1979 - a year of many changes

A year end review after a normal year is an awesome task. Following a year like this past one the chore is even more difficult.

Charlevoix County dealt with many controversies during the last 12 months. The battle over whether Front St. in Boyne City should be closed was a hotly contested issue.

Opposing views were aired in East Jordan over the $70,000 community center renovation project.

Parents in East Jordan voiced feelings that new high school principal Bud Ashton was too strict.

Strikes affected Top O'Michigan Rural Electric, Courter, Inc. and the Charlevoix County Road Commission. Layoffs hit manufacturing plants hard in Boyne City, Boyne Falls and East Jordan.

The Big Rock nuclear power facility in Charlevoix was closed for many months and pro and anti-nuclear factions argued whether it should be reopened and later if increased storage of spent fuel rods should be permitted at the plant.

Boyer City suffered through losing seasons in basketball and football while neighboring East Jordan enjoyed a winning hoop campaign and an undefeated football season.

Downtown renovation projects were proposed for both Boyne City and East Jordan.

Gas shortage scares had area businessmen wondering if they'd have any customers.

To refresh your memory of some of the events of the past year we've tried to summarize some of the more memorable events of 1979.

JANUARY

The nation's first postmaster couple - the Jack Dickouts - retired with 56 years of postal service between them.

Area schools closed for four straight days in the first week of the new year, due to 20 inches of snow in the first week and a half of January.

Rambler basketball team won its first game of the year, beating co-cellar dweller Grayling.

Sheriff's sub-station opened in South Arm. Deputy Dale Boehm Jr. manned the post located in the East Jordan City Hall.

East Jordan board of Education met with 40 teachers to discuss complaints arising out of the resignation of high school principal John Winter.

Great Lakes Energy Systems opened in Boyne City, serving customers as a "resource center" for energy saving products.

Boyer City's city hall made a move. The city went across Lake St. to occupy the former Top O'Michigan building.

FEBRUARY

Disgruntled Top O'Michigan customers held their fourth in a series of public meetings discussing the strike by office workers and the ensuing drive to recall the cooperative's board of directors.

Boyer City studied the selection of a firm to do the city's master plan, saying without a master plan the recently revised zoning ordinance will lack legal teeth.

Doug Crozier canned a bucket at the end of the game to give the Rambler basketball team a $2.51 win over the Petoskey Northmen. It was the Rambler's second win of the season.

Cost of living raise dispute led to a strike at Courter, Inc. in Boyne City.

Boyer City native Cary Adgate won the U.S. Alpine ski championship for the fourth time, winning the title at Copper Mountain, Colorado.

Plans were unveiled for remodeling of the "white elephant" of East Jordan - the community building, began during the Depression of the 1930's as a Works Progress Administration (WPA) program.

MARCH

The Boyne City freshman basketball team closed a perfect 17-0 season with an overtime 42-40 win over Grayling's frosh.

East Jordan's chamber of commerce started a drive to renovate the downtown business district.

Boyer City completed the cage season with a 57-56 loss to Rogers City. The Ramblers' final record was 4-14.

Neighboring Boyne Falls made Boyne City's hoop season look impressive. Loggers closed out at 0-20.

First National Bank and Trust of Petoskey opened a branch office on M-75 south in Boyne City.

East Jordan Family Health Center's doctor Klaus Hergt submitted a letter of resignation to the center board. A search began for a successor.

The attempted recall of the Top O'Michigan board of directors stalled when the cooperative informed the customers behind the recall drive that the matter would have to be decided by a majority of its members of some 16,000.

East Jordan's basketball team finished 12-8 on the year with three underclass

Christmas songs

The Boyne City Elementary School choir, directed by music teacher Katie Bourdon, sang several Christmas songs for the Boyne City senior citizens at the center's Christmas party Thursday.

starters. The junior varsity posts a 17-2 mark to promise good things to come.

The five month strike at Top O'Michigan Rural Electric ended when by a 35-18 vote workers decided to accept a contract offered by the cooperative. The strike resulted in 24 office workers losing their jobs.

APRIL

First National Bank of Petoskey, after an 11 month battle, received approval to open its Boyne City branch.

Boyer City's Board of Education voted 4-2 to allow school superintendent Rich Kelly to keep his job even though he hadn't moved into the school district as the board had requested.

Winds reaching 80 miles an hour downed trees through the county causing power losses for more than 60,000 northern Michigan homes to lose electrical power.

A group of parents came before the East Jordan board of education complaining that new principal Bud Ashton was "too strict." The board reaffirmed its support for Ashton's handling of discipline problems.

The City of East Jordan rented a parking lot from Ben Schenck in an effort to ease parking tie-ups on Main St. Courter, Inc. settled its strike, offering workers an average raise of 36 cents an hour.

Boyer City city commissioners turned down the idea of having a straw vote on whether Front St. should be closed to make way for 270 condominium units.

Charlevoix County Road Commission employees went on strike after almost reaching an agreement with the commission.

East Jordan Family Health Center board members found a doctor for the center. Mitch Carey agreed to come to East Jordan after finishing his residency in Saginaw.

Tom Vanderwall purchased the Watson Funeral Home from Harry Watson in East Jordan, ending 59 years of the Watson family owning the business.

Following debate at the city budget hearing, $70,000 was appropriated for remodeling of the East Jordan community center.

Protests filed against a proposed savings and loan in Boyne City were dismissed by a state banking official opening the way for the group of 11 investors to open the city's first savings and loan.

MAY

"Today's pride and yesterday's past" was chosen as the theme of East Jordan's downtown renovation project.

The county road commission and its employees agreed to terms, settling a strike less than a month old.

Former East Jordan city councilman George Shank led a group of residents who started a petition drive to put renovation of the community center to a public vote.

Fire destroyed the main building of the F.O. Barden and Son Lumber Company. Arson was suspected in the $300,000 blaze.

Boyer City dedicated its new school facilities.

Boyer City sophomore Becky Aimesbury sets a new Michigan-Huron Shores Conference record in the 440 yard run with a time of 61.5 seconds.

The petition to put the $70,000 community center renovation project to a public vote was declared invalid because all of the signatures weren't signed in the presence of the petition circulator, George Shank. Shank promised to try again.

JUNE

Downtown renovation in Boyne City was proposed with merchants, city government and local banks attempting to initiate a program of low interest loans for store-owners participating.

East Jordan mayor Jim Meredith and city councilman Frank Campbell both announced that they wouldn't run for re-election in November.

Mayor Jim Meredith found that a petition had been filed on his behalf and that he would be on the Nov. 6 ballot after all.

George Shank's petition to put the community center renovation issue to a vote in East Jordan was stymied when city attorney Roy Hayes, reading from the city charter, told the city council that petitions such as Shank's were advisory only and didn't require that the matter be put to a vote.

The Boyne City city commission agreed to put the issue of whether to close Front Street to a vote of the people in an Aug. 7 election.

Gas shortage scares and poor weather caused a slow start in the county's summer tourist trade.

JULY

One dollar a gallon gasoline made its debut in Charlevoix County. So far only non-leaded premium had cracked the dollar mark. E & M Standard in Boyne City was the first station in the area to

They built their church on faith

BY DIANNE MURRAY

BOYNE CITY - Community assistance and no building debts made the construction of the Trinity Pentecostal Church of God on State Street unique. "We built on faith and the money started coming in from all over. We had people from in town and out of town donate money, and people from in and out of the state donate money," Rev. John Spohn said.

Spohn said he and 20 to 30 other interested people have been building the church on a pay-as-you-go basis. About 20 families make up the membership for the church.

"The only thing we still owe on are the shingles on the sanctuary roof," Spohn said. "And we expect to have those paid off before we go ahead with any other building."

Spohn, who is also the chief designer for Boyne Falls Log Homes, drew up the plans in November, 1974. Phase I of the plans, which includes the Sunday School Annex, was completed in December of 1976. The 25 by 58 ft., two-story building includes seven classrooms for Sunday school, maintenance rooms, and a room where church services are held. The adjoining building, or Phase II as Spohn refers to it, is made up of the sanctuary, a nursery, bathrooms and a pastor's study upstairs. Phase II is expected to be completed by next summer, he said. The sanctuary is 42 by 70 ft. and one and a half stories high.

"For three years we held church services in our home at 530 E. Division St., and for the past two to three years we've had services in the small room above the Sunday School classrooms. We're in no real big rush to get the sanctuary done," Spohn's wife Joyce said.

A steady crew of four or five people have worked on the sanctuary building since May, Spohn said. The brick work was done between May and the end of October.

"It took us almost six months to lay brick," worker Randy Spohn remarked. "None of us knew anything about laying bricks." The only experience the workers had was on paper and not any first-hand experience, Randy added.

Spohn could not estimate the cost of building the church. "I've never added up all our bills - I leave that work to the secretary and I've never asked her to do that," he said.

After the brick work was completed, the cement floors were poured. The roof trusses went up in early November, and then the shingles were put in place. Most of the outdoor work is completed and Spohn hopes to have the building boarded up so they can complete some of the indoor work this winter.

The labor was done mostly by members of the church. Not only a lot of time went into the construction, but also a lot of fun. Spohn and other workers commented.

They had some goofs which had to be corrected and some funny things happened. One worker, Gary Peters, established "territorial rights on his wall." Spohn said Peters did not like anyone else working on his wall, which is one of the longer ones (70 ft.) of the sanctuary.

Spohn does not take any salary as pastor. As a result, the church has saved some money which is put back into construction materials. He expects to quit his job at Log Homes soon and be a "full-time pastor for the church again," he said.

While services were held at his home, Spohn said all the money collected went back into church expenses, "which were almost nil because everything was done in our home," Mrs. Spohn said.

After holding services for three years in their home, which the Spohns also built themselves, "The Lord gave me the desire to build a church," Spohn said.

Spohn looked into several different northern locations before choosing Boyne City because of its natural beauty and good location. But little did he know how special and kind the people of the area were.

"Without all the help we received from the community, I just don't know where we'd be in the building stage or if we'd have been able to tackle a job like this," he said.

The church members and those who contributed time, money and help have made the Trinity Pentecostal Church truly their own church.

Joyce and Rev. John Spohn pose in front of the nearly completed church made possible by community help. Spohn and members of the Trinity Pentecostal Church of God on State Street decided to pay as they built and avoid debts.

EJ Community Chest drive short of goal

EAST JORDAN - Thoughts of giving are abundant at Christmas and one local agency is in need of abundant gifts - the East Jordan Community Chest. Layoffs at area plants and proportionate losses in payroll donations for the Community Chest are one of the biggest factors in the fund drive being $6,000 short of its $18,000 goal.
"The main thrust (of the drive) is in October," Community Chest board president Mrs. Dan Thomas said, adding, "but the fund drive functions all year long."
Gulf & Western, whose employees contributed one third of last year's total, is cut back to one production shift and ITT, which closed Dec. 19, didn't participate in the payroll contribution plan this year.
"Instead of $18,000 we pulled about $12,000," Mrs. Thomas reported. "We had a contingency fund of about $2,300 from going over our goal last year so we aren't as bad as we could be."
"I hope it won't affect services," she said, adding that many of the agencies served by Community Chest funds were already hurt by reallocations of Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) funds.
With the Christmas giving season here, Mrs. Thomas emphasized the fact that 80 percent of all Community Chest money remains in the community.
"Well over 300 people in the community benefited from Community Chest funds last year," Mrs. Thomas said.
"I doubt if we'll get up to $18,000 but maybe between $14,000 and $16,000," she guessed as this year's total fund drive figure.
Interested donors may send money to either the United Way or Community Chest in East Jordan.

