A new Glen's Market will be built on East Jordan's west side this fall. Owner Glen Catt, Sr., says there is no room for expansion in the present location on Mill Street.

Little opposition to Glen's

EAST JORDAN - The new Glen's Market store and possible shopping center that is to begin construction early this fall is being viewed as a "shot in the arm" for East Jordan by many residents.

The city council approved a rezoning request made by Glenn Catt, Sr., owner of the Glen's Market stores, to build a 20,000 square foot store and 200 car parking lot on 16 acres of land off M-66 highway near Gulf & Western. Catt Realty purchased 14 acres of land from Mary Evan and right-of-way from Duane Bixbee, who owns a house and a little land on M-66.

Business owners near the proposed site of the Glen's store attended last week's public hearing on the rezoning request to go on record as approving the request.

"In my estimation it will be an improvement," Wagon Wheel Restaurant owner Ray Barriault says. "Traffic in the present location is too congested and it's a bad situation. A new area with a bigger servicing area will be good. It will be an improvement in servicing the community as a whole."

Ralph VanTielen, chairman of the Planning Commission says they recommended the council approve the request mainly because the additional retail service is part of the master plan for that area, and therefore falls in line with what needs to be done.

Since the plan that Catt Realty has for that area includes potential additional retail outlets, Van Tielen says he assumes there would be an opportunity for more growth. "I think it will be a spurt of growth for that area," he says. "It will provide better parking and access and further opportunity for other businesses to expand."

Van Tielen says he does not see it as a competition for other stores, but an addition of services lacking in the town. "We don't have a jewelry store for instance," he says. "I don't know what type of businesses might go in there, but there will be an opportunity for someone to expand without parking problems."

Catt says that three other businesses have contacted him about possibly locating in East Jordan. "I think it will happen," he says. "But it will take awhile."

Duane Bixbee, who sold his property and home to Catt Realty, says he feels great about it. "This town needs a shot in the arm," Bixbee says. "For years it's gone no place and it's about time somebody started to make a move or shut it down completely. It's the only move this town has got."

Bixbee says as far as he knows there has been no controversy to the move. "Since we moved here five years ago, prices have gone up," he says. "You couldn't get anything or had to go to Petokey or Traverse City. Now that the shopping center is in Charlevoix, it has helped, but it's going to make it even better when we have one over here."

Architectural drawings of the new store are supposed to be done by the end of July. Construction will begin in early fall, Catt hopes, with a projected opening date shortly after January 1, 1979.

Catt says the new store is being built because there was no room for expansion in the present store on Mill Street. "As business increased we were blocked in by an alley and the street," he says. "To enlarge the store would mean making the parking lot smaller and it is already too small."

The new store will carry a better variety of merchandise plus the present stock will be enlarged. "Prices will be higher, however," he says. "But only because of inflation."

No vehicles at Brown's Creek

EAST JORDAN - City Attorney Roy Hayes will write a new ordinance which would restrict the use of any vehicle, including bicycles, in the Brown Creek area in the ravine between the elementary and new high school buildings.

"If they can't walk, they don't need to go," Councilman Harry Watson says.

The council was asked to make an ordinance restricting vehicles in the area in an effort to stop further erosion and maintain beauty and quiet. A nature trail is being constructed this summer to allow foot travel between the schools.

Recommendations for restricting vehicular traffic at Brown Creek were made by Bill Grimm of the Charlevoix County Soil Conservation Department.

The city, which owns part of the Brown Creek land, will work in cooperation with Stan Scott, nature trail supervisor, by loaning city-owned heavy equipment, donating fill dirt, grass seed, paint for rails on foot bridges, cement for footings and signs for the nature trail. The city will remove dead elm from the city-owned portion of the property before work begins.

The work on the trail will be done by school CETA employees.

First aid station for centennial

EAST JORDAN - A first aid station will be open during the Centennial festivities July 1-4, according to ambulance director Bernie Hammond.

The station is being set up with the cooperation of the police department, ambulance squad, and Dr. Klaus Hergt-Hammond says there will probably be somebody available to treat injuries in the police station building at 105 Esterly Street. If no one is there, any police officer will be able to get in touch with someone to assist with injuries.

"During the fourth, there is always somebody getting injured," Hammond says. "In the past they have had to go to Charlevoix Hospital, but now that we have a doctor, we will be able to treat minor injuries right here."

Hammond added that his squad is even equipped to deliver babies. "All babies will be delivered free of charge," he says.

Recreation expands

EAST JORDAN - Are you having a hard time keeping your children entertained? If they are bored after a month of summer vacation, there will soon be a remedy.

The new assistant recreation director, Jane Buxton, 21, has been working on summer programming since she started June 16. Buxton is a graduate from Michigan State University and has a Bachelor's degree in recreation. She also has background in agriculture and natural resources.

She will be assisting recreation director Stokes Burrows by doing the programming and working with the community while Burrows is teaching tennis, soccer, and supervising high school CETA workers. Buxton will stay on in the fall as recreation director when Burrows returns to college.

The summer program is being geared toward elementary and middle school students. "Things really haven't started yet," she says. "We're holding everything off until after the centennial." There will be some special events such as a raft race July 3 from Webster Bridge to the bridge in town.

The recreation department is still trying to find a swimming instructor. "It's really a necessity," she says. Swimming instructors must have had the Water Safety Instructor course.

The program will begin July 10 with weekly table games at Elm Pointe. Games such as pingpong, Yahtzee, checkers, chess and other games will be played in the garage on the Elm Pointe grounds. They will be held every Monday through August 28 from 12 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. It is open to all ages and people are encouraged to bring a picnic lunch.

Story hour sessions will be held twice a week. Beginning Tuesday, July 11 from 10:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. fantasy stories will be read to 3-6 year olds at the East Jordan Library. The sessions will continue through August 8.

Story hour for 7-9 year olds will begin Thursday, July 13 from 10:30 to 11:30 and will be mainly adventure stories. It will go through August 10.

The Crazy Olympics on July 21 will include a variety of gimmick type games and everybody has a chance to win. The games include a Hot Air Contest in which contestants blow up balloons and see whose will go the farthest.

Bike Day, July 12 at 1:30 p.m. at the high school is for anyone who rides a bike. There will be a bike inspection, and a bike safety presentation handled by the police department.

On Wednesdays, beginning July 12 through August 23, there will be outdoor games at Murphy Field. The games will include a volleyball, croquet, badminton, horseshoes, and frisbee. It is open to all ages and will go from 1-3 p.m.

Shuffleboard will begin at the Tourist Park on Monday July 10 and will continue every Monday through August 21 at 7 p.m. It is open to everyone.

Plans for the Water Carnival to be held August 7 in the Tourist Park haven't been completed yet, but all events will be done in coordination with the lifeguard. Small children will not be allowed to go any farther than "wading depth" in the water.

For all you "oldsters" who reminisce about the days of bobby-sox and rock 'n' roll and for the young ones who want to get in on the nostalgia there will be a 1950's Day at Elm Pointe on August 2. Everyone is to come in 1950's dress and there will be hula-hoop and bubble gum contests.

There will be two days of bike rodeos, bike inspections, safety presentations and other bike activities for the kids at the Tourist Park this summer in coordination with the police department.

Classes for the children will include Crafts and Fun and Cookery for Tots for 4-6 year olds. The class will be $3. Crafts for Youngsters 7-11 will be $3. Campfire Skills and Cookery will be $4 for both age groups.

For further information on any classes or activities call the recreation department office in City Hall at 536-2111.

"Once this program is running and in good shape, I hope to start my fall program," Buxton says. "I hope to cover a much broader age group."

She hopes to include more programs for teenagers and adults and would like to have a special program for housewives. "It could include activities such as the mothers taking turns watching each other's children, going to a historical museum or other things that will give them a chance to get away from the house."

There may also be a babysitting course for middle school students. Buxton says she would like to get senior citizens involved in the program. "There are a lot of resources there and a lot of talented people," she says. "I would like some of them to teach classes."

Using the community members to teach the community is her ideal for the entire program. "Community education is very visible here," she says. "It seems like a really active part of the community. I've been very impressed so far."

Lower water rates soon

EAST JORDAN - Good news for everyone who has been dreading the next water bill. The city council has decided to cut the water rate by approximately 20 percent effective with the next bill the end of June.

