ARTICLE WRITTEN BY VICTORIA PROODAY

There is a silent tragedy that is unfolding today in our homes, and concerns our most precious iewels: our children. Our children are in a devastating emotional state! In the last 15 vears, researchers have given us increasingly alarming statistics on a sharp and steady increase in childhood mental illness that is now reaching epidemic propor-

STATISTICS DO NOT LIE:

- 1 in 5 children have mental health problems
- A 43% increase in ADHD
- has been noted · A 37% increase in adoles-
- cent depression has been
- There has been a 200% increase in the suicide rate in children aged 10 to 14

What is happening and what are we doing wrong?

Today's children are being over-stimulated and overgifted with material objects, but they are deprived of the fundamentals of a healthy childhood, such as:

- Emotionally available parents
 - Clearly defined limits
- Responsibilities · Balanced nutrition and adequate sleep
- · Movement in general but especially OUTDOORS · Creative play, social interaction, unstructured game opportunities and
- boredom spaces Instead, in recent years. children have been filled
- · Digitally distracted par-
- · Indulgent and permissive parents who let children "rule the world" and whoever sets the rules

A Silent Tragedy

- · A sense of right, of deserving everything without earning it or being responsible for obtaining it
- Inadequate
- balanced nutrition • A sedentary lifestyle
- Endless stimulation, technological nannies, instant gratification and absence of boring moments

WHAT TO DO?

If we want our children to be happy and healthy individuals, we have to wake up and get back to basics. It is still possible! Many families see immediate improvements after weeks of implementing the following recommendations:

 Set limits and remember that you are the captain of the ship. Your children will feel more confident knowing that you have control of the

- · Offer children a balanced lifestyle full of what children NEED, not just what they WANT. Don't be afraid to say "no" to your children if what they want is not what they need.
- · Provide nutritious food and limit junk food.
- · Spend at least one hour a day outdoors doing activities such as: cycling, walking, fishing, bird / insect watch-
- · Enjoy a daily family dinner without smartphones or distracting technology.
- · Play board games as a family or if children are very small for board games, get carried away by their interests and allow them to rule in the game
- Involve your children in some homework or household chores according to their age (folding clothes, ordering toys, hanging clothes, unpacking food, setting the table, feeding the dog etc.)

- Implement a consistent sleep routine to ensure your child gets enough sleep. The schedules will be even more important for school-age children.
- Teach responsibility and independence. Do not overprotect them against all frustration or mistakes. Misunderstanding will help them build resilience and learn to overcome life's challenges,
- · Do not carry your children's backpack, do not carry their backpacks, do not carry the homework they forgot, do not peel bananas or peel oranges if they can do it on their own (4-5 years). Instead of giving them the fish, teach them to
- · Teach them to wait and delay gratification.
- · Provide opportunities for "boredom", since boredom is the moment when creativity awakens. Do not feel responsible for always keeping children entertained.
- Do not use technology as a cure for boredom, nor offer it at the first second of inactivity.
- Avoid using technology during meals, in cars, restaurants, shopping centers. Use these moments as opportunities to socialize by training the brains to know how to work when they are in mode: "boredom"
- Help them create a "bottle of boredom" with activity ideas for when they are bored. · Be emotionally available
- to connect with children and teach them self-regulation and social skills:

- Turn off the phones at night when children have to go to bed to avoid digital distraction.
- Become a regulator or emotional trainer for your children Teach them ognize and manage their own frustrations and anger.
- Teach them to greet, to take turns, to share without running out of anything, to say thank you and please, to acknowledge the error and apologize (do not force them), be a model of all those values you instill.
- Connect emotionally smile, hug, kiss, tickle, read, dance, jump, play or crawl with them.

My oldest son is a director of youth ministries working with junior high and high school age young people. He has shared with me some of the serious things that young people face today. Of course he didn't share details but some of the ways young people deal with the difficult times in their lives is heart breaking. Our responsibility as parents and adult community members is to love young people, listen to them and guide them on how to react to difficulties they will face in everyday life. We have the responsibility to raise our children to be responsible and caring adults.

