Charlevoix County Sheriff Deputy Dale Boehm worked a fairly quiet midnight shift Saturday and took along Press reporter Dianne Murray for a first hand look at a police officer's duties.

Our Police They don't do it for the pay or the hours

BY DIANNE MURRAY

"Most police officers are police officers because they want to serve the public. They don't do it for the high pay or great hours. Who likes to stay up two nights out of the week working a midnight shift?"

That's how Boyne City Police Chief John Talboys answered our question: "Why would anyone want to be a police officer?"

A police officer is a public servant who likes to do things which are appreciated and recognized by the public, Talboys continued. "Nothing depresses an officer more than to have a crime committed during his shift."

Joe Hammond, who has been East Jordan's police chief for 25 years, has probably been in police work longer than any other working cop in the county.

"If I didn't like it, I wouldn't have stayed in it for 25 years," Hammond said. "The thing I like most is that you're dealing with people. I'm not the kind of guy who could work in a factory."

"This job is never monotonous or boring. Every five minutes something happens. Every day is different."

Many officers say they became policemen because they wanted to serve the public. Some like Wally Binder of the Charlevoix City Police, knew "long, long ago" that he wanted to be police officer. And more importantly, Charlevoix police officers chose a smaller county to serve because there's less specialization in the departments, a less formal atmosphere and less worry about crime.

"When you go into larger departments, you see and feel a more formal atmosphere," said Binder, who at 23 is the youngest member of the Charlevoix Police Department. "The chain of command is much larger in the more populated counties and I think it's more conducive to learning when there's a smaller department. That's because there's no specialization and you learn everything about the department you work for."

POLICE EDUCATION

"What the 'old timers' say about chucking your college education once you start a force is true—to a point," said Binder, a 1978 criminal justice graduate of Lake Superior State College.

There's no substitute for on-the-job experience, but many of the situations related in a textbook come alive once in the department, he said, and it's nice to have that background.

Each department is run differently according to the way the chief feels is correct for his department and those things can't be taught in a text, Binder said.

County Sheriff George Lasater thinks the officer who has attended four years of college has some advantages on an officer who has only attended academy school.

"College gives an officer the advantage of age and maturity, but some of the best officers in this county have only a high school diploma," Lasater said.

According to Michigan law, to become a police officer a person must be 21 years old, pass a physical and psychological test, have a high school diploma or the equivalent and be certified.

There are 14 academies in the state which officers can attend to receive certification. Training for city police officers and sheriff's deputies is the same. To become a state police officer, the training and qualifications are different.

In-service training is probably one of the most important tasks in keeping a well-trained, up to date police force.

The 12 Charlevoix County sheriff deputies received a total of 1,160 hours of training last year, according to Lasater.

Some of the programs included defense tactics, firearms training, jail administration and hostage negotiation.

Some of the in-service programs attended by Charlevoix, East Jordan and Boyne City police include law courses, investigative techniques, and interrogation and interviewing techniques, breathalyzer instruction, evidence gathering and self-defense.

East Jordan's Hammond says that "The education and qualifications of officers is definitely the biggest change I've seen since I've become involved in police work."

"When I was hired in 1955, the city council could just pick anybody off the street and hire them to be a police chief or police officer," Hammond said. "Now you can't put a man to work unless they have gone to a state certified academy."

SERVICES PROVIDED

The services provided by the county law enforcement agencies span from humorous to dangerous.

"We assist many, many, many embarrassed people who are forever locking their keys in the car's ignition," Assistant Chief Bob Tripp of the Charlevoix City Police said.

The police have a metal bar which is very useful in unlocking doors and Tripp said sometimes the station may receive five or six calls a day from people who have locked their keys in their car.

The Charlevoix City Police Department has a foot patrol of the downtown business area. Tripp said the officers check each business door to make sure it is locked at night and also walk along the boat docks to check the situation along the water.

"For example, an officer may see that during the day a boat is occupied by older folks, but if during the night he sees a bunch of younger kids aboard, he may question those aboard."

Dog complaints, lost children and issuing traffic violations are among other services provided by the city police departments.

Forty percent of sheriff deputies' time is spent on law enforcement, jail maintenance and operation and court services.

Police cost: $42 per person

Charlevoix County's three city police departments and county sheriff's department spend a total of about $816,000 a year to provide law enforcement services.

That comes to about $41.85 per person for the county's 19,500 residents.

The sheriff's total budget for the 1979-80 fiscal year is $396,742, including the budgets of the marine, jail, snowmobile and animal control departments.

At the sheriff's department, the personnel include 11½ deputies, the sheriff, under-sheriff and office and jail staff. There are five marked patrol cars, two boats, two snowmobiles and one airplane. The airplane is usually kept on Beaver Island to transport injured people off the island in a hurry, but it can be called back to the mainland.

Top salary for a deputy is $14,700. The sheriff's salary is $18,576 and the under-sheriff's salary is $16,869.

The Charlevoix City Police Department personnel include Chief Jack Mol, Assistant Chief Tripp and four patrolmen. It's complete budget for 1979-80 is approximately $155,000. Charlevoix has two marked patrol cars.

The Boyne City Police Department has five full-time and two part-time officers in addition to Chief Talboys. The city police department budget for 1979-80 fiscal year was $174,000. The figure includes salaries, maintenance, supplies and the cost of running the radar dispatch system.

East Jordan's police budget for the current year is $90,545. The department includes Chief Hammond and three paid officers. Two reserve officers also ride with patrolmen on weekends. The department has two cars, but one is used only for back-up.

Smiths to give 3 options

New Front St. condo plan

BOYNE CITY - Rick and Dave Smith will unveil new plans for a condominium development between Front Street and Lake Charlevoix Monday.

Actually, the Smiths will present three alternative plans to the city planning commission when it meets at 5 p.m. Monday at City Hall.

The developers said they did not want to disclose details of the three plans before the meeting. They did say they hoped to build about 100 condominium units, a marina and a beach on about 13 acres of land between the street and the beach.

The Smiths will also unveil plans for the development of 48 acres between Front and Division Streets which they have an option on. The Smiths did not say what type of development may occur there.

They would not comment when asked if any of the three plans involved relocating Front Street further away from the lakeshore.

