"Fall Back" as Daylight Savings Time ends Sunday

By Jim Akans

At least it's easy to remember which way to turn the clock; as "fall back" and "spring forward" have become semi-annual catch phrases that give some direction to the process when Daylight Savings Time begins each spring and ends every fall. What's not always easy to remember is which Sunday morning in the spring and fall mark that transition.

Well here is the reminder you may have been waiting for. Early this coming Sunday morning, at 2:00 am on November 1, Daylight Savings time for 2015 will officially end as millions upon millions of clocks across the country slip back one full hour to accurately reflect this annual event.

The confusion as to when DST starts and ends is understandable. The time adjustment started out in the 1960's running from the last Sunday in April through the last Sunday in October. In 1986, the start date moved to the first Sunday in April, and the Energy Policy Act of 2007 changed it again to a period extending from the second Sunday in March through the first Sunday in November, a time frame that remains to this day.

Daylight Savings Time has been touted as a crime deterrent, a reducer of vehicle accidents, and energy conserving practice, even a means of increasing voter turnout...yet the statistics in support of those benefits hasn't exactly held up since it's official inception over forty years ago. Residents of Arizona and Hawaii don't bother with DST at all, and it is a concept avoided in several continents and countries across the globe, including Asia, most of Africa, and about half of South America.

The primary drawback is the effect on our bodies. During the initial days and weeks following the spin of the clock many people struggle to get their internal body clocks readjusted with the mechanical ones. Patterns of irregular sleep, missed appointments (forgot to reset that clock, didn't you?), and that general fuzzy feeling of not being quite in sync with the light of day will gradually dissipate in the coming weeks.

Don't get too set in that new routine, however, Daylight Savings Time will return about the time spring begins to look like a possibility, on early Sunday morning March 13, 2016.

So don't forget to set your clocks back an hour before going to bed this Saturday evening, and enjoy that extra hour of well-deserved rest.

Boyne City Winter Farmers Market celebrates five years

Join us on Saturday, November 7th from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. to celebrate the 5th Winter Market Anniversary for the Boyne city Farmers Market. Courtesy photo

Join us on Saturday, November 7th from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. to celebrate the 5th Winter Market Anniversary for the Boyne city Farmers Market. The market moves indoors to the Red Barn next to the Boyne District Library on Park Street in downtown Boyne City.

"The fact that we can enjoy local food and produce from our farmers all year long is a reason to celebrate. This will be a great opportunity for everyone to enjoy and appreciate our farmers and all that they mean to us," said Becky Harris, Farm Market Manager. "For five years, we have been so fortunate to be able to keep the market going throughout the year. We couldn't do it without our faithful patrons and wonderful farmers."

In addition to the regular indoor farmers market, the celebration will include kids' activities, a cooking demo & tasting, hot cider and great food from our local farms.

"The library has been gracious to let us use the Red Barn for our winter market over the years and we appreciate their partnership. We are working toward building a community pavilion to hopefully house it next year and for years to come," said Harris.

For more information on the Farmers Market or the Five Year Anniversary Celebration, please contact the Main Street office at (231)582-9009 or visit www.boynecityfarmersmarket.org.

Arrest made in connection with animal cruelty case

Sheriff Don Schneider reports that the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office has arrested a suspect in the animal cruelty case where a cat was sprayed with orange-red spray paint and its tail severely injured resulting in amputation.

Paul Wicker, age 40 from Boyne City, was arrested October 22, 2015 when a misdemeanor warrant for animal cruelty, which carries a 93 day, $1,000 fine, and community service, and a felony warrant for witness intimidation, which carries a maximum of 15 years and/or $25,000 fine, was issued by Prosecuting Allen Telgenhof.

Wicker was arraigned by the 90th District Court Magistrate and bond was set for $50,000.

This crime was solved by the media exposure that generated a magnitude of citizens' response to this heinous crime. Several citizens came forward to provide Sheriff's Office with leads to solve the case which touched the hearts of many people.

Sheriff Schneider commends the assistance of both the citizens of Boyne City and the Sheriff's Office Investigators.

