Second council member resigns

EAST JORDAN--Lorraine Gagnon Tuesday became the second city council member to resign in the past month.

Her resignation will mean five of six council seats plus the mayor's seat will be voted on in a Nov. 6 election.

Gagnon resigned because of a serious, extended illness. The remaining year of her second ward two year term will be filled by a write-in vote.

Harry Watson, a former third ward councilman, resigned in August. Bud Kenny's seat will be the only council position not being voted on in November.

Gagnon's resignation was accepted by the council at its regular meeting Tuesday. The council voted to send her a letter thanking her for her service.

In other action Tuesday the council:

--Approved authorizing city superintendent Herm Rasch to spend $2,100 for installing and removing Christmas decorations in conjunction with the chamber of commerce.

--Approved the appointment of Jamie Baumann, East Jordan public school community education director, to the city recreation commission.

--Discussed formally dedicating the road entering and the one exiting Sportsmans Park on M-32 as Sportsmans Drive East and West to enable the city to maintain the roads without an insurance liability problem.

--Heard city clerk Fern Morris report that letters had been mailed to delinquent water and sewer customers informing them that if their bills aren't paid by Sept. 25 their water will be shut off.

--Voted to refund rent of a boat slip at the city dock to Jack Hough, 602 2nd St., because after renting the slip he found it to be unsuitable for seasonal use.

--Set Tuesday, Sept. 25 at 7:30 p.m. as a special meeting for council members to go over the sewer report made by Ann Arbor consultants McNamee, Porter and Seeley.

Halftime show

The Red Devil marching band, led by drum majorette Brenda Rullman, played while East Jordan enjoyed a 22-0 halftime lead against Hillman last Friday. The Devils go to Bellaire this week for their first game on the road. For a preview of the game turn to page 16.

Board will try to solve student drop

EAST JORDAN - Business manager Ruby Dipzinski and superintendent of schools Mel Rullman told school board members last week that an enrollment decrease would mean "a very tight year" for the East Jordan school system.

The board appointed a committee to study the declines in an effort to determine if they will continue and to help find ways to cut the budget to cope with lost revenue.

More than 100 students, who were expected to be enrolled when school began this fall, aren't in classes, the two administrators told the board. No reasons have been found for the enrollment drop.

In other action at last Tuesday's meeting the board passed a resolution banning the sale of non-nutritious foods during school hours; accepted the low bid of 5.75 percent for a $275,000 state aid loan; set the tax levy at 34.2457 mills; and heard an update on the community education program from director Jamie Baumann.

The board approved a list of community education classes being offered this fall for credit status.

Baumann also reported to the board progress made on the Brown Creek Nature Area. The board passed a resolution making the first week in May "Brown Creek Nature Area Week" for the East Jordan public schools.

Nature area a living classroom

BY JON DENISON

EAST JORDAN--The 70 adults stopped and looked at a pile of brush, hearing about how squirrels and rabbits make their homes in similar piles. A few steps farther and they learned about a tree that's good deer food.

As they continued to walk, the group found out why pruning should be done 17 feet high on trees to get 16 foot boards without knots in them.

All the above information, plus much more, was presented to teachers in the East Jordan school system in a tour of the Brown's Creek Nature Area Sept. 4. Bill Grimm, conservationist for the U.S. Soil Conservation Service, took the East Jordan teachers around the recently plotted nature trail, located between the high school and the middle and elementary schools, in an effort to make them aware of the learning possibilities available in the area.

Grimm and community education director Jamie Baumann put together a three page script for walkers to read as they follow the trail.

Listed on the script are descriptions of different trees and explanations of conservation problems and solutions visible along the trail.

For those interested in more information about specific parts of the trail, Grimm and Baumann have made more detailed hand-outs.

Suggested projects for different grade levels were handed out to the teachers touring the area. They include tasks such as planting trees, taking nature walks, making squirrel boxes and bird feeders and cleaning up the area.

The Brown's Creek Nature Area concept goes back a long way, according to Grimm. The school system has had the property since the 1950's and different groups, such as the now defunct Future Farmers of America, have done various work projects on the area since then.

Interest in the area was renewed when the new high school was built, Grimm explained. He credits a ban on motorized vehicle traffic as being a major step forward for the nature area. "These things go in cycles," Grimm said of the interest in developing the land. "There's currently an interest."

"I hope the whole community becomes involved," Grimm said. "It would be a shame not to use it." "It can teach respect for our environment," he explained, "respect for preserving the area and improving it. It's a chance to learn about nature." "It's up to the teachers if they want to include it in their classes," he said. "The area began to take its present shape when, in 1977, Dan Kuczynski, an assistant in the community education program, began working on trails in the nature area."

The next year a Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) funded crew cleared the area out and built a bridge over the creek.

That fall, a work bee was held to widen the trail and to put in steps on a steep hill.

The script outlining the trail through the area was then put together this spring.

The East Jordan School Board passed a resolution making the first week in May "Brown's Creek Nature Area Week" in an effort to focus attention on the area.

Baumann and Grimm see cooperation between the school system and the city to improve the area in the future.

The city owns vacant land adjacent to the area and the property could be developed as an addition to the nature area.

Grimm, Baumann and the school board all agree that the nature area is unique among school districts and should be taken advantage of.

A possible answer

Enrollment drop layoff-related?

EAST JORDAN--A combination of reasons are apparently responsible for an enrollment drop of more than 100 students in the East Jordan schools, and layoffs at factories were one significant but unforeseen factor.

Ruby Dipzinski, business manager for the East Jordan public schools, concedes that layoffs at East Jordan plants may be one cause for the enrollment drop, but says that so far the school system really has no solid explanation for the dwindled student population.

"It could be families are moving to another area where a job is lined up," theorized Dipzinski. "We're not getting any real indication of that, though."

School enrollments are predicted for the following year each spring as each building principal estimates what the enrollment for his school will be. The system also makes a survey of pre-school age children, and these figures are used to project kindergarten enrollment.

Dipzinski and other school administrators expected a smaller kindergarten class this year than in the last few years. They didn't, however, expect the declines they've suffered in other grades.

The enrollment drop, unless drastically reversed before the fourth Friday official student count for state aid, could result in a loss of as much as $80,000 to the East Jordan school system.

A committee has been appointed to study the enrollment decline and determine whether it is temporary or if it can be expected to continue in years to come.

The committee will also help Dipzinski in making budget cuts to help the system make it through the year without the revenue expected from the missing students and the state aid that is also missing.

"There probably won't be any staff cuts," said Dipzinski. "If there are classes of less than 20 students, though, it will indicate that staff cuts may be in order."

The Press contacted East Jordan factories to see if layoffs reported earlier were still in effect.

Gulf and Western Stamping Co. and ITT Automotive Electrical Products Division spokesmen both reported little change in the layoff situation over the last month.

ITT has approximately 90 workers, of a staff that numbered 175 in mid-summer, currently laid-off while Gulf and Western has about 40 workers from a staff of more than 350 off work.

Michael Speer of Gulf and Western thinks that layoffs at the company's East Jordan plant have had a minimal effect, if any, on school enrollments.

The Press called East Jordan realtors to see if an unusual number of families with school age children had put homes up for sale.

Ben Schenck and Associates, Colwell and Company and Keith Dressel Realty all reported that they hadn't noticed any unusual activity in local listings that could explain the enrollment decline.

School systems throughout the Charlevoix-Emmett Intermediate School District have suffered enrollment declines, through East Jordan had the largest percentage lost.

Why remains a mystery to school officials. Dipzinski is fearful of what could happen should a large number of students re-surface in East Jordan schools after the fourth Friday count is taken.

If that happens, East Jordan will have to find a way to pay for their expenses. "How do you buy supplies for students that you have no money for?" asked Dipzinski.