Water rates were increased last year in an effort to raise money to correct low water pressure problems in the town, according to City Clerk Fern Morris. The increase was to have been taken off last winter, but city water users cut down water consumption. The city did not receive the anticipated revenues because of this and had to continue the increase until now.

"Prices were rolled back to an amount that would pay for the operating of the water department and a little reserve for repair and upkeep," Morris said.

Sewer rates will remain the same.

Souvenir edition!

EAST JORDAN - Happy birthday, East Jordan! In honor of the occasion, The Charlevoix County Press includes in this issue a special centennial supplement.

The front page of our special section carries a logo of the Charlevoix County Herald, a predecessor of the Charlevoix County Press that served the East Jordan area many years ago. We have taken major events in East Jordan history and written about them in modern newspaper style as if they were happening today. It's historical fiction, but the stories are based on actual events.

Inside the special section, you will find a calendar of centennial events, feature stories about how the centennial celebration was put together and how some local residents are keeping East Jordan's colorful history alive.

Finally, we are offering the memories of several East Jordanites who offer a personal view of the community's history. We know you will want to save this special issue as a souvenir of East Jordan's centennial.

Early deadline

Because of the long holiday weekend, The Charlevoix County Press will be published a day late next week, July 7.

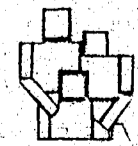

The newspaper will be available on newsstands and in postal boxes late Thursday afternoon. Other mail subscribers will receive their paper Friday.

Deadlines for next week's edition are as follows: Noon Friday for display and classified advertising and Neighbor News items such as community events, weddings and other announcements; noon Wednesday for late-breaking news stories.

The Press office will be closed Monday, July 3 and Tuesday, July 4.

Viewpoints

Consider all angles

Public reaction to the proposal of Rick and Dave Smith and Jon Gerster to develop the old lakefront tannery property into 250 condominiums has been greeted to date with a combination of enthusiasm and disinterest. Those who are enthusiastic feel Boyne City needs the expanded tax base the project would bring; the rest don't seem to care one way or another. Certainly no organized opposition has surfaced to date.

Maybe the tannery development will turn out to be the best thing that ever happens to Boyne City. Maybe it will be physically attractive, not block anyone's lakefront view and add more to the tax base than it will require in city services.

The potential developers, Lake Associates, have worked hard to create a plan that they feel will be in the best interests of the city in addition to being financially successful. They have a good track record - Wildwood on Walloon is an environmentally sensitive development.

But perhaps city officials should look a bit harder before they leap. It appears probable that the condos would attract more money than they would cost, but the only serious study on the subject was done by a planner who works for the real estate company that hopes to sell the project.

Their reputation is beyond reproach, but the city should be doing its own homework.

The city needs to know how much the project would cost in new services. Who pays to improve the streets? How does Boyne City pay for the additional fire equipment the five-floor buildings would require? There are many questions that need to be asked. Perhaps there are good answers, but who knows until the questions are asked?

Editorial

The City Commission members have spent many hours examining the project, but as part-time legislators it's not their job to make the detailed, professional impact studies needed to determine whether the project would be good for Boyne City. That is the job of the city manager, and one problem has been that the tannery proposal came up at a time when the manager's position was in a state of flux. That transition period will end

July 17 when Tim Clifton assumes his new job as city manager, and he will have important, long-ranging responsibilities from the word go.

To their credit, the commissioners decided to break a precedent and hire a highly-trained, professional city manager from outside the community. They did this because they realize Boyne City is about to enter a period of rapid growth and needs a new type of city manager to deal with new types of problems the city will soon face.

Boyne City's days as a quiet, isolated little country town are coming to a rapid end. With its lakes and surrounding forests, it is a prime recreational site, and nobody can keep that fact a secret. Boyne is going to grow; the only question is whether it will grow well or badly.

The people behind the proposed tannery project appear to believe in constructive, positive growth, and raise a good point when they say that their project would be a better use of the lakefront land, presently zoned industrial, than something else, such as a large factory. It's the job of the city manager and commission to make sure that all would-be developers come in with similar goals and don't lose sight of them.

Who wins in tax revolt?

Watch out taxpayers, Howard Jarvis is coming!

He will beguile and bewitch you into believing that if you cut taxes by 50 or 60 percent, you won't lose any of the services you've come to expect from government.

Things like police and fire protection, for example.

That was his message to Californians for the past six months - simple and to the point. And as everyone knows across the country, that message won the overwhelming approval of California voters on June 6. Now, Proposition 13 is part of the California constitution. It rolls property assessments back to 1975 levels and restricts local government's ability to increase assessments in order to collect more money.

Jarvis promised on his night of triumph to take his "tax crusade" nationwide, and he is forming an organization for just that purpose. Michigan, it would seem, could become a target state.

A measure similar to "Prop 13," as it is popularly called in California, could win in Michigan if Jarvis and allies capitalize here on his simple theme: taxes can be cut substantially without cutting services. All that will be lost in the process is bureaucratic fat, Jarvis claims. (In California, local property taxes will be cut approximately 57 percent, although Prop 13 now faces a flood of lawsuits that claim it is unconstitutional.)

How could such an illogical message so captivate 4.2 million voters in the nation's largest state?

The explanation, in my view, lies in the electorate's basic distrust of the politicians who make the laws, implement the programs, and hire the bureaucrats to run them.

I don't think "tax revolt" accurately describes what happened in California. Taxes were merely the right vehicle for a full-scale political revolt.

It could have been avoided if the California legislature prior to 1978 had passed a property tax relief measure. But the politicians dragged their feet until Jarvis and his associate, Paul Gann, turned in more than one million signatures to place their constitutional measure on the ballot.

Let me explain why I say political revolt.

On election night, I was in San Francisco. The whole state saw the election in terms of Prop 13 and political candidates from governor on down were known in terms of their position on it. Nothing really else mattered in this election.

So, despite the many lures of San Francisco for the visitor, I found myself at the Civic Center that evening watching the ballots come in, the TV reporters asking silly questions and, most importantly, the people who were watching with me.

On many election nights over the past 20 years, I had watched similar scenes as a working reporter. But there was something different happening on June 6 in San Francisco. The people weren't just passively observing; they were worked-up, pro and con.

George Colburn

By 10 p.m., the trend was established. Prop 13 would win by a huge 2 to 1 margin. A man appeared at my elbow. We watched a TV reporter urge the Mayor of San Francisco to say what he could cut now that Prop 13 was to be a reality.

The man next to me wasn't interested; instead he asked me, "how is it going statewide?" I told him that it was a landslide for Prop 13. His response was excited. "We got the SOB's," and as he said it he smashed his right fist into an open left palm for loud emphasis.

Obviously, the man's top priority was not the money he would save on his property taxes. For all I knew, he could have been a renter, not a property owner. He was relishing his revenge, as it were, on the politicians who he believes don't give a damn for him.

All over the state observers documented this feeling among voters.

Prop 13 was a very emotional thing - just as Howard Jarvis is very emotional in his attacks on politicians and the taxes that they inflict on the citizenry. The electorate caught the Jarvis fever, so to speak.

The evangelical nature of the Jarvis crusade reminded me of the movie "Network." The voters said loud and clear, "we're mad as hell and we're not to take it anymore."

Obviously, given the margin of the Prop 13's victory, tens of thousands of "mad as hell" parents voted for the measure although they were told by their school boards that class sizes for their children could double due to layoffs of teachers; sports and cultural programs would be eliminated, libraries closed, summer schools eliminated.

The Prop 13 campaign countered with brochures and ads that stated, "Don't believe them - not a single teacher will be laid off, no programs will be eliminated." A Nobel Prize-winning economist could be heard on some of these ads reassuring the electorate.

Tens of thousands of renters in the state obviously supported Prop 13 although they would not financially benefit from its passage. Most people obviously were so mad they didn't care that the big winners, if Prop 13 passed, would be big business - those who owned huge hunks of property.

Everyone knew - or should have known - that Jarvis was a man who made his fortune in apartment buildings. He is at the present the executive director of the Apartment Owners Association of Los Angeles. His clients stood to make millions if Prop 13 passed - in tax money they no longer would have to pay to government. Can you imagine how they celebrated?

It was a heady experience. Whether the experience will be regretted remains to be seen.

California has a 15 billion surplus it can allocate to local governments that will come up $7 billion short in the coming fiscal year.

