Indian Affairs director has done much since Boyne days

BY PAUL COX
Capitol Correspondent

LANSING - Boyne City native Annie L. Green spent most of her life learning how to help people with their problems. She says she learned the hard way, through the Great Depression, World War II and raising 12 children, among other things.

The 56-year-old Grand River Ottawa Indian learned well and developed a statewide reputation for her ability to help people. It came as no surprise when she was named director of the state Commission on Indian Affairs, on Dec. 8, 1979.

While officials all across the state heap praises on Green and her abilities, she admits it took her a long time to develop the self-confidence to take on such a key post in state government.

"I had such an inferiority complex that I didn't even want to come to Lansing when I was first asked to join the commission in 1972," Green confided.

At that time, she was living in Grand Rapids and concentrating on volunteer work, to which she gave 30 years of her life.

After graduating from Boyne City High School in 1941, she moved all over the state, working at war plants, the Red Cross, and the Veterans Administration among other things. Although she has not lived in Boyne City for a long time, she has relatives there and visits quite often.

People in Boyne City would remember her as Lena Luchene. She was the daughter of Martha and Ed Luchene, and she lived on Lincoln Street. Her mother was a full-blooded Indian, and her father was Italian.

Green's elevation to the commission directorship was no surprise because she had been the acting director since last July.

One of Green's first goals is to bring continuity to the commission. She is the fifth director since 1972 and she said each one wanted things run differently, so when a director left "It was a start-all-over-again situation."

Since she has been with the commission for eight years, Green said she feels this change-over period won't be quite as hectic. She has her staff of 12 working hard to define how to offer assistance to the state Indian population, estimated to be about 60,000.

Adequate housing, education and health-related social services are the key areas where the commission tries to help. Green said discrimination against Indians denies them education and instruction in how to organize to help themselves, so they sometimes need a boost from the state.

Annie Green

Although the progress is slow, Green said there are some bright spots. A new law in Michigan grants Indians of at least one-quarter blood free college tuition, she pointed out.

When it comes to current issues concerning Indians, Green minces no words.

"Indians are undoubtedly the most oppressed minority in this country," she declared.

Green said the recent state ban on Indians using gill nets to fish is an "overblown issue." She said the Indians do have a treaty right to use the nets, but pointed out there are only about 20 Indians who exercise this right and they are not depleting the fish population in Lake Michigan, as conservationists and sport fishermen have charged.

"The sport fishermen are out in left field," Green stated, adding that all these factions could achieve more if they would concentrate on protecting the environment we have left.

While alcoholism is a problem with American Indians and all Americans, Green said it is mostly a stereotype that unfairly hurts Indians' credibility.

She said if people would look more closely at Indians and some of their customs they could learn some things. Green talked about the concept of the "extended family."

When an Indian is sick or needs care, Green said, Indians take them in and give them care, simply because of the need. If American society would adopt customs like this, instead of the "pass-the-buck and don't get involved ethic," this country would be better off, she said.

When first asked, Green said she had 12 children, but in holding with this ethic, she pointed out that three of the children—one white and two Indians—were not hers by birth. They needed a home and parents so she took them into her family.

In addition to her job with the Commission on Indian Affairs, Green is adding to her educational background by talking college courses when they can be fit into her hectic schedule.

"All in all I like the job. It's frustrating sometimes trying to get the state bureaucracy to move, but I like it overall," Green said.

Evacuation plan unveiled

BY DIANNE MURRAY

An evacuation plan for residents who live near the Big Rock Point nuclear power plant is in the works.

Charlevoix County emergency coordinator Earl Muma and Sheriff George T. Lasater are working on the evacuation plan which would go into effect if an emergency situation came up at Big Rock.

The plan will be finished in April and it must be approved by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Muma said.

According to Lasater, evacuation of the area would begin after receiving the original call from Big Rock personnel "indicating a general emergency has been called at the plant."

Big Rock's plant superintendent would notify the sheriff's department and suggest a mile radius in which people should be evacuated.

What would constitute a "general emergency" and how far would evacuation have to be in order for it to be safe?

According to Phil Loomis, public information director for the Consumers Power Big Rock plant, the nature of the accident would determine how far people would be evacuated.

"We're talking in terms of classes of accidents," Loomis said. And those classes range from too much radiation for an individual to a meltdown at the plant.

Even if a major accident occurred at Big Rock, Loomis said there would be time for people living around the plant to evacuate. "A meltdown at (Big Rock) would be like an ice cube melting. It would take six to seven hours for the radiation to travel any great distance. There would be time" for evacuation, he said.

If an emergency situation was called, Big Rock personnel would determine the level of radiation at different sites around the county. It would take about an hour to collect and analyze the radiation samples from the different sites, Loomis said.

After analyzing the radiation samples, the type of emergency would be pinpointed as would the area of evacuation necessary.

At the first notice of an emergency, sheriff's deputies would set off sirens to warn people of an emergency at the plant. Three sirens will be installed within a five-mile radius of the plant in Charlevoix and Hayes Townships, Lasater said.

The plan, which follows federal NRC regulations, next calls for a telephone back-up system to the sirens.

The telephone warning system, still in the planning stages, would ring at all households within a specified area of the nuclear plant. A recording would warn people that an emergency has been issued at Big Rock and they should evacuate to a specific location, according to wind direction and what the radiation dosage test sites showed.

In order to make sure transportation is available to remove invalids from their homes, Lasater has asked those people who are invalid for the following information: name, home address, phone number and description of the type of disability that would require special evacuation procedures.

Eight other agencies, including the Petoskey State Police, Emmet Sheriff's Department, Department of Natural Resources, Charlevoix Township and the city of Charlevoix Fire Departments, REACT Organization, the Bay Shore U.S. Air Force and U.S. Coast Guard Station, are involved in the evacuation plan.

The burden of evacuation falls on the sheriff's department, Lasater said, but assistance from other agencies is needed for smooth and safe evacuation of those residents around the plant.

Most people will be evacuated via the Boyne City Road to Boyne City High School gymnasium. The high school gym was chosen, he said, because of its easy accessibility. From the gym, people will be put in other places, although locations have not been named, Lasater said.

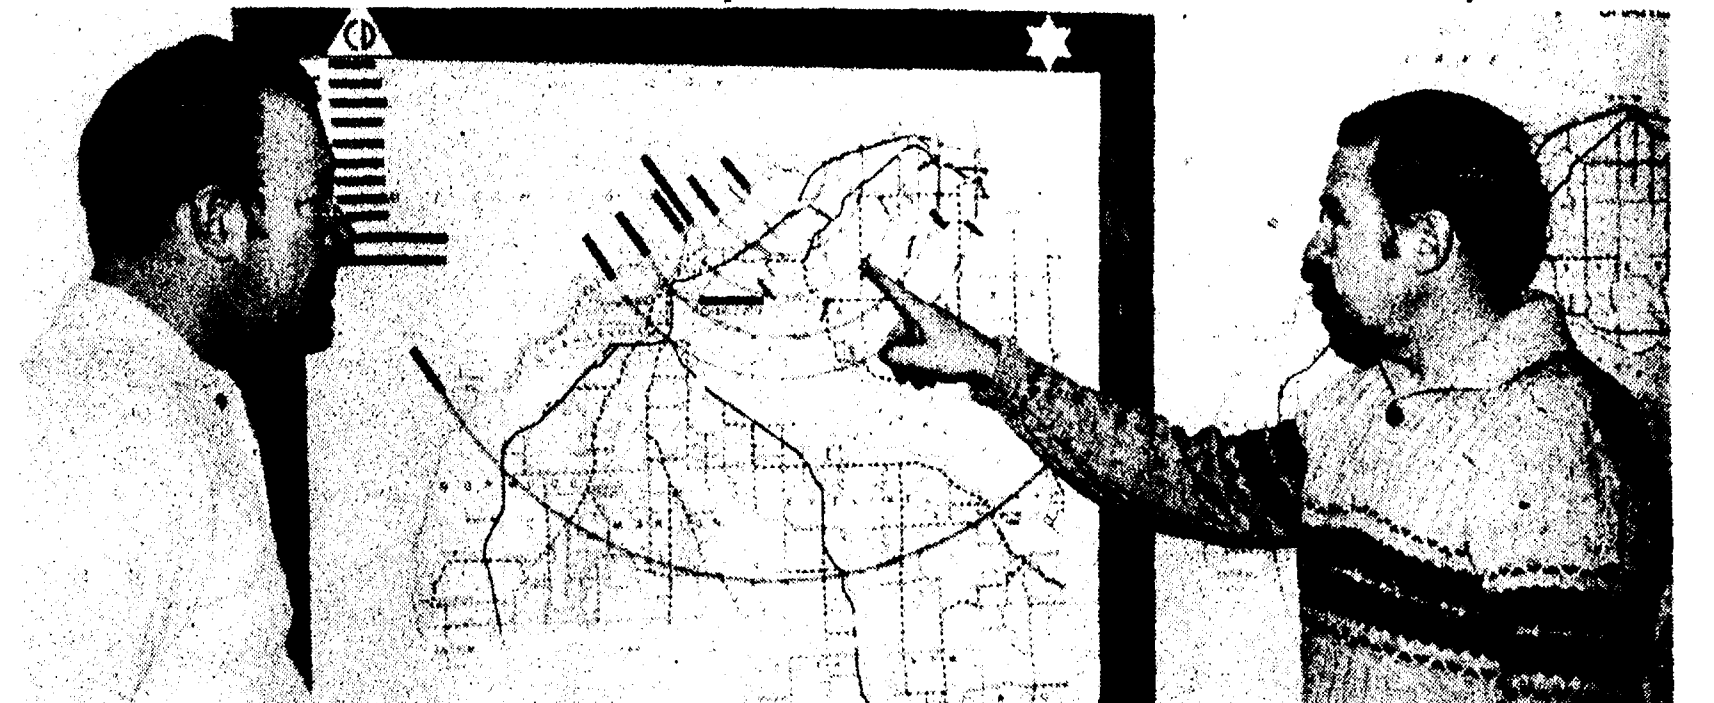

After evacuation, blockades will be set up to ensure that no one re-enters the radiation contaminated area, Lasater said.

