Drs. Oz and Roizen

Television's Dr. Oz and Cleveland Clinic's Dr. Roizen report on health, wellness and quality of life.

VACCINE MYTHS AND TRUTHS

MICHAEL ROIZEN, M.D., AND MEHMET OZ, M.D.

Measles is making a comeback, with a 20-year high in reported infections, due mostly to folks who are opting out of the vaccination, says the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. Across the nation, an epidemic of whooping cough in California, outbreaks of chickenpox in Indiana and measles in Ohio have made national headlines.

In many cases, the anti-vaccine movement is persuading parents not to vaccinate their children; that's causing a lot of harm to at-risk children and adults who are susceptible to these preventable diseases. So before you refuse (or skip) a vaccination, get the facts from us.

Myth No. 1: Vaccines do more harm than good.

Vaccine Fact: Vaccines save lives. We're not saying vaccines are risk-free, but the ratio of serious adverse reactions to beneficial effect is about 1 to 40,000.

Before pertussis (whooping cough) vaccines were available in the 1940s, an estimated 200,000 children were infected annually, and 9,000 died. Before there was a measles vaccine, up to 4 million Americans a year were infected; 1,000 suffered brain damage or hearing loss, and 450 died. Diphtheria killed 15,000 Americans in one year (1921) before there was a vaccine. During a pre-vaccine rubella (German measles) outbreak in the 1960s, 2,000 babies died and 11,000 pregnant women had miscarriages.

Another vaccine benefit: If you and your children are inoculated, you're protecting others who can't be due to a compromised immune system or age. Case in point: Infants receive their first of two measles vaccinations between 12-15 months and their first of four pertussis inoculation shots starting at 2 months; until those kick in, they are at risk for infection, when these diseases can be most dangerous.

Your next step: Review your own and your child's vaccination needs. Discuss your concerns with your doc, and schedule needed shots.

Myth No. 2: Vaccines are just for kids.

Vaccine Fact: Adults need them too! About 40 percent of people over age 65 haven't received a pneumonia vaccine, and 85 percent are missing out on the shingles vaccine, which protects against excruciating nerve pain. A whopping 86 percent of adults haven't had their Tdap (tetanus, diphtheria and pertussis) booster (recommended every 10 years), and 87 percent haven't had a hepatitis A booster, while 65 percent skip the hepatitis B vaccine. Plenty of teens and young adults are missing out on the meningococcal vaccine (plus a booster shot), which can prevent 80 percent of meningitis cases (a potentially fatal bacterial infection), and about 65 percent of young women and 95 percent of young men ages 19-26 haven't gotten the HPV vaccine, proven to slash risk for infections that cause many cases of throat cancer and most cervical cancer.

Your next step: Check out payment options: Thanks to Medicare and the Affordable Care Act, most vaccines are covered for adults. Ask your doc which shots will give you or a loved one more benefits than risk and then get it done.

Myth No. 3: It's too soon to think about a flu shot.

Vaccine Fact: It's best to get your influenza vaccine in September or October. It takes about two weeks for your body to build up defenses against the virus once you get the vaccine. So a shot in September is just in time for the start of flu season in October. You'll cut your risk for the flu by about 60 percent and reduce your odds for a heart attack or stroke during flu season by 50 percent. If flu strikes anyway, it's milder, cutting the odds for complications that lead to hospital visits by more than 70 percent. Pregnant women who get a flu shot pass on some immunity to the fetus.

Your next step: Contact your doctor to reserve your dose, or ask your pharmacist when the new batch will be available.

You'll be hearing more about vaccines that work against various cancers, including melanoma and liver cancer. Stay tuned, and when new vaccines are developed, talk to your doc about when to put them on your schedule.

Plant-Based Diet for Persons with Diabetes

By Deb Hagen-Foley

Plant-based diets are becoming increasingly popular. Vegetarians cite several reasons for not using animal products such as a concern for the treatment of animals, to lose weight or improve health outcomes. Dietary changes are an essential component of treating diabetes. The standard recommendations are to restrict portion sizes and limit the amount of carbohydrates. A plant-based diet for those with diabetes has many advantages.