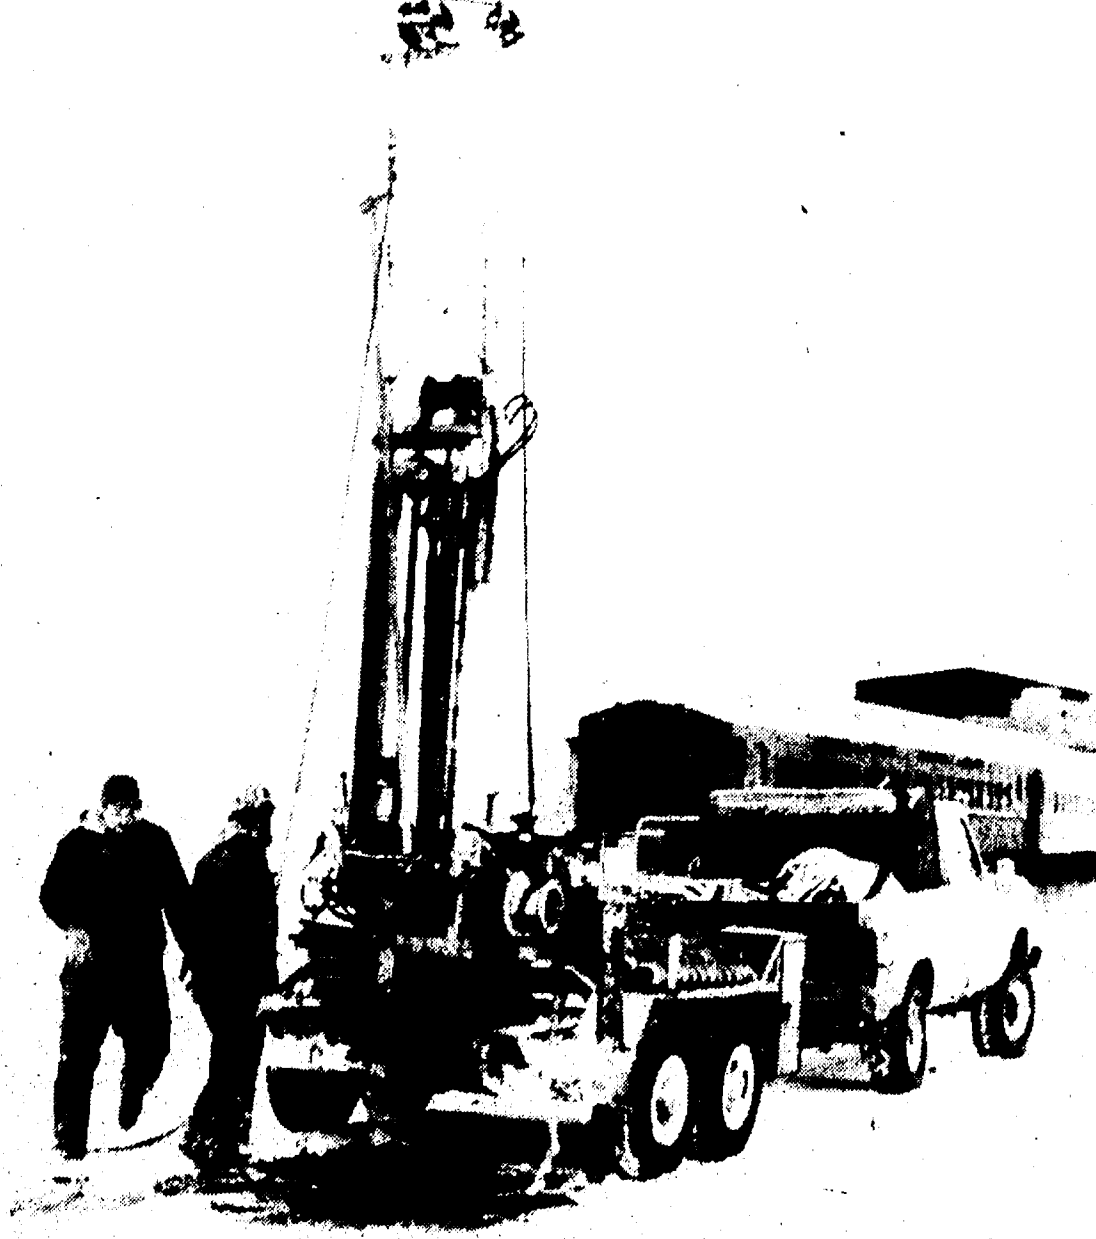

The Smiths had proposed in 1978 that Front Street be closed to allow them to build a 270-unit condominium development on 61 acres of land. But after more than a year of controversy, the issue was put to a vote of the people and the street closing was denied by a 698-394 vote on Aug. 7, 1979.

The planning commission is expected to review the preliminary site plans until its next meeting on April 21. At that time the planning commission may recommend approval, denial or changes in the preliminary site plans.

The Smiths must then submit a final plat of the site which must comply with the city condominium ordinance and the city zoning ordinance. Such things as right-of-way, water and sewage plans and setback requirements must be shown on the plat, City Manager Tim Clifton said.

The final plat will again be submitted to the planning commission for approval. If the planning commission approves the plan, it goes before the city commission for approval. Clifton said he plans to employ Johnson, Johnson and Roy, the planning firm doing the city comprehensive plan to review the plans.

Final approval of the site plan would probably not come before June.

Soil borings to determine how solid the soil is on both the Tannery and Railroad property were completed last week by a firm from Flint. The developers of the former Tannery property will be bringing site plans before the Boyne City Planning Commission within a month.

No mill increase in proposed budget

BOYNE CITY-New programs will be funded and on-going programs will continue to receive funding, although there will be no increase in millage, according to the proposed 1980-81 fiscal year budget submitted to the Boyne City Commission Tuesday night.

As presented, the total budget of $1,636,944 is 6.7 percent higher than last year's budget of $1,533,600. Although there is no increase in the budget's proposed millage of 19.1 mills, property assessments in the city went up eight percent over all.

Assessments are based on 50 percent of the true cash value of a home, business or property. But, City Manager Tim Clifton said, the eight percent increase does not nearly match the rate of inflation.

The city is faced with the dilemma of taxpayers wanting tax reductions while at the same time requesting additional services, Clifton said. The budget reflects just that, he said. "In the budget I've tried to keep taxes low while still being able to implement new programs."

The percentage increase of the cost of living or Consumer Price Index for 1979-80 both exceeded 11 percent, or almost doubled the proposed budget increase, he said. "Also in the same period, the national inflation figure was 13 percent and in Michigan inflation approached 14 percent," Clifton pointed out.