Sheriff's Deputy Injured in Shooting Returns to Duty

Sheriff Don Schneider is pleased to report that Corporal Fred Hasty Jr. returned to duty on October 26, 2015 after being shot and wounded while on duty by James Cook.

Cpl. Hasty went through an intensive recovery process from the critical wound that he received. Cpl. Hasty was very pleased with his doctors and support staff in aiding in his recovery.

Cook faces multiple charges by the Charlevoix County Prosecutor, Allen Telgenhof, with the most serious charges being assault with intent to murder and assault on a police officer with a gun.

Cook's case is pending in 33rd Circuit Court at this time.

Sheriff Schneider is elated with the overwhelming support of not only the people in Charlevoix County, but those in all of Northern Michigan in regards to Cpl. Hasty's recovery.

Cpl. Hasty is thankful to be back to work and serving the citizens of Charlevoix County.

New Sheriff Deputy

Charlevoix County Sheriff Don Schneider is pleased to announce a new Deputy has been assigned to the Sheriff's Office. The new Deputy is an 18 month old German shepherd named Ezo from the Czech Republic.

Deputy Benjamin D. Speigl just recently returned from four weeks of intensive K9 handling with Ezo. Ezo is certified for tracking and drug detection.

The K9 program is a remarkable asset for both public safety and for Law Enforcement. The Sheriff's Office K9 Program is here to support not only the Sheriff's Office, but also City Police Agencies within Charlevoix County.

This K9 program was made possible by the generous support and donations from the citizens of Charlevoix County. Sheriff Schneider sincerely thanks everyone who has helped make this Program possible.

Boyne Falls man found guilty of manufacturing marijuana

Monday a Charlevoix County jury found Daniel Joseph Guy, 51, of Boyne Falls guilty of the manufacture of marijuana, a felony carrying a maximum penalty of four years in prison.

Charlevoix County Prosecuting Attorney Allen Telgenhof tried the case, held in the 33rd Circuit Court for the prosecution.

"I want to thank the jurors for their service, it was a long day and they had to process a lot of information," Telgenhof said. "Also the testimony of the police officers involved - Sergeant Jerry King of the Michigan State Police, Undersheriff Chuck Vondra, Detective/Sergeant Todd Reeves, Deputies Ben Speigl and William Church, were critical."

Officers testified that they were conducting Operation HEMP

(Helping Eliminate Marijuana Planting) in Charlevoix County last September when Sgt. King spotted marijuana plants from his helicopter above Guy's property.

The Joint Operational Law Enforcement Team (JOLT) officers from the Sheriff's Department and East Jordan City Police arrived at the Guy property and searched the property, discovering and seizing 48 marijuana plants.

"Despite the approval of medical marijuana and proposals to legalize marijuana, it is important that individuals follow the laws in place," Telgenhof explained. "I really appreciate that the jury agreed that the marijuana laws still need to be followed and there needs to be a consequence for those who choose not to."

Guy will be sentenced by Judge Roy C. Hayes III on December 18.

Boyne City Man charged with murder may plead insane

Attorneys for Matthew Mark Fruge, 34, of Boyne City filed papers indicating they may raise an insanity defense to the open murder charged filed against Fruge. They also sought an examination regarding competency.

As a result, 90th District Court Judge James N. Erhart signed an order requiring the Center for Forensic Psychiatry to conduct evaluations regarding Fruge's competency to stand trial as well as criminal responsibility.

Under Michigan law, a defendant to a criminal charge shall be presumed competent to stand trial. He shall be determined incompetent to stand trial only if he is incapable because of his mental condition of understanding the nature and object of the proceedings against him or of assisting in his defense in a rational manner.

When a report regarding competency is received from the Center, a competency hearing must be held within five days.

If Fruge is found to be competent to stand trial, proceedings against him will move forward. The issue of legal insanity would ultimately be determined at trial.

An individual is legally insane if, as a result of mental illness or as a result of having an intellectual disability that person lacks substantial capacity either to appreciate the nature and quality or the wrongfulness of his or her conduct or to conform his or her conduct to the requirements of the law.

