BOYNE CITY — Love the water? Looking for something unique and a little adventurous? Boyne Watersports will help you take it to the next level.

Have you ever had the desire to fly or float through the air? Whether you're a local resident or if you're visiting the area while on vacation, try something new and different and take an adventurous ride above Lake Charlevoix and go parasailing.

In their third summer of operation, co-owner of Boyne Watersports Joshua Grove gave us a brief summary of how the idea came to fruition and how they've been able to expand as a business.

"This is our third summer of operation, a few years back while in college, I talked with a friend of a college roommate about his experience working for a parasailing company in Traverse City and saw an opportunity to do the same thing here and made it happen along with co-owner Captain Mike Koteskey."

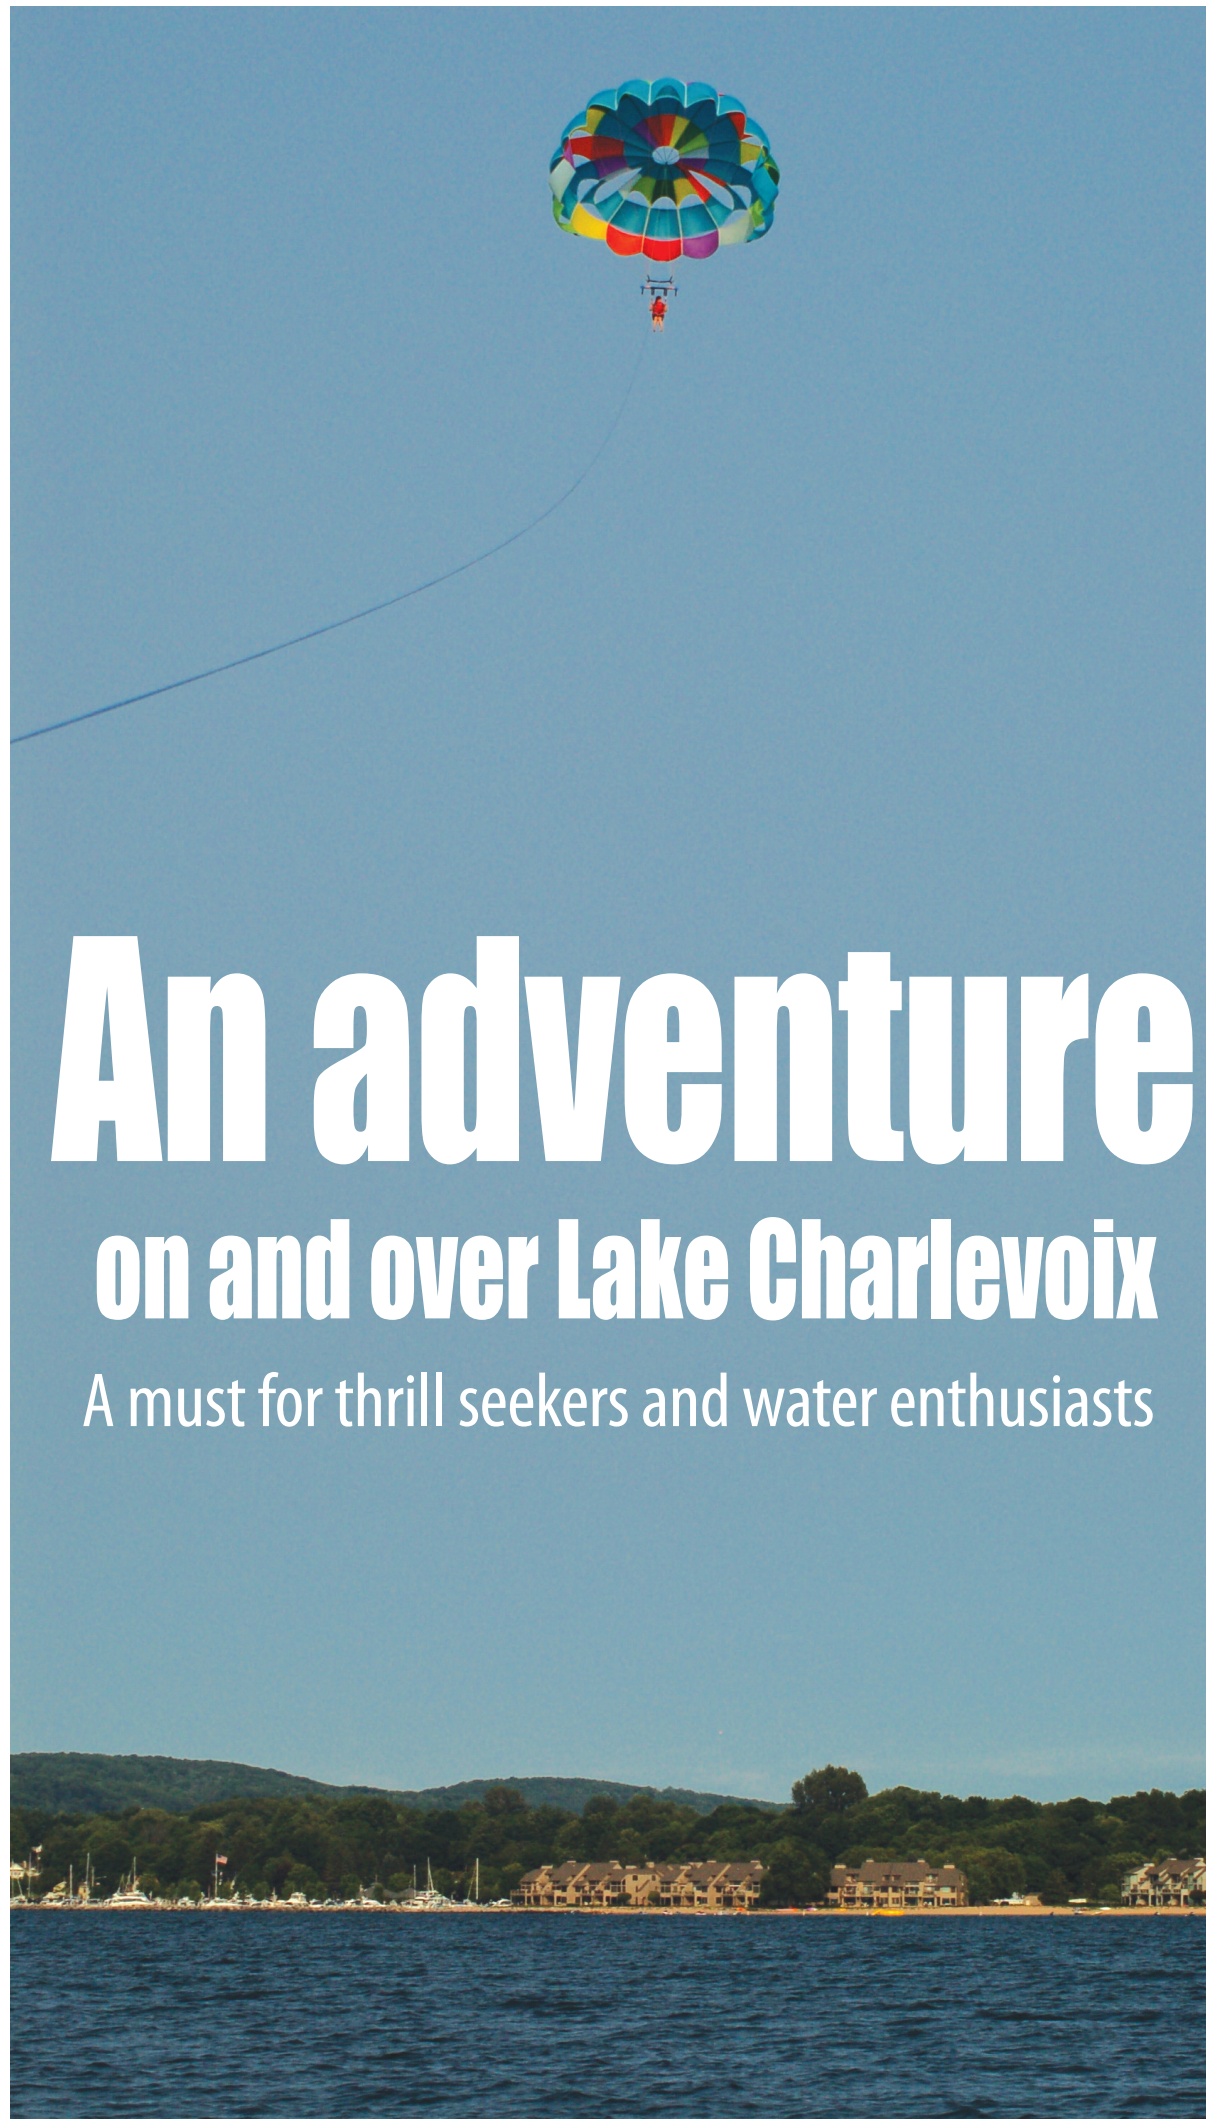

When asked why Boyne City, why Lake Charlevoix, he responded, "It was the best place to parasail, we tried Petoskey and Little Traverse Bay last summer and with bigger waves and a lot more wind, it was difficult at times, we're spoiled here, we take off from the dock, the wind is coming from the west and we're ready to parasail right from the dock."

Recently, I had the opportunity (along with my eight-year old daughter) to experience parasailing for the first time, and while heights aren't a problem for me, she was a little nervous, although excited at the same time.

While preparing for our take-off, safely and securely cradled in the brand new harness system that hold all guests in place, the professionalism and expertise of both Captain Mike, whose experience includes flying out in California with Marina del Rey Parasailing out on the big ocean, and first-mate Evan helped dash anything other than an enjoyable trip from her mind, as they explained all of the safety procedures and answered any questions that we had.

