Player of the Year
Mason Gardner

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY — Another season in the books, and another year of stellar basketball played in Northern Michigan, by teams as well as individuals.

While it may come as a surprise to many, those that call this area home, know that the talent competes at an extremely high level and this year is no different as seasoned veterans upped their game and players new to the varsity took huge steps towards becoming tomorrow's leaders.

While a few teams went through some rebuilding pains, there were others that continue to stay and compete at the top of their respective conferences, such as Ellsworth in the Northern Lakes and Boyne City in the Lake Michigan.

The Lancers were crowned co-champs of the NLC, while the Ramblers battled through injuries in the extremely tough LMC to finish second, it was once the MHSAA tournament started that Boyne City got healthy and put together only a run that their own players and coaches believed possible, advancing to the quarterfinals, capturing their fourth straight district title (first in Class B) and a regional crown along the way.

With the close of the season just a few short weeks ago, the Charlevoix County News has selected the top players from the area and is proud to announce the 2017-18 All-Area Boys Basketball "Dream Team".

Player of the Year honors go to Boyne City's, Mason Gardner. The talented senior continued his high level of play and unselfishness in leading the Ramblers this year. He stepped up his game as injuries mounted for the team and helped pull them through a tough part of the schedule, setting the tone for another unbelievable run in March.

Earning selections alongside Gardner in school alphabetical order: Dillon Sulak, Dylon Williams and Max Vondra, Boyne City; Josh Carlson and Danny Nesburg, Charlevoix; Keegan McDuffie, Jackson Raymond and Cooper Stevenson, East Jordan; and Cole Essenberg and Collin Ingalls, Ellsworth.

been good player but our team doesn't reach its potential without his leading by example," Boyne coach Nick Redman said. "He is one of best all around players in Northern Michigan, he deserves it. Gardner would take opponents off the dribble, dish to an open teammate for a good look at the hoop or go take it to the rack himself and finish with a high-flying slam or if you tried to take away the lane, he would drop in a long-range triple.

Mason finished the season with a 12.5 point per game average, 6.3 rebounds, 3.1 assists, 2.3 steals and one block per contest, while shooting 50 percent from the floor and 75 percent from the charity stripe.

"Out of my four years of playing at Boyne City High School, I have had several roll models to look up to. I wanted to be explosive like Ryan Carson, shoot like Derek Wills, and command the floor like Jay Redmen. I wanted to be as quick as Maceo Vromen, and a leader like Corey Redman. But above all I wanted to be unselfish just like my brother Dalton Gardner. The way the ball moved around from player to player was so unique when my brother played. The ball would touch everyone's hands before going in the basket," Mason said. "As I progressed in my years of playing this stuck with me throughout the whole way through. Especially with the team that I finished with my senior year. I didn't need to be the leading scorer, or the best three point shooter. All I had to do was keep the movement going. If I could get the ball to the other four guys on the court, it was a guarantee that we were going to score. It also leads up to the expression that I strongly believe in. "Basketball doesn't build character, it reveals it." It shows what kind of man you are in the real life. Are you someone that slacks off and only goes 50 percent, or are you someone that's going to grind through diversity's and give it the full 100 percent."

"In a my years here at Boyne I have gave nothing less then my best effort forward in any given situation. The thing that is so special about this year's team was that everyone believed it to. In every single playoff game we were the "underdogs" the "lucky ones". Everyone on that team knew that if everyone gave it there all we were going to win. We proved it in every single March game, and that is why this team was my favorite to be apart of. We had pride. We didn't care what your record is or what your best player can do. When it came down to it...we out worked all of those teams because we had pride.

Pride for ourselves and pride for each other. What I loved so much about this team was we played with a chip on our shoulder. We walked into a gym and the other team knew instantly that they had a fight on their hands. So out of all of my roll models that I have looked up to over the course of my time here at Boyne, nobody had the biggest influence on me than this years team. I believe that we were the toughest team ever to wear blue and white, and they will never be a team like that to come through ever again. I'm proud to be a Rambler, and I will be for the rest of my life."

(#10) Dylan Williams, Boyne City, senior

Williams stepped into a much larger role for the Ramblers this year. After playing travel ball in the off-season, the always talented big man, with defensive skills that coaches seek if they are on their team and try to steer clear of if they are the opponent.

Dillon finished the season with a six ppg average, while hauling in four rebounds per game and blocked nearly two shots per outing.

"Hard to go by just stats for Dylan," Boyne coach Nick Redman said. "He did so much by changing shots with his length defensively and getting the team going with his double-digit dunks."