Local Farmers Markets celebrate resiliency during National Farmers Market Week Aug. 1-7

Markets across the state and country - and locally in northern Michigan - are celebrating National Farmers Market Week from Aug. 1-7 to mark their resiliency to continue to serve their communities during trying times. As part of that resiliency, the Health Department of Northwest Michigan has launched a Market Champion program to promote the use of SNAP and Bridge cards at local markets as well as demonstrate healthy recipes from fresh foods found at local markets.

During a global pandemic, farmers markets - like other small businesses - had to be innovative to continue operations for the farmers and communities that depend on them. Market managers have been at the forefront of adapting rapid solutions and innovating to protect staff. customers and the community. When conventional food supply chains failed at the start of the pandemic, farmers markets and local food systems clearly displayed the resiliency of short supply chains and interest in local foods spiked nationwide.

Michigan markets adapted to keep customers safe, with more than 250 market managers, volunteers, vendors, and others participating in COVID-19 town hall webinars hosted by the Michigan Farmers Market Association (MIFMA). The town halls were just one example of the ways MIFMA staff helped markets respond to the pandemic and keep shoppers and vendors safe, totaling more than 550 hours of COVID response staff time invested. Now, farmers markets are honoring another year of building resilience in their communities and bringing people together.

National Farmers Market Week is an annual celebration of farmers markets recognized by the Farmers Market Coalition, with Michigan efforts supported by MIFMA. This year, National Lynne DeMoor, Community Health Coordinator/Nutritionist and Market Champion, speaks to Wendy Viles of Petoskey (left) and Michelle Ford of Central Lake about tips and recipes to promote the purchase of produce at the Downtown Petoskey Farmers Market.

Farmers Market Week celebrations focus on the essential role farmers markets play in our local food systems and in developing local resilience in communities as hubs for connection.

"2020 was not an easy year, but we know farmers, market managers, and MIFMA staff and board members are no strangers to hard work and overcoming challenges," said Amanda Shreve, executive director of MIFMA. "As we celebrate 2021's National Farmers Market Week, we've already seen the strength, resiliency and hope we share as a farmer's market community, and know our markets will continue to positively impact their communities long beyond this week."

In Michigan, nearly 240 farmers markets serve their communities by increasing food access, often in areas where grocery options are scarce, and by supporting small businesses. In 2020 alone, 152 markets accepted SNAP Bridge and P-EBT Cards including 25 new sites, generating more than $1 million annually in farm revenue and creating access to nutritious fruits and vegetables for Michigan's most vulnerable families.

The Health Department of Northwest Michigan is mandated by the Michigan Public Health Code to promote wellness, prevent disease, provide quality healthcare, address health problems of vulnerable populations, and protect the environment for the residents and visitors of Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet, and Otsego counties. For more information, visit nwhealth.org.

The Health Department of Northwest Michigan partners with five markets within our health department jurisdiction who participate with SNAP & Double Up Food Bucks. These markets include the Boyne City Farmers Market, the Charlevoix Farmers Market, the Downtown Petoskey Farmers Market, the Mancelona Farmers Market, and the Downtown Gaylord Farmers Market. Each of these markets also accepts WIC Project Fresh and Senior Project Fresh, which provide produce vouchers for qualifying young families and seniors to spend at the markets.

SNAP (Supplemental Nutrition Access Program) also known as EBT or Bridge Cards in Michigan allow food assistance participants to shop at participating farmers markets. Many markets also participate with Double Up Food Bucks, which allows SNAP and P-EBT shoppers to double their SNAP dollars up to $50 to be spent on vegetables, fruits, herbs, and plants that produce food.

"Farmers Markets can support access to fresh, local, healthy food for families who may not otherwise be able to afford it. Farmers directly benefit from the sales of their products, which keeps those dollars local, so it is a winwin-win," said Lynne De-Moor, MS, RDN, Community Health Coordinator and Nutritionist with the Health Department of Northwest Michigan.

DeMoor and two colleagues serve as Market Champions, providing recipes, tips, ideas, and food demonstrations at five local markets Look for health department Market Champions at your local farmers market to learn more. U. S. MILITARY VETERAN OF THE MONTH

THE VETERAN OF THE MONTH OF AUGUST 2021 IS CALVIN COOLIDGE DEM-

Born May 30, 1925 in the sman iumber town of Hai lock, Elmira Township, Otsego County Michigan to parents Silas Solomon and Maude Webster Deming. He grew up in the Boyne City area attending Boyne area schools. Three days before his 18th birthday, Cal quit school and on May 27, 1943 he enlisted into the United States Marine Corp. After completing basic training he was trained as a Artillery Cannoneer, and also qualified with the basic small arms and machine gun. He then was assigned to the 3rd Marine Division. Leaving the United States on the Italian liner Rochambeau, which was converted to a troop ship, they sailed to the Pacific Theater of Operations, arriving in New Caledonia after a 23 day crossing. He would see combat in New Caledonia; Guadalcanal; and the Fiji Islands.

