County divorce rate leads the North...but why?

BY TRISH WRIGHT

Charlevoix County has one of the highest divorce rates in Northern Michigan, but no one seems to know why our rate is consistently higher than our neighbors.

There are many factors, but one could be unemployment. Unemployment increased significantly last year, and so did divorces.

One state survey showed Charlevoix County leading the state in its percentage of lost jobs from 1979 to 1980. In the same period, divorces jumped 38 percent from 94 to 130.

"We're in rough shape," says George Ebenhoeh, Charlevoix County's Friend of the Court. "We have the highest divorce rate north of Midland."

The divorce rate for 1980 was 13.3 per 1,000 residents, the highest it has been for more than a decade.

Antrim county's divorce rate in the past five years has ranged from a low of 6.5 to 9.7. Emmet county's figures peak at 10.7 with 8.6 as a low.

"I used to know all my clients," says Ebenhoeh. "But now there are too many. I can't remember all their names or histories."

Ebenhoeh, who administers all child support cases and is responsible for interviewing both parties in disputed child custody cases, believes that when those pursuing a divorce reach his office it is the ideal time to intervene and talk about the marriage that has gone wrong.

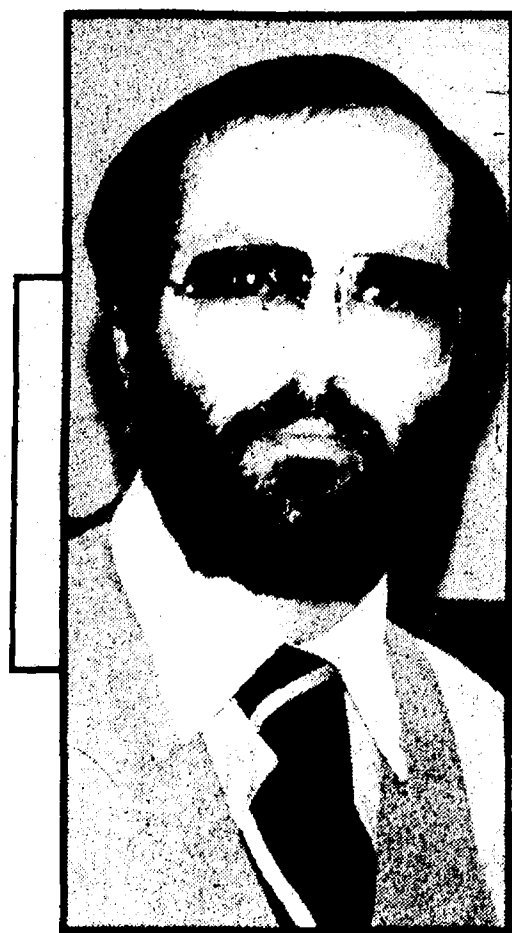

"People want somebody to talk to when they get here. I try to get both husband and wife in to talk, and frequently I talk to the children involved if they are old enough. There are often three stories: his, hers and the truth."

Failure to communicate may be the most significant reason for separation.

"We have files on divorced people who have not talked to each other in seven or eight years," adds Ebenhoeh.

According to Ebenhoeh, unreal expectations, early marriages, alcohol and drugs, financial pressures and the inability to communicate goals and feelings are all major factors in divorce cases.

Terry Smith, a therapist associated with the CHIP Counseling Center in Boyne City cites other reasons. "One person has made a decision not to continue the marriage. The marital goals may have been unclear for so long that a partner is unwilling to work things out."

George Ebenhoeh: "Divorces are what the couple makes them. They can be damaging to the children or they can be healthy."

Smith said other potential reasons for divorce are extreme disaffection, an accumulation of the injustices or perceived injustices and the desire for change.

"Alcohol affects marriage considerably. There are personality shifts with extreme substance abuse. The majority of people in this country do not drink but we have a great deal of alcohol use in this area."

Smith adds that chemically dependent people will focus their attention and energy on acquiring alcohol or drugs rather than responding to the needs of the family or mate.

"We're talking about human dilemma when we speak of divorce," says Smith. "Lives are altered considerably and they are measured in human suffering rather than joy."