Bike-a-thon

More than 55 East Jordan young people raised about $1,600 in a bike-a-thon for St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital Saturday. Organizer Bev Joseph marks cards on the backs of participants as they complete another one-mile lap. On the tricycle in the foreground is four year old Phillip White, who was the youngest participant to complete a mile. On the other end of the spectrum were five kids who completed 50 miles--Aaron Spence, Terry Burt, Todd Spence, Chris Joyce and Donna Hinton. Altogether, the bike-a-thon raised about $1,600, although an exact total won't be known until all pledges are turned in.

The last week of summer the East Jordan Public Library held a party for the children who participated in the Hero Sandwich Summer Reading Club. The club required that each participant read at least one book a week for seven weeks. Each week the library had games to play and prizes to win. At the party, diplomas were presented to all the children who successfully completed the club requirements. In addition, several books and prizes were awarded. Receiving a new book as the youngest to complete the club was Shannon Brunett, age 5½. Joe Ehrcke and Shandra Sweet, each won a new book for reading and reporting on the most books in the club.

New doctor's assistant

EAST JORDAN-The East Jordan Family Health Center will be getting a new physician's assistant (PA) next month. He is a Michigan native currently working in Georgia. Edwin Newington, a graduate of Western Michigan University's PA program, has accepted an offer from the health center and is expected to fill the position in mid-October. Sue Arndt, currently the physicians' assistant at the Family Health Center, will soon be getting married and moving to Lansing. Newington, 28, has been working at a pediatric center in Stone Mountain, Ga. He worked at the Lenox Medical Center in Tifton, Ga., and also has worked in recovery rooms, intensive care, medical-surgical, obstetric, emergency room and Air Force surgical situations.

Melrose millage OK'd

WALLOON-While township voters approved a two mill tax increase, the Melrose Township board planned to cut electrical costs. The millage request was approved by six votes, 77-71, last Tuesday. One mill will be used for road repair and maintenance and the other for the fire department. The board, in its regular monthly meeting, entered into an agreement with Consumers Power to shut-off 15 street lights on a 60-day trial basis. Savings to the township could amount to $1,000 per light per year. A representative of Great Lakes Cable Television and Charlevoix Cable Television reported to the board on cable TV development in the Walloon area. Before cable service can be implemented, cable companies must have a formal agreement from each of the five townships bordering the lake.

Business briefs

New name

The Vanderwall-Watson Funeral Home has shortened its name to Vanderwall Funeral Home. Tom Vanderwall bought the funeral home from Harry Watson in April of this year. The name was changed simply to avoid confusion, Vanderwall said. The Watson name was retained at first out of respect for the family that had owned it for 59 years. But Watson is no longer involved in the ownership or management of the facility, and having the family name as part of the business name caused confusion, Vanderwall said. "We just felt it was better to simplify things," he said.

Open house

Owner Mark Kowalske and the staff at Ski & Shore Properties of Boyne City invite the public to attend an open house at their new office from 4 to 8 p.m. Friday, Sept. 21. The new office is located across the street from their old office, on the corner of Water and East Streets. Refreshments will be served and a 12-speed bicycle will be given away.

Corrections

It was reported in last week's Press that Boyne City's Blaine Cronn had injured his knee playing in the Rambler's game against East Jordan and would require surgery. Mark Pruetz was actually the Rambler injured, not Cronn.

Two people were incorrectly identified in a photo caption on the Neighbors page of last week's Press. The two people signing the guest book at Vanderwall Funeral Home were Rev. and Mrs. Walter Buck.

WHAT IS THE NURSE'S ROLE?

The last days in a terminally ill patient's life present the nurse with one of the greatest, most difficult challenges in her nursing career, according to nurses Claire Hoffman, Gladys Lipman, and Ella Thompson in their book, "Simplified Nursing."

The nurse, in fact, may well be the person who gives the last comforting services to the dying patient and be a source of great comfort to his family as well.

She knows and recognizes the needs of the patient and learns to anticipate his requirements for comfort (i.e., a change of position, etc.). She is also alert to sense a patient's wish to talk to the clergyman or particular family members.

She is schooled in dealing with the emotional stresses the patient (and family) is undergoing, and, like the doctor, the clergyman and funeral director, is a very important member of the caregiving team. Very often she takes special study classes in the care of the very ill for the sake of the patient and her own well-being.

Flu outbreak hits schools

Boyer City schools are feeling the results of an earlier than usual rash of flu absences while two other traditional beginning of school-related health problems, scabies and lice, have surfaced in the East Jordan area. The East Jordan Family Health Center reported last week that it had witnessed many cases of lice and scabies among school-age children. District Three Health Department administrator Jerry Chase explained that scabies and lice reports are pretty much an annual occurrence when school begins each fall. Children who come in contact with other children who may have scabies or lice, and due to the contagious nature of scabies and lice, contract the health problem themselves. A health department spokesman said that one reason for an increase in the number of cases reported once school starts is that teachers and other school personnel notice the scabies or lice and report the problem. Chase said that the flu problem is an annual happening too, although this year it appears to be earlier than usual. While East Jordan schools didn't have an unusual number of absences when contacted by The Press Tuesday, Boyne City schools did. Approximately 50 Boyne high school students called in sick Tuesday and more than 25 middle school students were out with the flu. The health center in East Jordan described symptoms of the current flu outbreak as being low-grade fever, severe headache, diarrhea, abdominal cramps, vomiting, muscle aches and general fatigue. Chase said that flu problems usually surface in November, December or January. This year's virus, according to the health department, seems to have peaked earlier.

Let's make Artrain visit memorable!

It is truly an honor for Boyne City to be chosen to host the Michigan Artrain for a week next summer.

We think it is particularly appropriate for Boyne City to host the train. First, and probably the main reason the city was asked to host it, is the fact that we are in an area that already attracts tourists. Artrain is likely to attract more visitors to Boyne City than the average community of 3,500 would be expected to draw.

Secondly, our beautiful part of the state is one that naturally attracts artists and art-lovers as residents. Local artists will be invited to show their works in part of the six-car art museum on wheels.

It is a unique opportunity for the community -- Artrain visits only a dozen towns a year. Planning for next summer's visit has already begun, and we can tell already that the townspeople are going to go all out to make the Artrain visit an exciting one. The city commission has set up a citizens' committee which has already begun planning the many details which need to be ironed out to make the Artrain appearance a reality.

The committee will have to raise two or three thousand dollars to pay for Artrain expenses while it is here. Although individuals and business people are constantly asked to donate to public service projects, we are confident the community will respond generously to such a special event.

Committee members have split up the responsibilities for promotion, budget, necessary services, facilities, and for involving our local schools. They seem to be covering all possible areas, but they are open to innovative ideas for other ways to make the event as exciting as possible.

Tentative plans include beautifying the area where the train will be parked, inviting students to display school projects, and inviting local artists to display and demonstrate their work.

If done properly, the entire city would have the air of an art festival for the full week of Artrain's visit.

Why not have a local art fair in the park -- scheduled to coincide with the Artrain visit? And musical concerts in the park, and perhaps theater performances by the Lakeside Players?

We encourage the involvement of everyone who has energy, ideas or cash to contribute. Let's make the Artrain visit a memorable week!

Letter to the editor

Vandalism... you may be next

Editor,

I feel compelled to write this letter to the paper, because of an incident that took place after the Hillman football game last Friday night.

We live in a rural area in the East Jordan School District, so I have allowed my two daughters to drive the family car to athletic and school events.

So far they have accepted and carried out this privilege in an adult and trustworthy manner.

However last Friday night near the school, three kids hid in the bushes along the road, and hurled a rock through the windshield of our car. The four people in my car were sure who the vandals were, however it being dark, it is apparently hard to prove who it was.

I contacted the parents the next day and received cooperation. However none of the boys would admit guilt. The parents state they have to believe their kids. I can understand that, however, just as sure they are of their innocence the four kids in my car are as sure as to their guilt.

