Congressman Jack Bergman hosted community engagement event at North Central Michigan College

By Michelle Medjesky

PETOSKEY - Regardless of whether it was a "community engagement event" or a "town hall meeting," dozens of constituents from Charlevoix to Cheboygan and everywhere in-between came to Petoskey last weekend to hear their Congressman's stance on a wild variety of issues-from Asian Carp and immigration to human trafficking and transgender surgery in the militarv

First district and first time elected Congressman Jack Bergman,-R, Watersmeet, staged what he declared a "community engagement event" at North Central Michigan College on Saturday, September 30, preferring that term instead of the more commonly heard "town hall meeting", he said, because the media has given the town hall expression "a bad name."

"We want to engage with you," Bergman explained to the crowd of about 100 people gathered in the college cafeteria, where a larger crowd was expected but numerous empty seats remained during the two hour-long question and answer session.

A strong police presence was evident at the venue with several cruisers from Bergman's constituents have complained in that time the Congressman has been elusive and inaccessible and that the public meetings he hosts have been few and poorly scheduled, all issues Bergman addressed.

For nearly 70 years, she (JUNE 6, 1926 - SEPT. 28, 2017) as an active member of the of the 101st Airborne Division "Screaming Eagles". After leaving the army, I moved to the windy city. While living in Chicago, I attended college where I majored in music and ended up receiving my engineering degree. During my college years, I played saxophone in local jazz bands around the city. Once I finished college, I work as a Civil Engineer for CSX. While working for CSX, I met my first wife Mary Radar. We went on to live a wonderful life together for 43 years until she passed away in 1998. A few years later, I married my second wife Judy Bernier. I was a lucky man to have the love of two unique women. Judy also taught me what it was like to be a family man.

After marrying Judy on September 16, 2000, I gained two sons, Steve and Wayne. Steve and his wife, Ruth Bernier, gave me two beautiful granddaughters, Rebecca and Rachel. Wayne and his wife, Shawn Bernier, gave me my three grandsons, Aaron, Dylan, and Chase. Years later my granddaughter, Rebecca, and her husband, Lucas Spence, gave me my first ever great grandson, Wyatt.

When life had a slow moment, I spent my free time fly fishing and watching birds and my favorite chipmunks. I also enjoyed HO model railroading. I have built and designed my own "playroom" with all my trains and whistles. During my later years, I managed to get my hands on a camera where I discovered my love for photography. My passion for photography exploded when I discovered my love for the great South West. I've spent many years exploring and concurring the lands of the South West with Judy, my grandson, and his fiancé. I somehow fit in time to go fishing in Canada with Judy, my granddaughter, and her husband. Throughout my life I have met some amazing people. My friends and family would describe me as adventurous, witty, compassionate, and a true hearted man." Bill is survived by his wife, Judy Clough. Bill was preceded in death by his parents Paul and Gertrude Clough, two brothers Dean and Richard Clough, and first wife Mary Radar. Doan said the woman's small dog had reportedly climbed down between her feet as she was driving and caused her to lose control of her vehicle, which came to a stop on a retaining wall.

He said the woman was not injured in the accident and there were no property damage except for some stairs at the site.

The positioning of the woman's vehicle at the bottom of the embankment so close to the channel made it difficult to retrieve, Doan said, noting that a crew from Bergmann Marine had to be called to lift it by crane onto a tow truck.

Last year the "Chill" committee outfitted 140 preschool and elementary students with new jackets, snow pants, boots, hats and mittens.

Although October is the

 "Our local merchants

New nature preserve in Norwood

When Marion Light would visit her sister in Norwood, she told herself that someday she, too, wanted to settle in this place. Born in Hubbell, raised near Detroit, yet residing in Chicago for more than two decades, she knew she wanted to someday return to Michigan, What she didn't realize at the time was that Norwood would become her heart home for years to come. And in 2017, she would be donating the 22-acre George and Marion Light Nature Preserve to the Little Traverse Conservancy to protect a special land that she and George wanted to be left in its natural state for all time The drumlins surrounding Norwood offer clear evidence of the glacial retreat that carved out Lake Michigan and nearby Lake Charlevoix and Torch Lake. Native Americans knew the region to be a source of chert, and members of tribes as far as Ohio and Wisconsin would come for this sedimentary stone that could be worked into arrowheads. The first permanent settlers came from northern New York, seeking cheap land and sources of lumber. Marion explains that after the great Chicago fire of 1871, much of the city was rebuilt with lumber from around Norwood.

