'Woman of Year' isn't a libber

EAST JORDAN - "I'm not what you would call a liberated woman, but I think women have become more liberated because of the liberation movement," Ginny Carey, the 1979 East Jordan Woman of the Year said the day after receiving that award.

Carey was honored as the Woman of the Year by the East Jordan Business and Professional Women's Club Thursday evening. An administrative officer at the Northwestern State Bank in East Jordan, Carey was selected for the honor from a field of four East Jordan women.

Doris Huckle, a freelance writer and historian; Dorothy Pelton, director of the Charlevoix County Senior Center; and Ruby Dipzinski, financial director of the East Jordan Public Schools, were the other three nominees for the second annual award.

City-Clerk Treasurer Fern Morris was the award last year.

Dr. John Kempton, a local dentist, Dr. Mitch Carey, doctor at the East Jordan Family Health Center and Tom Vanderwall, owner of the Vanderwall Funeral Home, were judges for the award.

Ginny Carey has worked in the area for almost 14 years and she has noticed a change in her attitude toward woman working and in the attitude of businessmen toward working women.

"Women are showing that they can do a good job," Carey said. "Businesses are noticing it."

"I don't think I had self-confidence when I started working," Carey remembered. "With experience I'm more sure of myself, more confident of results."

"I think I'm a better person for meeting a challenge," Carey said, "and the people I work with are better for it."

Carey and her husband Bud have one child. The Woman of the Year hasn't supplanted the traditional homemaker-mother's role with her career.

"In the past, women were conditioned to think that they were to get married, bear children, keep a house," Carey wrote in the biographical questionnaire filled out by each of the four candidates.

"Today women have the option to do those things and pursue a career in their chosen field," she continued. "Realizing our own potential and limitations can be the key to successfully doing everything we want to do."

"I feel that every woman of the community has something to offer. She can contribute much, whether she is a mother, working woman, a single woman, a member of area service clubs, a politician, a church member or a volunteer at a local hospital," Carey wrote.

She definitely tries to cover as many of those possible areas of community involvement as possible. Her list of organization memberships is a long one, ranging from the East Jordan Athletic Boosters to the East Jordan Nursery School.

In the interest of bettering her hometown (Carey was born in Flint but has lived in East Jordan since she was six weeks old) she has volunteered her time and efforts to the Cancer Crusade, Community Chest, March of Dimes, Cystic Fibrosis and Little League.

An organist for 17 years at the Missionary Church, Carey also sings and plays once a month with an interdenominational group at the Grandvue Medical Care Facility.

To insure that her free time is used enjoyably, Carey plays the organ, piano and accordion, sings, reads, camps, snowmobiles, travels, crochets and practices her newfound interests of dried flower arranging and macrame.

Carey thinks that women are motivated by the same thing that men are in the business world -- to make money, to be their own boss, and to use a skill.

"I feel that woman today are happier, more achieving, more informed and more independent," Carey said. "This results from the fact that a woman has the option to decide the direction of her own life and that she makes that decision herself."

One of the questions the four candidates had to answer for the judges was, "What advice would you give to a young woman just starting out in her career?" Carey's response seems to reflect her 14 years of experience in the working world.

"Search carefully for a career that you will enjoy. Get as much education as possible in that field. Act impeccably. . . perform every act as if it were the only

Bad economy gets worse

BY JON DENISON

EAST JORDAN - Layoffs at two major area factories have made a bad local economic situation worse.

Gulf and Western, already forced by sales slumps to lay off a large percentage of its hourly work force, cut back to approximately half of its 450 person staff Monday.

East Jordan's largest employer, the East Jordan Iron Works, which hadn't had to lay off any workers until this week, has laid off 50 of its 450 hourly employees.

The lay off situation at ITT Electrical in East Jordan remains unchanged with approximately 90 of the plant's 175 workers laid off.

Layoffs at the three biggest industries in town now total more than 300, or almost one-third of the normal employed hourly work force of 1,025 at the three plants.

The layoff at the Iron Works is a normal, seasonal slowdown, according to Bruce Malpass, executive vice-president. The Iron Works does a lot of business related to the construction industry and with the weather cooling to the point of slowing construction activity, orders from the construction market are stopping, Malpass explained.

"We always have a slowdown in the fall," Malpass said. "The seasonal decline is normal for us."

Malpass said that the three main customers for the Iron Works' products are the construction business, agriculture and the heavy trucking industry.

Some years, when the nation's overall economic picture is brighter, Malpass explained, business from agriculture and heavy trucking is good enough to take up the slack when construction slows in the fall.

"If the general economy is going steady we can switch production to agriculture and heavy trucking to take up the slack," Malpass said.

"We've had a good strong year up to the end of the construction season," Malpass said. He said that the Iron Works had employed a "pretty heavy crew" in the construction-related part of the production this summer.

The construction portion of the plant's production is more susceptible to variations in demand because of its seasonal nature, Malpass said.

"The other two (agriculture and heavy trucking) don't have the seasonal swings," he explained.

"We're hopeful it's temporary," Malpass said of the layoff situation. He said one factor in the Iron Works favor is that the firm isn't too dependent on the auto industry.

"Our industry is generally pretty well balanced," he said. "We suffer the same setbacks that the general economy does as it declines, though."

"We're optimistic that unless the whole general economy collapses that we'll be stable," Malpass said.

The foggy nature of the overall economic situation makes forecasting the Iron Works future business difficult, Malpass said.

Gulf and Western's layoffs are related to slow sales in the auto industry, according to personnel director Michael Speer.

When asked if there was an upturn of the company's business in sight, Speer pointed to auto sales as an indicator.

"It's entirely dependent on the auto industry," he said. "It will be at least after the first of the year, maybe not until spring."

Bob Shaw of ITT's East Jordan plant said that while they haven't laid off any more workers recently, their orders may still be on the downturn.

"We've had no increases in orders," Shaw said. "If anything it would decrease."

Fuel storage approved

EAST JORDAN - The East Jordan Cooperative Company has been granted an expansion of a permit that is allowing them to add three bulk fuel storage tanks to an existing fuel storage area on highway M-32 near Rogers Bridge Road.

The permission to expand the bulk fuel storage was granted by the South Arm Township appeals board after the county zoning commission recommended that the Co-op ask for an expansion of non-conforming use permit rather than request that the area be rezoned.

Three 17,000-gallon storage tanks are currently being installed at the site.

The Co-op had been storing fuel on property it owned near the East Jordan Iron Works. That property is being exchanged with the Iron Works for the land on M-32 to allow the Iron Works to utilize the former Co-op property near the plant.

The county planning commission had recommended against rezoning the fuel storage area on M-32 because it would be a precedent for spot zoning. The land the storage tanks are on, and the surrounding property, is zoned residential.

The fuel tanks have been on the property since before zoning was begun in the area. Because of a "grandfather clause" the fuel storage has been allowed despite the property's residential classification.

The expansion of the non-conforming use permit will keep the area zoned residential but still allow the fuel storage to be expanded.

Not everyone is happy about the added fuel storage at the bulk tank site.

Some residents of the area voiced concern over truck traffic around the fuel storage area and the added possibility of pollution in Deer Creek and the Jordan River, which flow near the bulk tank area.

Development delayed

EAST JORDAN - Work on Jim Petrie's mobile home park on East Jordan's eastern edge is underway, but work probably won't be completed until around the first of June.

The park's plans were approved by the city council at the end of August but the State Commerce Department also has to approve the park plans and hasn't sent back permits needed to go ahead with all the work to finish the park.

"We have erosion permits to move dirt around," Petrie told The Press last week, but he explained that permission to do anything else hadn't been received yet.

Petrie's plans call for the park to have lots averaging 50 by 100 foot with city water and sewer and natural gas hook-ups available.

His plans presented to the council included paved, 33 foot wide roads. Petrie said he expected to open the park with approximately 46 lots.

The park lots will begin about 300 feet north of Deer Lake Road. Petrie doesn't anticipate putting any lots on the south and west edges of the park.

Theirs is a business of degrees

BY DIANNE MURRAY

Who goes through sleet, snow, blistering and freezing temperatures to do his job? No, not the postman, the weatherman.

Two men, Herb DeNise of Boyne Falls and Keith Peters of East Jordan, supply The Press and the National Climatic Center in North Carolina with weather information on a weekly basis.

DeNise and Peters, at scheduled times each day, read the temperature and check the amount of rain and how much, if any, snow has fallen each day.

DeNise, in his tenth year as a weather observer, has his station set up behind his home at 3193 Church Street. Every evening at 5, he reads his two thermometers, one for the high temperature of the day and one for the low temperature, and marks them in his log.

The record is sent to North Carolina for governmental records. All weather observers receive a monthly combined report of all weather observer's reports. There are 150 weather observers in Michigan, and about 7,000 in the entire country. DeNise and Peters are the only "official" weather observers in Charlevoix County.

Everyone is interested in the weather, DeNise said, but not too many people call him to get daily weather reports.

"Some college kids will call every once in a while because they need to know the temperature for a specific day or hour for a report, and a few concerned mothers will call to find out how to dress their children to send them off to school. Other than that, not too many people call about the weather," he said.

People at work

Peters echoes DeNise's remarks. Peters works at the East Jordan sewage disposal plant by Sportsman's Park in East Jordan. The weather reading station has been at the sewage plant for 40 years. Peters, who has been working at the plant for seven years, said that the only calls he receives regarding the weather comes from "a downstate Standard Oil company calling to know what the weather is like in East Jordan."