The 162-page document which Clifton has been working on since early December has five major programs which will be funded.

Some of the highlights of new or on-going programs include: implementation of the comprehensive plan, energy conservation, water and sewer fund self-sufficiency, the capital improvement program and funding to make the city storage yard along the Boyne River a riverfront park.

To implement some of the land use recommendations suggested in the comprehensive plan, Clifton has recommended that the budget funds be set aside to retain the planning firm of Johnson, Johnson and Roy on a consulting basis. [Continued on page 2]

Police like dealing with, serving the public

provide road patrol service for rural areas.

Jail operation and maintenance includes providing space, housing, medical care, food and clothing for those housed in the eight-cell jail (the only jail in the county) and making sure the prisoners do not escape, Lasater said.

The sheriff's department must have an officer in court whenever court is in session to protect the judge and jury and to aid in transferring prisoners. Sheriff's deputies also issue subpoenas.

The remaining 60 percent of the sheriff department's time is spent providing more direct services to the public such as speaking engagements, security checks on homes and businesses, vehicle inspection and bicycle safety programs, Lasater said.

Police officers agree that the most common crime in the county is larceny, or simple theft. The prime target for larceny and breaking and entering is the second-home owner. Lasater said this is one of the reasons so much of an officer's duty time is spent patrolling in areas where homes have been left unoccupied for a season.

"Larceny is definitely the biggest crime in this area both in terms of number and cash taken," Boyne City Chief Talboys said. "Breaking and enterings generally produce a bigger yield (cash dollar wise), but they don't occur as often," he said.

Local crime is less this year than last and Talboys accredited the "economy" and improved investigative techniques for the decrease.

Within four years, the number of complaints have quadrupled to 4,000 calls last year at the sheriff's department.

This doesn't necessarily mean that the level of crime has increased that much, but that more people are reporting crime, Lasater said. Sheriff sub-stations in East Jordan and Boyne Falls have resulted in more people seeking the sheriff's assistance, he said.

Much of the increase in crime is due to the tourist population, Lasater said.

"Ninety-five percent of the tourists in Charlevoix County are law abiding citizens, but the other five percent will come up and do things in our county which they would not do in their home county for some reason," Lasater said. A high percentage of the traffic accidents are caused by tourists who are unfamiliar with the county roads, he said. But even at the county level, larceny is the heaviest crime. "Larceny and related crimes take up most of our police activity," Lasater said. "Activity" is defined as anytime the phone rings and a police officer must be dispatched, for whatever the reason may be.

The crime level in the city of Charlevoix fluctuates depending on how many people are in town, Assistant Chief Tripp said. During the Venetian Festival weekend when the city population may jump from 4,500 to over 6,000, crime increases.

Each department agreed that Friday and Saturday nights are the "busiest" nights.

"It reverts back to the people who are out later in the evening," Tripp said. "But it's not only because of the weekend bar crowds but also because Friday is payday, there are more late-night shoppers generally on weekend nights and banking hours are later (on Friday night)."

East Jordan sub-station deputy Dale Boehm feels that the crime activity depends heavily on the state of the economy. He attributed a higher than usual crime level in the East Jordan area to the fact that over 300 people who live in the area are unemployed.

Tight budget proposed

To pay for the retaining fees of the firm, Clifton suggested using funds previously used to pay for the city taxi service. The Dial-A-Ride transit system for Charlevoix County is expected to be in operation later in the year, eliminating the need for a city taxi service, he said.

In response to the escalating utility costs, the city garage and the public library will undergo energy conservation measures including such things as storm windows or more major methods of conservation.

Improvements including up-dating water meters will be made in the water/sewer departments to increase its efficiency.

The department is currently operating at a large deficit.

The capital improvement program for streets, sidewalks and water and sewer pipes will receive additional funding, Clifton noted in the budget.

Included in the proposed budget funding is relocation of the city storage yard to make room for a riverfront park. The storage yard, which stores salt and sand, would be relocated to the county gravel pit on Charlevoix Street.

The public is invited to attend any of the eight budget review sessions scheduled to begin Monday. The budget will receive final approval at a public hearing April 8 and will take effect May 1.

WHAT ARE THE RULES FOR FUNERAL TRAFFIC?

Traffic rules governing funeral processions differ sometimes from those governing other traffic. These tips may help if you are in a funeral procession (or to be remembered if you encounter one):

1. Use the orange funeral flag we provide.
2. Keep your bright headlights on. It identifies your vehicle as part of the procession.
3. If the procession is crossing an intersection while the traffic light changes to red, continue through. Do not stop. The funeral procession has the right-of-way. The lead car, of course, will stop and obey all posted signals.
4. A policeman, if available, may direct funeral traffic through busy intersections. We, as funeral directors, appreciate the escort service which our police department provides. The mourners consider this civic safety service both thoughtful and welcome.
5. If you are NOT part of the procession, remember it has right-of-way. Do not cross it or join it.

But it wasn't hard to take Olympian in the family

BY DIANNE MURRAY

BOYNE CITY - For Dee and Betty Adgate, raising an Olympic skier wasn't difficult. Maybe owning Thunder Mountain, near Boyne Falls for a number of years helped.

Or possibly even more important than that was their son Cary's natural talent as a skier which made it easy for the Adgates, both financially and psychologically.

But most of all Dee Adgate attributes his 26-year old son's success to hard work.

"He (Cary) is extremely competitive and dedicated," Adgate said. "Did we push Cary into skiing? No way, we're not in that school. He skied because he loved it from the first time he ever won a trophy," said Mrs. Adgate sitting on the couch in their home on Hill Street in Boyne City.

A bust of Cary, the first sculpture work she did, is placed nearby and a picture of him is behind her on a shelf. The bust of Cary is not an exact duplicate, she notes, because his hair is shorter. "But being his mother I decided I could sculpt his hair the way I want it to be, rather than the way it really is," she said.

Betty notes that she saw too many parents pushing their children into racing. It doesn't do any good to put pressure on your child to do good in a race, she said. "We are happy with Cary's race results only if he is happy." Watching their son race in giant slalom events at the Olympics in Lake Placid, New York, was not a first-time experience for the Adgates. They had seen Cary race four years ago in the 1976 Olympics in Innsbruck, Austria.

Watching Cary race is "something we had done a few times before," Mrs. Adgate said, but it is still exciting. Comparatively, watching their son ski at Lake Placid instead of at a World Cup race, Mrs. Adgate said she felt a lot more pressure. "I was nervous because I knew that he was being watched by so many people."