After his return back to the States, Cal was mustered out of active duty service on July 18, 1944, and given an Honorable Discharge. Returning back to Boyne City he finished his schooling, and graduated from Boyne City High School in the class of 1945. Wanting to join the Michigan State Police, Cal tested high on the exam, only to find out he was 2 inches short of the minimum height. He then joined the Merchant Marine Service. and sailed the Pacific and Great Lakes with the Browning Steamship Company until 1954, working his way up to 1st mate. He left the Merchant Marine Service, and became 1st mate on the Detroit to Bob-Lo Island boat Ste. Claire from 1954 to 1962. On September 10, 1955 at the Boyne City United Methodist Church, he married Helen Schmidt, and returned in 1962 to make their permanent in Boyne City. Cal worked for Memcor (Honeywell) in Boyne City as a machinist-tool and die maker, and retired in 1988 after 25 years of service to the com-

Cal loved to hunt and fish, and after his retirement he took up the hobby of making fishing lures, spuds, and ice fishing spears, of which many still have possession of his fine crafts today. Cal was a very patriotic veteran, always flying the American Flag at his home. His dedication to his family and community will always be remembered by those who knew him. On March 25, 2021 Calvin Coolidge Deming answered the final call and is being honored by his wife Helen, and Children.

(Does my mom need longterm care insurance?)

Dear Dave,

My dad passed away about a year ago, but he left my mom in really good shape financially. They never had any consumer debt, the house is paid for, and they had about $1 million in assets. Dad also left her a $500,000 trust. Mom is going to be 60 next year. She is in good health, but considering her age and financial situation, do you think she needs long-term care insurance? Darby

Dear Darby,

I'm so sorry to hear about your dad. Losing a spouse, or a father, is tough at any age. The good news is your dad did a great job of planning to take care of your mom. He left her in fine shape moneywise, but yes, she needs long term care insurance and a good estate planner. You need to help your mom do everything possible to handle her situation wisely. I usually suggest folks wait until age 60 to buy long-term care insurance, because the likelihood of filing a claim before then is very slim. In fact, about 95% of long-term care claims are filed for people over 70. That's why, in most cases, it doesn't make sense to get long-term care insurance earlier than age

Insurance isn't a one-sizefits-all kind of thing, though. If someone has a family history of illness or other health issues at a younger age, they may need to get long-term care insurance earlier. But you shouldn't buy long-term care coverage at a young age just because you're paranoid of what might happen, or because you think you'll save money. That's just not true.

In the event your mom becomes unable to take care of herself at some point, longterm care insurance would be an absolute necessity. The cost of nursing home care these days is astronomical. get married. The two of you Again, your mom is in a great place financially, but a prolonged stay in a nursing home somewhere down the road could eat up her nest egg in a hurry.

Long-term care insurance is a wise part of any good asset management plan.

—Dave

Dear Dave, My fiancée and I want to make an offer on a house. She has a lot of late payments and a bad credit record, though, but she is working hard to manage her money better and get out of debt. I don't make enough money to get a home loan by myself, and I have some debt to pay off, too. In order to help us out, my aunt and uncle said they are willing to co-sign a mortgage loan for us. What do you think of that idea?

Evan

Dear Evan,

Here's a simple, solid piece of advice for anyone looking to make a purchase of any kind. If you need a co-signer, you're not ready to make that purchase—period. I'm not trying to beat you up or anything, but it's way too soon for you two to be thinking about buying a home. I mean, for starters you're just engaged right now.

When a lender requires a co-signer, it basically means they don't believe you'll pay back the money. And besides, you two don't need a house now or right after you should get married, and live in a decent, inexpensive apartment for a while. During that time, you both need to work hard on paying off all your debt. After that, save up an emergency fund of three to six months of expenses. Then, start setting aside cash for a down payment on a modest home.

