Ballet delights all ages

BY LORI CRUDEN

EAST JORDAN - Three young women and four young men chatted together last Wednesday at the Civic Center.

The unusual aspect of their conversation was that as they talked one woman was stretched out on the floor, foot hooked around her neck, one fellow stood with his head resting on his knees, one jumped lightly up and down, and others similarly engaged in what appeared to be effortless contortions.

They were dancers from the Dayton Ballet Company warming up before their demonstration of ballet exercises and movements. They performed for an audience of school children and area residents in a visit which was sponsored by the Crooked Tree Arts Council.

Stuart Sebastian, the company's choreographer, explained the requirements and training a ballet dancer must adhere to, pointing out that some of the dance steps take 10 or more years of practice to execute properly.

One such accomplishment was demonstrated by Gregory Robinson, who elicited oohs and ahhs when he leaped into the air and smoothly managed six changes of leg position before returning to solid ground.

After this were further examples of daily dance regimens and ballet basics, which revealed both the single-minded dedication a dancer must possess and the satisfaction that comes with mastering the art.

The session ended with a question and answer period. One exchange in particular seemed to capture the essence of ballet training. When asked if it "hurts to stand on your toes," Sebastian answered simply: "Yes," and the dancers simply smiled.

The visit from the Dayton Ballet Company was crowned by evening performances Oct. 1 and 2 at Petoskey High School auditorium. Of the five dances on the program some deviated from the traditional ballet style, using more modern forms.

Ballet enthusiasts were impressed with the professional quality of the performances, and for those new to ballet there was enough variety and pizzazz to make first-hand viewing an exciting experience.

Boyerne City will keep its airport

BY TRISH WRIGHT

BOYNE CITY - The city airport is not just a paved landing strip with hangars, storage buildings and gas pumps.

It is a facility located on 40 acres of land that has been described as "ideal" for industrial growth by the city master planners, Johnson, Johnson and Roy. It is also a facility that, in its present role is considered important for the community.

Controversy about what to do with the airport arose when the city hired Johnson, Johnson and Roy to prepare and deliver a comprehensive community development plan to be used as a general guide for the development of land.

The planning consultants suggested that the airport may better serve the community as an industrial park which would offer the city an improved tax base.

The 40-acre airport site and the 20-acre parcel that is currently zoned agricultural, east of Rotary Park on State Street, were suggested as future industrial parks.

According to City Manager Tim Clifton, "The State Street location is not as desirable as the airport because most of the traffic going to industrial plants comes from the south. There would be more truck traffic through town to get to the State Street location. This would be hazardous for pedestrians and could involve more street maintenance."

No formal vote has been taken, but the Boyne City Commission now seems to stand four to one against changing the airport to an industrial park.

Commissioner Marty Paul believes he may be the only city commissioner who wishes to close the airport. But he is not the only person in Boyne City who would like to see it closed.

"As expected, there has been some opposition to the airport closing, most of which has come from the few people who use the airport and those few whom they have influenced. There has been a subjective approach to an issue that affects not only them but all of the taxpaying citizens of the city," says Paul.

Even though there are restrictions in the land deed and state grant that may prohibit closing of the airport, Paul says "We don't think it's a situation impossible to overcome. What we're interested in are the best economic conditions for Boyne City."

In a memo circulated to the city commission, planning commission and advisory boards, Paul recommends that a central county airport be established, in addition to the Charlevoix Airport which is important because of its proximity to Beaver Island.

But a number of business and industrial leaders feel the airport is important to the communities' growth and their own business success.

Funeral Director James Stackus, who helped build the airport with Glen Shearer and Bob and Rievel Gerrie before World War II, uses the airport for business and pleasure. "I am pleased with the airport's location. Most airports are situated too far away from the town. It's possible for someone to walk into town from the present location," Stackus said.

Only one of five city commissioners supports the idea of changing the airport into an industrial park.

He believes that airports will become vital to the growth of a community as the energy problems worsen. "Many people don't realize that it's usually cheaper to fly than drive. It costs me less in time, fuel and maintenance."

Mac McNicol, vice-chairman of the airport advisory board, says "Nothing has been done yet to rezone the airport land. As a business person I am opposed to closing it. I know the airport brings people into my establishment."

"I have personally taxied people who have flown in for the Polish Festival, Mushroom Festival and Fourth of July back to their airplanes at the Boyne City airport. It would be a definite mistake for us to move it," McNicol said.

There is dissension on the question of whether the airport is self-supporting. "With the cost of lights, telephone and general maintenance of the airport, it is not self-supporting," says Paul.

Others think it is. Fuel is sold on an honor system and all pilots The Press spoke to said that the system is working well. "Now they are charging a tie-down fee, which was always a free service in the past," says Stackus, who at one time managed the airport.

The runways and ingress and egress to the airport are now the last priority for city snow plowing.

Larry Trumble, representing Industrial Magnetics and Trumco, says "The snow removal has not as yet presented a real problem even though it's the last thing the city plows. I use the airport for business purposes on an average of once a week. Mike Stowe, the owner of Industrial Magnetics, flies in and out of the airport for business related purposes about twice a month."

Trumble also believes that the Industrial Magnetics and Trumco building is in an excellent location. The plant is near the airport but outside the city limits on highway M-75.

"It's no real advantage to the plant owner to have a business inside the city limits. Townships can adopt building codes that would require plants to be attractive. And the township may be more attractive to the plant owner," because of lower tax rates, he said.

Do airports attract industry? Says Stackus, "The business climate of Michigan is drastically changing the possibility of any industry relocating in northern Michigan."

Chuck Rivard, member of the airport advisory committee adds: "Michigan is reported to be one of the least desirable states for manufacturing plants. But, airports do tend to attract industry."

But Marty Paul disagrees: "The industries presently located in Boyne City do not use the airport for business purposes. Their tendency is to use small jets which require a larger airport, and ours does not have room for expansion."

He suggests that the present landfill area be considered as a possible airport site and the present airport acreage be used for industry. "There is enough land there to qualify for federal funding."

Workshops to help sharpen parenting skills

BY TRISH WRIGHT

A program to help area residents sharpen their parenting skills will be offered to the Boyne City and East Jordan communities this month.

The Special Needs Program, funded by the Michigan Department of Vocational Education, emphasizes communication skills, parenting and consumer education. Materials used for the project are supplied by the Charlevoix-Kemmet Intermediate School District.

Anyone interested in the project is urged to attend the first workshops. The Boyne City group will meet Wednesday, Oct. 15 at the Presbyterian Church on Park Street from 9 a.m. to noon.

East Jordan workshops will be held at the United Methodist Church on Fourth Street, also on Oct. 15, from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Babysitting will be provided at both locations.

Project leaders for the Boyne City and East Jordan groups will be Debbie Poineau and Ardis Merrill from the Women's Resource Center in Petoskey.

COMMUNICATION SKILLS

The three-hour weekly workshops begin with an informal group discussion. "We want people to talk about their feelings. In the first four weeks we concentrate on building up group trust for confidentiality," says Merrill. "This is primarily a session for women but we encourage men to come to our parenting and consumer education classes in the weeks that follow."