Shortly after moving to Norwood herself in 1995, Marion met George Light, a recent widower who had been born and raised there. attending school in Norwood's one-room schoolhouse, and later finishing high school in Charlevoix. After his discharge from active duty in WWII, George returned to Norwood to raise his family, eventually purchasing and running East Jordan Lumber Company for 35 years.

Within five months, George and Marion were they witnessed a bald eagle killing a wild turkey, the eagle oblivious of them as it flashed out of the sky.

The home where Marion lives today, and where the couple lived until George passed last October, was originally built in 1869 by the family who started the first sawmill in the region. Today, the rich history of the land, along with her many years of living and loving life with George, give Marion a solid sense of home and of being exactly where she wants to be. While living in Chicago, Marion dedicated herself to refining her lifelong love of

Take a stand against domestic abuse

Guest Commentary submitted by: Chris Krajewski, Domestic Abuse and Sexual Assault Program Director, Women's Resource Center of Northern Michigan

This year marks the 30th year of National Domestic Abuse Awareness Month and a call to people nationwide to take a stand to end domestic abuse. Why is it important for you to take a stand? Domestic abuse is prevalent in all communities across the U.S. and impacts many of us directly or through friends, co-workers and family.

Domestic abuse does not discriminate. Perpetrators and survivors represent people of any age, financial status, race, religion or education.

It's likely someone you know has experienced domestic abuse because it's the leading cause of injury to women between the ages of 15 and 44, impacting onethird of U.S. women during their lifetime.

Last year, alone, Women's Resource Center of Northern Michigan (WRCNM) provided survivors and their children 2,898 nights of refuge at the Safe Home. An additional 429 survivors utilized non-residential counseling and advocacy services.

Here are ways you can take a stand:

Talk to friends and family about this issue and join the conversation on social media. #DVFacts #Joyful-Heart #loveisrespect #DVAM2017

Take a selfie or group photo to share on social media about why and how you are taking a stand against domestic abuse. #TakeAStand17 married. It was a second marriage for both, and the couple was determined to not waste a minute of what was to be more than 20 years together. The two dearly loved the outdoors and spent many of their days together fishing on Lake Michigan.

The land that is now a nature preserve was originally part of the Light's family farm. As a teenager, George raised beans as a small cash crop, and he would often hunt there. After they were married, George and Marion would sometimes take a picnic to the land, or just sit in George's deer blind to see what would happen. One day, hours a week to practice, on top of working more than full-time as a director of nursing. Her specialty has become botanical and nature painting, and her life in Norwood provides endless sources of inspiration and material for her work. Just a few blocks from her home lies the new George & Marion Light Nature Preserve, a legacy that will endure forever. "I am glad it is there," Marion says. "It will never be built on, just as George and I both wanted. It was a bean field, a hunting ground, and now simply a place to be enjoyed."

months. "Not nine years, but nine months," Bergman told the crowd, "Everything I'm seeing is for the first time."

Bergman explained he didn't host many community events initially because he's still researching the countless issues before him in order to give the best answers he can to the questions his constituents ask. "Give me a chance to get there and put my feet on the ground so I can give you a thoughtful answer," he said.

He noted he is planning to hold more community events this fall and that scheduling them in the past has sometimes been challenging for various reasons like unforeseen venue changes and cancellations due to weather.

Bergman's community engagement event was co-mediated by North Central Michigan College president Cameron Brunet-Koch and Northern Michigan Review president and publisher Doug Caldwell, both who had prepared questions to ask Bergman prior to the crowd taking the microphone.

Caldwell asked Bergman to explain where he stands on the safety concerns over the controversial Line 5 Enbridge fuel pipeline, which runs beneath the Straits of Mackinac.

Bergman took a no-nonsense stance on the issue: "If pipeline 5 is not safe, you shut it down," he said.