If these young people are not guilty, they have my apology for the accusations. My car insurance will pay for the window, however this incident once again points up the complete disregard some people have for their fellow human beings and private property.

My kids are completely innocent of any wrong doing, yet they have lost their privilege of taking the car to school events. We will have to take them and drop them off.

I have spent the last 20 years trying to set a good example and teach my children respect for other people, and their property. Someone has wiped all this out in one "fun" loving incident!

Whoever it was should be well satisfied. You got away with it this time, but what about the next?

Parents of the community, your car may be the next one to be vandalized. Have you taught your children to respect other people and their property?

Uncle John died on the flip side

Dear Mr. Sayles,

The last time I wrote, you told me to send the paper and you would cut out the column and return the paper to me so I could read it without being offended.

You did cut it out all right and sent back the paper as you said, but someone called the neighbors to say Uncle John's death was on the back. He was my favorite uncle and I wanted to put his death in my dictionary where I keep all my important papers.

It seems to me that a smart paper man would turn the page to see who died on the back of his column. I can not buy another paper because quarters do not grow on trees out here in Hudson Township.

I wanted to save Uncle John's death because he made his mark in our family. He was a bachelor and never made much money but people always said he lived beyond his means. When that horse was stole everyone jumped him and hounded him. He always said he didn't do it but that was not the answer they wanted.

Uncle John when to a judge to get people to stop hounding him and the judge told him that if he went to Jackson for awhile, people would forget all about it. Uncle John did go to Jackson and they found a nice job for him making license plates for the state. He was so good at it they kept him there 10 years. No one in our family ever climbed that far on the ladder. That is why I wanted to save his death in my dictionary.

Mostly I am writing to ask you to quit hiding dead people behind your column. My relatives said I should not put Uncle John in the dictionary with something like that on his back.

Yours truly,

Peace and quiet? No, it's a drag!

Tires squealed, gears ground and engines roared.

Sitting on the couch, my friend, not quite knowing where he was, raised his eyebrows and asked, "Is this a drag strip infield?"

I laughed and said no, but as the evening progressed and the road racing outside my window in little Boyne Falls continued, I started to wonder.

You see, both my friend and I have spent quite a bit of the recent years of our lives in an area free of autos. Mackinac Island, our former home, has many faults of its own, but out-of-control motorists however are not one of them.

It's hard for me to understand the pleasure derived from going as fast as possible within a block's length.

I get visions of children riding bicycles in front of the tire squealing hot-rodgers, or little old ladies innocently stepping off a curb as a street squirrel slides around a corner.

I'm used to living in an atmosphere where the biggest road hazard in your life is a drunken bike making you fall as you do your best to get it home safely.

I never tried to emulate the Parnelli

My mother would've killed him if she had known. His career as a racer ended one winter's day when we jammed his accelerator pedal with the window scraper and tried to push the car on the road.

We succeeded in freeing the car and it careened across the alley into our

Technology often unpredictable

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second in a series of 15 articles exploring "Connections: Technology and Change." In this article, social scientist Peter F. Drucker discusses how technology has changed our lives and institutions throughout history. This series was written for COURSES BY NEWSPAPER, a program developed by University Extension, University of California, San-Diego, and funded by a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

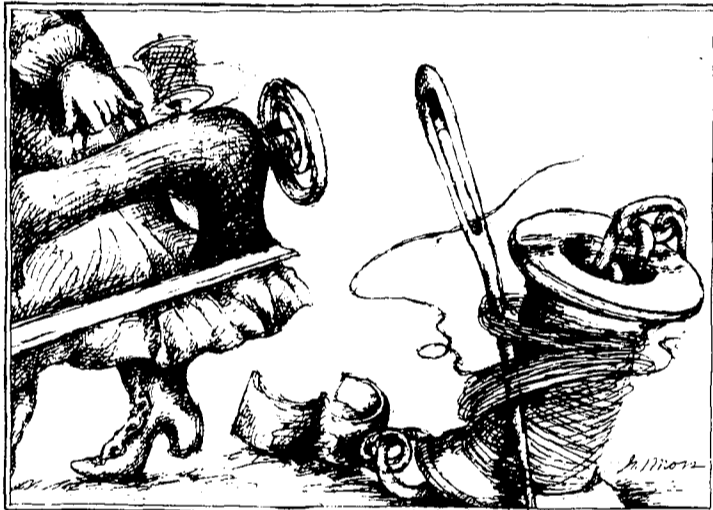

A related 10-part television series, "Connections," co-produced by the BBC and Time-Life Films, will be shown over PBS stations beginning at 8 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 30 on Channel 6.

BY PETER F. DRUCKER

Major technological developments -- from television and computers to satellites and nuclear energy -- are profoundly affecting the way we live. They are thereby causing concern about the social impact of technological change.

Technology does indeed often have great social or political impact. But it is far from predictable whether this or that technology will have impact, let alone what it will be. The impact depends as much on the response of people and of cultures as it does on the new technology.

For example, the first "women's liberation" occurred in the 11th and reversed. One spinster could supply half a dozen weavers with yarn.

When spinsters became productive, they became independent. Suddenly, a woman could be in society and be respectable without being dependent upon a male. Until then, only a nun or prostitute could survive without being a wife or concubine. Girls, therefore, had to be betrothed in infancy. Now they could remain single until old enough to choose whom to marry or even not marry at all. They could be "spinsters."

The great changes in culture, in religious worship, and in law then followed in short order.

THE SECOND WOMEN'S LIB

The second "women's liberation," that of today, also has its roots in technological innovation -- in the sewing machine, the typewriter, and the telephone.

Before the sewing machine was invented, a little over a hundred years ago, sewing was the hardest, most time-consuming job of the housewife. Only the very rich could afford to have their clothes made by a tailor. The rest had to make and mend their own clothes. The farm wife or worker's wife of 1860 spent four to six hours a day plying the needle.

The sewing machine cut this time to approximately 30 minutes a day. It also made clothes so cheap -- cutting prices by more than three-quarters -- that even ordinary people could afford "store-bought" clothes.

The typewriter and the telephone, by creating middle-class employment opportunities outside the home, made it possible, as had the spinning wheel eight hundred years earlier, for "respectable" women to earn their living without being dependent upon a male.

Even in Dickens' last novel, written around 1870, there are only male clerks in offices. "Respectable" women did not go out without an escort.

Twenty-five years later, an advertisement for a "clerk" generally meant a woman rather than a man; and "respectable" women were going to work by themselves, traveling by themselves, and altogether leading lives of their own. Higher education for women, considered a luxury or an ornament in Victorian times, soon became a necessity. The demand for the vote, for equality before the law, and for equality in careers inevitably followed.

THE FIRST CIVILIZATION

But perhaps the most important example of the connection between technology and social order is the first true "civilization," that of the irrigation cities of antiquity -- of Egypt along the Nile five or six thousand years ago; of Mesopotamia about the same time; of the Indus Valley a thousand years or so later; and of Southern China, from which Chinese civilization arose four thousand years ago.

What made the irrigation city possible was technology: the ability to erect and maintain civil engineering works to lead the flood waters of the rivers to the land, to prevent their running back into the river again, and to circulate them.

These irrigation works -- the first, and perhaps the most impressive, achievements of "modern" technology -- required measurement, which led to the development of geometry. They required ability to forecast the flood, that is, a calendar and astronomy. They brought people together into very large settlements and thus required water supply, sanitation, city walls, and public buildings.

They required specialists: scientists, physicians, bureaucrats, tax collectors, lawyers, scribes, teachers, and engineers. The irrigation city required writing to record contracts and tax receipts. It required law -- and the codes developed then, whether in Babylon or in China, would still serve most needs of modern commerce today. The irrigation city required law courts to settle disputes and police to maintain safety.