When it comes time to buy a home, I recommend a 15year, fixed rate loan with a down payment of at least 10%. Twenty percent is better, because it will help you avoid having to pay PMI (private mortgage insurance). Make sure the monthly payments on the loan are no more than 25% of your combined take home pay. Keeping the payments at 25% or below will make it easier to address other important financial issues, like saving and investing.

Your aunt and uncle are obviously generous people, Evan, but they're a little misguided in their offer. At this point, helping you two buy a house-something you obviously can't afford-would be a huge burden instead of a blessing.

—Dave

Texas man lost his toaster in Charlevoix

A Texas man, Rob MacGregor, takes his toaster with him on trips and takes pictures of the toaster in trip locations. While he was in Charlevoix last month he left his toaster in a bag by the bridge and left without it.

I know this is going to sound random, but has anybody seen my toaster? I stopped the other day and watched the drawbridge go up, and I am pretty sure I left a canvas bag with the shell of a toaster inside it. This is of no value to anyone except for me, so my hope is that it has ended up at the lost and found or just confused someone who saw it. I have taken pictures of this toaster for the past 26 years. It has traveled the world with me. I know it's a bit weird, but it really means a lot to me and my family. If you have seen it or know someone who might be picking up random bags at the park opposite the Weathervane, please let me know.

UPDATE: the police department have it and are shipping it to my home back in Texas! Thanks to everyone for your help, kind words, and time. Charlevoix and its police will forever have a special place in my heart. I will post a pic when we are reunited.

The Charlevoix Police Department has enjoyed hosting the toaster and they have even taken pictures with the toaster to add to MacGregor's collection!

Rob MacGregor shared the story of his lost toaster on Facebook. He had a number of great comments from Charlevoix locals, including one man who mentioned that he had seen a police officer collecting the bag so MacGregor knew what had happened to his toaster. Here is one comment that caught my eye - I love your post and thank you so much for sharing! Can I just say, this is THE VERY FIRST POST IVE SEEN THAT NO ONE WAS RUDE OR SNARKY IN!!! Congrats on both getting your toaster and posting a post that has NO NEGATIVE REMARKS!!

What to do when walleyes pick up

Many think of walleye as a benthic, or bottom, species. While this is true at times, this species will come a long way up in the water column to hit your presentation. More so, they will often suspend in the water column based on forage.

If the mayfly hatch has begun, expect to find these fish anywhere from five to 15 feet off the bottom, focusing your crankbaits or crawler harnesses in that region, instead of along the bottom. You might be surprised how well you can do.

DNR conservation spotlight on wood ducks

With their exquisite, bright coloration, male wood ducks are considered one of the most beautiful birds in the world. In fact, their scientific name, Aix sponsa, is Latin for "promised bride," alluding to how the drakes look dressed to attend a wedding.

Wood ducks are mediumsized ducks that frequent wooded ponds, streams and marshes. Both hens and drakes have colorful blue, maroon and silver-accented wings. The hens are much more plainly colored, with grey-brown upperparts, mottled brown and white breasts, white bellies and a white, teardrop-shaped eye patch.

Wood duck pairs nest in tree cavities that are 15-30 feet above the ground or in man-made nest boxes. The hens lay nine to 14 eggs at a time. Wood duck hens sometimes lay their eggs in the nests of other wood duck hens. This leaves one hen with more than her share of ducklings to raise. Nests have been documented with up to 40 eggs in them!

The wood ducks are medium-sized ducks that frequent wood ponds, streams and marshes. Today, their population is thriving in Michigan. (courtesy of DNR)

Only a few days after hatching, young wood ducks are ready to leave the nest. The mother flies to the ground and then calls to her youngsters to encourage them. The young then jump the long distance from the tree cavity to the ground. The fluffy, downy chicks bounce when they land and toddle off after their mothers without a scratch.

Young wood ducks eat invertebrates and fish but switch to a more plant-based diet in adulthood. Adult wood ducks eat aquatic vegetation and fruits and nuts they find on the forest floor. Acorns are a particular favorite.

In Michigan, wood ducks were common prior to European settlement. They rapidly decreased in number during the late 1800s due to unregulated hunting, deforestation and loss of wetland habitat. This species was believed to be in imminent danger of extinction in the late 1800s and early 1900s.