The District Health Department has "the say as to when the area is free of contamination and has the power to call people back to their homes," Lasater said.

A two and a half-mile Emergency Evacuation Plan is required by the NRC following the incident at Three Mile Island early last year, but Lasater and Muma are going farther.

"The NRC indicated a two and a half-mile plan is needed, but we're going three and five miles to be a step ahead of their requirements," Lasater said.

Muma and Lasater are also working on a 10-mile evacuation plan. Each plan follows in accordance with the county evacuation plan which is available at the Charlevoix Public Library.

Emergency coordinator Earl Muma, left, and Charlevoix County Sheriff George Lasater, right, point to the three-mile evacuation line on the Emergency Evacuation Plan they are preparing. Eight departments will work with the sheriff's department in evacuating people within three or five miles of Big Rock Nuclear Power Plant in Charlevoix if an emergency is called at the plant.

Former detective enters Sheriff's race developing

Former county detective, Wallace Brown, will challenge Sheriff George T. Lasater in the Republican primary election for Charlevoix County Sheriff.

Brown, 56, previously served three years as detective under former sheriff, Philo Sumner. He was hired under the Regional Detective Program. After Lasater won the election in 1976, Brown was relieved of his position.

Lasater told The Press earlier this month that he is "definitely going to run for reelection." Lasater, also a Republican, is completing his first four year term.

Brown says Lasater doesn't get along with his deputies and, thus, the deputies don't perform as well as they should.

"I'll be campaigning to whip that shape (the sheriff's department) into shape," Brown said. "I think there are capable officers in the department, but they just don't have the right kind of leadership."

Brown said Lasater is overspending his 1979-80 budget and that taxpayers can not afford to have departments run over budget.

Brown, a resident of Hayes Township for eight years, previously worked with the Highland Park Police Department for 26 years.

He is a graduate of the Southeastern Michigan Chiefs of Police, the Michigan State Police detective academy and a graduate of the FBI police academy.

"The present sheriff only knows and has experience from what he has gained in office. I don't think the county can afford another four years of training someone for the job. Lasater is costing the taxpayers a lot of money," Brown said.

The Press gave Lasater a chance to respond to Brown's accusations, but he would not comment at this time.

Lasater's past experience includes six years as probation officer for Charlevoix and Emmet Counties. He taught criminal justice part-time at North Central Michigan College and worked with the sheriff's department for six years.

Lasater won the 1976 Republican primary election by beating Sumner 1,472 votes to 1,281. Robert Neff, a former state policeman, came in third with 1,066 votes.

Brown was appointed county detective by Sumner in 1974 and served until shortly after Lasater was elected sheriff. He was laid off as detective and has been working at odd jobs since.

Recently Lasater tried to get a detective position reinstated to his department. He said Brown was relieved of his position as detective, but he "did not recommend that the job position be eliminated." The Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners denied funding for Lasater's request for a detective's position.

East Jordan's Holes is 'Coach of year'

Frank Holes, athletic director and varsity football coach at East Jordan High School, has been voted "Coach of the year" for class C region IV by the membership of the Michigan High School Football Coaches Association.

The announcement came at the annual meeting of the association, held last weekend at Lansing Sexton High School.

Holes' teams have lost only one game in his two years at East Jordan, sharing the Ski Valley Conference title his first year and winning it outright last fall.

"A head coach is only as good as his staff," Holes said modestly after receiving the award. "It's too bad the award couldn't be cut up in pieces with each of us getting a piece."

"You've gotta have the staff and you've gotta have the kids," he continued. "They put forth a heck of an effort."

FLOWERS AT FUNERALS

In ancient days, fragrant flowers and strongly scented spices were ever-present at funerals. Wild flowers lent a natural beauty to the funeral tributes along with a "living" tribute to the departed tribesman. Flowers and spice fragrances "perfumed" the area.

Today, flowers have retained an important place in funeral service. Today we can't always pick our own flowers so we have florists who design and produce breathtakingly beautiful floral pieces.

Flowers add a bright, colorful beauty to a setting which may seem somber to some, but flowers still add beauty to a casket and provide a hint of delicate fragrance. Floral pieces treat kindly our senses of sight and smell. Still a "living" tribute, they are an emotional contribution to the comfort of the surviving family, a testimonial that the funeral, indeed, is for the living!

As an expression of sympathy and love, flowers serve admirably when the sender cannot be present to offer condolences. Most florists have developed special floral arrangements for funerals.

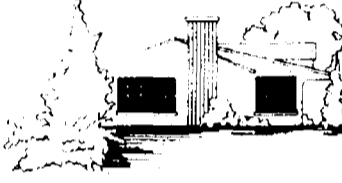

If you have questions about funeral flowers, ask us -- better still, ask your florist!

(q) In general, and subject to such limitations and conditions as are or may be prescribed by law, to exercise such other powers which now are or hereafter may be conferred by law upon a corporation organized pursuant to Act 338, P.A. 1974, as amended, and for the foregoing purposes.

ARTICLE III

Sec. 1. Directors Management. The business and affairs of the corporation shall be managed by its board of directors, except as otherwise provided by statute, by the Articles of Incorporation or by the bylaws.

Sec. 2. Board of Directors. The board of directors of the corporation shall consist of not less than 9 persons, not more than 3 of whom shall be an officer, employee, or commissioner of the City of Boyne City. These directors shall be appointed for terms of 6 years, except of the directors first appointed, 4 shall be appointed for 6 years, 1 for 5 years, 1 for 4 years, 1 for 3 years, 1 for 2 years, and 1 for 1 year. All additional appointees shall be for a 1 year term. The corporation shall notify the Chief Executive Officer of the City of Boyne City in writing of the corporation's intention to commence preparation of a project plan, and there shall be appointed promptly after such notice 2 additional directors of the corporation who shall be representative of neighborhood residents likely to be affected by each such project proposed by the corporation and who shall cease to serve when the project for which they are appointed is either abandoned or, if undertaken, is completed in accordance with the project plan. Directors shall serve without salary, but may be reimbursed their actual expenses incurred in the performance of their official duties, and may receive a per diem of not more than $50.00. The meetings of the board of directors shall be public.

Sec. 3. Appointment of Board. The Chief Executive Officer of the City of Boyne City with the advice and consent of the City Commission, shall appoint the members of the board of directors. Subsequent directors shall be appointed in the same manner as original appointments at the expiration of each director's term of office. A director whose term of office has expired shall continue to hold office until his/her successor has been appointed. A director may be reappointed to serve additional terms. If a vacancy is created by death or resignation or removal by operation of law, a successor shall be appointed within 30 days to hold office for the remainder of the term of office so vacated.

Sec. 4. Removal. A director may be removed from office for cause by a majority vote of the City Commission.

Sec. 5. Conflict of Interest. A director who has a direct interest in any matter before the corporation shall disclose his/her interest prior to the corporation taking any action with respect to the matter, which disclosure shall become a part of the record of the corporation's official proceedings and the interested director shall further refrain from participation in the corporation's proceedings relating to the matter.

Sec. 6. Vacancies. A vacancy in any office because of death, resignation, removal, disqualification or otherwise, may be filled at any meeting of the board of directors for the unexpired portion of the term of such office.

Sec. 7. President. The president shall be the chief executive officer of the corporation, but he/she may from time to time delegate all or any part of his/her duties to an executive vice president, if one is elected, or to any vice president. He/she shall preside at all meetings of the directors; he/she shall have general and active management of the business of the corporations, and shall see that all orders and resolutions of the board are carried into effect. He/she shall execute all ments entered into pursuant to the powers of the corporation as set forth in the articles of incorporation with the approval and authority of the board of directors. He/she shall be ex-officio a member of all standing committees.

Sec. 8. Vice Presidents. The vice president shall perform such duties as are delegated to him/her by the president and he/she and the other vice presidents in order of their seniority shall, in the absence or in the event of the disability of the president, perform the duties and exercise the powers of the president, and shall perform such other duties as the board of directors shall prescribe.

ARTICLE IV

Sec. 1. Officers. The officers of the corporation shall consist of a president, secretary, treasurer, and, if desired, one or more vice presidents, and such other officers as may from time to time determined by the board of directors, each of whom shall be elected by the directors. Two or more offices may be held by the same person, but an officer shall not execute, acknowledge or verify an instrument in more than one capacity, if the instrument is required by law or the articles or bylaws to be executed, acknowledged or verified by two or more officers.

Sec. 2. Election and Term of Office. The officers of the corporation shall be elected annually by the board of directors. If the election of officers shall not be held or made at such meeting, such election shall be held or made as soon thereafter as is convenient. Each officer so elected shall hold office for the term of which he/she is elected and until his/her successor is elected and qualified, or until his/her resignation or removal.

Sec. 3. Removal. Any officer elected by the board of directors may be removed by the board of directors with or without cause whenever, in its judgment, the best interests of the corporation would be served thereby.

Sec. 4. Vacancies. A vacancy in any office because of death, resignation, removal, disqualification or otherwise, may be filled at any meeting of the board of directors for the unexpired portion of the term of such office.

