New ORV license registration due April 1

Off-road engines are being revved up across the state as Michigan's transition to spring ORV riding is near. New-year licenses and permits went on sale March 1. The 2018 permits expire in just a few days, March 31.

An ORV license costs $26.25 and is required to ride eligible county roads, state forest roads open to ORV use and eligible national forest roads. A license is not needed to operate on private lands; however, an ORV trail permit is required to ride on state-designated ORV trails/routes and special ORV-use areas.

An ORV trail permit costs an additional $10 and is required when operating on designated ORV trails/routes and special ORV-use areas. A trail permit is not needed for private lands.

Jessica Holley, a statewide analyst for the DNR's Motorized Trails Program, said that as the spring thaw and warmer temps arrive, responsible trail stewardship is very important, especially in wet conditions.

"If a trail is too wet or too muddy, riders should find another spot to ride or wait a day," Holley said. "If everyone works together to make smart choices that protect our trails, they'll be there longer and be safer for all off-road vehicle riders."

ORV licenses and trail permits can be purchased online at MDNR-eLicense.com. Looking ahead, off-roaders are encouraged to enjoy two upcoming Free ORV Weekends – June 8-9 and Aug. 17-18 – when residents and out-of-state visitors can ride nearly 3,700 miles of DNR-designated routes and trails without an ORV license or permit.

New boat laws address aquatic invasive species

With new laws that took effect March 21, watercraft users in Michigan are required to take steps to prevent the spread of aquatic invasive species. These steps include cleaning, draining and drying boats and equipment as well as disposing of unwanted bait in the trash. (courtesy of DNR)

With new laws that took effect March 21, watercraft users in Michigan are required to take steps to prevent the spread of aquatic invasive species. Also, anyone fishing with live or cut bait or practicing catch-and-release fishing will need to take precautions to limit the movement of invasive species and fish diseases.

Here are some simple rules of thumb to help boaters and anglers navigate these laws:

CLEAN boats, trailers and equipment.

DRAIN live wells, bilges and all water – pull the plug!

DRY boats and equipment.

DISPOSE of unwanted bait in the trash.

The DNR also reminds anglers, when practicing catch-and-release fishing, to return the fish to the water where it was caught.

For more information on the new boating and fishing laws, visit the Laws section at Michigan.gov/Invasives or read the full, original news release.