Ardis Merrill believes that group participation improves communication skills. And the "reflective listening" and sharing techniques used during the initial classes, should aid communication in almost every type of relationship.

Says Poineau, "The interpersonal communication is something everyone in the group can use. We role play for assertiveness training." She adds, "We are not teachers, we are leaders. We don't give advice but we direct conversation within the group."

Poineau has completed a leadership course for the program through the Women's Resource Center. This is her second year of involvement with the Special Needs Program.

"We try to conduct the courses by guided exercises, says Merrill. "But we allow some extra time for those in the group who may have a great need to talk or share a problem."

Merrill holds a bachelor's degree in social work from Western Michigan University and is currently working toward a master's degree in counseling. Merrill makes herself available for individual counseling outside of the workshops.

"These visits are free of charge. I would like to make home visits to anyone who needs personal consultation. This is in addition to the direction or counseling offered at the workshops."

PARENTING

The parenting program is an offshoot of the pre-structured program called Parent Effectiveness Training, developed by Gary Dinkmaster.

"Ours is more specific than that program. We emphasize better communication between the parent and child and we try to teach the importance of love and respect for a child," explains Poineau.

The leaders feel that the need for this type of program has become apparent within the last two decades. "We've become aware that parents have had no help. There is training for teachers, nurses, etc.—but none for parents."

Poineau has found these suggested methods of communicating with children helpful in raising her own son. "Most parents find it rewarding to discover they have different options in ways to deal with their children. And the classes help you to understand the parenting methods that your parents used."

CONSUMER EDUCATION

The consumer education phase of the Special Needs Project covers a range of subjects: first aid, nutrition, non-meat cooking, consumer advocacy and energy.

"We employ lots of audio-visuals and special speakers to break the habitual approach to teaching," says Merrill. Invited guest speakers represent cooperative extension groups, Consumers Power Co., the District Health Department, the State Police and Planned Parenthood.

Poineau and Merrill meet with county advisory boards for program suggestions. "These boards are staffed by community leaders who are familiar with our program and the needs of their communities. We also meet with Jan Mancinelli, our co-ordinator and director of the Women's Resource Center, once a month," adds Merrill.

Debbie Poineau (left) and Ardis Merrill (right) are Special Needs Program leaders in four communities.

We're glad you asked!

How can I help a child understand the reality of death?

It is important to realize that children differ in their ability to understand and accept the fact of death.

When the death is a member of the immediate family, a child should be included in the activities and preparations for the funeral. The way in which adults react during this time is the greatest influencing factor in teaching the child the accepted manner of learning to live with death.

Questions often arise in their minds. These are to be encouraged and answered with a loving concern for the sensitivities of the child. Explain that it is all right to feel sad and to cry, to feel lonely and hurt. Point out, however, that death is real and irreversible. Avoid the fairy stories and white lies which will only confuse and disillusion the child.

Re-living the happy memories involving the deceased should be encouraged. Statements of sincere religious beliefs can offer comfort to a child with a religious upbringing. Your pastor, priest or rabbi wants to be of help at such times.

Sometimes we can be of personal assistance. Remember, your concerns are ours, too.

Northern Michigan Electric Cooperative, Inc. 1050 E. Division Street, P.O. Box 138, Boyne City, Michigan 49712 and Wolverine Electric Cooperative, Inc., 302 S. Warren, Big Rapids, Michigan 49307 announce that they are making applications for loan guarantees of approximately $1,248,000 ($832,000 and $416,000 respectively) from the Rural Electrification Administration which will provide for the purchase of (14.44% and 7.22%, respectively) an aggregate of 21.66% in Consumers Power Company's 345,000 volt double circuit transmission line extending from the Campbell 345 Kv switching station to the Palisades-Tallmadge 345 Kv transmission line, a distance of 18.25 kilometers (11.34 miles). The Campbell 345 Kv Switching Station is in the northeasterly corner of the Campbell plant site about 243.8 meters (800 feet) north of Polk Street in Port Sheldon Township, Ottawa County. From this station, the steel tower line runs south on the plant site, then southeasterly and easterly within an existing 152.4 meter (500 feet) fee corridor to a point in the Southeast Quarter of Section 17, Olive Township, Ottawa County, a distance of 7.24 kilometers (4.5 miles). The line then continues easterly an additional 11 kilometers (6.84 miles) on a 106.7 meter (350 foot) fee strip to the junction with the existing Palisades-Tallmadge 345 Kv Transmission Line in the Southwest Quarter of Section 16, Blenden Township, Ottawa County.
A Borrower's Environmental Report which indicates the environmental effects of the line is being prepared. A copy of this report will be available for review at the Northern Michigan Electric Cooperative, Inc. and Wolverine Electric Cooperative, Inc. offices listed above, or at the offices of the Rural Electrification Administration, Frank W. Bennett, Director, Power Supply Division, Rural Electrification Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. 20250. The Cooperatives do not believe the purchase of 21.66% of this transmission line will have a significant effect on the quality of the human environment. The Rural Electrification Administration will make its own independent environmental assessment prior to granting financial assistance.
If there are any comments on the environmental aspects (including cultural resources) of the proposed purchase, or the transmission line, they should be submitted to the Cooperatives within thirty (30) days of the publication of this notice. Additional information may be obtained at the cooperatives' offices at the above addresses. A copy of all comments received will be sent to the Rural Electrification Administration for its evaluation.

A great pumpkin

It may have been a dry summer, but Boyne City area resident Martin Bleganowski was still able to grow a 105-pound pumpkin in his garden ...with the help of a little watering. He sold it to The Charlevoix County Press, where it may now be seen.

Boyne native publishes first book

BOYNE CITY - Sylvia Rothenberger Miller, a 1919 graduate of Boyne City High School, has published her first book containing 141 full-color pictures from 48 of the over 100 countries and islands she has visited.

Mrs. Miller was born in Boyne City, where her sister Ariene Rothenberger still lives, and graduated from Eastern Michigan University. She was a high school teacher for 35 years and she has traveled around the world three times in the last 22 years.

Beginning her travels in 1956 with a trip to Europe, she carried along a camera. Two years later she bought a Leica for her first trip around the world. It has been with her since then to record the visions and scenes of her travels.

When Mrs. Miller decided to publish her book it was done in secrecy. She didn't tell her friends and family because she didn't want the constant questions of "How is your book coming?"

She spent long hours sorting through 22 years of photographs and spent more hours on the actual layout of the book.

The book has 120 pages filled with color photos from the past 22 years. It begins with an early morning sunrise in Sydney, Australia, and ends with photos of Boyne City and Romeo, where she currently makes her home.

The book itself is printed on an acid-free paper with an expected 300-year library storage life. The publisher is Lowell Press, Inc. of Kansas City.

$2-million HUD housing project for Boyne City

BOYNE CITY - Ten family homes and 30 one-bedroom apartments are currently being designed by the Boyne City Housing Commission. Todd Sorenson, executive director of the commission said that the designing follows receipt of a direct fund grant from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Sorenson added that the construction should begin by March or April and be completed and ready for occupancy by the fall of 1981. Projected cost of the new units is nearly $2-million dollars.

