Boyne City graduate Hannah Hoth headed to Italy

By Chris Fiel

BOYNE CITY -- While most recent graduates are relaxing during the few summer months before heading off to college, Boyne City graduate Hannah Hoth is keeping busy preparing herself to represent and play softball for the USA U19 softball team, or American International Sports Team (AIST), in Italy.

As most already know, the former Rambler enjoyed another outstanding season during her senior year, displaying the hard work that she put in during the offseason. Hoth finished her career with a banner season, hitting .600, with 60 hits on the season, 31 of those for extra bases, including 12 home runs, a team-high 66 RBI's, while also scoring 51 runs.

Her slugging percentage was 1.170, and she showed discipline at the plate, drawing 20 walks. She was also a repeat first team All-State selection as well as All-Conference, All-District and All-Region. Hoth also was recognized for her classroom work too, receiving Academic All-State honors.

Last summer, Hannah received an email from Blue Chip Softball camp, co-director Brad Koch following a showcase in which she attended, that she had an opportunity to tryout for the U19 AIST team in Midland, Michigan. After that tryout, Hoth found out that she was in fact, one of the selections to join the team.

Jennifer Hess, AIST Recruiter, said that AIST chooses all-star athletes, who have received recognition as All-Conference, All-Region and All-State selections, as well as coaches referral, previous statistics, or a tournament/showcase event and there are only a few AIST tryouts across the country.

"Hannah's skill level, athleticism, attitude, and game sense proved to be just the type of player we are looking to recruit," Hess noted. "We look for athletes with a strong desire to play at the next level and hope to participate in collegiate athletics."

The AIST has been traveling with top athletes to international tournaments in more than 22 countries since 2002. "We take great pride in the quality of teams we put together to compete around the world," Hess added.

Hess also noted that the AIST has the reputation for having some of the best travel teams in the world, but AIST also creates a memorable experience for all its athletes. These experiences include learning new cultures, building friendships, sightseeing, personal growth and most everything else that comes with exploring the world. Each of the three teams representing the US U19, consist of only 12-13 players per roster.

When asked about the process of the tryout, Hannah noted that it was typical of any other practice or camp that she had attended, from stretching and warming up, to hitting, running and fielding, just that this time, it was under the watchful eye of coaches and recruiters looking to piece together a highly competitive team to take on the rest of the world.

Prior to the showcase and tryout, Hannah, a three sport, high school athlete, had taken some much deserved time off, just finishing her third year on the Boyne City softball team, where the Ramblers advanced to regional play for the third straight season. She also spent her middle school and high school summers playing travel softball and women's league.

Hoth found out of her selection to the AIST team about a week after the tryout and was pretty excited. She then had a tough decision to make, where did she want to go with the AIST?

"After finding out that I was selected as a catcher, I had to decide whether I wanted to go to the Dominican Republic, Italy or the Netherlands," Hannah said before a wide grin appeared on her face. "I didn't know if I wanted to go to the beach (Dominican) or on tours (Italy)."

Hannah's mother, Michele added that she only had the opportunity to pick her destination if she made the decision soon.

"She got to pick (her destination) if she decided soon and also by position," her mother said. "So, if another catcher choose Italy before Hannah submitted her request, she would not have been able to go there."

Hannah has worked hard the last year saving for the experience, as each individual is responsible for the cost of travel and accommodations (at a group rate) as well as some of the meals.

Hoth will travel out of JFK in New York, leaving July 14 and returning to the US on July 25, meeting her new teammates for the first time at the airport and will practice together once they arrive overseas. The AIST team will make stops in Rome, San Marino, Florence, Milan and Bellagio, to name a few. We will share what Hannah had the opportunity to see and learn, once she returns from her European experience.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN OUTDOORS

The 3 C's of Nature Photography

Creative Capture: This largemouth bass photo was captured under water and the reflection off the water surface created a mirror image of the fish. (PATRICK BEVIER PHOTO)

By Patrick Bevier

On a recent trip to the Lake Michigan shoreline near Charlevoix I was reminded of the three tenants of nature photography that we teach students. Those are the 3 C's: Close Up, Colorful, and Creative. The adventure turned out to be truly remarkable as I was able to capture shots that epitomized these characteristics. For example:

Close Up: I explored the shoreline, dunes, and upper dune bushes and trees to discover several flowers, animals, and other features to photograph. I set my camera on auto for many frames of them but also used the micro function to get up close and personal with many subjects. These included northern water snakes, American toads, wildflowers including bladder-shaped maiden's tears, purple loosestrife, marsh marigolds and dazzling orange wood lilies, driftwood, and Petoskey and other stones. I took many shots just to make sure I got the perfect light, focus, and features. Another technique that is really important is to take many shots, from different angles and light conditions, to get the one or two that will be worthy of a frame or publication.

