57 inches

More than 18 inches of snow fell during the first 11 days of January, prompting this annual ritual in Boyne City. City crews cleared away the ever-growing snow piles from downtown sidewalks in an effort to keep ahead of Mother Nature. Snowfall accumulation now totals 57.5 inches for the season. Press is celebrating 100th year in 1981

On Friday, March 11, 1881 William Mears began publishing Boyne City's first newspaper, The Standard.

For 100 years, through numerous publishers and name changes, the paper has continued to serve the community and the county and this March The Charlevoix County Press, a direct descendant of The Standard, will celebrate its 100th birthday.

The Press will be celebrating all year long by sponsoring a number of special activities. It should be a good year for local history buffs, as the City of Boyne City is also celebrating an anniversary this year—it's 125th.

While The Standard is believed to have been published briefly in 1879 for about six months, in March of 1881 the paper was revived and began continuous publication.

In 1883 Phil Badour of Harbor Springs bought The Standard and renamed it The Statesman. Miley and Chapin bought the paper in 1886 and it was renamed The Boyne Citizen.

James R. Campbell bought Miley's interest in 1888 and became the editor in partnership with Chapin. Under Campbell the volumes and issue numbers were changed to make the end of the year in November.

In 1889 F. M. Chase bought out Chapin and a few months later Warren Wood bought out Chase. Wood and Old papers?

The earliest edition of the "Boyne Citizen" which The Press has been able to locate is dated Jan. 21, 1887. Anyone with copies of earlier editions or copies of either "The Standard" or "The Statesman" are asked to contact The Press.

Campbell ran the paper until 1894 when Wayne R. Morris bought out the partners in September of that year.

Morris published the paper until 1900 when it was bought by Sim R. Wilson. Wilson sold the paper to George Baxter in 1906. The paper was sold by Baxter in 1910 to Boyne City Publishing Co. which combined The Citizen with the Evening Journal (a daily) into a single publication.

At that time there were four papers in Boyne City. The other two were the Boyne City Times, published by Will Griffin; and the Boyne City Bee, published by printer William Halloran.

From 1910 until 1914 the new publishing company had four news editors, Messrs. Worthing, Moyer, Sutherland and George Kent. In 1914 the publishers bought the Times from Will Griffin, and W. Ray Baker became the editor.

E. E. Ormsby succeeded Baker in 1917 as editor. Clark Haire, a railroad man for the White interests, bought out the publishing company in 1926. Haire operated the paper until his death in 1937.

Following his death, Mr. and Mrs. Guy B. Baker and Ray Baker, all of whom had worked in the business for several years, purchased the paper. In 1949, Guy Baker died, A. Gregg Smith became its editor and Mrs. Baker continued as publisher until 1960 when Smith and his wife Margaret bought the business.

On Oct. 31, 1968 The Boyne Citizen and the East Jordan News Herald, owned by Marshall Sayles, current Press columnist, were merged and the name was changed to The Northland Press.

On Sept. 19, 1974 the paper had its last name change and became The Charlevoix County Press.

On April 21, 1977, Frank Noverr purchased Gregg Publications from Gregg and Margaret Smith and became the new owner with Mike Ready as the editor.

In November of 1977 George Colburn and Paul Marcus, purchased The Press from Noverr.

Since that time we have had two editors, Joe McElroy and the current editor, Jim Baumann.

CETA funds cut; Officials cry foul

BY KATHY JOHNSON

All CETA Title VI workers will be laid off by March 1, at the latest, says Alton M. Shipstead, Director of the Northwest Michigan Manpower Consortium. This layoff of 41 people in Charlevoix County will reduce payroll in the county by approximately $35,000 per month.

Shipstead said that every CETA employer had received a letter explaining that the program could close by Jan. 31. He said that he was trying to extend his money as far as possible, but that he expected the next letter to be a "lay-off letter." That letter would be going out in a week or two.

"If the CETA employers have the money, they may keep the workers on, if not they'll be laid off," Shipstead explained. Those that are laid off would be eligible for unemployment compensation if they meet the normal requirements.

Asked about the cost to the taxpayers, Shipstead said that the layoff, which is being caused by a $900-million dollar federal budget cut, will in fact cost the taxpayers more.

"It will cost more money," he said. "Some of these workers will end up on unemployment and some on welfare. They won't pay taxes on what they receive through unemployment or welfare and the public won't receive the service work they are doing."

Officials in Boyne City, Boyne Falls, Charlevoix and East Jordan were all distressed at the prospects of losing their CETA Title VI employees, and most had no funds available with which to replace them.

Big Brothers and Big Sisters of Charlevoix County appears to be among those that will suffer the most. Nancy Wood, coordinator and director of the group, said she had just been notified that they would probably not receive $6500 from Juvenile Justice Funding. This, along with the loss of two CETA workers, is really going to hurt.

"I don't know what we're going to do," Wood said. The only other money the group receives will come from the sale of Christmas trees this past Christmas and from the United Way. If CETA takes the workers and the juvenile funding is removed too, Wood said, "I'll just work a few hours a week, mostly on a volunteer basis and try to keep it afloat. If I get paid at all, I'll get about 40 hours a month."

There are currently 153 people involved in the program with about 52 matches. The rest involved in the program are on a waiting list for big brothers or big sisters.

The two workers that would be lost are a case worker for Boyne City and East Jordan and a secretary in the Charlevoix office. Both are full time employees.

There are three CETA employees at Charlevoix County Transit. Art Saworski, director, explained that because of funding from elsewhere, "We're able to take the people over to the transit program."

Short notice for many

Most CETA Title VI employers were taken by surprise with notification by mail that CETA workers might be laid off by Jan. 16. (Now extended to Jan. 31)

Most workers had contracts which extended much beyond that date, many through September, and employers are alternately "wishing and hoping" it won't come about and frantically trying to find a way to keep their employees.

Several employers expressed surprise when contacted by The Press because they thought the letter "wasn't really that serious."

Kate Schafer, Chamber of Commerce manager in Boyne City said, "I was absolutely not expecting it. I was devastated when the letter came. I had just completed the 1981 budget and just balanced it. It was a real blow." The contract from CETA was originally through Sept. 30.

CETA workers contacted all expressed dismay and surprise. Case worker for Big Brothers and Big Sisters of Charlevoix County, Charlotte McKay said "I was quite surprised." Mc Kay's contract was supposed to last through September and she said she wasn't expecting any change.

While a few CETA workers may be hired on with other funds, most will have to either find new jobs or file for unemployment.

At the Charlevoix County Commission on Aging, where Saworski is the coordinator, the picture is a little different. There are three CETA workers there but no funds with which to retain them.

Saworski said the CETA cut would be bad "because one of the employees is the director of the senior center in Boyne City and one is the maintenance man at the East Jordan center. These are important to us. If we lost those, I don't know what we can do. We just don't have the funds."

"It will definitely cut down on services in Boyne City," Saworski said, if there is no director. The other CETA position is a special service coordinator.

Also affecting Boyne City will be the loss of Joy Rouleau, a full-time secretary at the Boyne City Area Chamber of Commerce. Manager Kate Schafer said the chamber has already written numerous letters in an attempt to find a way to keep Rouleau. "The chamber needs Joy to help keep our office open six days a week," Schafer said.

Tim Clifton, city manager of Boyne City, said that the loss of their two CETA workers would cause a problem. "We will have to do without," he said. "Either services won't be done or we'll have to reassign and readjust our priorities."

"No way do we have the money to bring them on full-time," Clifton said. One of these employees works at the wastewater treatment plant and the other works for the street department.