Peters said the oil company uses the information to guide them in when they should send up their gasoline trucks to fill up area gas station owner's gas tanks.

A weather station consists of a white box with vents on all sides for air circulation. The box is painted white to prevent the sun's heat from affecting the two thermometers inside.

One thermometer measures the maximum temperature of the day. Once it reaches the maximum temperature it will keep that reading until it's spun around to re-set it. That prepares the thermometer to record the maximum reading for the next day.

The second thermometer reads the minimum temperature reached each day. Both thermometers are checked once a month by the government for their accuracy and are replaced if they show any faults.

To read the daily precipitation, the weather observers use a mental tube to collect rain or snowfall. Each day at a specified time, the observers take out a ruler and measure the rainfall. This too is marked in their log and sent to North Carolina.

The weather we've been having lately is a little unusual, according to DeNise and Peters. But then again, DeNise said, the weather in Charlevoix County is very flexible because of Lake Charlevoix.

"I'll take a temperature reading one minute and an hour later the temperature will drop another five degrees," he said.

The two snowfalls we experienced on Oct. 10 and 12 were not an occurrence that most would not know was that there's been a frost in every month so far this year except July.

DeNise said frequent frosts made it bad for those owning orchards or growing vegetables. "A lot of fruit spoiled this year and many farmers reported bad crops or smaller size fruit. That was due to the frosts," he said.

Another factor contributing to smaller and less healthy crops this season was that only 3/100 of an inch of rain fell during September, a prime growing month. "There was hardly enough moisture to dampen the grass let alone grow orchards of apples," DeNise said.

The frosts and late thaws we had in the area last winter, contributed to the feeling that summer was shorter, DeNise said.

The ground starts to thaw in January or February but Charlevoix County didn't have thaws until March this year, he said.

"What about projections for the coming winter? Both weathermen said it's too hard to tell what way Mother Nature will turn, but DeNise did offer this suggestion:

"Get a down jacket, a four-wheel drive, a wood burning heater and stay inside as much as you can. I can predict one thing for sure this winter; it's going to be cold!"

Herb DeNise of Boyne Falls has his weather station set up in the backyard. At 5 p.m. each evening he reads the high and low temperatures and checks for rainfall.

Holy Land trip dream come true

BY BARBARA CRUDEN

BOYNE CITY - "It looks like Lake Charlevoix, except the hills around it are higher. And they're bare. . . no trees."

Rev. Milton G. Walls is describing Lake Galilee. He and Mrs. Walls took a trip to the Middle East this summer, a trip that focused on the Holy Land.

The experience was a dream come true when Rev. Walls' mother made it their 25th wedding anniversary present.

Rev. Walls is well-known to Boyne Cityans. He is minister of the First Presbyterian Church, and Mrs. Walls, whom he says he met on a blind date, teaches school in Vanderbilt. Mr. Walls' congregation gave them a bang-up departure celebration, and are now enjoying the slides and impressions the Walls have brought back. The impressions "haven't really jelled yet," says Mr. Walls.

Of course. According to Mrs. Walls, they saw so much so quickly. "You left every place wishing you had more time."

And there were distractions. Child peddlers, tugging at their sleeves for attention; hawkers; and other tourists. "It was hard to stop and introspect."

Everyone was very kind, though, and the guides were intelligent and well-informed.

There were stops in Greece, Turkey and Egypt. The sights. And they rode along the banks of the Nile River where water buffalo still make ancient water wheels turn and bring up buckets of water to irrigate tiny farms.

"It was strange -- a little farther along you'd see a modern gas station," Rev. Walls says.

Camel riding? "Better than a donkey," Mrs. Walls smiles, remembering a donkey ride earlier on the fabled island of Rhodes.

"The hard part is when the camel is getting up or getting down," Rev. Walls adds.

The tour group of 500 travelling on a ship which was also their hotel, divided into smaller groups for the excursions on shore. Before going ashore they would be briefed by the tour leader, Dr. James Kallas, President of Dana College in Nebraska. Dr. Kallas is an expert on Middle Eastern history and has conducted 15 of these trips.

Once in Bible country, scenery took on a special meaning for the minister and his wife.

"The geography was different from what I anticipated," Rev. Walls muses. "Things seemed to shrink a bit. . . telescoping the great meaning of the land into its small physical proportions."

"Palestine," he says, "is smaller than lower Michigan and only about 40 or 50 miles wide."

"It didn't really seem small to me," Mrs. Walls counters. For her it was the thought of all those miles Jesus walked, from one town to another.

The land is, for the most part, rocky and barren around Jerusalem and to the south.

Speaking of Moses and the Children of Israel, Rev. Walls says, "Coming up the hill and then looking down on Jericho with the Jordan River, the lush greenery along the river -- really must have looked like a promised land!"

While much of the country was hot and muggy, in Jerusalem, high in the hills, the temperature stayed in the 70's.

Rev. Walls was impressed with the Israeli effort. "Whereas we are destroying the land, they are building theirs. . . They waste nothing."

Desalination plants take water out of the Mediterranean to use for irrigation. Large areas of what was desert are now green with crops and flowers. Rev. Walls notes.

Of the historical spots connected with the life of Jesus, he says many have churches built over them. He explains. The mother of Emperor Constantine -- the Roman emperor converted to Christianity around 300 BC -- had these churches built to protect and commemorate the sites.

Of these, Walls says, the Church of the Nativity is particularly beautiful. But the couple says they liked best the unadorned Garden of Gethsemane. There in the quiet, out of doors, they were free to feel the significance of that most representative spot.

Another place they liked especially was Ephesus. Now an uninhabited city of carefully exhumed ruins, Ephesus was the center of Christianity after the destruction of Jerusalem in 70 AD.

Rev. Walls says, "It opened the Book of Acts for me." He saw Christian symbols chipped into the stone walls by long ago hands. And that is where in the amphitheater, carved from the hills, seating 24,000, the mob in the days of Paul chanted, "Great is Diana of the Ephesians" for two hours, trying to drown the preaching and miracles of Paul in a sea of sound.

Ephesus was a cultured city where the people had been worshipping the Greek goddess Diana, Rev. Walls explains, and pauses to smile at his wife whose name is Diana. He goes on to say the streets which they saw were marble slabs, under which ran a sophisticated sewage system.

Preaching Christianity there was at first a dangerous project.

The Wallses saw other Biblical ruins, too -- Capernaum, Jericho. They saw on the Isle of Patmos what is fairly positively identified as the cave where lived the man in exile who wrote the Book of Revelation.

But they both said the best moments came from seeing the hills that Jesus saw. Gethsemane, the Jordan going down to the Dead Sea, and Lake Galilee which the Bible calls the Sea of Galilee -- where Jesus dismissed the storm.

Rev. Walls comments the lake does get unusually stormy, perhaps because of being 600 feet below sea level.

The fishermen are still there, he adds. They seem merely to have added motors to their boats.

The Wallses enjoyed their trip: "It makes a difference to me now, preaching," says Rev. Walls, "because I can visualize. . . It makes the Old Testament live, too. I can understand why. . . down in the fields. . . away from the mountains where Moses' God was, they felt the old farming practices justified the worship of Baal."

Diana and Milton Walls

Rev. Walls looks through the living room windows at Lake Charlevoix. "It was a trip," he says, "that went beyond expectations."

How do local teachers' salaries compare?

School teacher negotiations are completed just about everywhere. How do local school systems compare with each other in terms of salaries and fringe benefits paid to teachers?

Salary figures for five area school systems are in the accompanying table. The actual dollar salary is only part of the teachers' remuneration, however. Fringe benefits vary from school to school.

East Jordan gives its teachers the most complete insurance coverage with full health insurance, full dental insurance, and $15,000 of life insurance. The East Jordan teachers are in the last year of a three year contract.

Boyer Falls teachers are in the last year of a two year contract. They have full health insurance and a 50/50 dental policy where the district and the individual teacher share dental costs. They don't have life insurance.

The Charlevoix school system has insurance coverage like Boyer Falls--full medical, 50/50 dental and no life insurance.

The Charlevoix teachers are in the second year of a three year contract.

There are some teachers across the country still on strike negotiating for better wages, benefits and working conditions while in Charlevoix County school is going on as usual.

The new two year contract for Boyer City's teachers doesn't include dental coverage. The school board offers teachers a choice between full Blue Cross health coverage or the comparable dollar coverage under the Michigan Education Special Service Association (MESSA) insurance program.

Boyer City's health policy includes a $5,000 life insurance policy.

Petoskey teachers, like Boyer City's, have just agreed to a new contract. The three year pact includes a choice between full MESSA or the dollar equivalent Blue Cross coverage, a $5,000 life insurance policy and 50 percent dental coverage.

SEEK OUT A PROFESSIONAL!

"It is a truism in the legal profession that the vast majority of widows lose a substantial part of an uncontrolled bequest within seven years." So states Ms. Theresa Morse in her book, "Life is for the Living."

She points out that a team of experts (a lawyer, accountant, and investment counselor) can provide the professional advice that well-meaning friends and relatives simply cannot. All of us may need some or all of that "team." Ms. Morse counsels a widow, especially, to seek out a lawyer with whom she can communicate frankly and comfortably. He must be "right" for her, and he and the other counselors must earn her confidence and trust. Only through this trust can they help chart her short and long-range courses of action.

So, too, must we earn your trust. You should be comfortable discussing your funeral wishes with us. As with your lawyer, we conduct our affairs on a professional level. ## County bus system is worth a try

With gasoline prices continuing to rise nearly every time we go to the pumps, the idea of a county-wide system of mini-buses sounds quite appealing.

The Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners is studying such a project and is expected to make a decision by its Dec. 12 meeting.

As the project has been explained to the board by Art Saworski, it sounds like the county could hardly go wrong by starting such a bus system. To get the project off the ground, $566,000 in state money would be pumped into the bus system during its first three years. As little as $13,350 in county funds would be required.

Saworski is familiar with state and federal assistance for bus systems because he is director of the county Commission on Aging. The commission operates two buses to transport elderly and handicapped people around the area. That system seems to have worked out quite well, and if the new project is approved, the existing bus service would be combined with five new buses.

As Saworski points out, everyone in the state pays for mass transportation when buying gasoline. It is included in the price as a tax - about one cent per gallon. We might as well get some of that money coming back into the county for local mass transportation. We think the bus system has a good prospect for success mainly because of the high costs of buying gasoline and maintaining an automobile. If the schedules are convenient, people will ride the bus because they will save money.

According to tentative estimates, you could ride 11 miles between Boyne City and East Jordan - or 15 miles to Charlevoix - for only a dollar (and half that for elderly, handicapped and children). Gas alone would cost about a dollar for such a trip in a full-size car. When the cost of tires, oil, insurance and general maintenance of a car are included, it would truly be a bargain to ride the bus.

Some of the buses would be used like a taxi service, in and around Boyne City, East Jordan and Charlevoix. Users would call in to a central radio dispatcher for a ride.

Other buses would run between the major population centers of the county on regular routes. Special attention would be given to providing workers with rides to and from their places of employment.

A similar program to what is being proposed here is already in operation in Antrim County. That county and Charlevoix County are quite similar in size and population - and the population is spread out in a similar fashion in several cities and villages. The neighboring program seems to be popular and working well, which would seem to support the arguments of those who think it can work here.

The only drawback to the bus system, of course, is that the state funding will decrease as time goes on. No local funds will be required in the first two years, and a relatively small amount will be needed in the third year.

In the fourth year and beyond, more local money - meaning county taxes - would probably be needed to keep the system operating. But state Transportation Department officials point out that with the current energy situation, both the state and federal governments are providing more money every year to fund mass transportation.

At the very least, the state will provide more than a half million dollars to get a bus system started in Charlevoix County. Once it is established, it would be easier to evaluate whether it is worth continuing. If necessary, voters could decide whether they want to approve a special local millage to pay for its continuing the program. It certainly seems worth trying.

Getting lost with an old map on streets with one-sided signs

Boyne City has several aspects which make it unique.

It's located on a lake, it has a good tourist industry - both summer and winter - and the people make Boyne City great.

One quick which adds to the atmosphere of the city, but which also works against its visitors, is the city street and street sign situation.

Streets changing names and street signs with names printed only one side add to the uniqueness of Boyne City.

Imagine yourself as a new person in town; i.e. a reporter from downstate having to go out on assignment. You have to go to someone's house, interview them and take a picture or two. They live on Bay Street.

You drive down North Lake Street, looking for Bay Street. All of a sudden North Lake Street turns into West Michigan Avenue. Mind you now, you haven't really even gone around a curve or anything, and the street name has changed. You drive on, figuring, as you look at the city map, that you haven't driven far enough.

Another half mile and you're on Boyne City Road, on the way to Charlevoix. You begin to think you're getting lost because as you look back on the map of the city, it reads that North Lake (the first street you were on) turns into Bay Street. (The street you're looking for).

You begin to panic, because deadlines are fast approaching and if you're not back soon it's tough luck Charlie!

Step on the gas pedal a little more, drive another quarter of a mile. Damn - must have passed it.

Now, I've got pretty good eyes and I was really looking for this street. The thing is, though, the street signs work against you.

Street signs for Boyne City are posted on telephone poles. They're quite old and the name is only printed on one side of the sign. So, as you drive along a street looking for the name, you have to pull out into the intersection before you can read the name. All the while, you're hoping that a car doesn't come along and hit you.

You try driving past the streets' and turning around to read the sign, but you run off the road too many times. So you look in the rear view mirror... but everything is backwards.

You finally are about to call it quits, but in one last try to find the house, you ask someone where the street is.

The answer to your question is "Do you know where so-and-so lives? It's that road."

Well, of course, so-and-so is who you're looking for but if you knew where they lived, you wouldn't be asking the question. Being new and all, you don't know the names of streets let alone where people live.

Understandably, the person you asked does not know that it was so-and-so that you were looking for, and is only trying to help. After all, you asked the question in the first place.

Well, all stories should come to good endings and this one does too.

You finally get to the person's house, take their picture, and make it back in time for your deadline.

And - better yet, the street signs are going to be fixed. The city commission is going to install new signs over the next few years. The street's name will be printed on both sides.

And the chamber of commerce has a new map coming out which shows North Lake Street as it actually is - turning into West Michigan Avenue. And it shows Bay Street as a block south of Michigan.

Soon newcomers like me - and visitors from out of town - will be able to find their way around Boyne City.

The time for the Indian dance cultural assembly at the East Jordan Middle School Nov. 21 was incorrect in last week's paper. The dance, featuring Arlene Naganashe and family, Ottawa Indians from Harbor Springs, will be at 9:30 a.m.

Coping with good fortune

Give me a million and I'd be the most happy person around. No worries. No frustrations.

Not so, say our all-knowing psychiatrists. Their heads are filled with "proof" that most of us are not engineered to cope with prosperity or good luck. The bulk of our bungling, they say, is performed while we are riding the crest of lucky days. We are just not equipped to wallow sensibly in a sudden burst of clover.

Well, I happen to know a lot of things that aren't so. And saying that I goof more in happiness than I do in woe is one of them. If everything were coming my way, why would I hang my head and walk down the alleys?

I've got two things to say to those analysts. One of them is, "ha!" The other is, "poop."

I can handle good fortune with the best of 'em.

I was thinking about this when I took the family to dinner the other night. The bill was $40.00, but there was only $39.00 in my pocketbook. The cashier said, "This is all taken care of. The gentleman over there said he enjoys your column so much he wanted to pay for your dinner tonight."

I thanked him kindly, but privately I thought, "what's with this guy? Does he think I'm broke or something?"

On the way home a police car stopped and I rammed into the rear end. The cop got out and came over. "I'm sorry, mister," he said. "I shouldn't have stopped so quick."

What kind of policemen do we have, anyway? If that man had been on his toes, he would have given me a ticket.

Marshall Sayles

In the morning I was terribly worried about going in for minor surgery. On the way we stopped at the bank to pay the $4 fine for overdrawing my account. The teller pushed the money back. "That's all right, everyone overdraws an account once in a while."

Driving to the hospital I said to my wife, "If I were manager of the bank, I'd give her a talking to."

In the doctor's office I found the nurse holding up some film. "We re-examined your X-rays," the doctor was saying, "and there seems to have been a mistake. Those were merely gas pains."

Driving home I wondered aloud how in the world a hospital could make such a tomfool mistake.

At home we stopped for the mail. There was a letter from the Internal Revenue Service. Due to computer error they had been demanding an additional payment of $800.00. The correct amount was $8.00.

Of all the dumb people running our government! Whenever they make a mistake they blame it on the computer.

"You've been out of sorts a lot lately," my wife said. "What's the matter with you?"

It was just that I couldn't stand so many stupid people. I'd certainly met a rash of them in the last few days.

"You've been like this for some time now," she said. "Ever since those Halloween kids took off their masks and offered you candy."

When we got into the house the phone was ringing.

"Look," I said, "if that's someone calling to say I've won the lottery, I'll just scream."

Covering women's sports

We get many newspapers here at The Press in an effort to keep abreast of what's happening in other parts of the state and nation and to remain aware of innovations and problems of other papers.

In the Gaylord Herald-Times last week, a letter to the editor brought a smile to my lips and old memories flooding back to mind.

A group of irate citizens was criticizing the Herald-Times' coverage of girls' athletics. Too much attention was paid to the boys sports, the letter writer charged.

The girls work just as much as the boys, argued the authors, but coverage of their exploits was minimal.

In the same issue (coincidentally I'm sure) the Herald-Times ran four pages of sports coverage on girls basketball teams in its area.

The argument about lack of equal coverage is an old one to me. As sports editor of the college paper at Ferris State, I was in the middle of such disputes weekly. Title IX was coming into being and the women's sports program was growing by leaps and bounds.

So many new sports were being offered for the women it seemed at times that the squads had to beat the bushes to get enough females on the battlefield to form a team.

I said from the start that the coverage would not be purposefully slanted one way or the other, that I would try my best to insure equal coverage.

The sports pages were pretty evenly balanced between men's and women's sports too.

One week the football team would get top-of-the-page placement, with photographs along with it.

The next week the women's tennis team or volleyball squad would have the featured spot, again with photos.

The die-hard staffers in the athletic department were a little surprised at first. They turned to the sports section as usual on Friday and found a 5 ft., 7 in. blond spiking a volleyball instead of a 6 ft., 4 in. linebacker crushing an opposition quarterback.

The overall response was good. The women's athletic department was very appreciative and I think its public relations program benefited greatly from the emphasis given to the women's teams.

In covering the women, particularly when the sport was a recently adopted one or when the coach was in her first year in the business, I noticed that in public relations, the women were being hurt by the same thing that they were getting stung by on the playing field - lack of experience.

As a reporter covering high school boys sports I noticed early on that almost every coach of a boys team, no matter what the level, could talk to the press and seemed to be well-schooled in getting the most of his media attention.