Sec. 5. President. The president shall be the chief executive officer of the corporation, but he/she may from time to time delegate all or any part of his/her duties to an executive vice president, if one is elected, or to any vice president. He/she shall preside at all meetings of the directors; he/she shall have general and active management of the business of the corporations, and shall see that all orders and resolutions of the board are carried into effect. He/she shall execute all ments entered into pursuant to the powers of the corporation as set forth in the articles of incorporation with the approval and authority of the board of directors. He/she shall be ex-officio a member of all standing committees.

Sec. 6. Vice Presidents. The vice president shall perform such duties as are delegated to him/her by the president and he/she and the other vice presidents in order of their seniority shall, in the absence or in the event of the disability of the president, perform the duties and exercise the powers of the president, and shall perform such other duties as the board of directors shall prescribe.

Sec. 7. Secretary. The secretary shall attend all meetings of the board and record all votes and the minutes of all proceedings in a book to be kept for that purpose; and shall perform like duties for the standing committees when required. He/she shall give, or cause to be given, notice of all meetings of the board of directors, and shall perform such other duties as may be prescribed by the board of directors under whose supervision he/she shall be. He/she shall keep in safe custody the seal of the corporation, and when authorized by the board, affix the same to any instrument requiring it, and when so affixed it shall be attested by his/her signature or by the signature of the treasurer. He/she shall be sworn to the faithful discharge of his/her duties. The assistant secretary, if one is elected, shall perform the duties and exercise the power of the secretary in his/her absence or in the event of his/her disability.

Sec. 8. Treasurer. The treasurer shall have the custody of the corporate funds and securities and shall keep full and accurate accounts of receipts and disbursements in books belonging to the corporation and shall deposit all monies, and other valuable effects, in the name and to the credit of the corporation in such depositories as may be designated by the board of directors. He/she shall disburse the funds of the corporation as may be ordered by the board, taking proper vouchers for such disbursements, and shall render to the president and directors, at the regular meetings of the board, or whenever they may require an account of all his/her transactions as treasurer and of the financial condition of the corporation. He/she shall give the corporation a bond if required by the board of directors in a sum designated by the board, and with one or more sureties satisfactory to the board, for the faithful performance of the duties of his/her office. The assistant treasurer, if one is elected, shall perform the duties and exercise the power of the treasurer, if one is elected, shall perform the duties and exercise the power of the treasurer in his/her absence or in the event of his/her disability.

Sec. 9. Delegation of Duties of Officers. In the absence of any officer of the corporation, or for any other reason that the board may deem sufficient, the board may delegate, from time to time and for such time as it may deem appropriate, the powers or duties, or any of them, of such officer to any other officer, or to any director, provided a majority of the board then in office, concurs therein.

Sec. 10. Salaries. The officers of the corporation shall serve without salary; provided, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to preclude any officer from serving the corporation in any other capacity and receiving compensation therefor.

Class focuses on kids' perception

BY JON DENISON

EAST JORDAN - "If you had been in a haptic program you wouldn't hold your pen wrong," noted Arline Rullman, Title I teacher who supervises the East Jordan Haptic Perceptual Development Program.

The program goes far beyond how to hold a pen. In its second year at the East Jordan Elementary school, the haptic program helps students from the first grade and junior primary class with learning problems related to spatial perception.

If a student has trouble with balance, or has difficulty telling left from right, his learning is affected by it. The haptic program, through a series of body movement exercises, can help correct these learning difficulties.

The program was designed to be run one hour a day, five days a week. It's been modified for East Jordan's use to a half-hour per day. The exercises are divided into six stations, three of which are done one day and three the next.

High school students are used as aides to ensure an immediate feedback as the students accomplish the tasks at each station. The seven high school students receive credit for their work.

"The child listens to instructions to find what part of his body to move," explained Rullman. "Move your left arm, for example. With the aide he gets immediate feedback as to whether he moved the correct arm."

"The program helps a child feel good about himself," Rullman continued. "It helps him learn to move."

There are 15 students in the program, out of about 80 students in the first grade and junior primary class. Students perform a screening test to see if they have a perceptual problem that could be helped by the program.

"A student can enter the program at any time during the school year," Rullman pointed out. "As soon as he's mastered 80 percent of the tasks, or activities, he's done with the program."

Feasibility, cost of county central dispatch system to be studied

BOYNE CITY - The feasibility and cost of a central dispatch system which would have one county location to contact in the event of fire, accident or any other type of emergency is being studied.

At a meeting last Thursday in Boyne City Hall, city administrators and police officials from Boyne City, East Jordan and Charlevoix met and approved of studying the means of going about starting a central emergency center.

The center would dispatch police, fire and ambulance services anywhere in the county. The 911 federal emergency telephone number could be used to reach the dispatch.

Currently Boyne Falls, Charlevoix and East Jordan fire departments and police are sometimes dispatched through the County Sheriff's Department in Charlevoix. The current dispatching system is not working as smoothly as law enforcement officers would like it to, however.

Jack Mol, Charlevoix police chief, said his officers are presently dispatched during evening hours by either the sheriff's department or the city fire department.

Mol is worried that there may be times when the sheriff dispatcher may have to leave his or her post to assist in the jail. The night dispatcher is responsible for jail security checks. Sheriff George Lasater said the dispatcher may be gone only a few minutes and notifies officers on the road that he will be leaving the desk.

Mol said that if the deputy is away from the desk when an officer calls in an emergency situation it could be tragic.

The study would be conducted in part by the state Office of Criminal Justice, Lipps said. County Planner John Hess would coordinate the study at county level if he receives approval from the county board of commissioners and planning commission to work on the study. The two commissions will meet later this month and Hess will seek their approval to spend time working on the central dispatch system study.

The study will analyze the existing dispatch systems at the Boyne City police department and at the sheriff's department in Charlevoix. These two locations are being considered for the central dispatch center. Deficiencies in the present central dispatch centers would be pointed out and suggestions for correcting any deficiencies will be made.

One of the biggest cost factors for the dispatch system would be the center's location. Because of the Big Rock Point nuclear power plant, the center would have to be designed and located so it is protected from nuclear fallout.

Prevailing winds would have to be studied to determine where nuclear fallout would land in the county in the event of a nuclear accident. Existing buildings with fallout shelters or those that could be easily remodeled for providing nuclear shelter should also be considered in determining location, Lipps said.

A third factor in determining location is cost. After the study is completed, Lipps said he would see if grant funding is available for starting a central dispatch system. Possible sources are Civil Defense and the federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration.

A similar study done earlier in 1978 on the feasibility of a dispatch system in Charlevoix County left many questions unanswered, Lipps said.

"The study showed that the central dispatch system is feasible, but left so many questions unanswered that no one knew where to turn to next," he said.

The study concluded that implementation of a central dispatch system with a 911 number would cost approximately $90,000.

Lipps said the figure was high because "instead of talking Chevies, the guy doing the study was looking at Cadillacs. He figured in the cost of all new equipment rather than looking into what existing equipment could still be used."

High school students are used as aides in East Jordan's haptic program. They work with the students from the first grade and junior primary class to try to correct learning difficulties caused by perception and balance problems. Norma Landy works with Lawrence Stanton on jumping rope above.

Is county clerk underpaid?

Is County Clerk Clarence Rabach underpaid?

Rabach says he plans to resign as of April 1 because he is one of the lowest paid clerks in the state.

But a survey of seven neighboring counties shows that Rabach is only slightly below average for counties of similar population.

Turn to page 4 for an editorial about the clerk's resignation.

Rabach's current salary is $15,120, which is 3.4 percent lower than the area average of $15,598.

Other county clerks and their salaries are as follows:
Kalkaska	$13,054
Antrim	$14,280
Charlevoix	$15,120
Cheboygan	$15,350
Crawford	$16,006
Presque Isle	$16,500
Emmet	$16,662
Otsego	$17,333
AVERAGE	$15,598

Rabach had requested a 27 percent pay raise to $17,800 from his 1979 salary of $14,000. That would have made him the highest paid clerk in the area. Instead, he received an eight percent raise to $15,120.

Rabach, 62, a Republican, has been county clerk for 11 years. If he resigns April 1, eight months of his term will remain to be filled.

Rabach said he feels the clerk's salary should be based on workload and responsibilities and that Charlevoix County is dramatically growing and thus the workload is greater.

Numerous changes in election laws, which the county clerk must be aware of and enforce on the county level, are keeping his workload extremely heavy, he said.

"It's not just that my salary is too low, though," Rabach told the Press. "I'm not satisfied with other county salaries including that of my deputies. How much work we do and how much we are paid have not been going up proportionally."

As of Monday Rabach had not submitted his resignation to Circuit Court Judge Martin B. Breighner. Judge Breighner, as state law says, will appoint someone to complete the remainder of Rabach's term.

Advertising talk planned for Percolator Club

BOYNE CITY - Advertising will be the topic when area businessmen convene for a meeting of the Percolator Club at 8 a.m. Friday.

The one hour meeting will be in the commission meeting room at city hall.

Guest speaker for the meeting will be Mike Harrington, who heads the Harrington Group, an advertising and marketing agency in Petoskey. Harrington is the former general manager of radio station WJML in Petoskey.

Harrington will talk about the hows and whys of advertising, as well as the strengths of various types of media.

Informal discussion will follow Harrington's presentation, and representatives of a number of local newspapers and radio stations have been invited to participate.

Percolator Club meetings are sponsored by the Boyne City Area Chamber of Commerce on the first Friday of every month. Free coffee, doughnuts and juice are provided, and the meetings are open to the public.

Viewpoints

Voters shortchanged by resignations

An unfortunate feud has developed between a few county officials which has resulted in the resignations of the county clerk and register of deeds.

It is hard to pinpoint exactly who is at fault. Like most problems of this type, the blame can probably be shouldered by both sides—the two resigning officials and the county board of commissioners.