Above all, irrigation developed city and citizen. It developed a common deity, where there had been only tribal gods. And from this came the belief in a universal God of all mankind, and indeed the idea of "Mankind" itself.

In other words, the irrigation city developed what we still call "civilization." And its foundation was technology.

TECHNOLOGY AND SOCIETY

These examples show, first, that technology is not something outside of society. It is society itself. But it does not "determine" society and culture. It must fit both to become effective technology.

The spinning wheel was an obvious invention once the carriage wheel and the potter's wheel had been introduced several thousand years before the spinning wheel replaced the distaff. Society was simply not receptive; the lady of the house spinning with her daughters and maids -- a scene the Homeric epics depict again and again -- fulfilled important functions that society did not want to do without.

Second, these examples show that technology provides only options. The spinning wheel diffused rapidly throughout the Old World. Yet it had social and cultural impacts only in the areas of Western Catholicism -- not in the regions of Greek Catholicism. It had none at all outside the Christian world, that is in China or India. The irrigation city similarly evoked different social and political responses. In Egypt, a religious bureaucracy emerged, but there were no political or social theories and no secular institutions. In China, the irrigation city brought about great political and social theory -- the Confucian concept of social harmony, based on interpersonal relations and aiming to make human society conform to a pre-established harmony of the universe.

Equally great was the impact in the Mid-East. In Sumeria and Babylonia it was soon seen that the centralized governance of the irrigation city could become a tyranny, exploiting the weak and poor, but also a force for good, the engine of justice and compassion. And political philosophy as we now know it thus arose in the irrigation city of Mesopotamia and thence in Greece.

These illustrations show that technology is first and foremost a "humanity." Technologies are not created by nature or by elves in the Black Forest. They are created by humans. They are extensions of Man, to be used by humanity.

Alfred Russell Wallace, who with Charles Darwin formulated the theory of natural selection, said, "Man is the only animal capable of purposeful evolution; he makes tools." These tools bespeak human needs and values. They give us new performance and new survival capacity. They make us, in effect, a different animal.

Thus they pose new human options, create new human opportunities, and demand new human answers.

Technology liberates by giving us choices.

12th centuries. In the history books, this sharp change in the position of women is recorded in terms of literature, religion, or law. For the troubadour who emerged in Southern France, woman was no longer a "sex object," but an object of adoration to whom he addressed his poems from afar (or at least pretended to).

In Christianity, the Virgin Mary replaced God the Father as the central figure in popular worship and in religious art. And legally, women acquired property rights as widows, the right to maintain property they brought into the marriage, and the right to their own earnings.

THE SPINSTER

But the underlying cause of these tremendous social changes was a technological innovation in France -- the spinning wheel. With it came the "spinster" -- actually, anyone who spins, although we use the word today to denote an unmarried woman who is no longer young.

Spinning has been women's work from time immemorial -- we still speak of the "distaff" side of the house. But spinning on the distaff was inefficient. It took ten spinsters with distaffs to keep one weaver going. With the spinning wheel, the relationship was

Students can register to take ACT test

High school students have until Sept. 21 to register to take the first in a series of national ACT college entrance tests.

The American College Testing Assessment Program will be held at North Central Michigan College in Petoskey on five days during the coming school year.

The first test date will be Oct. 20, with registration ending Sept. 21. Other test dates will be Dec. 8, Feb. 16, April 12 and June 14. Registration must be completed about four weeks before each test.

For registration information, contact the college or any high school counselor.

Boyer City High School Counselor Glenn Irwin explains that "The test scores provide an assessment of general educational development" which is used by many colleges and universities.

He said the tests are also helpful to students and high school guidance counselors for education and career planning.

It takes students about three hours to complete the ACT Assessment's four exams covering subject areas of English, math, social studies, and natural sciences.

neighbor's Volkswagen. So much for his Indy 500 training.

That was as close as I came to the "Let's tool the gut" society. Cloistered on an island for five summers and walking on college campuses for the intervening winters, I wasn't in contact with fast cars and their pilots.

I've more than made up for it in the last month though. Just in the past 20 minutes spent at the typewriter, 10 roadsters have roared past our office.

This is in an era of supposed gas consciousness. At $1 a gallon I certainly wouldn't expend 50c worth going from corner to corner.

Muscle cars, as they were called when some of my high school friends were becoming involved with them, aren't noted for gas mileage records going slow, let alone at top speeds.

The days of fast cars could be drawing to a close. Engine sizes are getting smaller. More emphasis is being put on safety and mileage.

If the trend continues, perhaps my home will no longer sound like northern Michigan's favorite dragstrip and maybe, in my old age, I won't fear for my life at every street crossing.

SAPPHIRES

John Reusch

The traditional September birthstone, sapphire has acquired many legendary virtues in its long history of use as a gemstone, from protector of royalty and a symbol of truth and constancy, to a cure for boils and poisoning. It is corundum, the same mineral as ruby. The term sapphire is correctly applied to all colors of corundum other than medium light to dark tones of red to purple-red, which are called rubies. Sapphires can appear in blues, yellows, orange (padparadsha), green violet, pink, alexandrite-like (color changes from violet to blue), colorless, blue-green, and brown. The word sapphire alone is generally used to mean the blue variety, while the other colors are correctly referred to as yellow sapphire, green sapphire, etc. Amongst the blues the terms most often used are Kashmir (cornflower blue), Burma or Oriental (royal blue), Siam (dark blue), Ceylon (pale gray blue to light blue violet), Montana (light metallic blue), and Australian (dark inky blue).

For your selection of fine sapphires visit one of our Reusch Jewelry stores today.

SURVEY QUESTION
Why do you think the enrollment in East Jordan schools has dropped?
Mine is two words: The Pill.
I think because people are moving to the city where they make more money.

I think kids are quitting school to find jobs and get married.

Over the years the birth rate has dropped.

The factories aren't as secure as they were last year and people are moving to bigger towns.

The Christian school is a part of it and people are moving to other states where it's cheaper to live and the weather is better. Then there is a longer season to grow farm vegetables and they can be more self-supportive.

In the high school it is because of the new principal.

Probably because people are having less children because they can't afford to have many children today.

It is too expensive to commute if parents have a job in Traverse City or Petoskey so I think they are just moving closer to their jobs.

Because our school system doesn't offer enough.

Drawing

Nearly $1,900 was collected in tickets raffling a doll house made by several Boyne City residents. The money goes towards supporting the Boyne Nursery School. MSU forester says

Plenty of colors this season

Michigan residents who are planning a fall color tour should have plenty to see and enjoy this season, says a Michigan State University forestry specialist.

Melvin Koelling says prospects are good for a good color display because of a favorable growing season with adequate moisture and sunshine. However, he cautions there may be a decrease in the intensity of the various shades of red displayed by some species such as sugar maple.

Species of trees like sugar maple which characteristically have red fall colors require a lot of sunshine to produce their typical autumn hues. If extended periods of cloudy, rainy weather continue through September, we may not see as brilliant a display as in some years. It is highly likely, however, that the usual bright yellows and oranges will be present.

Koelling explains that August was unusually cloudy and cool over much of the state. This condition has accelerated the rate of fall color development in some species. However, most trees should still display their brilliant colors at about the same time they usually do in late September and early October.

"We haven't had the optimal combinations of bright days, cool nights and dry conditions," he says. "Although a few of the state's trees have begun changing color, this is mostly due to local environmental stresses such as root damage caused by road salt or construction."

"The majority of trees, if the current weather continues, will possibly change only a few days earlier than usual and the colors may not be quite as vivid." Koelling says an early frost would be the only factor which would damage the fall display.

"Many people believe that a frost is essential for color development, but a hard frost will actually kill the leaves, turning them brown," he says.

To Petoskey, Boyne Falls

BVRR color tours

In a few weeks the leaves will change and Northern Michigan will once again be the most beautiful place to be.