After selecting sites for the 10 one-bedroom family houses, which will be built on scattered sites throughout Boyne City, the commission set to work on the designs and drawings for the homes which must be submitted for HUD approval.

Also included in the funding will be an additional 30 one-bedroom apartments for the elderly to be added on to Litzenger Place. "We have a waiting list that includes some 40 applicants for the apartments and 20 applicants for the family houses," Sorenson said. "Right now it takes from three to five years to get into our housing."

"With the construction of the new buildings there should be a much shorter waiting time for housing," Sorenson continued. "The new projects should be up for bids by January or February. Right now we are designing the homes to be built on the selected sites."

Charlevoix slates first Apple Fest

The first annual Charlevoix "Apple Festival" has reached fruition. Charlevoix retailers have organized to create their own autumn holiday Saturday, Oct. 11. Says Lindy Smith, president of the Charlevoix Retail Association, "The idea of the festival is to promote Charlevoix as a year around area to enjoy, not just a summer resort."

A farmer's market will be established in East Park for the one day event, beginning at 9 a.m.

Charlevoix churches will contribute to the festival with booths of homemade baked goods. Most retailers will have special "Apple Festival" promotions in their stores. And luncheon buffets and special dinners are being planned by local restaurants.

The Boyne City, Charlevoix and Petoskey school systems have been asked to participate. Elementary grade students may win $10 gift certificates for their apple creations. Apple dunking contests also offer gift certificates to elementary age children.

No privacy for late voters?

Big turnout gets Boyne City school millage passed at last BOYNE CITY - Some 671 voters turned out Monday to vote yes and pass the Boyne City School millage of 21.4 over a dissenting vote of 623. With a narrow margin of only 48 votes, the millage passed on its third attempt.

The voter turnout of 1300 was about 400 voters more than the August election. The number of people, plus use of a smaller room for the election, caused some long lines and crowding during the late voting hours.

In June there were 793 votes cast with the millage being defeated by 27 votes. In August, 900 people voted, with the millage losing by 52 votes.

Prior to the third election, the school board had cut $185,000 from the budget which included six teaching positions, four non-instructional positions, five athletic programs and reducing daily hours of four people. Due to more losses in state aid, the school board is studying where additional cuts can still be made.

There were at least a few of the nearly 1300 voters who turned out that felt the voting conditions were less than desirable during Monday's election.

A woman called The Press to complain that there was no voting privacy when she went to the polls from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. Monday. "I heard a lot of gripes," she said. "People were almost looking over your shoulder when you were voting."

"The room was so small that anybody could see how you were voting if they wanted to," she said. With the new punch card voting system, there are no curtains around voting booths.

Polls for the August election were in the school cafeteria, which is a much larger room than was used for the October election. "There was plenty of space between everybody last time, but yesterday (Monday) it was really crowded," she said.

A school official said the voting could not be held in the cafeteria this time because school was in session. "With 300 school children and their lunch trays, the cafeteria could not be used," he said.

Lack of privacy was apparently only a problem for an hour or two before the polls closed, when long lines were reported. Other voters The Press contacted said they had no privacy problems while voting earlier in the day.

Comparing grocery prices

Many factors...including 'shop at home' benefits

Our story and chart comparing grocery prices at area stores drew a considerable amount of comment last week.

Like many stories we do, this one drew both favorable and critical response. Most of the people who criticized the article thought we were encouraging our Boyne City readers to drive to Petoskey to do their shopping.

Actually, we had no specific reason for doing the price comparison other than to inform our readers about a subject which they all could relate to. After all, everyone buys groceries, and in these inflationary times, nearly everyone is careful about how they spend their money.

We also knew before we wrote the story that—like it or not—a fair number of people in Charlevoix County drive to Petoskey to do their grocery shopping. We were curious to see if it really was worthwhile to shop out of town.

With the increasing cost of gasoline and general automobile upkeep, we had a feeling that it probably was NOT worthwhile to buy groceries out of town on a regular basis... but only a detailed comparison could provide an answer.

If you really read our story and studied our chart, we think you would agree that no definitive answer surfaced as a result of our survey. The headline on the story said "Groceries—Comparing prices at 9 stores." It didn't say "Giant sells cheapest groceries," which is what some people concluded after a quick glance at the chart.

Our price totals showed that Giant Supermarket of Petoskey was the least expensive when 45 typical grocery store name brand items were compared. If different items had been chosen, the results might have been different.

The chart and story also pointed out that several stores in Charlevoix County carry a wider selection of budget-priced generic or store brand items—thus food bills could be cut below Giant's prices by shopping "at home."

By now, you're getting the idea that it was a complicated story. That's why it took up the entire front page of last week's paper. Many factors had to be explained. We didn't use coupons, for instance. Other factors such as driving distance, store atmosphere, and special services like custom cut meats were mentioned—but each individual shopper obviously had to weigh the benefits and disadvantages according to his or her own personal situation.

We did concede, however, that some shoppers might be able to save money by getting groceries in Petoskey... with quite a few "ifs" attached. If you have the time to drive 40 miles or more (round-trip), if your car gets good gas mileage, if you clip coupons, and if you happen to be going to Petoskey anyway.

Actually, we thought it was quite interesting that both Country Star and Edwards IGA of Boyne City were less expensive than the Petoskey Kroger store. The image of the high volume store with a huge advertising budget somehow made that seem unlikely. (But even that fact had to be explained, since Kroger has just been purchased by Hamady, which plans to sell at lower prices.)

Even comparing Country Star with Giant, there is less than $5 difference on a $75 grocery bill—and almost $3 of that difference was on one meat item. We doubt that our story convinced anyone to totally change their shopping habits, but that decision has to be made by each individual. We attempt to be fair, accurate and thought-provoking in all of our news stories, and we feel it is our responsibility to take a detailed look behind the routine "headline news."

We weren't picking on supermarkets. In the past, we've done stories comparing prices on a variety of items ranging from draft beer, gasoline, ski lift tickets, restaurant meals and bank interest rates. We feel that these types of consumer stories are important to our readers and we intend to keep doing them.

We trust that our readers are intelligent enough to make their own decisions when presented with the facts.

What was hard to get across in our price comparison is that much more than price is considered by consumers when they decide where to shop.

One of the factors—and one not to be taken lightly—is certainly the idea of supporting businesses in one's own community.

Obvious benefits are convenience (they are closer), service and atmosphere (the store owners and clerks probably know you).

You're also keeping dollars circulating where you live and work, which helps support your schools, your city and possibly the place where you work. These factors certainly cannot be ignored.

Boo-boo makes Boyne biggest

If I lived in Charlevoix I'd launch a campaign to sue the government for not counting King Strang's descendants in the 1980 census. The boo-boo has now made Boyne City the largest community in Charlevoix County. It's the first time the people of Boyne City were ever tickled by a boo-boo.