Ballots to be examined

BOYNE CITY - A state election inspector will be investigating the two recent city elections which have been questioned due to handling of absentee ballots. County Prosecutor Scott Beatty called the State Elections Board following a request by city resident Everett Sayles to investigate the handling of absentee ballots during the Aug. 7 Front Street election and the Nov. 6 city election.
Beatty was told a regional inspector would be notified and requested to look into the matter.
Beatty did not request the inspector to come, but was told that after the holiday season an inspector would be due in the area.
Questions arose about the legality of the Nov. 7 election to elect two people to city commission seats, when City Clerk Tom Garlock allowed local residents Louie and Violet Manglos to deliver absentee ballots to elderly voters. State election law states that the clerk should either deliver the ballots himself or mail the ballots to the voter.

Boyer City Commission Minutes, Dec. 11, 1979

RECORD OF THE PROCEEDINGS OF THE REGULAR MEETING OF THE CITY COMMISSION OF THE CITY OF BOYNE CITY DULY CALLED AND HELD IN THE COMMISSION CHAMBERS ON TUESDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1979 AT 7:00 P.M.
Present: Mayor Keith Fitzpatrick, commissioners Steven Moody, Catherine Jessup and Thelma Behling. Absent: Commissioner Martin Paul. Also Present: City Manager Timothy J. Clifton, City Clerk Tom Garlock and City Attorney Harvey Varnum.
The minutes of the regular meeting of November 13, 1979 were approved as received in the Commissioner's Packet.
The Mayor called for citizen comments on non-agenda items. There were no comments from the audience.
The City Clerk read a letter from H. G. and Mary Harris favoring the collection of school taxes in the summer months.
The Mayor opened the Public Hearing to discuss the collection of school taxes in the summer.
The City Manager explained and clarified the various aspects of a summer tax collection and recommended that 50 percent of the school taxes be collected beginning in the summer of 1980.
Commissioners Jessup and Behling both expressed their views from their constituents that they favored this type of tax collection in the summer months.
School Supt. Richard Kelly spoke in behalf of the school and explained how an early collection of monies in the summer would produce a better cash flow and would save on borrowing and interest in the winter.
The Mayor declared the Public Hearing closed.
Moved by Moody, seconded by Behling to authorize the City Manager to institute the collection of 50 percent of the school taxes, by the city beginning the summer of 1980. Roll call all years. Motion carried.
Robert Scheaffer, Richard May, Bruce Hubble and Gary Schafer appeared before the Commission, requesting the establishment of an Economic Development Corporation (EDC).
Purpose of the EDC is to create a continuing need for programs to alleviate and prevent conditions of unemployment, and that it is accordingly necessary to assist and retain local industries and commercial enterprises to strengthen and revitalize the economy of this state and its municipalities; that accordingly it is necessary to provide means and methods for the encouragement and assistance of industrial and commercial enterprises in locating, purchasing, construction, reconstructing, modernizing, improving, maintaining, repairing, furnishing, equipping, and expanding in this state and in its municipalities; and that it is also necessary to encourage the location and expansion of commercial enterprises to more conveniently provide needed services and facilities of the commercial enterprises to municipalities, and the residents thereof. The powers granted in this act constitute the performance of essential public purposes and functions for this state and its municipalities.

The Economic Development Corporation of Boyne City would attempt to realize these accomplishments in Boyne City.
Mr. Richard May requested that the City Commission schedule a Public Hearing on the establishment of an EDC at their earliest convenience.
Moved by Fitzpatrick, seconded by Moody, to accept the application for the Economic Development Corporation of Boyne City and to schedule a Public Hearing for Tuesday, January 8, 1980 at 7:00 p.m., to review same (including the Articles of Incorporation as submitted with the application, and to consider completing applications. Roll call all years. Motion carried.
The City Manager after reviewing a Water/Sewer Rate Study in the amount of $5,000 with the Commission, withdrew his proposal on such a study at this time and requested that the monies appropriated for such use carried over into the 1980-81 budget. He proposed an internal study of the rate structure in order to establish a balanced water/sewer budget for next fiscal year. In the event rates could not be restructured, a second request could be forthcoming for a Water/Sewer Rate Study, in fiscal 1980/81.
Mr. Phil Armstrong, representing Great Lakes Energy Systems, gave a report on a recent energy study his firm conducted of the City Hall Complex and Street Garage, recommending the establishment of a five year program of energy conservation through installation of more efficient energy systems.
This energy study provides the Commission and the Administration with a "blue print" as to what improvements can be made to the existing system so that when repairs are necessary, they can be made consistent with the recommendations of the study.
A copy of the energy study, because of its length and comprehensive graphs, is too lengthy to be published. However, a copy is available at City Hall for the public to examine at their convenience.
The City Manager gave a report that it is necessary that the city purchase an additional 25 remote reading water meters to service and replace the anticipated winter repair of old water meters during the ensuing winter months. Winter weather is hard on the old meters and the City can expect to replace approximately 25 water meters this winter.
Installation of the new meters will be at no additional charge to the water customer.
The Administration recommends the purchase of 25 remote reading water meters from Badger, Inc.
Moved by Behling, seconded by Fitzpatrick that the city purchase 25 remote reading water meters from Badger, Inc., in an amount not to exceed $900.00 ($36.00/unit). Funds are appropriated in the Fiscal Year 1979/1980 Budget and are available in Account Code 592-592-727.

06 Meters and Supplies. Roll call all years. Motion carried.
The City Manager gave a report on the leasing of 400 square feet of office space in City Hall to Charlevoix County Public Transit (Dial-A-Ride). The term of the lease is three years, beginning January 1, 1980 to December 31, 1982. The rent from Lessee under this lease shall be at the rate of $6.00 per square foot annually for a total rental amount of $7,000.00 for the term of said lease, payable in installments of $200.00 each month, beginning January 1, 1980, with succeeding payments due on the 19th day of each month thereafter during the term of this lease.
Further, rent will be established at $100.00 per month for the first six months, or until occupancy, whichever is first, and thereafter will be established at $200.00 per month.
Moved by Fitzpatrick, seconded by Behling to authorize the Mayor and City Clerk to sign the lease between the City of Boyne City and the Charlevoix County Public Transit (Dial-A-Ride), as outlined above. Roll call all years. Motion carried.
The City Manager gave a report on the sale of city owned land on M-75. The 100 ft. by 400 ft. strip of land was advertised for sale with five bids being received:

Frederick J. Temple	$18,600
First National Bank	12,100
Haggard's Plumbing and Heating	12,100
Bruce Hubble, et el	12,056
Elmer Crain	10,000

An independent appraisal was performed on the property with the market value established at $8,500.00.
The bids were presented and reviewed by the Planning Commission at its October 15, 1979 meeting. The Planning Commission, with a unanimous vote of those present, instructed the City Manager to forward a letter to each of the bidders requesting the following:
a. statement of proposed use;
b. construction schedule; and
c. earnest money in the amount of 5 percent of bid and requiring a response within 21 days of receipt of the letter.
At the subsequent meeting of the Planning Commission on November 19, 1979, that body unanimously passed a motion recommending to the City Commission that all of the bids for the subject parcel be rejected.
After debate, the Planning Commission was of a consensus that too many questions remained concerning not only the subject parcel but the entire City-owned property located on M-75, of which the subject parcel is only a small portion. It was felt that information is too sketchy and uncertain, at this time, as to how the City and Evangeline Township would ideally like to see this land developed.
The City Administration concurs with the recommendation of the Planning Commission and, in turn, recommends to the City Commission that the subject property be retained and all the bids be rejected. Upon completion of the Comprehensive Plan and the subsequent determination of land needs to service the future development of Boyne City, the 20+ acres of City-owned property on M-75 should be reviewed again.

Moved by Moody, seconded by Jessup to accept the recommendation of the Planning Commission and reject all bids on the subject parcel of land on M-75, for the following reasons:
1) The City is uncertain as to the significance of the subject parcel to the entire 20+ acres of city-owned land on M-75.
2) Not enough information is available to the Planning Commission at this time to proceed with the sale of the property until a determination is made of the use of the remainder of the property on M-75.
3) Because of the relationship of the subject parcel to the remainder of the City-owned property, it is not felt advantageous to the City to separate this 100 ft. by 400 ft. parcel from the remainder of the property. Rather, the Planning Commission and the City should consider the potential sale of the entire City-owned property.
4) Detail is lacking as to the availability of access to the property from M-75.
5) The City of Boyne City is in the process of preparing a Comprehensive Plan which will assist in determining the land use requirements of the City. Upon its completion, the Comprehensive Plan may direct that the property be sold for a particular purpose more consistent with the City requirements verified in the Comprehensive Plan.
Roll call all years. Motion carried.
The City Manager transmitted the Monthly Financial Report to the Commission.
The City Clerk read the schedule of minutes that are available for public inspection at City Hall.
a. Boyne City Housing Commission Meeting of November 6, 1979.
b. Boyne City Library Board Meeting of November 8, 1979.

a. Wednesday, December 12, 1979, at 5:00 p.m. -- Boyne City Youth Advisory Board at the Commission Chambers, City Hall, 319 N. Lake St.
b. Thursday, December 13, 1979, at 7:30 p.m. -- Boyne City Library Board, Boyne City Public Library, 201 East Main Street.

c. Monday, December 17, 1979, at 5:00 p.m. -- Boyne City Planning Commission Meeting at the Commission Chambers, City Hall.
d. Wednesday, December 19, 1979, at 5:00 p.m. -- Boyne City Airport Advisory Board, Commission Chambers, City Hall.
e. Thursday, December 20, 1979, at 5:00 p.m. -- Boyne City Parks and Recreation Commission, Commission Chambers, City Hall.

g. Tuesday, January 8, 1980, at 7:00 p.m. -- Regular City Commission Meeting, Commission Chambers, City Hall.
h. Every Tuesday at 12:00 Noon -- City Commission at the Office of the City Manager, City Hall.
Moved by Behling, seconded by Fitzpatrick to re-appoint Charles Kessler to the Boyne City Housing Commission for a five year term. Term ending January 1, 1985. Roll call all years. Motion carried.
Moved by Fitzpatrick, seconded by Jessup to re-appoint Marvin Loding to the Zoning Board of Appeals for a three year term. Term ending September 1, 1982. Roll call all years. Motion carried.
The City Manager advised the Commission on the discontinuance of the Rifle Range at the VFW Post, indicating that it would not be wise to continue the use of the Rifle Range without a lease agreement, which was denied them by the VFW membership. Without a lease agreement, it would be improper to expend funds to improve a site which the City had to guarantee that it would be able to continue to use.
A petition received by the Commission on November 13, 1979 to close the rifle range was cited. Since the Boyne City Police Dept. no longer utilizes the range it is recommended that the city withdraw its participation in the rifle range at the VFW Post. If the VFW wishes to maintain a rifle range at the site they must apply for a permit from the BCPD and present acceptable rules, regulations and hours for use of same.
The Police Chief has been instructed to meet with the Commander of the VFW to inform him of this decision and to offer assistance in the form of signage at the site, posting that the rifle range is no longer in use and shooting at the site is prohibited.
The Commission concurred with the Administration's recommendations on the closing of the rifle range at the VFW Post and directed it be closed.
The City Manager presented a recommendation to the Commission to initiate a fee of $25.00 for each application to the Zoning Board of Appeals for variances, land use changes, or other matters which must be acted upon by the Board of Appeals, to cover a portion of the labor, postage and advertising costs.
Moved by Jessup, seconded by Fitzpatrick to set an Application Fee of $25.00 for any variances, land use changes, or other matters concerning zoning changes which shall come before the Zoning Board of Appeals. This action shall take immediate effect. Roll call all years. Motion carried.