The Boyne Valley Railroad (BVRR) offers color tour train rides, the best way to see the fall come in with a burst of colors.

In addition to the regular BVRR trips from Boyne City to Boyne Falls, the train will make two round trips between Boyne City and Petoskey.

The trips from Boyne City to Petoskey will run Saturday, Sept. 29 and Saturday, Oct. 13. Passengers on the 46 mile round-trip will be treated to a spectacular fall color show aboard a 1913 Pullman-built coach. These runs allow two hours in Petoskey for shopping and dining.

The BVRR also offers three runs between Boyne City and Boyne Falls every Saturday and Sunday (except Sept. 29 and Oct. 13) from Sept. 22 through Oct. 21. This 14.4 mile round-trip takes its passengers through colorful hardwood trees which form a natural tunnel, past Boyne Mountain and over the Boyne River.

Round-trip tickets for the Petoskey runs are $8 for adults and $4.50 for children under 12. Round-trip tickets for the Boyne City to Boyne Falls runs are $3.50 for adults and $2 for children under 12.

The train rides to Boyne Falls depart Boyne City at 11 a.m., 1 p.m., and 3 p.m. for the hour and forty minute ride.

The train ride for the Boyne City to Petoskey run departs Boyne at 10 a.m. and arrives in Petoskey at noon. The return trip leaves Petoskey at 2 p.m. and arrives back in Boyne City at 4 p.m.

For more information contact the railroad at 582-2232.

Civic Theatre in Harbor

HARBOR SPRINGS. The English mystery "Sleuth" will open this season at Little Traverse Civic Theatre at the Lyric Theatre.

Performances will be held at 8:30 p.m., Thursday through Saturday, Sept. 20-22 and 27-29. Tickets are $3.75 and are also available at Hovey's in Harbor Springs and The Photo Art Shop in Petoskey.

A special dinner for the theatre goes at the Pointer Room in the Pier begins at 6:30 p.m. for $8.50. Reservations are necessary.

Enjoy fall on a color cruise

CHARLEVOIX. To see the spectacular fall colors in a unique fashion, try a cruise around Lake Charlevoix aboard the Beaver Islander.

The cruise, which will be in its 18th annual tour, is a wide-ranging event attracting passengers of all ages. The color cruise will depart from the Beaver Island boat dock in Charlevoix on Sept. 29, Oct. 6, 7, 13, and 20. The price per ticket is $6 for adults and $3 for children 11 and under. Tickets are sold on a non-refundable basis. The motor ship has protected cover and will sail rain or shine. The cruise has grown from one to five trips in recent years because of increased popularity. Jacquie Merta of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce urges people to buy tickets in advance because past years' cruises have been sell-outs.

The destination of the cruise is a "Captain's choice," with the captain cruising Lake Charlevoix either to Boyne City or East Jordan. Bring your camera and binoculars to catch the brilliant shoreline colors.

For further information, contact the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce at 547-2101.

'Look at the small things' when hiking

Kathy Mittig and her dog Cody hiking the Warner Creek Pathway

BY DIANNE MURRAY

"Take your time, look at the small things."

Those are suggestions from Kathy Mittig, forest manager for the Department of Natural Resources. Kathy has worked this summer marking and clearing hiking trails in Charlevoix County.

She has a great interest in hiking, backpacking and cross-country skiing probably inherited from her father. Bill Mittig, was an area forester for the DNR and is presently working as a DNR staff assistant in Boyne City. He laid out the trails for Warner Creek, Spring Brook and the Jordan Valley Pathways.

Kathy 19, said the enjoyment she and her dog Cody experience in the woods compares to nothing else.

"It's so relaxing being away from people, buildings, airplanes and cars. You get to know yourself hiking in the woods," she said.

But it is more than that which draws Kathy, who hikes barefooted, back to the trails for enjoyment and employment.

As we walk along the trails of Warner Creek Pathway, I find Kathy noticing things I've passed up -- blackberries buried under bushes, evergreen trees just starting to grow and snakes slithering past our feet.

Kathy said her love for nature started when she and her family went camping and hiking in Northern Michigan. "That's one part of my childhood I'll always cherish -- being with my family out in the woods," she said.

Kathy, trying to be unbiased, said her favorite hiking trail is the Jordan River Pathway. The trail covering 18 miles of woods in the Jordan River State Forest, weaves past several creeks.

"The little creeks and the beautiful view from Deadman's Hill make this trail special," Kathy said. "Also the Jordan River Pathway is best for its display of color. The hardwood and tamarack trees change to such beautiful colors."

The tamaracks along the shores of the Jordan River turn a beautiful yellow. The trees will be in their "peak color" stage in another week, she added.

Although Kathy does not wear shoes when hiking she suggested hikers wear appropriate clothing for a day in the woods.

Wear what you're comfortable in, she said, but also be prepared for the stress and exercise hiking requires.

The best way to be prepared for any weather a hiker may encounter is to dress in layers. That way if you get warm, you can just take off a layer and carry it in a light day pack.

Other necessities for a day hike include a compass, bug spray, comfortable shoes which won't rub your feet and cause blisters, a map of the trail and food for a quick snack.

Picking the right trail for your physical condition and hiking experience is important. All state forest trails are marked with blue dots on trees. Kathy said a novice hiker may want to start on easier trails and work his way up to more difficult and longer paths.

"Warner Creek is good for beginners because the trail is pretty straight and only 3.5 miles long. There are hardly any hills to climb and the trails are well marked."

Spring Brook Pathway in Chandler Township is a better trail for cross country skiing than for hiking, Kathy said, because it's swampy. Spring Brook is the most popular cross country skiing trail in the winter, she added.

Her favorite trail, Jordan River Pathway, and Shingle Mill Pathway east of Vanderbilt are the best trails for an experienced hiker looking for beauty and a challenge, she said.

Take your camera along

Photography in the woods acts like a wine. It mellows a trip, and deepens it. The pace slows a little, but things are seen more fully. Deliberately or not, the camera-toting hiker will form habits of looking more often and more closely, and after a few trips you'll end up going out of your way to look at things. With this looking comes understanding, and out of that, a deeper appreciation and respect for the wild.

A trip may last one day or a few, but the photographs taken remain even if the wilderness where they were taken is destroyed. Having these pictures is a kind of preservation of what the area was and what it did to you.

Suggestions for enjoyment

In order to make your hiking trips more enjoyable, the Department of Natural Resources has drawn up a list of "Suggestions for your enjoyment."

They are as follows:

1. Respect the solitude of others. Hike in small groups and practice good hiking and camping etiquette.
2. For safety, hike with a buddy; disabled injuries are dangerous when you are alone.
3. Always carry a map and compass.
4. Drinking water and toilets are available in campgrounds. For your safety, it is recommended that all water from streams be purified before drinking.

5. Extinguish all smoking materials carefully. Be careful with campground fires.

6. Do not buy garbage or refuse. Pack it out for disposal in proper containers.

7. Plan for variable weather conditions. Nights may be cool.

8. At certain times of the year, insects can be a problem. Carry suitable repellents.

9. Keep pets under strict control; other hikers may not enjoy them as much as you do.

This week's tour: east for early color

To see the earliest fall color, head east. It's cooler away from Lake Michigan, and the colors turn quicker the further inland you go. This week's color tour starts in Boyne City [follow the dotted line on the map] and takes you through some of the prettier and lesser populated sections of Charlevoix County. On Chandler Road, you'll pass the Spring Brook Pathway, which is a nice place to take a hike and eat a picnic lunch. You'll not only see the leaves, but you'll smell them and hear them crunching under your feet as you walk. Also on this tour, you'll pass a little red schoolhouse on Chandler Hill, tree-covered Magee Road, and pretty Thumb Lake and Deer Lake. Have a nice drive through God's Country!

