Charlevoix County Commission on Aging welcomes new Executive Director

Charlevoix County resident Amy Wieland has been named the new executive director of the Charlevoix County Commission on Aging. Wieland replaces Shirley Gillespie, who retired in June. In her new role, Wieland will be responsible for developing and overseeing the programs and services for the senior centers in Charlevoix, East Jordan, Boyne City and Beaver Island.

Joel Evans, the Chairman of the Charlevoix County Commissioners, said Wieland's wide-ranging professional and volunteer experience make her a perfect fit for the job.

"Amy's creativity and strong communication skills will allow her to build upon the many services available at our senior centers and in the future for the COA." said Evans. "She's organized, efficient and dedicated to serving all of the aging community in Charlevoix County. We are fortunate to have Amy and look forward to all of the positive changes that will be coming to benefit our seniors."

Wieland said increasing programs, events, activities, education and outreach are a priority along with increasing the availability of fresh and homemade foods at each of the senior center sites. She also plans to add a monthly scheduled Veterans social time and lunch at each of the senior center locations following the format of the one already established at the Boyne Area Senior Center.

'The success of our senior centers and services relies on the entire aging community," she said. "Without the senior's participation and the community's support, we cannot be the leaders in serving seniors. This support is vital to our success and I understand just how important it is to meet the various levels and needs of all of our aging community."

Wieland most recently was the Executive Director of Hospice of Northwest Michigan for the last 3.5

vears and has filled administrative positions within the health department for the past 14 years. She was a corporate insurance broker for Arthur J. Gallagher in New York for five years before that. She's been active in local politics, business and volunteerism, including her membership in the Charlevoix Elks and the Charlevoix Rotary.

Wieland holds a Bachelor's degree in Psychology and Fine Arts from the State University of New York. She and her husband, Tim Wieland, reside in Charlevoix.

"There are signs to direct people...we want everyone to know downtown is still accessible. You can still get to Bridge Street- and businesses are still open," said Charlevoix City Manager Mark Heydlauff.

The intersection of U.S. 31 North between Antrim and Hurlbut Streets was closed on Monday, September 18 so construction crews could start work on the project. which involves an upgrade to the city's sanitary and storm sewers and a water main that lies beneath the roadway at the point of the intersection. There will also be upgrades to the street surface as well as curbs and gutters surrounding the intersection site.

Heydlauff said local contracting firm MDC, LLC of Charlevoix is taking on the project, which bundled with other similar city street projects completed earlier this summer total just less than $1 million.

"They (MDC) have done great work with us in the past," he said, "This is necessary infrastructure work we need to have done to maximize our city's overall infrastructure and longterm efficiency," he said.

During the project, Heydlauff said a detour has been placed to funnel both north-

Sharon J. Lee, 87

(JUNE 25, 1930 - SEPT. 7, 2017) Sharon June Lee passed away in East Jordan, Michigan on September 7, 2017, a victim of Alzheimer's. Sharon was born on early 1950s.

June 25, 1930 on a farm near Paton, Iowa. Her family moved to Perry, Iowa when she was a small child. She graduated from Perry High School in 1948 and attended Simpson College where she earned her teaching certificate and went on to teach 2nd and 3rd graders in the Clinton School District in the

She met Robert (Bob) N. Lee in high school and shortly thereafter, they became the loves of each other's life. They were married in Perry in 1954 and she stopped teaching to raise a family. They moved to Des Moines where they had two boys, Tony and Timothy. She was a stay at home mom while Bob worked at Fir stone in Des Moines. As the boys grew, Sharon decided to return to Simpson to complete her Bachelor of Education degree and return to teaching. Tragedy struck just before her final year at Simpson when their youngest son, Timothy, drowned in Lake Michigan. With incredible courage, she continued on and earned her degree in 1969 and went on to teach in the Des Moines school system. She started at Moulton and went to Douglas Elementary School in the early 1970s. She loved teaching 3rd graders and influenced hundreds of lives throughout her career. Sharon was the State of Iowa Teacher of the Year in 1983-

Sharon retired from teaching in 1992. She and Bob moved to Ankeny, Iowa and traveled whenever they could to visit friends and family across the country until Bob died. Sharon moved to Petoskey, Michigan in 2011 to be close to her son and daughter-in-law. She loved living Up North among the wildlife and trilliums while still being in a suburban environment. She even did the Mackinac Bridge Walk.