Clerk Clarence Rabach and Register of Deeds Grover Geneit feel they are underpaid and overworked. The county commissioners feel they have a mandate to keep taxes low by watching their budget.

It's just too bad that the situation couldn't have been handled better by all involved.

Rabach's main contention is that he is underpaid for a workload that has been increasing greatly in recent years. He says that he is among the lowest paid clerks in the state. That may be true—but it must also be considered that Charlevoix County ranks about 60th in population among the state's 83 counties.

The Press surveyed clerks in seven other northern counties of similar population and found Rabach's $15,120 salary to be a little below the average of $15,598.

Considering Rabach's experience

(he's been in office for 11 years), he probably is underpaid. On the other hand, his request for a 27 percent raise to $17,800 would have made him the highest paid clerk of the seven counties we surveyed in this area. Instead, he received an eight percent increase, which is about what most other county employees received.

Geneit, on the other hand, was upset that the county commission cut the funding for one staff member in his office. His thinking, undoubtedly, was "If I'm going to be underpaid (I earn exactly the same as Rabach) I don't want to be overworked." So he decided to resign after 27 years on the job.

We wish that the county commission could have found a way to keep these two long-time public officials happier in their jobs. In retrospect, it seems some compromises could have been found to at least keep Rabach and Geneit satisfied enough to finish their terms.

If the clerk and register of deeds are truly unhappy in their jobs, some would say that it is best that they admit it and resign.

That's an easy out, though. We feel strongly that if people run for public office and win, they have made a commitment to serve a full term for the voters who elected them. They knew when they were elected that the job was not high paying and that the county commission would probably not be bending over backwards to change that situation.

Thus, we are extremely disappointed to see Rabach and Geneit leaving their jobs so close to the end of their terms, which end at the end of this year anyway. Their quitting is not in character with their many years of public service to the citizens of the county.

Even though we disagree with their decision to quit their jobs for monetary reasons, we do hope the county board learns something from this episode.

Public service is a grand notion, but if we are to attract and retain top quality public officials, we must pay them a competitive salary.

If an extra $1,000 a year would make our future elected officials a little above average for our area rather than a little below, it would also make them more enthusiastic on the job. And it might also attract better qualified people to run for our county positions.

Charlevoix's Big Rock Point nuclear power plant is given an "average" safety rating by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission. . . . but it is down for repairs and maintenance regularly.

Letter from the publisher

Strict nuclear standards are comforting, but....

I'm not an anti-nuclear activist. Nor am I a nuclear power advocate. . . . Because, frankly, I'm a nuclear power coward.

And to this nervous, untrained eye, the Big Rock facility near the city of Charlevoix has always scared me because it always seems to be breaking down.

Much as I love many of the conveniences of our energy-squandering lifestyle, I would gladly give them up if the alternative was the possibility of radiation poisoning.

Big Rock was one of the first nuclear plants to be built in the U.S. . . . operational almost two decades ago and now supplies energy to approximately one million customers of Consumers Power Company.

When it's operational, that is. And that doesn't appear to be very often. Not now; not in the past 10 years that I've come to know this area.

I know that federal government's Nuclear Regulatory Commission has given Big Rock an "average" safety rating and the other Consumers Power plant near South Haven "below average" safety rating, but I can't take much comfort in the comparison. I live here; the Palisades plant much further south on Lake Michigan is somebody else's worry.

Throughout the 1970's, people I know in and around Charlevoix County would joke frequently about Big Rock's frequent shutdowns. But nobody cared much because energy was cheap and we didn't think about nuclear safety in those days of yore before "China Syndrome," the movie, and Three Mile Island, the real thing. Then, when you're living near a nuclear plant that appears to be closed more than it's open; suddenly the jokes turn into graveyard humor.

Early last year, Big Rock made the national TV news on a Saturday night and page one headlines the next day across the country when more problems were announced. Was Three Mile Island going to happen here? It didn't, thank goodness, but it certainly made people think a bit more about the nuclear reactor in our midst. When Big Rock finally reopened last November, it managed to keep operating and serving Consumers Power energy customers for about six or seven weeks. Then, it was shut down again briefly. So it goes.

It's no wonder that Ralph Nader can come to Northern Michigan and raise hell by saying there is no rational reason for the plant staying in operation. Although on the surface that statement had to make a lot of sense to people who know how often things were going wrong at this relatively uncomplicated, early-age nuclear plant, Consumers Power issued the usual denunciation of Nader's attack.

At about the same time, the public learned about plans to begin "decommissioning" the plant. If the plant keeps huffing and puffing along—now and then—it won't be shut down for good until 20 years from now. And at customer expense.

Cross your fingers. Let's hope that we never have to implement that Emergency Preparedness Plan county officials are trying to pull together for the final years of Big Rock's difficult, but brief life in our neighborhood.

As a nuclear coward who watched China Syndrome bug-eyed along with everyone else, I am definitely more concerned about the 100 or so nuclear plants in various stages of development, than the 70 or so that are now operational. That's because I still believe a private citizen in this country can exert some political clout and thus some control over our "energy future." Plants like Big Rock are more-or-less operating and we have little say-so regarding the situation. Can we hope that the new ones will be safer and better able to take care of our future energy needs?

Fortunately for my peace of mind, I found someone who made me feel better about nuclear power in the future.

A young Texan shared a row with me on a flight to Dallas recently. He was on his way back to college in Brownsville after having spent a month inside a nuclear plant under construction in California.

He is, by trade, a pipefitter, and has worked at it for more than seven years. It's a dangerous business on big construction sites, so he's decided to become a mechanical engineer. On school breaks and during the summers, he finds it easy to find good-paying jobs. For instance, he and controls on safety measures for those working at the nuclear plant site. In comparison, the pipefitter had worked a few years ago in Nebraska on a coal plant where safety concerns were minimal and one person was killed and three injured. "At San Onofre, it was totally different," he said.

He was part of a team with a welder at San Onofre, and they were "followed around" by an engineer who checked their work. "If the work had to be done over too often, you would be fired; it was that simple," he said. Because of the strict quality control measures, he took out a lot of his own work without prompting, re-fitted and re-welded it. "The weld had to be perfect or they would write you up," he said.

He worked two weeks in the radiation waste area and two weeks in the control room where every corner was padded for safety. "And you had to pick up all your waste and put it in a bucket; if the safety control people found waste, you were written up; if it happened too often, you would be fired," he said.

The pipefitter sleeps well now that he knows nuclear plants are constructed in a manner that he had not seen before. But he does fret a bit about human error at the plants.

"I'd pay a lot more for energy in order to get the very best people to operate the plants," he said. He didn't know how the people in the control room at San Onofre were chosen, but he said he worried that one of them "couldn't find his way to work in the morning."

Trying to draw a comparison, he said "On this airplane there'd be hundreds of deaths if the airline had hired the first person off the street who applied to be the pilot."

I'm sure the nuclear industry has an intensive training program for control room operators who "shut the valves" and "push the buttons."

My next task is to find such a person and talk to him or her about the critical human element in the operation of the tremendously complex nuclear power plants.

Because, as everyone knows, there is no way to build anything that will guarantee the elimination of human error. And when you consider that already 20 million Americans live within 30 miles of a nuclear power plant, the matter of human error is no small consideration.

George Colburn

earned $800 a week for four weeks in California on the job at the San Onofre plant on the Pacific Ocean south of Los Angeles. One nuclear plant is already operating on the site and two more are going up. A short time ago, an earthquake fault line was discovered in the ocean quite close to the site and the operating plant already is rated "below average" by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

The young pipefitter told me he took the job in California over the Christmas holidays because, as he put it, "I wanted to see what a nuclear plant was like. I was very dubious about nuclear power before I left Texas, but I didn't like the idea of destroying the country by strip-mining coal either."

His month-long experience changed his view of nuclear power considerably. His conclusion was that "unless somebody shuts the wrong valve, or pushes the wrong button," the nuclear power plant he worked on was "perfectly safe."

At the site, there were strict quality control standards and enforcement that he had not seen on other jobs. "I've worked at coal plants and refineries, and these are just thrown together in comparison," he noted.

And there are the same strict standards

Save the North (for me)

It's a good example of human nature. Joe Blow, urban dweller for many years, buys a home in scenic northern Michigan.

Shortly after his purchase, several other city residents decide they too, would like to live where the air is clean and the crime rate is low.

Oh no, cries Joe. The scenic beauty and balance of nature will be upset by any more people building around here.

A selfish claim or true statement of environmental concerns? It's hard to tell sometimes.

The problem is an old one that was brought to light recently by a housing controversy on Mackinac Island.

George Staffan, a Charlevoix real estate salesman, owns the largest piece of private property on Mackinac Island. He purchased a 186 acre parcel of land from television evangelist Rex Humbard when the Akron orator's "Cathedral of Tomorrow" empire reached a rocky financial state.

The Stonecliffe estate that Staffan purchased was built by a Chicago meat-packing magnate. The property included a Tudor-style mansion, a lodge left over from Humbard's aborted ski resort, a caretaker's home, a small chalet, an older frame house and a large barn.

Staffan turned the mansion into a hotel, the only one located away from the hustle-bustle of the tourist-filled downtown area on the island. The ski lodge is now a restaurant-lounge. The caretaker's house has been sold.

Staffan plans to sub-divide and sell the remaining acreage. That's where the battle over ruining our natural resources comes into the story.

Staffan's plans were going smoothly. Several prospective buyers had looked at the wooded lots, located on a bluff overlooking the Straits of Mackinac on the St. Ignace side of the island. The town council has given Staffan preliminary approval to go ahead with the project.

But then opposition to the project cropped up, represented by the Mackinac Island Preservation Society.

