UGH!

It's time to pay your taxes

BY KATHY JOHNSON

With the recent receipt of property tax statements there seem to be two emotional camps at opposite poles concerning the rising costs of property taxes.

For some there is the "We need good schools, good government, good roads" philosophy. This is the group that recognizes the rising costs, but thinks that in order to get, they've got to give. Many of these are small land owners or those with children. This is the less vocal group of the two.

In the other camp are those who think they already pay too much and that the cost is escalating beyond their ability to pay for what they have. There is real concern among some that if the taxes continue to grow at their present rate they'll be forced into selling what they have, or a portion of it, in order to pay their taxes.

Asked about her taxes, one Boyne City resident said, "It just grinds my gizzard that it's gone up so fast. It really gets me."

In her case, the home she and her husband purchased in 1966 has had an increase in property taxes of 253 percent, while their assessed value has only increased 129 percent.

The greatest increase has occurred in the last four years, when their taxes increased from $529.58 to this year's tax of $1,111.49. "We're going to pay more next year," she lamented.

In Wilson Township two different landowners with large parcels of land were concerned that they would eventually have to sell part of their land in order to keep the balance.

"Part of the charm of Michigan is the open space and undeveloped land. If we have to sell off parts of our land to pay the taxes then eventually we'll be left with nothing but small plots and the charm will be gone for everyone," one township resident said.

The other resident brought forth a folder containing tax receipts dating back to the purchase of her property in 1958. While these taxes may not be average, even taken as an exception, they are a startling example of the situation.

In 1958 the property had an assessed value of $1900 and property taxes were $53.64. Over the next 10 years the property rose in assessed value to $4,800 and the taxes went up to $158.40.

This $53.64 property tax bill from 1958 has soared to $1,205 today.

But, in the last 12 years the taxes have risen to $1,205.07 and the assessed value to $24,600. Percentages here run into increases most have never even considered. From the time of purchase in 1958 to 1980, the taxes have increased 2,146 percent while the assessed value has risen 1,194 percent.

The most startling thing about the increase is where it has come from. Of the total taxes now due ($1,205.07) a total of $1,032.56 is school taxes. That is an increase of 4,564 percent since 1958, when the school tax bill was $22.

"Then they wonder why I vote no on school taxes," the resident said.

Don MacNaughton, a certified residential appraiser and associate broker with Real Estate One, of Boyne City, says that most people don't realize the true value of their property. "People get their tax statement and they think it is outrageous, but normally their taxes are based on 50 percent of the fair market value."

Supt. survives one crisis but....

More trouble ahead for Rasch?

BY JIM BAUMANN

EAST JORDAN - City Supt. Herman Rasch survived one attempt to fire him last week, but he may not be out of the woods yet.

New mayor Archie Nemecek led a move to fire Rasch last Tuesday, and he thought he had the votes to accomplish it.

Nemecek was so sure that he had the necessary four city council votes that he went to Rasch before he was even sworn in as mayor on Jan. 6 and told Rasch to resign or he'd be fired.

Rasch refused, and at Nemecek's second meeting as mayor on Jan. 20 he called for a vote to dismiss the superintendent.

Mayor Archie Nemecek

the mayor always votes last, and Rasch already had the support of a majority of the council. That made the final tally 4-2.

But that is a slim margin if Morris sticks to his position that Rasch should be asked to move into East Jordan and take a pay cut.

That doesn't seem to be acceptable to the superintendent. He points out that the council that hired him knew he lived near Boyne City, 10 miles from East Jordan.

"Residency is a negotiated item. It always is," he said. "If I am required to move, the economics change"—meaning he should be paid more, not less, if he is required to sell his house and move.

As for his salary, Rasch said it is not out of line. "I don't think they could hire another engineer any cheaper than they are paying me."

Rasch is paid more than previous East Jordan city superintendents because he is an engineer. But the city has saved money in the long run because most engineering work can be done by him, Rasch said.

"I could go back and look in the records and it might flabbergast you what the city paid for consulting engineers in past years," he said.

Asked if Rasch would be assembling that kind of data in his own defense, he said no. "If you try to apply rationale and virtue where politics is concerned, they're just not going to fly," he said.

Rasch thinks Nemecek had other reasons than besides salary and residency for trying to fire him. "I think somebody was probably nudging him into it. I'm not saying this happened, but he could have been fed false information—for whatever the reason."

The superintendent said incidents like this "stifle the spirit," but he is ready to mend fences.

"Now we've got to try to repair and heal the wounds, try to restore communications. I don't want to dwell on this. I enjoy the job. We've got a lot going for us in East Jordan, Rasch said.

"Of course, if the council doesn't want me, I'll be glad to pack up my stuff and leave. But I think most of the people in town support me, and four members of the council didn't feel I was being given fair treatment."

A week after the incident, Nemecek also seemed conciliatory. "I can't do anything about it if I don't have the votes," he said.

Such controversies aren't all bad, he said. "It kind of wakes people up from time to time. I don't think it hurt anything. It'll just blow over."

CETA job cuts are real this time; More coming later

BY KATHY JOHNSON

CETA cuts were real this time, and 37 out of 41 local Title VI workers will find themselves laid off by CETA this Friday.

The remaining four workers are still to be laid off in a matter of weeks and Alton M. Shipstead, Director of the Northwest Michigan Manpower Consortium warns of more cuts to come.

"There are very definite plans to take more money away," said Shipstead. The next money to be cut would be from the remaining public service employment program, Title IID, but these cuts will not occur until after September. "They're not going to cut us anymore this year, I don't believe," he said.