During the years I was a member of the East Jordan Rotary Club we made it a point to boo whenever a guest from Boyne City was introduced. It was all in good fun and everyone would laugh about it. But suddenly it's no fun.

I was there last week as a guest of Bill Grauel who had asked me over to hear Gayle Saxton give his excellent speech on the history of northern Michigan high school athletics.

When I was introduced as a guest from Boyne City there was a healthy round of boos. And I got to thinking. They couldn't possibly be booing me. No.

They were probably booing Bill Grauel for not having me as the speaker instead of Gayle Saxton. I think the members were hanging on to their chairs waiting for my speech about the man who fell into the Jordan River and floated up stream.

There's been a well-kept secret afoot in Boyne City. I said nothing about it for a long time. Then I met a woman who I just knew would never think of telling a soul. Imagine my surprise when she let it go into both ears and out her mouth?

When I picked up my typewriter to begin this column I did not know what to write. I was as frustrated as a left-handed woman on Monday morning. I used that line in a column several years ago. When my daughter read it she threw up her hands, using words women keep handy for those times when they throw up their hands. I'd forgotten that she was as left-handed as the best of 'em.

A Windsor, Ontario, electronics firm has come up with a device that allows you to telephone a certain number and it will turn the water on to fill your bathtub. Well, I hate to hear Mother Nature call in the middle of the night. Now, if they would invent an electronic gadget that would allow me to push a button and... No, I can't say that. This column sometimes falls into the hands of senior citizens who now drop on stories that delighted them years ago.

Doesn't it make you kind of sick to realize that whomever you vote for in the November election that you will be making a mistake?

Our scenic roads can stand up to the best of them

There are myriad roads in this country that delight and inspire the motorist.

The renowned "Seventeen Mile Drive" through Pebble Beach, Calif. has its oceanic charm. This Eucalyptus lined road winds past the homes of many of Hollywood's Beautiful People. The Blue Ridge Highway through the unusual color and beauty. Four of those roads are in or near our county.

M-119 from Harbor Springs to Cross Village, "The Tunnel of Trees"—The narrow shoulders of the road and the cathedral effect of the trees arching above the road creates a winding tunnel of color in the fall.

Charlevoix to Petoskey via Boyne City and Walloon Lake—The north and east shores of Lake Charlevoix is a photographic of nature's wardrobe. Rich russets and gold are on parade. A sweeping panorama of trees bordering Walloon Lake, can be appreciated from the vista north of Clarion on US-131.

Thumb Lake Road from Boyne Falls to Old US-27 north of Vanderbilt—You'll find broad hills with slopes facing south, perfect conditions for autumn's color festival. A county road trafficked mostly by locals.

Deadman's Hill Road—A mile and a half south of the M-32 junction, near Elmira, a short two miles but packed with color. The Jordan River winds through the bottom of this colorful cul-de-sac. Take your binoculars and walking shoes along on this trip. A short hiking trail begins at the top of Deadman's Hill.

Smokey Mountains in North Carolina, famous for its verdant valleys and hills, is breathtaking in the fall. And, the vistas from the cliffs on the California coastline can make you grab the arm rest a little tighter as you drive high above the Pacific.

But, because of its inherent year around beauty, Charlevoix County color roads can stand up to any well-surfaced macadam. In a recent issue of Michigan Living/Motor News, 20 Michigan roads received publicity for

Letters to the editor

Easy to misinterpret price comparison

Editor,
I must tell you of my dissatisfaction with the front page feature you ran last week on comparison food shopping.

While I don't think that the intent of your article was to encourage Boyne City residents to buy their groceries in Petoskey or elsewhere it certainly was easy to misinterpret.

Specifically, I am referring to the paragraph that singled out Boyne City residents with the suggestion that if they have the time and the gas they "may find that shopping Giant (Petoskey) is a viable option."

In view of all our efforts to stimulate local shopping for goods and services by holding city-wide sales promotions (Green Tag Sales, Great Train Robbery, Sidewalk Sale Days, Moonlight Madness, and special Christmas promotions) and by helping bring the MESC to Boyne City, I and many other members of the business community feel angry and offended.

I am also critical of the order in which the food stores appeared on the chart. I think it suggested a "best to worst" type ranking which lends itself to quick judgment based on cursory evidence. A different order would encourage closer scrutiny.

Furthermore, I believe the bottom of your chart should have contained a disclaimer in bold-faced type such as:

"This is based on a single sampling of 46 items and is by no means conclusive. Nor do we mean to suggest that you should use this to determine where to shop. A valid sample is one taken over time and must be done on a statistically sound number of samples to be valid."

Corrections

The Press has been informed of three price errors in the grocery price comparison chart which appeared on the front page of the Oct. 2 issue. Prices given for 10 pounds of potatoes were actually for 20 pounds. Glen's in Charlevoix had 10 pounds of potatoes for $1.59, the same as the East Jordan store. Edward's in Charlevoix had 10 pounds of Michigan potatoes for $1.65 or Idaho potatoes for $2.59. At Oleson's in Petoskey, the price for 10 pounds of potatoes was $1.69.

A picture caption in last week's Press gave the wrong first name for the homecoming queen at Boyne City High School. The queen's name is Beth Franchino.

A real identity crisis

Editor,
Throughout history many authors, particularly William Shakespeare, have had fun with the subject of mistaken identities. We, the readers, have always found those plays and stories delightful and highly amusing.

Being mistaken for someone else, particularly when that someone else has opinions diametrically opposed to one's own, however, can be much less amusing, and, in fact, highly embarrassing in a small northern Michigan community.

For the enlightenment of all your readers who either smiled coyly or raised their eyebrows at me in passing, after seeing a name the same as my own signed to more than one recent letter to the local newspapers, I should like to point out that two persons, both having the name of Bonnie Thomas, reside in East Jordan, Michigan.

This particular writer, though having dabbed in a variety of occupations, and having been labeled teacher, writer, music lover, or dilettante, has never before addressed a letter to the editor, owned or operated a beauty shop, played on a softball team, or signed a letter to the editor.

I'm hooked...a junk mail junkie

I'm a junk mail junkie. Are you? Each day after work I rush home to see what the latest post office offering will be.

Letters seldom come. My mother writes. Few others. So I gorge myself on appeals to "save the whales" and "stop the slaughter of helpless baby seals."

Then there are the letters to box-holders from the state representatives, senators and the like. More mail from heretofore unheard of magazines who know a sucker when they see her name on 10 lists and wonder if I'd like to add their magazine to the 18 publications to which I already subscribe.

Then I pour over the offers from publications offering sweepstakes drawings of $100,000, a new car, a new house or a completely electric kitchen. For a 15-cent stamp how could I refuse? The dream is worth the 15-cents and it's cheaper than a Michigame ticket. Then we have the current rush of offerings from the surrounding cities with enrichment courses. Slimnastics (I could use it), beer and wine making, chair caning, auto mechanics, roller skating, jogging, stained glass, interior design, and microbiology. My mouth waters. I can hardly wait. I'll have to sign up for something. The opportunities are too vast to pass up.