Williams would have a few highlight reel flushes, including being on the receiving end of multiple alley-oop dunks, bringing "lob-city" to Rambler Country.

(#5) Dillon Sulak, Boyne City, junior

Sulak was another key factor for Boyne City, his athletic ability, overall quickness and long-range shooting made him a nightmare to defend. If opponents played him tight, he would blow by them and finish at the glass, and if given the slightest opening from beyond the arch, he would launch and connect from deep.

"Shu was our most improved player. He really stepped up and helped us win, especially when Eric (Carson) went down with an injury," coach Redman noted.

As the season progressed, you could often times count on Sulak to pick up his aggressiveness in the second half of any game, oftentimes taking over the third quarter singlehandedly and either bringing the Ramblers back from a deficit, or extending their lead.

Dillon would finish the season with a 9.2 ppg average, three rebounds, 1.5 steals and 1.4 assists per game, while shooting 36 percent from long range and 68 percent from the free throw line.

(#12) Max Vondra, Boyne City, sophomore

In just his second season on the Rambler varsity, the physically solid, never rattled multiple position sophomore cracked the starting line-up and deservedly so.

Vondra continues to have a gift for finding the open teammate, especially in transition and is not afraid to let the ball fly from three point land, where he caught fire late in the season and in continued throughout the tournament.

"Max is our "Draymond Green" do it all guy," coach Redman said. "Great passer, can shoot it, guard a bigger guy and rebounds well."

Max would score eight points per game for the Ramblers, grab six boards per contest, average nearly three assists and 1.5 steals per outing.

He was also credited earlier this season about his leadership ability by player of the year and teammate, Mason Gardner.

(#24) Josh Carlson, Charlevoix, senior

The 6'2" Rayder senior stepped up his game bigtime this season, playing at a high level in each contest he participated in.

When the team lost one of their top scorers to injury early in the year, Carlson jumped to the front of the line to help Charlevoix put the ball in the hoop.

Josh averaged 13.7 points per game, while grabbing rebounds at a 4.8 per game clip. He led the team in 14 of the 18 games he played in.

(#12) Danny Nesburg, Charlevoix, senior

One of the most improved players in Northern Michigan this past season. The feisty, hard-working guard, would leave it all on the floor each and every time he laced up his shoes for the Rayders.

"Played great defense and ran our point guard position," Charlevoix coach Matt Stuck said. "Great kid and teammate, who played hard for his team every game."

Danny would finish the season with a 6.7 ppg average, along with 3.5 rebounds, three assists and 2.5 steals per game.

(#23) Keegan McDuffie, East Jordan, senior

A guard/forward for the Red Devils this season, stepped back on the court for EJ and didn't miss a beat after sitting out last season.

"Keegan has played all five spots on the floor throughout the season and has been a calming influence on such a young team," coach Nate Dzwik said. "When we have been pressured he has done a nice job of helping out the guards and has consistently been put on the opponents best offensive player."

McDuffie finished the year with a 6.0 ppg average, 3.7 rebounds, one steal and nearly one assist per game.

(#5) Jackson Raymond, East Jordan, sophomore

Credited by coach Dzwik for his hard work in the off-season to improve his game after being called up to the varsity last year.

Another player that has seen time at all five positions for EJ and the second leading scorer on the team this past season.

"His length and athleticism have made him a presence on defense with rebounding and leading the team in blocked shots and keeps a lot of balls alive on the offensive glass," coach Dzwik noted. "He is a player that wants to stick around and shoot, lift or just be in the gym after practice to the point of the staff kicking him out so we can go home."

Raymond averaged 8.1 ppg, 3.9 rpg, 1.2 steals, 1.0 blocks and just under one assist per game for the Red Devils this year.

(#54) Cooper Stevenson, East Jordan, sophomore

One of the top players in the area this season. Cooper established himself as an extremely hard working post player, who, no matter the opponent will give his team everything he has.

Stevenson was a matchup problem for most teams this year due to his size, strength and quickness. His eight, double-doubles are nothing to be overlooked and his passing ability is very underrated.

"He is a great leader on the floor and in the locker room, who uses his example of hard work and constant effort," coach Dzwik noted. "He never stops playing hard and has been a bright spot."

Cooper would finish the season with a 13.3 ppg, 9.4 rpg, 1.2 assists, one steal and nearly one block per outing.

(#5) Cole Essenberg, Ellsworth, senior

Essenberg was once again a key member of the Northern Lakes Conference champions Lancers this season, continuing his role as the primary ball handler, setting up teammates as well as getting himself into the flow of the offense.

Essenberg finished the year scoring 8.1 points per game and dished out 4.5 assists per contest, handling ball pressure from opposing defenses and directing traffic on the court.