Because of the dramatic decline of wood duck populations, wood duck hunting was banned in 1915. This national hunting prohibition was lifted in 1941, and states were allowed to have limited, regulated hunting seasons. Michigan opened wood duck hunting seasons in 1944, with a bag limit of one duck. Development of artificial nest boxes in the 1930s further helped wood ducks reoccupy their former range.

Today, wood duck populations are thriving. The birds are banded each year in Michigan to help monitor their populations, and extensive wetland and forest habitat work helps to ensure these beautiful ducks have proper nesting and feeding habitat.

This Wildlife Conservation Month, you can help wood ducks by erecting wood duck boxes in your wooded wetlands. Ducks Unlimited has a box plan that's easy to follow and installing one will help the wood ducks that live near you.

Uncovering the secret travels of muskie

Muskellunge, a prized sportfish, are known as the fish of a thousand casts because of the difficulty many anglers have in catching them. Their movements and behaviors are shrouded in mystery, but a multiagency team of researchers is using state-of-the-art technology to reveal patterns of muskie movements in the Great Lakes.

Scientists from the Michigan DNR, Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources and Forestry, Ohio DNR and United States Geological Survey began tagging muskies in the Detroit River in 2016, with subsequent batches of fish tagged in the Canadian and American waters of Lake St. Clair.

Muskies primarily were captured by local fishing group partners who caught the fish before tagging. Each fish was surgically im-

veal patterns of muskellunge. (courtesy of DNR)

planted with an acoustic transmitter that emits coded pings unique to each fish and has a battery life of at least seven years. These signals can be detected by a network of listening stations throughout the Great Lakes as part of the Great Lakes Acoustic Telemetry Observation System.

Detections revealed broad movements of fish from Lake St. Clair into the Detroit River and even Lake Erie. One fish, nicknamed James because of his tag number 007, amazingly traveled from his original tagging location in the Detroit River all the way to Buffalo, New York, during the summer of 2016. By January 2017, James was back in the Michigan waters of Lake Erie, and in May 2017 was only a few hundred yards from where he had been captured the year before – a stealthy round trip of at least 620 miles! Remarkably, James repeated this movement in following years and is still providing scientists with data on his movements.

Tagging and tracking of muskies is ongoing, with researchers hoping to use fish movement patterns to identify unique groups of fish, which can inform overall estimates of population size and provide vital information to fisheries managers.

Due to Delta variant, CDC updates recommendations regarding testing and masking

Due to the rising number of COVID-19 cases – largely due to the Delta variant – the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) has changed its mask wearing and testing recommendations. The CDC now recommends:

• Anyone who is exposed as close contact, regardless of vaccination status, be tested 3-5 days after exposure.

• All students and adults in K-12 schools wear a mask indoors, regardless of vaccination status.

• All people in areas where transmission levels are substantial or high wear a mask when indoors, regardless of vaccination status.

To locate testing information visit the Michigan COVID-19 Test Finder website, or call the health department at 800-432-4121.

"Unfortunately, the Delta variant is spreading across the country, and health departments are seeing more COVID-19 cases being reported, which corresponds to increased positivity and case rates across our region and the state," said Lisa Peacock, Health Officer with the Health Department of Northwest Michigan. "Although our four counties are currently at a 'moderate' level of transmission, some other counties in northern Michigan are already in the 'substantial transmission' level. Because the Delta variant is increasing in prevalence across the country and is more transmissible the CDC has recommended dialing up preventative measures," she said.

Peacock added that hospitals are reporting increasing admissions locally and are also urging people to be cautious. Although the most hospitalized patients with COVID-19 are unvaccinated. some vaccinated individuals are also affected, especially those most at risk such as the elderly and immune compromised. "Vaccination continues to be our most powerful tool in this fight – without higher vaccination rates, the virus is still circulating and becoming more transmissible. We urge anyone who has not yet been vaccinated to seek one of the many local opportunities as soon as possible to avoid further increase in transmission levels and associated disruption. Anyone with potential COVID symptoms or exposure should consider getting tested right away to minimize any potential spread," Peacock said.

Average daily cases reported to the health department are increasing at a faster rate than in previous weeks. Some of the differences between June 2021 and July 2021 cases reported in Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet and Otsego counties include:

and Otsego counties include:
 • 50 total cases (confirmed and probable) reported in June, compared to 86 cases from July 1-29 - a 72% in-

• Those age 20-29 made up 18% of the cases reported through today, July 29.