We, along with other guests ascend directly from the flight deck platform at the rear of the "Cloud Whisperer," gently allowing you to lift off towards the sky with their state of the art winch system that also pulls you in for a gentle landing on the flight deck at the conclusion of the experience.

It was a breezy afternoon, but once we were airborne and elevated to approximately 500 above Lake Charlevoix, we found it to be surprisingly calm and very peaceful as we took in views of the lake as well as Somerset Pointe, downtown Boyne City and surrounding beaches in the area, including views of neighboring Charlevoix (approximately 20 miles west) that can only been seen from such elevations.

Once we reached our peak, and keep in mind less than a few minutes into the flight, my daughter immediately asked when we could do this again.

During our entire time in the air, she pointed out places that she recognized and admired the different views of passing boats and how small they looked from our vantage point.

When we returned to the deck, we enjoyed watching the next guests take their first turn at parasailing. They took advantage of the "toe-dip," a brief touchdown in the water at the end of the adventure that is offered to all customers.

If you're still not convinced to give parasailing a try, take advantage of one of the many other offers that Boyne Watersports has for you.

Take the family or friends out on one of their brand new, 12 person, 22 foot South Bay Pontoon, complete with teak wood vinyl flooring and a 115 horsepower engine, ready for tubing, water skiers or wakeboards, which are also available.

If that's not your fancy, go for a spin on one of their Yamaha