Boyne Falls School Superintendent Ray Mouch said he was "waiting to see what happens." He said that if these cuts did occur, the loss of the two CETA workers at the schools would "probably hurt our program."

East Jordan schools had the same response. There are four CETA workers there and financial supervisor Ruby Dipzinski said the school "wouldn't be able to replace them. It would hurt."

Fern Morris, East Jordan city clerk-treasurer, said city officials were "keeping our fingers crossed and waiting." Five CETA workers are employed by the city, including one in the clerk-treasurer's office, one with the police, one on the street crews, and two at the public library.

"We're still trying to figure a way to keep part of them," Morris said. "But we just don't know."

Barbara Alger, children's librarian for East Jordan said "I'm hoping that it doesn't happen. If we lost them we will be back to three people in the library." Alger went on to say that the cut would create a "two-fold problem. State aid has been cut and now if we lost CETA, well, we're hurting!"

Probably one of the most vocal officials in the county regarding the CETA cutback is county emergency services director Earl Muma. There are two CETA workers in emergency services. Muma said they were both in the house numbering system to assign a different number to every house in the county.

"It would be a loss to the county," Muma said. "There is nothing in the budget for numbering. If the federal government is dumb enough to cut them out of CETA and put them on unemployment they have their head—in the wrong place."

"I don't know who we have to go to, to make them see daylight," Muma continued, "but we've got to do something. Let's let the people work (instead of draw unemployment). The economy is rotten."

Other area CETA employees who may lose workers include the village of Boyne Falls (2), Charlevoix County clerk's office (1), Charlevoix Area Hospital (1), Charlevoix Humane Society (1), sheriff's office (1), Char-Em Intermediate School District (2), Charlevoix schools (2), township of Charlevoix (2), Northern Michigan Community Mental Health (1), and the East Jordan Health Center (1).

Judge okays relocation of Boyne's Front Street

BOYNE CITY - All that remains for Front Street now is to have its new curve actually built.

Circuit Court Judge Martin Breighner ruled Monday, that the Boyne City Commission decision to allow relocation of the road had been responsibly prepared for and that no over-riding consideration existed.

The road change required a court decision because the part of the street being affected lay within four or five rods of the lakefront.

Since March, 1978, when Lake Associates applied to close the street, controversy in varying degree has occupied the city. When a city-wide advisory vote came out in opposition to the closing, the firm, which is planning The Harborage condominium and marina development along the waterfront, modified plans and requested relocation of the street instead. At the court hearing this week, Marvin Loding, a resident representing as he has before, a group of people in the area, stated their objections to having the view of the lake affected by the relocation. Loding said they wanted the relocation to begin 300 ft. short of where it is now proposed.

Dave Smith of Lake Associates said such modification would produce two sharp curves and open the street to snow drifting. He also said that just beyond were several miles of lake shore driving.

Construction on the site, planned three years ago, is already under way. It will now include a new section of Front Street, curving back from the water a maximum of 300 ft. and paid for by the developers.

Consultant helps EJ find school chief

EAST JORDAN - At the end of school last year, Supt. Mel Rullman announced he would retire from the school administration at the end of this year.

The school board is now working on finding a replacement. School board president Mary Jason announced at the board's regular meeting Monday that the board has hired a consultant from Michigan Association of School Boards.

He is Dr. Carl Brautigam and he is slated to provide several services for a fee of $2,000.

Wednesday and Thursday, Jan. 14 and 15, he has been scheduled to collect input from interested groups and individuals on their ideas about the position. The school board has encouraged anyone to come in and talk over their views.

Brautigam will advertise both widely and specifically for candidates. And he will also conduct a seminar with those concerned on how to interview candidates.

The board, according to Jason, is very hopeful that Brautigam with his wide contacts will be able to bring in the kind of candidates most appropriate to the needs of East Jordan.

Jason said the search is starting now when the chance of reaching the best professionals is highest. She said also the board wants to get under way in view of the board recall vote scheduled for March 3.

If March brings a board with new members, such an important project as finding a new superintendent would be a large order to start with.

The selection of a superintendent will not come before the recall election, Jason said, because the board that chooses the superintendent should be the board that works with him or her.

Four of East Jordan's seven school board members will be up for possible recall from office in the Teachers nix night school

EAST JORDAN - The lack of a teaching contract in East Jordan may seriously hurt the night school program, Community Education Director Frank Holes says.

Holes is hastily trying to find five night school teachers by Feb. 1, because five day school teachers who are now teaching classes "refuse to teach night school" after Feb. 1.

Their refusal to teach is linked to a

March election. If any board members are recalled, replacements will be appointed by the Char-Em Intermediate School Board. The appointees would serve until new board members are elected in the annual June school election.

teachers' union decision not to participate in any school extra-curricular activities which occur outside of regular school hours.

Rodger Ransom, president of the teachers' union, said this "withholding of services" is being done as a protest. "It should be pointed out to people that we still don't have a

Wetland is first gift to Walloon trust

WALLOON LAKE - The recently organized land conservancy of the Walloon Lake Association Trust received its first transfer of a parcel of land last week.
 Walloon Trust President, Dr. William Heisel said, "We are pleased to accept this important first donation of land." Trust officers were especially pleased with the gift from the Walloon South Bay Association, because it is a wetland area.

Managing partner of the Walloon South Bay Association, John W. Wolf, said the group was pleased to present the area to the Trust in an effort to insure protection for the sensitive acreage for years to come.

The wetland area consists of more than six acres on the South Arm of Walloon Lake adjoining South Arm Creek in Charlevoix County. The area acts as a natural filter for a significant portion of the surrounding watershed.

Heisel went on to say, "It is so appropriate that the initial land donation to the Trust be a wetlands area such as this, since the stated purpose of the land conservancy is to protect the watershed of Walloon and thus protect the water quality of the lake.

"Our thanks to the donors, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Wolf, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Lincoln, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. Hausbeck, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pohl, and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Wright."

Lands donated to the Walloon Trust will never be developed or sold by the Trust. The purpose of the Trust is land preservation and environmental protection and to act as a perpetual guardian of undeveloped land on Walloon Lake and its adjacent watershed.

Anyone interested in making a real estate donation on Walloon Lake should contact trust members William Fisher, William A. Heisel, Lynn G. Stedman, Walter W. Glass or Edgar H. Lot-speich.

A donor will be entitled to deduct from his taxable income the fair market value of his land parcel at the time of transfer to the trust. Real estate parcels which are contributed will be preserved in their natural state and condition.

Now it's for sale Dilworth to stay closed

BOYNE CITY - There have been several planned opening dates for the Dilworth restaurant winter season, but as yet none have been met, and the historic gathering place for skiers in Boyne City has still not opened its doors to the public since Labor Day.

According to Latimer Spinney, of Petoskey, one of the Dilworth owners, the business and real estate are for sale and will soon be listed with a local broker with a $395,000 price tag. "We were going to open it after Christmas but it just didn't work out."

Business beat says Spinney. "We don't have an operator right now. Our previous manager (Rick Vogel) is now working downstate. We could open within a couple of hours if we had a manager."

Spinney adds that the upstairs of the hotel, which hasn't been used as a hotel for a number of years, was to be converted to condominiums, but an application for a Farmers Home Administration loan was held up because of red tape.

The hotel rooms need extensive repair and Spinney thinks that condo conversion would be more viable than operating it as a hotel.

Chambers plan annual meetings

The Chambers of Commerce in Boyne City and East Jordan have both scheduled their annual dinner meetings for next month.

The East Jordan Chamber dinner will be held Sunday, Feb. 1, at the Jordan Inn, while the Boyne City Chamber dinner is scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 24, at Boyne Mountain Lodge.