Asked if there was any chance that the money might come in to rehire the already-cut Title VI workers, Shipstead said, "No. It is impossible. I can see where three months down the line they might say 'Unemployment is too high in Michigan. Let's reinstate Title VI and get some public service jobs going,' but they aren't going to say it now."

In Charlevoix County the CETA crunch is already being felt as many workers this week will leave their CETA Title VI jobs to look for work elsewhere. Those workers who qualify will be filing for unemployment and others may be forced to go on welfare if jobs are not forthcoming.

Only four CETA Title VI workers of the 41 in the county will not be laid off on Friday, but have been notified that their layoff will come later. Shipstead said he would be making a decision on Feb. 10 of how long these four can be kept. He said these workers were being returned on a week-to-week basis.

Those workers who are being kept include a microfilm and records worker in the county clerk's office, a caretaker at Beaver Island, a secretary for the Boyne City Chamber of Commerce, and an office worker in the East Jordan clerk-treasurer's office.

Shipstead said they were able to keep these four workers because, "We had some money left over in on-the-job-training." He went on to say that he felt the employers shouldn't have been that surprised by the layoffs. There have been indications all along that CETA funds were going to be cut, he said.

But employers and workers were surprised when the first letter reached them in December warning that a layoff was likely. As late as Jan. 9, many still thought that funds would come through and that there was not really a problem. Many still had a "wait and see" attitude that has changed in the last two weeks to a scramble to locate funds to try to keep some of these workers on.

In Boyne City, Phyllis Tison, a volunteer assistant director for the Senior Center, reports that the center is going to be severely limited in its services after this Friday and volunteers are "desperately needed."

Tison said there are some 50 to 70 seniors who come to the center regularly and 609 who have come during the last year for lunches, bingo, speakers, movies, counseling, and clinics. Friday will be director Pat Ecker's last day, and after that time services will be cut drastically.

While the meal program won't be affected, Tison said, "It is going to hurt a lot of people in Boyne City," because the in-depth services to seniors will be cut. Volunteers are needed to maintain the services, she said. Tison went on to explain that phone service would have to be cut except for the dinner hour.

Asked about the four CETA workers to be cut from the East Jordan schools, Superintendent Mel Rullman said, "We've had so many layoffs and cut backs—it just builds up on other personnel. We're getting kind of used to it."

He said there was a time when remedial students who needed help in reading and other basic areas could get that help on a one-to-one basis. "Those days are gone. Now it's two or three or four in a group," he said. "Those students that had one-to-one help, really needed it."

"We're going to survive it," Rullman said. He went on to explain that he felt there would be other schools "that will be going through what we've already been through."

The city of East Jordan has fared a little better than some with the cut backs. When funding for their CETA workers runs out, they will be keeping the clerk-treasurer's office worker, an assistant mechanic and parks and cemetery caretaker, and a police department worker. "When you get good people, you try to keep them," said Fern Morris, East Jordan city clerk-treasurer.

The public library in East Jordan does not have the funds to keep their two CETA workers and these will be included in the layoff on Friday.

In Charlevoix the Big Brothers and Big Sisters will go from three full-time employees to one employee working approximately 10 hours a week. Two of the workers were CETA Title VI employees and both plan on filing for unemployment. Nancy Wood, coordinator and director for the group, has also lost her salary funding from the Juvenile Justice Funding and will have to cut back her hours.

Debbie McGee, one of the CETA workers leaving on Friday and secretary for Big Brothers and Big Sisters said, "After Friday people can reach Nancy at home if she isn't at the office." While Wood will be working shorter hours, she hopes to try to continue the program.

County Emergency Services Director Earl Muma said he would hear Wednesday night whether or not the county would fund one of the two CETA workers he is losing on Friday. One CETA worker has decided to go to school and will be on another CETA program.

WHOM SHOULD I CALL AT THE TIME OF DEATH?

Many phone calls will have to be considered after the death of a member of the family. Here are the calls you should plan to make immediately.

Immediate family members - perhaps one or two could be placed and they in turn could call others.

Your clergy person - he can provide spiritual support and sustenance to help you with the emotionally difficult tasks ahead. He will also work directly with the funeral director to assure that the funeral service meets all your needs.

Your funeral director - he will provide the necessary professional services required for proper disposition of the body. His services also include suggestions as a helpful guide to further calls that may have to be made.

Our services provide co-operative planning with clergy, fraternal and family members to make possible a funeral service that is personally planned for you.

Bob Lockman

Three generations at Boyne post office

In 1932 Lewis Lockman went to work for the U.S. Post Office in Boyne City doing maintenance. Following his death in 1946, his son Bob took his place. This week when Bob retires after 34 years with the post office, his son Carl will probably become a full-time postal employee and carry on the Lockman tradition.

Bob Lockman has spent the last 34 years dispensing mail, fishing stories, and good humor to the 490 customers on his daily 70 mile route. Now Bob is ready to do other things. "I'm going to do a lot of 'nuthin' to start out," Lockman said.

"Then I've got a lot of bossing to do. I'm going to make a list for my kids to do—it's the same list my wife has had for me for the last 30 years," Lockman said. If eyes can really twinkle, Lockman's do.

Fellow employees called The Press to say, "We all enjoy his sense of humor. He's always willing to help anyone...

whether a fellow employee or patron on his route."

"When Bob's been on the route we've had very few complaints off his route," said postmaster Frank Jasinski.

Lockman said there were a few things he thought the public should know about a rural carrier's job. He explained that road plowing cutbacks sometimes made it difficult to get to mailboxes.

Even with automation, zip codes and computers, "There's still a hand carrier at the end of the trip," he said. It is difficult to reach some of those mailboxes where there is snow all around them, "Especially if you're five feet, five inches and weigh 200 pounds," Lockman said.