Adgate added he didn't feel as nervous watching his son race in the Olympics the second time around. "Watching him ski at Innsbruck was different, because it was so new—it was the first time for him and he was a little more nervous too," he said.

Cary placed 23rd after his first Olympic run Feb. 18. "I think he didn't like his first run placing and so the second run (Feb. 19) he decided to go for broke. But he made a mistake and missed a gate about halfway down the hill and he was out," Adgate said.

"My heart fell when he missed the gate, but I knew that he was going to have to accept what he had done and he knew we would be behind him the whole day," Mrs. Adgate said.

Cary Adgate

Luckily, the Adgates did not feel any great financial burden in raising a son to travel world-wide for ski events.

"I think what helped, and we are fortunate for it, was formerly being in the ski business," Adgate said. The Adgates sold Thunder Mountain to Everett Kircher in 1967, so "getting ski lift tickets to Boyne Country ski resorts was not that much of a problem." But, finding some place to set up flags for Cary to practice racing was a little more difficult, he said.

By the time Cary was in eleventh grade, he was getting most of his equipment from sponsors, free of charge, he said.

"The most financial trouble we had was just before Cary was accepted on the (United States Ski) team," Mrs. Adgate said. The United States Education Foundation is a voluntary foundation which solicits funds to pay for the administrative staff's salary and all the overhead to keep the ski team traveling on the road.

Cary had to participate in several out-of-state ski races to qualify for the team and the travel cost was a burden, Mrs. Adgate said. "But it wasn't all that bad because Cary stayed in people's homes by where the ski race was held several times. We even had kids from the ski team staying with us in 1971 and '72 when they were racing at Boyne Mountain," she said.

It's ironic when you look at the high percentage of members of the ski team who are somehow along the line related to the ski industry, Adgate said, pointing out that Cindy Nelson and Pete Patterson, two members of the ski team are closely involved in the ski industry through family ties. Adgate's daughter Suzie works as a representative for a ski sales company.

By the end of the Olympics, Cary had accumulated almost five bags full of clothes and other accessories from sponsors—all free, Adgate said.

The Adgates did not have problems getting transportation to any Olympic events they saw. Some of the events they attended were the 90-meter ski jump, the women's free style skating program, the men's giant slalom and the women's giant slalom.

One of Mrs. Adgate's most memorable experiences of the Olympics was the light show at the Awards Ceremony, the last night of the Olympics, she said. "It was kind of like being in the middle of the movie Star Wars with laser beam lights and firecrackers going at the same time. It was spectacular," she said.

Cary will be home soon from World Cup touring at Mt. Saint Anne in Canada and will stay until March 21. After that, he'll be off to Squaw Valley, Calif., for the U.S. National Championships where he placed first last year in giant slalom.

Petitions due April 7

Want to run for board?

Anyone interested in running for local school board seats this year must turn in petitions by April 7.

Three seats will be up for election on the East Jordan and Boyne City Boards of Education, and two seats will be open on the boards in Charlevoix and Boyne Falls.

Those interested in running for the school board should contact the superintendent's office in the school district for petition forms and filing instructions. In most districts, about 20 signatures are required to put a candidate's name on the ballot for the June 9 election.

School millage proposals will also be on the ballot in all districts, although the specifics for those proposals have not been decided yet.

In Boyne City, the four-year terms of Willard Chipman, the board president, and Mark Behling are expiring. Both plan to run again. A one-year term now held by Betty Johncheck will also be filled.

She hasn't decided whether she will run again.

The East Jordan School Board seats of Leon Bartlett, Dick Noiro and Ed Drenth are up for election. Two four-year terms and a one-year term will be filled.

The terms of Roger Hausler and Ralph Towne are expiring in Boyne Falls.

In Charlevoix, the terms of Kenneth Boss and Clement Wagner are expiring. It is expected that both will run again for four-year terms.

EJ schools may need 4 more mills to operate next year

EAST JORDAN-The East Jordan School Board heard of a possible four mill increase in its 1980-81 budget at Tuesday night's meeting. School Superintendent Mel Rullman reviewed the situation, pointing out that for every added mill the school now loses $1.12 of state aid per pupil—reversing the state formula of previous years.

He indicated a possible cut in the teaching staff because of overall decrease in enrollment. Most of the decrease in enrollment will be in the elementary school.

Even an increase of two mills would produce a deficit, financial director Ruby Dipzinski said. "Revenues are not going up at the rate inflation is."

The millage increase might have to go over four mills, Rullman said.

Tenure was awarded to two teachers: Donna Tison of the Elementary school and Steve Vander Hyde of the Middle School.

The third year of probation was voted for Mike Distelrath, who teaches an emotional impaired program at the Middle School.

During the period allotted for comment, Tison said the board had erred in their decision on Distelrath. She said he was at work before school started and after hours and that the program was on probation, not Distelrath.

The board approved the senior English class trip to take in two plays at the Shakespeare Festival in Stratford, Ontario May 18-20. The students had earned most of their expenses for the trip.

The over-night trip recently taken by learning center students of the Elementary School to an outdoor environmental school near Mancelona was so successful, principal Don Peters said, that he is recommending the experience for the fourth grade students also.

Spring parent-teacher conferences will be April 9 and 10. The Elementary School afternoon conferences will be the same arrangement as last year. Middle School and High School will hold afternoon and evening conferences for parents.

Bold new ideas deserve attention

There has been plenty of public input so far into Boyne City's comprehensive plan. Planner Kim Woodrow listens to a question at last week's workshop.

Something like a city master plan comes along only once every 10 or 20 years, and when it does it deserves the careful attention and input of its city residents.

Boyne City's master plan is in the final stages of assembly right now. The last in a series of three workshops was held last week, and the city's professional planners unveiled specific land use proposals that will chart the next 20 years' growth in the city.

This is no cut-and-dried, ho-hum master plan. A bold new course is being proposed for the city. There is plenty of food for thought—so much, in fact, that it is almost overwhelming.

That in itself will make the master plan controversial. The easy, non-controversial thing to do would be to sit back and say "When growth comes, we will deal with it."

But Boyne City will not, cannot, end up with a well-planned community that way. If we are to prevent hodge-podge development, we must take the offensive and say "If growth comes, this is how we think our town's undeveloped land could be put to its best possible use. And we could do other things to make better use of what we already have."