The subdivision, according to those opposing it, would put a burden on the island's sewer and water systems. It would tax the police and fire protection and would snarl the already overworked transportation system.

But most of all, the outraged cried, such a housing development would ruin the charm of the island.

The claims have a selfish ring to them. One of the biggest foes of the development has himself been asked many times to plant some sort of green belt to screen his pre-fab, eyesore of a home from the roadway circling the island.

The land use battle on Mackinac Island should be of interest to residents of Charlevoix County.

People already living here have an interest in restricting further development so property values remain high. Those who are interested in moving here, on the other hand, would add to tax rolls and contribute dollars to an uncertain economy.

I don't want Mackinac Island or Charlevoix County to become a northern version of Detroit or Flint. Neither do I want the population of either Charlevoix County or the island to remain the same for the sake of preserving what exists.

The answer to the problem isn't to stop all development. The task of the Mackinac Island town council and all local governments, is to ensure that any development is orderly. Uncontrolled growth can be damaging. Growth in itself doesn't have to be.

Summer has finally died

Summer died in the middle of January. It affected our feelings and confused our thinking.

One day it's 40 degrees with the lawn asking to be mowed. The next day it's 10 above with angry winds blowing snow.

One day you're thinking summer. The next day you're feeling like Ted Kennedy after the Iowa political caucus. Wham! Your plans are all up in the air with your feelings down in the dumps.

Marshall Sayles

I was talking with a foreign power from East Jordan about this strange weather and political scene.

"I'm damn mad with those people who shut Kennedy's water off in the middle of the winter," he said.

He had a personal interest in Mr. Kennedy's race for the presidency, this foreign power from East Jordan did.

"Remember how Franklin Roosevelt made booze legal?" he asked. "Well, I learned how to drink under the Roosevelt administration. After that I learned how to swear under the Truman administration. Then I learned to lie under the Nixon administration. Now, under this Carter administration, I haven't learned to do nothing."

"What did you expect to learn if Mr. Kennedy were president?" I asked this blowing wind from East Jordan.

"He stimulates my imagination," he said. "Under a Kennedy administration, I figured I just might learn how to catch myself a woman."

"A woman! How do you expect to catch a woman with all your drinking, swearing and lying?"

"Well, I thought I might find one who would appear not to notice. I'd kind of let her outwit me without her knowing it."

I had known for some time that the people in East Jordan were not stupid. But I also knew that upon rare occasions an exception steps forward.

"Stupid man does not catch fair lady," I said, trying to be poetic in a snow-storm.

"Oh, yes they do," he said. "In Boyne City, they do."

This moving into my territory did not set well with me. And I challenged him to name one Boyne City woman who had been caught by stupidity.

To my chagrin he ticked off three on the fingers of his left hand before I could stop him.

Summer died in the middle of January. I wish to God it hadn't done that.

Write your lawmakers

Do you have a question, complaint or comment about the government? The best thing to do about it is to contact your elected representatives. They do read your mail and pay attention to voter opinion. Here are the addresses of elected officials serving the Charlevoix County area:

GOVERNOR - William G. Milliken (R), Executive Office, Second Floor, State Capitol Building, Lansing, Mich., 48901.

U.S. SENATORS - Carl Levin (D), Donald Riegle (D). In Detroit, both men may be reached by writing: Federal Building, 231 Lafayette Blvd., Detroit, Mich., 48226. In Washington D.C., both men may be reached by writing: Senate Office Building, Washington D.C. 20515.

U.S. CONGRESSMAN - Bob Davis (R), Box 189, 5056 Wah Wah Soo Drive, Gaylord, Mich., 49735; or 1223 Longworth Building, Washington, D.C., 20515.

STATE SENATOR - Mitch Irwin (D), P.O. Box 429, 111 Bluewater Dr., Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., 49783; or Senate Chambers, State Capitol Building, Lansing, Mich., 48901.

STATE REPRESENTATIVES - 103rd District - Ralph Osting (R), R-2, Box 475B, Roscommon, Mich., 48653; 106 District - Steve Andrews (R), P. O. Box 241, Gaylord, Mich., 49735. Both men may also be reached by writing: House of Representatives, State Capitol Building, Lansing, Mich. 48901.

Osting's district includes the East Jordan and Charlevoix areas. Andrews' district includes the Boyne City, Walloon Lake and Boyne Falls areas.

Cross country skiing hits high stride

Finally, with enough snow on the ground, cross country skiers can take to the trails for an hour or a day of fun on skis.

Last weekend cross country skiers gliding through forests and open fields found skiing conditions good. The trails are not too crowded now, but area ski shops report that cross country ski sales have "taken over the ski sales market," and more than the usual number of novice and experienced skiers will be trying their hand at the popular sport.

Accessibility, the low cost of the sport, and the high cost of transportation have drawn people into cross country skiing rather than downhill or other winter sports, according to Tim Fisher, owner of Le Cycliste in Petoskey.

"Cross country skiing is a magical retreat to take people away from the TV and get them to romp outside in the snow once again," Fisher said.

Night skiing has added a whole new "rush" to cross country skiing, he said. For the majority of the working people, it is dark when they get home from work. Therefore, the hours available for skiing during the week is quite limited.

The nicest aspect about night skiing, Fisher said, is that there are no crowds to compete with. "It's beautiful out in the woods at night. It's quiet and at night the wind and temperature is pretty moderate."

How do you see at night so that you don't bump into every tree and twig in the forest? With a miner's light cap, of course.

A miner's light cap, which start at $13 at Le Cycliste, has a wire running down the back to a battery pack hooked on a belt. It's light weight and uncumberson, he said.

Ninety percent of the skiers who come into the Bahnhof Ski Shop in Charlevoix are new skiers buying equipment for the first time, according to manager Tom Kneeland.

To accommodate those who have never even seen a pair of skis, the Bahnhof and other ski shops sell "package" ski equipment.

Waxless ski packages -- skis, boots and poles -- range in price from $80 to $170. Waxable ski packages range in price from $80 to $120.

It's difficult for the novice skier to know the difference and make a decision between waxless and waxable skis, 75 millimeter or 50 millimeter (mm), boots, and cotton or polypropylene underwear.

The binding and boots are narrow, from 75 to 50mm, to make skiing easier, Kneeland said.

The new 50mm width allows the skier to have symmetrical soles which can be interchanged with either ski. This simplifies things and you no longer have a right and left ski.

Shoe prices have increased recently, as much as 15 percent due to the increased cost of leather. Good quality shoes cost from $30 to $60.

If you are or plan on becoming a cross country skier, or if you're a downhill skier now, then the waxable ski is for you. A waxable ski gives one better performance than a waxless ski, although it requires more upkeep.

Waxing a ski is not as difficult as it's made out to be, said Dave Klein, salesman at Schafer's in downtown Boyne City. It's just a matter of trying it once, accomplishing the task, and not Gliding along a trail at Young State Park Sunday were Bill Kenfack of Charlevoix and Candi Nelson of Boyne City. With the white, fluffy snowfall we've been blessed with the past week, cross country ski trails around the area are in good condition.

The Great Wooden Ski Rally at Windmill Farms Feb. 9 is for those interested in the history of cross country skiing. Nanette Loennechen, center, from Norway, Nelly Hiehle, right, from Charlevoix, and another young skier ski along one of the trails race participants will use during the ski rally.

At Windmill Farms Historical race for cross country skiers

CHARLEVOIX - The Great Wooden Ski Rally at Windmill Farms to be held Saturday, Feb. 9 at 1 p.m., will give cross country skiers a chance to gain a historical perspective on the sport.

Serious racing competitors can look forward to the Feb. 17 USSA Sanctioned Winter Cup Festival races at Windmill Farms, to test their ability and stamina.

Because of Nelly Hiehle's belief in the fun of cross country skiing, she and Tom Short, owner of Silent Sports North, devised the Great Wooden Ski Rally.

Participants in the race should dress in costumes depicting the earlier traditions of the sport.

The Great Wooden Ski Rally is free to all participants on wooden skis.

Competition is in terms of "dignity, style, grace and poise" according to Hiehle.

Sunday, Feb. 17, beginning at 11:30 a.m., starting guns will send racers off over 2, 5, 10, and 20 kilometer courses at Windmill Farms.

Sanctioned by the United States Ski Association, the Winter Cup Races, part of Charlevoix's Winter Cup Festival, will attract competitors from around the midwest.

Divisions for men, women, boys and girls, from nine and under to over 45 will be held in two categories: USSA Sanctioned races and "Citizen Races" for people who would like to test their abilities or ski the race course simply for the fun of it. Prizes will be awarded to the first three finishers in all divisions.

Registration forms for the Winter Cup Races are available at Silent Sports North, Windmill Farms and the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce. Entry fees are $8 for adults and $4 for juniors before Feb. 9, after which fees are $10 and $6, respectively.

Many cross country trails in area

Trail descriptions

Listed below is a brief rundown on some of the cross country ski trails in the area. The Department of Natural Resources has maps and additional information available for skiers. A DNR field office is located on North Street in Boyne City, call 582-6681.

WARNER CREEK PATHWAY has one 3.8 mile loop through hardwood forests. The pathway is located 2 1/2 miles east of M-32 and U.S. 131 junction on M-32.

WINDMILL FARM on Boyne City Road is located between Horton Bay and Charlevoix. It is privately owned and has 500 acres of trails. Loops include 2 1/2, 5 and 10 mile groomed, marked trails. Rental equipment and lessons are available. There is also a small ski shop there. Some trails are lighted for night skiing. Call 547-2746 for additional information.

YOUNG STATE PARK, is located one mile northwest of Boyne City on Boyne City Road. It offers three miles of marked trails.