Sharon is survived by her son, Tony Lee, and his wife, Mary, along with their 3 children, Doug, Christine, and David, five great-grandchildren and two great-greatgrandchildren, all in Michigan. She is also survived by three very dear nieces, Chris Koch, Karen (Doug) James and Sharon Reese and many greatnieces/nephews. She was preceded in death by her parents, her husband Robert, her son Timothy, her sister Shirley, her nephew, Greg, and her great-grandson, Kevin. There will be a private memorial service with family members at Violet Hill Cemetery in Perry.

She is at peace and is missed by many.

Arrangements are being handled by the Winchester Chapel of Mortensen Funeral Homes.

hush volume but slowly it is becoming known widely, this inequality factor. Examining the federal expense budget, 1.2 trillion is allocated for discretionary spending which means close to 2.8 trillion goes to mandated expenses like Social Security, Medicare, Unemployment, payments on the national debt and other necessary expenses that keep the country functioning. And it is certain that the political crew is paid right off the top of that budget. So, again, it is bureaucracy and business in league with banking, all with a BIG prefix attached, that has doomed this country to penury for the huddled masses while the rich get richer. The latest and constant cry of the ruling classes is for tax cuts that purportedly benefit the workers. No. Workers won't see any such reduction in taxation but the white collar guvs will because cuts are based on income which of course decreases the amount of taxation by percentage for high dollar earners but leaves the working class wage pretty much unaffected.

There is always talk of Socialism and communalism, not exactly Communism, since the 1990s began to disclose the inequality syndrome burgeoning. This continues to increase in magnitude with no surcease evident. Apparently the leadership wants this effect or they'd be discussing it. They are not. We only read of this in more obscure publications, online and such. Though this subject may be hotly discussed in some conclaves it does not penetrate nationwide as vividly as it would have in slightly former times, like the 1960s-70s. Even the 80s retained some vestiges of prosperity for the working and middle classes but the signs of erosion were beginning to appear.

Perhaps the Clinton era heralded the downturn in financial terms and is a causative factor in this. therefore demoralizing a Clinton bid though the popular vote was in that favor. oddly the working class vote influencing the election to the conservative side. One might think that workers would side with the democratic coalition but the Clinton legacy may have superseded that notion. This with which we are left is thereby a stalemate of political boondoggle, conundrum, and impasse that none seems able to address, thus the oppressiveness continues its pressure on the ones who used to wield private influence, a fading contingent. What to do? No uprising seems nigh but for the Confederate flag-wavers, KKK, Nazis and the like. The Charlottesville massacre remains stalled in unreported causes and participants though rumors abound. Failures, as said by many, of the culture revolutions of the recent past seem to have put the kibosh on any rational attempts at reform. The proposed answer was laid in Donald Trump's campaign lap and enough people bought it in revolt against status quo politics to leverage the most uproarious election in memory. That nothing is working is obvious but the machinations continue regardless. Marxian sociology told of the need of negating the bourgeoisie class whereas that class arising in the postwar years gave birth to workers' prosperity in a ubiquitously welcome way - except for the high income folk who paid high tax rates.

Penultimately the resolve is limbo, no workable solution in sight. Ultimately, who knows?

Dear Dave,

We're debt-free except for our house. I've been talking to a friend about how much money to allow for fun in your budget. The other day we bought a $100 bottle of wine, and she thought that was unreasonable. What's your opinion? Beth

Dear Beth, Something like that depends entirely on your overall financial situation. Buying a $100 bottle of wine is pretty stupid if you only make $20,000 a year. It's not unreasonable, though, if you make $200,000 a year. Having a great income-to-asset ratio and living debt-free gives you the opportunity to relax and enjoy a few things.

You've got to take the whole picture into account. I know a guy who makes well over $15 million a year, and he bought a $200,000 car. As a ratio, that's a very small percentage of his income. So, it's kind of silly to say an item is too expensive, or an irresponsible purchase, based on price alone.

(Help parents or pay student loans?)