The burden of proof is on the defense to prove insanity by a preponderance of the evidence. Fruge is charged with the murder of Jacob Conklin in Bay Township on October 1, 2015. Fruge is being held without bond in the Charlevoix County Jail.

2015 fiscal year audit presented at Boyne City Commission meeting

By Jim Akans

At the Tuesday, October 27 Boyne City Commission meeting, the 2015 fiscal year-end Boyne City Audit was presented by Joe Verlin of Gabridge & Company. The audit period ran through April 30 of this year, and Gabridge noted that the financial report showed the City was “well within healthy municipal standards” and “was doing a very good job managing expenses and keeping them in line.” No deficiencies were found with internal controls and with an improved bottom line the audit showed “prudent financial management and a healthy financial position” for the City. The complete audit can be found on the City’s website; www.cityofboynecity.com

Highlights of the audit showed the assets of the City exceeded its liabilities at the close of the most recent fiscal year by $24,126,810

(net position). At the close of the current fiscal year, the City’s governmental funds reported combined fund balances of $4,341,964, an increase of $468,520 in comparison with the prior year. At the end of the current fiscal year, unassigned fund balance for the general fund was $2,673,178, or approximately 82% of total general fund expenditures and transfers out. The complete audit can be found on the City’s website; www.cityofboynecity.com

Other business during the meeting included unanimous Commission approval of a resolution of concurrence for an Amended Combined Brownfield – Act 381 Work Plan for the South Lake Street Redevelopment project for MDEQ Environmental and MSF Non-environmental eligible activities. Catt Realty Company is in the process of redeveloping two buildings (210 Front Street and 202 Lake Street) for commercial and retail use. During initial testing the Lake Street property soils were found to be inadequate to bear the load of proposed project, so the project scope has been reduced. The project has been adjusted from the previously proposed three-story building to single story structures and this amendment reflects this change. The revised estimated investment is $3.8million (originally $6.5million) with eligible activity cost being $130,985 (originally $179,285).

In regards to a Main Street Design Committee request to submit various grants on behalf of the City for the Last River Draw Sculpture, the Commission unanimously approved the request and consideration of approval to submit a joint permit application to the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality and US Army Corps of Engineers, along with a letter of support from City of Boyne City. The project is a proposed life-size bronze sculpture of a logger at the edge of the Boyne River east of the Park Street Bridge. The total project cost is estimated at $50,000. The MEDC grant request is for $25,000 with remaining $25,000 to be raised locally. Sculptor Martha Sulfridge presented a scale model of the proposed sculpture at the meeting.

Other considerations addressed at the meeting, each of which were unanimously approved by the Commission, were:

- Consideration to authorize the City Manager and the City Clerk/Treasurer to take steps to renew the City’s liability insurance through the Michigan Township Participating Plan and obtain three year rate guarantee endorsement at an estimated price of $60,580 for 2015-2016. This amount is up slightly from $59,328 for insurance this past year, and quoted amount includes the new DPW building.

- Consideration to proceed with delayed reimbursement for the outstanding advance construction amount for Court Street of $201,396 until November 2016. Funding from MDOT is at $510,604 of the original $703,000 funding amount leaving a shortfall of $201,396. Total project cost is estimated at $889,912 with the additional funding coming from City, Township, Federal “D” and State “D” funds.

- Authorize City staff to purchase three new computers plus recommended options from Marcor Technologies, LLC at a cost not to exceed $2,670. Also included is the purchase of thirteen Microsoft Office 2016 user licenses at a cost not to exceed $4,060 and have Mark Corbiser from Marcor Technologies install the new hardware and deploy software upgrades for an estimated cost of $1,000. It was also noted that Trick or Treat hours are from 5 to 8pm on Saturday, October 31. City Offices will be open on Saturday, October 31 from 9am to 2pm to issue and accept absentee ballots for the November 3 General Election. The General Election will be held on Tuesday, November 3 in the City Hall Auditorium. Polls are open from 7am to 8pm.

Halloween Safety Tips – A happy Halloween is a safe Halloween

By Jim Akans

Halloween is one of the most enjoyable annual celebrations for kids of all ages. It's the biggest costume party of the year, an opportunity to greet those smiling faces of neighborhood children at the front door, and of course, nary a sweet tooth goes unsatisfied. A happy Halloween is a safe Halloween, so here are a few tips to help ensure this October 31st is the best Halloween ever.

