoilers was filmed four times between 1920 and 1950.

The novel and movie are based on true events witnessed by Beach in Alaska. Miner Roy Glenister (John Wayne) and his partner Dextray, financed by saloon entertainer Cherry Malotte (Marlene Dietrich), fight to save their gold claim from crooked commissioner Alexander McNamara.

Weather permitting the movie will be shown outdoors, inside if the weather is inclement. Movie runtime is 87 minutes. A five dollar donation is suggested. Members are free. Movie snacks will be provided. More at www.norwoodhistory.org/news.

DAVE
Says

Dave Ramsey

Wealthy, but not spoiled

Dear Dave,
How do you make sure you don't spoil your child when you're wealthy?
Ryan

Dear Ryan,
I know this will sound mean to some people, but you simply explain to them that they are not wealthy.

I remember a time years ago, after we'd gone broke, that we managed to scrimp and save and finally had a little bit of wealth. We bought a nice car and my son piped up from the back seat, all smug and satisfied, "We're doing pretty good, huh?" I'll admit it was kind of funny, but it was also a teachable moment. I looked at him and said, "I'm doing pretty good, but you're broke!" That was a pretty consistent message around the Ramsey household as the kids were growing up. If you're not working and making your own way, you've got nothing.

The second thing is we taught them, from a very young age, was to work. That can start with simple things like kids cleaning up their rooms or doing the dishes after dinner. It should carry over to the teenage years as well. Every able-bodied child should be working and earning money, whether it's their own entrepreneurial idea, at a store in the mall or babysitting.

The third thing we did was based in our faith. As evangelical Christians, we taught our kids that we don't really own anything. It all belongs to God, and one of our jobs is to wisely manage the things He entrusts to us. The first rule is to take care of your own household—the important stuff. After that, it's okay to have some nice things, but it's not all about pleasure. It's also about giving and extraordinary levels of generosity.

Teach them to work. Teach them to be givers. And gently remind them once in a while that they've got nothing until they go out and earn it.
—Dave

A rough lesson

Dear Dave,
My dad opened a credit card account in his name a few years ago to help with my college bills, and he made me an authorized user. Now he's delinquent on the card and I'm receiving collection calls and notices. Do I owe the credit card company money?
Steve

Dear Steve,
No, an authorized user is not liable. The account is in your dad's name, and you didn't sign anything. He's the one legally responsible for the money owed.

I want you to be careful, though. Lots of credit card companies will badger people and use all kinds of pressure and guilt trips to try to collect money from people who don't owe them anything. They just want their money, and they really don't care who writes the check.

Get them to remove you as an authorized user today. Send them a letter demanding this via certified mail, return receipt requested, so you'll have proof. Also, make sure they understand that you'll sue them for about $10 million if they don't comply immediately. You shouldn't be reported to the credit bureaus for any of this, but companies can report just about anything—even inaccurate information—to the bureaus.

You have rights as a consumer, and you are not legally liable for credit card debt when you're just an authorized user. But make sure you check your credit report regularly in the future. Some of these companies make a habit of repeatedly downloading misinformation to the bureaus in an effort to bother and bully people into paying debts they don't owe!

ment, [the city] will secure the financing necessary to purchase the new chassis," noted City Administrator Chris Yonker.

In other news, the city is working to relocate the emergency siren. The fire department and public works department recently coordinated to remove the siren from the old fire hall building now owned by E.J. Yonker says the siren is at the point where the city can look to get it refurbished and hopefully re-mounted on a pole most likely near Sportsman's Park.

The city also gave commendation to Ralph E. Kitson Jr. for his 20 years of dedicated work for the East Jordan Department of Public Works. Kitson was employed for the city from June 6, 1966 until July 28, 1986. Kitson died Friday, August 23, 2013.

The commissioners approved use of city facilities and street closures at the September 3 meeting for the 4th Annual East Jordan Pumpkin Festival and Leaf Peeker Craft Show. A signature family friendly event, the festival will include children's activities in Memorial Park, the Leaf Peeker Craft Show, deals on wheels tailgate sale, an archery demo, and pumpkin launch. The festival will take place on Saturday, October 19.

The next regular meeting of the East Jordan City Commission is scheduled for Monday, September 16 at 7pm.