The City Clerk received a petition, signed by 18 residents of the North Boyne Area, as follows: "We the undersigned citizens living in the vicinity of Escape and Court Streets do hereby petition the City of Boyne City to cease any and all dumping in the gravel pit excavation which is now being used for dumping purposes."
The City Manager said that he would look into the erection of a fence around the site and attempt to incorporate same in the FY 80/81 Budget. It was also mentioned that the City would attempt to hire someone through the Ceta Program to be in attendance at the site to police the area and prevent further dumping in that area.
Moved by Behling, seconded by Fitzpatrick to adjourn. Meeting adjourned at 8:40 p.m.

New utility head takes helm in time of change

BY JON DENISON

Tom Hanna enters his new position as general manager of Top O'Michigan Rural Electric with the company and the energy situation in general in a period of change.

Hanna served as executive manager of the utility from November of 1974 until last July. Then he was appointed acting general manager following the resignation of former general manager Roger Westenbroek for health reasons.

Hanna's appointment comes 14 months after 25 office workers struck the company and one year after Top O'Michigan moved into a new facility on East Division Street in Boyne City.

The strike lasted five months and resulted in 21 new employees being hired to maintain service during the strike. Seven of the striking workers have since been called back to work and as positions open, jobs will be offered to the other workers who were replaced.

The new Top O'Michigan office, which still has some finishing touches being worked on, represents $1 million of the firm's $30 million capital worth.

Hanna is stepping into a position of not only having to deal with the scars of a management-labor feud and ironing out the wrinkles caused by moving into a new facility, but also one where he has to cope with the energy industry in one of its most unstable periods.

"The utility business is tough," Hanna said during a recent interview. "All businesses are tough. We haven't had a rate increase since 1976 and we're proud of that." Even without increases the cooperative's rates are steep.

"Our rates are among the highest in the state and for a valid reason," Hanna explained. "The terrain is difficult to maintain service through."

Seasonal customers account for almost half of the company's members, and that adds to operational costs as well. The seasonal meters don't provide continuous revenue but are located in the highest power cost areas and have fixed costs to make service available when needed.

Top O'Michigan serves 12 counties from Grayling in the south to Mackinaw City in the north. The company has 4,500 miles of line with an average of less than seven customers per mile.

"We have to plan ahead," Hanna said. "We know there's going to be more electrical consumption. Electrical costs are getting closer to oil costs. More homes will be heating with electricity."

"We're an energy dependent country," Hanna said.

Top O'Michigan is paying more for its energy now than it has before, and as a result is trying to get members to use less electricity, a switch from earlier days when the firm urged electrical usage.

"We support alternative energy usage," Hanna said.

The new general manager added that while the company supports alternative energy sources it can't yet enter into "co-generating" arrangements.

Co-generation is when a utility such as a Top O'Michigan, supplies part of a customer's energy needs and an alternative energy source, such as a windmill, supplies the rest. When, to use a windmill as an example, the windmill couldn't meet the customer's energy needs power from the conventional source, such as Top O'Michigan, would be used.

Conversely when more power was generated by the windmill than the customer needed, the excess power would be purchased by the utility.

Some utility firms have co-generation rate structures, Hanna explained, but safety problems have so far prevented Top O'Michigan from entering into co-generation arrangements.

People at work

Tom Hanna

"We're not opposed to co-generation," Hanna said, "but we're not sure of its safety."

Another problem with co-generation from Top O'Michigan's point of view, Hanna explained, is that it has a total power purchase agreement with Northern Michigan Electrical Cooperative. Buying power from co-generating customers would violate that agreement.

A possible answer to the co-generation problem would be for customers to sell excess power to Northern.

Top O'Michigan is becoming more involved with conservation as energy costs rise. That point is reflected in the company's new facility on Boyne City's southeastern city limit.

The building's office area is one open room with five foot high partitions separating working areas. The building has very few lights, relying on eye-level windows all around the building as the main source of light.

The cooperative asked its members in a questionnaire distributed at its annual meeting in August if they wanted the company to supply them with energy saving information.

The Top O'Michigan members said that they were getting such information from other sources and would rather not have the cooperative spend money on an information program.

"We were ahead of the times on conservation," Hanna said, explaining that the company had always encouraged reasonable electrical use.

Due to member's conservation efforts, Hanna continued, per member usage is going down. Where the company once enjoyed a 20 percent annual growth rate it now registers about a seven or eight percent annual rate of growth - virtually all from new customers.

Keeping abreast of energy consumption increases and changing trends in the electrical industry are duties far different from Hanna's first responsibilities in northern Michigan.

The Cleveland State University civil engineering graduate came to the north in 1965 as project engineer for the Medusa cement plant in Charlevoix. When the project was completed Hanna decided he liked the area enough to make it his home.

He became Charlevoix's city administrator, holding the post for four years. His varied background has instilled an appreciation of the value of communication, within the company and between the cooperative and its members.

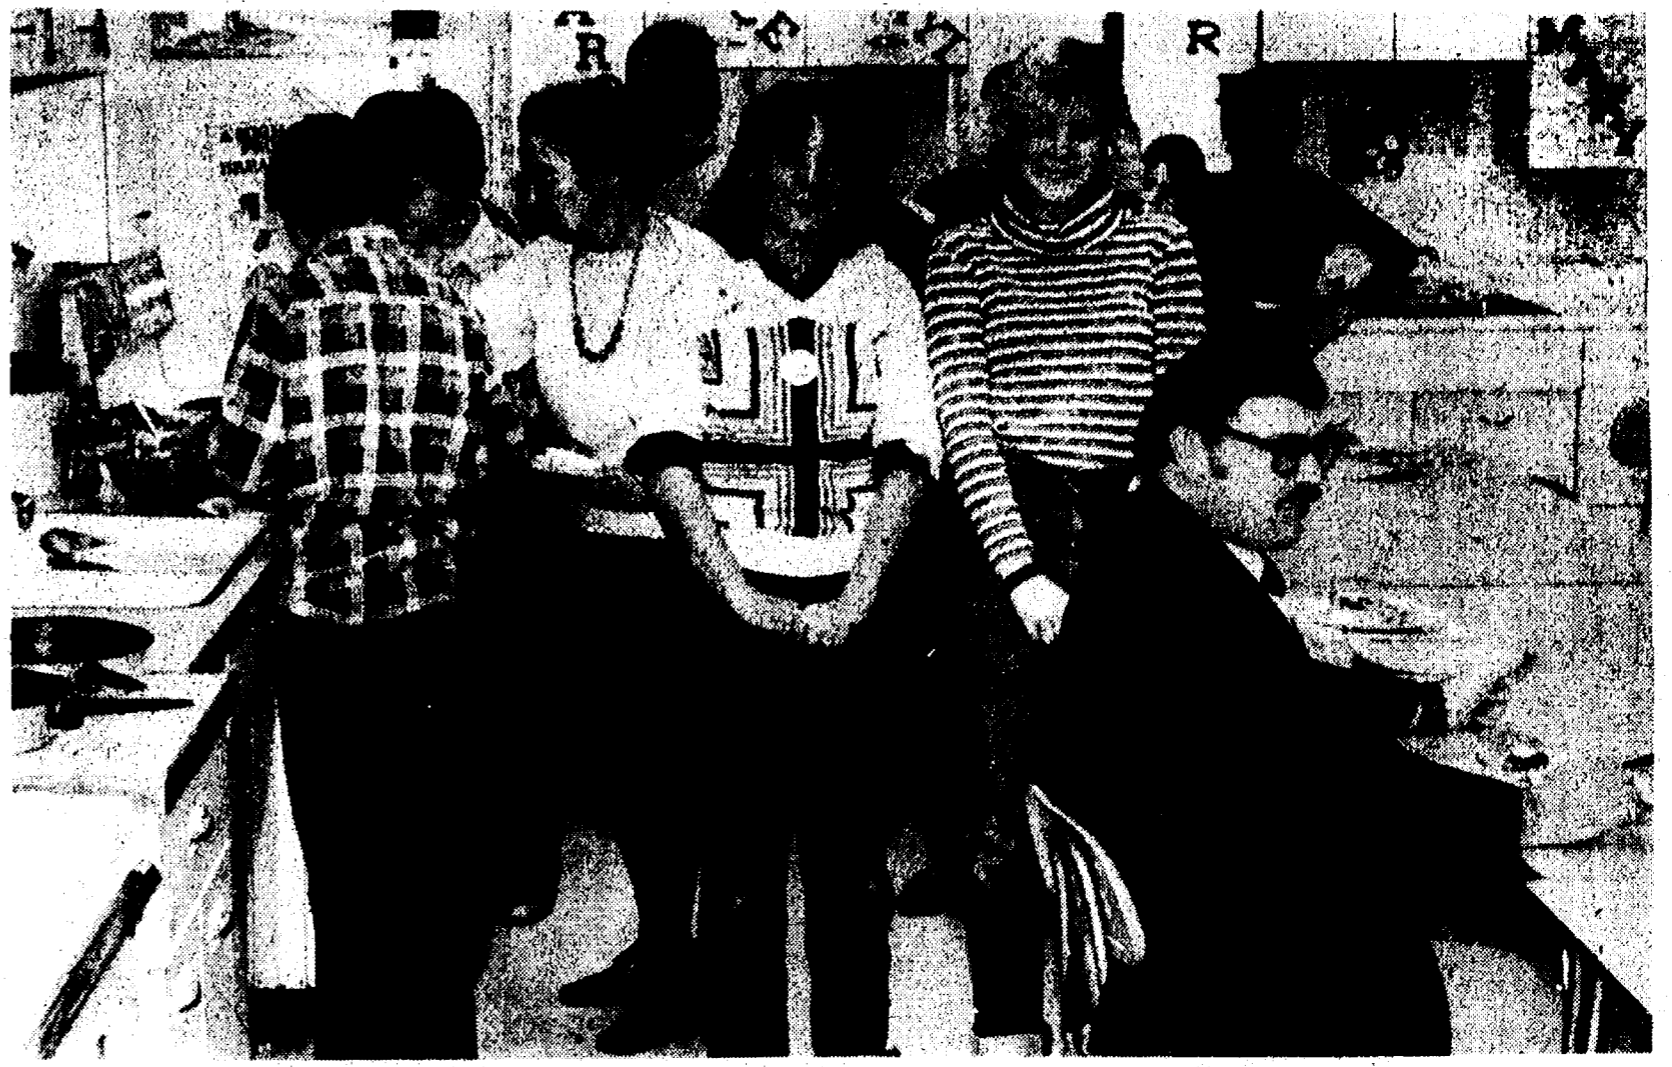

The strike last fall and its ensuing hard feelings were in part caused by poor communication, Hanna believes. The 13,000 to 14,000 seasonal members who live outside of northern Michigan for most of the year make communicating more difficult, Hanna explained. The cooperative is attempting to maintain contact with members through a newsletter.