Knowing Bergman just returned from his first time as a Congressman attending the Michigan Republican Leadership Conference on Mackinac Island, Koch asked Bergman to share his thoughts on the current status of the Republican Party and whether it has been fractured by President Trump. "No. There's no fracture," Bergman said, adding, "We all believe in this country, the question is, where are we going to take it?"

Bergman then listened to comments and answered numerous questions from the overall well-behaved crowd about his takes on tax reform, the budget, human trafficking, gerrymandering, immigration, Asian carp and whether to repeal or replace the Affordable Care Act, an issue he said needs stronger study. "The point is, it's not working," he said of what's commonly called Obamacare.

He was also asked to consider the availability and affordability of health care services in rural parts of this 1st Congressional District he represents, a matter he agreed needs special tailoring to the region.

Bergman was also asked whether he supports the U.S. government paying for transgender surgery for those who serve in the military, to which he firmly replied no, because such surgery is considered elective. The procedure furthermore requires at least 18 month recovery time, he noted, meaning that individual would not be deployable during that time.

"That's like buying something for your business and then being told you can't use it for 18 months," Bergman said, "The U.S. Government should not spend one penny on elective surgery."

As for complaints about his accessibility, Bergman assured that he and his staff are always available to answer phone calls and emails from constituents and encouraged them to contact him at his offices in Traverse City, Marquette or Washington D.C., where he noted he sometimes even personally answers the phone. "Don't wait for us to come to you," Bergman said.

He laughed and noted the number one question people call to ask their Congressman is:

"Where's my government check?"

News Fall Leaf Pickup in Boyne City

City Wide - October 16 - November 10, Monday and Fridays only. The City will pick up leaves during the scheduled dates only. After the scheduled date, citizens will be responsible for their own leaves. Please set bagged leaves curbside any time after the first day of pickup, in biodegradable paper bags. City crews will pick up bags as time allows. If your bags have been out for an extended period of time and have not been collected, please notify City Hall at 582-6597. Biodegradable paper bags are available at Boyne City Ace Hardware and Boyne Co-op or can be purchased from any other source. Brush will not be picked up; however, residents may take their brush and leaves, either bagged in biodegradable bags or un-bagged, up to the North Boyne Compost Site at the end of Robinson Street, which is open seven days a week for your convenience. Commercial businesses may also utilize the compost area with their city issued permit. City Ordinance prohibits depositing leaves or other yard waste in the street.

Boyne Falls man arrested for growing marijuana on public property

Bv Michelle Medieskv

PETOSKEY - A Charlevoix County man has been arrested as a suspect in an illegal grow operation on public property in Emmet County in which some 30 marijuana plants and supplies were seized by Michigan State Police last week.

State police in Gaylord said they got a tip on Monday, September 25 from a witness who reported finding what appeared to be a marijuana growing operation along a hiking trail on public property in Emmet County's Bear Creek Township.

State Police Lt. Derrick Carroll said the witness was first alerted to the suspicious situation after he observed a man tending to plants along the trail and later discovered those plants were potted marijuana plants. The witness reported the grow operation to state police, who were able to locate the suspect, a 52 yearold man from Boyne Falls. Carroll said after interviewing the suspect and enacting search warrants, the man was arrested and taken to Emmet County Jail.

Carroll said the Gaylord state troopers seized 30 marijuana plants from the site along the hiking trail, thus far the most they have this year.

They also seized fertilizers, equipment and a vehicle suspected to have been used in the outdoor marijuana grow operation.

News Be a Flu Fighter! Get vaccinated at a flu clinic near you

Be a flu fighter—make an appointment for a flu vaccination! By taking this small precaution, you will protect loved ones, stop the spread of disease, and maybe even save a life. The Health Department of Northwest Michigan is offering immunization clinics throughout the region to help local communities prepare for this flu season.

Dr. Joshua Meyerson, Medical Director for the Health Department of Northwest Michigan, urges everyone six (6) months of age and older to get vaccinated for the seasonal flu.

"Influenza can be serious, and anyone can become sick with flu and experience serious complications," said Meyerson. "Even if you bounce back quickly, others around you might not be so lucky. If you don't get vaccinated, you could spread the virus to someone who is more vulnerable to flu. You could be spreading it without even knowing it, since not everyone who is infected gets symptoms. You don't want to be the one spreading flu to those you care about."