The commission said they would review Nemecek's request. The commission said the city manager would respond to the Rivermouth bathroom issue in his report. The first agenda item to approve was the recommendation of Planning Director Scott McPherson to approve the street vacation for a 16.5 feet of the 82.5 feet right-ofway. The vacation will occur at South East Street between R and Main Streets. There were no issues or concerns by the City Staff and Planning Commission had no issues and had approved the recommendation. The Commission would follow suit and pass the recommendation

The second agenda item was for a contract with All Aspect Forestry to remove trees and trim trees as well. The City has had a contract with All Aspect Forestry for the last seven years. The contract will not exceed $25,000 and has been the same price for the last three years. The motion would be approved. However, there would be quite a bit of public input. Pritchard would question why the job was not being bid out and if the award had already been made. Then Root asked what amount the City requires a bid. Malpass would then ask what is the City's bidding process. City Commissioner Conklin would ask how much of the money is allocated for tree planting and asked about the process of tree removal. City Commissioner Solomon has inquired about the process of determining removal of trees in Veterans Park.

The next agenda item was to approve the contract with Northern Tool and Equipment for the purchase of a power screed unit including 6' and 12 screed board in the amount not to-exceed $3.219. including shipping. When the City Public Works Department replaces and pour new concrete pads and pathways, most use a power screed unit. The City has been renting them from Taylor Rental in Petoskey, but to save time and money, after research, it was more efficient to just buy one. The motion would be approved.

The Commission would then approve the recommendation to purchase a dump body, scraper and attachments for the new Single Axle - Heavy Duty Plow truck. The purchase would be through Truck and Trailer Specialties of Boyne Falls. The truck to be provided under the State of Michigan MI-DEAL contract in an amount not-to-exceed $38,700 per bid proposal. Pritchard would mention that she did not find anvthing on the MI-DEAL for Truck and Trailer Special-

The Commission would then approve the purchase of five Lenovo desktop workstations from Marcor Technologies in the amount no-to-exceed $3,800. The front desk desktop at City Hall, the Deputy Treasurer's desktop, two desktops at the Water and Wastewater and a desktop for the EMS department are all in need of replacement. The current computers were bought between 2006 until 2014.

The final agenda item would be a huge issue during the meeting. There was a recommendation from Mayor Tom Neidhamer and Commissioner Conklin to approve a 5% increase in pay for City Manager Michael Cain, retroactive to May 1, 2021. Cain requested an increase in pay after not getting one last year because of COVID-19. The City Manager does have a contract and Mayor Neidhamer said there are 47 different categories to go through for an evaluation about an increase in pay. The Commission would approve the increase in pay for the City Manager. A couple City Commissioners would voice their opinions. First, Commissioner Solomon believes Cain is a consistent performer and is what the City needs to continue to be successful. Commissioner Conklin mentioned he has had trouble with Cain in the past, but feels like he has done a fine job. Then Mayor Neidhamer mentioned that Cain has been with the City for 18 years and brings knowledge and experience. While having 35 employees and 80 volunteers to oversee. The public would have a very different voice and opinion on the topic. It would start with Nemecek asking why the pay is retroactive to May and if the increase was in the budget. Root expressed his disappointment that it was a supposed 47 things to be evaluated on and only three were mentioned. Root asked if this issue could be tabled until a seven o'clock meeting so they could get more people's input. The request was denied. Malpass Young would express that she does not feel the City Manager should be getting a pay increase. Gayle Henderson would agree with Malpass Young and feel it is not necessary. Pritchard said she believes COVID-19 is a shield and there should be no guarantees about a raise. Ron Crozier would mention that it is taxpayer's money that is being given to Cain after the Commission would not move the issue to a better time for more public input. Moody would also agree that Cain should get a raise, states that they should give him $6,000 that is being used for short term rentals or do 2.5%. Nemecek would then inquire if the City Manager contract had a cap on the wage amount and if there is a guaranteed raise amount. Then Jane Hawkins mentioned that the public should know the amount of the City Managers salary.

The next City Commission meeting will be on Tuesday,

Aug 10, 2021 at 7 o'clock.

Why Isn't My Home Selling?