Coaches would answer the right questions before I could even ask them. Some coaches I talked to were so verbose that they virtually dictated the content of the story by totally controlling the discussions about their team.

The women's coaches hadn't been contacted by reporters after every game. They didn't know the questions that were asked as a matter of course after each contest.

Attention from the media was new to them and the pat answers and treadworn clichés didn't seem to come as naturally to them as to their male counterparts.

Those days are almost past now. Formula answers to formula questions are making the women coaches equal in the past and pre-game interviews and as a result letters such as the one in the Herald-Times will become more scarce.

Female athletics have made great strides in the past few years and the attention given to them isn't lagging all that far behind.

Before you know it, some witty female college coach will be sitting as color person on a network game broadcast throwing out witticisms in the best tradition of Al McGuire.

Shucks...service discontinued

Editor,
Since moving to East Lansing four months ago, my husband and I always look forward to receiving our weekly Charlevoix County Press. We still feel warmly associated with the community and for that reason, we temporarily retained our Boyne City voting status.

We had planned to vote in the recent election, but circumstances prevented us from arranging for absentee ballots. You can imagine our dismay then, when we learned too late that Mr. and Mrs. Mangios had provided door-to-door voting service. How nice it would have been for them to have brought ballots to us here in East Lansing.

We have been following the issues and the candidates carefully, and knew who and what we supported. The Mangioses might not even have needed to express to us their friendly opinions.

We were just getting ready to send them our address for the next election (another anti-Tannery advisory vote, perhaps) when we learned the service had discontinued this service. That's disappointing. What will Vi and Louie do in two years when it's time to vote to spend thousands to repair crumbling Front Street?

Ballot errors weren't intentional

Editor's note: Boyne City Manager Tim Clifton read a prepared statement to the city commission last week in regard to the handling of absentee ballots prior to the Nov. 6 city election. In response to a Press editorial on the subject last week, and to more fully express his position on the matter, Clifton has asked that his statement to the commission be published. It is reprinted below.

This statement is presented in an effort to respond factually to the questions raised concerning the distribution of absentee ballots for the Tuesday, November 6, City Election.

Section 761 of the Michigan Election Law, Public Act 116 of 1954, describes the procedure to be followed by the local clerk when distributing absentee voter ballots:

"The clerk, township or village clerk forthwith upon receipt of an application for absentee ballots, . . . shall forward by mail, postage prepaid, or shall deliver personally 1 of the ballots, . . . to each qualified applicant for absent voter's ballots from his city. . . If the applicant is properly registered and if the signature on the application agrees with the signature on the registration card."

Erroneously, this method was not strictly followed by the City Clerk when distributing the absentee ballots. Instead individual citizens were permitted to deliver the absentee ballots to eligible applicants and return them when the person had completed voting. The error was not committed intentionally. The cited section of the Act was interpreted liberally as opposed to literally or verbatim. This interpretation resulted in the improper distribution of the absentee ballots. Suffice it to note, distribution of the absentee ballots during the Front Street Election were also handled improperly in this manner.

A second related question concerns the process of applying for an absentee voter ballot. This is covered under Section 759 of the above-mentioned Act, and was recently reviewed by the State Attorney General's office. The Act states:

"The application may be a written request signed by the voter setting forth the statutory grounds for making the application or may be on an application form provided for that purpose by the clerk. . . The clerk of the city, village or township shall have application forms available in his office at all times and shall furnish an application form to anyone upon request."

The State Attorney General's office interpreted this provision as permitting the distribution of application forms for absentee ballots by persons other than the clerk and in any amount approved by the clerk. The example cited by the State Attorney General's office was the distribution of application forms to residents of elderly and handicapped housing projects.

To be eligible to vote absentee ballot an individual must meet one of the following statutory criteria:

- a. expects to be absent from the community in which registered for the entire time the polls are open on election day;
- b. physically unable to attend the polls without the assistance of another;
- c. cannot attend the polls because of the tenets of one's religion;
- d. appointed an election precinct inspector in a precinct other than the precinct one resides in;
- e. attained the age of 60 years or more; and/or
- f. confined to jail awaiting arraignment or trial.

Reviewing the above information, the City acted improperly only in the manner in which the absentee ballots were distributed, not the method in which they were applied for or who they were delivered to. Any potential impropriety which might have occurred while the absentee ballots were in the possession of the voter are beyond the control of the City. This is not intended to lessen the gravity of the error, however.

On the contrary, the City Clerk has been reprimanded by the City Manager who, in turn, has been reprimanded by the members of the City Commission. Administrative steps have already been taken to insure that the election process will not be compromised in the future. Henceforth, all absentee voter ballots will be mailed, postage prepaid, to all eligible applicants. In addition, an instruction sheet will be attached to remind the voter that if they are assisted in voting, the person assisting must sign the statement on the exterior of the envelope indicating such.

During the past election, 202 absentee ballots were distributed and 199 absentee ballots were returned. Of the 199 absentee ballots returned, 12 were rejected, primarily for lack of a signature on the exterior of the envelope. Therefore, the total number of certified absentee ballots numbered 187. Based upon the margin of victory in both the Front Street Election and the more recent City Election and the respective number of absentee voter ballots cast in each, the outcome of the elections would not have been affected even if the absentee ballots had been disallowed.

Since there is the potential that either or both elections will be contested in Court, this statement shall serve as the final authoritative statement by the City Administration and the City Commission regarding this matter.

Government, scientists partners in war

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the eleventh in a series of 15 articles exploring "Connections: Technology and Change." This series was written for COURSES BY NEWSPAPER, a program developed by University Extension, University of California, San Diego, and funded by a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

modern submarines and torpedoes, almost cut off American supplies from Europe. American technology, in the form of antisubmarine warfare and intelligence techniques, reversed that process.

And, perhaps most dramatic and politically portentous of all, World War II ended with the nuclear attacks on Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

NEW ROLE FOR SCIENTISTS

During that conflagration, moreover, scientists and engineers did not simply respond to requests from military authorities. Rather, they became full participants in the planning process. They not only invented and built weapons, but they shared in making the decisions about which ones were needed, and even how they should be used.

Special new institutions, both inside and outside the government, had to be created to make this interaction work effectively. Such institutions have continued to evolve and proliferate since then.

Current versions include so-called "think tanks," such as RAND and other private research institutes; university operated institutions, such as the University of California's two nuclear weapons laboratories and MIT's Lincoln Lab; and permanent government committees composed of both academic and industrial scientists and engineers, which provide input on all matters from weapons development and deployment to arms control and disarmament.

WEAPONS DEVELOPMENT

The Cold War and the wars in Korea and Vietnam caused these new relationships to continue long after World War II. Whenever there seemed to be a lull in the process, an event like the Russian launching of Sputnik came along to reinforce this political and scientific collaboration.

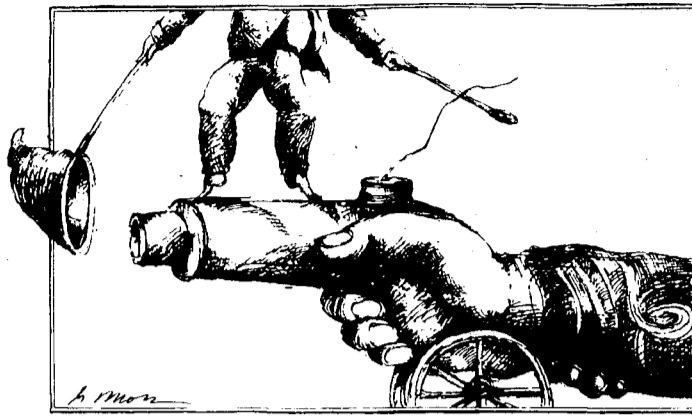

One major result of this further interaction of science and technology with national security needs was the invention of the hydrogen bomb -- in its first version, 1,000 times as powerful as its predecessor, the A-bomb -- and the spread of both types of nuclear weapons to Russia, Britain, France, and China.

Another very significant result was the further development of rockets, which had been invented a thousand years earlier in a simple form, into huge and powerful devices capable of delivering nuclear weapons to within a few hundred feet of any specified point on the globe in a half hour.

The possession of some thousands of such weapons, in several different forms, by both the U.S.A. and the U.S.S.R. has defined the relationship of the two superpowers for the last two decades. It largely explains, moreover, why these nations occupy the positions of world power and influence that they do.

POLICY OPTIONS

Throughout the post-World War II period, scientists and engineers have continued to be full partners with state authorities, participating at all levels of government, from the President's Office down, in determining what should be done as well as how to do it.

Some of these participants have placed special emphasis on our exploiting the possibilities inherent in the latest scientific discoveries before some potential enemy does. Edward Teller, commonly known as the "father of the H-bomb," and the late Wernher von Braun, a leading developer of large rockets both in Germany before World War II and in America afterwards, are two well known examples from a large group of such people.

Each of these scientists testified many times before congressional committees; each served as advisers to Presidents, Secretaries of Defense, and other leaders; each served on many special committees; and each made countless public appearances in support of his views.

Working in a similar fashion, others have promoted the use of modern science for some military applications but have opposed other applications that they considered to be especially dangerous. In short, they became not only developers of arms, but advocates of arms control.

One prominent example is Robert Oppenheimer, who led in the development of the A-bomb but who opposed the development of the H-bomb. Others are James Killian and George Kistiakowsky, who served as science advisers to President Eisenhower during the missile gap crisis but who also have become leading advocates of nuclear arms control.