BELL'S BAY State Campground near Charlevoix has a two-mile loop. The trail follows the Lake Michigan shoreline. The park is located on Bell's Bay Road, two miles north of Charlevoix.

SPRINGBROOK PATHWAY is one of the most beautiful trails in Charlevoix County. Located eight miles northeast of Boyne Falls, Springbrook has two loops, one four and one five miles. In the five mile loop, there's a steep climb and a fast downhill run which adds excitement to the trail. The pathway is located on Chandler Road.

Norse Mythology Becomes Nordic Reality

Long ships and long skis... the Nordic spirit lives on.

Clever and resourceful in a land where waders' long winters were a way of life and passable roads non-existent, Nordic adventurers skinned sea and land on long ships of hand-crafted ash or fir.

Dating as far back as the 12th century, cross country skiing was recorded as a vital means of travel and adventure for the people of Norway. Now that Norwegian experience is open to you.

Authentic cross country skiing depends on the country you're crossing.

Nestled in an isolated section of Boyne County, Michigan, lies an exclusive 4,000 acre "Norwegian Wood" retreat — the Boyne Nordic. This stronghold of natural beauty has been designed by the famous international Olympic.

cross country ski personality Johan Bak. A total of 42 km of touring trails include: beginner — 4 km, intermediate — 7 km, advanced — 8 km. Plus three expert and racing trails of 5, 7.5 and 10 kms.

Beginning to end, exclusively for the Nordic skier.

The Nordic ski experience begins the moment you sign into one of the Nordic Fjord Suites. Plush individual accommodations grouped on the shores of Deerpark.

No time to settle in for a long winter's nap now. A few kicks onto the trails, and the real reason you came to the Boyne Nordic becomes a reality.

At trails' end, relaxing saunas await to gently soothe you. Then on to the Nordic Inn, where you can acquaint yourself with a refreshing "saft og van" or perhaps a more hearty Norwegian "aquavit." American and Norwegian dishes top off the fare as evening wanes — and, on occasion, a guided midnight tour for a healthy nightcap.

All things big and small.

The Boyne Nordic leaves nothing to chance.

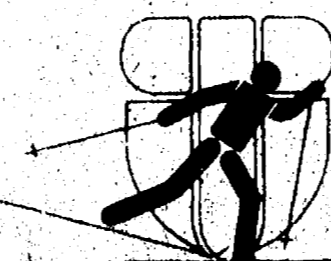

Only steps away, complete rental equipment, Nordic accessories and instruction are available.

Groups, clubs, or individuals are welcome to call (616) 549-2441 for reservations today. Hurry — the Boyne Nordic is designed to accommodate only 48 cross country enthusiasts to ensure crowd-less trails and serene touring.

Charlevoix cross country trail

CHARLEVOIX TRAILS. The City of Charlevoix recently established three new cross country ski trails. The trails start at the Charlevoix Elementary School on Division Street at the east edge of Charlevoix. Three trails, 1/4 of a mile, 1 1/4 miles and 2.1 miles wind around Charlevoix Golf Club and extend to the Mt. McSaubia property.

White Pine Stampede set for Saturday

MANCELONA - Coursing over four counties and through rugged, Northwest Michigan forestlands, the White Pine Stampede IV gets underway Saturday. The cross country ski race will begin at 10 a.m. from Twin Peaks near Frederic. It will wind up at Mt. Mancelona, 50 km (32 miles) later. A shorter, 20 km (12 miles) race will end at Cameron Bridge on the Manistee River at the Crawford-Kalkaska County line.

Each skier finishing the 50 km White Pine Stampede will receive a specially-cast and registered medal to mark their accomplishment. Skiers completing the 20 km course will receive a smaller version of the original medal. Complete White Pine registration packets, information and entry blanks, are available by calling 587-8351; or by writing: White Pine Stampede, P.O. Box 429, Mancelona, 49659.

Nordic skiing takes off

Unwaxed skis have scales on the bottom which grip and assist the skier's glide on the snow. Unwaxed skis are recommended for "weekend skiers who do not want to mess around with a wax."

For waxable skis, Klein recommends one type of wax on the tip of the ski and another for the tail, depending on the snow condition. For example, a wet snow requires a wax which will make one glide easier.

Clothing for cross country is getting more fashionable with stretch knickers and jackets. The clothing designed with cross country in mind is definitely functional, Le Cycliste's Fisher said. A total package, including hat, gloves, socks, pants, coat and a sweater will cost about $100 to $120 complete, he said.

Knickers allow the bottom of the leg to "breathe," he said, because it is essential when you're cross country skiing because you use the muscles in that part of your leg more than any others.

Light wool gloves and hats offer adequate protection against the cold and wind and allow movement, Fisher noted. People should avoid cotton and corduroy clothing, he said.

Polypropylene underwear is a plastic product which takes the moisture away from the body and keeps you dry. Kneeland of the Bahnhof Ski Shop said.

Polypropylene is very lightweight and contains no cotton material, he said. Cotton holds moisture and the body gets colder sooner, he said.

Why points on FHA-VA loans?

Points paid during the closing on an FHA or VA loan is the charge by lending institutions for making a loan at an interest rate below the going rate for other loans. Since the FHA or VA loan bears an interest rate below that charged for conventional loans - and because the borrower need not make a substantial down payment - the lender charges the seller an amount that would make the loan more competitive.

A point is figured at one percent of the loan amount. The number of points charged depend on the difference between the government-insured loan rate and the prevailing market rate.

The number of points charged may vary from day to day and from community to community. If money is tight, the lender is likely to charge additional points because of the low down payment. Government regulations on FHA or VA home loans do not allow the buyer to pay more than one point. Any additional points are paid by the seller.

East Jordan

Bridge tourney going, almost to midpoint

The East Jordan Tournament Bridge Club is about to the halfway point in its season, and the team of Juanita Erber and Bonnie Starback are in first place in the standings.

Juanita and Bonnie lead the other 23 teams in the club with a score of 31890. Other leaders are Veronica LaMond and Jean Muha, 31480; Jane Prebble and Kay McDowell, 28610; Evelyn Gidley and Shirley Olson, 27990; Phyllis Malpass and Agnes Darbee, 26980; and Betty Rison and Norma Thorsen, 26420.

Bill and Frances Grauel and daughter Mary went to Grand Rapids last weekend to visit Tim and Lynn (Grauel) Smith. They also visited Laura Malpass, Fran's mother, in Porter Hills Presbyterian Village in Grand Rapids.

Susan (Giacomelli) Finch has returned to Louisiana after a three week visit with her parents Al and Jinny Giacomelli and friends.

Goldie Kraicer has returned home from Charlevoix Area Hospital.

Mr. Allen Yentz, daughter Michelle and son Kevin have moved to Casselberry, Florida where they will make their home.

A baby shower was held Jan. 22 at 7:30 p.m. in honor of Mary Horehaed from Ellsworth. Mrs. Sherry Gaunt of East Jordan and Mrs. Jody Potter of Bay Shore put on the shower. Seventeen women attended and games were played. A cake was made and decorated by Jody Potter in form of a baby's bib.

SURVEY QUESTION

What do you think of the possibility that women could be registered for the military?

Phyllis Griffin

I don't like it but it's ok as long as I personally would never have to fight. I would give my services as a medic or whatever.

I agree with Rosalyn Carter. It is necessary and if women don't register it's like saying they don't back F.R.A.

Great. Let the women have equal rights and do all the things men do, even die for their country.

I doubt if it will happen, but if it does then I hope they draft me because I love this country and would do anything to protect it.

I'd be in Canada.

It's ok with me as long as it's not combat.

Well, to me all military obligation should only be voluntary so I don't feel registration of the draft is right.

I would never ever want to go to war because I wouldn't die from any cause other than a natural one.

Well, now the women have equal rights and they can taste a man's world all the way.

I'm really very shocked they would even consider women beside men in case of war. I can see it now. "Hold the front line, I have to put my lipstick on."

Harriet and Albert Chanda Sr. celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary with a dinner at the East Jordan American Legion Saturday. They were married in the St. Joseph's Catholic Church parsonage by Father Leibel on Jan. 28, 1930. After they were married, the Chandas lived on a farm in the Bohemian settlement for 16 years before moving to the farm where Harriet was born. They still live on a portion of that farm north of East Jordan. Helping celebrate the anniversary Saturday were their seven children, Jenny, Al, Larry, Marge, Jerome, Richard and Linda, plus their 19 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Boyerne Area

A group of 36 Boyne City High School drama students attended the plays "A Moon for the Misbegotten" on Friday night and "Ain't Misbehavin'" on Saturday with Eugene O'Neil at the Meadow Brook Theatre. They stayed at the Troy Hilton Hotel and were chaperoned by the Robert Wollenbergs, the James Bogettos and the Lewis Uptons. Enroute home, they stopped for dinner at Frankenmuth's.

The Area Church Women held their monthly luncheon at the Country Star Restaurant on Tuesday with Mrs. Eula Pritchard giving the devotions. Mrs. Clifford Frantz spoke on the house bill Family Protection Act. Each member was urged to write our senators, Carl Levin, Senate Office Building, Washington, D. C. 20515 and Representative Bob Davis, Box 189, 5056 Wahwah Soo Drive, Gaylord, 49735, regarding the bill. The Area Church Women's next meeting will be Feb. 26 at the Country Star Restaurant.

Please take note on a correction on an item a couple of weeks ago on the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of The Latter Day Saints and the Sesquicentennial observances. The church began in 1830, not 1880, making it a 150-year celebration.

On Tuesday night a group from the Free Methodist Church enjoyed an evening of roller skating at the Water Wonderland rink in Petoskey.