The first newsletter came out before the strike and attempted to explain to members what an electric cooperative was. Originally, the second newsletter was to tell members about their particular cooperative, Top O'Michigan. The strike intervened and the second communication between the cooperative and its members dealt solely with the strike.

With operations back to normal, the cooperative resumed the schedule it had planned for the newsletter with the third issue. It told members the history of Top O'Michigan. Included in the third newsletter were results from the 1979 annual meeting and the board of directors election.

The election had taken over prominence in the labor-management conflict when an effort to recall the cooperative's board of directors was stymied by a lack of verifiable signatures on petitions calling for a recall vote. Disgruntled members had nominated three board candidates, but in what Hanna termed "a vote of confidence" for the cooperative, the members voted three incumbent directors back into office. The three alternative candidates finished fourth, fifth and sixth in the nine-man field.

The board of directors is the same but the cooperative itself has changed. A new building, many new employees, a new approach toward electrical consumption and now, a new general manager.

Boyne Falls students exploring new classes

BOYNE FALLS - Seventh and eighth graders at Boyne Falls school aren't getting bored in their classes under a new junior high exploratory program implemented this year.

During the period before lunch hour the students rotate classes every six weeks, getting a taste of home economics, arts and crafts, Spanish and physical education. The program has been successful enough to cause the school's administration to consider adding a typing segment to the program next year.

Each of the segments has 15 students, a mixture of boys and girls.

Eveline Lambert teaches the home economics portion of the program and is pleased with the way the program has functioned so far this year. "The length of time is ideal," she explained. "It exposes them to it (the particular subject)."

The girls aren't the only students performing well in her portion of the rotating program, Lambert noted.

"Most of the boys have been receptive and perform well," she said. "They see their mistakes and they're very cooperative."

The program came about, principal Carl Moser explained, as a result of the realization of the need for seventh and eighth graders to receive special exposure to different disciplines. Response to the rotating class plan has been good, he added.

And the classes aren't just a glorified activity hour, Lambert stressed.

"We have tests," she said. "There's lab work and the students have to know the different kitchen utensils and proper terminology."

The program is facilitated in Boyne Falls by the small number of students in each class and at the same time helps solve a deficiency the school's size could create - a more limited offering of classes due to the small number of pupils who can participate.

By incorporating the four subject areas into the time period the school is giving the students exposure to the subjects that they otherwise may not have received.

Fireplace believed cause of another EJ house fire

EAST JORDAN - Firemen from East Jordan were called to the second early morning blaze of the week Friday when they answered a call at 12:05 a.m. to the Robert Sloan home on Korthase Road, just south of the Antrim-Charlevoix County border.

The cause of the blaze is believed to be a defective fireplace. The fire Dec. 17 that killed an East Jordan family of four is also being linked to a fireplace.

Officials at the Michigan State Police Fire Marshall's office in Traverse City said Friday that while the exact cause of the Monday morning blaze can't be determined, circumstances point to a fireplace screen being open.

A Christmas tree was located on one side of the fireplace and a pile of wood was on the other side.

East Jordan fire chief Dick Barnett urged that care be taken with storing combustible items near woodstoves and fireplaces.

"Check fireplaces and make sure everything's good," Barnett added. "If you have smoke alarms check them. If you don't have them, get them."

If this house had a smoke alarm, five lives may have been saved.

Invest in a smoke alarm

After two serious fires in four days, we heartily concur with East Jordan Fire Chief Dick Barnett's advice: "If you don't have a smoke alarm, get one."

The tragic deaths of an East Jordan mother and her four children probably could have been avoided Dec. 17 if their home had been equipped with a smoke alarm.

Instead, the family was overcome by smoke, suffocated, and never awoke. Sparks from their fireplace apparently ignited their living room and destroyed the house.

The same scene could have been repeated on Dec. 21, but an occupant of a home on Korhase Road smelled smoke and was able to escape. His home was also destroyed. As we all know, the popularity of wood stoves and fireplaces has increased dramatically in our area as other forms of energy have become more expensive. But the number of fires caused by wood burning units has also increased dramatically. In some states, as many as 20 percent of accidental fires are thought to have been caused by wood stoves.

Editorial

Obviously, this calls for caution in using and installing wood stoves and fireplaces. We strongly urge you to get the advice of a professional builder if you plan to install one. You can get a free pamphlet on wood stove safety from the Insurance Information Institute, 110 Williams St., New York NY 10038. Enclose a large stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Whether you burn wood or not, it's a good idea to invest in a smoke alarm. They are not very expensive, and they could save your life or the life of a loved one. If your house catches fire, you could suffocate from the smoke and never wake up.

'She's normal 4-year-old' thanks to pre-school test

Editor,
We bought our weekly copy of the Press last week and read your article about the child development screening clinic directed by the pre-school team of the Char-Em Intermediate School District.
We would like to publicly thank the pre-school team for helping our daughter, Michelle, and share that experience with The Press.
In October of 1978 we were invited to participate in the screening. Michelle was three at the time and I wanted her tested because her speech was so poor that no one could understand her but us.

As a result the speech therapist began coming to the house and working with Michelle, as well as working with her at nursery school and teaching us simple games to play at home that would strengthen her speech.

At one home visit she was given a hearing test and we discovered a definite hearing loss. The speech therapist made an appointment with an ear specialist who diagnosed Michelle's problem as excessive fluid in the ear and corrected this with surgery.

Michelle is now speaking like a normal four year old and we owe it all to the pre-school team. We are very grateful we have a program like this in our school district. A group of professionals who really care and deserve a big THANK YOU.

I can no longer drink or sing; What next?

When I was a young man I loved wine, women and song. But now that the dust is settling around me, I can no longer drink or sing. And I'm worried about what will happen next. Not much, but some.

Recalling those youthful days, I had planned to write a little something about the time women used to button clear up to the chin-back when I didn't know whether I was modest or just plain dumb. I was a late developer. And it galls me now to remember that my friends were having something to do with girls while I was still pushing beans up my nose.

I remained ignorant and free until I was 20 years old.

By the time the mysteries of youth were explained I had committed no interesting blunder. Mainly because I was gung ho on filling my head with grammar, and nonsense and learning.

My friends were wont to scoff. They knew their onions. And they bragged about it whenever the Salvation Army wasn't shaking those tambourines in the poolroom.

Of course they were lying, and much of their spunk was bunk. I didn't believe them any more than I do a preacher who laughs too much.

But I'm still seized with a green-eyed temper whenever I recall how long I put off a normal young man's slipshod behavior.

Today I ain't what I could have been, and I ain't what I should have been. I think most men my age regret those could and shoulds.

As time marches on, it's becoming more difficult than ever to savor those old wine, women and song days. I have other and more important things on my mind.

Right now I've got a boil on my ear and a corn on my toe and the dang things are driving me bats.

'That guy Waldner' gets statewide attention

That was the headline on a column Mike Ready wrote about Boyne City's Karl Waldner five or six years ago - "That guy Waldner."

Mike's basic point was that Waldner had a lot of good qualities that too few people have. Waldner was an "involved citizen" in a time of overwhelming apathy. He went to meetings and public forums of all kinds, he wrote letters to newspapers, he talked on radio call-in shows, ran for public office and he looked for other candidates to do the same.

But the problem in the long run was that Waldner always ended up alienating nearly everyone he came in contact with. He had no patience or diplomacy. He expected everyone to immediately embrace his ideas. If they didn't, Waldner would often become enraged. He'd shout, curse and stomp out.

That was a pity because the man actually has a good head on his shoulders. He seems to have a lot of energy and a lot of time on his hands. He could have done a lot of good if that time and energy had been channeled to some productive project.

But few people took what he said at face value. Anything Karl supported was scoffed at simply because Karl was identified with it. Actually, his stands on the issues, though sometimes radical, would have been quite popular coming from someone else. He spouted off about lawyers being "word merchants," electric rates being too high, nuclear power being unsafe, schools not doing a proper job, and government in general being wasteful and unresponsive.

Besides being impatient and

obnoxious, he lacked follow-through. You never knew when to take him seriously. At least twice a year, he'd form a new organization. One was Citizens Information Service. Like most of the others, it turned out to be pretty much of a one-man operation. That one probably came closer to actually accomplishing something than any of the others.

CIS (namely Waldner and three or four friends) gathered enough signatures in 1976 to get a tax millage reduction question put on the ballot in Charlevoix County. Despite Waldner's feeling that most people would welcome the chance to trim fat from county government, voters decided to keep their millage right where it was.

A couple of years later Waldner came into The Press office and told me about his latest cure for the world's ills - Organized Voters of America, or OVA for short. It sounded like something out of biology class to me, but Karl promised it would be doing big things in the near future.

[The Press did not do a story on OVA, mainly because it was unclear what OVA was to be - like many other front groups

Waldner had named but never really organized.

A few weeks later, probably because he was upset with us, Waldner put out issue number one of "The Citizen Sentinel." It was an 8 by 14 inch (front and back) newspaper described as "A political equalizer. . . A political newsletter published locally by Organized Voters of America."

The lead article slammed The Charlevoix County Press for being "in bed with the establishment." But most of the paper was devoted to explaining OVA. It had modest goals - takeover of Boyne City government, takeover of the Boyne City school board, etc.

At least Karl had actually done something, though. In 1975, he had announced plans for starting a paper, and it never came out. However, the 1978 Citizen-Sentinel, modest as it was, came out with only one more issue and then disappeared.

The next we heard of "that guy Waldner" was a news release this spring announcing his plans to form the Independent State of Superior. He wanted the Upper Peninsula and the northern half of the Lower Peninsula to secede from Michigan, and form the 51st state. As usual, the goal was to cut taxes and "return government to the people."

Once again, Waldner's news release went into the garbage can. This would surely sink faster than OVA, we thought. After all, how could someone succeed with a major undertaking like splitting a state in two if he couldn't even get a local group like OVA off the ground in his home town? It was almost laughable.

Thus, the attention Waldner and his 51st state idea later received were surprising to me and most other residents of Charlevoix County. Our local kook was getting statewide publicity. He spoke confidently about how the drive was progressing and how he expected to have the 30,000 signatures by his Nov. 18 deadline.

Waldner had picked up considerable support in areas far from his home turf - where no one knew him. His major comrades in the 51st state effort were Jim Davison, publisher of the Oscoda County News, and Neil Whitsitt, chairman of the board of county commissioners for Presque Isle County.