"My people have been superb to me," he said. But sometimes getting the mail through sleet, snow, wind and rain can be difficult, he explained.

"We do everything possible to deliver the mail regardless of how bad the weather becomes," he said, "but snow and ice on steps and sidewalks has to be removed where carriers must walk and rural and curbside boxes should be kept clear of snow, vehicles or other obstructions."

Lockman's route starts at Boyne Auto Supply and he then goes to Deer Lake, Pleasant Valley, Advance, Whiting Park, Lake Shore Drive and finishes on Division Street. On Friday, Lockman will make his last run and 490 customers will be getting a new carrier.

Lockman's son, Carl, is the senior substitute at the Boyne City post office and chances are good that he will be coming on full-time following his dad's retirement, postmaster Jasinski said.

Since postal employees may bid for routes, Carl probably won't have his father's route, but he'll carry on "carrying" for Boyne City in the Lockman tradition.

CETA jobs eliminated

Muma explained that this was the second time that a house numbering system was started in the county and he said, "We've got to make the county commissioners realize that we need a worker." The system is about 15 to 25 percent done now and Muma doesn't want the time and money already spent to have been wasted.

"We need this system," Muma said, pointing out that if he loses both workers it would mean "the office of Emergency Services is going to be run by one person." Muma said he had received a telegram from President Reagan's campaign headquarters saying that Reagan plans on doing as much for the nation as he did for California to improve the Civil Defense program.

Bill Mengebier, legislative assistant to U.S. Congressman Bob Davis, said Tuesday that Davis was "still looking to see if there is anything we can do about the 1981 budget. If it were up to Davis," Mengebier said, "he would have made that budget cut in Foreign Aid but he is in a minority and those people from Texas and Florida with an unemployment of 4 to 5 percent wanted the CETA cut."

Michigan leads the nation with its unemployment rate of 12.5 percent. Unemployment in Charlevoix County is even higher—about 15 percent.

This is one example of a non-profit group making use of the Save-Share Program to help raise funds. There are many more groups using it too.

Glen's wants everyone in East Jordan to know about Save-Share and hopes more groups will use it to raise funds.

All a group has to do is register with the store manager and begin saving the green cash register tapes. Glen's will pay 1 percent of the total qualified amount of all tapes brought in by any registered group; and not just once, but each time a group brings in $25.00 worth of slips or more.

Attempt to fire city supt. was poorly handled in EJ

Small town politics often lack protocol and diplomacy—and last week's East Jordan City Council meeting was certainly a good example.

Newly elected mayor Archie Nemecek, presiding at only his second council meeting, led a nearly successful effort to fire City Supt. Herman Rasch.

The motion to fire Rasch was defeated on a 4-2 vote, and it would have been 4-3 if the mayor had voted. The mayor says he had another council member lined up to vote against Rasch, but that person reconsidered.

All in all, the matter was handled quite poorly by those attempting to fire the city superintendent. Here's why we feel that way:

*The mayor and Councilman Russ Gee, two of the three who wanted to fire Rasch, had been in office less than a month when they voted to take this action.

Their views might have been more credible if they had been in office for six months or a year and had concluded—after observing the superintendent in action—that Rasch should be terminated.

The impression left by last week's action (and not denied by the mayor) is that the two new council members had their minds made up before they were even elected. How can they make such a judgment with so little direct evidence?

*The firing attempt was organized behind closed doors. Some council members knew it was going to be brought up and others didn't. This was a slap in the face for the council members who were excluded, as if their opinions didn't count.

*This incident is bound to have a chilling effect on other city department heads. They must be wondering who will be next to be publicly humiliated with little deliberation or opportunity to answer charges. How can they be expected to keep high morale?

*Because the affair was handled in such a secretive manner, there was not enough rational discussion of the issues involved. However, we feel that the two issues raised by the mayor are legitimate. We just wish there would have been some real, sensible, open discussion of those issues.

The issues are the superintendent's annual salary and his residency.

The matter of the superintendent's residency is an issue that could be discussed in a rational way. For the sake of image more than anything, it is usually required that a community's highest paid executive live in the community. But Rasch was told by the council that hired him that his living near Boyne City was not a problem. And with the threatened firing, how can Rasch now be asked to sell his home and move?

Mayor Nemecek thinks Rasch's annual salary of $27,500 is too high for a small town. It does seem high, considering surrounding communities. But the original rationale when Rasch was hired three years ago was that he should be paid more because he is an engineer. He might be able to save the city money by doing engineering work that was formerly farmed out, the council thought.

How has this arrangement worked? Has Rasch actually saved the city money because he is an engineer? Those are legitimate questions that should be asked, now that he has been on the job for awhile. But the questions should be thoroughly explored and discussed by people with open minds.

Bill Smith, long-time mayor of Smeltania during the 30's through the 50's, was not only an avid fisherman but a great spinner of fish tales. This picture appeared in a national magazine sometime in the 1940s.

Historic winter: Boom town returns with the smelt

About 40 years ago several national magazines featured a little town that was experiencing a boom.

Until that time the village had enjoyed a great deal of anonymity. One industry supported most of the 2,800 inhabitants and although pickings were slim, fresh air, clean water and blue skies provided a healthy community.

In those days fishing was often the alternative to empty platters. But the town was blessed with an abundance of

if you had enough room for two or four men in your shanty and it didn't enhance your luck if you owned or rented an ice shanty. You were, quite simply, a fisher of smelt.

This aquatic industry was not necessarily a lucrative one. One smelt fetched one penny at the Trading Post. Fresh smelt could be bartered there for fried fish and the tales were free. According to Underhill, everyone had a good time out on the ice whether they were fishing or indulging in a wee nip.