The American Academy of Pediatrics (AAP) points out that costumes should be bright and reflective. Make sure that shoes fit well and that costumes are short enough to prevent tripping, entanglement or contact with flame (though costumes should be non-flammable).

Consider adding reflective tape or striping to costumes and trick-or-treat bags for greater visibility. Glow Sticks, Glow Stick bracelets and small flashlights are accessories that also help raise a child's visibility in the dark. Because masks can limit or block eyesight, consider non-toxic makeup and decorative hats as safer alternatives. Hats should fit properly to prevent them from sliding over eyes.

If a sword, cane, or stick is a part of your child's costume, make sure it is not sharp or too long. Teach children how to call 9-1-1 (or their local emergency number) if they have an emergency or become lost.

The AAP also notes that to keep homes safe for visiting trick-or-treaters, residents should remove from the porch and front yard anything a child could trip over such as garden hoses, toys, bikes and lawn decorations. They should also check outdoor lights and replace burned-out bulbs, wet leaves should be swept from sidewalks and steps, and please restrain pets so they do not inadvertently jump on or bite a trick-or-treater.

A few AAP tips for making the neighborhood rounds on Halloween evening;

- A parent or responsible adult should always accompany young children while trick-or-treating.
- If your older children are going alone, plan and review the route that is acceptable to you. Agree on a specific time when they should return home.

- Only go to homes with a porch light on and never enter a home or car for a treat.

Because pedestrian injuries are the most common injuries to children on Halloween, remind trick-or-treaters to:

- Stay in a group and communicate where they will be going.
- Carry a cell phone for quick communication.
- Remain on well-lit streets and always use the sidewalk.
- If no sidewalk is available, walk at the far edge of the roadway facing traffic.
- Never cut across yards or use alleys.

- Only cross the street as a group in established crosswalks (as recognized by local custom). Never cross between parked cars or out driveways.

- Don't assume the right of way. Motorists may have trouble spotting trick-or-treaters. Just because one car stops, doesn't mean others will!

- Law enforcement authorities should be notified immediately of any suspicious or unlawful activity

Of course, Halloween means lots and lots of candy and treats. A good meal prior to parties and trick-or-treating will discourage youngsters from filling up on Halloween treats. Also;

- Consider purchasing non-food treats for those who visit your home, such as coloring books or pens and pencils.
- Wait until children are home to sort and check treats.
- Though tampering is rare, a responsible adult should closely examine all treats and throw away any spoiled, unwrapped or suspicious items.
- The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) recommends eating only factory-wrapped treats. Avoid eating homemade treats unless you know the cook well.

It's also a very good idea to ration treats for the days following Halloween. Let's see; three for the trick-or-treater, one for me...

Have a safe Halloween adventure!

Plant-Based diet for persons with diabetes

By Deb Hagen-Foley

Plant-based diets are becoming increasingly popular. Vegetarians cite several reasons for not using animal products such as a concern for the treatment of animals, to lose weight or improve health outcomes. Dietary changes are an essential component of treating diabetes. The standard recommendations are to restrict portion sizes and limit the amount of carbohydrates. A plant-based diet for those with diabetes has many advantages.

Researching populations throughout the world finds that people who follow plant-based diets, including beans, vegetables, rice and other whole grains, were less likely to develop diabetes. Adopting a western diet increased the likelihood for type-2 diabetes. Diets with large amounts of meats and fats, common in the U.S. diet, cause the body to be insulin resistant. Low-fat, plant-based diets improve insulin sensitivity, and reduce blood sugar and cholesterol.

A plant-based lifestyle can also become a natural means of losing weight or maintaining a weight loss. Fruits, vegetables, legumes and grains have fewer calories per ounce and are less dense than animal products. As a result, it is possible to eat larger quantities of plant-based products and consuming fewer calories.