Smith, who spends two days a week at the CHIP Counseling Center in Boyne City, earned his masters degree in counseling. He has taught the subject as well as working as a counselor on campuses and in communities. He is currently seeing 30 people with divorce related problems.

CHIP, a counseling center based in Charlevoix with branches in Boyne City, East Jordan, Bellaire and Petoskey tries to approach individuals as entities rather than to target a phase or problem in their lives.

Smith explains that this non-profit organization was established by a group of citizens in Charlevoix who realized a need for a private counseling center.

"We focus on the quality of a person's life. When there is an acute crisis, that is only the beginning. The crisis is treated but then we shift to the emotional, physical and spiritual nature of the individual."

When asked about the number of people who have been married more than once and are soliciting help from outside sources, Smith said that the amount of people finding problems in subsequent marriages is increasing. However, he adds that those people are at least seeking solutions.

"They don't want to repeat what they may have already been through. It is very hurtful to go through a divorce, even when for some it is the best thing to do."

Ebenhoeh sees a pattern in repeat marriages. "They keep making the same mistakes and they just can't seem to make it work."

According to Ebenhoeh, couples who do not have children have a better chance of reconciliation after separating. "Some people marry too early in life. The older a couple is when they wed, the more likely their union will succeed."

Although divorce may be the only solution for an unhappy home, it is bound to have an effect on children. "Children are often such an issue after separation that reconciliation is not possible. And sometimes couples stay together for the sake of the children instead of solving their problems when they arise. There is a fear of rocking the boat, so problems are ignored."

Jan Biddick, home school co-ordinator at the Boyne City Elementary School says, "It's really a stressful time for children when their parents are in the process of divorce. It can affect their school work and it often heightens existing problems. They feel a loss of security and the unknown looms large."

According to Biddick, some children understand the situation better if their parents present it in a positive way. Others feel responsible for their parents' split. "They were bad, so daddy has to leave. This attitude should be corrected or it may develop into other problems."

Biddick would like to organize a support group of children who come from broken homes who could help other children adjust to their new lifestyle after divorce. "This program has been set up in other schools as a successful problem solving approach to divorce. The social worker acts only as a moderator."

"I would love to involve parents," Biddick said. "But for a variety of reasons they are reluctant to become involved."

Ed Snyder, Boyne City Elementary School Principal, reports that among his students, 20 percent are from single parent families.

The custody question is another battleground for parents and one in which the child does not belong. "The more a child sees both parents the better off he is," says Ebenhoeh. "Custody rights often make one parent think he is the only one or the better one."

Parents can adapt. The father who has not taken an active responsibility for the child can do so after the divorce. Many times the father is granted custody when the criteria for it is examined. About 38 percent of the disputed custody cases are won by fathers now.

"Divorces are what the couple makes them," Ebenhoeh said. "They can be damaging to the children or they can be viewed as a healthy separation."

Terry Smith: "Lives are altered considerably and they are measured in human suffering rather than joy."

Once again budget cuts occupy EJ school board

EAST JORDAN - Once more the word was "cuts" at the school board meeting.

The current problem is heating bills, which may run $10,000 over budgeted amounts; 30 percent cuts in vocational education funding amounting to $5,200; and Char-Em's cutback of $3,000.

Action on the budget cuts was deferred for study.

Superintendent Mel Rullman warned those at the meeting Monday that "What we are going to receive in state aid will be very minimal."

With a possible freeze in property valuation by the state legislature and an understandable reluctance to ask millage increases, Rullman said increased revenue from taxes may only come from new construction. He warned that the future would be a period of "cutting back instead of expanding." Although expansion had been "rightful," he said, he emphasized that cutting back would affect everybody.

He announced the state's immediate cutback of 2 1/2 cents per lunch and recommended student hot lunches go up five cents by next week to cover also increasing food costs, and the board approved.

Good news came from the Band Boosters, whose offer to finance extra-curricular band for the semester the board gratefully accepted. All extra-curricular activities had been cut in December. Costs, covering $1500 salary and transportation may run over $3000.