"Everyone was surprised about the amount of free publicity that Smeltania brought," said Underhill. "There is no way that we could have bought that much advertising."

But then a city on ice was unique. If there were others they probably didn't have a mayor, chief of police and city hall.

The re-emergence of the smelt is timely. Boyne City's Winter Festival, Jan. 30-Feb. 1, will include many Smeltania events. Bill Underhill has unofficially been elected mayor and Nord Schroeder, another Boyne City resident, will act as Smeltania's chief of police.

Rocket launchings, relay races and ice fishing contests will take place in and around Smeltania. There will even be a radio controlled airplane demonstration on the ice. Whether or not you participate in Smeltania's activities is inconsequential. Be there. It just may be an historic winter.

The fish are fickle. Lake Charlevoix may not be next year's smelt school campus.

fish in the nearby lake. And miraculously during a time of great need, a thin fish appeared in such quantities that the villagers moved out onto the frozen surface of the lake to scoop them up.

But the real scoop came in printed form. Reporters and cameramen drove to Boyne City's shanty town, Smeltania, to catch the story. Smeltania was famous. People came to fish from all over the country.

Bill Underhill, who rented shanties from '46 to '50, remembers one lady from Las Vegas who patiently fished for smelt in a full-length fur coat.

All levels of the social strata were represented in Smeltania. The common denominator was smelt. It didn't matter

Federal regulations have such a grip on our lives, Mr. President, it seems we can no longer wiggle our toes unless we are a senator or a welfare agent.

Please, Mr. President, take off your hat and swat those power crazed bureaucrats who are so preoccupied with the tender grapes of our personal lives.

When the President finished reading my letter he got kind of choked up, promising that his first official act would be to spring us all from the pit.

He is doing it because I wrote and told him to.

Look, Mr. President, I said, I no longer wish to be protected from myself. I want myself to protect myself; and should I fail, it will be none of the government's business.

In paragraph six, chapter nine of the letter to the President, I said: Sir, I do not mind paying taxes to keep the country and Mr. Chrysler from going belly up, but I dislike the government

Just listen to this, Mr. President: I shall never forget the day a government agent wandered up the alley, through our onion patch, kicking the dog aside and rapping on our back door.

He announced in an undertaker's voice that if I did not spend $150 to get my catalytic converter fixed I would be exiled to Cross Village. I couldn't believe it. They had already stopped me from going to the bathroom in the Boyne River, but some of these new regulations are a bit too much.

Then I spoke for our huddled masses: We are so smothered by laws and regulations we know not whether we will be killed by a television commercial, or go to jail for mumbling a quick prayer on the post office steps.

Disaster plan needs constructive input

Editor,

After reading the letter in The Charlevoix County Press entitled "Next Nuclear Drill: What if...?" I couldn't help but ask the question, why doesn't Mr. Hartung of East Jordan come to the Emergency Services office and at least make an effort to satisfy his curiosity?

The Emergency Services office is here to help and serve the public. I do not understand how someone can comment on a booklet that they have not even seen.

There is no doubt in my mind that people's first reaction when the horn blows would be to save their children. However, if you were to read the plan you would know that your children would be taken care of and be out of town perhaps before you would be.

I don't know where Mr. Hartung got the information that one-third to one-half of Charlevoix's pupils walk to school, so I went to Mr. Vince Olach, superintendent of Charlevoix public schools, and obtained some pretty interesting figures.

Out of 1,524 pupils in the school system, 1,085 do ride the bus, this leaves less than 500 to walk. He also stated that on an average, approximately 122 students are absent from school each day for various reasons. The buses have a capacity of 1,149, plus an emergency allocation to safely overload these buses 10 percent or more, depending on the extent of the emergency.

The facts are here, all we have to do is trust them. It has worked in other countries that have had real disasters. The most important thing to do is keep your head and do as you're told. You trust those buses to transport your children to and from school, why not trust them to transport them to safety?

The last thing the school system needs is a bunch of hysterical parents arriving at the school a half hour after their children have already left for safety.

This is only one issue to be talked about; there are many others, we know. The Emergency Services office is open for you, trying to make it safer for you and your children to live in Charlevoix.

There is a lot of work that has to be done, but at least we are trying. We do have a good start on being prepared, we

Learning how to learn

A little-known ingredient to success

The most important preparation there is for school is having learned how to learn.

You can teach with topnotch skill, but if children don't know how to learn, it's like trying to keep a lead weight afloat. Such children have to be taken from the classroom and taught one-to-one.

Teaching children how to learn once they are in school is very hard because the school program assumes that readiness is more or less there by the time a child is six years old.

The skill of learning involves obvious things like paying attention, focussing thought, respecting the teaching process (usually translated as respecting the teacher), and willingly doing the work.

But what is not obvious is basic—the child's own sense of responsibility to keep on keeping on with these things!

What most of us are not aware of is that this sense of responsibility is acquired by having parents who work hard towards goals. Any goals at all. The pattern is the parents' example of striving.

Teachers can do everything known or guessed at to motivate a student and it won't work, except for maybe two weeks, if the student does not understand striving.

Part of this striving should be applied by the child to deliberately retain what can only hope that the public will help by suggesting things to us.

The nuclear plant will not be gone tomorrow, so let's try to make evacuation safer and more orderly should we ever have to evacuate our area.

We do plan to have another drill that will involve the public more because that is what the public wants, so let's have some constructive input from the public without just throwing rocks at each other.

the striving, not the intelligence. Bright youngsters have failed, caused trouble, been put down all because the concept of striving for goals is essentially unknown to them.