Eliminating animal products means avoiding red meat, poultry, fish, dairy products and eggs. For the greatest benefit of a plant-based diet, eliminate animal products entirely. A vegan diet eliminates dairy products and eggs. Using non-fat dairy and only egg whites is not enough. Animal products of all types have animal protein. When eaten in large quantities, animal protein can be harmful to the kidneys and lead to calcium loss. Substitutes are available for dairy products (almond, soy, rice) and eggs.

Next, avoid added vegetable oils. Although these fats are "healthier" than animal fats, oils are high in calories. Cook with water or nonstick cooking spray. Use spices or mustard for seasoning instead of oil. Read the label - aim for two or fewer grams of fat per serving.

Select foods lower on the glycemic index. The glycemic index identifies foods according to their impact on blood sugar. High glycemic index foods increase blood sugar quickly. High glycemic foods include: White and wheat bread, watermelon, pineapple, white potatoes, sugar and most dry cereals. Lower glycemic foods are: rye and pumpernickel bread, barley, oats, pasta, sweet potatoes, beans, lentils, vegetables and most fruits. Always, before making a major change in diet, consult your physician.

Michigan launches nation's first Medicaid system on the cloud

Michigan residents will benefit from improved health care delivery and reduced costs through Medicaid Management Information System technology, a first in the nation programs that includes a partnership with another state. The Michigan Department of Health and Human Services has worked with the State of Illinois, the Michigan Department of Technology, Management and Budget, and CNSI to recently launch the second phase of the nation's first completely automated real-time and cloud-enabled system.

"It's important for Michigan to look for more and better ways to take advantage of technology to improve services for our residents," Gov. Rick Snyder said. "This is an innovative approach, allowing us to more efficiently share information and resources in real-time, helping residents get the health care they need."

The cloud solution creates savings for both states and the federal government, providing opportunities for Michigan and Illinois to share knowledge and resources, and leverage efficiencies to effectively implement federally mandated operating rules and compliance standards. The system adheres to the highest standards of data security ensuring the integrity of state healthcare data.

"Moving to the cloud allows us to better serve our residents and improve health care delivery, all while reducing costs," MDHHS Director Nick Lyon said. "This unique initiative enhances our ability to maintain Medicaid systems, meet state and federal guidelines, and work with partners such as Illinois to create a multi-state platform that can meet the specific needs of our residents."

The multi-state governance feature of this MMIS cloud platform enables state governments to share the costs of developing and maintaining advanced Medicaid systems while still tailoring needs related to state specific regulations. The Illinois Michigan Program Alliance for Core Technology leverages the fully-operational, federally-certified and cloud-based Michigan MMIS designed by CNSI.

"The Department of Technology, Management and Budget is focused on providing technology services that enable Michigan's reinvention, and this partnership to support the business needs of MDHHS and the state of Illinois is another strong example of how we are doing just that," said

David Behen, DTMB director and state chief information officer. "Sharing of government services is the right approach for taxpayers and you will continue to see the implementation of shared services across all levels of government."

This milestone realizes the vision of the intergovernmental agreement established in August 2013 between the two states to develop a new Medicaid as a Service platform that employs technology to reduce costs and improve service in the Medicaid industry.

Utilizing CNSI's innovative electronic Medicaid Incentive Payment Program, Provider Enrollment and Provider Credentialing Service solutions, IMPACT allows for provider collaboration through an online, secure and real-time system that maximizes efficiencies for the state's Medicaid systems.

"We are pleased to announce that our team's tireless commitment to this project during the past two years has resulted in a successful launch of the first-of-its-kind MMIS that creates significant measurable value for the MDHHS, the Illinois Michigan Program Alliance for Core Technology and the entire Medicaid population in both states," said CNSI Midwest Region Senior Vice President Sharif Hussein. "We value the opportunity to work with Michigan and Illinois to create such a groundbreaking system that models a national best practice for MMIS cloud implementation and delivers cost savings and improved health care."

Fall Pumpkin Open House and fundraiser last weekend at Northern Equine Therapy

By Michelle Medjesky

BOYNE CITY - Rainy weather didn't stop either the spooky goblins or supportive souls from attending the Fall Pumpkin open house and fundraiser last weekend at Northern Equine Therapy near Boyne City.