'Staying Healthy' series to start

EAST JORDAN - The East Jordan Family Health Center and the East Jordan Community Education office will be co-sponsoring a 12 part series of classes designed to help people stay healthy.

"Staying Healthy," the series of classes, will be taught by professionals in the health field in the lower level of the health center each Thursday from 7 to 9 p.m. beginning Feb. 7.

Topics from how to stretch your food budget to get the best-balanced diet to coping with stress will be covered in the series.

People can attend all or just one of the classes.

Hopefully people will get a better education in how to stay healthy," said Jean Miles, R.N. with District Health Department No. 3 and coordinator for the series.

"We hope we have something of interest to all," Miles said.

Topics being covered in the series, in order from the Feb. 7 beginning date, are: When to go to a doctor; Teenage use of drugs; Normal growth and development of children 0-5; Exercise and diet; they affect your heart; Your health and your environment; Good basic nutrition and getting the most from your food collar; Food as children see it; Sexually transmitted diseases; Coping with everyday stress; Hypertension (high blood pressure); Preventive dentistry; and Cancer.

There is a limit of 35 people for each of the "Staying Healthy" classes. Reservations can be made for a class by calling the Community Education office at 536-3241. All of the classes are free.

Cancer society reorganizing Feb. 6

The Charlevoix County Chapter of the American Cancer Society, newly reorganized following a meeting last week, will hold another organizational meeting Wednesday, Feb. 6, at 7:30 p.m. at the Jordan Inn in East Jordan.

Joan Hoffman, service chairman for the Charlevoix County Cancer Society, explained that following the resignation of many long-time board members a reorganization was needed to maintain funding for the local chapter of the national society.

"We want to become more involved in detection and prevention of cancer,"

Hoffman outlined the chapter's goals. "You have to be visible to do this."

Because Charlevoix County has three towns, the chapter has a harder time reaching people than most of its counterparts. To combat that, the local chapter is trying to get a membership representative of the whole county.

The new board is a step toward that total county involvement. The new president, Nancy Porter, is from Charlevoix; the new vice-president, Chris Robinson, is from Walloon Lake; Barbara Burch, the new secretary, is from Charlevoix; Hugh Mason, the new treasurer, is also from Charlevoix; the medical advisor is Dr. Mitch Carey from East Jordan; the professional educational chairman is Deanna Beyer from East Jordan; the public information chairman is Peter Pace from Charlevoix; the public educational chairman is Marilyn Wilmont from Charlevoix and Hoffman, the service chairman, is from Charlevoix.

Garnet. Even though garnets come from nature in several colors including orange, violet and green, the dark reddish brown is the most popular and commonly received color for the January Birthstone. In early times, this color of garnet was referred to as a carbuncle from the blood red color. Some Asiatic tribes have even used garnets as bullets, believing that this blood-colored stone would inflict a more deadly wound than a leaden bullet. Such bullets were used by the rebellious Hanza's in 1892 during their hostilities with the British troops on the Kashmir frontier. Many of these precious missiles have been preserved to this day as curiosities.

Hot Ramblers win another

BOYNE CITY - The streak isn't quite ready for the record books, but the Rambler basketball team, with its 53-41 victory over Rogers City Friday, had a two game win streak going into Tuesday's make-up game with Charlevoix.

"We've been playing pretty good ball," Rambler Coach Russ Harvey said after Friday's game. "We're generating more offensive power and defensively we're starting to play four full quarters."

"We're having a lot of nice response on the boards, from four players in particular," Harvey said, pointing to the rebounding of Scott Hausler, Daryl Timms, Jerry Belford and Jim Plachta as being a key to the swing of the team's fortunes of late.

Harvey's charges take to the road for key conference games with Petoskey and St. Ignace the next two Fridays.

"It's important to win on the road," Harvey said, adding, "but it's hard too. You have to put out that much more effort."

A pressing defense brought the Ramblers back from a 12-6 first period deficit Friday.

"We started pressing in the second quarter and found we were capable of pressing them," Harvey said. "We worked real hard in the third quarter and kept up the same thing in the fourth quarter."

The bulk of Boyne's offensive output, as usual, came from its guards. Kerry Krusel led the Ramblers with 17 points while his backcourt mate Larry Jarema canned 15. Plachta, "doing a real fine job off the bench," according to Harvey, scored six points and pulled down 10 rebounds.

Timms also had 10 rebounds and with Belford accounted "for several blocked shots," Harvey said.

Harvey is hopeful that his team will have a more complete game against Petoskey Friday than they did the first time the two teams played.

"In the first game we got off to a half-way decent offensive start," Harvey recalled, "but with poor defense. In the third and fourth quarters we played good defense but ran out of time."

"We've got to play four good quarters," he emphasized.

Two share cage lead

The Boyne River Inn and Country Star Market each won twice in Tri-City Men's Basketball League play last week to up their records to a league-leading 3-0.

A show-down between two of the other three undefeated teams—the Gold Nugget Bar and Great Lakes Energy—was scheduled for Wednesday, Jan. 30 in East Jordan with Schafer's, the only other unbeaten squad, playing EJ Patterns following.

The BRI won 105-79 over EJ Patterns last Wednesday in East Jordan. Chuck Stanek led the winners with 29 points and Terry Elzinga added 28. Rick Roberts led the losers with 31 points. The game was close—47-45 at the half—but the BRI pulled away in the second half.

Sunday in Boyne City the BRI came back from a 28-25 first quarter deficit against Ski & Shore to win 105-79. Kim Hocquard scored 17, Kevin Griffin 16, Bill Anzell and Rob Spencer 14 each, Stanek 12 and Pat Anzell 10 for the balanced winners.

Tim Markam led the losers with 20 points. Jeff Krusel added 19. Ken Doty 14, Fred DiMartino 12 and Lon Kowalske 11.

Country Star recorded a 104-75 win over Stevens Concrete Wednesday. Tim Hardy led the winners with 22 points. Jim Baumann and Steve Bartlett each scored 19 points for Stevens.

Sunday, Victorian AFC fell victim to Country Star by a 109-69 score. Dave Peck scored 26 points for Country Star. He was aided by Dave DeNise's 24, Randy Krusel's 20, Julius Kowalski's 19 and 10 points from Tim Hardy and Scott Paquette.

AFC was led by Fred Waybrandt's 32 point output. Eric Brown added 20 and Dave Prichitt 12.

In the other Sunday game Payton's earned its first win of the second half of the season by a 107-77 score over Stevens.