To make getting your flu shot easier, the Health Department is holding community clinics throughout the region during the month of October and into November. Children and adults can get any immunizations they need (except shingles) at these clinics, not just flu shots! Please call the Health Department at (800) 432-4121 to make an appointment to participate in any of the upcoming clinics. The community clinics are listed below. The Health Department will also host senior clinics at senior centers around the area. For a complete list of clinic times and locations, visit www.nwhealth.org.

- Charlevoix Elementary School, Oct. 3 - North Central Michigan College, Oct. 5 - East Jordan Elementary School, Oct. 23 - Boyne City Middle School, Nov. 9

Can't make it to one of the flu clinics? Don't worry! Immunization clinics are held regularly at the Health Department offices in Bellaire. Mancelona, Charlevoix, Petoskey/Harbor Springs, and Gaylord, or you can get your flu shot at your doctor's office. Employers can also invite a Health Department nurse to offer flu shots to their employees at work. Call (800) 432-4121 or go to www.nwhealth.org for more information. You have the power to fight flu this season. Protect yourself and the ones you love with a flu vaccine.

Former Congressman Bart Stupak to speak at meeting October 23

Bart Stupak, former U.S. Congressional Representative for Michigan's 1st District will appear at a book signing for his new book "For All Americans: The Dramatic Story behind the Stupak Amendment and the Historic Passage of Obamacare" at a meeting hosted by the Charlevoix County Democratic Party and Charlevoix group, Indivisible: Fighting for Democracy. The meeting will be on Monday October 23 from 5:30 to 7:30 pm in Community Rooms A and B of the Charlevoix Public Library at 220 West Clinton Street in Charlevoix. Light refreshments will be served.

After brief introductory remarks by Democratic Party County chair Kris Busk, Stupak will give a short presentation followed by questions from the audience. He will address the upcoming 2018 First District Congressional race and how to win back the seat. After taking questions about the First District Congressional campaign, he will talk about the Affordable Care Act debate and passage and then introduce his new book.

Stupak, an attorney and former Michigan state trooper and a nine-term Democratic congressman from Michigan's First District, brought two unshakable principles with him to Capitol Hill in 1992: a firm belief in the sanctity of life, and the conviction that health care was a right for all Americans and not a privilege for the fortunate few. Studies indicating that 45,000 Americans died needlessly every year for lack of access to health care, inspired Congressman Stupak's tireless efforts, often at great personal cost, to pass lifesaving legislation while remaining true to his right-to-life prin-Stupak states, "This book is not an autobiography. This book explains, in depth, the strategic, political, and moral issues surrounding final passage of the Affordable Care Act. Although the Affordable Care Act is commonly referred to as Obamacare, it is much more than one person, one president, one member of Congress, and much greater than the political and ideological groups that supported or opposed its passage." "My story accurately reflects how, in this great country, the leadership and dedication of a few individuals resulted in meaningful legislation for all Americans. In this book, I demonstrate how dedicated and committed public servants rose above bitterly divided political parties, powerful lobbyists, and fervent members of frenzied and extremely polarized activist groups."

Stupak describes his new book, "A fascinating story bringing the daily realities of Congress to life and the courage of a small group of legislators who put country over party in their mission to ensure that no more Americans died for lack of access to health care."

Books will be available for purchase and book signing after the meeting. A paperback copy is $20 and a hard cover book is $35. Buyers must pay with cash or check only.

Please RSVP by October 19 to assist in planning for seating and refreshments. To RSVP or for more information, email democrats.charlevoix@gmail .com or call (231) 753-8411.

Over twenty-seven years later, the result of that inspiration; Good Samaritan Family Services, continues following a mission statement of "servicing the Lord by reaching out to those in need," providing food and outreach programs to local families who could use a little help.

Petersen recalls, "When we began our mission, it was located in the old fire hall in town, we received support from local churches and it was ran by a small group of volunteers." At that time, about 30 families visited the facility each month. Today, approximately 700 families visit Good Samaritan's Food Pantry each