Ticket prices, entertainment and other details regarding the Boyne Chamber dinner are now being arranged. Tickets will soon be available at the Chamber office and from board members.

Tickets for the East Jordan dinner are $10 per person and are available at the EJ Shop, Jordan Valley Pharmacy and the main office of Northwestern State Bank. Cocktail hour begins at 6 p.m., and dinner will be served at 7.

contract. It isn't just business as usual."

"I sympathize with Frank (Holes) because he really doesn't have any control over the situation. But it should be pointed out to people that we still don't have a contract. It isn't just business as usual."

Holes said that if he can't find certified teachers his five classes won't run as scheduled. Adults as well as 10 or 12 day school students who are taking night school, may not be able to fulfill their graduation requirements this spring, he said.

Holes needs teachers for classes in auto mechanics, business, social studies, art and math/science. "I'm beating the bushes now trying to find teachers who can teach these classes," he said.

Ransom said the day school teachers taught night school during the first semester because the decision to not work after hours was made after the semester started. Teachers who already started extracurricular activities were allowed to continue them.

Fourth grade teachers have also refused to accompany their students on an annual trip to the Shrine Circus in Grand Rapids because of the union recommendation. The trip will be made anyway with parent chaperones.

Ransom said that these problems would end as soon as a tentative agreement is reached for teachers' contract.

Some progress has been made in recent days in "informal" negotiating sessions, he said. "We're really not that far apart. Now it's just a matter of taking the bull by the horns and finishing it up."

Sure enough, CETA cuts cost more than they save

With typical government intelligence a U.S. senator from Florida has aided once again in cutting what little Michigan gets back from the federal government and raised the cost of getting it.

In an amendment made Dec. 17, the national CETA budget was cut by $900 million dollars. This cut will reduce Charlevoix County's total payroll by approximately $35,000 monthly or nearly one half million dollars a year.

We realize that taxpayers were in a cost-cutting mood when they cast their ballots last November. And we're not advocating that all CETA programs be retained forever. But when government reacts to public opinion, it should react in a responsible manner. Some of the latest cuts are being made with less than a month's notice, when the CETA employers thought they had commitments for funding for nine months.

Hasty, knee-jerk reactions like this one can hurt more than they help. It will save federal dollars but it will cost more local and state dollars in the long run.

First, we have the loss of services. Most of the Title VI CETA workers are getting needed jobs accomplished for which funding is largely not available. Many officials agree that the jobs they are doing will just not get done.

Secondly, the CETA workers that can comply with the requirement for unemployment will add to already over-burdened state expenditures. Many of those who aren't able to comply will end up on the welfare rolls—another expenditure to the state and the Michigan taxpayer.

Finally those workers who are unable to find jobs and end up on unemployment or welfare will not pay taxes on that money. While they are drawing CETA pay, they do pay taxes.

The real tragedy in all of this is that Charlevoix County residents will end up paying more and receiving less.

Big Brothers and Big Sisters of Charlevoix, because of loss of other funding, will probably become a very limited part-time operation. Children who are already on a waiting list, will surely hurt from the cutback.

The Boyne City Area Chamber of Commerce has, with the aid of CETA, become a six day a week operation with many exciting plans for 1981, Boyne City's 125th birthday. The loss there will certainly hurt their programs to bring tourists to the area and may affect the hours.

In East Jordan, a community already hurt by state aid cuts to the school and library, cuts by CETA will add insult to injury. A total of 10 CETA jobs will be cut from there and the damage to morale could be as extensive as the financial one.

Earl Muma, said it best. "We've got to do something!" Now is the time for that letter you've been meaning to send to your congressman or senator. Take that pencil in hand and get the lead out.

Old cities dying? Not Boyne!

Hey, do you know that Boyne City will celebrate its 125th year next summer? Of course. But if you keep saying it out loud you'll get us all into trouble.

Whatever in this blue-eyed sub-zero weather are you talking about?

The government is being urged to let our older cities die on the vine. If Washington hears about Boyne City's age, we're done for.

Hal Boyne City has been done for ever since W. H. White shouldered his saw and left town.

No it hasn't. Condominiums and home box office have kept us right up there with the best of them. We even have an unemployment office all our own.

What's this dying on the stem the Lord and the government are talking about?

Well, our older cities are worn out, they're going broke and the government isn't going to fork over any more tax money to keep them afloat. Go to the sunbelt, they say. Let the older northern cities freeze on a vine of sour grapes.

Do you mean that because of Boyne City's age it will dry up and scatter its ashes all over Chandler Hill?

It's liable to if you keep piping off about it being 125 years old. When Washington gets wind of it, those bureaucrats will quit tinkering with their right off. The council won't get another dime to fund stuff. O-Cat and thumb twiddling could take on an even greater significance.

Oh, my gosh. If Boyne City fizzles out there won't be a buffer to stop East Jordan folks from going straight to Petoskey to fiddle away their money.

Well, yes. That would be one of the serious side effects.

Why couldn't we pool our intelligence and fool the government? Suppose we came up with a way to run the city without it. I understand we did that years ago.

Run Boyne City without government help? Are you crazy? You remind me of my father when he got mad at the barber and tried to cut his own hair.

I know. Why couldn't we raise a lot of hoopla next summer without telling anyone?

I tried that once. It ain't no fun raising your voice when nobody's listening.

Well, it sticks in my craw that Ronald Reagan would let the government forget Boyne City's wants and needs. After all, everyone in town with a wart and a wrinkle voted for him so they could live happily ever after.

I've already lived happily ever after, but you've struck a chord. It's possible that you aren't entirely nuts after all.

Thank you, kind sir. I think. It has been my experience that when you approach a Republican with a straight face, he thinks you're making sense. If we were to assume a solemn position and bow and scrape, the great mass of Republicans in the new administration just might come up with a cure for Boyne City's death.

Hurrah for you! Let the celebration begin.

'Going back' has its terrors

A call came in as a result of last week's school column. It came from an older person who had been taking a course at a college.

She said she was asked by a student of more typical college age to answer a few questions for his survey. One was: How do you feel, being much older than the other students?

The whole thing, including the student's manner, seemed to her to be a put-down.

It's true—I've seen, especially in daytime classes, when there was only one older person in a class of teen-aged students, the young people may try to make the older person feel out of place.

But in a few weeks, it turns out the older person quietly pays such good attention, studies so hard, and applies his or her experience to the learning so well, that the others begin to want the older student's opinions on things and

Our Schools

BY BARBARA CRUDEN

even ask him or her for help. The students say to me, "You know, he (she) is nice!"

I've taught enough night classes, too, where most of the students were the older ones, and found them to be serious and effective learners. As effective as the younger ones, at least.

But even in the night classes, the road is not easy for older students. Some drop out because their husbands want them to stay home. Some have high-school-aged children who are embarrassed that their mother or father is only now finishing school. In most cases, though, the children are proud of their parents.

And rightly so. Although it is a growing trend, going "back" to school is still in its pioneering stages. It takes courage because it has its terrors.

"The teacher wants us to write a paper. What is a 'paper'?"

"The other students are much farther along than I am."

But the terrors disappear when students realize they have a right to ask questions, a right to be helped. They disappear when students realize the mind has no age.

And in place of feeling put down or having terrors comes a strong feeling that life is more interesting than it used to be.

Why change EJ Tourist Park?

Editor,

The Charlevoix County Press ran an article in their Jan. 8 issue on the updating of the East Jordan Tourist Park with the grant funds from the DNR of $30,000. The money would be used for building a berm around the park to shut out noise, especially along M-66.

This berm would be four feet high with bushes and trees on top of the berm. This idea is aggravating the homeowners on the west side of M-66 as this will cut off their view of the lake.