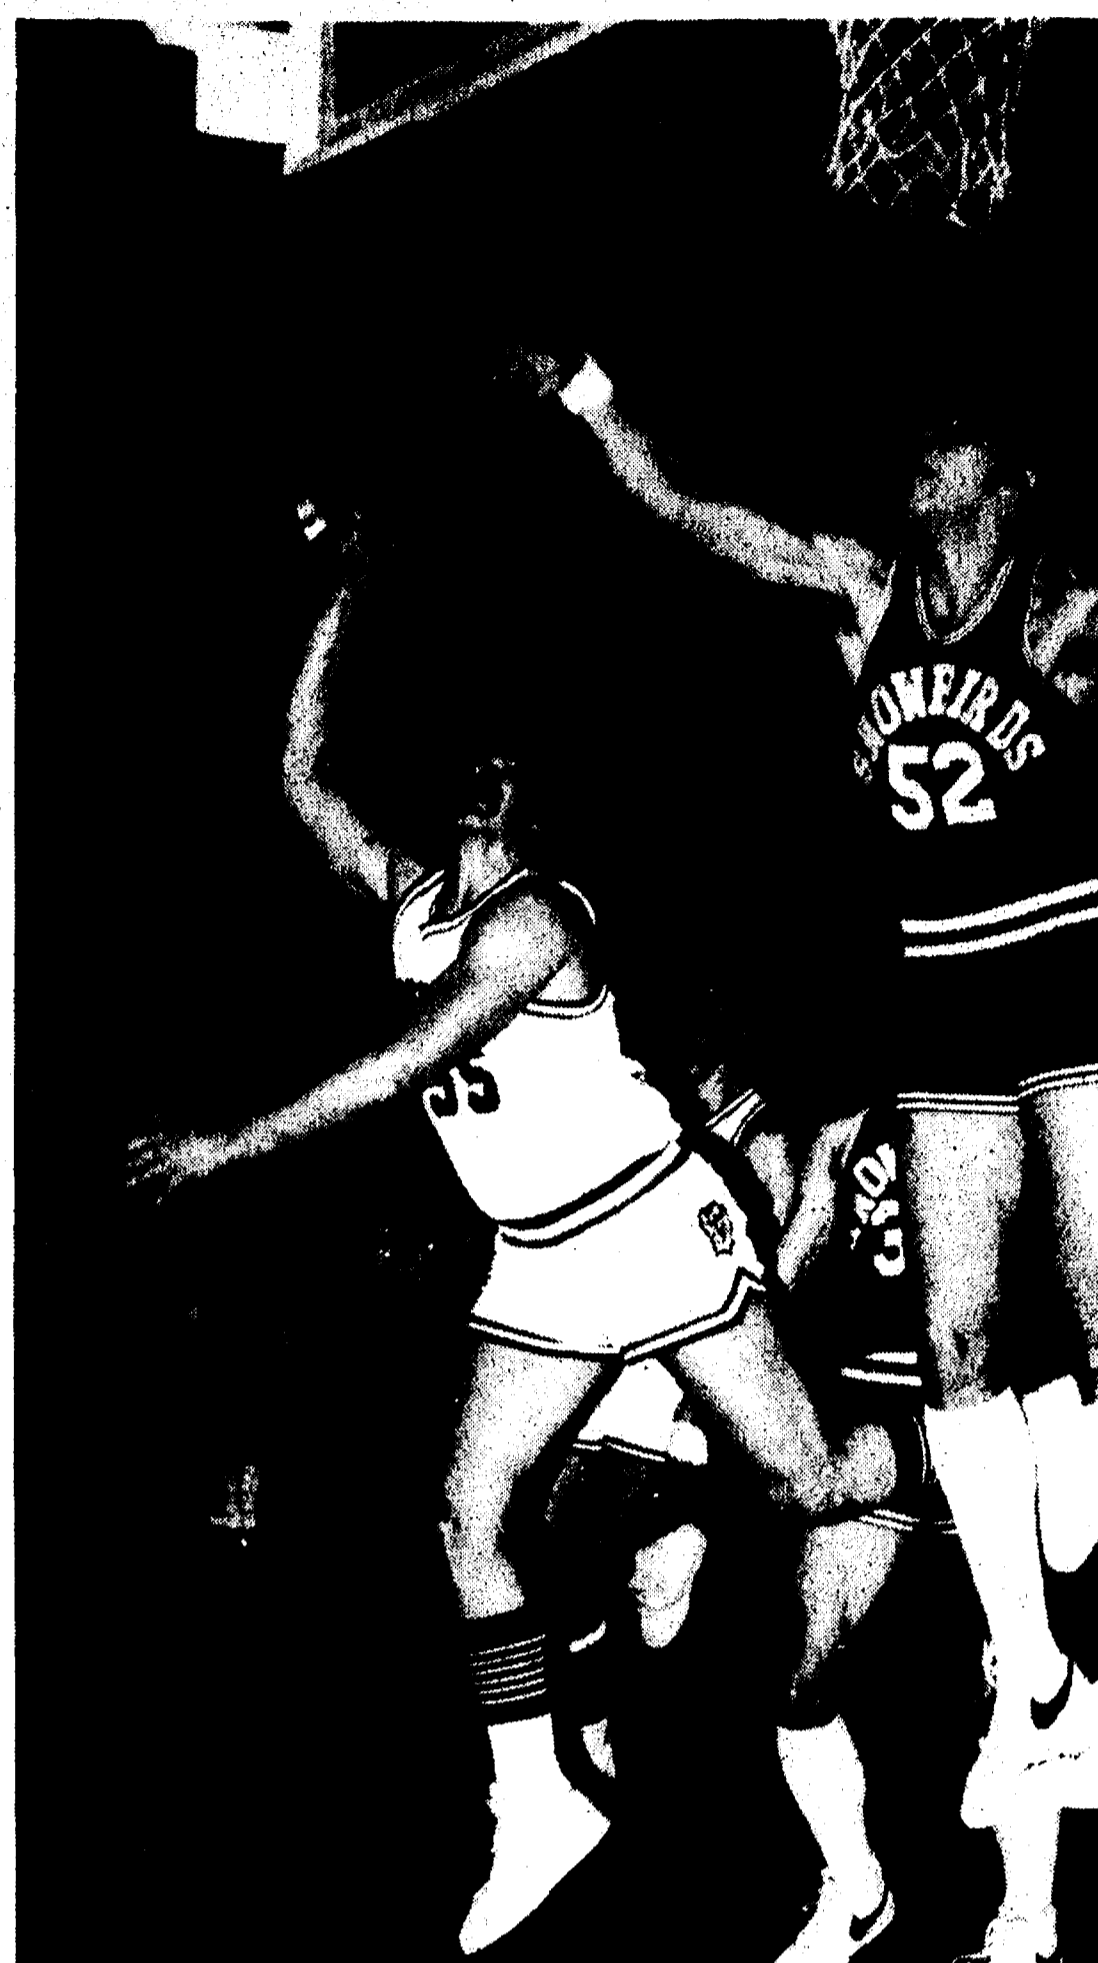

Greg Groboski scored 23 points for Payton's. John Skop scored 22, Jim Kondrat 20, Tim Crego 17 and Dan Sevenski 13. Stevens got 28 from Bob Nemecek, 27 from Bob Snyder and 10 each from Brian Bolser and Jim Baumann.

Sunday in Boyne City Stevens plays the BRI at 12:30 p.m., Schafer's plays Great Lakes at 1:45 p.m. and EJ Patterns plays Payton's at 3 p.m.

Wednesday, Feb. 6, Gold Nugget meets Country Star at 7:15 p.m. and Ski & Shore plays AFC at 8:30 p.m.

Junior forward Jerry Fuller found his way through the Gaylord St. Mary defense for this shot last Friday in the Devils' Ski Valley Conference win. The victory left the Devils in a three-way tie with Belleaire and Harbor Springs for first place in the conference with Gaylord St. Mary one game behind.

Loggers will win, sooner or later

BOYNE FALLS - The Loggers had lost 30 straight games over the last two seasons going into Tuesday's game with Alanson but Coach Joel Donaldson is sure his team's streak-breaking win is going to come this year.

"Everyone in the league is capable of beating everybody else," said Donaldson. "And I'd include us in that."

The Loggers will face Wolverine Friday, a team that Donaldson doesn't know what to think of.

"One minute they're beat by a last place club and the next they whip Johannesburg," Donaldson said.

"We'll have to stop (Brian) Vroman, he pretty much sets their pace," Donaldson said of Wolverine's high scoring sophomore.

"We're still trying to put together four quarters," Donaldson said after his team's 85-54 loss to Mackinaw City Friday. "We've beat some real good ballclubs by quarters this year."

The Loggers won the first quarter against Mackinaw City.

"We led the whole first quarter," Donaldson said. "We were down by 10 at the half and at one point in the third quarter we were only down by six."

"We're playing better basketball every game," Donaldson observed. "If the kids keep their heads in there we'll get a win."

Brian Bell was the top offensive performer, according to Donaldson, while Don Sevenski was credited with a good defensive game.

Larry Jarema

Larry Jarema, junior guard on Boyne City's basketball team, is the Rambler Athlete of the Week. The 5-8, 150 pounder has been among the leading scorers in the league this season while pacing the Ramblers. Jarema has hit 19, 32, 12, 16 and 15 points in the Ramblers' last five games. "He's been opening up and playing some sensational basketball—offensively and defensively," said Boyne City Coach Russ Harvey.

Devils in three-way tie

EAST JORDAN - The Red Devil basketball team moved into a three-way tie for first place in the Ski Valley Conference with a 76-64 win against Gaylord St. Mary Friday. League games at Mancelona Friday and at home with Central Lake Tuesday will give the Devils a slight breather before facing Harbor Springs Friday, Feb. 8.

Junior Jerry Fuller led the Devils' scoring for the second game in a row, with 20 points Friday. Center Duane Carpenter scored 19 points, grabbed 14 rebounds and "did a super job defensively," according to Coach Steve VanderHyde against Gaylord's 6-10 center Kurt David.

Also scoring in double figures for East Jordan were Duane Cutler with 14 points, Tim Vermillion with 10 points off the bench, and Brent Sweet with 10 points and 11 rebounds in a substitute's role.

East Jordan trailed after a quarter 13-10 in Friday's game. They outscored the host Snowbirds 19-8 in the second quarter and then stretched the lead to 21, 54-33, at the end of three periods.

The key in the third quarter was hustle," explained VanderHyde. "Vermillion's hustle sparked us. We played nine boys and they played six. We wore them down."

Mancelona is a one-man show with

Mike Knudstrup averaging just over 21 points a game, according to VanderHyde.

The Devils' coach doesn't plan on concentrating his defense exclusively on Knudstrup though.

"Vermillion did a nice job on him the first time we played," VanderHyde said.

Tuesday's foe, Central Lake, pulled what VanderHyde described as "the biggest upset of the season" in beating Bellaire last Tuesday for their first league win of the year.

East Jordan's junior varsity team brought its record up to 5-6 Friday with a 66-33 win over St. Mary.

Wrestlers win second dual; Getting ready for league meet

BOYNE CITY - The Rambler wrestling team won its second match of the season Thursday, a 38-25 victory over Michigan-Huron Shores Conference foe Charlevoix. Home and away matches with Onaway, an away meet at Elk Rapids and the Petoskey Invitational this week are the last tests before Boyne City competes in the league meet Feb. 9.

Three forfeits, two pins and two matches won by decisions provided the Ramblers with their points in the win over Charlevoix. Mike Ellis at 98 pounds, Jim Raber at 105 pounds, and Roger Korhase at 198 pounds won by forfeit.

Chris Fair, wrestling at 126 pounds, pinned his opponent in 21 seconds, the quickest pin of the season to date for a Rambler, and Racil Mapes recorded a pin in the 132 pound class in one minute, 22 seconds.

Robbie Seamon won a 17-12 decision in the 112 pound class while Alan Alama won a decision in the 185 pound class.

Ken Krusel tied his opponent in the 167 pound class.

Boyne was slated to wrestle at Onaway Wednesday, Jan. 30, in Petoskey at the Petoskey Invitational Saturday, Feb. 2, with Onaway at home Monday, Feb. 4, and at Elk Rapids Tuesday, Feb. 5.

Experience the Experience

Glenn's Save-Share

Glenn's wants everyone in East Jordan to know about Save-Share and hopes more groups will use it to raise funds.

All a group has to do is register with the Store Manager and begin saving the green cash register tapes. Glenn's will pay 1 percent of the total qualified amount of all tapes brought in by any registered group; and not just once, but each time a group brings in $25.00 worth of slips or more.

Pictured at left is Albert Legato for the St. John's Catholic Church receiving a check in the amount of $91.23.

This is one example of a non-profit group making use of the Save-Share Program to help raise funds. There are many more groups using it too, and there will be a picture of one each week in this paper.