As we said, this is bound to be controversial. The master plan, by definition, is compressing 10 or 20 years' worth of controversial decisions into a few months: Should we tear up the airport runway and open an industrial park? Should we allow condominiums, a marina, a restaurant and shops to be built along our lakefront? Should we have another mobile home park? Should we spend more money to develop our parks? Should we expand the business district?

All of these questions have been raised and addressed by the preliminary draft of the Boyne City master plan.

Some people will be turned off by all this talk of growth. "The town hasn't grown much in the last 20 years, so what makes you think it's going to input. There have already been three public workshops on the master plan, discussing such points as why it is needed and what people would like their community to become in 20 years.

The professional master planners, representing the firm of Johnson, Johnson and Roy, have had numerous meetings with an advisory committee to further determine the direction the final plan should take. The advisory committee includes the city manager and representatives of the city commission and planning commission.

The master plan should be ready for consideration by the planning commission and city commission in May. There will be another public hearing at that time, subsequent discussion of the plan will be conducted at open meetings. The final plan will be adopted by our locally elected officials with any changes they deem necessary.

Certainly, the next few months of hammering out a final plan will be interesting. The planners and city officials have made a sincere effort to be open in the discussion process so far, and we hope the citizenry responds by taking an interest in planning their own future. Read the papers, attend a meeting or two, discuss it over coffee at the restaurant, speak out or write a letter to the editor if you feel strongly... but by all means, get involved.

There won't be another opportunity like this for years.

Editorial

grow now?" they ask. And they may be right, although there has been considerable interest in development during the past two years. Even if only a small part of the undeveloped land in the city is developed in the next 20 years, the master plan will have been worthwhile. And it can always be updated as time goes on.

It is too early for us to offer our assessment of the dozens of recommendations in the master plan. It hasn't even been put in writing yet. But we like what we've seen so far, if for no other reason than the plan is ambitious. It challenges us to think about the future by presenting numerous ideas. No one can say there's nothing there to inspire them.

We are also happy to see that great pains have been taken to get public

Sorting out the confusion over Teddy Carter, Jimmy Kennedy

Everyone seems to be discussing Teddy Carter and Jimmy Kennedy and I haven't found anyone who knows what he's talking about. The confusion is so widespread I sometimes get mixed up myself.

Among those claiming to know something about the national primary elections are the poll takers. Don't believe them. Even though they have all manner of secret information with which to fiddle.

How do they get it? By going straight to the horses' mouths, asking assorted people what's in their heads, if anything.

(Just because Mr. Gallup hasn't called Boyne City residents, it doesn't mean that we are not horses' mouths or assorted people. The bank got me out of bed the other morning to ask if I would bring down a little something to plug up that overdraft. I was never so assorted in my life.)

Get back to poll takers. Okay I will.

I don't know why they feel there is no political barometer as reliable as a handful of disgruntled people choking on a dollar loaf of bread.

But they do. And quite often they are fooled. One drawback is the liars, a strange breed of people who came over on the Mayflower. An otherwise truthful man will often lie about his political beliefs. And he can do it with the same sober reflection the government used when it funded a program to study the sex life of a flea.

Polls showing President Carter whipping a Camelot rump are not necessarily the result of false truths. It's just that some people who were called were more worried about those socks that didn't come back in the wash.

And take the women. A busy housewife hasn't time to stop and wonder if she likes Teddy over Jimmy. Especially with the meat burning and her husband due home any minute.

I've gone all around Robin Hood's outhouse to show that national polls are not always accurate. The results are often nothing more than ignorant opinions on the foolishness of the day.

Come the national election, we are going to discover that thousands of people never really thought the things everyone think they thought.

I know, I'm one of the thinkers myself.

Letters to the editor Supt. tackled tough job; Let's get off his back

Editor,
Maybe it is high time that someone from "out of town" puts in a few words regarding the ridiculous controversy that three or four people have stirred up for reasons unknown.

For some reason they seem to "have it in" for Herman Rasch. May I state that I never knew Herman existed until he came to East Jordan. And I have only talked to him three or four times.

First off he was hired with the understanding that he might occasionally do "outside" consulting engineering, as long as it did not interfere with his job as city superintendent. I have not heard one word as to his neglecting his job. He helped with the Family Health Center without pay. Would you have preferred to let the contractors go it on their own?

Seems to me that notices asking for bids on the old Community Building were published in The Charlevoix County Press and as with all such notices there was the usual appendage, "The council retains the right to reject any or all bids." Right? They rejected all of them.

Herman said he thought he could get it done for the amount allotted. Council told him to go ahead. I have not seen any mention that "he notify council of everything he did or everyone he hired!"

The minutes quoted in The Charlevoix County Press read "Herman Rasch was given blanket power to do the job if he could" or at least words to that effect. Surely it wasn't necessary for him to give a minute account of what was done and by whom since the last council meeting.

I'll bet that if, instead of it being his nephew it was a nephew of the ones complaining, they'd never have said a word. Anyway what the heck's the difference who does the work? If anyone had a reason to bitch it would be the guys who bid and lost. I haven't heard a word of complaint from them. Right?

In the 30 years I have lived here I've known of several attempts to do something with that building and all failed.

Now comes a man who is doing the job and he's getting a hard time. Seems to me that a few are trying to make East Jordan look like the "Jackass Town" of northern Michigan, and it makes me mad.

Herman has given East Jordan more results for each dollar expended than they've ever had. The town has never looked better than since he took over.

We'd better thank our lucky stars that Herman wants to live in the north country. His qualifications could get him a job paying double what he gets here. Also thank heavens he is aware that the town and most of its residents are behind him.

I'm afraid that if I were in his shoes I'd be tempted to take a line from that country-western song and tell 'em to "take this job and shove it!"

If anyone is to blame it would have to be the city council. And frankly I don't see a thing wrong with what they did. They went through proper channels first.

Let's give credit to someone who wasn't afraid to tackle a job that others had failed at.

Let's get off Herman's back and let the man get things done!

A quiet night on patrol

In some ways I was disappointed with my ride with a sheriff's deputy Saturday night. In another way I was grateful that all was quiet on the county front figuring that our officers are doing such a fine job that no one wants to commit a crime for fear of getting caught.

I figured that I'd take a four-hour drive with Deputy Dale Boehm. It seemed like a fair amount of time to talk, listen, watch and get a feeling of the county police force.