ARMS DEVELOPMENT AND ARMS CONTROL

Today, the interactions between scientists and government are continuing along two main lines: first, the development of more sophisticated weaponry and, second, the pursuit of political agreements to stop or at least moderate such developments.

Vietnam, the first war in which technological superiority did not work to the advantage of a state, demonstrated the need to control weapons so deadly that nations are literally afraid to use them.

The development of nuclear weapons and long range delivery systems continues: the recent advances in microprocessors and other computers are making these and other weapons much "smarter" (and more devilish); and we are hearing talk that laser beams and other so-called death rays are somewhere around the corner.

In the case of arms control and disarmament, some treaties have been worked out placing modest limits on the development of some weapons and limiting the deployment and use of certain others. The Strategic Arms Limitations Talks (SALT) are now attempting to extend these treaties, but the outlook for significant new agreements is mixed.

Advanced technology plays a key role in arms control as well as in arms development. The principal means for determining whether the various parties are complying with existing arms control treaties involves the use of very sophisticated devices. Satellites, for example, monitor both missile deployment and missile development, and very modern seismic detectors coupled with the latest data processing techniques make it possible to observe nuclear explosions from great distances.

The ever-increasing complexity of both weapons development and efforts to control these devices thus guarantees the continued partnership of government and science in the technological process. How this partnership will ultimately influence society as a whole remains perhaps the most perplexing problem facing mankind.

The views expressed in Courses by Newspaper are those of the authors only and do not necessarily reflect those of the University of California, the National Endowment for the Humanities, or the participating newspapers and colleges.

NEXT WEEK: Historian A. Hunter Dupree of Brown University examines the increasing role of the government in technological development.

BY HERBERT F. YORK and G. ALLEN GREB

For more than three decades now, we have lived under the threat of a nuclear holocaust. But the relationship between national security and technology did not emerge with the nuclear age.

From the time that one group of prehistoric men first used clubs and spears to force their will on another group, war and technology have been closely interrelated.

And throughout history, political and military leaders on the one hand have used science and technology to further their ends, and scientists and engineers on the other have exploited the special interests of the state to advance their own goals.

In recent years, and throughout the world, such interaction between scientists and policymakers has greatly increased. Traditionally, this partnership has employed technology to produce ever deadlier weapons. But today, advanced technology can also provide the means for arms control.

The continuing partnership between government and science seems assured; how that partnership will be used is less certain.

ESCALATION

From earliest times until the present, new offensive technologies have always been countered by defensive developments or more powerful offensive systems. Thus, technology has produced a steady progression of more efficient instruments of death and destruction: swords, longbows, firearms, aircraft, atomic bombs, missiles.

During World War II, for example, the Germans launched a successful blitzkrieg against most of the nations of central and western Europe. They came close to overrunning Britain and Russia as well by exploiting the latest technological developments in aircraft, tanks, and related equipment.

In the West, the British stopped the Nazi advance by making full use of another new technology, radar. German technology, in the form of

Boyne City Commission Minutes Nov. 13, 1979

A petition was presented by Felix Wasylewski and signed by six people to request that the rifle range be moved to another area, citing the noise and the lack of proper control as the reasons for this request. The rifle range in question is located at the VFW Post.

Following discussion, the Mayor directed the City Manager to look further into the matter and report his finding of an alternate location at the next monthly meeting.

After a presentation by City Manager Clifton and the Petitioner Ed Rebmam, the Mayor opened the Public Hearing to consider the closing of a portion of Earl Street, running north of E. Lincoln St. Closure would involve 132.2 ft X 66 ft. of Earl St.

No one at the meeting objected to the closing and no correspondence was received in opposition to the Earl St. closing.

The Mayor declared the Public Hearing Closed.

Moved by Paul, seconded by Fitzpatrick that the petition to close Earl St., as submitted by approved, upon the recommendations of the Planning Commission and under the provisions of Ordinance A-42 of the City of Boyne City. Earl Street shall be closed north of E. Lincoln Street for its entire length, measuring 132.2 ft. on the west, 66 ft. on the north end, 79.71 ft. on the east side and 66 ft. on the south side. One-half of the width of the street shall become the property of the abutting owners on either side of Earl Street. The Clerk shall register said closing with the Register of Deeds and in turn the Register of Deeds shall forward the recorded vacation to the State Treasurer. Roll call all yeas. Motion carried.

The City Manager gave a report on the transfer of an SDM License from Ron's Family Market to K & E Foods, recommending that the Commission authorize the City Manager to forward a letter of no objection to the Liquor Control Commission.

Moved by Jessup, seconded by Moody to approve the SDM License transfer from Ron's Family Market to K & E Foods and forward its recommendation for approval to the Liquor Control Commission. Roll call all yeas. Motion carried.

The City Manager gave a report on the Boyne Area Chamber of Commerce indicating that a Resolution has been requested by the Chamber, stating that the Commission recognizes the Chamber of Commerce as a functioning non-profit organization within the community, to permit the Chamber of Commerce to apply for a lottery and bingo license to the State of Michigan.

Moved by Behling, seconded by Jessup that the City Commission adopt the following Resolution:

WHEREAS, the Boyne Area Chamber of Commerce is composed of 100+ members; and

WHEREAS, the Chamber is governed by a Board of Directors consisting of nine (9) individuals elected from the general membership; and

WHEREAS, the Chamber operates under an official set of by-laws duly approved by its membership; and

WHEREAS, the role of the Boyne Area Chamber of Commerce is to promote the Boyne Area for residential, commercial and industrial development, NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, in fulfillment of its responsibilities, the Boyne Area Chamber of Commerce is hereby recognized by the City of Boyne City as a functioning non-profit organization existing within the City of Boyne City.

Roll call all yeas. Motion carried.

The City Manager gave a report on updating the operator's contract at the sanitary landfill to rectify antiquated terminology, incorporate additional detail, adjust the remuneration level and revise contract termination language.

Moved by Fitzpatrick, seconded by Jessup to approve the renewal and revision of the sanitary landfill operator's contract. Roll call all yeas. Motion carried.

The City Manager gave the following report: At the Sept. 25, 1979 meeting of the Zoning Board of Appeals, the Board unanimously recommended that a filing fee be established for application for review before the Zoning Board of Appeals. At a subsequent meeting of the Planning Commission on October 15, 1979, the Planning Commission concurred with the Zoning Board of Appeals and, consequently, unanimously recommend to the City Commission the establishment of a $25.00 filing fee for matters referred to the Zoning Board of Appeals, to help offset the additional expense to the City as a result of the cost incurred by legal requirements of the Zoning Board of Appeals.

Following discussion, the City Manager was instructed to study the matter further by presenting an average expense for a typical zoning appeal, and report back to the Commission at its next meeting, at which time further study and/or action will be taken.

The City Manager gave the following report: The Airport Advisory Board respectfully recommends that the City Commission consider reallocating the $600 appropriated within the Airport Budget for runway lights to be used instead for demarcation painting of the runways. By acting now, contact can be made with the Michigan Aeronautics Commission to schedule painting of the runways as soon as it is possible in the spring. The paint must be purchased by the City, however, the painting is done free of charge by the MAC. It is necessary to notify the MAC of the City's intentions promptly so that the Boyne City Municipal Airport can be added to the painting schedule in the spring.

Moved by Behling, seconded by Jessup to approve the transfer of funds within the Airport Budget, amounting to $600.00, under Account Code 101-699-975.01 - Runway Lights, be reallocated to be utilized for demarcation painting of the runway. Roll call: Yeas: Fitzpatrick, Jessup, Behling, Moody. Abstention: Paul. Motion carried.

The City Manager gave a report on the installation of handicap ramps at City Hall, meeting Federal requirements. Bids were let and opened at 2:00 p.m. on October 29, 1979. Bids received were:

Seals & Roberts Construction Co. Concrete.....$4,865
Timber Alternate.....3,848
Clare Construction Concrete.....6,153
Timber Alternate.....5,984

There are three alternatives available for the City Commission to consider:

1. Installation of concrete ramps.
2. Installation of timber ramps.
3. Not install ramps until required by the Federal government.

The City Administration recommends installation of handicap ramps at City Hall since it is anticipated that by 1981 public buildings will, by Federal dictates, be required to be barrier free. Furthermore, it would be inconsistent on the part of the City to provide a Senior Citizen Center in City Hall and then not encourage maximum use of the facility by leaving it inaccessible to those it is intended to serve.

The installation of concrete ramps was recommended over the timber ramps since the maintenance expense of the latter would be greater and more frequent.

Moved by Jessup, seconded by Paul to award the construction of handicap ramps at City Hall to Seals and Roberts Construction Co., in the amount of $4,865.00 for concrete ramps. Work to be charged to Account Code 101-958-983 - City Hall Building Fund, with a year-end transfer in the necessary amount being made from Account Code 101-958-978 - Street Program. Roll call all yeas. Motion carried.

The City Manager gave a report on the purchase of 50 street signs for the North Boyne area, as part of this year's fiscal 1979/1980 Capital Improvement Program. Quotation requests were sent out to seven different sign companies. Four quotation requests were received, which included:

Lyle Signs, Inc. $1,277.42
Paul Callender Company 2,009.50
Lectric Lites Company 2,254.56
Lake Shore Markers, Inc. 2,741.00

Only the bids of Paul Callender Company and Lectric Lites Company meet the specifications of the Quotation Request Form.