And finally I'm to the cream of the crop... the catalogs. Chef's Catalog, Miles Kimball, Surburbia Inc., Sleepy Hollow Gifts, Harriet Carter, Nicholes, Springhill, Burpee's and (my favorite) Clymer's. Just a few of more than 50 catalogs I've received this summer.

Between these pages can be found not only the best in tulips, green beans, okra, but... an authentic French croissant cutter, a sliding T-bevel everyone should have one... maybe two), a set of three plug cutters, round dice, a Nordic door harp, musical birthday cake stand, Welsh miners' lamp, a gorilla man mask with hands and feet, solid brass Pegasus and Unicorn, and a handpainted cold cast bronze honey bear bell.

Then I finish up with the new offers from book-of-the-month clubs. I already belong to four and have dropped two. Last come the books and magazines which I have actually ordered. These too are read from front to back with much gusto.

Now, if you are already a junk mail junkie then you know the joy of which I write. But if you've not yet savored the sweepstakes offers and catalog delights, then let me tell you how to start.

Make one small purchase (I bought a deck of playing cards for $7 in February), and then sit back and wait. They've got your number. You are on "the list."

But remember, if your mailman starts looking grumpy and out of sorts you may need to order from Harriet Carter a mug reading "postmen are first class males."

Natural beauty roads make a colorful drive

BY TRISH WRIGHT

A local road that has particularly outstanding natural beauty may qualify for a special designation to protect it from development or expansion.

Trees that meet to form a cathedral ceiling over a road may be spared from removal or cutting if the road that lies beneath them is designated as a Natural Beauty Road.

As provided under Act 150, PA 1979, "Natural Beauty Roads are certain county local roads having unusual or outstanding natural beauty by virtue of native vegetation or other natural features within or associated with the right-of-way, for the use of enjoyment of local residents and the public in general."

According to Fred Welch of the Charlevoix County Road Commission, Charlevoix County has four Natural Beauty Roads. The roads listed below have been designated as Natural Beauty Roads and they are a natural for a colorful drive this fall. All roads are marked by Natural Beauty Road standard signs except Addis Road.

MAGEE ROAD

On the East Side of the county in Hudson Township lies Magee Road. Take Thumb Lake Road east. Magee Road intersects Thumb Lake Road after Thumb Lake. Turn left on Magee and drive north. A green and white sign marks the beginning of a two mile natural beauty stretch.

ADDIS ROAD

Leave Boyne City on M-75 which connects Boyne City and Boyne Falls in Boyne Valley Township. On this south east stretch turn left and head north on Dam Road. Dam Road will dead end into Addis Road. Turn left again onto Addis which will take you in a north west direction to Old State Road. Old State Road will lead you back onto M-75 leading from Boyne City to Petoskey.

LAKE 26 ROAD

At the intersection of M-66 and Highway 31 in Charlevoix is Captain's Corner Shopping Center. Take M-66 south to Marion Center Road which is across from the shopping center. Drive south on Marion Center Road to Lake 26 Road. Turn left here and head south again on Lake 26 Road past the Twin Lakes.

WESTSIDE ROAD

The Beaver Islander Boat Company or McPhillips Flying Service will shuttle you to Beaver Island. Westside Road is located near the airport.

The criteria for designation of a Natural Beauty road, prepared jointly by the Department of Natural Resources and the County Road Association, maintains that a road must have outstanding natural features along its borders, and open areas with scenic or natural vistas which set this road apart from other roads as being something unique and distinct.

Accepted maintenance practices for a natural beauty road have been outlined for the preservation of the character of the road. There are prescribed measures for mowing, grading, herbicides, dust laying, cross drainage, trimming and removal of vegetation and road surfacing.

It is the intent of the Department of State Highways that a natural beauty road be identified at entrance points, by a specifically designed standard sign and placed by the County Road Commission. The length of the designated road will be indicated on the sign.

If you live on a local county road that you would like declared as a natural beauty road, there are specific procedures you must follow when recommending the designation.

A status report of the potential natural beauty road should be obtained from the County Road Commission. Only county local roads are eligible. Twenty-five or more landowners in a township must apply by petition to the County Road Commission for the road or portion of road to be designated.

Petitioners need not live on the road. Petitions should clearly state the specifics of the road, beginning and ending points and should have a statement of justification for the request.

A public hearing is held six months after the petition is received by the County Road Commission.

Thirty days after the public hearing, the County Road Commission announces its decision as to whether the road shall or shall not be designated as a natural beauty road. Petitions are available from the County Road Commission.

This lovely cathedral ceiling portrays a natural beauty road at its best, as the sun filters through the trees and casts shadows on the winding road. [Photo by Randy Lightfoot]

SIGNS AND MUSHROOMS

In the spring, "for-sale" signs pop up like mushrooms after the rain. Many prospective sellers wait until the tulips bloom thinking that their homes will bring a better price in a lush setting.

Spring is not necessarily the best time to sell your house. Perhaps you do not realize that large companies inform their employees of transfers shortly after the first of the year. Consequently, we see many transferees, (some of our finest buyers) before the bloom of spring. Although these people come early in the year, they will gladly wait until the school year ends to make their move to the area.

During the months between notification and the actual move, the buyer is most anxious for the security of an established address in his new town.

If you are thinking of selling your house, we will be happy to give you all the fix-it-up advice you need, if any.

Don't wait for the grass to grow under your feet.

Art Gibbs, owner of the Boyne City Dairy Queen (left), and Betty Korthase, manager (right), present Don Peck with a new 10 speed bicycle. Peck was the local winner in the International Dairy Queen contest. Peck and other local entrants will now have their entries sent to Minneapolis for the final drawings.

Boyne seniors get Lee scholarships

The Board of Directors of the Henry Lee and Elizabeth C. Lee Foundation announce that scholarships totaling $19,947 have been awarded to 27 graduates of Boyne City High School.

This is the fourth year that Boyne City seniors have been eligible for educational assistance through the Lee fund. To qualify for the scholarship, applicants must graduate with a 3.0 average, prove financial need, and sign an affidavit proclaiming that the applicant does not partake of alcoholic beverages.

According to Rev. Milton G. Walls, pastor of the Boyne City Presbyterian Church, the Henry and Elizabeth C. Lee Scholarship Foundation was established in the summer of 1977.

"Elizabeth Lee's will provide that the board of trustees for the fund would include the senior officer at Northwestern State Bank in Boyne City, the pastor of the Presbyterian Church and the Boyne City School superintendent," says Rev. Walls.

Currently, Rich Kelly and John Cutler serve with Rev. Walls on the board. The selection committee under the guidance of Rick Casper, Boyne City High School principal, is comprised of teachers and counselors that work with the board of trustees to screen and qualify applicants.

Thelma Behling, Carl Skornia and Glen Irwin are members of the selection committee.

Rev. Walls, who pastors the Presbyterian Church where Elizabeth Lee attended before her death, says, "Henry and Elizabeth Lee moved to Boyne City in the early 1900s. Henry Lee was very active in the old railroad here. His wise investments made him prosperous. The Lees had no children of their own, but if they knew of some deserving student that needed financial assistance for education, they would help him out. They were wonderfully gracious and concerned people."