Researching populations throughout the world finds that people who follow plant-based diets, including beans, vegetables, rice and other whole grains, were less likely to develop diabetes. Adopting a western diet increased the likelihood for type 2 diabetes. Diets with large amounts of meats and fats, common in the U.S. diet, cause the body to be insulin resistant. Low-fat, plant-based diets improve insulin sensitivity, and reduce blood sugar and cholesterol.

A plant-based lifestyle can also become a natural means of losing weight or maintaining a weight loss. Fruits, vegetables, legumes and grains have fewer calories per ounce and are less dense than animal products. As a result, it is possible to eat larger quantities of plant-based products and consuming fewer calories.

Eliminating animal products means avoiding red meat, poultry, fish, dairy products and eggs. For the greatest benefit of a plant-based diet, eliminate animal products entirely. A vegan diet eliminates dairy products and eggs. Using non-fat dairy and only egg whites is not enough. Animal products of all types have animal protein. When eaten in large quantities, animal protein can be harmful to the kidneys and lead to calcium loss. Substitutes are available for dairy products (almond, soy, rice) and eggs.

Next, avoid added vegetable oils. Although these fats are "healthier" than animal fats, oils are high in calories. Cook with water or nonstick cooking spray. Use spices or mustard for seasoning instead of oil. Read the label - aim for two or fewer grams of fat per serving.

Select foods lower on the glycemic index. The glycemic index identifies foods according to their impact on blood sugar. High glycemic index foods increase blood sugar quickly. High glycemic foods include: White and wheat bread, watermelon, pineapple, white potatoes, sugar and most dry cereals. Lower glycemic foods are: rye and pumpernickel bread, barley, oats, pasta, sweet potatoes, beans, lentils, vegetables and most fruits.

In the coming weeks, more of the steps for adopting a plant-based lifestyle and evidence that this eating plan is beneficial for persons with diabetes. Always, before making a major change in diet, consult your physician.

Automotive Review

The 2015 Chevrolet Suburban has every creature comfort needed for long summer road trips, with multiple power outlets, rear-seat entertainment, and the towing capacity to bring toys along for the ride. PHOTO © GENERAL MOTORS."

Suburban Offers Every Comfort for Vacation Cruising

Full-size SUV keeps modern families entertained and connected, too

The all-new Chevrolet Suburban and Tahoe went on sale earlier this year. Sales are up 14 percent year-over-year through May. PHOTO © GENERAL MOTORS."

Chevrolet's full-size Suburban SUV has ample space and comfort to carry up to nine passengers and their gear on long hauls - and brings cutting-edge technology along for the ride. Summer is in full swing and with it comes the traditional American road trip. Last year, an estimated 40 million travelers hit the road for the July 4 holiday, according to AAA. While travelers once relied on the alphabet or license plate games to pass the time on long trips, the 2015 Chevrolet Suburban entertains passengers in the most high-tech way. Additionally, the Suburban's available maximum trawlering package has the capability to tow 8,300 pounds, perfect for hauling a travel trailer, boats, jet skis and other seasonal toys. "The 2015 Suburban has every creature comfort the modern family needs for a long haul," said Sandor Piszar, director of Chevrolet Marketing. "With some of the most state-of-the-art technologies available in the industry, the Suburban is sure to give everyone something to do mile after mile."

The Suburban offers passengers individual entertainment with wireless headphones so they can independently experience the available Blu-ray™ overhead entertainment screens, AM/FM or satellite radio, media devices synced through the available MyLink system's Bluetooth® connection, or media connected to built-in USB ports or SD card slots. A composite plug-in in the center console allows rear-seat passengers to play a game system through the overhead, 9-inch LCD entertainment screens. To ensure the entertainment keeps rolling, 12 power outlets - including multiple 110-volt, three-prong outlets - are available to charge game systems, cell phones and tablets. Gaming and other media are not limited to what passengers bring into the vehicle, either. This fall, the 2015 Chevrolet Suburban will be available with On-Star 4G LTE, providing a built-in Wi-Fi hotspot to seven devices on one data connection for as little as $5 per month. The stronger connection of the built-in 4G LTE antenna provides data service where traditional cellular service might not, perfect for accessing the Internet on that long trip down desolate roads. The Wi-Fi connection has a range of 30 feet outside the vehicle, so the entertainment can continue even during roadside stops. If the entertainment goes low-tech, an acoustic-laminated windshield and inlaid doors with triple seals reduce wind and exterior noise in the cabin, making conversations less of a shouting match.