Striving (in a good sense) must be taught by parental example. And second, it is even better if parents lead the children in that direction and expect them to be goal-followers, too.

They can: Encourage children now and then to see something through. Praise them for having completed something.

Give or identify goals from time to time. From as little a thing as remembering to say thank you to something big.

Have them participate in the parent's goal-setting. For example, "What shall we get done this morning...?" Show how to outlive failures. "But

Ski race provides avalanche of fun

BY KATHY JOHNSON

Ready, set, ski!

This weekend 200 or 300 participants will have themselves an avalanche of fun as they take off in the fourth annual Avalanche Cross-Country Ski Classic.

Here's a chance for everyone to come out a winner. Entrants will all receive a T-shirt and racing bib, free Pepsi following the race and maybe even one of the 72 Olympic style medals to be awarded to the winners in 24 different classes.

Grand prize to the fastest overall finisher in the 10 km race will be a vacation weekend in Boyne City anytime during 1981, including lodging, meals and entertainment. Special prizes will be awarded to the family with the most entries, the oldest and youngest skiers, etc.

Race committee chairman Jim Baumann said that the most important part of the race is that everyone should have a good time. "Last year the race was postponed because we had so little snow, and we still had 150 entrants. This year we are hoping to have 200 or 300 for the event."

Following the race there will be a racers' lunch and an awards ceremonies at The Granary Restaurant, new race headquarters for the classic. Official race brochures listed the Dilworth Hotel as headquarters, but this location has been changed because the hotel is closed.

Skiers who wish to participate but have still not registered may do so until Saturday morning. Those registering now will pay a $10 entry fee and all entrants must check in between 8 and 10 a.m. at The Granary on Saturday.

Transportation will be provided from The Granary to the site of the race at Avalanche Mountain Preserve. Further race details will be provided at the check-in.

The race will begin at noon. For those feeling extra athletic there is the 10 kilometer race (approximately 6 miles) and for those desiring a little less work-out, there is a 5 kilometer race.

Last year's winner, Bob Kemp of Roscommon, finished the 10 kilometer race in just 38 minutes and 49 seconds. Kemp was also the winner of last year's Bob Kemp of Roscommon, holding his medal in one hand and a beer bottle in the other, won the 10 kilometer division of the Avalanche Ski Classic last year. Kemp finished the race in 38 minutes, 49 seconds.

50 km White Pine Stampede in Mancelona. Randi Talsma of Houghton Lake was the winner in the women's race with a time of 49 minutes and 53 seconds.

So grab your skis, get your cap and meet us at the start line. The very least you can win is a good time and T-shirt. Sponsors for the event are Natural Light Beer, First National Bank, The City of Boyne City, The Charlevoix County Press, Schafer's and The Granary Restaurant. Pepsi is being provided by the Country Star and Pepsi Cola.

They're off!

Approximately 150 skiers participated in last year's Avalanche Ski Classic. Over 200 entries are expected for the fourth annual cross-country ski race on Saturday, Jan. 31.

Win $100 ice fishing!

Smelt, perch and trout will be the categories for an ice fishing contest which is sponsored by the Boyne City Chamber of Commerce and the Boyne Area Jaycees.

The contest will be one of the many events scheduled for Boyne City's first annual Winter Festival.

The official ice fishing contest weigh station will open at 10 a.m. in Smeltania. This ice fishing village has been revived to capture some of the flavor that existed on the ice approximately 30 years ago. Ice fishing in Smeltania was a means of existence during the long winter months for many of Boyne's citizenry.

Smeltania's first life spanned from the 1930s to the 1950s. It included a general store and trading post, shanty rentals, a city hall and even the Dilworth Hotel was represented on the ice.

Bill Underhill, who rented shanties in Smeltania from 1946 to 1950, has been elected Mayor of Smeltania for 1981 and Nord Schroeder will serve as Chief of Police.

The Jaycees will open a concession in Smeltania on Saturday.

A cash prize of $100 will be awarded for each of the three categories. The weight of the fish will determine the winners.

Fish must be weighed at one of the two official weigh stations: Smeltania or Behling's Little Cub Market in Boyne City. Fish weighed before 10 a.m., Jan. 30 or after 4 p.m., Feb. 1 will not be eligible.

Eligible fishing grounds will be on Lake Charlevoix east of Horton Bay and east of Whiting Park. An entry form is available in this week's Winter Fun section of The Press.

"In those days the shanty was often the most valuable thing a family owned," says Bill Underhill, who rented shanties during Smeltania's heyday.

The Arkansas Gems have won 161 of their last 163 games against men's teams. They'll be playing in Boyne City next Tuesday.

Razzle-dazzle:

Pro women take on local men in basketball

BOYNE CITY "Razzle-dazzle basketball" plus fun and laughter are promised for area fans when a professional women's basketball team comes to town next Tuesday, Feb. 3.

The Arkansas Gems will be taking on a group of all-stars from the local men's league at 7:30 p.m. at the high school gym.

But don't bet on the men winning. The Gems have won 161 of their last 163 games.

The game, including a special half-time show, is sponsored as a fund-raising activity by the Boyne City Sports Boosters and the Boyne Valley Lions.

Tickets are available at the high school and from Lions and Sports Boosters. Advance tickets are $1.50 for students and $2 for adults. At the door, tickets will be $2 for students and $2.50 for adults.

The Gems have played in all 50 states and overseas. Their style? Thirty-foot jump shots, fancy dribbling, behind the back passes and lots of comedy.