Take a hikeon area trails

The fall colors have arrived and Northern Michigan is once again blessed with an Indian Summer. Now is the time to see our forests and rolling meadows alive with color. With the cost of gasoline so high, a great way to get some exercise and get a close to nature first-hand look at fall scenery is by hiking.

Here are some hiking trails The Press recommends in and around Charlevoix County.

We suggest you start hiking moderately. Choose a trail which suits your physical ability and hiking experience. Topographic maps and conditions of trails are available at the Department of Natural Resources office at the corner of East and State Streets in Boyne City. The DNR phone number is 582-6681.

Warner Creek Pathway. Located in the Jordan River State Forest, the 3.8

miles of trail offers a beautiful pathway through hardwoods. Warner Creek is an easy trail, good for beginning hikers.

The starting point of the trail is located 1 1/2 miles south of East Jordan on M-32.

Jordan River Pathway. The pathway also, in the Jordan River State Forest, offers several options as to length of hike. Backpacking the entire pathway is a two-day hike, covering 18 miles. One loop is only three miles and begins and ends at the top of Deadman's Hill. Pathway attractions include an old logging railroad, the Jordan River, Pinney Bridge and tall white spruce trees. To get to the pathway take U. S. 131 eight miles south of Boyne Falls to Dead Man's Hill Road. Turn right, and follow the signs.

Bells Bay Hiking Trail. This two mile trail takes you over hills and past an old stone quarry. The hiking trail is located at the state campground southwest of Charlevoix. Take U. S. 31 south to Bells Bay Road, turn west, and follow the signs.

Pine Baron Pathway. The longest loop, 6.25 miles long, is composed of four smaller loops, each approximately two miles long. The pathway, located in the Otsego State Forest, is six miles west of Gaylord off Old Alba Road.

Wildwood Hills Pathway. This 9 1/4 miles of trail is great for hikers and cross country skiers. The three loops, ranging in length from three to four miles, are spotted with hills and beautiful hardwoods. The pathway is located 12 miles east of Petoskey on Wildwood Road.

Spring Brook Pathway. Located in the Jordan River State Forest, the 10 miles of trails lead through hardwoods, up and down several hills and past old railroad grades. From Boyne Falls, turn east on Thumb Lake Road (C-48), then north on Slashing Road, and left on Chandler Road.

Shingle Mill Pathway. Two campgrounds, pathways for hiking, skiing and backpacking are included in the 11 miles of loops located in the Pigeon River State Forest. Two smaller loops, 3/4 mile and 1 1/4 miles are best for beginning hikers, with the six mile loop for more experienced hikers and the 10 and 11 mile loops being the most difficult. The pathway begins at the Pigeon River Campground, located on Sturgeon Valley Road, 11 miles east of Vanderbilt off I-75. You might get lucky on your hike and see an elk, for the only wild elk herd in the eastern United States roams the Jordan River Pathway.

Happy trails!

State offers tips on land buying

State Licensing and Regulation Officials remind potential buyers of resort or recreational property that they should be aware of Michigan's Land Sales Act.

The Land Sales Division of the Department of Licensing and Regulation has the responsibility to examine, register, and regulate the promotion and sales of recreational and resort property subdivided by developers into 25 or more lots or parcels.

When considering land purchases, buyers should:

--Visit the property for personal inspection prior to signing any sales contract;

--Request a copy of the state or federal property report if one is required;

--Check with the county health department where the land is located to see if water supply and septic system permits are available if the property is being offered as a homestead;

--Check the availability of utilities such as telephone, gas, electricity or propane;

--Check accessibility to the site;

--Check availability of an abstract or title insurance for the property to assure a clear and marketable title; and

--Inquire about finance or service charges, taxes, closing costs, special assessments, and association or maintenance fees, in addition to the quoted selling price of the property.

William S. Ballenger, state licensing and regulation director, advises buyers to read carefully all forms presented to them by salespersons before signing a contract to purchase land.

Any contract should contain all verbal promises made by a salesperson, and all blanks should be filled in on the form. No rights offered to a purchaser should be waived, and the purchaser should receive a copy of all documents, he said.

Ballenger noted that the Michigan real estate law also provides certain safeguards for persons purchasing property through licensed real estate brokers or salespersons. These laws are meant to ensure that:

--Offerings made by a licensed broker or salesperson are not misleading;

--Purchase agreements contain all terms of the transaction;

--Misrepresentations and false promises are prohibited; and

--All money received in connection with the offer to purchase must be placed in a trust account pending consummation or termination of the transaction.

Ballenger said buyers can always request to see the real estate salespersons' pocket license cards in order to determine whether they are actually licensed brokers or salespersons.

Questions or comments regarding the purchase of subdivided lands should be directed to the Land Sales Division of the State Department of Licensing and Regulation in Lansing (517-373-7360).

Winterizing guide lists assistance programs

Homeowners preparing for winter's icy blasts can take advantage of a variety of federal, state, and utility-sponsored programs to help finance home weatherization improvements.

A guide to financial assistance programs is now available through Project Conserve sponsored by the Energy Administration, Michigan Department of Commerce.

Householders can obtain the informational booklet "Getting Financing" by telephoning Project Conserve on the toll-free number 1-800-292-4704 or by writing the Energy Administration, P.O. Box 30228, Lansing 48909.

The publication lists programs, agencies, and organizations which provide financial assistance or services to help Michigan householders take energy-conserving steps.

Programs available include loans for insulation work provided through utility companies, the state Housing Development Authority home improvement program which provides low interest loans to low and moderate income single-family dwelling owners, and federal assistance to low income persons for home weatherization services.

Special aid programs for senior citizens, handicapped, and American Indians are explained in the booklet. It also provides information on home weatherization grants available through local community action agencies.

Project Conserve is a continuing special program in which single family homeowners fill out a questionnaire and receive in return a computerized analysis of heating and cooling efficiency of their dwelling. The report to the homeowner also includes suggested ideas and localized cost estimates for energy-conserving improvements.

Homeowners who have not previously received the questionnaire form still have time to request the assistance from the Energy Administration offices.

REDUCING ELECTRICAL BILL

The cost of running a home has increased with the cost of living. But the monthly electric bill (thanks mainly to the increased cost of fuel) has more than doubled the cost of living rate in some areas around the country. Fortunately, there are ways to reduce this expense.

Here are some suggestions from the Federal Energy Office: Concentrate lighting in the reading and working areas - reduce lighting in other areas... Use one large bulb rather than several smaller ones. One 100-watt bulb produces more light than two 60-watt bulbs... Use clothes washer, dryer and dishwasher only when they are fully-loaded... Wash clothes in cold water with cold water detergents. If everyone did this, some 160,000 barrels of oil per day could be saved nationally. A household's dollar saving would be about 4 percent. One 100-watt bulb burning around the clock for one year wastes more than 60 gallons of oil and adds $28 to your electric bill. Finally, a 40-watt fluorescent bulb gives more light than a 100-watt incandescent one. It lasts 10 times as long and uses half the energy.

Sports

Dan Dunlop, left, and Mike Matison took advantage of a vacant sideline bench for a good view of the action and some cotton candy during the Boyne City-Tawas game Friday. The Ramblers will be home for the second straight week when they host Grayling in their Michigan-Huron Shores conference opener Friday.

Despite two losses

Boyne isn't down or out

BOYNE CITY They've lost two games -- the last by a 27-0 score -- but the Ramblers of Boyne City aren't hanging their heads.

Boyne coach Bob McCullough says that his players aren't discouraged by their slow start and they'll be ready for their Michigan-Huron Shores Conference opener this Friday against Grayling.

"They've got real good heads," McCullough said of his players' attitudes going into the league opener.

McCullough said last week's loss to class B power Tawas wasn't all bad, no matter what the score might indicate.