Even the horses got into the spirit, dressing up for a costume contest and for appearances in the haunted stable. There were games with prizes, farm animals to interact with and also a wheelchair accessible hayride, all open and free to the public.

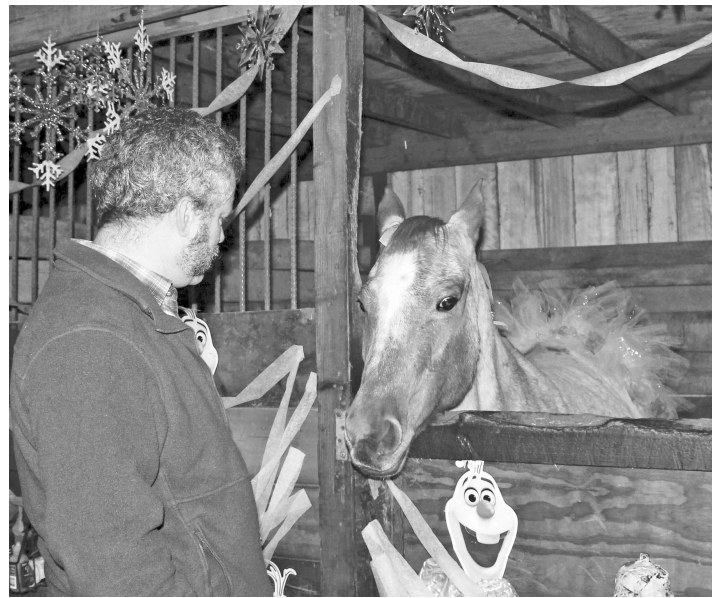

A silent auction was held to fund horse therapy scholarships for the non-profit organization, which is "dedicated to using the healing nature of the horse as a therapeutic tool to enhance independence, self-confidence and quality of life" for those with physical or mental challenges.

Northern Equine Therapy maintains that whether an individual is suffering from the effects of autism, depression, high anxiety or stroke, "Our promise is simple...Horses Heal Humans."

For more information or to make a donation to this non-profit organization, online www.nmequine.com

Jessica Oppermann and her daughters Giona, 7, (center) and Olivia, 5, (right) of Boyne City were all smiles as they waited to get started on a horse-drawn hay ride during the Fall Pumpkin open house at Northern Equine Therapy near Boyne City last weekend.

Jonathan Quirk of Oak Park, Michigan, appeared perplexed by the pony in the haunted barn dressed up in a teal tutu to reflect its stable decorations in spirit of the Disney movie "Frozen".

The special guests will be Jerry Cannon and Lon Johnson, Democratic candidates for Michigan's First Congressional District.

After a short business meeting, attendees will meet and talk with Johnson and Cannon at 5:30. The candidates will then give short presentations followed by a question and answer time. Hors d'oeuvres will be served. Please RSVP by Friday November 6 to assist in planning for seating and refreshments. To RSVP or for more information, email democrats.charlevoix@gmail.com or call (231) 753-8411.

Attendees are also requested to bring donations for food banks in Boyne City, Charlevoix, and East Jordan. Needed items are non-perishable foods like canned tuna or chicken, pancake mix, cereal, rice, canned or boxed soups, complete box dinners like macaroni and cheese, spaghetti noodles and sauce. Personal items are also accepted: toothpaste, toothbrushes, lotion, soap, deodorant, shampoo and conditioner.

Lon Johnson grew up in the Downriver community of Rockwood. In 1992, he worked his first Congressional campaign in a 52% Republican base district. He won despite the fact that his candidate was outspent 3-to-1. In the years that followed, Johnson continued to run and win campaigns in states across the country. In 1999 he took a position fundraising for Al Gore's presidential campaign in George W. Bush's backyard: Texas.

In 2001 Congressman Dingell asked Johnson to return to Michigan to run his primary campaign against Lynn Rivers. After winning Congressman Dingell's primary, Johnson took a position with the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee in 2003 and as the Michigan Director of America Coming Together in 2004. tute helping rebuild a political infrastructure in the wake of the Iraq War. Upon returning from Iraq, he went to work for a firm focused on investing in and growing U.S. manufacturing companies.