Well, when my "shift" was over at 10 p.m., I felt I was just getting the hang of what was going on. The red light flashing across the scanner, all the voices on the radio and having a rifle pressed against the back of my legs as I sat in the front seat just started to become familiar to me. So I stayed on another three hours until 1:10 a.m. and then went "10-42" off duty.

I think one of the aspects of policing

which surprised and pleased me most was Deputy Boehm's memory. "Charlie-apple-house, one-eight-three," he would call over the radio to the dispatcher in Charlevoix at the sheriff's station for a license check. So I tried to memorize car license plate numbers as we drove by them on the road—a disastrous attempt.

I have a little fantasy of seeing a stranger on the street and thinking that two minutes after he has walked past me, a police officer is going to come up and ask me to give a description of the stranger, without ever seeing him again, because he committed some crime. That's when I must wake up from my dream because I'm not sure if I could always describe him correctly.

Just listening to the code letters (the sheriff's department uses the Code 10 system)—"10-20—location check," or "10-23—arrived at scene," "10-42—off duty," or "10-41—on duty" or "A-T-L—attempt to locate," seemed Greek to me.

Courage is another qualification which an officer must have. I was apprehensive about following the officer to the door of a home to check on its occupants. I don't know if I've watched too many television cop shows, but I could only imagine a madman flying out of the house with a long-time grudge against police. My heart would start beating rapidly only to find that no one would be home. (Whew!)

It was also encouraging to see that Deputy Boehm is well-educated. An officer has to be half lawyer to understand Michigan's laws. And to enforce them correctly one has to be a judge on top of it all.

An officer has to keep up his public image.

An on-duty police officer will never get a bite to eat at a restaurant which serves liquor. "An officer may be misinterpreted as going in there to drink or he may intimidate some of the people there, and no one wants to intimidate someone who has been drinking," I was told. (We ate at Taco Pad in Boyne Falls—the only restaurant which doesn't serve liquor and is open late at night.)

So even though I wasn't a witness to our police officers saving a life or catching a criminal Saturday night, more importantly I witnessed what goes on in the life of a police officer.

Old friend asks about Dr. Fairchild

Editor,
I take the Charlevoix County Press because I was born in East Jordan and graduated from high school there. My dad had a barbershop there for over 50 years.

A good friend of mine was Dr. Jim Fairchild, but I never see his name in the paper and I wonder if he still lives in Boyne.

I'm 77 years old and have been married for 57 years to Helen Stroebel. Her dad owned a hardware store. I could tell George Secord a lot about the early days in East Jordan and about the people involved.

I believe you produce a good paper. G.H. Phillips

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Fairchild is still living in Boyne City. He retired from his dentistry practice a few years ago, but he still sees a few patients in his home at 829 E. Main St.

Does anyone remember a coach named Talcott?

Editor,
I would like your help, if possible, in getting some information on a much respected teacher and football coach, who had the same position in Boyne City before I knew him.

His name was Talcott, but I've forgotten his first name. In 1918, he coached our football team in Riverside, Ill., to the first winning season the school ever had. I believe he had similar success previously in Boyne City, winning some regional or state championships.

Unfortunately, he left us at season's end for a better position—destination unknown or not recalled.

Can you tell me anything from old records about his career and give me a first name? Was his school the University of Michigan? Perhaps some old-timers might remember him, or the high school has some information. They would have to be like me, about 80 years young. Any help you can give me will be most appreciated.

EDITOR'S NOTE: How about it? Can anyone provide Mr. Shand with some information about Mr. Talcott? The Press would like to know, also.

In a front page story in the Feb. 28 issue of The Press, a local resident who resigned from the East Jordan Family Health Center Board of Directors was incorrectly identified. The resigning board member was Karen Vincent, not Karen Bennett. The Press regrets the error.

No fluoride program for BC this summer

BOYNE CITY - There will not be a topical fluoride clinic in Boyne City this summer.

A fluoride mouth rinse program was implemented in the Boyne City and East Jordan schools this year. "We are reaching a greater number of children and find it very satisfactory," said fluoride program chairperson, Gen Varnum.

"The school nurses supervise this mouth rinse program and we hope every family will participate," Mrs. Varnum said.

Parents who would like to have their children enrolled but find their money limited, are asked to call Mrs. Varnum at 582-7138 or the school nurse's office.

There will be a summer fluoride clinic in Petoskey this year and they will be glad to enroll anyone that would be interested. Families in the Boyne Falls area are especially encouraged to call. The chairperson will be Mrs. Jan Bryan, 347-5427.

"Thank you for your support these last 12 years that I have been chairperson," Mrs. Varnum said. "The dentists in this area and the school nurses have seen the improvement in dental health."

Leap year 'baby' celebrates birthday

A birthday party was held for Mrs. Muriel Derenzy, who was 84 years old on Feb. 29. In her 84 years of life, she actually had only 20 birthdays, since she was a leap year baby.

Her first birthday came when she was eight years old—because there was no leap year in the year 1900.

The party was held at the Legion Hall, with 97 guests present. All but 12 of the guests were relatives. They had a potluck dinner and a huge cake made by daughter-in-law Barbara Rebec.

JoAnn Baker, who teaches Aerobic Dance in East Jordan and Boyne City, traveled to Allendale High School to train for the next dance session. She stayed at the Holiday Inn at Spring Lake with three other dance instructors from northern Michigan. There were 50 other women participating.

The East Jordan Adult Education class held a bake sale at Northwestern State Bank last Friday. The money will go towards their graduation ceremony this June.

The East Jordan sixth grade class put on a Mexican fiesta last Friday and invited parents to join in on the fun. First, a lunch was served, including tacos, refried beans, enchiladas, cole slaw and punch. The Mexican food was prepared by the Country House. Glen's slips were saved by the students to pay for the meal.

After lunch, the students put on a delightful program with some of them dressed in ponchos and somberos.

Girl Scout Week marked with special events

BOYNE CITY - The Boyne Area Girl Scouts are celebrating Girl Scout Week this week with several events.

The Crooked Tree Girl Scouts and troop leaders are honoring the 68th anniversary of Girl Scouting in the United States. Girl Scouts include young ladies from first through sixth grade.

The 120 scouts from Boyne City and Boyne Falls will host a father-daughter potluck dinner Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. at the Boyne City Elementary School cafeteria. Each girl is invited to bring her father or a "substitute father." She will also bring a dish to pass.

The nine troops in the Boyne area are making table centerpieces, place mats and name tags for the occasion. Included in the program is round-dancing with Pam Pynnenon leading the dancing.