VX Deluxe Jet Skis or 18 foot Sea Ray 190 horsepower Bowrider, or spend the morning or afternoon casting for fish with the little ones on a 16 foot Polar Kraft fishing boat.

If something a little more physical, yet relaxing is what you're looking for, brand new stand-up paddleboards or Pelican kayaks are there for you to cruise around the open water.

The Boyne Watersports team of co-owners, Joshua Grove, Mike Koteskey, along with first-mates, Evan and Neal, offers USCG licensed Captains and crew as well as a knowledgeable staff that can answer any question you have about any of the experiences they offer.

"We have a flawless safety record, the rope that we use is a special dyneema rope, it's stronger than steel cable, with approximately 19,000 pound breaking strength, exceeding the minimum requirements by our insurance company that requires only 4,800. We go all out for safety and are very proud of our record and what we can offer our customers."

For more information, and to book your adventure, call 231-881-6000 or visit them online at , or feel free to stop by the kiosk, located next to Cafe Sante at the One Water Street Marina in Boyne City and book your adventure, by speaking with Anna, Cameron or Cheyenne.

Boyne Watersports offers parasailing packages starting $59 and with a brand new fleet of boats, kayaks, paddleboards. "Our slogan is, "It's the highlight of your trip," Grove added and also noted that every three years the company model is to replace its equipment, so that customers will know that they are using brand new equipment.

You can also find Boyne Watersports on the web at facebook.com/boyneparasail or facebook.com/boynewater-sports, google+ and twitter.

Hours of operation are 9am until sunset, seven days a week, weather permitting.