Colorful: This seems like common sense but a photographer should capture vivid color whenever possible. Once again, light plays a key role here, and often an overcast sky is the best bet here. When captured under non-direct sunlight photographs often "pop" with color. These conditions also help the photographer to not worry about shadows that can erode the quality of the shot. The background features, and colors, are also important with regard to how they accentuate the main subject's characteristics.

Creative: Much like the old saying that there's no such thing as a plot that hasn't been thought of before, capturing a truly unique photograph can be challenging, yet exciting. This is where the artistry of nature photography comes in and the more you practice the better you'll get at it.

Sometimes nature photography is tough, particularly when trying to photograph uncooperative live animals. A trick of the trade is to sometimes create a natural background and photograph the animal indoors in a more controlled setting. That way you'll have more chances to get the perfect photo of the critter. This works especially well with reptiles and amphibians. The animals can then be released harmlessly after you've captured your desired shot.

Modern, and often inexpensive, photo editing programs can help in all three of the 3 C's categories. However, there is still no substitute to capturing natural photographs that are as close, colorful, and creative as possible. Nature photography is yet another engaging endeavor in the Northern Michigan outdoors!

A Timeline for Your Summer Move

Part 3 of 5

2 weeks from move date: If you choose not to take advantage of full service mover packing services, or are planning to do it yourself and rent a truck, Start packing things into boxes. Figure out the logistics of the move, travel plans and if other specialized plans need to be made. Tip: If you are using a professional mover find out what items are on their “non-allowables” list and discard those items or find a way to transport them separately. Tip: Instead of stacking plates, pack them vertically; they will travel safer this way. Tip: If you are moving long distance, remember travel arrangements for your pets. There are pet-exclusive airlines available such as Pet Airways but regular airlines have travel options for pets as well. Tip: If you have young children, you may want to make childcare arrangements so you can be 100% focused on moving day and your little ones remain safe and busy with fun activities. Tip: Schedule “move out” cleaning service, carpet cleaners and heavy appliance disposal if necessary for once you’ll be out of the home you’re vacating. Even if you’re selling your current home, it’s a nice welcome for the buyers to move into a clean and tidy home.

GMC Introduces Yukon SLT Premium Edition

GMC has announced the 2016 Yukon SLT Premium Edition - a chrome-trimmed special model offering a premium, personalized appearance on SLT models. It goes on sale this summer, offered on Yukon and Yukon XL models. Features include:

- Unique design 22-inch chrome-wheels
- Unique design chrome grille
- Bright chrome body-side moldings
- Polished exhaust tip

"The new Yukon SLT Premium Edition adds distinction and personalized style to the already well-appointed Yukon SLT model," said Stu Pierce, senior marketing manager, GMC Trucks & Full-size SUVs. "For discerning customers seeking uncompromising capability and unparalleled refinement in a full-size SUV, Yukon SLT Premium Edition delivers with the latest in technologies, amenities and a unique and premium style."

Yukon and Yukon XL SLT models are powered by an advanced 5.3L V-8 engine that offers the segment's best V-8 fuel economy: an EPA-estimated 23 highway mpg (2WD models). Additional standard and available features on SLT models include:

- Fold-flat second- and third-row seats that enhance cargo capability and convenience, including an available power-folding feature
- Power rear liftgate with multiple programmable height settings and hands-free operation
- Wireless phone charging
- Standard 8-inch-diagonal color touch-screen radio with enhanced IntelliLink and available navigation
- Apple CarPlay and Android Auto phone projection compatibility
- Keyless Open and Start
- 8,500-lb. max trailering for Yukon and 8,300-lb. max trailering for Yukon XL (2WD models)

The Yukon lineup also incorporates technologies that help protect the driver and passengers before, during and after a collision. They include a forward radar system and the segment's only Front Center Air Bag (models with front bucket seats), which deploys from the in-board side of the driver's seat and inflates between the driver and front passenger, providing added protection for both front occupants in side impacts. Through Android Auto and Apple CarPlay capability, Yukon's IntelliLink infotainment system provides simple and intuitive use of smartphones in the vehicle. It integrates certain phone functions onto the 8-inch-diagonal color touch screen, allowing you to call up music, navigation apps and more. Using either application is simple. A "Projection" icon on the IntelliLink screen is visible when a phone is not connected and changes to indicate CarPlay or Android Auto when a compatible phone is connected through a USB. Android Auto requires a phone running the Android Lollipop 5.0 operating system or higher, while Apple CarPlay requires an iPhone 5 or later models. OnStar 4G LTE and available Wi-Fi hotspot complement IntelliLink to enhance Yukon's connectivity.