"We shut off their running game, the first time anyone has in six years," McCullough said. "We gave up four touchdowns through the air. When we get that corrected, we'll be all right."

"I was very pleased with our running defense. We were very conscious of the run," explained McCullough.

In addition to working on pass defense this week, McCullough said, the Ramblers will concentrate on maintaining the good hitting they've displayed the first two games.

"We have to hit this week," emphasized McCullough. "The tendency after two good hitting games is to let up sometimes. We have to be sure that we don't take Grayling lightly."

Grayling enters the 7:30 contest at Boyne Friday night with a 2-0 record. They beat Boyne 14-7 last year in one of the many games that saw Boyne lose in the final minutes.

"They have a good running attack, a decent passing game, pretty good athletes and good spirit," McCullough described Friday's opponent.

McCullough pointed to juniors Paul Barden and Bruce McGeorge and seniors Blaine Cronn, Mitch Moore and Jerry Grice as defensive leaders in the loss to Tawas.

The Boyne City Athletic Department wants to remind Rambler fans that all-sports family passes are available for $50. The passes cover admission to all contests that admission is charged for and admits all members of a family.

League opener at Bellaire

Unbeaten EJ hits the road

EAST JORDAN - The Red Devils of East Jordan notched their second impressive victory of the year, thrashing Hillman 32-0 in a tune-up for their Ski Valley Conference opener against Bellaire Friday.

The Devils racked-up more than 450 yards in total offense against Hillman using a balance of running and passing.

This Friday's game will be the first road trip for East Jordan--taking them away from their friendly home crowd.

"We won't have the home crowd advantage," head coach Frank Holes admitted. "East Jordan has such a great following."

Holes expects quite a few East Jordan fans to make the 20 mile drive to Bellaire and says they'll see two similar offenses.

"They run an offense somewhat similar to ours," Holes said. "They run more options though."

"They have a couple of big kids. They've always been noted for big people," he commented.

Physical size is the only way they're big, Bellaire only has about 22 players, according to Holes, as they try to rebuild their program after a year without football.

A failed millage vote stripped the school of its team last season and, according to Holes, "not having football had to hurt some."

Bellaire is 1-1 so far this year. They beat Atlanta the first week of the season but fell to Suttons Bay 40-20 last week.

"They like to throw," Holes offered as a preview of Friday's game. "They have a big quarterback and he likes to wing the ball."

The tempo for the Hillman game was set in the first minute of the contest. Steve Graham, the Devils' 200 lb. sophomore fullback, romped 40 yards for a score before the first 60 seconds were gone from the clock.

Senior halfback Bob Thompson ran for the two point conversion and East Jordan was off to the races.

Graham scored again in the first quarter, this time on a 26 yard run, and Thompson again ran for the two extra-points.

Senior halfback Duane Cutler ran seven yards for a score in the second quarter giving East Jordan a 22-0 halftime lead.

Neither team crossed the goal-line in the third period but East Jordan's scoring wasn't over.

Senior fullback Tom Zoulek pounded over for a two yard score and junior halfback Larry Huckle added the two point conversion.

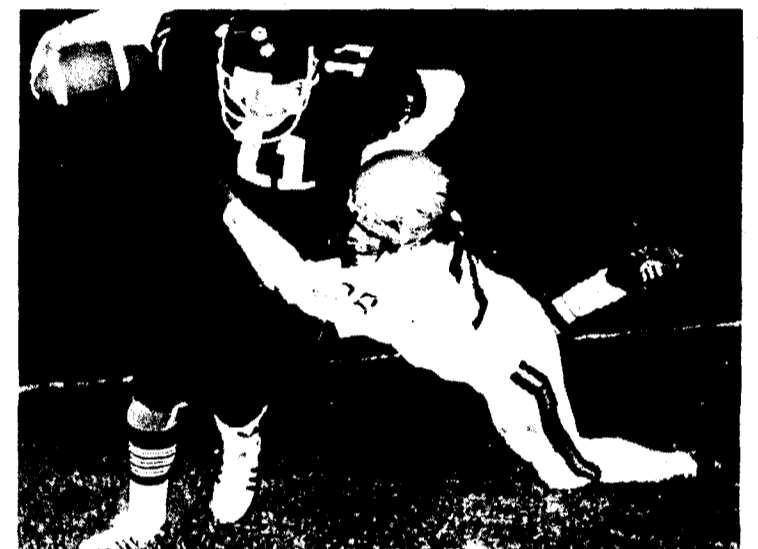

The Red Devils' defensive unit then added insult to injury by sacking a Hillman runner in the end zone for a two point safety.

"I don't think Hillman had the horses to stay with us," theorized Holes. "Our game plan was to wear them down."

"We were able to play everybody," Holes said. "I was happy with the way the second team marched right in and scored. They were ready to play, it was a total team effort."

The only area Holes plans to work on for Friday's game is eliminating penalties.

"We've got to cut out dumb

Duane Cutler, East Jordan senior halfback, powers through a Hillman defender enroute to a 128 yard rushing night. Cutler scored on a seven yard run, caught a 35 yard pass and had a 45 yard run nullified by a penalty in last Friday's 32-0 wins.

penalties," he explained. "The kids are over-aggressive and we're getting some penalties because of it."

Senior Tim Vermillion led the Devils defense with 16 tackles. Jerry Fuller, senior linebacker, and junior Steve Hilden each added 14 tackles.

Graham was the rushing leader for East Jordan rolling to 152 yards. Cutler added 128 yards and had a 45 yard run nullified by a penalty.

Junior quarterback Del Ingalls completed three of five passes for 75 yards, his substitute, Dan Goebel, added a 30 yard pass to the East Jordan air total.

Rambler girls split two, Host Boyne Falls Tuesday

CENTRAL LAKE - Boyne City fell to Central Lake and then topped Ellsworth for third place in the Central Lake Girls Invitational Tournament last week.

Host Central Lake, sparked up by all-stater Mary Hopp's 1,000th career point, charged to a 18-8 first period lead, expanded it to as much as 15 points, and held on to win 54-45 Tuesday night.

Becky Aimesbury, Linda Sarasin and Penny Grunow led Boyne scorers in the loss with 14, 12 and 11 points respectively.

The Ramblers bounced back in Thursday's consolation game raising their season record to 2-1 with a 51-38 win. Boyne had a commanding 18-2 first period lead but Ellsworth fought back to 33-31 by the end of the third period.

The Ramblers put the game away in the fourth quarter outscoring Ellsworth 18-7.

Becky Aimesbury again was the leading scorer tallying 19 points for the Ramblers. Sarasin added 18 points to the cause.

Central Lake won its own tournament, topping Bellaire 40-34 in the finals.

The Ramblers hit the hardwood next in a Sept. 25 home game against Boyne Falls. The junior varsity teams will play at 6:15 with the varsity contest following.

Basketball league

An organizational meeting for all men interested in participating in the Boyne City and East Jordan basketball league will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 25, at Boyne City High School. Possible changes in fees, playing day and other matters will be discussed. Any team planning to enter the league this fall should have a representative at this meeting.

Soccer to start

Boyne City and Charlevoix will open the Northwest Michigan Soccer League fall season this Sunday when they square-off in a 3 P.M. game.

The game, and all of Boyne's home contests, will be played at the soccer field across from Jim and Charlie's on M-75 south.

There will be six teams in the league this fall Harbor Springs, Traverse City, Northport and Leelanau round out the league.

Golfers win

Steve Kircher's 40 led the Boyne City golf team in a 175-183 win over Cheboygan Monday in a match played at Ye Nyne Olde Holles golf course.

The win evened Boyne's record at 1-1 on the season. The Rambler's next match will be Monday at St. Ignace. Kircher was followed by Rick Looze with a 44, George Britton with a 45 and Martin Newmann with a 46.