DNR FISHING TIP

Catching the elusive walleye
 Using crawlers on crawler harnesses can be an effective way of getting the elusive walleye.

In many of Michigan's lakes walleye can be a rather elusive sport fish, making the quest for their tasty fillets difficult at times throughout the year. Walleyes are predators that eat a wide range of small baitfish like yellow perch and various minnows, which logically has many anglers targeting these fish with minnows and crank baits. However, walleye also feed on aquatic insects when they are available and using crawlers on crawler harnesses can be an effective technique for working towards a limit.

July is a time of year when walleye in many lakes will typically be in depths ranging from 20 to 35 feet where they are feeding on insects or baitfish. During these feeding periods many walleye will be suspended in the water column and trolling a crawler harness at low speeds can be an effective way of hooking these elusive fish.

Be sure to check in with your local management units about local fishing opportunities to catch these delicious toothy critters!

This tip was written by Seth Herbst, Fisheries Management Biologist in Lansing.

DNR NEWS

Pure Michigan Hunt winners can now transfer winning licenses to other hunters

New this year, Pure Michigan Hunt winners can now transfer one or all of their licenses to another eligible hunter.

This will allow hunters – and their friends and family members – to buy as many Pure Michigan Hunt applications as they want for both themselves and others. Instead of needing to know other hunters' driver's license numbers, addresses and birthdates to apply on their behalf, Pure Michigan Hunt winners now have the ability to give one or more of their licenses away to whomever they choose or keep all of the licenses for themselves.

"This is a great opportunity for everyone," said Katie Keen, Department of Natural Resources wildlife outreach technician. "For instance, if you know of someone who has been applying for an elk license for many, many years and you are the Pure Michigan Hunt winner, you may give that elk tag to that person."

From March 1 to Dec. 31 every year, applicants may apply as many times as they would like for $5 (per application). Each entry puts the applicant's name in the Pure Michigan Hunt drawing, in which three winners are selected and announced in January. These three lucky hunters win all hunting licenses that cannot be purchased over the counter (elk, bear, spring and fall turkey, and antlerless deer) and first pick on opening morning at any managed waterfowl hunt area. Winners also receive a prize package valued at more than $4,000.

Applying for the Pure Michigan Hunt is one more way hunters and non-hunters can support conservation efforts. Thus far, Pure Michigan Hunt application sales have generated more than $350,000 for wildlife habitat management and restoration in Michigan, including wildlife planting and opening maintenance, prescribed burns, duck and goose banding, and other efforts.

Visit www.michigan.gov/puremichiganhunt to learn more, to apply and to view the entire hunter's prize package donated by Michigan organizations and businesses.

New Scoreboard arrives for Rayder football field

The prep work has been done and the board has been delivered! The new scoreboard will be installed on Monday August 11, which is also the first day of football practice.

The Rayder Gridiron Club recently made the commitment to purchase the new scoreboard and video/sound system for the Charlevoix Track and Football field. The investment was substantial, totaling nearly $130,000 for the board, video/sound system, and installation. The club has raised $40,000 to this point and has secured a loan with Charlevoix State Bank for the remaining balance.

The club will continue to fund-raise and sell advertisements on the board to generate the additional money needed to fulfill the loan and provide long term maintenance for the board.

Many local contractors have donated their time and materials to ensure the board's installation by the first home game and we could not be happier to see it happen! Join us on Aug. 11th as the scoreboard is raised!

For further information of the scoreboard installation contact Patrick Faust, 231-675-4607; Mark Snyder, 231-675-7711 or Dr. Gilbert Noirot, 231-675-9690.

"These two new V6 engines – the 2.7-liter turbocharged EcoBoost and normally aspirated 3.5-liter Ti-VCT – set a new standard for Ford for capability and efficiency."

2.7-liter EcoBoost power The high-output, twin-turbo 2.7-liter EcoBoost V6 features an entirely new design that delivers power and performance in a strong, smart package. The engine produces 325 horsepower and 375 lb.-ft. of torque – improving the power-to-weight ratio of the 2015 truck by 15 percent over the 2014 5.0-liter V8-equipped F-150 with similar torque output, thanks to vehicle light-weighting. The 2.7-liter EcoBoost 4x2 has a maximum payload rating of 2,250 pounds and maximum tow rating of 8,500 pounds, ideal for meeting mid-range capability needs.