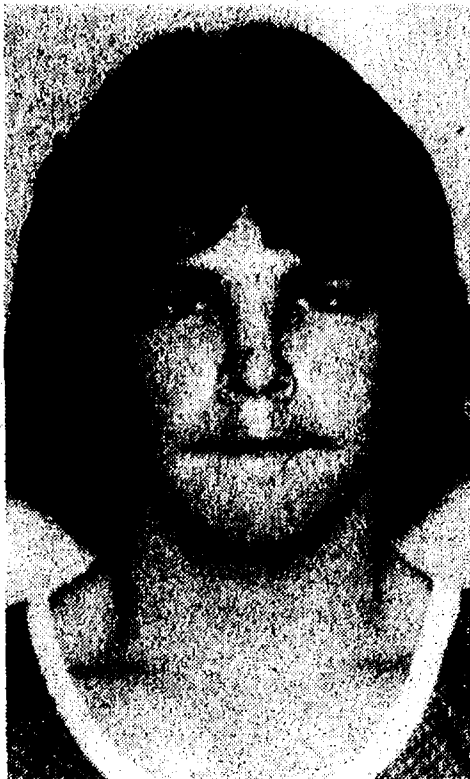

The team is led by Elvera "Peps" Neuman, the only woman to have her uniform enshrined in the Naismith National Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass.

Described as a "5-6 ball of fire," Neuman scores an average of 47 points per game, and she once scored 108 in a single game.

Trying their luck against the Arkansas Gems will be this team of players from the local men's league: Jeff Belford, Tony Williams, Ken Gahn, Dave DeNise, Craig Tompkins, Dale Tims, Terry Erber, Julius Kowalske, Jim Baumann, Jeff Kruzel, Rob Spencer and Terry Elzinga.

Coaching the Boyne City team will be Mark Guitar and Lon Kowalske.

East Jordan Lumber Co. salutes the East Jordan "Player of the Week"

Todd Root

Todd, a 6-0 senior forward, earned his Player of the Week status as a result of his hustle on defense in recent games. "Todd has come on real strong in rebounding too," said Coach Bill Chase. Root has been doing a good job on offense, too. He scored 12 points at Gaylord St. Mary and 10 at Bellaire last week. Todd is the son of Spencer and Karen Root.

Country Star salutes the Boyne City "Defensive Player of the Week"

John Tompkins

We're calling John "The Stopper," said Coach Bob Taylor. "He's been shutting out whoever he guards. John is 6-1, but he has real good quickness for his size. Sometimes he ends up against guards, but he's doing great." John, a junior, was the leading scorer with 13 points in last week's victory over Onaway. He is one of the team's leading field goal shooters with a 46.4 percent accuracy mark. John is the son of Marv and Joan Tompkins.

Small volleyball team keeps winning on desire

BOYNE CITY - This year's girls' volleyball team is "few in numbers but strong on desire and determination," says Coach Pat Upton.

There are only eight girls on the team, and the tallest is just 5-8. "But they all play like they are six feet tall. They believe in themselves and they know that they are capable of a winning season," Upton said.

This winter's season is still young, but the Ramblers have done well already, winning a conference match at Grayling and non-conference matches against Mancelona, Gaylord St. Mary and Central Lake.

The girls' next home match is Wednesday, Feb. 4, against Gaylord, and Coach Upton extends an invitation to the public to attend the game free of charge. The junior varsity match starts at 6:30 p.m., with the varsity following at about 7:30.

This year's squad includes: --Becky Almesbury and Cindi Scott, two returnees from last year's varsity. --Karen Winters, Judy Upton and Diana Notesline, three juniors from last year's JV team.

--Dee Cotton, a senior who is out for the sport for the first time.

--Mary Jo McGeorge, a senior who didn't play last year.

--Liz Sturm, a freshman who was brought up to the varsity early in the season.

The girls also took second place in an eight-team tournament in Charlevoix. Boyncity lost to Leland, last year's state finalist, after beating Charlevoix, Traverse City St. Francis, Petoskey and Rogers City.

Brian Vroman's 20 points in the second half lifted Boyne City to a big victory over Cheboygan.

First place is at stake

Red-hot Ramblers host Petoskey Friday

BOYNE CITY - A big win over Cheboygan Tuesday night gave the Rambler basketball team an eight-game winning streak heading into this Friday night's showdown with league-leading Petoskey.

"We're in good position," said Coach Bob Taylor after the win at Cheboygan. "We're only one game behind Petoskey, and we'll be playing at home against both Petoskey and Cheboygan."

A victory against Petoskey, Friday would lift the Ramblers into a first-place tie with the Northmen. Boyne is now 9-2 overall and 6-2 in the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference. Petoskey is 7-1 in the league, and Grayling is tied with Boyne at 6-2.

A week ago, Cheboygan was tied for first in the league and ranked 16th in the state for Class B, but back to back losses to Petoskey and Boyne have dropped the Chiefs to fourth place in the MHS.

Boyne's victory over Cheboygan wasn't as easy as the 72-55 score indicates. The Ramblers trailed 35-32 at halftime.

At halftime, Taylor said he turned out the lights in the locker room and told his players: "Think of something you can do to make us champions. They had their own answers."

The offbeat strategy worked. Boyne City outscored Cheboygan 16-4 in the third quarter and 24-16 in the fourth to win by 17 points.

Leading the comeback was junior Brian Vroman, who pumped in 20 points in the second half. He finished with 26, including 12 of 14 free throws.

The rest of the Rambler scoring was well-balanced. Kerry Kruzel had 12 points; John Tompkins 9; Daryl Tims, Jim Plachta and Larry Jarema 8 each, and Ken Wilson 2.

"It was a neat win," Taylor said. "The kids played great. We're really excited."

EJ must win at Harbor to keep lead

EAST JORDAN - The Red Devils square off against league co-leader Harbor Springs on the Rams' home floor next Tuesday in an important Ski Valley League contest.