Moved by Fitzpatrick, seconded by Behling to award the quotation price of $2,009.50 for 50 street signs to Paul Callender Company. Funds are available for this purpose and are available in Account Code 101-958-981 - Street Sign Installation. Roll call all yeas. Motion carried.

The City Manager gave a report on an application for a Coastal Zone Management Grant, to finance an engineering feasibility and site analysis and design study of a proposed swimming beach, west of the Little League field, at a cost of $15,000 broken down as follows:

	Federal Funds	Local In-Kind
Engineering Feasibility	$ 8,000	$2,000
Site Analysis & Design	3,200	1,800
	$11,200	$3,800

The in-kind contribution would be achieved through charging the equivalent amount of the City Manager's time (or other City staff's time) that is devoted to assisting in each of the respective elements to the grant.

Moved by Paul, seconded by Behling that the following Resolution be adopted:

WHEREAS, the development of a beach within the corporate limits of the City of Boyne City, has, for many years, been a high priority of the community; and

WHEREAS, numerous unsuccessful attempts have been made at developing a beach at various locations within Boyne City; and

WHEREAS, the preparation of an engineering feasibility study and site analysis and design through a grant from the Coastal Zone Management Program will assist in the identification of a location suitable for a beach development within Boyne City; and

WHEREAS, that the total project amount of $15,000 includes a 20% in-kind contribution from the City of Boyne City in the amount of $3,800; and

WHEREAS, upon completion of said engineering feasibility study and site analysis and design that the City of Boyne City desires to pursue the development of same contingent upon receiving financial assistance from L&WCF or similar agency, NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that the City of Boyne City adopts this Resolution as its assurance to execute the terms of the contract with the Coastal Zone Management Program as outlined above.

Roll Call: Yeas: Paul, Fitzpatrick, Behling. Nays: Jessup, Moody. Motion carried.

At 8:35 p.m. Commissioner Behling was excused from the meeting by the Mayor.

The City Manager gave a report on the signing of an advertising agreement with the Charlevoix County Press, since the City publishes hundreds of column inches per six month period.

Moved by Jessup, seconded by Paul to authorize the City Manager to sign a letter of understanding with the Charlevoix County Press for rates set at $1.35 per column inch. Contract to extend over a six month period, when it will be reviewed again. Roll call all yeas. Motion carried.

The City Manager transmitted the financial report to the Commission.

The City Manager recommended that since Joseph Gierlach was a member of the Zoning Board of Appeals, that Commissioner Martin Paul be appointed to the same board to fill the vacancy left by Mr. Gierlach.

Moved by Fitzpatrick, seconded by Jessup that Martin Paul be appointed to the Zoning Board of Appeals, as a representative of the City Commission. His term to expire September, 1982. Roll call: Yeas: Fitzpatrick, Jessup, Moody. Abstention: Paul. Motion carried.

The City Manager presented a report in response to a citizen question concerning the Boyne City Police Department and Dispatch Operations. It was recommended that a Resolution be considered for adoption to answer any further questions regarding this matter and to have the response in the form of a Resolution for future reference.

Moved by Moody, seconded by Jessup to adopt the following Resolution:

WHEREAS, in response to a citizen request for an evaluation of the service, protection and staffing levels of the Boyne City Police Department and Dispatch Operation, the City Commission present information pertinent to such an evaluation at the noon meetings of the City Commission on Tuesday, September 11, 1979; and

WHEREAS, said report was prepared and presented to the City Commission, City Attorney and the public in attendance at the above meeting by Police Chief John Talboys and City Manager Clifton; and

WHEREAS, a summary of the information presented is hereby incorporated as a part of this Resolution:

This familiarity has the direct effect of reducing the response time.
2. Dispatching of emergency water, sewer and street repairs is also conducted by the Boyne City Dispatch which

SURVEY QUESTION

The economy isn't looking too bright this year -- are you still going to have a bright Christmas?

How can you if you don't have money? No work, no money.

I'll buy as much as I can afford. I'm not going into debt to outdo myself from last year.

Phyllis Griffin
536-7643

Yes. It wouldn't be Christmas without lots of presents.

I never get much for Christmas. I buy for my family and they make out good. It's just me who doesn't.

People put too much emphasis on gifts and not enough on the true meaning of Christmas. Just having my children healthy is a gift from God.

Well, we will just have to cut down on gifts and I'm making a lot of homemade gifts.

I hope so, but it's not the economy that bothers me. It's "Will our country still be in one piece?"

I'm still paying bills from last year's Christmas. I think people should stop buying so much and be a friend.

All I can afford is a tree and a turkey so I expect my Christmas will be a little less brighter.

Sure. Christmas only comes once a year.

United Way drive lagging

BOYNE CITY - United Way fund drive chairperson Vicki Williamson has reported that the Boyne area drive is $4,000 behind its $18,750 goal.

The drive, which includes Boyne City, Boyne Falls, Walloon Lake, Advance and Horton Bay, was originally slated to be completed by the end of October.

"Donations are accepted all year 'round of course," Williamson said. She explained that the drive committee had hoped to reach its goal in a month. Because of the lower than expected response the drive has been extended.

"If someone hasn't been contacted for a contribution," Williamson explained, "they can mail their contribution to The United Way, Box 10, Boyne City, Mich. 49712."

"We'd like to emphasize that the largest share of the money contributed stays in the area," Williamson said.

Persons wishing to donate in the Horton Bay area may do so at the Horton Bay General Store.

New cleaners planned

EAST JORDAN - The East Jordan Cleaners has closed the doors of its Mill Street shop, but cleaning service is being provided temporarily through the West Side Laundromat.

Laundromat owner Don Peters has purchased the East Jordan Cleaners business from long-time owner Ralph

Opening delayed

BOYNE CITY - Dick Edwards of Edwards' IGA in Charlevoix should be taking over ownership of Ron's Market in Boyne City soon after Thanksgiving, he said. The Press had reported that he would take over Nov. 15 but there has been a delay.

Hills. Peters plans to build a new laundromat and dry cleaners next to his present laundromat across from the Gulf and Western stamping plant.

Construction on the new building will begin in the spring, and Peters will have Hills manage the new facility for him.

Meanwhile, Peters have arranged for Progress Cleaners of Traverse City to serve the area. Pick-up and drop-off service will be conducted by Progress at the West Side Laundromat from 3:30 to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday, and from 9 a.m. to 12 noon Saturday.

Also, Peters noted, anyone who has not picked up clothes from the old East Jordan Cleaners may pick them up at the laundromat.

Student plans seminar

Timothy James Goebel of East Jordan has been involved in the planning, and organizing of the fourth annual Leadership Seminar held on Northwood Institute's campus in Midland recently.

Goebel, a senior at Northwood studying hotel and restaurant management, served on the special events committee which planned this student-oriented event aimed at improving leadership skills in the business world.

Still time for entries

Mmm...try these recipe contest entries

Our Holiday Recipe Contest is going strong.

The deadline for the second annual contest, sponsored by The Charlevoix County Press, is Dec. 11 - but a number of area cooks have sent in their favorite recipes already.

We're printing some of them this week, and a mouth-watering lot they are: molasses health bars, seven-layer cookies, peanut brittle, holiday jell-o, and plucking cake.

More recipes will be printed between now and Christmas. After the Dec. 11 deadline, we will ask semi-finalists to submit their favorite dish for judging.

Doing the judging will be some professional chefs from the area - plus editor Jim Baumann, who has eaten more in his 28 years than many people three times his age. The winners will be announced in our Dec. 20 issue.

Winners will receive prizes - dinners at local restaurants, bottles of wine for Christmas dinner, and subscriptions to The Press.

Send your favorite recipe to The Press

A MORE SALABLE PACKAGE

If your house is for sale, there are a lot of little things you can do to make it more salable. First impressions count! Be sure your lawn is mowed, flower beds neat and property free of any trash. If it's winter, keep the walks clear of snow or ice. Replace loose tiles, bricks or shingles. If the paint is peeling, get out the brush. Peeling paint is a primary offender.

Inside, if the walls and woodwork are dirty, wash them. If marred, repaint where needed. Fix any leaking faucets, loose door knobs, creaking floors. Clear clutter out of closets and basement. Pick up clothes and put them away.

Pay special attention to the bathrooms and kitchen. Make them spotless. No dirty dishes in the sink. Nothing makes a better impression than a home with a well-cared-for look. There are countless other things you can do and nobody knows better what they are than your REALTOR. He's shown many houses and knows what turns prospects off. Take his advice

Ski slopes hope for snow, early opening

BY JON DENISON

Anyone driving on area roads in the last few weeks has probably noticed that snow is starting to fly. Local ski resorts are hoping that it continues to do so, and soon, in quantities sufficient for them to open Thanksgiving Day or soon after.

Boyer Mountain in Boyne Falls, Boyne Highlands in Harbor Springs and Timberlee in Traverse City were all planning for Thanksgiving openings but it doesn't look like the weatherman is going to cooperate.

Snow-making activities had been going full steam ahead at Boyer Mountain and Boyne Highlands but meteorologists were predicting a four day warming trend that promised to wipe out accumulated snow and prevent making more before Thanksgiving.

Other ski areas within an easy driving range -- up to Harbor Springs in the north, as far south as Traverse City, Bellaire and Mancelona -- are shooting for a Dec. 1 opening.

Schuss Mountain in Mancelona had hoped for a Thanksgiving weekend opening and then planned to take two weeks off until Dec. 7. Shanty Creek in Bellaire and Nub's Nob in Harbor Springs both say Dec. 1 is a hopeful starting date for the season.