As I remember, as a councilman for the past two years, when this grant money from the DNR was granted, it stipulated the upgrading of the beach area and boat docking facilities, not for a berm with bushes and trees.

This article also stated quote: "City council members, however, concluded the Tourist Park was not the proper place for permanent and semi-permanent residents whose low rent and prime location were subsidized by East Jordan taxpayers."

In commenting on this item I would like to say the low rent the article mentioned is still higher than what is paid at Lakeview Village, a mobile home park in Boyne City, and there is so much more to be offered there—like larger lots.

Further, the article states that it's not the proper place for permanent and semi-permanent homes. If this be true, why did the city government give building permits to mobile homeowners in the East Jordan Tourist Park for adding awnings and paved patios? A good deal of money was spent by mobile homeowners to upgrade their homes. All mobile homes are maintained by their owners with no help from the city as to planting trees, mowing lawns, etc.

The article also states "the low rent and prime locations were subsidized by East Jordan taxpayers." Most taxpayers don't realize that before the moratorium was put on the park there were 41 permanent mobile homes with 10 more semi-permanent mobile homes that were maintained year-around.

These 51 mobile homes paid three dollars a month in taxes, two dollars going for school taxes and one dollar to city government. This amounts to taxes of $1,836 a year for approximately seven acres that these homes were located on.

The mobile homes that are still in the park (20 at present) give the city a rental income of $1,620 a month which increases considerably through the summer months.

As most people going by the Tourist Park can see, there is no travel trailer business during the six or seven months during the winter. So how can the park be self-supporting when the permanent mobile homes are gone?

The article also states that the "park is not meant as a source of revenue for the city government." If this be true why was our rent raised two or three times in the last few years?

The sorry part of the whole thing is there has always been plenty of room for mobile homes, travel trailers, tents, and picnickers, so why change it now?

I do have hopes that the city council with new members and mayor will review some of these statistics and come up with a suitable formula for all concerned. In this day and age how far will $30,000 go anyway?

Fire victim advises

Take inventory of your home

Editor,

It's been two years since we've had our house fire and for these two years I've been wanting to write a letter to all of your homeowners to tell you to listen to your insurance agents and take inventory of your house contents or take pictures of every room and wall (and don't leave the pictures in your house!).

Jake and I had more contents in our house than I could have ever imagined. We were in one way lucky because everything was only heat and smoke damaged. We had visual things to inventory. Even then we missed many articles, because I couldn't remember by looking at melted things what they were.

It took us and the neighbors three months to figure out the costs of everything, when we bought them and how long we had them. Believe me, this was a lot of work, especially when you're still in a state of shock.

It would be much easier to take one evening a week and do it before you have a fire...you'll be surprised what you have in one room. A kitchen drawer could have over a $100 of contents.

After figuring our inventory we found we were way under-insured on contents, only because we never took time to do what I'm trying to tell you to do.

Please don't feel like we did, that this could never happen to you...we average about 70 to 80 fires a year in the Boyne City area and the next one could be at your home.

I know 75 percent of you will not do anything even after reading this, but I'll be pleased to have 25 percent. Our fire-prompted quite a few of our friends to take inventory. We hope you'll be added to that list. We've been there.

Next nuclear drill: What if...

Editor,

The fire alarm has just sounded in a Charlevoix school and the teacher says, "Students, that was the fire alarm you just heard. Sit quietly in your seats and I'll explain to you what you should do in case there really was a fire!"

Sound ridiculous? Well isn't that the kind of "fire drill" folks are being given in regard to a possible nuclear accident at Big Rock?

I have not seen the new booklet on the "evacuation plan" so I'm writing from what I've read in the area news media and heard in an interview by a lady from radio station KHQ and Earl Muma, Charlevoix County Emergency Services Director.

I was more concerned with what he did NOT say than what he did. The reporter asked concerning a hypothetical situation—though perfectly logical—"What if the alarm sounds and we are told to head somewhere south and I'm on the south side of town but my family lives on the north side, my children are in school and my first impulse is to head for the school to pick up my children?"

Mr. Muma did not give a single word in explanation of that question! You'd think it was a six foot rattlesnake to be avoided at all costs! I've only seen one mention of the children in all the media reports in the past year. A couple of months ago there was mention that if school was in session school buses would transport the children to shelters in East Jordan and Boyne City.

Is someone trying to kid someone? I would think that one-third to one-half of the pupils in Charlevoix walk to school. Did you ever see a school bus arrive at school in the morning that wasn't pretty well loaded? Just how in heck do they propose to get them all out in time?

Special buses would be used to gather up those who are handicapped or do not have transportation of their own. What special buses?

Can you imagine a man working at any of the plants or garages on the south end of town, who lives on the north side of town, heading south and leaving his wife and family to get out any way they can?

Yet, Mr. Muma supposes that the sheriff would institute one-way traffic over the bridge! Now there is an invitation to disaster.

They mentioned a hypothetical accident in the meeting last March. A truck accident at the corner of U.S. 131 and M-75 at Walloon Lake, wasn't it? Nice convenient place to pick for an accident. First off it was far enough away that it could scarcely even enter into the picture and secondly it is a nice big corner where you could have an accident and still have lots of room to get around it.

They tell us farmers that we should get our cattle out of the pasture and afterwards civil defense workers would see to it that they are fed from "emergency supplies!"

What emergency supplies? And what civil defense worker is going to have time—or is going to be foolish enough to risk his health—to feed someone else's cattle?

Anyway few beef cow men even have barn room enough to get their animals inside and they are usually open shelters. Beef cattle used to being out in the open suddenly penned up in an unventilated area would doubtless contract pneumonia! Wanna bet?

So now they are going to have another "drill" with hypothetical accidents! I'd like to propose some right in their own dooryard. How about folks on the south side heading for the Division Street School to get their kindergarten children, and too many people heading south across the bridge and an accident occurs on the bridge tying up traffic? And believe me, if parents headed out of town without their children then American parenthood has reached an unbelievable low!

Or let's hypothetically transport my farm to near the old Loeb farm and it still straddles M-66. I try to bring my cattle across the road to get them in the shelter. By the time I get them to the gate traffic has really built up. If I ever tried to get them across they'd have an accident and it wouldn't be hypothetical.

Or let's have a real good one. Say Castle Farms is having a rock concert and it is 9 p.m.! I would guess you'd see the greatest pile of scrap metal ever in Northern Michigan—interspersed with people of course.

I've seen the condition of some of their customers way down here. The morning after the last concert, a hitch hiker was lying cross wise on the southbound lane of M-66 in front of our house—20 miles away!

In the early 1950's, when the rural electric company power plant at Advance was being discussed, it was Consumers Power officials who were at the meetings loudly proclaiming how unnecessary it was because Consumers Power could produce all the power Northern Michigan could possibly use. Now in the same manner they proclaim Big Rock absolutely necessary.

When Big Rock was being built, they sent some pipes down to East Jordan to be encased in two inches of lead. Now there must have been something very important about those pipes but no one from Bethel—the builders—or Consumers Power was on hand to see that the job was properly done. Also, when I visited Big Rock about a year ago I talked to a couple of different superintendents and they hadn't the slightest idea as to the location of those pipes or their purpose.

So, yes, let's have another "drill." Only this time let's have it without warning and let's see what would really happen. After all, that is the way we teach our kids in fire drills at schools.

A year ago I lamented that I lived only about 25 miles downwind from Big Rock. Yes my attitude has changed. Now I'm darn glad that I do live 25 miles downwind—and that's too close!

Maurice L. Hartung
East Jordan

P.S. The emergency evacuation plan reminds me of one of my wife's kitchen utensils. It's called a colander. Only thing, the colander doesn't have as many holes in it.