Boosting 2.7-liter EcoBoost fuel efficiency is the debut of standard Auto Start-Stop technology for F-150. This technology, specially tuned for truck customers, shuts off the engine when the vehicle is at a stop. When the brake is released, the engine restarts quickly. Auto Start-Stop helps reduce fuel consumption and emissions when the truck is stopped and the engine is off. The technology is off when towing or in four-wheel-drive mode.

The 2.7-liter EcoBoost engine also features Ford's first use of a compacted graphite iron cylinder block in a gasoline engine, the same material used in Ford's 6.7-liter Power Stroke® turbo diesel V8 in Super Duty trucks. The composite CGI/aluminum cylinder block saves weight while providing strength where it's needed most for durability.

Advanced technology, power and efficiency combine to create an engine for F-150 that boasts more than twice the horsepower, torque and towing capability of the Toyota Tacoma midsize pickup truck with identical displacement 2.7-liter four-cylinder engine.

Ford testing shows the 2.7-liter EcoBoost also outperforming Ram 1500 3.0-liter V6 EcoDiesel and Chevrolet Silverado 1500 5.3-liter V8 while towing a 7,000-pound enclosed trailer up Davis Dam in Arizona.

The 3.5-liter V6 produces 283 horsepower and 255 lb.-ft. of torque. The engine has a maximum payload of 1,910 pounds and a maximum tow rating of 7,600 pounds – unsurpassed for standard V6 light-duty pickup trucks.

Extensive research by Ford engineers led to the use of more advanced materials on the 2015 F-150 than found in previous trucks. Military-grade aluminum alloys make the new truck's body lighter, stronger and more resistant to dents. Overall, F-150 is up to 700 pounds lighter – helping the truck tow and haul more, accelerate and stop faster, and operate more efficiently than the previous F-150. High-strength steel in the frame and high-strength aluminum alloy throughout the body produce an inherently stiffer truck with greater dent and ding resistance. The aluminum upper body sits on a fully boxed ladder frame with more high-strength steel than ever to make it stronger yet lighter.

In addition to the new V6 engines, the all-new 2015 F-150 offers the proven 3.5-liter EcoBoost and the 5.0-liter V8 with Ti-VCT, providing a comprehensive, capable and efficient engine lineup to meet the specific needs of Ford truck customers.

Question & Answers About Selling Real Estate

Clear the Clutter and Sell Your House

Compliments of Mike Stark, Coldwell Banker Schmidt Realtors East Jordan. (231) 536-7700

SCHMIDT REALTORS

Part 2 of 2

Here are some particular areas you should pay attention to as you declutter.

Keep furniture to a minimum in your living areas so that your rooms look bigger.

Clear out shoes, coats, umbrellas and other outdoor items from your foyer or mudroom.

Move out big pieces of equipment, such as guitars, amps, drum sets, or exercise equipment.

Take down your personal photos and store them for yourself. Let the buyer imagine putting pictures of their own family on the walls, tables and shelves.

Get rid of old newspapers, books and magazines, recycling if you can.

Organize your wires in computers, printers, televisions and other electronic equipment so that it doesn't look sloppy and overwhelming.

Take away those boxes of tissue, medicines, magazines and other items you might have on your nightstand and keep just lamps, clocks and maybe a book or two on them.

Edit your bookshelves so that you have a neat, orderly space with books and perhaps a few decorative items, like a vase, globe or other art object.

Remove everything from your kitchen countertops, keeping only essentials like a toaster. Add decorating items sparingly (bowls of unblemished fruit look nice). And clear off all those magnetized coupons and your child's artwork from the refrigerator.

Arrange the shelves in your pantry nicely. Have everything point in the same direction so that it looks neat and organized.