Girl Scout Sunday this year was held at the Presbyterian Church. Each year the scouts go to a different church denomination and attend the service.

Afterwards a "thank-you" coffee hour was held in the basement for the congregation. Coffee, punch and cookies were served by Girl Scouts.

Susan and Daniel Schumm

Vows exchanged at BC church

Susan K. Anderson and Daniel D. Schumm exchanged wedding vows Feb. 23 at Christ Lutheran Church, Boyne City.

Pastor Douglas Janetzke officiated at the service for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Anderson, 601 Franklin Street, Boyne City and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Schumm of Pittsburgh, Pa.

The bride chose a gown of Chantilly lace fashioned with a cathedral train. Her high neckline was edged with ruffled lace, which also accented the long flamingo sleeves. Rows of lace ruffles topped her full skirt.

Martha Kowalske was maid of honor and Larry Eckart served as best man. The couples' brothers, Ed Anderson and Steve Schumm, seated the guests.

A reception for the newlyweds was held in the fellowship hall of the church following the ceremony.

The couple is at home, at 7218 A Southwest, Maplewood, Mo., where Mr. Schumm is studying for the ministry at Concordia Seminary in St. Louis.

To Keith and Leah Waggoner:

Fifty years together qualify you for membership in a select club. . . Not all good years, to be sure, but time has a way of mellowing the troublesome days of yore. . . Unlike in so many ways, with unshared dreams, yet always caring. . . You have worked hard, with honesty and integrity as your standards, thus earning the respect of the community as well as the love of your family and friends. . . You have survived together, and perhaps that is the greatest tribute of all. Happy 50th Anniversary!

With much love,

'Dublin good times' in area bars, eateries to celebrate St. Patrick's

With a little luck o' the Irish and some help from local bars and restaurants there'll be "Dublin good times" over the weekend to celebrate St. Patrick's Day, which is actually Monday, March 17.

It doesn't matter if you're orange (Protestant) Irish, green (Catholic) Irish or not Irish at all—green stout, Irish stew and leepin' leprechauns will be here this weekend to celebrate Saint Patty's.

To set off the weekend, most of the stores in Boyne City are having green tag sales. Shops will stay open late (from 7:10 p.m.) and store clerks will be dressed in crazy costumes.

The Boyne City Barbershoppers will host an Irish singalong from 7:30 to 8 p.m. on Water Street. And so you don't miss out on Irish cheer, many of the bars will be starting the big weekend serving Irish dishes and green beer.

THE DILWORTH on Water Street in Boyne City celebrates its third anniversary (of its current owners) with "wall to wall partying people." Manager Rick Vogel said. Upstairs in the restaurant Irish stew ($5.50), corned beef and cabbage ($5.50) and other items on the regular menu will be served Friday and Saturday from 5-11 p.m. The band Bittersweet will perform a variety of easy listening and Irish tunes in the upstairs lobby Saturday night.

Both upstairs and downstairs in the GALLERY, green beer and Guinness Stout will be served. Providing the tunes downstairs Thursday through Saturday is the rock and roll band Elijah Starr.

"A touch of the Irish will be happening at 'the TANNERY,'" bartender Margie Fortune predicts. TJ's Tannery will offer green beer and general rowdiness Friday through Monday nights.

The Tom Kaufman trio will perform Friday and Saturday nights during dining hours beginning at 5 p.m. in the GRANARY. The dinner special Friday night is Alaskan king crab legs, $6.95 including a full dinner in the Granary, or $4.95 in the Tannery. Bar-b-que beef ribs are $3.95 Saturday night in the Tannery.

After a weekend of partying, catch the Granary Sunday brunch all-you-can-eat from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. The Granary and TJ's Tannery will be open Monday night. Both establishments are located at the corner of Main and Water Streets in Boyne City.

To kick off the green weekend, the NEW MOGUL INN on M-75 South, Boyne City, will have an "Irish get-up" contest. Contestants will be judged on creativity and authenticity of their apparel. Green beer and the band Swift Kick will keep the entertainment at a high level.

Sean Ryan, an Irishman himself, will be bringing in St. Patrick's Day at DUFFY'S OF HARBOR SPRINGS on Pleasantview Road between Harbor and Petoskey.

It's the biggest day of the year—bigger than New Year's Eve—that's for sure," commented one employee at Duffy's. "We're packed most of the day (Monday) starting at 4 p.m. and we just keep filling up until we've got one big happy party going."

Saturday the entertainment will be Ryan from 2 p.m. to 2 a.m. Country singer Lincoln McCants will also be performing.

Dinners will be served Sunday from 4 to 10 p.m.

Monday, St. Patrick's Day, Duffy's opens at noon and Ryan starts playing at 3 p.m. Get there early if you want a seat—or even standing room.

DUFFY'S OF CHARLEVOIX will feature the tunes of Herb and Stan and the Rebound Band Thursday through Saturday and Monday night to help celebrate the St. Pat's weekend.

Dinner specials include sizzler steak, Irish stew, corned beef and cabbage or roast beef, for $7.95. Included with the meal is a crock of cheese and crackers, Irish potatoes, a cup of Irish coffee and salad. Dinners are served beginning at 5 p.m.

HUGG'S located in the Holiday Inn on U.S. 31 at the south edge of Petoskey has both Irish drinks and dinner specials. Les Payne at the piano will lead an Irish singalong Saturday from 5 to 7 p.m. Green beer, Irish coffee and other drink specials will be offered. The rock and roll band Attraction will provide the entertainment throughout the week every night but Sunday from 9 p.m. to 1:30 a.m.

Free green carnations will be presented to women diners over the weekend for both lunch and dinner. Irish dishes including corned beef and cabbage and Irish stew will be served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and for dinner from 5 to 10 p.m.

Most of the other restaurants and bars around the area will also be open, although we've mentioned most of those with special Irish shindigs planned.

You'll see people dressed up in the craziest costumes celebrating St. Patrick's Day. Here a "sheik" is caught dancing at The Dilworth last year.

A FAMILY DECISION

Buying a home is a family decision. For this reason, it's desirable that house-hunting be done by husband and wife wherever possible. However, in the case where a move over a considerable distance is involved, the best arrangement is for either the husband or the wife to look separately and then for both to get together to make the final decision-making inspection.