Glide, slide and oops!

Support yourself with poles, draw one foot back, lift it and move forward. The basics of cross-country skiing are easily mastered in a few simple exercises. However, if that doesn't work for you, simply do a snow shuffle as pictured above.

BY TRISH WRIGHT

Just about anyone can cross-country ski. All you need are two long thin boards of wood or fiberglass, two poles and the ability to pick yourself up cheerfully from the snow.

Learning from a professional is the best way to introduce yourself to this silent sport, but if you just want to go it alone take along a good friend and strike a posture that resembles some of the following positions.

Choose a level area for your first outing. Once you have started walking on skis, walk in a circle and then start back around the circle. You will immediately realize that breaking through virgin snow is more difficult than skiing on snow that is packed.

Ski poles should be used to assist your balance when you begin to take longer strides. Keep a mental picture of Bill Koch, the American cross-country Olympic skier in your mind.

Now do a few cross-country moves while standing in place. Support yourself with both poles, draw one foot back, lift it and move forward. Repeat this exercise while pushing as hard and fast as you can. As you become heated, remember to change your feet, it's too late to change your mind.

Start skiing by bringing the rear ski forward and gliding on it. Before the glide has ended give the other foot the same workout. Lift your ski slightly off the snow so that it skims forward on the tip and bears no weight until after the feet have passed.

When you come to a hill bend your knees to absorb some of the shock. This saves your nervous system from undue stress and really can be helpful on the downhill slide. Notice that it is at this point that we shift from glide to stride.

Your next downhill attempt should include shifting your weight from side to side. Lift one ski off the snow for an instant before quickly putting it back down. Keep at it until you can ski downhill first on one foot and then on the other. Hum a few bars of a slow easy rhythm while you're shifting and dancing downhill.

Now you are on the level and hopefully you arrived at that position standing up. Glide and turn by picking one ski off the ground and setting it down at a small angle to the track. The second ski follows so that it is parallel to the first ski. Perpendicular poses are out in cross-country skiing.

If you have mastered the flatland turn, try it while going downhill. Force the skis into a "V", tips together and tails about four or five feet apart. To turn to the left, the weight of your body is placed on the right ski. To turn to the right, weight the left ski. In short—snowplow.

If you are curious about the snow snake that tripped you on your previous downhill run, climb uphill to find him. Vengeance may make going uphill on skis a little easier.

Ski forward until the skis are almost to the point of backslipping. At this point start a modified side step so that you can move ahead and up. If the hill gets steeper, be prepared to angle your skis crosswise toward the slope. Think of yourself as a tweed jacket and herringbone it to the top.

If you prefer to see someone else doing it first, tune in to WCMU-TV, Channel 14, and WCML-TV, Channel 6 at 7:30 p.m. on Saturdays. A five part series on learning to cross-country ski began January 10 and will continue through February 7.

Fiddlin' for fun

Just fiddlin' around? It's only January and you're already tired of winter sports and looking for something different to do?

The Fiddlers' Jamboree and old-fashioned square dancing to be held this Saturday night at the East Jordan Civic Center could provide a break. Sponsored by the Original Michigan Fiddlers' Association, the jamboree will feature 40 or more musicians and fiddlers in a jamboree from 1 to 5 p.m.

During the jamboree, fiddlers from all over Michigan will present fine music and plain old-fashioned fiddlin'.

A dance from 7 to 11 p.m. will include square and round dancing. The public is invited and there is no age limit. Everyone is invited to bring fiddles or other non-electrified instruments. No charge, but donations are welcomed.

The Original Michigan Fiddlers' Association sanctions about eight jamborees yearly. The organization was established about eight years ago by Bob Fleck of Detroit, who traveled extensively throughout Michigan and surrounding states listening to fiddlers play and trying to capture on tape songs and old tunes that had been handed down.

Local member Bill Stevens said "If the weather is good we are expecting about 300 people." Stevens went on to say that state president Clair Stevens, a fiddler from Ypsilanti, would be here for the jamboree. Anyone interested may join the association at the jamboree.

Coming soon.. Avalanche Ski Classic

BY TRISH WRIGHT

The woods and flatlands are now full of people out on cross-country maneuvers. And it won't be long until this ski-strapped species meets to compete in what may be the biggest and best race of the year.

The fourth annual Avalanche Ski Classic cross-country race will be held on Saturday, Jan. 31. This ski race will traverse the hills and valleys of the Avalanche Mountain Preserve in Boyne City.

It will offer the serious racer a long distance challenge in the 10 kilometer event and the recreational skier a chance to stretch his limbs and go along for the glide in the five kilometer race. Both races begin at noon Saturday.

Many people enter the race just for the fun of it. Every participant gets a souvenir race T-shirt and bib. The top three finishers in each of the 24 racing divisions will receive an Olympic style medal.

A grand prize for the fastest finisher in the 10 kilometer (6.2 mile) race is a vacation for two in Boyne City that will include lodging, meals and entertainment.

Special prizes will be awarded to the youngest and oldest racers, the family with the most entries and the most humorous costume. Free liquid refreshments will be provided at the finish line.

And after the race, a special racer's lunch will be available at the Dilworth Hotel, in downtown Boyne City, from 2 to 4 p.m. Evening festivities will continue the fun with live entertainment from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m.

Race organizers urge anyone interested in racing for competition or just plain fun to enter early. The entry fee for the race is $6 from now through Jan. 23. From Jan. 24 through race day, Jan. 31, the fee will be $10.

For entry forms, write the Avalanche Ski Classic, Boyne City Hall, 319 N. Lake Street, Boyne City, Michigan 49712.

Check-in procedures will be from 8 to 10 a.m. on the day of the race at race headquarters, The Dilworth Hotel. All competitors must check in and pick up race information and bibs at this time.

Whether you prefer downhill or cross-country skiing, there are plenty of fun events planned for the public in Winter '81.

Ski league organizing Local kids win gold medals

BY TRISH WRIGHT

Interest in the invigorating healthy sport of nordic skiing mushroomed in the 1970's partly because of the outstanding athlete, Bill Koch, who became the first American ever to win a medal in Olympic cross-country skiing competition. Koch won a silver medal at the 1976 Winter Olympic games.

The Charlevoix-Emmet Counties Youth Activities Program will host a Bill Koch Cross-Country Ski League meeting in Boyne City at 7 p.m.

Monday, Jan. 19 at Boyne City High School.

The Bill Koch Cross-Country Ski League is sponsored by the United States Ski Association and the Charlevoix-Emmet Counties Youth Activities Program. It is a national Nordic ski program for youngsters through the age of 15 and is based on the premise that fun and fitness are important elements in developing a healthy lifestyle.

Any boy or girl, 15 years old or younger, can be a member of the Bill Koch Youth Ski League. Membership applications are available from the Charlevoix-Emmet Counties Youth Activities Program. Each new member receives an official membership card, a league patch, a wall poster and five issues per year of the league's official newsletter.

All league members are eligible to be members of local league clubs. These clubs are organized by parents and other volunteers who want to work with children in nordic skiing.

"We are trying to get adults interested in the sports participation program which is part of the Bill Koch Cross-Country Ski League," said Michael Davis, Charlevoix County Youth Activities Program Director.

"Volunteers can donate as much of their time as they wish," Davis added. Anyone who likes sports and children and can contribute two or three hours a week is invited to attend the Jan. 19 meeting or call the Youth Activities Program at 547-4471. We also want to invite people who would like to help the league but not actively participate in the club's outings."