Promotional material for Karl Waldner's Independent State of Superior shows Southern Michigan sinking out of sight. . . but that hasn't happened yet.

I think they were pretty impressed with Karl for most of their petition drive, but when it got near the end it became obvious they weren't going to get all the signatures they needed. About 10 days before the petition deadline, Davison called me to ask why there had been so little coverage of the State of Superior movement on this side of the state.

I told Davison we were at that time preparing a story on Waldner and his idea - but we had actually been caught by surprise when the idea actually got off the ground. "How were we to know that this wasn't going to be another two-week effort like OVA or the Citizen-Sentinel," I told Davison.

Davison seemed somewhat disappointed in Karl's follow-through on the petition drive. "And we began to wonder why Karl didn't seem to have much support in his home county. . . and why no one else from the Boyne area ever came along with him when we went out to meetings," Davison said.

Waldner had been telling Davison and others that he represented a group of 1,800 people from the Boyne area in Citizens Information Service. I told Davison that there was no such group, except in Waldner's imagination.

So Karl had been conducting a grand charade for six months. He had a lot of people convinced that he really was going to pull off this state separation idea.

But I doubt if too many people in Charlevoix County were surprised when he came up with only two-thirds of the number of signatures he needed on his petitions. And I have to laugh now when good old diplomatic Karl says that now he is going to sell the idea by personally approaching different county commissions.

Stopped smoking

One resolution worth keeping

New Year's resolutions are something a lot of people don't believe in and few follow through with.

But, last New Year's I made a resolution that I've stuck to and will continue to follow the rest of my life. On Jan. 1, 1979, I quit smoking cigarettes.

Many of my friends and acquaintances in this area never knew I smoked. For them it will come as a surprise. . . but for almost four years I smoked.

I was lucky that at the time I quit I lived with two roommates who did not smoke. They had been urging me for quite some time to kick the habit, but I needed a crutch - something as foolish as a New Year's resolution to make me quit.

There are plenty of reasons why I quit,

but it was the idea of making a New Year's resolution and going through with it - the challenge - that actually worked. As I think back, I believe this is the only New Year's resolution which I can remember following through with.

My hardest moments of quitting were when I went to the restaurant where I worked as a part-time waitress. I sneaked a few puffs now and then but that only lasted a few days. Then I decided if I was going to quit, it had to be cold turkey or nothing.

I don't have to go into all the health reasons and psychology behind my quitting, I'm just glad I did. Some say that the urge to smoke is always there but I'd like to disclaim that. For me, the desire to smoke is not even there, and it wasn't hard to stop in the first place.

Of course, the easiest way to avoid having to go through withdrawals from smoking is to never start. (Another cliché heard a million times by young adults. . . but these words of wisdom should be heeded.)

Smoking is a curse I wish on no one. One of my pet peeves is to make sure (as best I can) that my younger sisters and brother never pick up the rolled tobacco habit. My mother smokes and has the attitude that it's too late for her to quit, although I think just the opposite - it's never too late.

I remember reading somewhere that a study on New Year's resolutions showed that for every 100 resolutions made, only about 20 are kept. So, even though your resolution may be foolish, if it's something that you'd like to see accomplished, it can be done.

I'm glad I was one of the lucky 20 who kept at least one promise to myself.

Don't let winter keep you from reading a good book

REV. K. A. SMITH, President
Library Board of Trustees

As old man winter moves into our community, his entourage of snow storms often dictates our lives. As the snow begins to pile high, walking around town can get to be a real challenge. And sometimes it's easier to change our travel plans than to find the car that's buried somewhere in the front yard. It is with this in mind that the Boyne City Public Library offers some very special services to you, their patrons.

If you've been looking for a book and it hasn't been on the shelves for a while, you can reserve it by phone as well as in person. This applies to large print books too.

The library participates in an inter-library loaning program. So if there's a particular book that the library does not have, it can be borrowed, for a mere 25 cents postage, from the shelves of some other library.

Library corner

For many, winter is the time to research spring and summer projects. Maybe it's a solar collector you'd like to build or you need a new recipe for making sauerkraut because yours molded instead of fermented. Whatever the reason, it is possible to get magazine articles, language records, medical information or other up to date information on your specific project. Along with this, magazines as well as encyclopedias can be borrowed. Ask your librarian for further details.

The library has a record player and a cassette player for the blind or physically handicapped. These are good for educational or demonstrational purposes. Records and tapes for this special equipment are available for lending.

So, don't let the snow stop your mind from traveling just because it won't let your body travel, snuggle up in your afghan with a book today!

Ho, ho, ho! Ho, ho, ho sang the Boyne Falls first graders during the afternoon dress rehearsal for the annual Christmas program last Thursday. During the evening performance the first graders were joined by the kindergarten class for their portion of the program.

Social worker focuses on abuse

Lenore Landon, a native of the Boyne City Area, has returned to Charlevoix County as the Children's Protective Services Worker for the county department of Social Services.

In that capacity she will investigate complaints of child abuse or neglect throughout the county.

Prior to returning to Charlevoix County, Lenore was a Protective Services worker for Gratiot County. She has a master's degree in counseling and she taught in a junior high school and a senior high school prior to her employment with Social Services.

Lenore emphasizes that the two major goals of the Children's Protective Services Program are to assure that children are protected from physical and emotional harm, and to provide services to maintain children in their own homes, when possible, by working to strengthen families in areas which directly affect the safety and well-being of children.

"Children are only removed from their parents home as a last resort," she said. When it is necessary to remove a child, he or she is returned to his parents as soon as the threat of harm is removed. The intent is not to punish parents but to help them provide proper care for their children."

County Social Services Director Doug McCombs notes that "Child abuse and neglect are very emotional topics in our society, yet many basic aspects of the Child Protection Law are generally unknown."

The Child Protection Laws defines child abuse as "harm or threatened harm to a child's health or welfare by a person responsible for the child's health or welfare which occurs through non-accidental physical or mental injury, sexual abuse or maltreatment."

Child neglect is defined as "harm to a child's health or welfare by a person responsible for the child's health or welfare which occurs through negligent treatment, including the failure to provide adequate food, clothing, shelter, or medical care."

Physicians, coroners, dentist, medical examiners, nurses, audiologist, social workers, school administrators, counselors and teachers, law enforcement officers, and child care providers are required by law to immediately make an oral report to the Department of Social Services when they have reasonable cause to suspect child abuse or neglect.

A person required to report an instance of suspected child abuse or neglect who fails to do so is civilly liable for the damages proximately caused by the failure. Any person, including a child, "may" report to the Department of Social Services or a law enforcement agency if they have reasonable cause to suspect child abuse or neglect, McCombs said.

The identity of a reporting person shall be confidential subject to disclosure only with the consent of that person or by judicial process.

The Department of Social Services is required to commence an investigation of the child suspected of being abused or neglected within 24 hours after receiving a report.

For further information or to report suspected abuse or neglect, call Lenore Landon at 547-4471.

After 5 p.m. or on weekends, call 347-1700, which is the Children's Protective Services answering service, operated by the Emmet County Sheriff's Department. The department will relay the message to the children's protective services worker.

Lots of action on New Year's Eve

The seven-piece family band Relation will be playing at the Hilton Shanty Creek in Bellaire Dec. 26 through Jan. 5. Their style of music includes country and western, gospel, pop hits and classics.

BY DIANNE MURRAY

Area bars and restaurants will open their doors and bottles to a multitude of visitors and area residents who want to ring in the new year in style Monday night.

Bars and restaurants are allowed to stay open and serve liquor until 4 a.m. on New Year's Eve.

Even though most of us don't need an excuse to get crazy, New Year's Eve gives an extra special reason to say goodbye to old times and hello to the new.

Included at many of the taverns and restaurants around the area are party favors, entertainment, food, spirits and lots of people.

In this week's Winter Fun, we've seen to it that you know of all the parties going on. Outlined below are places to dine, drink, dance and have a good time bringing in the new year.

THE GRANARY on Main Street in Boyne City will top off the new year with entertainment by Tom Kaufman and a choice of dinner. Tickets for New Year's festivities are $25 a couple and include a choice of prime rib or Alaskan king crab legs for dinner, entertainment and party favors.

Kaufman, formerly of Lansing, is a disc jockey at WVOY. He sings and plays easy listening tunes on the piano. Besides New Year's Eve, he will play every Thursday through Saturday, starting Dec. 26.

The Granary will be decorated with streamers and balloons for the occasion. Waitresses will be wearing tuxedos while serving New Year's Eve dinners.

THE DILWORTH, an 18th century restored Boyne City hotel, and THE GALLERY lounge, located in the hotel basement, both have entertainment slated for New Year's Eve.

Upstairs in the restaurant, a $40 per couple ticket gives you your choice of four entrees (New York strip steak, a 12 oz. filet, prime rib or fried shrimp), soup, salad, potato and a vegetable, plus the music of Bittersweet.

Bittersweet is a four-piece band from the Petoskey-Harbor Springs area. The band will perform upstairs until 4 a.m. At midnight a champagne toast will bring in the new year.

Downstairs in the newly remodeled Gallery, from Wednesday, Dec. 26 to Jan. 1, a local favorite group, Elijah Starr, will perform. Elijah Starr a three-piece band, plays rock and roll music.

The $6 per person cover charge includes party favors, a midnight champagne toast and a continental breakfast. A limited number of tickets are available.

The country and western sounds of High Country can be heard at THE NEW MOGUL INN on New Year's Eve. Tickets for the night are $12.50 per person and include dinner (chicken, Polish sausage, spaghetti and salad) champagne and dancing.

THE SNOWFLAKE LOUNGE at Boyne Mountain in Boyne Falls offers dancing and partying to the sounds of Just Friends. The trio plays jazz-rock songs every night but Sunday all winter long.

Dinner starts at 8 p.m. with High Country beginning at 10 p.m.

The Mogul expects a large crowd and you are urged to buy tickets in advance.

After the first of the year, the rock and roll band Renegade will perform Wednesday through Sunday at the Mogul Inn, which is located on M-75 south, Boyne City.

For more country listening, visit the COUNTRY HOUSE on the Boyne City-East Jordan Road near East Jordan. Indian Summer will provide the tunes on New Year's Eve and on Friday and Saturday nights throughout the winter.

Starting Wednesday, Dec. 26, LITTLE CAESAR'S Pizza Parlor, on US31 in Petoskey, will have 10 consecutive nights of disco dancing. New colored ceiling lights and a fog machine will enhance the atmosphere, owner Roger Skiba said.

Pizza, submarines and spaghetti will be served until 2:30 a.m. New Year's Eve. Hats, noise makers and lots of people will bring in the new year.

Fine dining can be found at VIC'S OF PETOSKEY, Pleasant Street in Petoskey. A full menu will be offered from 5 to 11 p.m. and the special entree for New Year's Eve is prime rib for $10.25. There's no entertainment.

During Christmas week, STAFFORD'S Bay View Inn, offers a daily skier's breakfast brunch from 8:30 to 10 a.m. and dinner buffet each evening from 6 to 9 p.m.

A special New Year's Eve buffet for $6.95 per person at Stafford's includes a choice of four metal entrees. Hats and other party favors will be passed out at midnight. Stafford's is located on US 31, just north of Petoskey.