Thus, the price to be paid by citizens - loss of services - won't be apparent for at least a year in most parts of the state.

However, there will be rather ominous signs of things to come. Small special districts totally reliant on the local property tax likely will be forgotten when the state surplus is distributed to the counties for allocation to their local taxing districts.

In San Diego County, for example, there are numerous fire protection districts in unincorporated areas - particularly the eastern part of the county where the hills turn brown and the ground cover becomes tinder dry this time of year. For the most part, these fire-prone districts are sparsely settled. Response time by firefighters is critical for saving homes and lives.

Without aid from the county or state, taxpayers in these districts will lose most of their fire protection. The four largest districts of the 20 in the county will lose 136 of their 178 firefighters, according to estimates. All fire safety programs will end, the paramedic programs are to cease, and stations will be closed. Mutual aid pacts will be terminated and it will be every district for itself when the big-brush fires hit them.

It could be a hellish nightmare. But Howard Jarvis, full of life at 75, if he comes to Michigan will say, "don't believe that bunk." He will shout and scream and wave his fists at "the enemy" in the seats of governments.

He will direct your ire at Lansing and Washington, D.C., but it will be local governments that will pay the price of your anger.

Remember, "Power to the People" from the 1960's?

Well, the Jarvis message is the same, but with an important difference: many people stand to make a lot of money on this people's movement.

As a result, I don't think the politicians of our state in this post-Watergate period have much of a chance to stop the onslaught of Jarvis and his allies.

Watch out politicians, Jarvis is coming and he knows how to get the voters mad as hell!

Letter from the editor

History repeats itself

Over 200 years ago, a small group of men who lived on the east coast of North America decided they didn't like the way they were being governed. After years of arguing, petitioning, protesting and minor civil disobedience, they still weren't satisfied by the way they were treated by England, probably the most powerful country in the world at that time.

Joe McElroy

increasingly short-changed middle class is becoming increasingly radicalized, now that the inequities of our society are hurting them, not just those troublesome minorities.

Where does it all end? Will our political leaders ever get the message, or will they continue to ignore reality until the situation explodes? Taxpayers aren't ready to take up arms yet, but feelings of helplessness are where revolutions start.

Revolution is often a good thing, but in our case change without complete upheaval is preferable for several reasons. Suppose the government was overthrown tomorrow. Since people aren't ready to live without government, a new form of government with new structures would be established.

Odds are the new form wouldn't be as basically sound as the one we have now. The people who wrote the Constitution knew what they were doing. The system of checks and balances they built in helps insure that no branch of government, even the president, can dominate the country very long. We've had some close calls, but the system has worked.

Let's hope it keeps working and that Americans never lose the courage to take matters into their own hands. How well the system works will determine how much longer we'll be celebrating the Fourth of July and after all, we sure would miss these long holiday weekends.

So they staged a revolution. They weren't very organized, didn't have any firm allies and many of their own people disagreed with what they were doing. But they did it anyway, challenging their mighty fatherland.

They won, which is why we're celebrating the Fourth of July next week.

One of the things that sparked that revolution in 1776 was an issue called "taxation without representation." The colonists expressed their displeasure by throwing tea into the ocean. Today a similar tax revolt is taking place, with voters throwing out school funding and other governmental services, particularly the ones used primarily by the less fortunate. But these are exercises in protest; it's an American tradition, like baseball and apple pie.

Several years ago, when we were wallowing in Vietnam and then Watergate, phony patriots would dismiss our country's problems by saying, "With all its faults, it's still the greatest country in the world." Probably true, but the real patriot says, "Let's get rid of those faults, not make up excuses for them." We've built the most awesome arsenal of destruction in the history of man, but now we can't afford to fund our schools. Something is wrong here. The greatness of a country isn't measured by how many times it can blow the world to smithereens. Greatness is measured by how responsive the nation is to the needs of its people.

The American government, one of the oldest in the world, has survived partially because, while minorities have been exploited, the majority of the people have had a high standard of living. But the gap between the haves and the have-nots is increasing, and the huge middle class is now beginning to feel like they're in the have-not category. Millions of people in this country feel their government doesn't give a damn about them, so they "send them a message," in California by passing Proposition 13 and nationwide by scuttling school millages.

But the over-reaction is caused by unresponsive, wasteful government. During the late 1960's, radicals wanted to burn down "The System." Today the

I love beards. A beard has a way of making an otherwise ordinary face take on character. Depending on the type of beard, a man can look distinguished, intellectual, "Bohemian", holy, or like a sea captain.

Hazel Blair

I suppose my affection for beards began as a child. The first man I connected a beard with was Santa Claus and I considered him to be a fine person.

Then there was Mitch Miller. Remember him? We watched his show every week, mainly because my mother adored his beard. So, through the years I became an avid beard-watcher. That little hobby is now paying off. I get to help judge the beard contest on the Fourth of July in East Jordan.

A lot of men have been carefully tending their newly grown beards in honor of the centennial for the past several months. On July 4 they will be judged in eight different categories, such as longest, curliest, and most kissable.

Contestants are to go to the announcer's stand immediately after the parade. So get them in shape. We will be waiting.

In soccer action this Sunday Boyne City beat Petoskey 3-2 at the Boyne City field. Forward John Nagle booted in a beautiful cross in the fifth minute for Boyne's first goal, but in the 18th minute right-wing Greg Masters equalized for Petoskey.

Midway through the first half Boyne made a determined effort on goal which was well saved by the Petoskey keeper, Jed Berliner. Boyne's second goal was made by Bob McGarva from a pass by left-wing Hans Sphere.

Boyne center-forward Mike Trainor slipped the ball past the goalkeeper into the corner of the net for the final goal.

The second half saw both teams hustling, and in the 20th minute left-winger Jack Kronsberg scored another goal for Petoskey. Boyne goalkeeper Bruce Korhase played a good game, making some excellent saves.

Boyne City News

New city manager

Clifton seeks challenge

This is the first of two stories on Boyne City's newly-appointed city manager.

BY JOE McELROY

BOYNE CITY - In the wake of the Watergate scandal and other investigations into the ethics of public officials, citizen confidence in government has lessened in recent years. Inflation and skyrocketing taxes have also contributed to an increasingly negative attitude towards government.

One might expect these factors to turn away bright, ambitious young people from public service. But they helped attract 26-year-old Tim Clifton, Boyne City's newly appointed city manager.

After earning a master's degree in public administration and rapidly moving up the job ladder in the Kalamazoo city manager's office, Clifton will assume his new job in Boyne City July 17.

He says he is attracted to city management "100 percent by the challenge. For one thing, the most criticized aspect of society is the government, and local government is closest to the people."

"It's a challenge to a city manager to make sure his city is run well enough so that you don't get complaints. There are so many things to do here for the manager," Clifton added. After growing up in Midland and living in Kalamazoo for eight years, Clifton is looking forward to working in an area with so much undeveloped land, which he says is very uncommon.

Clifton said he thinks a major part of his job will be making sure that undeveloped land is used in the best interests of the entire community.

Boyne City Manager Tim Clifton - "It's a challenge to a city manager to make sure his city is run well enough so that you don't get complaints."

"It's important to get additional tax base," he said, "but it's equally important to retain the character of the land."

Clifton believes large pieces of property such as the tannery land along Lake Charlevoix should be developed as Planned Unit Developments (P.U.D.'s). He said this would help preserve the natural beauty of the area and avoid cluttered, unplanned growth.

"In a development like that, you want as much open space as possible," Clifton said.

Clifton said the city needs a strong zoning ordinance to help foster proper, controlled growth. The Planning Commission is in the final stages of approving a new, stricter ordinance, but Clifton says that might not be enough.

"You can have a new ordinance," he said, "but unless you have the staffing to enforce it, it's not worth the paper it's written on. They'll either work around it or ignore it."

Clifton said one of his goals as city manager is to keep the area the kind of attractive spot that has brought him and his wife, Kathy, to the area on vacations for the past several years. "It's not cluttered and over-commercialized up here," he says. "That's one of the reasons we came up here. Everyone tells me I'm so lucky to be coming up here."

Clifton was also interested in the Boyne City job because, "The city is of a manageable size, so I'll be able to work with the business community pretty closely. I want to know what their future plans are."

Clifton says cooperation between the city government and business community is important to the city's future. "I've always believed they should work hand-in-hand," he said. "In the past, in most places they haven't worked together."