Approximately $276,000 was set aside for the foundation after the death of Elizabeth Lee in 1976. "The principal has been invested in land contracts, commercial investments and short term money markets. We cannot touch the principle, so scholarships are awarded according to the amount of interest earned," explains Rev. Walls.

Once a scholarship is awarded a student may apply for continued financial assistance every year that he is enrolled in school and meets the prescribed criteria for qualification. Graduate and under-graduate, vocational and trade school matriculating students may apply.

"We have to follow stateguide lines on how much is awarded per student," says Walls. "The difference in what the student has been awarded by the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant and what they need for tuition determines how much they are eligible to receive from the Henry and Elizabeth Lee fund."

"We had only six or seven students apply for the scholarship during the first year. This year it jumped to about 29 students applying for a scholarship. We've had to lower the $2,000 ceiling per scholarship to $1,000," says Rev. Walls.

The following Boyne City High School graduates were awarded scholarships from the Lee Foundation this year: Pat Anzell, Marianne Behling, Ted Beyer, Rick Boyer, Bob Britton, Keith Carson, Lori DeNise, Julie Dunlop, Becky Elzinga, Kim Fairchild, Matt Guitar, Tim Hamlin, Doreen Janack, Ken Krusel.

Julie Martin, Chris McClees, Sandy McNutt, Grace Moose, Jerry Phency, Ginnie Scott, Teri Scott, Sally Swart, Key Thayer, Nancy Thurston, Brad Upton, Scott Upton and Michelle West.

Autos—Old and New

—Of Packards and Perfection

"This 1939 Packard will be worth approximately $35,000 after it's completely restored," says Mike Shelvey, a Packard perfectionist.

BY TRISH WRIGHT

QUALITY CRAFTSMANSHIP

When you drive by the old city garage on Lake Street in Boyne City, you might notice a blue and white sign boasting Packard Repair.

What is so curious about the sign is that you don't see enough Packards on the roads to reasonably warrant such an exclusive service. But, the sign is not just for decoration.

Mike Shelvey is operating a year around business for restoring Packards, other antique cars, special interest cars and wooden boats at that location.

It wouldn't be unusual for someone raised in Detroit, one block off the heavily trafficked Woodward Avenue, to be aware of automobiles. Shelvey, who says he has always been involved with cars, considers himself a car craftsman. "I'm not an artist, but I have a lot of ability to work with my hands. I enjoy working on something of quality."

After serving as a maintenance manager for Paragon Bridge and Steel Co. in Novi, Shelvey decided to relocate in Northern Michigan and start his own business. "Our society is oriented to work under a mass production program. It's easy to cut corners and save money in that kind of situation."

Shelvey believes that the demand is limited for quality tradesmen. "This is a dying art. Labor costs are so high now that many people can't afford to have their cars repaired properly."

"Fewer people are willing to sacrifice the extra time and money that quality repair and restoration demands. It takes more than twice as long to do something right than just turn it out."

As an example, he explains that the correct method of eliminating car rust is most expeditious.

"The proper way to fix a car's rust hole is to cut out the rust, weld a new piece of metal on the hole, build the surface back up with lead and then prepare for the surface work. This takes about three times as long as the bondo job." Bondo is a plastic used for filling the holes.

The book price of your car may determine whether you use bondo or the more expensive lead. Some cars just aren't worth using lead."

ANTIQUES & FULL CLASSICS

What then makes a car valuable? Shelvey answers by classifying automobiles. "Any car that maintains the same book value over a period of time or appreciates in price is worth restoring. Pre-war, full classics and special interest automobiles are also worth restoration costs." The Antique Automobile Club of America sets the standards for classics.

All Rolls Royce and Bentley models qualify for the full classic car category as well as some Cadillac and Mercedes models.

Shelvey specializes in Packard restoration. He is currently restoring a 1938 and 1939 Packard. The 120 model Packard built in 1939 was purchased for under $10,000 and will be worth as much as $35,000 when it regains its original form. "The American made Packard was every bit as nice as the Rolls Royce. About the time the Packard Motor Car Company was acquired by Studebaker, the market dropped for luxury automobiles."

Dusenbergs, Auburns, Cords and Pierce-Arrow production also halted with the decline in demand. Shelvey ventures to say that an un-restored "J series" Dusenburg might show a price tag as high as $300,000.

SPECIAL INTEREST

The special interest car category, post World War II, includes: Thunderbird (1955-1957), early Corvettes and 1953 Skylarks. Shelvey explains their distinction: "They were all ahead of their time for style and performance. The 1950's marked the end of the era for special interest cars. Automobiles were produced in the '60s for high performance. However, the Lincoln Mark, front wheel drive El Dorado and Corvette will always be valuable."

Since the emphasis of the auto industry is to produce a car for better fuel economy, less attention is now being given to quality construction, he said. "Americans have always wanted something a little different or better. But, the auto industry can't supply that anymore."

Shelvey feels that the cars being built in this country are as good or better than the comparable Japanese imports and are less expensive. "An incredibly high tariff is imposed on the American cars exported to Japan. The trade balance is ridiculous."

The gas crunch and general state of the economy that America is experiencing now does not espouse the large luxury cars and quality construction of the past. Current needs dictate efficiency and economy in an automobile. But the regard and appreciation for well constructed or romantic vehicles still stands.

"The reason for the success of my trade is that some people are willing to sacrifice extra time and money to own the vehicle of their youth or a special interest car and get it back on the road in optimum condition."

Auto insurance is a wrecking experience

BY KATHY JOHNSON

A not so funny thing happened to me on the way home from the washateria. My jeep and I rear-ended a gentleman.

We exchanged insurance companies, which in our case happened to be the same company, and went home. I called my insurance man and explained to his secretary what had happened and that my jeep was okay, but that the car I hit was severely wounded. They would take care of it, he said.

Later my agent called me and put the proper scare into me.

He explained to me that Michigan was a no-fault state, but that effective July 1, if a person is involved in an accident and is more than 50 percent at fault, he or she could be sued for up to $400.

It seems that I had, however, taken the option offered by my company to be covered for that amount, and I was covered. His concern was that there were many people who were not taking the option and he felt that a few words on the changes in law regarding no-fault might be informative.

What the law means is that if the person you hit doesn't have insurance to pay the damages to his own car then you are legally liable for up to $400. He can go to the small claims court and get a judgment against you for up to that amount.

If you have the coverage for it, your insurance would then take care of it. If not, then you would have to go to the small claims court and could be found liable.

Now, if you are starting to get properly confused, let me also explain that not all insurance companies are charging for that coverage. Some companies feel that because of a new law which will take effect on Jan. 1, 1981, the current law may change and they are therefore not charging anything until after that time.

Effective Jan. 1, the new Essential Insurance Act will take over. This law will make it easier for certain people to get auto (and home) insurance. According to a brochure produced by the Michigan Association of Insurance Companies, "most Michigan residents will pay more," because of these changes.