Dear Dave. I graduated from college two years ago, and I have a good job making $60,000. I have about $10,000 in student loan debt, but my mom and dad have a real issue with their roof. It's leaking in places to the point they have to set buckets around to catch the water, and I've gotten repair estimates of $3,000 to $5,000. They're good, hard-working, blue collar folks, but they're less fortunate financially and have more debt than I do. What should I do first — help them fix the roof or pay off my student loan debt?

Jordan

Dear Jordan, You've got a great spirit, man. If I woke up in your shoes, I'd probably help them fix the roof first. The only way I would do that, though, is if they agree to let you help them ad-

If they've worked all their lives and can't come up with $3,000, something's wrong. The fact they don't have any money is the symptom. The problem is they've mishandled the dollars they earned.

Even if you don't make a lot, you

Adopt-A-Highway cleanup

Volunteers will soon be scouring the roadsides looking for trash during the year's final Adopt-A-Highway pickup. Thousands of volunteers in the popular Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) program will be picking up litter along highway roadsides from Saturday, Sept. 23, through Sunday, Oct. 1.

"As the fall pickup approaches, we'd like to thank Adopt-A-Highway groups for their hard work and community spirit again this year," said State Transportation Director Kirk T. Steudle.

There are three scheduled Adopt-A-Highway pickups each year: one each in the spring, summer and fall. Volunteers in Michigan have been participating in the program since 1990. Every year, Adopt-A-Highway volunteers collect more than 60,000 bags of trash. The popular program has grown to involve more than 2,800 groups cleaning 6,400 miles of highway.

Motorists should be on the lookout beginning Saturday for volunteers wearing highvisibility, yellow-green safety vests. MDOT provides free vests and trash bags, and arranges to haul away the trash. Volunteers include members of civic groups, businesses and families. Crew members have to be at least 12 years old and each group must number at least still available for adoption. Interested groups should check the MDOT Adopt-A-Highway website at www.michigan.gov/adoptahighway for more information and the name of their county's coordinator, who can specify available roadsides. Groups are asked to adopt a section of highway for at least two years: there is no fee to participate. Adopt-A-Highway volunteer groups are recognized with signs bearing a group's name posted along stretches of adopted highway.

Hayes Township receives grants

Charlevoix County's Hayes Township was awarded grant funds from the 2% Award of the Grand Traverse Band (GTB) of Ottawa and Chippewa Indians from the first half of the 2017 grant cycle. The grant of $5,000 will be used to construct pedestrian walkways leading to the fishing pier to be constructed at Hayes Township Park Camp Sea-Gull on the north shore of Lake Charlevoix.

The 2% Award is a condition of the consent decree settling Tribes vs Engler. Under the decree, the GTB of Ottawa and Chippewa Indians agreed to pay 2% of its video gaming revenue to local units of government for deserving community projects. Since the 2% Awards began in 1994, the GTB has donated millions of dollars to hundreds of local projects.

National Prostrate Cancer Awareness Month

Prostate cancer is the most frequently diagnosed cancer in men aside from skin cancer, and the second leading cause of cancer death among Michigan men. Therefore this September, National Prostate Cancer Awareness Month, is the best time for men to become aware of their personal risk for prostate cancer and talk to their doctor about screening.

In Michigan, it is estimated that there will be 5,350 new cases and 830 deaths due to prostate cancer in 2017. Older men, African-American men, and men with a family history of prostate cancer have a greater risk for developing prostate cancer. African-American men are more than twice as likely as White men to die of prostate cancer. The chance of having prostate cancer rises rapidly after age 50. The Michigan Department of Health and Human Services is encouraging men to discuss prostate cancer screening with their doctor including its risks, potential benefits, and known limitations in order to make the screening decision that is right for them.

Men with average risk, such as White men with no family history of prostate cancer, should talk to their doctor about screening beginning at age 50. Men at high risk, including African-American men or those with a close family member who has been diagnosed with prostate cancer before age 65, should have the screening discussion with their doctor beginning at age 45. Men at highest risk are those with multiple close family members who have been diagnosed with prostate cancer before age 65 - these men should have the screening discussion with their doctor beginning at age 40.

While there are not usually symptoms associated with early prostate cancer, men should call their doctor if they have any of the following symptoms: difficulties with urination, a need to urinate frequently especially at night, difficulties having an erection, pain or burning while urinating, and blood in the urine or semen.

For more information about prostate cancer, click here or visit www.michigan.gov/cancer.