MORE X-COUNTRY

Many of the ski resorts contacted by The Press said that cross-country skiing will be playing a bigger role in their operations this winter. The nationwide interest in the Nordic style of skiing is being reflected locally by many miles of groomed trails.

Schuss Mountain has cross-country trails with a $3 fee for their use. Timberlee's 28 kilometers of cross-country trails can be used for $5. Shanty Creek charges $5 for the use of its trails.

Nub's Nob has cross-country trails but the work needed for the opening of five new downhill runs has delayed setting a price for the cross-country trail fee. Boyer Mountain has 42 kilometers of trails, new this winter, and charges a $6 trail fee.

Crystal Mountain charges $2.50 for the use of its cross-country trails, the fee is included when skiers rent cross-country equipment.

Tickets for use of the cross-country trails go on sale at the same windows and at the same time that downhill tickets do at resorts charging for use of the trails.

DOWNHILL RATES

BOYER MOUNTAIN and BOYNE HIGHLANDS, both owned by Boyer USA, will have their slopes open from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and will be charging $13 Saturday and Sunday, $12 midweek for lift tickets. Kids 12 and under will pay $9 while children under 8 are invited to use the beginner's tow at no charge.

THUNDER MOUNTAIN, also owned by Boyer USA, will be open only on the weekends and will charge $11 for lift tickets. It will open whenever the weather permits.

NUB'S NOB will charge adults $12 for lift tickets everyday while children 12 and under will be charged $9. Their slopes are open from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., then after a hour and a half break the lights go on and night skiing will start. For $6 adults can ski Monday, Wednesday and Saturday nights from 6 to 9 p.m. Kids will pay $5.

SHANTY CREEK will be open seven days a week from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Midweek day rates are $10 for adults, $6 for kids under 18. Weekend day rates are $12 for adults, $8 for kids. Night skiing is $5 for adults and kids every night.

SCHUSS MOUNTAIN will be open for downhill skiing from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Midweek rates for adults are $9, children, 12 and under will pay $6. Weekend rates for adults will be $13, kids will pay $9 on weekends.

MT. MANCELONA will be charging adults $8 everyday and kids will be able to ski for $6 if they're under 16.

TIMBERLEE boasts skiing from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Midweek lift tickets are $6, weekend rates are $12. Night skiing is $5 to ski from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m.

CRYSTAL MOUNTAIN has a unique way of charging skiers -- They charge by the hour. Monday through Friday skiers pay $1 per hour with a four hour

This familiar scene at Boyer Mountain Ski Lodge in Boyne Falls will once again be coming around as winter takes its toll and prepares everyone for skiing. Slopes not only at Boyer Mountain but all around the state are expected to open within the next few weeks, weather permitting.

minimum. Midweek, Crystal is open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. On weekends Crystal charges $12 for an all day ticket. Saturday the lifts are open from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. and Sunday the lifts operate from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Hourly rates are available on the weekends too. "Prime time" rates on the weekend, from noon to 4 p.m., Crystal charges $2 an hour. Before noon and after 4 p.m. the hourly rate is $1. There's a five hour minimum on weekends when paying the hourly rates.

Many of the resorts have skating facilities available at no charge and outdoor heated pools are available at a few ski areas.

Cross country ski clinic

It's almost time to get out the skis again, so the East Jordan Community Education is sponsoring a three-week cross country ski clinic, starting Nov. 28.

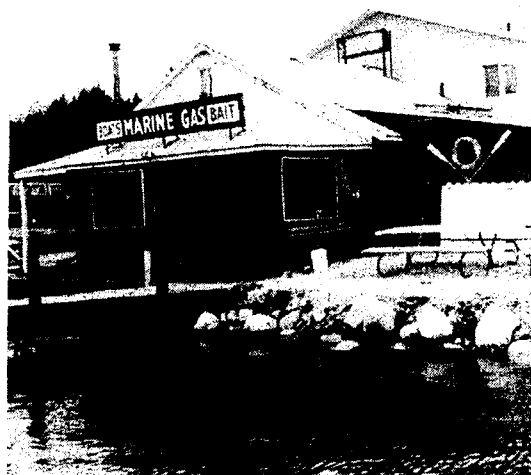

The clinic is designed to give pointers to beginners and improvement tips to veteran skiers. Nellie Hiehle from Silent Sports North in Charlevoix is the instructor.

The clinics will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. in the East Jordan High School bookkeeping room beginning Wednesday, Nov. 28. The topics to be covered are:

Nov. 28, cross country skiing techniques; Dec. 5, cross country skiing equipment; Dec. 12, waxing your skis. Cost for the entire clinic is $3. People wishing to participate should pre-register by calling 536-3241.

Boyne drops 2 in league; confident about tourney

BOYNE CITY - "We didn't have a good week," said Boyne City girls basketball coach Steph Moody Monday. Her Rambler squad fell twice in Michigan-Huron Shores Conference play last week, losing for the second time this season to Gaylord and Cheboygan.

"We didn't quite have it," Moody said. The Ramblers trailed only by five at the half against Gaylord but cold shooting enabled the Blue Devils to stretch their lead to the final 73-57 margin.

"We weren't hitting," Moody said. "They're (Gaylord) tall -- they have a guard as tall as our center."

Becky Aimesbury's 16 points paced Boyne in the loss. Penny Grunow added 13 while Nancy Lentz led rebounders with 14.

The Ramblers had a 12 point lead against Cheboygan but couldn't hold it.

"We had a slow third quarter, and a terrible fourth quarter," Moody said, explaining the 62-59 loss to Cheboygan.

"We didn't slow the game enough in the second half to hold the lead," Moody said.

Aimesbury had 24 points in the loss to Cheboygan. Grunow added 17 and Linda Sarasin added 12.

The two losses leave the Ramblers at 9-8 on the year, 6-7 in the conference.

Boyne City will begin tournament play the week of Nov. 26 in the East Jordan district tournament.

"Onaway is the unknown team in the districts," Moody said, explaining that the Ramblers have played each of the other teams.

Rogers City, Charlevoix, East Jordan, Onaway and the Ramblers are the teams competing in the local district.

"We're hopeful that we'll take it (the district crown) home," Moody said. "If we're playing good basketball it shouldn't be a problem."

Sheila Smith [10] and Julie Paquette [24] scramble for the ball during a Boyne City junior varsity girls basketball game earlier this season. The Rambler JVs split a pair of games last week, beating Gaylord 60-36 and losing to Cheboygan 54-43. The JVs close their season Tuesday, Nov. 20, in a game at Charlevoix.

The Ramblers' glory days

BOYNE CITY - The Michigan-Huron Shores Conference's 1979 season is over and the Cheboygan Chiefs have captured the crown, undefeated in league play for the second year in a row. Boyne's Ramblers were winless, suffering one of their losses 35-0 to Cheboygan. Such was not always the case.

Christy Davis, a Rambler athlete in the late '30s now living in Jackson, sent The Press a clipping from an Oct. 1938 issue of the Boyne Citizen which recounted the exploits of the Boyne City football team of that year as the Ramblers defeated Cheboygan 12-6 by scoring a touchdown after time ran out.

Davis sent the clipping after reading the obituary of Allen Lockman in the Oct. 18 issue of The Press. Lockman was the hero of Boyne's victory over Cheboygan that year.

It seems that Lockman, described as Boyne's passing ace in the article, threw a 30 yard pass as the clock ran out. Bob Hosegood, "Boyne's fleet left end" according to the old Citizen article, ran 45 yards after catching the pass to score the winning touchdown with no time remaining.

The Lockman-Hosegood combination accounted for all of the Boyne scoring in the game. In the second period Lockman hit Hosegood with a short pass and Hosegood ran 25 yards for the first half's sole score.

Davis said in a letter accompanying the article that he didn't want to make any derogatory remarks about the winless season of the 1979 Ramblers, only provide inspiration for the 1980 edition of the squad.

BRI, Country Star stay unbeaten

Two one-sided games and a speaker highlighted men's league play this Sunday. Both games last Wednesday were close.

The Boyne River Inn upped its record to 3-0 for the season with a 104-66 win over Ski & Shore Sunday. The winners used a 39 point fourth quarter to ice the game.

Kevin Griffin and Chuck Stanek led the winners with 24 points each. Kim Hocquard with 20, Bill Anzell with 11 and Rob Spencer with 10 helped the cause.

Ski & Shore had six players in double figures with Ken Doty's 13 points leading the way. Tim Markham added 12, Lon Kowalske 11 and Jack Wingo, Kendal Spohn and Jon Denison each scored 10.

Country Star also earned its third win of the season Sunday, beating EJ Patterns 94-55. A 25-8 second quarter pushed Country Star to a comfortable 23 point half time lead.

Dave Denise had 24 points for the winners. Terry Urman added 13, Randy Krusel 11 and Scott Paquette 10. Rick Roberts led the losers with 23. Stuart Penfold had 18.

The Gold Nugget Bar held off a late Payton's rally to win 92-91. The winners had led by 18 at the end of the third quarter but Payton's came back to take the lead before the Gold Nugget regained the lead for good.

Jim Danbert led Gold Nugget with 20 points. Brian Farrell added 19, Ike Boss had 16, John Nachazel had 15 and Larry Taylor chipped in 10. The losers were led by Terry Erber's 27 points. Tom Payton had 15, Greg Groboski 14, John Skop 14 and Tim Crego 13.

In games played Wednesday in East

Jordan, Payton's beat Steven's Concrete 88-74. There was only a six point margin at the half but Payton's stretched its lead in the third quarter.