"Under the new law, regular insurance companies will be required to provide auto and home policies for many people who were previously insured through 'high-risk pools.' The new law won't cause lower insurance rates, but will shift the cost. Some people are going to pay less, but most people will pay more."

When purchasing auto insurance, young single males and people who live in the largest metropolitan areas will benefit under the new law the most.

Have I got you really confused? You may want to do what I did, which is call or visit your insurance agent and see if you've covered all your bases and taken care of any liabilities before you find yourself looking into the trunk of someone's car... from close range.

Let's put it out of its misery.

Auto-Owners for Car Insurance

If your brand new car is totaled, will your insurance company pay you for a brand new car?

Auto-Owners will when you have comprehensive and collision coverage. If you have an accident anytime within 90 days and your new car is a total loss, we'll pay you the total cost of your new car. And with Auto-Owners, your new car is covered immediately, automatically, under your policy.

So if your present policy doesn't give you this kind of total coverage, maybe you better scrap it.

Car loans are easier to get this year, local lenders say

BY TRISH WRIGHT

Many local financial institutions say that recent state legislation may make it easier to get car loans this year.

New laws sponsored by State Representative James Defebaugh amended the Banking Code, Savings and Loan Act and the Credit Union Act by raising the interest rate ceiling from 12.83 percent to 16.5 percent on a 36-month contract.

The high cost of money to financial lending institutions was prohibitive to lending because of the state law which allowed the lending institution to charge no more than 12.8 percent on auto installments.

When banks, savings and loans and credit unions were paying 15 to 19 percent to borrow money from the Federal Reserve, it was not financially prudent to make loans to customers at 12.83 percent.

As a result of the auto dealers' difficulty in getting indirect loans approved for their customers and prospective car and truck buyers finding little money available from financial institutions, automobile factories slowed down production and laid off more auto workers.

When financial institutions are paying more money to borrow from the federal reserve and paying higher interest rates to attract depositors, the state statutory auto loan rate made a losing program out of car and truck loans. Hopefully the new laws will free up money for auto loans to qualifying customers.

Now that the financial institutions can charge higher interest rates on auto loans will there be enough requests for those loans from qualified buyers to pump up the state's sagging economy?

Bill Grauel, president of Northwestern State Bank, says, "With double digit inflation traffic is down. We have money available to our customers and we're encouraging car loans at this time." A 25 percent down payment will mean a 15 percent interest rate on an installment plan for auto loans at Northwestern State Bank.

Branch manager of the First National Bank in Boyne City, Steve Woodcock, quotes the same figures as Northwestern State Bank for interest rates.

"On new and one-year-old cars we're charging 15 percent with a 25 percent down payment, for a maximum of 48 months," Woodcock explains that rates are subject to change and First National tries to be competitive with other banks in auto loans. "We're getting a number of loan requests and accommodating those qualified."

Charlevoix Federal Credit Union will finance a loan at a 12 percent annual percentage rate for three years with a member down payment of 20 percent. According to Manager Jim Dahl, "We have a surplus of funds now. We want to make car loans. Loan demand has been down. We dropped our rates to meet the competition."

The Charlevoix Federal Credit Union would rather loan money at 12 percent to its members than invest it to earn the same rate of interest. Says Dahl, "That's what we're here for."

Lakewood Savings and Loan in Boyne City charges an interest rate of 14.5 percent on auto loans with a 20 percent down payment.

Randy Lightfoot, vice-president of Lakewood, explains that banks are eligible by law to charge a higher rate of interest than can savings and loan associations. "But, our principal obligation is to the housing industry," he says.

Brent Scott from the St. Francis

Credit Union in Petoskey says, "We have a 12 to 15 percent variable rate. The maximum we would charge our members would be 15 percent, and that depends on the shares (savings) that cover the loan."

"If more than 50 percent of the requested loan is matched by shares, we charge 13 percent, the minimum percent rate is given on car loans to members whose savings match the size of the loan." The cost of money loaned to members who put 25 percent or less down would be 15 percent.

Scott adds, "Volume is down. People are very conscious about their money now. The demand is not there. Compared to last year at this time our loan portfolio is down dramatically, but savings have increased."

Northern Michigan Electric Cooperative, Inc., 1050 E. Division Street, P.O. Box 138, Boyne City, Michigan 49712 and Wolverine Electric Cooperative, Inc., 302 S. Warren, Big Rapids, Michigan 49307 announce that they are making applications for loan guarantees of approximately $1,248,000 ($832,000 and $416,000 respectively) from the rural Electrification Administration which will provide for the purchase of (14.44% and 7.22%, respectively) an aggregate of 21.66% of Consumers Power Company's 345,000 volt double circuit transmission line extending from the Campbell 345 Kv switching station to the Palisades-Tallmadge 345 Kv transmission line, a distance of 18.25 kilometers (11.34 miles). The Campbell 345 Switching Station is in the north-easterly corner of the Campbell plant site about 243.8 meters (800 feet) north of Polk Street in Port Sheldon Township, Ottawa County. From this station, the steel tower line runs south on the plant site, then southeasterly and easterly within an existing 152.4 meter (500 foot) fee corridor to a point in the Southeast Quarter of Section 17, Olive Township, Ottawa County, a distance of 7.24 kilometers (4.5 miles). The line then continues easterly an additional 11 kilometers (6.84 miles) on a 106.7 meter (350 foot) fee strip to the junction with the existing Palisade-Tallmadge 345 Kv Transmission Line in the Southwest Quarter of Section 16, Blendon Township, Ottawa County.

A Borrower's Environmental Report which indicates the environmental effects of the line is being prepared. A copy of this report will be available for review at the Northern Michigan Electric Cooperative, Inc. and Wolverine Electric Cooperative, Inc. offices listed above, or at the offices of the Rural Electrification Administration, Frank W. Bennett, Director, Power Supply Division, Rural Electrification Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250. The Cooperatives do not believe the purchase of 21.66% of this transmission line will have a significant effect on the quality of the human environment. The Rural Electrification Administration will make its own independent environmental assessment prior to granting financial assistance.

If there are any comments on the environmental aspects (including cultural resources) of the proposed purchase, or the transmission line, they should be submitted to the Cooperatives within thirty (30) days of the publication of this notice. Additional information may be obtained at the cooperatives' offices at the above addresses. A copy of all comments received will be sent to the Rural Electrification Administration for its evaluation.

Boyne City to face Saints' tough defense

BOYNE CITY - The Rambler varsity gridders face a tough St. Ignace team on the road this Friday after seeing their four-game winning streak halted at Petoskey last week.

St. Ignace has a 3-2 record this year, but the Saints are 3-0 in the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference. One of those victories was over a highly-favored Gaylord team. Last week, they beat Grayling 35-13, and earlier, the Saints shut out Petoskey 6-0.

"They are a real good defensive team," said Boyne coach, Bob McCullough. On offense, quarterback Tim Dahlms passes well and often, he said. To beat the Saints, McCullough said, the Ramblers will have to execute much better than they did in their loss at Petoskey. "Our blocking was good, and the holes were there, but we were missing handoffs and making other mistakes," he said.