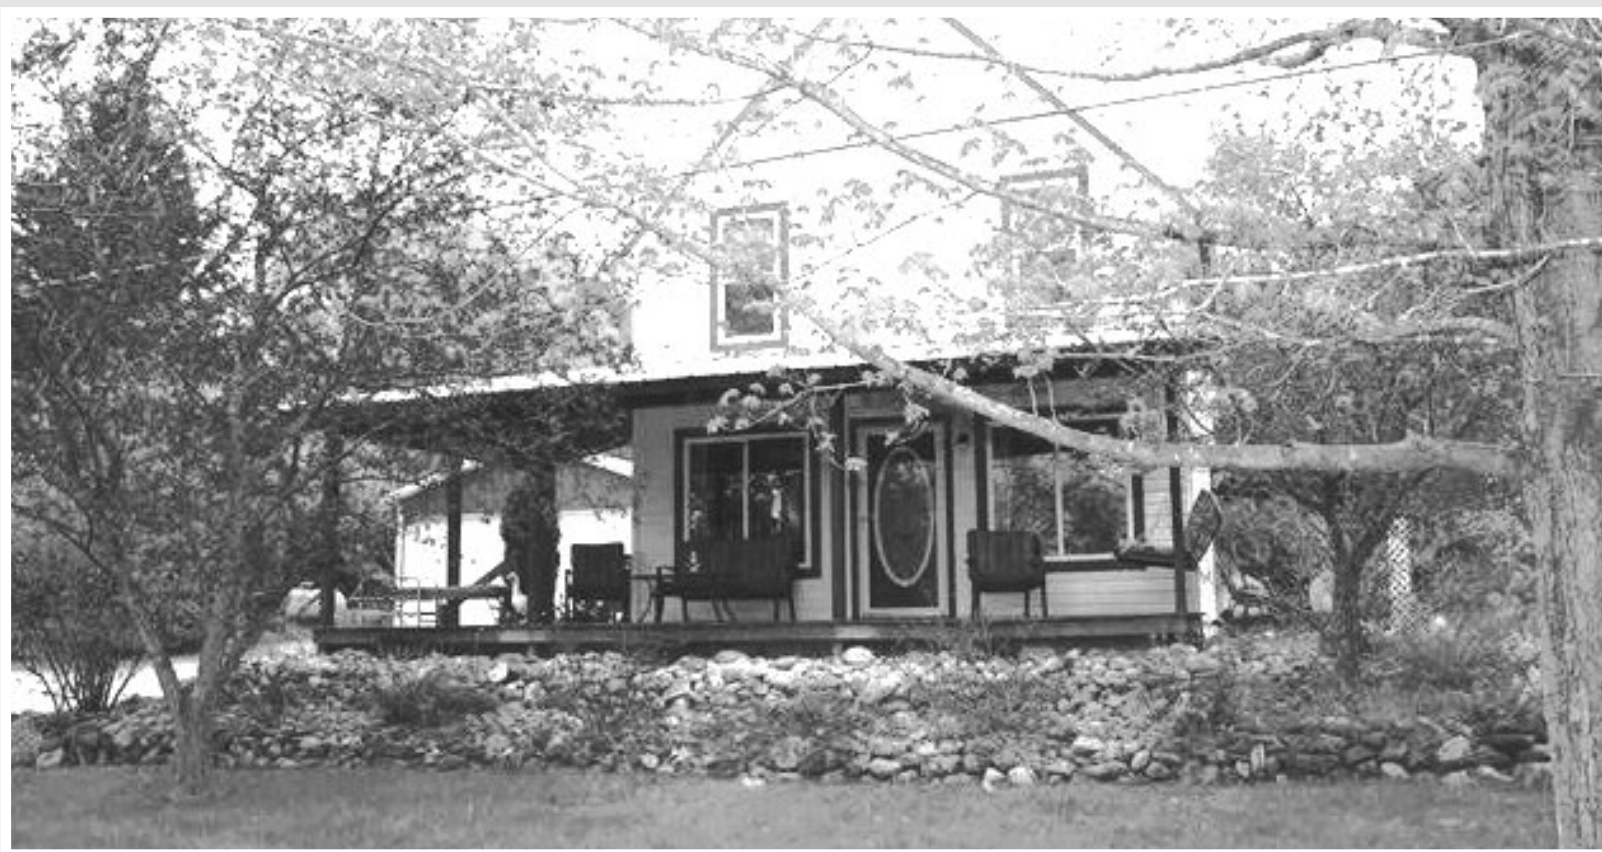

Get rid of sickly plants and only keep a few healthy looking ones on display.

Make sure your beds are made and all extraneous items, like clothes, toys or shoes, are off the floor.

Clear out the bathrooms and spruce them up with some fresh soaps, towels or maybe flowers. Hide your razors, toothbrushes and shampoos out of sight in a cabinet while your house is being shown.

Clean out your closets so they aren't packed to the rafters.