The seven-piece group Attention brings dancing and disco entertainment to HUGG'S lounge at Petoskey's Holiday Inn from Christmas week through Jan. 15.

During Christmas week, you can enjoy gourmet specialties and the sound of Robb Fritz at the FLYING DUTCHMAN on M-119 between Harbor Springs and Petoskey. Fritz, a Neil Diamond sound-alike, also plays original tunes, plus Gordon Lightfoot material. Dinner drinks and dancing are planned for New Year's Eve festivities.

HILTON SHANTY CREEK in Bellaire has a seven-piece family band Relation, playing Dec. 26 through Jan. 5. Four brothers and three sisters play country and western. Gospel, pop hits and classical tunes.

The Peyton Brothers, four brothers from Florida linking contemporary acoustic and traditional bluegrass, will perform at DUFFY'S of Harbor Springs during Christmas week and into the new year from 9 p.m. to 1:30 a.m.

Area favorite Sean Ryan, known for his ballads and humorous drinking songs, will perform at Duffy's from 5 to 9 p.m. Duffy's is located on Pleasantview Road.

THE PIER restaurant, on the harbor of Little Traverse Bay in Harbor Springs offers the choice of two dining rooms.

At the waterfront dining in the Pointer Room or in the less formal atmosphere of the Charter Room, dinners will be served from 5 to midnight New Year's Eve. Call for reservations.

Harbor Spring's HARBOR INN, off M-119, presents Shambala rocking the night away with mid-60's style music on New Year's Eve and Friday and Saturday nights starting at 9:30 p.m.

During happy hour from 5 to 9:30 p.m. on Saturdays, the duo Clockwork presents popular and jazz material with guitar and mandolin at the Harbor Inn. At DUFFY'S OF CHARLEVOIX, the duo Skylark presents country western and some rock and roll tunes during the week between Christmas and New Year's.

Dinners will be served New Year's Eve from 5 to 11 p.m. Champagne, party favors and a good time are also provided, owner Gary Zundell reports. Duffy's is located on U.S. 31, at the north end of Charlevoix.

"If you don't have a good time at THE WEATHERVANE INN, it's your own fault," owner Dick Aull said describing New Year's Eve festivities at his place.

The holiday feature at the Weather-vane on Bridge Street (US31) in Charlevoix, includes dinner and dancing to a three-piece group of singers and guitarists. Two bars will be open to provide party spirits.

If you've ever been to the GREY GABLES INN on Belvedere Avenue in Charlevoix, you'd know the reason people keep coming back to listen to Al Breeze on piano.

From 9 p.m. to 4 a.m. on New Year's Eve, Breeze will play an array of tunes appealing to all ages.

Dinner will be served in two dining rooms from 5 p.m. to midnight. Reservations are requested and champagne, hats and noise makers will be passed out at midnight. "It's going to be a wild time," owner Gale Phillips said.

At Duffy's of Charlevoix, the duo Skylark presents country western and some rock and roll tunes during the week between Christmas and New Year's Eve.

SPRINGBROOK PATHWAY is one of the most beautiful trails in Charlevoix County. Located eight miles northeast of Boyne Falls, Springbrook has two loops, one four and one five miles. In the five mile loop, there's a steep climb and a fast downhill run which adds excitement to the trail. The pathway is located on Chandler Road.

WARNER CREEK PATHWAY has one 3.8 mile loop through hardwood forests. The pathway is located 1 1/2 miles east of M-32 and U.S. 131 junction on M-32.

BELL'S BAY State Campground near Charlevoix has a two-mile loop. The trail follows the Lake Michigan shoreline. The park is located on Bell's Bay Road, two miles southwest of Charlevoix.

CHARLEVOIX TRAILS, the City of Charlevoix recently established three new cross country ski trails. The trails start at the Charlevoix Elementary School on Division Street at the east edge of Charlevoix. Three trails, 3/4 of a mile, 1 1/4 miles and 2.1 miles wind around Charlevoix Golf Club and extend to the Mt. McSauba property.

Some tips for partiers

As a service to those who intend to attend a party or two while celebrating New Year's Eve, here are a few tips from that well-known socialite and friend, Barry the Toot.

They are excerpted from his best-selling book, "My 20 New Year's Eves Without An Arrest."

What to Wear: Stylish three-piece suits for men and clingy disco dresses for women are appropriate, or the reverse if you really want to whoop it up. Three-year-old bowling shirts and poodle skirts are no longer tres chic. Regardless, the important consideration is that whatever you wear, it must be able to be thrown into the furnace or fireplace the next day.

What to Drink: It's usually best to select one beverage and stay with it all evening, and all the next day if you wish. We recommend the always festive Bolle-maker. (Recipe: Shoot one shot of whiskey down your throat, follow it with a glass of beer.) After midnight it is acceptable to mix the ingredients in a glass, vase, pot, ashtray or boot.

Of course, at midnight the traditional drink is champagne. But, remember, never drink it straight from the bottle unless the hostess does it first.

Dining Hints: Many hostesses plan post-midnight buffets to start the year off with a meal. If you are a guest at such a gathering, keep a few hints in mind. Before putting food on your lap, remember to sit down. And remember to put the food on a plate. Cold chicken, pizza, sandwiches and pickles may be eaten with the fingers. Jello salads, spaghetti and ice cream may not.

Miscellaneous Hints: If, during the course of your revelry, you feel drowsy and find yourself lapsing into unconsciousness, try to find a bedroom. If you choose the bed piled high with coats and hats, remove your shoes. If you feel an urge to rest on the bathroom floor, or in the tub itself, be courteous and do not lock the door behind you.

During the evening you may feel the need for a breath of fresh air. But refrain from leaning out a window. A short walk is ideal, but remember to put on a coat and pin the hosts name and address to the lapel. The zip code is rarely necessary to insure prompt delivery.

Try to resist the urge to lie down in a snowbank. This can bring on frostbite and make the day-after-blues all the more miserable.

The big moment comes at midnight. Try to pace yourself so that you will be conscious at that time. If that's impossible, arrange to have someone slap you awake to usher in the new year.

It is customary for the gentlemen to kiss the ladies present. It is considered bad form to kiss a lady more than three times, without her consent. (And unless her husband has passed out and failed to appoint a slapper.) At any case, the kissing should end by noon the following day.

When to Leave: The host and hostess usually give a gentle hint. Watch them and when you see the host's eyes roll upward, his head droops forward, and his breathing comes in gasps, it's a good sign. The hostess will often begin gentle sobbing as she surveys the rubble in her home. These indicators mean it's a good time to slip away.

A Final Tip For Hosts: The next day, or whenever possible, look under sofa cushions for lost jewelry, under the bed for hats or scarves and of course, under the basement steps for lingering guests.

Quiet New Year's Eves have been my favorites

Guy Lombardo didn't lull me to sleep on very many New Year's Eves of my youth. I very rarely lasted that late.

The event was pretty anti-climatic for me after the excitement of Christmas. It served only as a prelude to the big day of college football and parades on Jan. 1.

As I grew older the mystique of the big evening became more attractive and it was then important to stay awake until midnight and watch the clock in Times Square with Guy and the Royal Canadians.

The parties on the festive evening became a lure when I reached high school.

The first one I attended was during my junior year in high school. It was momentous only in that I drank E & B beer for the first (and last) time.

My senior year was my first New Year's Eve as a bona fide, bar-legal adult. Unfortunately I grew up in a college town and the bars were woefully empty with all of the students on vacation.

A night in Georgetown was my first fun-filled New Year's Eve spent in bar-related revelry. I was shocked to be paying $5 cover charges to enter pubs in the Washington, D.C. suburb but as the evening wore on the price dwindled in significance.

For two fun-loving college freshmen like my chum and myself the fee was small to shatter beer bottles on a wall of the bar. My head felt like a bottle shattering when I awoke the following afternoon.

A 6-6 friend from Kentucky and I were pressed into duty the following New Year's Eve to serve as bartender-bouncers for my brother's annual gala New Year's Eve gig.

It was a memorable night in several ways. I carried 27 half-barrels of beer on an icy sidewalk, my friend quit smoking and I quit drinking. The beer lasted one night, my friend didn't smoke for a few years and I went until the first of June without any devil alcohol.

The next day, he pure of lung and I of heart, headed for a reunion of sorts on Mackinac Island. I had never been there in the winter and was planning to try cross-country skiing for the first time.

Is it safe to ski across the ice, we asked the Michigan State Police in St. Ignace? "Well," the officer mused. "A boat went through last night but the ice might be frozen back over." We took the plane.

Everyone we ran into on the Island was looking pretty hung over but the trip was enough to whet my appetite for the following year.

A large group of us made the trip to the Island for New Year's Eve the next year and we were rewarded when we reached St. Ignace by open waters in the Straits and ferry service still operating.

The highlight of the trip was midnight when the doors of the Mustang Lounge, the only watering hole open, were locked and the cash register was closed with drinks on the house for the rest of the night.

The next year I again made the trip to the Island for New Year's Eve. This visit my time was occupied more with skiing than drinking and New Year's Day found me still out on the trails as the sun made its first appearance of the new year.

The circle was thus completed. New Year's Eve was again, as it was in my youth, not so much a time for drinking and carousing as one for rest and relaxation.

The thrill of being awake when the calendar made its big flip was replaced by an appreciation of being in a tranquil spot when it happened.

That's my goal again for this year. When the clock strikes midnight and clicks over to 1980 I hope to again be on Mackinac Island, in the woods skiing, without bottles being broken on walls around me.

Real estate

Special services to entice buyers

Selling or buying a home is probably the biggest financial transaction most people will ever make.

To help ease sales and entice buyers and sellers to list or buy a home from their agency, real estate businesses offer special services.

At Bieganowski and Associates, Inc., owner and broker Martin Bieganowski offers his clients a special trade-in program.

"Trading homes is a lot like trading cars," Bieganowski explained.

"In a great many cases the equity in a piece of property represents the owner's life savings and he is not in a position to purchase a second property without selling the first. When you trade in your property, you know that you'll never own two properties at the same time," he said.

Each trade-in situation is different from the next according to Bieganowski, and how each is handled is decided on its own merits. Factors that influence a trade are the age of the home, its condition, location and existing financing.

Most people are "trading up," Bieganowski said. For example, going from a $30,000 to a $45,000 home.

Bieganowski explained that if someone had purchased a building sometime back and then decided to buy a different home in another location, his agency could take that building in trade as the down payment for the home and then arrange to finance the balance.

A trade-in deal might go something like this, he said.

Bieganowski and Associates receives an inquiry on a particular home and the caller indicates that his money is tied up as equity in his present home. He will help that buyer locate the home which fits his desires, if he agrees to allow Bieganowski to take his present home in trade.

"We will then make a personal inspection of the property and hopefully agree on a mutually satisfactory price. If we agree, just like an automobile dealer, we, the real estate company, buy the old house and sell you a new house. Then we sell the old house to someone else later," Bieganowski said.

A buyer's protection plan, the American Home Shield Service and Maintenance Plan, offered through Ski and Shore Properties, Inc., offers services to both the home buyer and seller.

Basically, it is a one-year insurance policy against any defects in a home.