Some of Clifton's immediate plans include coordinating a smooth transition into the new city hall building and working on Boyne City's water system, which still operates with some wood pipes.

He said he is also interested in "improving the housing stock" by encouraging construction of more middle class homes. He and his wife are shopping for a home and find the market "discouraging."

"You have a lot of high cost houses right next to low cost ones. There's not much in-between," Clifton said he thinks the city also needs more apartment buildings and said federal funding might be available.

Clifton was grants coordinator for Kalamazoo, in charge of obtaining federal and state funding for local projects. He hopes to do the same thing in Boyne City.

"There is potential for a lot of federal assistance here," he said. "One possibility would be money from the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). I think Boyne City might be eligible."

Federal funding for a comprehensive city development plan is another possibility, he said. He thinks such a plan is important for a growing area like this.

"You have to have an overall plan to begin with. It involves a significant amount of public participation, neighborhood meetings, that kind of thing. What do people want to see in their area?"

Park delayed

BOYNE CITY - Development of Rotary Park probably won't be completed until late next fall, according to Community Recreation Director Mike Davis. He said the original plans called for a July 15 completion date for the well and four tennis courts planned for the park on M-75.

Davis said the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) has taken longer to approve the plans than he expected. "We have to wait for the DNR's approval for everything we do," he said. "It all has to be down on paper."

The park renovation will cost $50,000, half of which is being financed by a grant from the DNR. "I didn't think they would take this long," Davis said. He added that many local people and businesses contributed to the park and are wondering why work is not yet complete.

Davis said engineering plans will be let out for bids July 15, with construction beginning in late August. "Everything goes to the DNR for approval after the bids are tabulated," he said.

"In the long run it's worth it," he said, "but right now it's frustrating." He said the lack of a well has caused bad playing conditions on the dirt softball fields. "It's dusty out there even after it rains," he said. "Sometimes a guy can slide into second base and you can hardly see him because of the cloud of dust."

Davis said when he wrote the grant for the city in March of 1977, "I thought we'd be playing tennis there in a year."

Although progress on the tennis courts and well has been slower than expected, work on the nature trail is being done by city employees funded by the Comprehensive Employment Training Act

City Clerk Tom Garlock said forestor Lee Ekstrom helped plot the course by deciding which trees should be cut. Garlock said the hiking trail will also be "real good for cross country skiing for a beginner who just wants to get the hang of it."

Have your own autographed train car!

BOYNE CITY - Attention, well-heeled readers. Consider this: The Boyne Valley Railroad is seeking donors to finance the painting of eight railroad cars.

The railroad is the Boyne area's only community-owned tourist attraction, so the Board of Directors wants to keep the cars looking good. The paint job will cost more than the railroad can afford, according to Tom Workman, board member, so outside help is being sought.

Those who donate money to paint a car get that car named in their honor, complete with a plaque on the car telling the world who is responsible for its fresh coat of paint.

In need of paint jobs are three open coaches, $250 each; three closed pullmans, $500 each; and a caboose and an engine, $750 each.

"This is a chance for people to have their own railroad car named after them," Workman said. "And it will help the railroad, too."

Kids will help restore lighthouse

BEAVER ISLAND - Some 35 Charlevoix County young people will have the opportunity this summer to earn money while helping to restore a historic landmark, the Beaver Island Lighthouse.

The Charlevoix School District has received a $65,000 grant from the governor's office to renovate the lighthouse and build a nature trail near it on the south tip of the island. "The foundation and structure of the lighthouse are fine," said Dan Kuzinski, project director. "But it hasn't been painted in years and it needs some plastering work, things like that."

"We want to make it of historic significance," said Kuzinski of the lighthouse, built in 1851. It is the third oldest lighthouse in the Great Lakes, he said.

Those chosen to work on the project must be from low-income families, Kuzinski said. An applicant from a family of five would need to have a family income of not more than $9,700 to be eligible for the program.

The employees will receive $2.65 per hour plus food. They must provide their own sleeping bag since they will be camping on the island Monday through Friday and being ferried home on weekends.

The project will begin July 10 and end August 25. Those interested can contact Jan Elliot at 547-9947.

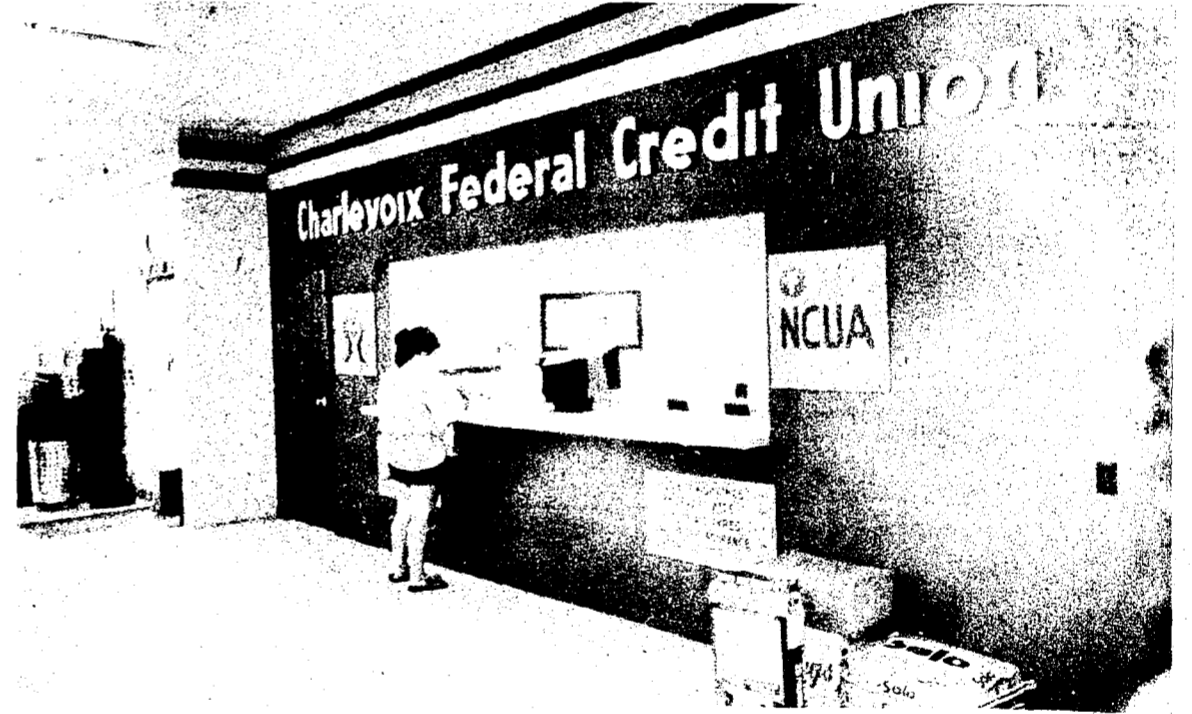

Polish fest plans set

BOYNE FALLS - Plans for the 1978 Boyne Falls Polish Festival are entering their final stages, but more help is needed, according to Christine Smith, a member of the festival committee.

The festival will be August 4, 5, and 6 and will have several new attractions this year, she said, which will take more manpower to operate.

One of the new activities will be an amateur sanctioned boxing tournament. Other events on the agenda include a horse pulling contest, teen dances and the usual Polish dinner and parade. And of course there will be a beer tent with lots of good dance music and refreshments.

The committee, headed up by Bernie Kondrat, meets every other Wednesday at the Boyne Falls School. The next meeting is July 5.

Charlevoix Federal Credit Union has opened a branch office in the B&C Supermarket. The credit union will be adding more services as time goes on, according to its director, Kate Brady.

Credit union now open

BOYNE CITY - Another financial institution has set up shop in the Boyne area. Charlevoix Federal Credit Union has opened an office in the B&C Supermarket, and will open officially in July, according to Director Kate Brady.

The credit union is the third new financial institution to show interest in the Boyne area in the past six months. A group of local businessmen plan to open a savings and loan association in downtown Boyne City, and First National Bank of Petoskey wants to build a branch office just outside the city limits on M-75.

At the same time, Northwestern State Bank is also planning a major expansion project.

"We have a lot of customers in the area and we will be able to serve them better with this branch office," Brady said. "We service all the plants and feel we can service them better in Boyne City." She said the credit union, founded in 1969, has 5,000 members.