The two teams and Central Lake are all tied for first place in the loop with 6-2 records.

The Rams got off to a slow start but they have won their last five league games. One of their two losses came in a 60-55 decision at East Jordan on Dec. 19.

That victory will give East Jordan some confidence in going up against the always hard to beat Rams, says Coach Bill Chase.

East Jordan continued to play close games last week as the Devils dropped a triple-overtime decision at Gaylord St. Mary last Tuesday, but they rebounded to knock off Bellaire, 54-46 on Friday.

Devil center Del Ingalls starred in both games, tossing in 31 points at Gaylord and 23 at Bellaire. Those figures raised Ingalls to second in league scoring with a 19.1 average, just behind Dale Borowiak of St. Mary at 19.5.

East Jordan got off to a poor start against St. Mary, making only two of 18 shots in the first quarter and falling behind by an 18-4 margin. They gradually caught up, but a last-second 10 ft. shot beat them 74-75 in the third overtime.

Besides Ingalls' 31 points, Randy Morris chipped in with 16, Todd Root 12 and Mike Spence 10.

At Bellaire, East Jordan led all the way by margins of five to 10 points. Root and Morris each added 10 points to Ingalls' 23 to lead the victors.

Boys win 5-team meet

BCHS ski team peaking

BOYNE CITY - Many of the boys on the high school ski team have raced together for three years and although there is only one senior on the team, they are now racing for scores low enough to win their first place at a Jan. 21 meet in which five schools competed.

"We're peaking as the meets continue," says Coach Kathy Rozycki. "I am very hopeful that from the Regionals, which will be at Boyne Mountain on Feb. 12, we will go on to the State. The whole team has improved from the beginning of this season and I'm looking forward to another good team next year."

With the lowest score winning, Boyne City counted only 46 points while Harbor Springs totaled 56, and Grayling 102, Sault Ste. Marie 133, and Kalkaska 137. Martin Neumann of Boyne won first in the slalom event and fourth in the giant slalom. Chris Kuhn came in second in slalom and sixth in giant slalom. Scott Stackus took fifth in slalom and tenth in giant slalom. Todd Ward finished ninth in slalom and ninth in giant slalom.

"It's been a building year for the Boyne City girls' ski team but the girls show promise in both slalom and giant slalom events. The girls took third place at the Nubs Nob meet.

Marsha Neumann took sixth place in slalom and seventh in giant slalom. Kathy Kircher finished eighth in giant slalom and ninth in the slalom event.

Observing the first young patient to use the isolette are organizers of the employees' fund-raising event: Patricia Sikolowaki, Cindy Rula and Mary Terryberry. 60 attend 4-H dinner

More than 60 4-H leaders and spouses representing Charlevoix, Emmet, Cheboygan and Presque Isle Counties met at the 4-H Center in Petoskey on Jan. 14. To enjoy a meal and program sponsored by the Charlevoix County 4-H Council.

This dinner, the fourth of its kind, is held annually in January as a means of promoting acquaintance and fellowship among area 4-H leaders. Some 4-H events for children are co-sponsored by more than one county, so that closer ties built by informal gatherings such as this can be helpful to all.

Highlight of the four-county dinner program was a talk by Leah Hoopfer, state 4-H program leader in the areas of health education, communications, older youth and career education.

Charlevoix County Council members took charge of the program. Debby Peck, East Jordan board of directors' member, began with an ice breaker and welcomed the guests. Council treasurer Lucy Stolt of Boyne City led the pledges to the 4-H and American flags.

The evening's activities were closed by Claudia Grutsch of East Jordan, past president, following the building of a yarn web woven from comments about 4-H made by those attending. The yarn web was led by Sue Stolt, council teen member of Boyne City.

The program was coordinated by Leah Green, Charlevoix County 4-H program assistant.

Each county has a 4-H council made up of current volunteer club leaders. This group plans events, helps shape activities and raises and disperses funds to be used for the benefit of the total county 4-H effort.

Winter favorite: deviled chops

I was delighted the other day to receive a recipe from a Charlevoix County Press reader from Ann Arbor.

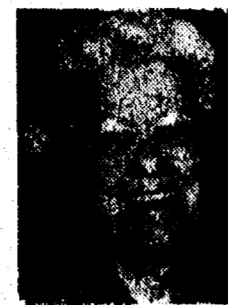

This is what Ruth Thompson says: "Just want to let you know that I enjoy reading your column in The Press."

"Here is one of our favorite winter recipes. My son just asked for a copy of it to use at his U of M apartment shared by three other fellows. Hope you like it."

Cooking

Yesterday & Today

with Bea Smith

DEVILED PORK CHOPS

4 to 6 thin pork chops (loin or shoulder

- 3 tablespoons chili sauce
- 1 1/2 tablespoons lemon juice (bottled)
- 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
- 1/4 teaspoon paprika
- 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1/4 teaspoon curry powder
- 1/2 cup water

Trim excess fat from chops. Brown chops in a little oil, drain the oil. Combine other ingredients and pour over chops. Bring to boil, lower heat and cover pan. Simmer about one hour. Turn chops occasionally. If sauce needs to be thicker for serving, take the cover off the last five minutes.

Thanks, Mrs. Thompson! I made them and they were delicious. I think almost everyone likes pork chops and these were just great. Readers' recipes are always welcome. We would enjoy hearing from others.

Editor's note: The Press is planning a feature story on people who like to barbecue outdoors during the winter. If you are a die-hard, all-weather barbecuer, we'd like to know your favorite recipes. Call or write The Press, 582-6761.