For the buyer of the home, the program covers central air conditioning and heating, all duct work, the hot water heater, plumbing and drainage lines, the entire electrical system and any built-in appliances.

For the buyer, the plan goes into effect immediately upon closing of the sale.

For the seller of the home, the program covers the plumbing and electrical systems within the perimeter of the main dwelling and the hot water heater.

For the seller, the plan goes into effect 15 days after Ski and Shore lists the home. There is no cost to the seller until the home is actually sold. At that time, $250 is included in the closing cost for the program.

The program coverage lasts for the seller as long as the home is listed and it lasts for a full year after the home is sold for the buyer.

For example, if a home buyer bought a house and two months later, the furnace went out, he would be covered under this program.

"The home buyer can call the toll-free American Home Shields Insurance number and they contact a local business to fix the furnace. The cost to the buyer is a $75 deductible," said Mark Kowalske, of Ski and Shore Properties of Boyne.

For example, if the actual cost of service rendered to fix the furnace is $19, then the cost for repairs would be $19. If the cost of repairing the furnace is $200, the buyer would only have to pay the first $75 and American Home Shields Insurance picks up the remaining cost.

Kowalske said he offers the program to every home owner and buyer, but especially recommends it to those sellers with older homes.

"Older homes have a greater possibility of things going wrong with their furnace, or hot water heater just because it is an older home. For a newer home, the service would almost be a waste of money," he said.

Keith Dressel Realty offers an electronic network to help both buyers and sellers of homes track down an interesting home anywhere in the country.

Electronic Realty Associates (ERA) is an "arm chair" home hunting service. It provides a fast way to preview the real estate market from the office of Keith Dressel without actually being at the home you're viewing, Bertie Ellis of Keith Dressel of Boyne City explains. Dressel also has offices in East Jordan and Gaylord.

"From our office you can quickly see homes meeting your specification that are currently available nationwide," she said.

The advantage to sellers is that there's such a larger market available through ERA. For the buyer, it offers convenient shopping and viewing of homes that might not normally be seen.

Most ERA homes carry a one-year limited warranty that protects buyers from costly, unexpected repairs. (Similar to the program offered through Ski and Shore Properties, Inc.).

The Showcase of Homes program offered by Charlevoix Properties, Inc. is an audio-visual presentation of property and homes.

"On a television screen in the Charlevoix Properties offices, located in Charlevoix and Boyne City, you can view prospective homes in color.

"Beyond looking at specification sheets, the listing book, or a 2x2 inch picture of a home, the Showcase of Homes program gives an interior and highlighting view of the home," Boyne City branch manager Gary Winters said. Winters called it the "future showing of homes" and said this method of showing homes saves gasoline and a lot of unnecessary running around.

A person can tell if they're interested in a home just by viewing it in the office and he or she won't have to waste any time going out to the property they might not be interested in, he said. "The prospective buyer can tell right from the office if they'd be further interested in viewing the home."

The television viewing of homes is "something definitely in the future of real estate agencies," Winters said.

Bank names loan officers

Gayle Andersen

Two Northwestern State Bank employees have been promoted to loan officers.

Gayle C. Andersen, who has been with the bank for seven years, was named loan officer for Northwestern's Boyne City office. She and her husband Gerald live in Boyne City.

Deborah J. Noirot, who has been employed by Northwestern for five and a half years, is the new loan officer for the bank's East Jordan office. The daughter of Richard and Janet Noirot, Janet is a graduate of East Jordan High School and she has served on the board of directors of the East Jordan Community Chest.

Both Andersen and Noirot have had considerable experience handling real estate mortgages for Northwestern in the past few years. They will now be handling all interviewing and processing of real estate mortgage loan applications.

The two women have taken several banking classes at North Central Michigan College in Petoskey.

No profit tax on seniors' homes

Many older people are facing difficult times now, with prices rising far faster than incomes. People living on fixed incomes such as social security payments and pensions may soon be faced with a choice of heating their homes or eating. There are only so many expenses you can cut down on.

Another major problem facing these people is the fact that many of them live alone in large homes where they have lived for many years. The homes are now paid off, but they are costly to heat and keep up.

Many elderly people also found that they were required to pay high capital gains tax when they sold their homes because they weren't turning around and buying another more expensive home with the profits.

Most of their homes are worth far more than they were when they bought them, and therefore they would realize a large capital gain by selling.

A new law which took effect July 1, 1978 allows homeowners over the age of 55 a once-in-a-lifetime capital gains exclusion of up to $100,000.

New marina in Charlevoix

CHARLEVOIX - A new powerboat marina, Northwest Marine and Brokerage, opened in Charlevoix last week.

The owners are Bob Sooy of Charlevoix and Denny Heck of Torch Lake. Their showroom overlooks Charlevoix Round Lake on the north side of the US 31 bridge.

The new business will carry everything for boats, including interior decorating items and clothing. Northwest will be selling a number of different boats, including Chris Craft, Sea-Ray, Mercurisers, Mercury outboards and a variety of trailers.

Northwest will service all types of power boats starting this spring when a trained mechanic will join the company.

Chimney safety guide available

To help the woodburner avoid a chimney fire, a company from Stowe, Vermont, has published a 12-page homeowners guide to chimney safety and maintenance, entitled "Is Your Chimney A Fire Hazard?"

The booklet explains and demonstrates why chimneys should be cleaned; how to inspect a chimney or flue; how to clean a chimney; how to check a wood stove installation for safety; and how to recognize the early signs of a chimney fire. Also included is a checklist of safety steps to follow in case of a chimney fire.

To obtain a copy of the guide, send $1 to cover postage and handling to "Black Magic Chimney Sweeps, Box 977, Dept. HG3, Stowe, VT 05672."

On Mortgage Takeovers

When buying an existing home, taking over a mortgage can be practical and profitable. But be cautious. Don't take for granted that assigning the mortgage to another is automatic.

The lender has a stake in who's going to repay him. Many mortgages are written which specifically prohibit this practice without the consent of the mortgage lender. The teeth will be found in an inserted acceleration clause which makes the whole balance due and payable upon sale.

The bank can activate or waive this clause depending on the credit rating of the buyer, maintenance of the property or spread between original and current interest rates. If the interest spread is great - don't count on a takeover mortgage.

Before you advertise "low int. mort. takeover", and set yourself up for a letdown, why not have us check your mortgage and advise you.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE

The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag was led by Commissioner Loding.

A copy of the income from his office from 1975 through October, 1979 was submitted. Copy on file. Referred to Personnel Committee.

Joan Blanchard, Director, Equalization Department, submitted the Township and City Clerk's Report - Apportionment Report for 1979. An explanation of how the Headlee Amendment affected example units was given and questions answered. The Board thanked Joan for submitting the report.

Commissioner Moerland complained that by the City of Charlevoix spreading approximately half of the school tax in the summer, the school taxes become delinquent six months earlier for the City Property Owners.

Art Saworski, Director, Commission on Aging, met with the Board to answer questions pertaining to the Countywide transportation system.

The Board recessed at 11:40 a.m. for committee work and lunch.

Looking back at the year 1979

 pump $1 gasoline, but other stations weren't far behind.

The Boyne City Chamber of Commerce officially endorsed, and 12 downtown business showed their interest in, downtown renovation plans.

After two years of planning, the new Glen's Market located off M-66 in East Jordan was taking shape. Its construction had just started and the new store was expected to open around the end of October.

Faced with the possibility that their original plans might be voted down in an Aug. 7 special Boyne City election, the Smiths of Lake Associates were considering alternate uses for development of the old tannery property along Lake Charlevoix.

The 4th of July celebrations came off with perfect weather, more activities and few problems in the first year of the activities being handled by a special Fourth of July committee.

The Save Front Street Committee was born. Spokespersons Carol Judkins and Violet Mangios said the committee was formed after talking about the closing of Front Street and the proposed construction of 270 condominiums on the tannery property. "Somebody should do something about it," Mrs. Judkins said, "and we both looked at each other and said, 'hell, I'm certainly not going to be the one.' We didn't want to do it, but we decided somebody better get up and scream no, no, no."

The group also hired Charlevoix attorney Jon Michael and planned to challenge the street closing in a Circuit Court hearing required by state law.

Tim Clifton completed his first year as Boyne's city manager. Clifton had exposed the city to new concepts such as city-wide master planning and downtown redevelopment. He'd been called "boy wonder" by some and "that college kid wet behind the ears" by others in the community.

The high cost of gasoline had actually helped some businesses in Boyne City and East Jordan because more people were shopping locally. Sidewalk Sale Days were mentioned as one tactic to keep local shoppers shopping in town.

The first of three public hearings on the Boyne City master plan was held.

Representatives from Johnson, Johnson and Roy, the firm doing the master plan, explained what a master plan is and opened inquiry on Boyne City's future.

AUGUST
 Voters anxiously prepared for the Aug. 7 Front Street election. An extremely high number of absentee ballots indicated public interest in the election, City Clerk Tom Garlock said. Over 161 absentee ballots were turned in for the election.

Essex Group, Inc., one of Boyne City's biggest employers, put approximately 200 production workers on a four-day work week because of a drop in business.

The East Jordan Housing Commission received a grant of $31,500 from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for a modernization program of 28 apartment units for senior citizens.

The 698 to 394 vote to keep Front Street open was called "a vote for the people, but a loss for the city," by city commissioner Steve Moody. Even though the street will remain open, both the Smiths and those who lobbied for the street to remain open, agreed that development along the street will not be stopped by the vote.

Rotary Park in Boyne City was formally dedicated. Former Boyne City manager Forbes Tompkins and longtime softball leader Lynda Christensen had the two ballfields at the park named after them.

In East Jordan, Gulf and Western Stamping Company and ITT Automotive Electrical Products Division laid off 130 workers between them.

A staff member with the Northwest Michigan Regional Planning and Development Commission, estimated that the Jordan River fish hatchery accounted for about 60 percent of the nutrient pollution in the South Arm of Lake Charlevoix.

The Boyne City Ski and Shore soccer team dropped a 3-2 contest to Traverse City in the finals of the league's summer tournament.

SEPTEMBER
 East Jordan beat Boyne City in the season opening football contest, 20-8.

City Commissioner Joe Gierlach decided not to run for re-election but three new candidates and an incumbent planned to run for the two vacated seats.

A two-year contract for Boyne City teachers was agreed to and included an eight to 12 percent raise and a fewer number of school days.

OCTOBER
 The Charlevoix County Press editorial page was judged as the best in the state among newspapers of its size. Press editorial columnist Marshall Sayles was also honored in the Michigan Press Association 1979 Newspaper Contest.

NOVEMBER
 A new Glen's Market, almost twice as big as the former store, was unveiled at an open house at its new location on highway M-66 on the west side of East Jordan.

Thelma Behling and Martin Paul won city commission seats, easily beating four other candidates in the Nov. 6 city election. A state elections official said there was a possibility that the city election could be challenged, due to apparent improper handling of about 170 absentee ballots.

The Boyne City Rambler football team finished a disappointing 0-9 season with a loss to the Charlevoix Rayders. The East Jordan Red Devils football team, with an undefeated season, won sole claim to the Ski Valley conference title, beating Inland Lakes in the final game.