In 2012, Johnson ran for the Michigan State House of Representatives in the 103rd District, and received more than 47% of the vote in an overwhelmingly Republican district. Johnson most recently served as Chair of the Michigan Democratic Party. For more than 20 years, Johnson has been a leader in the Democratic Party. He has served in critical strategic roles for political campaigns and committees, advocacy organizations and businesses. He currently lives in Kalkaska County, Michigan with his wife, Julianna Smoot, who served as Deputy Campaign Manager for President Obama's re-election campaign in 2012.

Retired Major General Jerry Cannon is a Vietnam veteran. Cannon served as a Major General in the Michigan Army National Guard and was deployed multiple times around the world to keep America safe, including tours in Iraq. While in Iraq, he oversaw military police operations as Deputy Commanding General for Detainee Operations and U.S. Forces-Iraq Provost Marshal General. After serving as Marine in Vietnam, Cannon joined the Army National Guard in 1977, retiring in 2012.

Using the GI Bill, Cannon earned a degree in Criminal Justice from University of Detroit in 1976. Upon graduation, he became a police officer, then a detective and eventually was elected Sheriff of Kalkaska County, Michigan. Cannon won election four times, eventually retiring in 2004 in order to focus on military deployments to Cuba and Iraq. Cannon unsuccessfully challenged Republican Dan Benishek in 2014 for his seat in Michigan's First Congressional District.

Cannon and his wife, Elizabeth, live in Fife Lake, Michigan. Married for 45 years, they are the parents of four children, including a son who served two tours in Afghanistan. They have seven grandchildren.

Boyne District Library presents "One Book, One Community – Boyne Reads"

"Station Eleven" by Emily St. John Mandel is the selection for "One Book, One Community – Boyne Reads 2015." The event is sponsored by the Boyne District Library and Friends of the Library, in cooperation with Boyne City Public Schools. Funding is also provided by the Doll-Loesel Foundation. The Michigan Humanities Council has chosen "Station Eleven" for its biennial Great Michigan Read program, and Boyne District Library is one of more than 150 libraries, museums, schools, book stores and other organizations throughout the state partnering with the agency.

The Great Michigan Read aims to connect residents by exploring Michigan's history, its present and future as discussed in a single literary title. The program is intended for young adults to senior citizens with a broad goal of making literature more accessible and appealing while also encouraging residents to learn more about Michigan and its culture. The MHC provides non-profit organizations the materials necessary to build community discussions. Bookmarks, reader's guides and teacher's guides are available, and eligible organizations may also apply to receive free copies of the book.

The highlight of Boyne Reads 2015 will be a visit by Emily St. John Mandel to Boyne City Performing Arts Center on November 3 at 6:30 pm. The author presentation will be followed by a dessert reception, hosted by the Boyne City High School Hospitality Class.

"We are fortunate to have an author of Emily's caliber come to Boyne City for Boyne Reads," said library director Cliff Carey. "We receive tremendous support for this event and we appreciate the efforts of the Friends of the Library and Boyne Reads committee members who make this possible."

"Station Eleven" is set in a world turned upside down, but is ultimately an exploration of people surviving and remaking their lives by preserving the qualities that make us human: culture, art, and the humanities. The questions raised in this novel will make you think about what it means to be human, why do we fight for survival, the human need to connect, to mark history and to create a future. We think you will love this book as much as we do!

Members of the committee are Kathy Anderson, Susan Conklin, Josette Lory and Chris Bandy, as well as library staff members Carey and Monica Kroondyk.

The library has multiple copies of the book and ebook, and they are also available for purchase at Local Flavor, Boyne City's locally owned book store.

"We encourage the whole community to get involved in Boyne Reads," Carey said. "This is a fascinating story and a great opportunity to bring our community together."

For more information about the Great Michigan Read, Emily St. John Mandel, and "Station Eleven," visit www.michiganhumanities.org or www.emilymandel.com.

Boyne District Library is located at 201 E. Main Street in Boyne City. For more information about Boyne Reads, call (231) 582-7861, or visit the library's website at www.boynelibrary.org.