The first national gold medal winner in the Bill Koch Ski League was David Gocha from East Jordan. This year's sport's participation gold medal winners from East Jordan are Connie Bennett, fifth grade; and Sara Chase, third grade. Boyne City winners are Mark Felton, fifth grade; Michelle Felton, third grade; and Elizabeth Sturm, ninth grade.

NEATNESS COUNTS

Okay, so you and your Realtor have decided on a price for your home. The salespeople are out trying to sell it, and there are ads in the newspapers. The wheels are in motion to get the right buyer. Soon you get a call from a salesperson: "We have a good prospect, the price seems right for them, and it looks like the kind of house they want. We'll be bringing them over Sunday!"

Assuming next Sunday is a couple days off, what's your next move? Go through your house, and if it's the least bit messy, clean it up! Put things away in a neat and orderly manner in cabinets, on shelves, and especially in closets and store rooms!

Consciously or subconsciously, a prospective home buyer will judge a home by the way it looks while you're living in it. Furthermore, a closet or store room with stuff piled high here and there gives the impression that there's a shortage of storage space in your home. Always remember: the neat look is the SELLING look!

Earl made money and rabbit stew

A little while after the turn of the century when Earl Smith was about 15-years old, he traded a watch for two rabbits with his friend, Johnny Beaton.

"Are you out of your mind, Earl, trading your watch for two measly rabbits?"

"Aw Ma, there will be more later and I'll sell them and make a lot of money."

Earl was always figuring out ways to make money. He expected to have a few rabbits to sell eventually but had no idea how soon or how many. He was ready for a long-term investment.

That fall he built a pen for them made of chicken wire and started feeding the two then four, then eight, sixteen and on and on. They multiplied like a chain letter.

As the winter progressed they dug themselves out of the pen looking for food and ate the bark off a hundred young cherry trees. Something had to be done quick.

All through the rest of the winter and early spring on Sunday afternoons all the men and boys of the neighborhood gathered at their farm on U.S. 31 also shot sometimes and got a rabbit back so that helped Earl's finances some. He finally got rid of all the rabbits and the men had to find something else to do Sunday afternoons.

I have been wondering how all those people cooked them. They must have had lots of rabbit stew that spring.

My bowling friend, Russ Toner, gave me this recipe for rabbit. He is raising them at his place on Korthase Road. I hope he does better financially than Earl did.

to shoot at a target for the rabbits.

Word spread fast from Interlochen, inland, Bendon and Lake Ann. They all used the same gun, Earl's 22 Stevens crack-shot single-shot rifle. Five men each paid a nickel to shoot at a target. The one closest to the bull's eye got a rabbit.

So Earl got a quarter for each rabbit, but he and his brothers, Walter and Lew

Russ Toner's Rabbit Stew
One dressed rabbit
1 can condensed mushroom soup, plus 1 can water
1/2 green pepper, diced
2 stalks celery, diced
4 tablespoons cooking oil
Cut rabbit in about one inch cubes. This is easier to do if it is partly frozen. Brown the meat in the oil, then drain off oil, add mushroom soup plus water, the green pepper and celery, salt and pepper to taste and simmer 1 1/2 hours or until tender. Pour contents over rice.

Good week! Vroman hits 1,000; Ramblers close gap

BOYNE CITY - All in all, it was a great week for the Ramblers.

Brian Vroman scored the 1,000th point of his career last Tuesday, and the team whipped Charlevoix on Friday to pull within one game of first place in the conference.

Vroman, who is only a junior, hit the 1,000 point milestone early in the game against Onaway.

He had scored 896 points in his freshman and sophomore years at Wolverine High School. The 6' 3" Vroman then transferred to Boyne City this fall, where he is averaging more than 19 points a game through seven games.

His joining the Ramblers made an already good team even better, and now Boyne is fighting it out for the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference title.

Besides being an excellent outside shooter, Vroman is also the team's leading rebounder, he is a good defensive player and an exceptional passer.

"Brian is doing it all at both ends of the floor," says Coach Bob Taylor. "He's a great competitor."

The team is looking good too, Taylor said. "We're getting better every game. It's going to be an interesting race."

Helping to make the MHSF race more interesting was Grayling's 12 point win at Petoskey Friday, giving the Northmen their first league loss. The standings are now knotted as Petoskey, Grayling and Cheboygan all have one loss. Boyne is right behind with two losses.

Taylor points out that "a big, big game" is coming up Friday as the Ramblers host Grayling, whose only loss has been a one point decision at Cheboygan.

"They play about the same style that we do," Taylor said. "They call themselves 'The run the gun Vikings.'"

From what I can tell, they don't have much of an offensive pattern. They don't even have guards and forwards. They just bring it down the floor and shoot."

Top gunners on the Grayling squad are Bill Roach, averaging 15.7 points a game, and John Juntilla, averaging 12.6.

Boyne will be looking to avenge a 63-62 loss at Grayling in the first game of the season.