Brady described credit unions as non-profit organizations owned by their members that provide financial and budget counseling, as well as making loans. "Our objective is to help our members manage their money well," she said.

The credit union won't make home loans, but offers other loans at 12 percent interest per year, she said. Other services include life insurance, savings accounts, money orders and auto appraisals.

Mrs. Brady downplayed competition between the credit union and the bank, which also has an office in the B&C, but acknowledged, "They do feel our presence. There is no doubt about that."

She said the various lending institutions in the area give customers a wide variety of options. "You never know what other people are going to offer," she said. "We encourage our people to shop around."

The credit union is open Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 7:30 p.m.

Everybody loves a parade, especially these happy-go-lucky folks in Horton Bay's annual Fourth of July extravaganza.

Parades a-plenty

Boyne City and Horton Bay will kick off the Fourth of July with home town parades, barbecued dinners, bake sales, beer and bands.

Boyne's parade begins at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday from the high school parking lot. The Horton Bay parade will begin at noon from Miller's corner at the intersection of Horton Bay and Charlevoix Roads.

There will be a bicycle judging one hour before the start of the Boyne City parade. The parade will march down Boyne Avenue to Water Street, then turn north on Lake Street to Memorial Park. Chamber of Commerce officials estimate there will be 50 entries in the parade. Harvey Varnum will be master of ceremonies.

A wide range of activities will be held in the park after the parade. The Rotary Club barbecue begins at 11:30 a.m. The Jaycees will have a tent open all day, while the Little League will be having a bake sale and the Eastern Stars will sponsor a bazaar.

The Eastern Stars will also sponsor a horse show on M-75 south.

There also will be an art sale in the park next to the bandstand from noon to 6 p.m. Entry fee is $5. Artists can register by calling the community education office, 582-6766, or can register the day of the fair.

The park activities will be set to the music of Hot Sauce and the Traverse Bay All Stars who will perform from noon to 4 p.m., along with other groups tentatively scheduled.

The Horton Bay parade will be followed with a picnic in the grove featuring food prepared by Boyne City Chef Betty Keltis. After the parade, first and second place awards will be given in the following categories: funniest entry; best bicycle; beard contest; oldest resident; youngest resident; horses; red, white and blue entry; old cars; Horton Bay entry; horses and buggy; unique animal award; and old-fashioned costume.

No political or commercial entries are allowed in the parade. Registration must be made by June 31. To register, contact Mark Loding, Box 231, Boyne City or call 582-7022.

Fun & Sun looks at area boating

It's sink or swim this week as Fun & Sun takes you out in a boat.

With the many lovely lakes in the Charlevoix area it comes as no surprise to find a lot of boating activity here.

On any day of the summer you can find sailboats, ski boats, fishing boats, row boats, Flote-Botes, paddle boats, yachts, canoes and an occasional wind surfer.

The area yacht clubs have their racing going, the ski club activities get started, the canoe rentals are renting, the paddle boats (also known as a bicycle built for Flipper) are paddling, the float boats are floating and our boats are rowing.

All in all, summer is boating season in northern Michigan.

Though there are many types of boats on the lakes, we felt it would be interesting to look at sailboats versus power or motorized boats, talk to the backers of each and get a controversy started.

Much to our dismay, most people are happy with both types of boats. They realize you can't pull a skier behind a sailboat, and that power boats can't offer many of the features a sailboat has.

One boater, 11-year-old Kyle Stanley of Boyne City, did say sometimes power boaters call sailboaters "rag baggers." But then, Stanley says, the sailboaters return the compliment by calling the power boaters "stink pots" or "egg beaters."

Of course Stanley doesn't take a hard stand one way or the other on the sail versus power boat issue. As he says, "I prefer sailboats with engines, because the engines become handy when the wind dies down."

Adding to that, Stanley says, "I like inboard engines better than outboard because they are quieter."

One of the persons who runs the Petoskey Marina, Jim Rylands, is a sailboat man.

"If the energy crisis goes any further, I think sailboats will take over for sure. Sailing is a lot more interesting. It's man against the elements."

Rylands, who owns a 28-foot wooden sailing vessel, adds, "I think they're kind of romantic."

Jay Schach at Walloon Landing says of sailing, "It's a challenge. You don't have to get in and turn on the key. You're restricted to what the wind does."

Just down the street at Master's Boat Shop, Libby Smith says, "I like water skiing and I like sailing."

Owner of Master's, Ray Burdett, amplified on Smith's comment by saying, "It just depends on what mood you are in."

This is true of many area boaters. They like sailing, but to ski you need the engine.

Part owner-manager of Ward Brothers in Charlevoix, Don Ward, says "Quite frankly, if I had the time, I'd like to sail. But it takes huge amounts of time and money to sail. If I was going to travel though, I'd like to sail."

Ward is also a water skier in addition to his duties at the boat shop, so, he says, "I spend most of my time on power boats because of the obvious time problem."

Although we started out sensing a controversy, it's assuring to know there are so many rational boaters in the northern Michigan area. Bob Simpson of Si's Marina says, "I'm not particular, as long as I'm in the water."

As for myself, when I get back to southern California in August, you won't find me on anything smaller than the Queen Mary.

Tim and Terry Barrett of the Walloon Lake Ski Club are getting ready for the first Hydro Open tournament, to be held July 9. Above, Tim practices his slalom skiing, and believe it or not, Terry is practicing his flips. "I hope to have that move ready for competition soon," Terry says. The flip would be a good addition to Barrett's tricks, as the Hydro Open will be the first tournament to have a trick competition. (Fun photos by Mark Putnam)

The first Hydro Open Waterskiing Tournament will be held at This Ole House on Crooked Lake July 9.

The tournament is being sponsored by Stuart Moore, Brian Phillips and Terry Barrett, and will offer six divisions of competition, an inside and outside bar and a jazz band from 3-7 p.m.

Terry Barrett is one of three Barrett brothers, the others are Tim and Ted, actively involved in water skiing in this area.

In fact Terry is the president of the Walloon Lake Ski Club, and Tim is the vice-president. Both are looking forward to this first ski tournament of the summer, which will also have an exhibition by the Pine Lake Exhibition Team (trick skiing.)

The six divisions in the Hydro Open will be men's, women's, boys, girls, an open division, and for the first time in this area there will be a trick division.

"I think the trick division is going to expand the interest in this area," Terry says.

Perhaps the toughest competition in the Hydro Open will come from the open division. In this division only top tournament skiers will be competing.

To qualify for the open division, a skier must have finished in the top three in some sanctioned area ski tournament. Any tournament sponsored by the American Water Ski Association (A.W.S.A.) will meet this requirement.

Barrett says the open class skiers start at 32 miles per hour, and if they pass all six buoys on the course, then the speed is upped to 34 m.p.h. If they survive this part of the competition, then the speed is increased to 36 m.p.h. After that, the length of the tow rope is shortened.

First the rope is shortened from 75 feet to 60, then to 53 feet, and is shortened even further if anyone is still left in the competition.

Oops!

For the slalom competition, the age breakdown for the different classes is girls, 15 years and younger; women's 16 years and older; boys 15 years and younger, and men's 16 years and older.

The Hydro Open will begin at 8 a.m., July 9, and the entry fee is $4 in advance, $5 the day of the tournament.

Terry Barrett says the Hydro tournament is one of the summer tournaments that will lead up to the 13th Annual Walter Masters Memorial Ski Tournament.

For that tournament Barrett says, "I am expecting over 150 contestants, and four or five hundred spectators."

Barrett says the Hydro Open is important, but "everything leads up to the 13th."

Other tournaments this summer will be held July 23 and July 30. The tournament on the 23rd will be at the Alpine Resort in the north arm of Walloon Lake.

The July 30 tournament will be back at This Ole House. Both tournaments are on Sundays, and both begin at 8 a.m.

Entry forms for the Hydro Open can be picked up at Master's Boat Shop, Si's Marina, Bay Marine, Ron's Market, and the B & C.

In addition to the Hydro Open, Barrett says the Walloon Ski Club is looking for new members. The club meets every Wednesday evening at 6 p.m. at the Walloon Lake Country Club. Anyone is welcome to attend the meetings, as well as join the ski club.

Sunday, July 2, judges, drivers and timers training school will be held at 10 a.m. at the Walloon Lake Country Club. This will be free to those interested in helping out for the Hydro Open.