Goodwill Retail & Distribution Centers in Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Gaylord and Petoskey

Goodwill is a name that symbolizes services and programs that provide a means for people in need to get back on their feet and regain their treasured independence. Goodwill has been around since 1902, when a Boston area Methodist Minister named Rev. Edgar Helms began collecting used household goods and clothing, and hired those who were down on their luck to mend and repair those goods for resale. Here in Northern Michigan, Goodwill opened their doors at Asgard Enterprises in 1972, and today the non-profit organization offers vocational, housing, transportation, nutritional and family strengthening programs across the region.

Goodwill has also become a nationally recognized name in resale; offering gently used clothing, household items, books, home décor accessories and more at their Retail and Donation Centers. Centers located in Petoskey Gaylord, Cheboygan and Charlevoix utilize proceeds from sales at each location to help support programs throughout Northern Michigan that help people overcome barriers to independence. Goodwill also recycles metal items, cardboard, purses, belts, shoes, books and clothing.

Goodwill Northern Michigan serves 19 counties with nine locations, strengthening communities through programs such as Patriot Place transitional housing and resources for homeless military veterans, the Goodwill Inn emergency shelter for individuals and families and the Workers on Wheels programs. Workers on Wheels (WoW) pairs low income, hard working families in need with a safe, reliable donated vehicle at little or no cost to the family. Being able to get to work in a reliable dependable vehicle strengthens family independence and community involvement. Last year, 50% of WoW recipients reported increased earnings from picking up more hours or landing a better job through reliable transportation. Seventy-nine percent of car recipients reported that their kids had an increase in extracurricular activities.

Goodwill has achieved many amazing results, including:

- .91 of every dollar from

Goodwill resale stores is reinvested into the mission and Goodwill is rated an "A" by Charity Watch.com.

- Donated items that do not meet quality criteria for resale are not just thrown away, but salvaged that includes your shirt with a stain or that puzzle missing a piece. Goodwill Northern Michigan is proud to be a leader in sustainability as one of the largest recyclers in Northern Michigan, diverting millions of pounds of 'stuff' from local landfills each year. - Goodwill's Jobs program offers a hands-on opportunity for individuals to gain trust in themselves and explore their capacities in the workplace.

- Goodwill employees earn higher than the Michigan state minimum wage with excellent benefits, including career advancement opportunities.

- Goodwill Northern Michigan is all about maximizing impact. Donated items of exceptional value are auctioned online at www.shopgwmi.com...check it out! Proceeds are re-invested in the Goodwill Northern Michigan mission.

Your support is vital to the success of Goodwill's mission - whether you make a financial contribution, donate a pair of jeans you've outgrown, shop our stores, or vou volunteer vour time that's where GOOD happens. And it happens right here, every day. Thank you for making GOOD happen in your community.

Join Charlevoix Circle of Arts trip to ArtPrize in October

ARTPRIZE

The Charlevoix Circle of Arts is taking a group of patrons to Grand Rapids on Tuesday October 3 to explore the wonder of ArtPrize.

From the Experience Grand Rapids website, it is described as, "ArtPrize began nearly nine years ago as an experiment - a totally new event, unlike anything the world had ever seen. For 19 days each fall, three square miles of downtown Grand Rapids become an open playing field where anyone can find a voice in the conversation about what is art and why it matters. Art from around the world pops up in every inch of downtown, and it's all free and open to the pub-

The trip to Grand Rapids will be a one-day event when the bus rolls out of the Circle's parking lot at 109 Clinton Street in the early morning and travels for a day filled with culture and creation. There will be a behind the scenes tour at the Grand Rapids Art Museum beginning at 11 am where you can see work in the galleries before the museum is open to the public. After the tour, participants can stroll through the multitude on venues at their own pace.

In the early evening, the bus will bring you back to Charlevoix with the comfort of a movie, a light food offering and a relaxing journey home. "ArtPrize can be a pretty daunting experience for one that has not had the opportunity to see it first hand," tells Gail DeMeyere, Executive Director of the Circle of Arts. "In this timeframe, there is no way you will be able to see all of the 1,346 entries on display. The concept of this excursion is to give people the opportunity to see the scope of this phenomenal art experience so that if they are interested, they can return with the understanding of what ArtPrize is all about.'