Long road trips require lots of gear. With a maximum 121.1 cubic feet of cargo space available with the second- and third-row seats folded down, two passengers can pack enough for days on the road. If the traveling party is larger, the Suburban offers ample seating configurations, including a folding second row, and 60/40 split rear row. The Suburban has class-leading fuel economy of 15 mpg city and 22 mpg highway, with a 31-gallon fuel tank. Its comprehensive safety systems include available Adaptive Cruise Control to ensure the Suburban doesn't get too close to a vehicle traveling in front of it. Front Automatic Braking automatically applies the brake if it gets too close to another vehicle while under the driver's control. Side Blind Zone and Lane Change Alert make sure the driver knows what's coming down the Suburban's side, and Rear Cross Traffic Alert warns the driver if a car is crossing behind the vehicle while backing out of a parking space.

Question & Answers About Selling Real Estate

A Timeline for Your Summer Move

Part 3 of 5

2 WEEKS FROM MOVE DATE:

If you choose not to take advantage of full service mover packing services, or are planning to do it yourself and rent a truck, Start packing things into boxes. Figure out the logistics of the move, travel plans and if other specialized plans need to be made.

Tip: If you are using a professional mover find out what items are on their "non-allowables" list and discard those items or find a way to transport them separately.

Tip: Instead of stacking plates, pack them vertically; they will travel safer this way.

Tip: If you are moving long distance, remember travel arrangements for your pets. There are pet-exclusive airlines available such as Pet Airways but regular airlines have travel options for pets as well.

Tip: If you have young children, you may want to make childcare arrangements so you can be 100% focused on moving day and your little ones remain safe and busy with fun activities.

Tip: Schedule "move out" cleaning service, carpet cleaners and heavy appliance disposal if necessary for once you'll be out of the home you're vacating. Even if you're selling your current home, it's a nice welcome for the buyers to move into a clean and tidy home.

PUBLIC NOTICE

CITY OF EAST JORDAN REQUEST FOR VARIANCES

The City of East Jordan Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA) has received an application from James & Scott Scheer to convert a formerly active farm property located at 4542 South M-66 into a new business development known as the "Jordan Valley Barn." The property is located in a "Planned Unit Development" (PUD) zoning district. The applicants intend to use the existing barn, farmhouse and a portion of the parcel to host large events, such as weddings, reunions, etc. with a stated capacity of up to 270 persons.

The Planning Commission and City Commission have reviewed the proposed site plan for the redevelopment of this property and have tentatively approved the site plan contingent on the applicant receiving the following two variances from the ZBA:

The site design, layout and density criteria for PUDs requires that "all principal buildings and all accessory buildings or structures shall be located at least 100' from any exterior public roadway right-of-way line, private road and/or area to be platted." The existing house & smaller barn on the site are located 40' and 12', respectively, from the M-66 ROW line. A variance from the 100' setback is requested.

The Zoning Code requires that "all off-street parking areas shall be drained so as to prevent any increase in drainage to abutting properties and shall be constructed of hard-surfaced paving materials." Due to the intermittent use of the site, the applicants have proposed to install gravel on the drives & parking areas, but no asphalt paving is proposed. A variance from the paving requirement is requested.

A Public Hearing to receive comments on these variance requests will be held on Monday, July 28, 2014 at 5:15 PM in City Hall, 201 Main Street, East Jordan, MI. Written comments may be submitted to the East Jordan ZBA, c/o the City Clerk, P.O. Box 499, East Jordan, MI 49727. The PUD and Variance applications are available for review at City Hall during normal business hours.