The Barretts also have a ski school where lessons can be purchased. For more information on this school, the Walloon Lake Ski Club, or any of the summer tournaments, call 335-2214.

Best bets of the holiday weekend

The city of East Jordan will be celebrating its centennial from July 1 to July 4 with plenty of holiday activities each day.

June 30 will start the four-day celebration with a disco dance for persons up to 20 years old at the Polka Fest tent located near the tennis courts off Water Street.

The dance will last from 8 p.m.-midnight. Another disco dance will be held 9 p.m.-midnight, Monday, July 3. At this dance the Miss Centennial contest winner will be named.

Saturday, July 1 a "Kiddies" parade will be held with games following directly after in the park. The parade starts at 10 a.m., and the park is located right next to M-66.

At 2 p.m. on Saturday, logging contests will be held at Al Thorsen's lot. Everyone is invited to participate in the chopping contest, log throwing and other contests. If possible, bring your own saw.

Sunday, July 2 there will be an old-fashioned potluck dinner at Elm Pointe. The dinner will be from 2-8:30 p.m.

Monday, July 3 at 7 p.m., the Miss Centennial Contest will be held at the Charlevoix County Senior Center. Following, the disco dance will be from 9 p.m.-midnight at the tourist park, with the winners of the contests to be announced at the dance.

Tuesday, July 4 will start with a flea market at Memorial Park. It will start at 8 a.m. and last until dark.

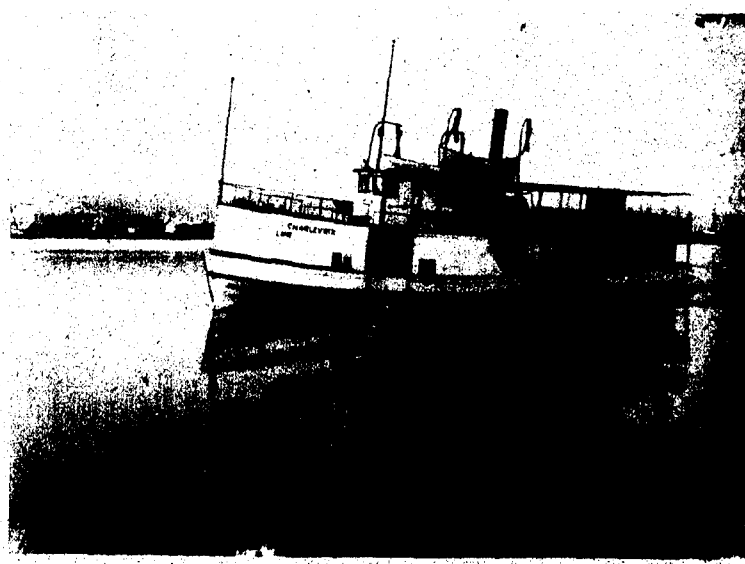

At 11 a.m., the Rotary Club chicken barbecue will begin next to Cass Auto Supply.

Also at 11 a.m., Canoe Races will start at Webster Bridge.

The Centennial Jail will be open from noon until 5 p.m. Any men roaming the area without a beard will be thrown in jail and subject to a 50 cent fine.

"No beard" passes can be purchased for 50 cents, and clean shaven men with passes will be saved from criminal prosecution.

During the day, any women not in centennial attire will also be thrown in jail. "Modern dress" passes will be sold which will keep those culprits who aren't wearing a centennial dress out of jail.

The Joseph Gordon is a part of East Jordan's past, and just one bit of centennial history.

The beard contest which will be judged, in eight different categories will be started at 3:30 p.m. It will be judged by Nancy Jarvis and Hazel Blair (two local reporters and beard connoisseurs.) One of the categories is "most kissable" so you still have time to grow your beard.

The big parade starts at 2 p.m. at East Jordan High School.

There will be other activities during this East Jordan celebration, so don't pass these Fourth of July events up.

BOYNE CITY

Boyne City will also be having a fun-filled Fourth of July.

From noon-6 p.m. there will be the Boyne City Arts and Handicraft Exhibition.

This exhibition will be presented by the Boyne City Chamber of Commerce and Boyne Community Recreation Department.

It will be held on the shores of Lake Charlevoix in Veteran's Memorial Park. There is a $5 entry fee for any artist interested in displaying work, but the deadline for entries is June 30.

Also in the park, from 1-5 p.m., many local music groups will be performing. The lineup is equal to a local "Woodstock" and the hours will be filled with fine music.

The Traverse Bay All-Stars will play at 1 p.m. The All Stars can be heard at Duffy's on Sunday and Monday nights. The group is comprised of Bob Bowne (vocals and bass), David Merrill (sax, keyboards and vocals), Peter Chinnock (keyboards and vocals), and Alan Hewitt (percussion and vocals).

Patti McPeak and Bob Crosser will play acoustic guitar music and sing after the All Stars. Known as Patti and Bob, the two can be heard on Fridays at the Dilworth.

The group Hot Sauce will be a highlight of the concert. The group has a strong (cont. page 2)

 Church, in the park. The entry fee for the 10-mile race is $2.

There will also be a three-mile fitness race that will start minutes after the longer race. There is no entry fee for this race.

Race director Dave Niederstadt says the three-mile race is "designed to give joggers and people just getting into the sport of running, a chance to test themselves under racing conditions."

Hot Sauce is Graham Fineout (drums and vocals), Lanny Landers (bass and vocals), Peter Neds (guitar violin and vocals), Dolores Perry (lead vocals and guitar) and Craig Stadtmiller (keyboards and vocals).

The celebrations at East Jordan and Boyne City will be capped off with fireworks exhibitions at dusk.

Boyne Railroad special

Starting July 6, and continuing every Thursday this summer, the Boyne Valley Railroad will be having a special "Family Night" train ride.

The train will leave the Depot Restaurant at 6 p.m., and besides the beautiful scenery during the ride, entertainment will be provided by Pete Neds and Dolores Perry, also known as Sweet Cheeks.

After the train comes back from Boyne Falls, a bonfire with a hot dog cookout and sodas will be included in the family special.

The cost of the evening is $10 for a family four, $4 for adults, and $2.50 for kids.

"It's a fun filled family entertainment evening geared towards entertaining the entire family," says Tom Workman, who is involved in this project.

This special train offer will be run until the end of August, and is definitely a best bet for family entertainment.

Marinas tight on space

Although space is somewhat limited, there are still some openings at Walloon Lake, Charlevoix, Harbor Springs and Petoskey Marinas to store your boat.

There are four slips available at Walloon Lake, and to reserve one, call or visit Jay Schach at Walloon Landing, 535-2373.

The Charlevoix Marina has 40 slips. Four are rented year round, and among the 36 transient slips, there are some openings everyday.

The slips are available on a first come first serve basis, so it's a good idea to get to the marina between 10-11 a.m. on most days, and 8-9 a.m. on Saturdays.

Charlevoix's in-season rates (May 15-Labor Day) are $3 a day for boats shorter than 20 feet, $5.50 a day for boats 20-30 feet long, $8 a day for boats 30-40 feet, $11 a day for 40-50 foot boats, and $13 a day for 50-60 foot boats.

The Charlevoix Marina also has a sewage pumpout service for 50 cents each use. The low cost is to encourage the use of the pump service.

If you are out on the water and would like more information concerning the Charlevoix Marina, use VHF channel 9 or 16 and call in with your questions. If you are on land try calling 547-9752, or stop by the marina.

As are the other marinas in the area, the Harbor Springs dock is quite crowded. Of the 20 slips available at the Harbor Marina, five of those are for transient use, and the dock master at Harbor Springs says those are pretty well taken up.

However, your best bet is to have your boat tied up to the big dock. The dock master says this is what quite a few boaters are doing.

You can try for a regular slip, and also reserve one by signing up in advance, but since they are so limited, and available on a first come first serve basis, it is likely the only place to leave your boat will be tied to the dock.

Rates at Harbor Springs (regular slips or dock space) are $2.75 a day for boats less than 20 feet, $5.50 a day for boats 20-29 feet, $8 a day for 30-39 foot boats, and $11 a day for boats 40-49 feet.

For more information call the dock master at Harbor Springs, 526-5355, or stop by the marina.

The Petoskey City Marina offers 50 seasonal and 34 transient slips, but at last count there were very few openings. To find out the status of slip openings call the marina at 347-6691.