Kircher won a tie-breaker and earned the high-point honors, Crozier took reserve high-point.

In all, Kircher took six places, Keisha Crozier six places, Cinda Crozier five places and Sherman three places.

Other area residents taking places at the Expo were Vicki Falting, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Art Falting, Jr., Charlevoix, one place, her sister Beth, one place and Teri Howard, daughter of Jerry and Pat Howard, Boyne City, seven places.

Boyerne City news

Four others want city seats

Gierlach won't run again

BOYNE CITY -- City Commissioner Joe Gierlach will not run for re-election but three new candidates and an incumbent plan to run for the two seats to be filled in the Nov. 6 election.

Gierlach told The Press Tuesday he will not be a candidate for re-election so that he can devote more time to playing with his band.

Gierlach said it would be unfair to citizens if he ran. City commission meetings are at night and so are most of the band's performances. His decision not to run had nothing to do with recent city politics.

"The Front Street vote was disappointing but it had nothing to do with my decision not to run."

Thelma Behling, who will be trying for her second term on the commission, said the city commission "as a whole accomplished some high goals."

Mrs. Behling stated that despite even more street and sewer repairs and moving city hall to its new location, city tax rates were lowered.

"Maybe just a little," she added. "But that's against the national trend."

Future plans for development Mrs. Behling would like to see include development of Avalanche Mountain and a public beach in Boyne City.

The three city residents who will be making their first attempt at securing a seat on the commission are Mike Handy, Kate Schafer and Martin Paul.

Mike Handy, 29, said his reason for running for the commission seat is "partially" related to Front Street.

"The people on (the commission) have been there too long. Too many things have happened in the last few months which upset me. I want to stir things up and see some changes," the 19-year resident of Boyne City said.

Handy said he would like to see the commissioners "represent the citizens' points of view rather than their own interests."

Kate Schafer, 31, said she is running because she has a "deep commitment" to Boyne City.

"I think the future development of Boyne City will be an important issue in the next few years and I'd like to be part of it," she said.

In terms of growth, Mrs. Schafer would like to see development at Avalanche Mountain and implementation of the comprehensive plan by the consulting firm of Johnson, Johnson and Roy.

Martin Paul, 69, a county commissioner from 1974 to 1978, said the main reason he's running is because several people requested that he run.

Paul, a 20-year resident of Boyne City, said it is too early to determine critical issues for the upcoming November election.

As of Tuesday no member of the Save Front Street Committee had taken out a petition. Vi Manglos and Carol Judkins said they know of no committee members who plan to run for commission seats.

City clerk Tom Garlock said the November election should be no more controversial than past elections. The only thing which might affect the election turnout, Garlock said, is that punch card voting machines will be used for the first time. They might "either scare away voters or attract the curious," he said.

The deadline for petitions, which require a minimum of 20 signatures, is next Tuesday, Sept. 25, at 5 p.m. Those interested in obtaining a petition may pick one up at the city clerk's office.

Go, Boyne!

Mrs. Harvey (Gen) Varnum exhorts the Ramblers to get a score against Tawas while husband Harvey (with hat and glasses) watches a little more stoically last Friday. The urging from Mrs. Varnum, and the rest of the Rambler faithful, was in vain and Boyne dropped its second game in as many outings. The Ramblers will be trying to get on the winning track against Grayling in a home game Friday.

No parent input

Apathy about sex education?

BOYNE CITY--Parents in this school district apparently don't have strong feelings about whether their children receive sex education.

Last May parents had a chance to voice their opinion as to whether sex education should be taught in the Boyne City schools. The survey, taken by local residents, has been called "disappointing."

A total of only 13 parents responded to a four question survey, published in The Press last May, to help an advisory committee determine what, if any, form of sex education will become part of the school curriculum.

Despite the parents' poor response to the survey, the advisory committee comprised of ministers, health professionals, educators, parents and students, will draft a recommendation to submit to the Boyne City school board.

Janice Kimbler, one committee member responsible for receiving written and phoned-in responses from parents, said she received only 10 phone calls and one letter. Eleanor West, the other parent committee member, received three phone calls.

"I was very, very disappointed in our townspeople. I don't know why parents did not respond. We felt that this issue concerns their children and they would want a say in what a sex education program might entail," Mrs. Kimbler said.

Of the phone calls she received, all but two people were in favor of starting a sex education program in the schools. Those opposed to the program thought sex education in school would promote birth control or pornography because of the books used.

From the results of the survey the advisory committee will draw up recommendations about what should be taught in sex education classes. The recommendations will be pooled at the advisory committee's meeting Sept. 27. The meeting, held in the media center of the high school at 4 p.m., is open to the public. Mrs. Kimbler said she would like to see public input at the meeting.

If the school board accepts the committee's recommendations, the next step is to set up another committee to plan a curriculum for grades kindergarten through twelve.

School nurse Thelma Behling said the classes would not be just about "sex and marriage" but also discuss feelings and personality developments. Many students have questions about their growth and how to handle relationships in their peer group, she said.

The ideal situation would be if sex education was taught by the family or church and would not be the school's responsibility, Mrs. Behling said.

"But by the increasing number of girls enrolled in alternative programs for pregnant teenagers, we should realize the need for sex education in schools," Mrs. Behling said.

By state law, any sex education courses would be elective. No student would be required to take the courses if the student or parents object.

Layoffs, dropouts hurt enrollment

BOYNE CITY--Layoffs at area plants, a higher number of high school dropouts and families selling their homes and moving out of the area all contribute to the decline in school enrollment, according to school administrators and city businessmen.

As of Tuesday total enrollment, for Boyne City schools was 1,372. The elementary school retained the same enrollment as last year, 577. The middle school, at 288, lost eight students from last year. The biggest deviation from last year's enrollment occurred at the high school where enrollment fell by 67 students to 482.

High School principal Rick Casper said he knows of 42 students who have moved out of the district in the last year. That, coupled with 25 students who failed to return to high school this year, help explain where the students have gone.

Casper, in his second year as high school principal, acknowledged that there has been a disciplinary crackdown in school but said it has not caused students to move away.

"We run a tight ship at the high school but I don't think this causes students to leave school," he said.

Similarly, at the middle school, principal Jack Cyr said he saw no clear pattern of where students are going.

"We are discouraged (about the dropping enrollment) but there's nothing we can do about it when the students aren't there in the first place," Cyr said.

Cyr theorized that the decline in enrollment could be related to layoffs at area factories.

"When there's no employment offered in the area how can we expect families to stay? And undoubtedly no one will move into the area without first finding out what the employment situation is like." The employment outlook for Boyne City and Boyne Falls spells layoffs.

At Boyne Essex, plant controller Keith Fitzpatrick said 22 people were laid off Sept. 14. These layoffs follow a four-day work week 200 Essex employees were put on in the beginning of August. Fitzpatrick said he hopes to rehire the 22 people in two months. No further layoffs are expected at the plant.

Twelve people from a staff of 70 were laid off at Boyne Falls Log Homes, controller Gary Komondy reports. In addition, four summer employees left and will not be replaced, he said.

Steve Biggs, sales manager at Log Homes, said this time of the year is traditionally slower for builders and that the layoffs are "not unusual."

Neither business official could theorize what impact the layoffs might have on school enrollment.

Another factor possibly affecting enrollment at city schools, is that more homes are on market than usual, said Bud Jackson, realtor for John Buick. Martin Bieganowski of Bieganowski and Associates said although he has not noticed an increase in the number of people moving from the area, long term plant layoffs could definitely hurt the local housing market.

One of the first considerations when looking for a place to live is the local employment, he said.

"When a person considers a place to live, he has to know where he's going to work. If he can't find employment, he'll look somewhere else," Bieganowski said.

Voting machine

Punch card voting has arrived in Boyne City. City Manager Tim Clifton demonstrates the simple process of using the new machine.