But there are some limitations when it comes to making the job of finding a new home such a large family undertaking that the group becomes a burden. Children will have a voice in the family's new home, but it is not a good idea to involve very young children in the initial house visits. Older children - such as high school or college age - are a different story. They possess a certain maturity of judgment that can contribute to a home-buying decision.

Children's needs are important in making the choice of a family home, but those needs are best determined by the parents. It generally works out that children are happy with a house that makes their parents happy.

LaLeche League to meet

The Charlevoix La Leche League will hold its second meeting in a series of informal discussions March 18 from 9:30 to 11 a.m. The meeting will be held at 114 W. Lincoln, Charlevoix.

This series of monthly meetings includes discussion of:

- The Art of Breastfeeding and Overcoming Difficulties, March 18;
- Baby Arrives: The Family and the Breastfed Baby, April 15; and
- Nutrition and Weaning, May 20.

La Leche (pronounced La Lay-chay) League began in a Chicago suburb 20 years ago, when one mother who successfully nursed her baby, helped another who wanted to breastfeed.

This is still the basic approach, although the league is now international in scope, with more than 3,000 groups helping thousands of women in the United States, Canada, and over 40 foreign countries. A non-profit organization, the league's purpose is to help encourage "good mothering through breastfeeding." Our services include a lending library of books on infant care, childcare, and breastfeeding.

All women who are interested in nursing their babies are invited, as are their babies. You need not be pregnant or even have a family to attend. Any interested woman is welcome.

For more information, more complete directions and information concerning car pools to the meetings, please call league leaders Jenny Bellairs at 547-6255 or Mary Morehead at 588-6037.

New office for Boyne realty firm

BOYNE CITY - Charlevoix Properties has moved its Boyne City office to a new location.

The new office is located at 210 E. Water St., where the New Life Christian Bookstore was formerly located. (New Life owner Marti Valentine is now selling books from her home on Pleasant Avenue.)

Broker Gary Winter said the new realty office has been remodeled inside, and the outside will be remodeled this summer.

"The exterior remodeling will carry out the turn of the century theme that Boyne City is working toward," he said.

The Charlevoix Properties sales staff—both the Boyne and Charlevoix offices—has recently completed an eight-week sales training program through W. Steven Brown of Fortune Productions of Atlanta, Ga.

Participating from the Boyne City office were Winter, William Morrow, Arthur Rouse, Dick Sharer and Sam Sharp.

The Green Tag Sale is the first of six promotions planned for the year by the recently reorganized Retail Board, which is an arm of the Boyne City Chamber of Commerce.

The story of their season

Tim Vermillion (20) puts up a short jump shot for East Jordan as Charlevoix players Jim Buchanan and Scott Morgan look on. [Photo by Mitch Ashley] Ramblers close again, but. . .

BOYNE CITY - The Rambler varsity bowed out of the district basketball tournament last week in a game that was somewhat symbolic of their entire season. They came close, but . . .

Boyne lost a 50-46 decision to eventual champion Charlevoix last Thursday. The Ramblers finished the season with a 6-13 record.

"The whole season has gone that way," said Coach Russ Harvey. "We've been close in every game but two. In 19 games, we averaged coming out five points behind our opponents."

"I'm extremely proud of the way these kids played all year," Harvey said. "The amount of improvement they showed over the course of the season was tremendous. They deserve a better record than they ended up with."

Just like most games this season, the narrow tournament loss to Charlevoix was attributable to turnovers. Boyne lost the ball on mistakes 21 times, seven more than Charlevoix.

"In a game that close, having that many turnovers hurts," Harvey said. "We outrebounded Charlevoix and we outshot them from the floor and from the free throw line."

The game was the last for four seniors on the Rambler squad—starters Jerry Belford and Scott Hausler, and reserves

Mitch Moore and Jeff Snyder.

"But our prospects look good for next year," Harvey said, noting that his top three scorers from this year will be returning. They are juniors Larry Jarema, Daryl Tims and Kerry Kruzel.

The Michigan-Huron Shore Conference looks like it will be well-balanced next year, Harvey said, with five teams that could make a run for the title. "We're one of them," he said.

Men's league playoff is Sunday

Great Lakes Energy Systems will meet Boyne River Inn at 12:30 p.m. Sunday in a one-game playoff for the Tri-City

Basketball League championship. Great Lakes won the second round championship by winning all nine of its games. Boyne River Inn won the first round title.

Great Lakes whipped Payton's Well Drilling 109-91 Sunday to clinch the title. Tony Williams led the victory with 25 points, with Al Looze adding 22 and Dan Osmer 20. Terry Erber topped Payton's with 25 points.

Schafer's captured second place by beating Ski & Shore Properties 94-78. Dean Hicks led Schafer's with 23 points, while Tim Markham paced Ski & Shore with 16.

Boyne River Inn finished in fourth place by edging Country Star Market 98-94 in overtime. Bill Anzell led BRI with 33 points, and Ken Gahn paced Country Star with 25.

In games played in East Jordan last Wednesday, EJ Patterns won a forfeit from Victorian AFC, and Stevens Concrete nipped Gold Nugget 74-73.

This is one example of a non-profit group making use of the Save-Share Program to help raise funds. There are many more groups using it too, and there will be a picture of one each week in this paper.

Glen's wants everyone in East Jordan to know about Save-Share and hopes more groups will use it to raise funds.

All a group has to do is register with the Store Manager and begin saving the green cash register tapes. Glen's will pay 1 percent of the total qualified amount of all tapes brought in by any registered group; and not just once, but each time a group brings in $25.00 worth of slips or more.

Proceedings of
East Jordan City Council
 East Jordan City Council met in regular session, Wednesday, March 5, 1980 at 7:30 p.m. Lack of a quorum caused the delayed date. Mayor Meredith presiding and Council members Sweet, Fox, Joseph and Hagen were present. Minutes were approved. Authorization was given to pay $36,833.27 in bills as presented and the necessary transfers were made. The ambulance report showed 22 runs for the month; a $200.00 reward if being offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of whoever damaged the Community Building doors; a decision was made not to rent boatslips this year due to construction; and no objections were heard regarding an application for a new SDM license at 113 Mill Street. Other business included a decision not to spend an extra $9,300.00 on the waterfront at this time to prepare for the future possibility of new boatslips; a resolution was adopted requesting the DNR to please not change the name of the Jordan River Valley; and the budgeted sinking fund transfers were made. Meeting adjourned at 9:22 p.m. A copy of the official minutes of the above meeting is posted on the bulletin board at City Hall for perusal during normal office hours.