There is limited space available to join in the trip to Grand Rapids but there is still time to register online at: www.charlevoixcircle.com or call at (231) 547-3554. The Charlevoix Circle of Arts is located at 109 Clinton Street in the heart of downtown Charlevoix.

Staff Comments: "I have the pleasure of having Zosia in my science class this year and even though it has been a short time that I have had her in class I can see what an exceptional young lady she is. She is clearly a leader amoung her peers. She is also a remarkable student; often doing more then is asked of her. I believe Zosia has a big futue and look forward to watch her progress over the next several years." - Alecia Angerer, MS and HS Science Teacher

New School Therapist in East Jordan Public Schools

As students return to school in East Jordan this fall, they may notice a new face in the hallway: behavioral health therapist Rebecca Litzner, LMSW. East Jordan Public Schools has partnered with the Health Department of Northwest Michigan to launch the East Jordan Wellness Program to offer on-site behavioral health services for middle and high school students. Funding to launch this project was provided by the Charlevoix County Community Foundation and the Michigan Health Endowment

Through individual and group counseling sessions, Rebecca will provide support to students dealing with any kind of stressors in their lives.

"I'm available to any student of East Jordan Public Schools who wants support. I can help kids with issues such as depression or anxiety, if they are dealing with difficult changes in their lives, or if they are experiencing conflicts with family or friends," said Rebecca. "I'm looking forward to being in the school, where I will be more accessible to students and their fami-

By providing behavioral health services in schools, the East Jordan Wellness Program helps overcome barriers that may prevent students from accessing the support they need for mental and emotional wellness. Families will not have to worry about transportation, time, or payment; all students need is a consent form signed by a parent.

Matt Stevenson, Superintendent of East Jordan Public Schools, explained that making counseling available for students at school is an investment in their futures.

"There's plenty of evidence that absenteeism goes down and graduation rates go up when students have adequate support and the chance to learn healthy coping strategies," he said. "In short, healthy students learn better, and better learners graduate.

For additional information about the new behavioral health services, call the East Jordan Wellness Program at 231-536-2204 or pick up a brochure at school.

Senator Stamas recognized as Legislator of the Year by Michigan Works!

State Senator Jim Stamas (R -Midland) was honored at a statewide workforce conference Monday for his commitment to jobs and education as well as his dedication to improving workforce legislation. Named the Michigan Works! Association 2017 Legislator of the Year, Sen. Stamas received his award at the association's annual conference in Mt. Pleasant.

"Senator Stamas has always been a long time supporter of the Michigan Works! program and is a true champion for improving workforce legislation here in Michigan," said Luann Dunsford, chief executive officer of the Michigan Works! Association. "He has been an avid supporter of the Good Jobs for Michigan Initiative legislation and of the Skilled Trades Training Fund, both of which help employees and job seekers throughout the state."

Dunsford noted that Sen. Stamas doesn't just "walk-the-walk" - he is sincere in his involvement and fully present in his meetings with community groups, private citizens, and workforce partners.

"He makes a point of visiting organizations and groups across his 10 counties despite the immense travel involved. He is always willing to listen to workforce development concerns and is eager to hear about constituent successes in Michigan Works! programs." Dunsford said.

Sen. Stamas is also a strong advocate for increasing access to education, including post-secondary and

"It was great to have Senator Stamas visit our Michigan Works! office in East Tawas to see the unique partnership between Michigan Works! and the Iosco Regional Educations Service Agency," Dunsford said. "These two came together to provide education services to atrisk youth and adults returning to complete their education."

BOYNE CITY

BOWLING FOR BOONE

September 23, 5-8pm, BC Lanes. Boone Caverly of Boyne City has Williams Syndrome. He suffers from severe heart and lung stenosis. The only doctor in the world who performs the surgery he needs is at Stanford University in California. Boone's parents, Isaac and Mandy Caverly, are taking him across the country and relocating to California for over a month away from their other son Booker. The expenses associated with this life-saving procedure are astronomical, but we pray the outcome will be priceless. BC Lanes and BC Pizza in Boyne City have generously offered to host a benefit for Boone on September 23. There will be open bowling for $10, pizza buffet dinner by donation, as well as a silent auction, bake sale and live entertainment. Silent auction donations can be dropped off at Boyne City Hardware.