BOYNE CITY - Ida Moore, the customer representative at the Consumers Power office in Boyne City will be retiring after 20 years on the job. This Friday will be her last day.

Dick Dahlquist, a regional manager for the company, says "Ida has been meeting and greeting the public for 20 years in Boyne City. She's one of our very best employees in this whole region."

Mrs. Moore has lived in the Boyne area all of her life. She is a 1940 graduate of Boyne City High School.

She and her husband Grant, who is the city dockmaster, live at 907 Wilson Street. All of their children are grown and married.

It's been an interesting job," she said. There have been many changes over the years. When she started, the electric company sold light bulbs and electric appliances such as ranges and refrigerators.

Besides selling those items, Mrs. Moore took care of people who came in to pay bills, make service requests and register complaints. "I enjoyed it very much. It never got monotonous," she said.

She has no special plans for her retirement. "I love my housework, and my knitting and sewing—and I'll get to spend more time with my husband."

She has chosen to retire because Consumers is closing the "front end" of its office at 100 N. East St. Customers who want to pay bills may do so at Northwestern State Bank.

Wanted: Miss Boyne City

Women between the age of 17 and 21 who are interested in representing the Boyne City area in local and regional festivals and pageants are being asked to contact the Boyne City Area Chamber of Commerce, 582-6222.

The Chamber and the Boyne Valley Lioness organizations would like to sponsor a Miss Boyne City Area Pageant in late March. These organizations will proceed with further arrangements only if there are a minimum of 12 candidates.

Chamber Manager Kate Schafer asks anyone interested to include suggestions and opinions as to the competition format. "At this time it appears that there will be no swimsuit competition," she said.

All candidates must be single, 17 years of age by June 15, 1981, and a resident of the Boyne City-Boyer Falls areas.

Boyer City Commission Minutes

RECORD OF THE PROCEEDINGS OF THE REGULAR MEETING OF THE BOYNE CITY COMMISSION DULY CALLED AND HELD AT THE COMMISSION CHAMBERS ON TUESDAY, JANUARY 13, 1980 AT 7:00 P.M.

Present: Mayor Keith Fitzpatrick, Commissioners Catherine Jessup, Thelma Behling, Martin Paul and Steven Moody. Absent: None. Also present: City Manager Timothy J. Clifton, City Attorney Harvey Varnum and City Clerk Tom Garlock.

Moved by Paul, seconded by Jessup to approve the minutes of the previous meetings of the City Commission, as corrected and as received in their packets.

Corrections are as follows: On page 430, meeting of December 9, 1980: Add into the motion on the vacating of alleys that it will be the responsibility of the petitioner to file the necessary papers with the Register of Deeds, in order to get title to the property, and to absorb all costs incurred.

On page 432, meeting of December 9, 1980: Delete the words "neighboring resident structures" in the 13th paragraph of the page and replace with the words "river view."

Minutes approved included the following:

1. Noon meeting of Tuesday, December 9, 1980.
2. Monthly meeting of Tuesday, December 9, 1980.
3. Noon meeting of Tuesday, December 23, 1980.
4. Noon meeting of Tuesday, December 30, 1980.

Keith Waggoner, appeared before the commission and suggested a hand rail be installed at the front entrance of City Hall for the safety of the people entering the building.

The commission concurred and instructed the city manager to install a hand rail at the entrance of City Hall.

Keith Waggoner also suggested that the parking problem in front of City Hall be studied and a new parking plan should be instituted to enable City Hall customers to have more convenience when they come to do business.

The parking problem was turned over to the city manager for further investigation.

Cebert Gillespie appeared before the commission inquiring about the status of the city landfill.

The city manager explained that a county board has been established to study the landfill problems of the entire county and are now working on details of a master plan. The board is still in the process of gathering data and no accurate assessment of the future of the landfill can be made at this time.

Ed Gunderson, representing the Veterans of Foreign Wars, asked the commission if his group could have city water installed at their facilities on M-75 and if they could make time payments for the cost of installation.

The city commission gave their approval and instructed the city manager to work out details with the VFW for a time payment plan. This approval was given to a service organization and should not be established as precedent setting for private citizens.

Ed Gunderson also inquired about the potential of reconstructing a Veteran's Memorial Plaque, honoring the veterans killed in action and if the city would participate by paying for its installation. Location of the plaque was also discussed.

The city manager was instructed to work with the VFW and Legion to work out details on this matter and report back in the near future.

The city clerk transmitted a series of communications from Governor William G. Milliken, Lieutenant Governor James H. Brickley and Linda M. Barnes, Director - Office of Intergovernmental Relations, concerning a new state policy affecting the siting of state offices.

The city manager gave a report on the replacement of the north Boyne reservoir roof this spring. Specifications were advertised for bids. David Rommelman, engineer, was present to describe details of the bids and the construction specifications. He said that of the bids received, either company could meet the specifications.

Moved by Behling, seconded by Moody to award the bid of Seals and Roberts Construction Co., in the amount of $17,715.00, for the construction of a new roof for the north Boyne reservoir. Funds to be appropriated from Account Code 101-958-979 - Capital Improvement Program.

Roll call: Yess: Behling, Moody, Fitzpatrick, Paul. Nays: Jessup.

Motion carried.

The city manager transmitted the monthly financial report for the month of December. The report was ordered filed. Treasurer Edith Beck was present to answer any questions.

H&R BLOCK TAX TEST
Question No. 5

You should always file the same tax form the IRS sends you in the mail.
 True False

Your financial circumstances change from year to year. The form you used last year might not be the right form this year. H&R Block can help you determine which is the best form to use.
The answer is FALSE, since the IRS can't know of tax related changes which might have occurred in your situation last year.