High interest rates, tight mortgage money and the high cost of construction led Rick and Dave Smith to hold back submitting plans for their Front Street condominium project until spring.

The Boyne City and East Jordan landfills were among a number of dumps facing possible closure by the state Department of Natural Resources for violations. Both Boyne City city manager Tim Clifton and East Jordan city superintendent Herm Rasch said the alleged violations against the landfills were not justified.

Karl Waldner's petition drive for the separation of the Upper Peninsula and some lower Michigan counties from the southern portion of the state fell short of the roughly 30,000 signatures needed.

ITT Electrical Products Division disclosed plans to shut its East Jordan plant on Dec. 19. No re-opening date was projected for the plant.

Boyne City and East Jordan dropped each other in sports.

Ramblers 0-5 at break; Cheboygan next

BOYNE CITY—After a foul-filled 74-64 loss to Gaylord Friday night Boyne City's Ramblers have a 0-5 record going into the Christmas break. When play resumes the Ramblers will be hosting one of "the best 1-5 teams you'll see," according to coach Russ Harvey.

The Ramblers had fought back to within six points against Gaylord but by the game's end four of the Boyne big men were on the bench with five fouls.

Mark Harris, Jerry Belford, Doug Crozier and Jim Plachta all fouled out of the contest trying to battle Gaylord's 6-6, 6-6, 6-5 and 6-3 big men.

"They're a tremendously tall team," Harvey said about Gaylord. "We had to rebound so hard we got a lot of fouls."

Each squad scored 48 points on field goals but Gaylord sank 26 of 39 free throws while the Ramblers only had 16 of 21 attempts from the foul line.

"We had 30 fouls to their 16," Harvey said.

Gaylord held a two point lead in the first period and used a 32-19 second quarter to post a 47-32 halftime lead.

Boyne outscored Gaylord in the second half but the 32-27 edge couldn't overcome Gaylord's big first half lead.

"We played a different style zone in the second half," Harvey said, explaining the comeback. "But they would get two or three tips at the ball."

"We had a decent shooting night," Harvey said, noting that the Ramblers had close to a 40 percent night from the floor. "If we had played like that in every game we would have maybe one loss."

Larry Jarema scored 15 points to lead the Ramblers. Darryl Tims added 14 and Kerry Krusel had 13.

Tims had 11 rebounds while Plachta came off the bench to pull down "eight or nine" rebounds, according to Harvey.

Harvey was very pleased with the play of his squad and hopes now that the team can maintain its aggressive play over the holiday break. The Ramblers next opponent, Cheboygan, has a deceiving record, Harvey notes.

"They have only won one game but the losses have all been close ones," Harvey said.

Boyne's junior varsity players lost for the first time in their two year high school careers Friday night. Gaylord came back from a first half deficit to post a 62-56 victory over the junior Ramblers.

Grapplers fall 53-18

BOYNE CITY - League power Potoskey showed the Boyne City wrestling squad why its undefeated in Michigan-Huron Shores Conference action with a 53-18 over the now 0-4 Ramblers.

Following a Christmas break the Ramblers will have a full week of wrestling with matches slated with Roscommon on Jan. 2, Cheboygan Jan. 3 and a freshman, sophomore tournament in Rogers City Jan. 5.

Winning matches for the Ramblers against Potoskey were Jon Sims, Don Marshall and Don Kleinschrodt, all on pins.

Junior varsity Ramblers registering wins were Alan Alama and Racll Mapes, also on pins.

Now that's tight defense. Duane Cutler has the belly to belly pressure applied by an unidentified Pellston player in a game last week. The Devils' Ski Valley competition resumes after the holidays with a Jan. 4 game at Central Lake.

With teammates Jerry Fuller [55] and Don Trojanek [40] ready for a rebound, guard Duane Cutler puts a shot off the glass in the East Jordan win over Pellston last Tuesday. The Devils face Central Lake Jan. 4 in their next contest.

Red Devils stay unbeaten; Central Lake next foe

EAST JORDAN - Despite what coach Steve VanderHyde called the "worst shooting night of the year" the East Jordan Red Devils defeated previously unbeaten Mancelona 70-61 Friday. First year Ski Valley Conference member Central Lake is the next opponent for the Devils when play resumes Jan. 4.

"We were very cold," VanderHyde said after Friday's win. "We had open shots but they weren't falling."

East Jordan led throughout the game, at one point by about 14 points, VanderHyde said. Rebounding dominance was the difference in the outcome as the Devils gave themselves second chances by collecting their own misses on the offensive boards.

Other than the cold shooting Vander-

Hyde was pleased with the game. "We played a much better game," VanderHyde said. "We got the number of turnovers down."

The Devils will take a holiday trip to Grand Rapids for a scrimmage over the Christmas break and then travel to Central Lake.

"They usually give you a pretty tough battle," VanderHyde said of his squad's next opponent.

The win over Mancelona put the Devils at 4-0 overall, 3-0 in the conference. Harbor Springs has a half game lead over the Devils sporting a 4-0 conference mark.

Bellaire and Mancelona each have one loss in the league and VanderHyde is also looking at Gaylord St. Mary as a title contender in the conference. "Don't count St. Marys out," he warned. "They beat Bellaire by 15."

Tim Vermillion was credited with a fine defensive performance in Friday's win. He matched up against Mancelona's top scorer and, despite a 29 point performance turned in by Mancy's big gun, held the man in check when in a man to man defense according to VanderHyde.

The Devils' attack was balanced, with Duane Carpenter scoring 15 points, Jerry Fuller 14 and Dan Goebel 13 coming off of the bench. Carpenter pulled down 15 rebounds. Don Trojanek 12 and Duane Cutler, Fuller, Del Ingalls all had eight rebounds.

Last Tuesday the Devils bested Pellston 83-65. Carpenter had 24 points and Trojanek and Fuller each added 12.

Senior guard Duane Cutler goes up for two against Pellston last week. The Devils bested the Hornets by a 83-65 score to stay unbeaten in the Ski Valley Conference.

Wrestling is a tradition with the Kruzel family

BY JON DENISON

BOYNE CITY - Brother Jeff was the first wrestler to ever win a match for Boyne City.

Brother Randy the first to wrestle in the state tournament.

Brother Kerry was conference champion as a freshman.

Brother Dennis was a respectable member of the school's first team ever.

Rambler senior grappler Ken Kruzel has a hard tradition to follow.

The fifth Kruzel to take to the mats for Boyne City, Ken is one of the strongest members of Boyne's current squad with a chance to become the second wrestler from his family - - and his school - - to qualify for the state meet.

"Watch for Jon Sims, he's wrestling real well and may make it to state," Kruzel said recently, quick to share the spotlight with other Rambler wrestlers.

"Chris Fair has a good chance too."

If Kruzel lives through the tough Michigan-Huron Shores Conference season there's a strong possibility that he'll be among several Ramblers taking the trip to the state finals the end of February.

Placing in the conference is the first challenge Kruzel will have to face when dual meets give way to end of the season tournaments.

"I'm in an outstanding weight class in the conference this year," the 167 lb. three year veteran said. Included in the class are Jim Haggarty of Petoskey, the only opponent to mar Kruzel's 3-1 record this year, a wrestler from Gaylord who qualified for the state tourney at 155 lbs. last season, a Grayling wrestler who qualified for state last year and Charlevoix' 167 lb. representative who Kruzel terms "really good."

"The districts will be easier - - even the regionals will be easier than the conference," Kruzel said. "The Michigan-Huron Shores is the toughest conference around for wrestling."

Kruzel placed second in the conference last year and fourth in the district in qualifying for regional competition. He lost twice in the regionals and both of his opponents went on to wrestle in the state meet.

"But each year is a whole new year," Kruzel explained. "There's a whole new group of kids. Anything beyond the regional would be great."

Having four brothers with wrestling in their blood influenced his choice to become a grappler, Kruzel admits.

"All of my brothers have helped with my wrestling," he said. "They've worked with me and make it to practice whenever they can."

Brother Randy is considered by many to be the top Kruzel wrestler to date. He began the sport as a junior and, Ken claims, would've made it to the state meet if not for a sprained ankle.

Dennis was unlucky enough to be a senior when the sport was originated in 1974. He was determined enough to win as many matches as he lost in his initial year in the sport.

Jeff, recorded a historic win in December of 1974 when as a sophomore he won the first match in Rambler wrestling's first season. He continued his winning ways and qualified for the regionals twice in his career.

Kerry is a year younger than Ken but went out for the wrestling squad before Ken did. Despite his success in the conference as a freshman, Kerry decided basketball was the sport for him and is now in the starting lineup as a junior for the Rambler cage squad.

Ken almost went the basketball route too. He played both sports as sophomore, going out for the wrestling squad in mid-season.

"Bob McCullough was the coach and I enjoyed wrestling for him," Kruzel said, explaining his decision to try the sport. "And it helped in football."

Kruzel was a two-way starter for the Rambler football team this fall, playing, at various times, end, tackle, guard and defensive tackle. To keep busy in the spring he competes on the Rambler tennis team.

Involvement with three sports has prevented Kruzel from training for wrestling year-round. At one point this year Kruzel had hoped to trim down to 155 lbs. but didn't lose the weight necessary in time.

"Steve Mittig had wrestled at 155," Kruzel said explaining the unusual fact of his wrestling at 167 for three years. "We were so close when we wrestled that there wasn't any sense to me going down (to 155)."

Kruzel had the best record last year of this year's returning wrestlers, 17-6, and with three years of experience will be providing a sense of stability to the somewhat young team.

"We're an old and young team," Kruzel said, explaining, "we've probably got eight seniors and the rest are first year wrestlers."

Kruzel and his teammates are idle following a loss to Petoskey last Thursday until after the Christmas break. Roscommon will be the opponent on Jan. 2 when the season resumes and after spending the holidays with the rest of his wrestling clan Kruzel will probably welcome an unrelated opponent.

Roberts 13 and Ed Roberts 24.

Gas-Saving Gadget Sold Locally

A fuel saving device that shows more promise in stretching a tank of gas a few more miles per gallon than many others offered on the market is attracting attention locally and across the U.S.

The patented device is called "Scotsman Fuel Energizer," currently marketed through NAPA at BOYNE AUTO SUPPLY.

A claim of improved fuel economy in the range of 8 to 15 percent is made for the energizer.

The energizer employs a stainless steel wire mesh with a brass ringed center port. Fuel particles are borne on the air stream entering the manifold and propelled against the screen.

Impact on the screen breaks the particles into smaller units. This provides, the company says, more equal distribution to the combustion chambers. If screen capacity is exceeded because of a fuel surge required for sudden additional power, the excess is forced through the central port.

This results in the fuel air mixture being emulsified by quick expansion as the pressure is released in the vacuum-like area below.

Three cars operated by the Indiana General Service Division showed increases in fuel efficiency of 13.62 percent for a 1978 Pontiac Catalina with a 400-cubic-inch four-barrel carburetor, 13.57 percent for a 1979 Plymouth Volare with a 225-cubic-inch two-barrel carburetor and 14.39 percent for a Ford LTD II with a 351-cubic-inch two-barrel carburetor.