Rates at Petoskey are $3 a day for boats shorter than 20 feet, $5.50 a day for boats 20-30 feet, $10 a day for boats 30-40 feet, $12.50 a day for boats 50-60 feet, and $17 a day for anything longer.

The fees for launching your boat at Petoskey are $2 a day, and a seasonal launching pass is $15.

There is also very limited space at the Boyne City Marina, and for information there, call Grant Moore, dock master, at 582-9928.

All kinds of boats

If you were concerned about not being able to rent or charter a boat this summer, stop worrying. The Charlevoix area offers many types of boats, from paddle to large chartered fishing vessels.

On Walloon Lake, for $3 an hour you can rent paddle (peddle to be precise) boats. These boats are powered by how much energy you are willing to put into them.

They are a lot of fun, and if you get too hot paddling, you can jump into Walloon Lake for a few refreshing minutes, then paddle back to shore.

The paddle boats are rented seven days a week from 10:30 a. m.-9 p. m., just to the left of Walloon Landing.

Walloon Landing has sailboats for rent. Laser boats are rented at $25 a full day, and $18 for one-half day (four hours.)

Pirateer sailboats are also available at Walloon Landing and cost $35 a full day, and $20 for one-half day. For more information about boat rentals at Walloon Landing call Jay Schach at 535-2373.

Also at Walloon Lake, Master's boat shop has Sunfish sailboats and Flote-Botes for rent. Sunfish are $70 a week and $18 a day.

The Flote-Botes (ponton boats) come in three different rental categories. The 35-horsepower boats are $190 a week, $40 a day and $23 a half-day (five hours.)

The 50-horsepower ponton boats are $230 a week, $48 a day, and $26 a half-day.

The 55-horsepower boats are $255 a week, $55 a day, and $30 a half-day. For more information about Master's boat rentals call 535-2462.

Si's Marine at Walloon has a ponton boat for rent, and also three ski boats. Si's has one 70-horsepower ski boat and two 85-horsepower boats available. The rates at Si's vary so you have to go in to the shop and check the prices. Si's is right on the lake, in the village, at 4069 S. State St. The phone number is 535-2461.

Ward Brothers in Charlevoix has ski boats for rent, and also offers chartered fishing excursions.

Ward Brothers has three twin-engine Chris-Craft boats rigged for deep water fishing. The boats are 27, 31 and 36 feet long, and cost $25 an hour with a three hour minimum. The $25 trips are for one to four people and also require a $30 deposit. Rates for five to six people are $30 an hour, with the same minimum and deposit in effect.

Ward Brothers also has six ski boats for rent. The boats are 16-17 feet long and cost $12-$15 an hour plus gas. The boats range in horsepower from 55 to 85. Ward Brothers is located on Antrim Road in Charlevoix, and the phone number is 547-2371.

Irish Boat Shops in Charlevoix and Harbor Springs also have boats available. Irish Shops offer all motor-sailing boats with a five-day minimum renting period.

The most popular model rented through Irish is a 35-foot Rasmus with an aft cabin. This boat costs $810 for the first five days, and it's cheaper by the day after that.

Other boats for rent include a 26-foot Pearson for $425 the first five days, and a 42-foot Whitby for $1100 the first five days.

Gail Stebbins in Charlevoix says the boats are not cheap, but "all the boats are in beautiful condition."

The boats that are chartered through Irish Boat Shops are all chartered through other boat owners in the area. For information on chartering through Irish of Charlevoix or Harbor Springs, call Gail Stebbins or Steve Johnson in Charlevoix.

The Harbor Springs shop charters through the Charlevoix shop. The number of Irish Boat Shop in Charlevoix is 547-4967.

So as you see, not owning a boat in this area does not mean you must go boatless this summer. There are rentals offered from paddle boats to ski boats to fishing boats to cruisers.

Acepulca cliff diving champion? We're not sure, but we know the paddle boat he's jumping from can be rented at Walloon Lake.

Canoeing a rapid event

The Bear and Jordan Rivers with their natural beauty provide a perfect spot for summer canoeing.

Bear River Canoe Livery, Boyne Valley Lodge, and Teddy's Canoe all offer canoe trips on these rivers.

Teddy's Canoe, located on Main Street in East Jordan, and in conjunction with Swiss Hideaway, has the only area canoe rental available on the Jordan River.

A full trip down the Jordan starts at Graves Crossing and covers 15 miles of scenic area in about three and a half hours.

The longest trip ends at Rogers Bridge, but you can also take shorter trips. From Graves Crossing a canoe trip of about 90 minutes can be had by stopping at Old State Bridge.

An hour further down the river by canoe is Websters Bridge, and another hour from there is Rogers Bridge. You can plan any trip you like within these four points.

Bruce Montfort of the Swiss Hideaway explains there are different spots on the river that are pretty exciting.

"The first stretch is fast. There are sharp curves, and there are some rapids. After Old State it slows down. It's fun and it's challenging."

After the first stretch of the Jordan, it does slow down a bit, and (especially in the mornings) you can see a lot of wildlife.

"You ought to come out and try it," Montfort says.

He says it's fun, relaxing and exciting, and there is enough assortment on the river to please every canoeist.

Trips on the Jordan are $12, and it costs another $3 if you want to have your car spotted. For more information call 536-2341.

On the Bear River, the Boyne Valley Lodge and Bear River Canoe Livery both offer canoe trips.

Dave Fettig, who runs Bear River Canoe Livery, says the trips he offers down the Bear are calm and relaxing, since the water is calm in his area.

"It's like a game refuge in a way," Fettig says. "There are otters, beavers, deer, a lot of wildlife on the river. A lot of natural beauty. It's a nice, pleasant trip. Easy going."

The trips offered by Bear River Canoe Livery start three miles from Petoskey, on MacDougal Road. The longest trip takes about four hours.

The rates for Bear River Canoe Livery are a flat $10. For more information call 347-9038.

The Boyne Valley Lodge has canoe trips that start at Springvale Road, halfway between Wallöon Lake and Springbrook Hills.

The shortest trip goes to Bear River Road, and that takes about two hours. The next stop up the river is Evergreen Bridge, about an hour from Bear River Road.

Another hour up the river is Click Road, where radio station WJML has its towers, and further up from that is a football field, where the furthest trip ends.

Between Springvale and Evergreen Bridge you will find the most isolated countryside. There is much wildlife along this stretch of the river, and it's very relaxing.

Once you get to Click Road, you are getting back to civilization, and though it's still nice, there are more signs of human activity.

Trips from Boyne Valley Lodge are $10 a canoe, but groups and non-profit organizations can rent canoes for $4 per person. For more information call 535-2475.

All three canoe renters in this area are open seven days a week, and canoeing is a good idea for a family outing.

You can bring along a picnic lunch and stop along the banks of the river (just don't deposit any trash), enjoy the scenery and have a good time.

Besides the canoes, Teddy's also has 11-foot-long paddleboards available. They cost $6 a day.

Here's what's cooking

Taste buds explode

WITH GINGER JACKSON

The Fourth of July is a time to relax and celebrate... that means the cook as well! Everything for the following meal can be prepared for cooking the day before. Then if you're going to a park for the day, just pack it all in a large cooler, put it in the car and away you go. Oh, don't forget to take the grill, charcoal and starter! Everything can be cooked on the grill! (Except the salad of course.)

ANTIPASTO SALAD COMBINE THE FOLLOWING IN A LARGE POT:

- 1/2 head of cauliflower, in flowerettes
- 2 sliced celery stalks
- 2 sliced carrots
- 1 sliced green pepper
- 6 small white onions, sliced
- 1 clove of garlic
- 1 cup fresh green beans (frozen can be used)
- 1 cup fresh peas (frozen can be used)
- 3/4 cup water
- 3/4 cup wine vinegar
- 1/4 cup salad oil
- 1 tablespoon olive oil
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon oregano
- salt and pepper to taste

Simmer all of the above, covered, for 5 minutes. Cool, add 1 large can of ripe olives and refrigerate for 24 to 48 hours before serving.

(Because the above salad does not contain mayonnaise, it won't spoil as quickly on a hot day.)

BARBECUED HAM SLICES

(serves 8)

The night before, make the following sauce:

MIX TOGETHER:

- 1/2 cup peanut butter
- 1/4 cup honey
- 3 teaspoons soy sauce
- 1 small onion, grated
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 cup chicken broth

Pour half of the above over 2 fully cooked center cut ham slices, 1 1/2 inches thick, which have been placed in a flat pan. Marinate over night in the refrigerator.