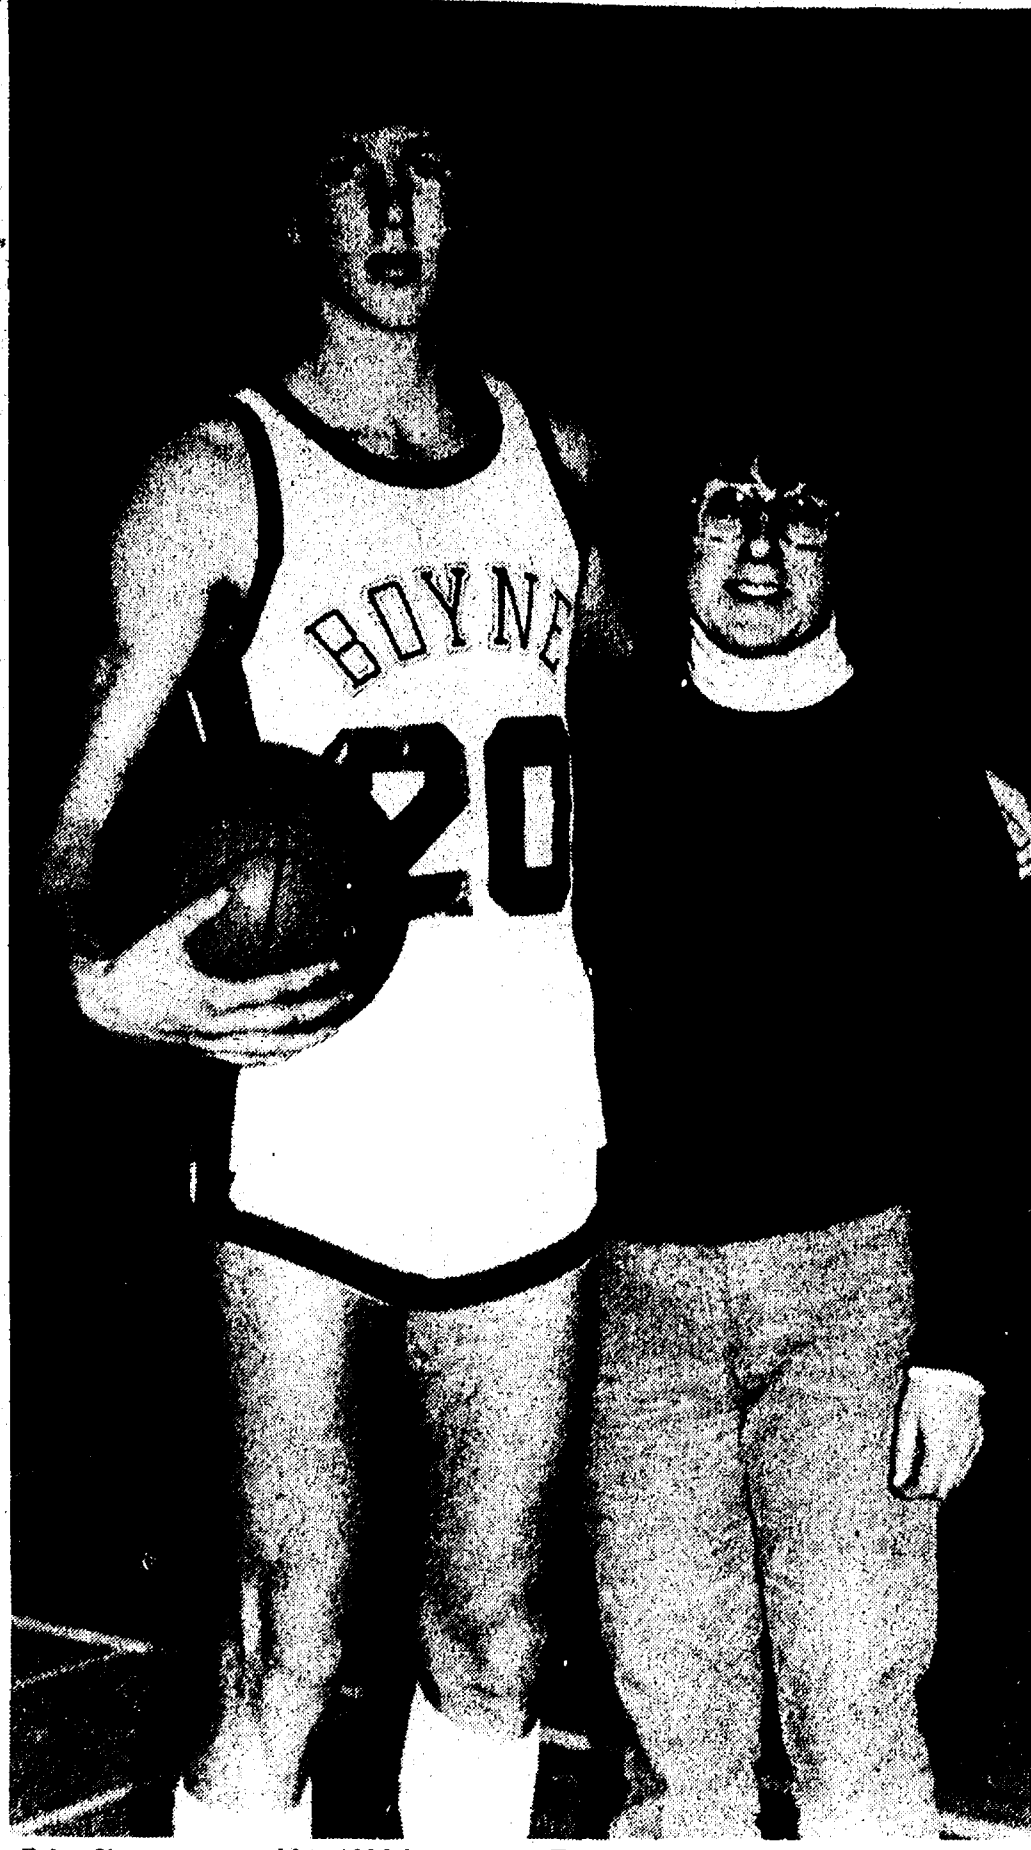

The hometown crowd should help Boyne this time around. Taylor said the home crowd played a big role in the Ramblers' 72-59 win over Charlevoix last Friday. "The fans speeded us up a notch. They played a big part."

Good teamwork and passing also contributed. Larry Jarema had six assists, Kerry Kruzel and Daryl Tims had five each and Vroman and reserve John Tompkins had four. Jarema also scored 16 points and held Scott Drury to four points, well below his average.