Both teams scored early at Petoskey. The Northmen took a 7-0 lead on their first possession.

Boyne then blocked a field goal attempt, and John Tompkins scooped up the ball and ran 50 yards with it to set up a touchdown. Todd Newville ran four yards for a touchdown a few plays later.

The 7-6 score didn't change until Petoskey scored with about four minutes left in the game to leave the final margin at 14-6.

For the next couple of weeks, the Ramblers will have to get along without the services of Tompkins, their junior quarterback, who hurt his knee and ankle in the game.

Luckily, the Ramblers have good depth at the position, and Newville will be the probable starter at quarterback at St. Ignace.

His East Jordan teammates call Steve Graham (42) "Baby Bull"—and it's not hard to see why. Here, the junior fullback strains for the goal line with one Mancelona player under him and another one on his back.

Lots of overtime for Ramblers

BOYNE CITY - The Rambler girls' basketball squad split a pair of overtime games last week, losing to Petoskey and beating Rogers City.

The Ramblers' record is now 4-2 overall and 2-1 in the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference. A big road game with conference favorite St. Ignace is on the schedule this Thursday, Oct. 9. Next Tuesday, Boyne returns home to host Gaylord.

Boyne edged Rogers City 74-72 in double overtime on the strength of a balanced scoring attack.

Guard Becky Aimesbury poured in 24 points, and 5-11 junior center Lori Paquette scored 12 and grabbed 31 rebounds. Cindi Scott scored 13 points and had 13 rebounds, while guard Michelle Russell added 19 points.

The overtime loss to Petoskey was due mainly to Boyne losing its three tallest players on fouls. The Ramblers saw a 14 point third quarter lead dwindle to 42-40 by the end of the period. Then Boyne scored only three points in the fourth quarter and two in overtime enroute to a 63-57 loss.

Aimesbury tossed in 22 points, and Russell added 13.

On Sept. 23, Boyne opened its conference schedule with a comeback victory at Grayling. The Ramblers outscored the Vikings 34-20 in the fourth quarter to take a 78-69 decision.

Aimesbury topped the scoring with 23 points, while Paquette added 15 and Scott 12.

Boyne's junior varsity dropped a 46-26 decision to Rogers City. Leading scorers for Boyne were Tracy Pruetz with 12 points and Liz Sturm with eight.

The JV's whipped Petoskey on Sept. 30, however, 47-30. Mary Beth Tims led the victors with 14 points, while Sturm had 12.

Cross-country team wins tri-meet

BY RUSSELL TISRON
Student Reporter

BOYNE CITY - The Rambler cross-country team did an excellent job by winning a tri-meet at St. Ignace last Tuesday. St. Ignace took second place and Petoskey placed third.

There were 30 runners at the meet and Tim Crumbaugh paced Boyne City by taking second place. Mike Hullett came in right behind him in fourth.

Then at the Mancelona Invitational's Thursday, the team placed third out of eight teams. It was a close match all the way and the team missed a trophy by 15 points. Crumbaugh took fifth place out of 60 runners and Brian Vroman placed 14th. Both of them won medals.

The team also did well in the Ferris State Invitational, finishing in the top 10. They were up against 19 other teams. In a field of 133 runners, Tim Crumbaugh placed 25th, winning a medal. Mike Hullett took 46th place and Brian Vroman was 52nd.

The cross-country team would like to thank Valentine Studio, Bogema Pharmacy, Don's Barbershop, Bieganowski & Associates, and others who helped sponsor different members of the team in the 20-mile run last week.

EJ beats Loggers for fifth win

The Red Devil girls raised their record to 5-2 with a victory over Boyne Falls last Thursday.

Senior Yvonne Grant led the way to the 80-37 win by scoring 18 points and taking 11 rebounds for East Jordan. Sophomores Joelyn Ingalls and Gayle Crik added 12 and 9 points, respectively.

Leading the Loggers were Melody

Wilson with 14 points, and Pat Frankowick, who hit 10 points and hauled in eight rebounds.

East Jordan also won the junior varsity game, 58-26. DeEtte Looze led East Jordan with 21 points, the Patsy Grubaugh topped Boyne Falls with 10 points.

East Jordan will be on the road for its next three games at Mancelona on Oct. 9, at Gaylord St. Mary on Oct. 14 and at Bellaire on Oct. 16.

Earlier in the week, the Logger girls won their first game of the season, 71-39 over Forest area. Sharon Frankowick tossed in 16 points, while Wilson had 14 and Sandra Payton added 10. Boyne Falls also won a junior high preliminary game, 20-13.

Boyne sports boosters honor Shaler

BOYNE CITY - The Boyne City Sports Boosters presented a plaque to past president, Frank Shaler, Monday in appreciation for his years of dedication to the club. Shaler has held an office since the club's inception in 1968.

Other business conducted at the meeting included giving the golf team $60 for transportation to the regional meet, Oct. 11, at Houghton Lake; and $50 to Coach Dave Bricker for equipment needed for the middle school track program.

A letter of appreciation was read from Athletic Director Paul Pfahler for the tape recorder given the department.

which will be used at basketball games to play the National Anthem and school song. Pfahler also thanked the booster volunteers who have donated their time as ticket sellers at the football games.

The Sports Boosters Club is open to everyone. Anyone interested in sports and school spirit is invited to join.

Steve VanderHyde

Alma College hires EJ basketball coach

EAST JORDAN - Varsity basketball coach, Steve VanderHyde, who brought East Jordan its first league championship in 28 years last winter, has accepted a position at Alma College.

VanderHyde will coach the junior varsity team at the college, and he will also hold the position of assistant varsity coach. He started his new job this week.

The Grand Rapids native had coached in East Jordan for the past two years. A major factor in his decision to leave was the elimination of his middle school teaching position this year due to severe budget cuts in the district.

VanderHyde coached his teams to a 29-12 record in the two years he was here, including a sparkling 17-4 record this past year. Last year's team won the Ski Valley League crown for the first time in 28 years.

EJHS Athletic Director Frank Holes said he is now taking applications for VanderHyde's coaching position.

The school board will make the appointment, but Holes said junior varsity coach Bill Chase has applied for the job and is "the logical choice" to be VanderHyde's replacement.

Todd Rickard

Fullback Todd Rickard was named player of the week for his "good, solid defensive play, and his good blocking on offense," according to Coach Bob McCullough. McCullough said Rickard "also made some good runs in crucial situations in last week's Petoskey game." A 5-9, 155-pound junior, Todd is the son of Richard and Mary Rickard.

DuWayne Dougherty

Halfback DuWayne Dougherty got the Red Devils off to a flying start against Mancelona last Friday when he ran back the opening kickoff 75 yards for a touchdown. The 5-11, 160-pound senior also added another touchdown in the second quarter on a 15-yard run to build East Jordan's lead to 30-0. DuWayne is also a standout on defense, as he was named an all-conference selection as a defensive back last year. He is the son of Jean and DuWayne Dougherty.