TO COOK:

Grill over glowing coals for 30 to 40 minutes, basting with remaining half of the sauce. Cut into slices and serve.

GRILLED TOMATOES

For each person, wash and dry one tomato. Place each tomato on a square of aluminum foil (enough to seal tomato with a twist at the top.) Sprinkle each with salt, pepper and oregano or parsley. Bring corners of foil to top and twist tightly shut.

Place tomatoes at the back of the grill for 20 minutes. Turn them several times so they will be evenly cooked.

GRILLED CORN ON THE COB

Again, allowing one or two per person, peel down the husks and remove the silk from each ear of corn. Wash, dry and season each with salt, pepper and rub with butter. Replace husks, roll in aluminum foil and twist the ends tightly. Place the corn on the back of the grill and cook for the same length of time (20 minutes) the tomatoes cook. Turn often.

BREAD GRILLED IN FOIL

- 1 loaf of French or Italian bread
- 1/2 cup soft butter or margarine
- 1 1/2 teaspoons lemon juice
- 1/2 cup minced parsley
- 1 teaspoon chopped chives
- grated Parmesan cheese

DIRECTIONS:

Slice the bread in 1 inch slices, being careful not to cut all the way through the bottom crust. Combine the butter, lemon juice and herbs and spread on both sides of the bread. Sprinkle with cheese. Wrap carefully in aluminum foil sealing completely. Warm on the back of the grill for about 20-30 minutes, turning occasionally.

When all of the main meal has been cooked and served, take advantage of the remaining hot coals by using this recipe for dessert.

BAKED BANANA BOATS

Allowing 1 banana per person, peel down a strip of banana peel, being careful not to strip it all the way off. Cut the banana open lengthwise and stuff with miniature marshmallows, chocolate chips and chopped nuts. Replace the peel, wrap each one in foil and place on hot coals while you eat (about 15 minutes.) Turn them once. (A tablespoon of dark rum can be added to each one before cooking.)

If all this makes you thirsty, then the following concoction will really refresh you.

LEMON-ORANGE SPICED TEA

MIX TOGETHER:

- 1 cup powdered orange breakfast drink
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup powdered instant tea
- 1/2 cup powdered lemonade mix
- 1/2 cup teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 cup teaspoon ground cloves
- 1/4 teaspoon allspice

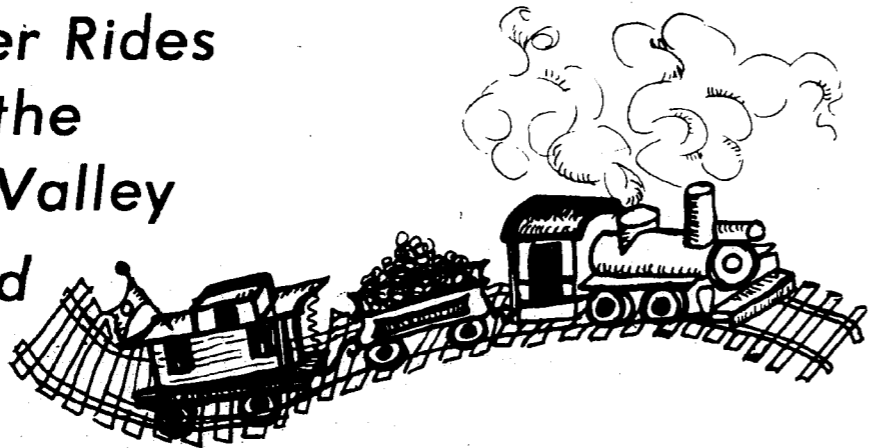

Store in a tightly covered jar until ready to use. Then add 2 heaping teaspoons to 1 cup of boiling water. This is delicious hot or cold. For the picnic, prepare the day ahead and refrigerate over night. Have a happy 4th!

Walloon Lake is home to this sailboat

A unique boat that is native to the Walloon Lake area is the 17 Square Meters sailboat.

The first 17 Square Meters boat was made in 1932 by Bill Loughlin and Ted McCutcheon. Loughlin, originally from Boyne City, designed the boat and McCutcheon made the first mold.

The first three 17 Square Meters (named for the sail area) boats were made of cedar-planking. The fourth was made from Honduras Mahogany, and the next 13 were made of Philippine Mahogany.

The 18th boat was made from African Mahogany, then numbers 19-25 were again made from Honduras Mahogany. McCutcheon, who owns McCutcheon Boat Works in Charlevoix, made the 17 Square Meters sailboats from 1938-1959.

In 1959 he sold the design to the Walloon Yacht Club. Today the boats are made of fiberglass, with the hulls coming from Grand River, Ohio. The boats are fitted to the customers requirements and the final touches are made at Walloon Landing.

McCutcheon says a couple 17 Square Meters boats were made in Holland, but they weren't built very well. "I think one of them was wrecked in a hurricane on the Mississippi River," McCutcheon said.

"A good wooden boat is better than a good fiberglass boat any day," McCutcheon says.

The original 17 Square Meters boats took more than 1,000 man hours each to build, and all were carefully made by McCutcheon and his workers.

The first models cost $800, and the fourth boat, made from Honduras Mahogany, cost $1,000.

"The last one, we got $2,400 for the boat with the sails. We paid about $1.80 an hour for a top skilled man. Usually we paid 75 cents an hour," McCutcheon said.

National races at Walloon Lake

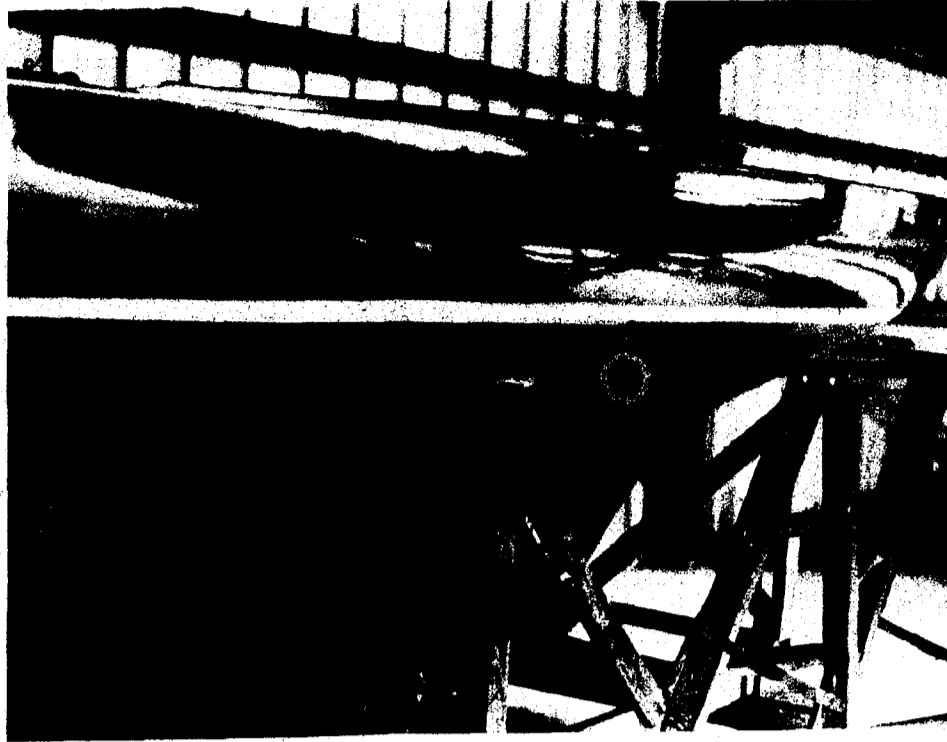

Walloon Lake will be the site for the 1978 Highlander National sailing championships.

The Highlander Championships, a joint effort of the International Highlander Association and the Walloon Yacht Club, will be held August 5-10 on Walloon Lake.

More than 45 boats are expected to participate in this year's Highlander races, with entries coming from throughout the United States and parts of Canada.

August 10 will be the trophy and awards banquet for the Highlander Championships. It will be held at the Holiday Inn in Petoskey, and will start at 7 p.m.

The entry fee for the Highlander races is $60. Highlander sailboats are 20-foot centerboard sloops.