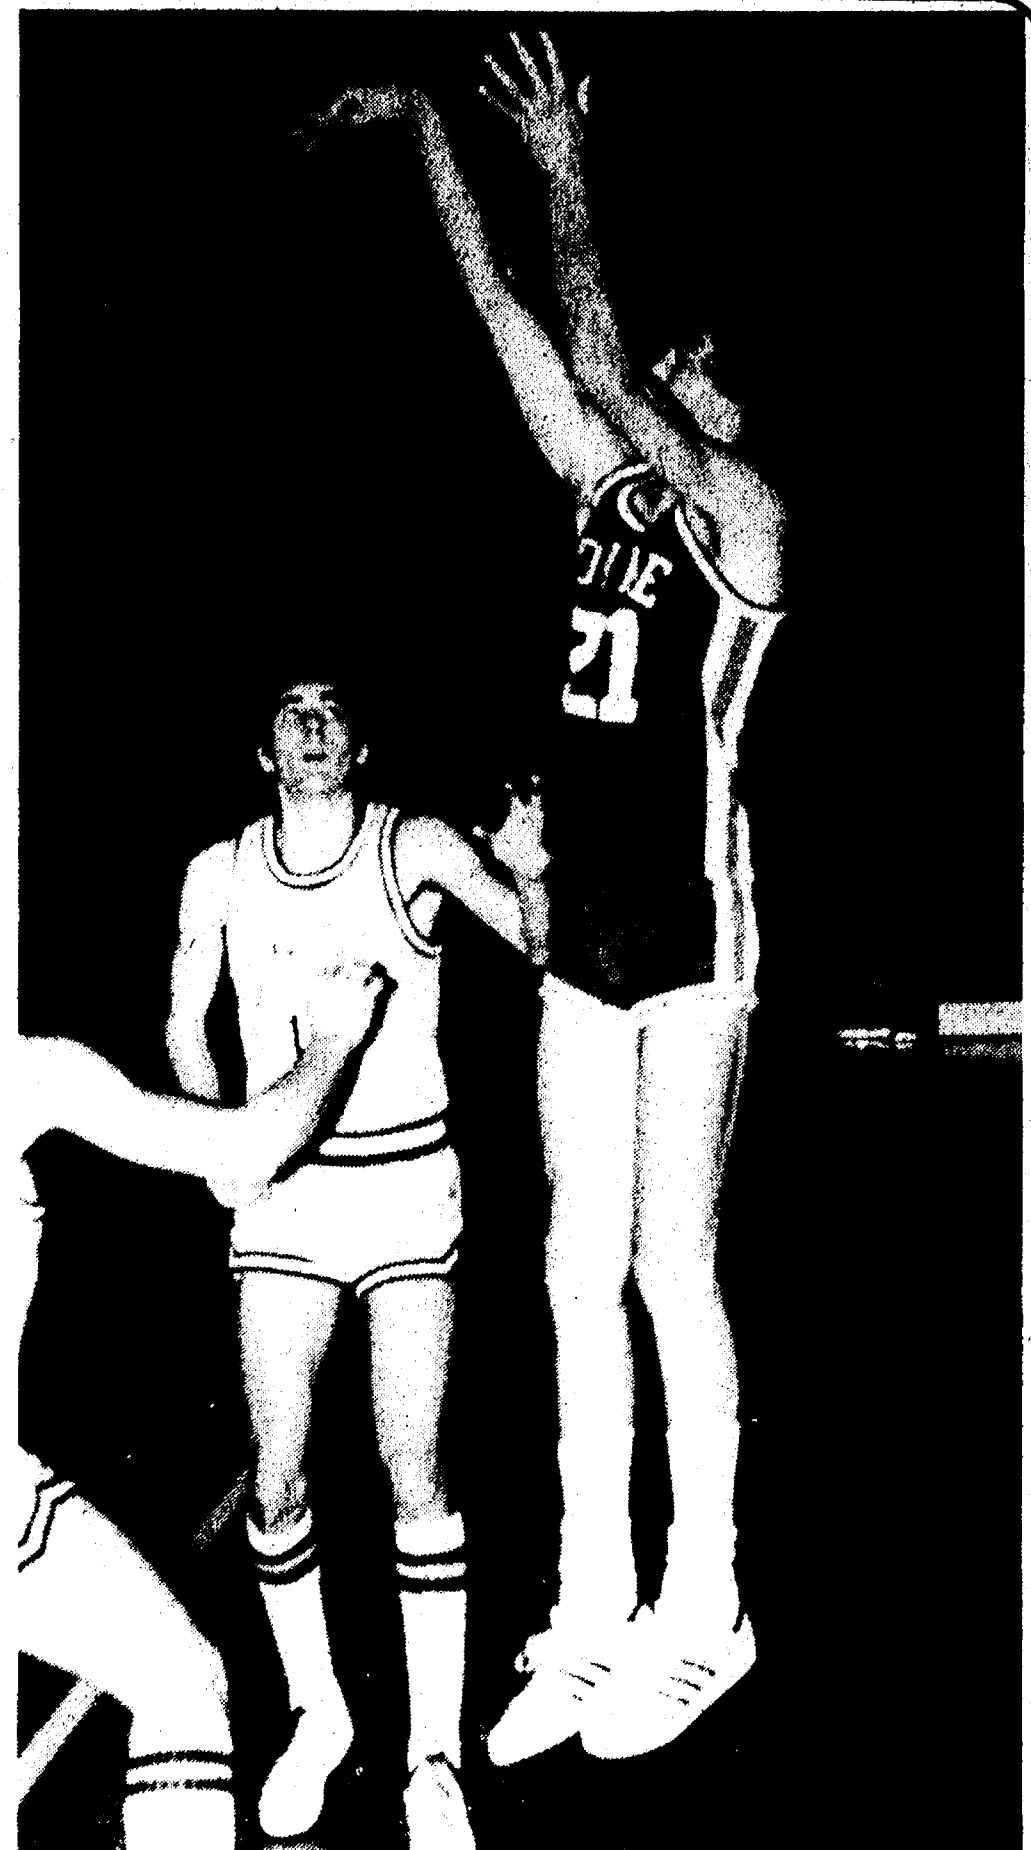

Vroman had 16 points and 18 rebounds, Jim Plachta 13 points and nine rebounds, and Tims had 10 points and 10 rebounds. Kruzel added 10 points, and Tompkins had six.

At Onaway on Jan. 6, Boyne cruised to a 47-17 halftime lead and the reserves played much of the second half. The final verdict was 93-53. Vroman had 20 points, followed by Jarema with 14, Tims 12, Kruzel 10, Plachta and Ken Wilson eight, and Tompkins and Todd Rickard seven. Tims also had 12 rebounds.

Devils draw attention—in wrong class!

EAST JORDAN - The Red Devils rolled to their third victory in a row last week and got some state recognition in the process.

For the second week in a row, the Devils this week were rated an honorable mention spot in the Class C state basketball poll conducted by United Press International.

That's not bad, but when the UPI figures out that East Jordan is actually in Class D this year, the Devils might even move up in the polls...if they keep winning.

Coach Bill Chase isn't worried about the ratings, though. He thinks it's humorous.

The Devils were Class C in football.

But when enrollment dropped this year, they went back to Class D for basketball. Come District Tournament time in March, that means they'll be playing Bellaire, Ellsworth, Central Lake and Alba rather than Charlevoix and Boyne City.

Upcoming games for the Devils include three straight road games against Ski Valley League opponents. This Friday, they go to Mancelona and next Tuesday to Gaylord St. Mary. Both squads are 2-2 in league play.

A big test comes Friday, Jan. 23, when East Jordan goes to Bellaire. The Eagles share the league lead with East Jordan and Central Lake. All three squads have 3-1 marks.

East Jordan's most recent victory was Friday at Inland Lakes. After a 16-14 first quarter, the Devils broke the game open to take a 35-19 halftime lead. They coasted to a 77-49 victory.

Twelve players scored in the romp, with Doug Peck turning in the best of many good performances by the reserves. Peck, a 5-11 junior forward, scored 12 points, all in the fourth quarter.

Mike Spence led the scoring with 14 points, Del Ingalls had 13, and Mike Brennan 11.

The Devils had a tougher time on Jan. 6 against Ellsworth, finally putting away a 69-61 victory in the final minute of play.

Spence and Ingalls again took scoring honors with 16 and 15 points, respectively. Randy Morris added 10, Brennan and Todd Root had nine, and Tom Peters eight.

Loggers play at home for first time in a month

BOYNE FALLS - The Logger basketball squad faces a stubborn Ellsworth team in their first home game in more than a month Friday night.

The Lancers are 2-4 overall, but those defeats have come to some good teams in close games. Last Friday, Ellsworth led state-ranked Johannesburg by a point after three periods before losing.

Boyne Falls is an improving team, though. After losing 44 games straight, the Loggers have now won two of their last four and they are playing much better now that the pressure of the losing streak is off.

Victory number two came last Friday night over Vanderbilt, the same team the Loggers defeated for their only other win this year.

Excellent defense paved the way for the 44-32 decision, with Boyne Falls building up a 25-12 halftime margin. A balanced scoring attack also helped. Tim Smith had 11 points, Jim Spencer nine, Bruce Crouterfield seven, and Norm Mahanke and Pat Harmon both had six. Smith grabbed 12 rebounds, and Crouterfield had eight.

At Alba on Jan. 6, the Loggers dropped a hard-fought 58-46 decision after trailing only 41-35 after three quarters.

Coach Dale Reinhardt thinks Alba is a team the Loggers can beat when they meet again in Boyne Falls—"if we can only stop Steve Bock."

Despite being double-teamed, Bock scored 33 points to lead Alba to victory.

Smith, a standout sophomore center, again led Boyne Falls with 18 points and 12 rebounds. Harmon added eight points and John Hausler had seven. Mahanke contributed 10 rebounds.

BRI takes over lead in men's basketball league

BOYNE CITY - Two games had to be decided in overtime Sunday, and a new leader emerged in Independent Basketball League action.

Boyne River Inn rallied from a 17-point deficit to win in overtime, keeping them undefeated in second round play.

The BRI trailed Boyne City Lanes Northwestern State Bank by as much as 17 in the second quarter, slowly whittled down the lead and won it 86-82 in overtime.

Mark Long led the winners with 19 points, and Mike Ruhlman added 14. For BC Lanes Bank, Jeff Kruzel had 21 points, and Kendall Spohn scored 17.

Schafer's moved into a tie for second place by beating Country Star Market, 102-97 in overtime. Dean Hicks poured in 41 points to lead Schafer's, and Tim Hartwick chipped in with 24. Leading scorers for Country Star were Dave Peck with 21 points and Bob Taylor and Dave DeNise with 19 each.

Great Lakes Energy Systems, winners of the first round, won their first game of the second round, 93-85, over Payton's Well Drilling. Hal Price had 21 and Al Looze 15 for Great Lakes, while Tim Crego's 29 points and Terry Erber's 23 were tops for Payton's.

NEXT SUNDAY: BRI vs. Payton's at 12:30 p.m., Country Star vs. Great Lakes at 1:45, Schafer's vs. BC Lanes/Bank at 3.

Bill currently plays the role of sixth man on the Red Devil basketball team. Coach Bill Chase said Spence "comes in off the bench and really gets us going. Bill hasn't scored a lot of points but he has been playing great defense. He's our sparkplug." Bill, a 5-9 junior, is the son of Patricia Spence. He has been a starting halfback on the East Jordan football team the past two years.