PART 3 OF 3

Here are some of the most common reasons buyers are turned off by a particular house, so make sure these are addressed before lopping thousands of dollars off the asking price:

Put on a good show
This is the second biggest reason a home isn't selling.

Buyers often talk of "connecting" to a house. This is not likely to happen if your house is not company-coming-over clean and ready to show like a model. This goes for the outside as well. If you don't want to put the effort into doing this, then you'd better adjust your price to compensate because buyers will only consider your house because it's a good deal, not because it "speaks to them."

Can't buy what they can't

If you make it difficult for people to see your property, then chances of a sale at the price you want drops considerably. Selling can be a nuisance, but it's a necessary one. If you don't allow a lock-box or require appointmentonly showings, you are the culprit to the house not selling.

Out of your hands It's not always the seller's fit's not always the seller's fault that a house isn't selling. Sometimes the market changes and buyers disappear. Maybe a new home development has opened nearby and they are "stealing" the customers. Or maybe you've received bad advice from your agent. Any of these can affect whether your house sells, which means you need to consider the reasons and make the necessary adjustments.

ADVICE FROM GOD

So that there should be no division in the body, but that its parts should have equal concern for each other. If one part suffers, every part suffers with it; if one part is honored, every part rejoices with it. Now you are the body of Christ, and each one of you is a part of it. __1 Corinthians_ _12:25-27_ _NIV_

LOCALLY OWNED, LOCALLY OPERATED LOCAL NEWS, LOCAL SPORTS

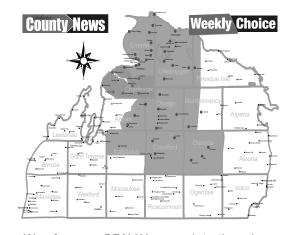

The Weekly Choice and Charlevoix County News are locally owned newspapers

We are independently owned newspapers based in Gaylord, Michigan

Dave Baragrey and the staff of news writers, sports writers, photographers, graphic designers, delivery people and sales people all live and work here and care about our local communities we serve.

We hear from readers every week how much they appreciate all the local coverage. We appreciate all the positive response from both readers and advertisers to our newspapers that we hear so frequently.

So many newspapers in the area have dropped 30% and as much as 50% in circulation over the past year. Our newspaper distribution has remained steady and in many towns has grown in circulation.

We of course REALLY appreciate the advertisers. That is our primary source of revenue that allows us to publish our popular newspapers every week covering all over Northern Michigan.

If you are an advertiser that has become disappointed with the results of your newspaper advertising that is costing you way too much while reaching way fewer readers, you should try our newspapers. You will likely pay less money for far more circulation and reach readers in a much larger area.

The Weekly Choice is distributed free every Thursday at almost 600 locations around Northern Michigan.

The Charlevoix County News is distributed every Thursday in Boyne City, Boyne Falls, Charlevoix, East Jordan and Ellsworth to subscribers and on newsstands and wherever newspapers are sold. Cost is still just 75 cents (not $1.25 or $2.00).

If you want to reach more consumers with your advertising and pay less money for advertising, give Dave Baragrey a call or email. You can even stop into our office (we still have our office open).

REAL ESTATE FEATURE

Updated home in great Boyne City location

BY JIM AKANS

Located close to Harborage Marina, City Beach and Avalanche on a beautiful lot, this meticulously updated home is a wonderful Boyne City gem.

This three bedroom, two bath home has approximately 1,240 square feet on the main two floors plus a full basement. Interior highlights include an open floor plan, wood floors, spacious kitchen and large main floor utility room. The interior finishes and lighting are superb, creating a home that is ready and waiting to move into. The full basement offers lots of room for storage, and a detached three-car garage provides room for vehicles, lawn gear, work space and more.

The location is also a winner. Situated on a quiet street yet just two blocks from Avalanche, five blocks from Harborage Marina and City Beach and close to shopping, dining and entertainment in downtown Boyne City. Don't miss this one!

This wonderful two story home in a great location is at 918 West Street in Boyne City, and it is listed at $279,900. For more information or to arrange a home tour, call Marty Moody, Associate Broker or Christopher Christensen, Associate Broker, at Lynda's Real Estate Service in Boyne City at 231-582-9555 or email at Marty@lyndasrealestateservice.com or Chris@lyndasrealestateservice.com