Tim Crego had 21 points against Stevens. John Skop added 20, Terry Erber 16 and Greg Groboski 10. Jim Baumann had 21 for the losers, Bob Snyder added 19.

Great Lakes Energy topped the Victorian AFC 86-78 in the other Wednesday game. Steve Vanderhyde had 34 and Eric Brown added 18 for the losers.

Dan Osmer's 23 points led Great Lakes. Tony Williams had 20 and Al Looze 16 for the winners.

Wednesday at 7:15 in East Jordan Schafer's will play the Victorian AFC while Stevens will meet Great Lakes Energy at 8:30 in the second game.

Sunday in Boyne City Schafer's will play Payton's at 12:30. EJ Patterns will play Great Lakes at 1:45 and Ski & Shore will play at 3:00.

ESSEX GROUP salutes the Boyme City "Player of the Week"

Kim Wandrie

Kim Wandrie, senior forward on the Boyme City girls basketball team, is this week's Rambler Athlete of the Week. Wandrie, daughter of Jim and Jackie Wandrie, 1527 Jaquay Rd., Boyme City, has been "playing real well" according to Rambler coach Steph Moody. "Kim plays super defense and is a good rebounder," Moody said. "She's generally a forward but is a good ball handler and can fill in at guard."

Sorry!

Sorry, the Boyme City girls varsity and junior varsity basketball game stories were switched in last week's Press. The story under the headline 'Rambler face tough Cheboygan' and the one under 'Boyme JV's drop third, revenge game Friday' should have been switched around. Our apologies.

Devil girls prep for district play

EAST JORDAN - The girls basketball squad dropped another game to fall to 3-12 on the season, 2-11 in the conference with one game left before they host the district tournament.

Gaylord St. Mary handed the Red Devils their twelfth loss in a game played

Nov. 13 in Gaylord. Yvonne Grant was the sole bright spot for East Jordan according to Devils coach Mike Bos. Grant scored 12 points and, according to Bos, "got a lot of rebounds and blocked a lot of shots".

A game with Ellsworth this Friday will close the regular season for the Devils, a game that had been scheduled against Boyme City Nov. 26 has been canceled. The district tournament will begin Wednesday, Nov. 28. Charlevoix, Onaway, Rogers City, Boyme City and host East Jordan make up the field.

This is one example of a non-profit group making use of the Save-Share Program to help raise funds. There are many more groups using it too and there will be a picture of one each week in this paper.

Glen's wants everyone in East Jordan to know about Save-Share and hopes more groups will use it to raise funds.

All a group has to do is register with the Store Manager and begin saving the green cash register tapes. Glen's will pay 1 percent of the total qualified amount of all tapes brought in by any registered group; and not just once. But each time a group brings in $25.00 worth of slips or more.

Litter, late hours of shooting and the noise have led neighbors to the Veterans of Foreign Wars rifle range to complain to the city commission. The city police department and the VFW have had differences of opinion over a lease for the use of the rifle range.

Neighbors complain; Rifle range to close?

BOYNE CITY - City Manager Tim Clifton will recommend that the rifle range at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post be closed.

The range on highway M-75 has been used by local hunters and police for target practice.

Clifton's recommendation follows complaints from neighbors that the noise, litter and late shooting hours are bothering them. There have also been problems with a lease between the city and the VFW concerning use of the rifle range.

Clifton will make this recommendation at the city commission meeting on Dec. 11. He will also recommend that any further use of the range will be only by approval from the city commission.

City policemen have used the rifle range for target practice since the VFW opened its post in 1939.

The police department has been responsible for patrolling the rifle range. Anyone may now use the range but they must first sign in at the police department at City Hall. The range has been used extensively by both local and visiting hunters, especially for the past month, prior to deer hunting season.

At the Nov. 13 city commission meeting, Felix Wasylewski, a neighbor of the rifle range, presented a petition signed by six people asking that the city find another location for the range.

The neighbors who signed the petition live within 450 feet of the rifle range. The petition states that they "demand the city find some other area suitable for this purpose as the noise and lack of proper control can no longer be tolerated."

"I'm not against the rifle range," Wasylewski said, "I'm a hunter myself and know that people need some place to practice, but I won't stand for the location of the range any longer."

Wasylewski said that if the range was in the backyard of any commissioner or VFW members, "They would not stand for it."

According to police chief John Talboys, these complaints are typical, because during deer season more people use the range. It was not until earlier this summer that a lease was drawn up between the city and the VFW for use of the property. There has only been a "gentlemen's agreement" for current use of the property.

The city signed a lease with the VFW for use of the property on May 11 with the idea that they could construct a registered rifle range. This would call for permanent targets with racks to hold them, concrete walkways to the targets and possibly a man stationed at the range to enforce use of it, Talboys said.

The lease was for 99 years and the city would pay $1 annually for use of the property. The lease, (signed by the post commander), states that the range would be "under the complete supervision and control of the Boyne City Police Department and under no circumstances would be used for skeet or trap shooting."

But the present commander, Warren Ballard, said the lease is "illegal" because there was not a majority vote of approval from the post members. Ballard has been commander since September.

"Since we had the problems with the lease, we haven't used it again," he said. "It just wasn't worth the hassle."

A state certification program for police departments requires officers to have target practice. Talboys said his officers try to practice quarterly for the program.

If the police department does not keep up with target practice, they could lose their state certification, Talboys said.

Clifton said he will start looking into alternative sites for the rifle range but did not have any in mind.

Economy delays Front Street plan

BOYNE CITY - High interest rates, tight mortgage money and the high cost of construction have led Rick and Dave Smith to hold back submitting plans for their Front Street condominium project until spring.

Rick Smith said many factors are affecting the proposed construction of approximately 100 condominiums on 13 acres of land between Front Street and Lake Charlevoix.

Smith and his brother Dave of Lake Associates said they will determine their plans by next spring and final plans would be submitted to the city commission soon afterward.

"The direction we decide to go might be to do nothing or it might be to do a variety of things with the property," Rick Smith told The Press.

Rick Smith said the delay because of the election to determine whether Front Street would be closed for their condo project, was "very, very costly." The proposal to close Front Street was defeated by 304 votes. It put them more than a year behind schedule, he said.

The Smiths had drawn up plans for their proposed condominium-marina-restaurant complex for the old tannery property at that time, but now new plans will have to be prepared.

Revised plans for the project have to be submitted to the Planning Commission and City Commission detailing height of buildings, locations of streets and sewers and other general information, according to City Manager Tim Clifton.

Waldner's drive short?

BOYNE CITY - A petition drive for forming the Independent State of Superior ended Sunday and local resident Karl Waldner, who is heading the drive, it not too sure if he has reached his goal.

At this point, the petition drive does not look too hopeful Waldner said.

Not all the signatures came in from northern counties where petition drives took place and the signatures have not been counted, Waldner said.

Waldner and others working on the petition drive had 90 days to collect signatures. Any more signatures collected after the deadline Sunday could not be used for the petition drive.

In an interview last week with The Press, Waldner said he had about 20,000 of the 31,000 votes needed. He could not update that figure this week, and said that he won't know the total number of signatures collected until he and others who worked in the petition drive meet this weekend.

Waldner's plan calls for splitting the state at Townline 16 - - the southern boundaries of Mason, Lake, Oscoda, Clare, Gladwin and Arenac Counties.

The petitions would provide for a special election on "separation of the emerging State of Superior from the State of Michigan."

Waldner and the executive council for the State of Superior tentatively will meet in Gaylord Saturday to decide what its next move will be.

"The alternatives are many, whether we get all the signatures or not," Waldner said.

If they fall short of the signatures needed, Waldner said the leaders of the movement may go to Lansing and lobby for the cause.

"If we spent a few months lobbying in Lansing," Waldner said, "We might be able to convince and educate legislators more as to what we are doing."

Secondly, Waldner and the council could go to the 42 county commissions and ask them to put the proposed idea of a 51st state of the voters in county elections.

Waldner thought if the commissions show more involvement in the petition drive, it might also fare better with state legislators.

Waldner did not receive much cooperation from the 42 county commissions he sent petitions to for them to sign. Of the 42 commissions that received petitions, only five approved of the idea. He is hopeful that if he went to the commissions again, he would have more support.

According to state election laws, if the members fighting for an Independent State of Superior want to collect more signatures, they would have to start the drive all over again and scrap the signatures already collected.

Waldner offered that not lack of time and lack of awareness for the petition drive could account for their failure to collect the number of signatures needed.

"It was not a matter of manpower or money, but just lack of time. I think there were a lot of people who wanted to sign the petition who we never got around to doing it. We need to better educate the northern people as to what we want and then make sure we contact them."

Waldner said members of the executive council "are anxious to push forward. This is only the beginning," he added.

New storefront design for E&M station

BOYNE CITY - E & M Standard, located at the corner of Water and Lake Streets, has been going through some drastic remodeling in the past week - - as you can tell if you've been past it.

Henry Erber, the owner, had the building torn down. He is going to have a new building built, similar to the design which master planners Johnson, Johnson and Roy did for his block.

Erber will continue to sell gasoline and make car repairs during the changeover.

The new building should be completed by mid-December.

Erber is selling Standard gasoline at the sight of the old building. He is using a trailer as "home base," he said.

Repairs will also continue. Erber has rented garage space in a building near the Boyne City Lanes on M-75 and anyone wishing to have repairs done on their car should call Erber at 582-6221 to set up an appointment.

Erber has owned the station since 1967.