(#3) Collin Ingalls, Ellsworth, senior

Another of the top players in the area this past season, Collin paced Ellsworth with a 14.5 ppg average, while shooting 53 percent from the floor to lead the team. He also was tied for the team lead in rebounds per game with 6.5.

He had three big games this season, scoring 20,19 and 18 respectfully, while drawing double coverage. He would use his passing skills and to his advantage as multiple defenders ran at him to set up teammates for easy scores.

Collin accumulated 13 dunks this season, including a pair in a 10 point victory over Mancelona.

"There is something about a dunk that really gets the team going," coach Jarrod Steenwyk said.

The coach also recognized Collin's leadership this season as well.

COACH OF THE YEAR

Nick Redman, Boyne City

The coach of the year honors once again go to Rambler leader, Nick Redman. Coach Redman continues to help set a standard of excellence for Boyne and this season was no different despite moving up to Class B.

Playing in the Lake Michigan Conference, the Ramblers were tested night in and night out, competing at high levels throughout the year, as the team battled through the injury bug that had some of last seasons key contributors sidelined for the entire season and others that they lost and regained along the way.

Boyne would finish second in the LMC and once the tournament began, there was a feeling that the Ramblers could put something together and possibly make a run at a district title.

The Ramblers would indeed capture their first ever Class B district crown, and while they were at it, decided to add a regional championship and quarterfinal appearance to their resume as well.

The district title would be the schools fourth straight and sixth overall under coach Redman.

"As a coach, all you can hope for is your team has bought in, works hard and improves throughout the year to play their best when it matters most," Redman said. "They did that and were rewarded for it by winning championships they will always be remembered for."

Coach Redman also noted it takes a lot of work from a lot of people to have a successful season and issued a thank you to the administration, the community for their support, All of the Rambler coaches, and players who put in a lot of work.

"Great team effort by everyone," he added.

Boyne would finish 19-6 overall for the season, including a 10-4 record in the LMC.

The Charlevoix County News would like to thank East Jordan Public School for the use of their gymnasium for the photoshoot and Athletic Director, Phyllis Olszewski for her help with the scheduling and would also like to congratulate the members of the 2017-18 All-Area Boys Basketball "Dream Team."

ALUMNI NEWS

Charlevoix alumni, Zach Hankins leads Ferris State to Division II National Championship

SIOUX FALLS, SOUTH DAKOTA — Former Rayder and current Ferris State men's basketball player, Zach Hankins played a big part for the Bulldogs over the past weekend as FSU edged Northern State 71-69 to win the Division II National Championship.

The contest was tight from the opening tip through the final horn, as the two teams went toe-to-toe with the Bulldogs leading the Wolves 39-37 at the half.

Once the second half got underway, it was pretty evident that neither squad would outdue the other, playing to a 32-32 stalemate over the final 20 minutes of regulation with the Wolves missing a game-winning triple as time expired, giving FSU their first D-II National title.

Hankins would finish with 19 points to lead Ferris State, while Carter Evans had 20 points for the Wolves.

With the win, the Bulldogs tied a D-II record with their 38th win of the season, FSU is also the first school from Michigan to win a DII basketball title, including their final 26 games of the season.

The 6-foot-10 forward was named the National Association of Basketball Coaches Player of the Year, averaging a team-high 15.1 points, 9.7 rebounds and 3.3 blocks per contest, while picking up 20 double-doubles. Hankins was also recognized as the GLIAC Player of the Year and All-American honors for the second straight year.

Beautifully remodeled home on South Arm of Lake Charlevoix

BY JIM AKANS

This week's feature listing is a beautifully remodeled home with approximately 83 feet of frontage and the South Arm of gorgeous Lake Charlevoix.

This five bedroom, three bath home has approximately 2,300 square feet of nicely appointed living space. The design is open, perfect for entertaining, and the interior offers fantastic lake views. A remodel in 2012 included an addition that included bedrooms, full baths and an attached two and a half car garage. Take confidence during spring storm season as the home has a Kohler whole house back up generator system.

Outdoors the South Arm of Lake Charlevoix beckons just a few steps away from the home. A new stone retaining wall has been installed in the past year. There is plenty of storage space in the garage for beach toys. This one-third acre property is close to the Mertz Road boat launch and the DNR Boat Launch at Dutchman's Bay is right across the lake.

What a fantastic value and lifestyle. This beautifully remodeled home on the South Arm of Lake Charlevoix is located at 1050 Ninebark Lane, between East Jordan and Charlevoix, just north of Elm Pointe. It is listed at $597,000.