Other good news—at least for the students—resulted from what was intended as simply input on shortening the scheduled week of spring vacation to compensate for days lost during the September teachers' strike.

Following teacher spokesman Rodger Ransom's request for the full week, the board called for a vote and students—and teachers—get their full week in an otherwise unbroken winter school schedule.

Board president Mary Jason gave an update on the search for a superintendent to replace Rullman, who will retire at the end of the school year.

The 13 priorities collected from East Jordan parents and teachers by consultant Dr. Carl Brautigam showed they wanted, first of all, someone skilled at financial management, a grant winner, and a good listener. Tenth on the list they set knowledge of curriculum. Last was the preference that the superintendent live in the district.

Jason reported March 27 is the application deadline on the position. A meeting with placement officers from area universities is scheduled for a preliminary screening of candidates.

Brautigam will hold a workshop April 8 and 9 with the board on how to interview. Actual interviewing will begin on April 10, and the new person should be on the job by July 1.

Earlier in the year, budgeting for this year's salary increases for administrators was set at seven percent. Rullman said, "What was built in to that budget by the people in this room is what we are recommending." He said the salaries were competitive with those in other districts. The differences among them are based on many factors, such as the number of students supervised.

Including the seven percent raise, the recommended salaries are: Principal Don Peters, $27,563 for 46 weeks; Principal Doug Shields, $26,950 for 46 weeks; Principal Bud Ashton, $27,820 for 47 weeks; Supt. Rullman, $29,767 for 47 weeks; Transportation Supervisor Sam Bricker, $19,345 for 49 weeks; Community Ed. Director Frank Holes $18,000; and Financial Supervisor Ruby Dipzinski, $16,372 for 49 weeks.

The board voted to table the recommendation until after an executive session. Vote may come at a special meeting possibly near the end of the month.

A map on an overhead screen showed where two properties may be swapped by East Jordan and Central Lake school districts. Char-Em assistant superintendent Charles Crosses explained to the board that Mr. and Mrs. Edward Tighe need to be in the East Jordan district because of its special services. Their property adjoins the East Jordan district line. Char-Em's policy is to resist irregularities in boundaries. When the Tighe's appealed to the state board, a swap was suggested with a family in the opposite circumstance.

Such a family was found. The Paytons on the edge of East Jordan's district were eager to be assigned into Central Lake. Even the bus trips would be compatible.

Crosses asked for board input and said he would take their favorable response to the Char-Em board for their decision.

Reviewing local history

A pictorial history of Boyne City was displayed last Thursday at the Boyne City Middle School library for the city's historical commission to review. Bob Morgridge, middle school history teacher, solicited advice and suggestions from the historical commission for his forthcoming book on Boyne City history. From left, Morgridge, Marshall Sayles and Bill Underhill look over some old pictures.

Early papers were 'chatty'

BY KATHY JOHNSON

The earliest available copy of Boyne City newspapers is one of The Boyne Citizen, dated Jan. 7, 1887, and presents news in a "chatty" format. The 1887 issue was six columns wide and had a very different look. No pictures, very tiny headlines (more like titles), lots of ads, and it was four pages in length.

Page one of the Jan. 7, 1887 issue contained nearly three columns of ads. One of the larger front page ads was for R. R. Perkins & Co. The ad was placed to read sideways and read "Hold on, look before you leap! Here we are with a full line of boots, shoes, rubbers, socks and mittens and if you see them you may jump right into a Pair of Them. Look before you Leap! Yours respectfully, R. R. Perkins & Co."

All the news on page one was listed under one very small title—"Local Items." It read:

A. W. Chew was in town the other day.

Fare from Boyne Falls to East Jordan now is but 50 cents.

Only one person seen intoxicated on the streets during the entire holidays. Fact.

Our 100th Year

The Charlevoix County Press is celebrating its 100th birthday this year. The Press is a direct descendant of the first Boyne City newspaper, The Standard, which began publishing on March 11, 1881.

H. H. Miller of the Enterprise showed up here in grand style New Years. He's like the Enterprise, stirring enough for anybody.

The writing style and news presented was much more like today's church newsletters than today's newspapers.

Page two was half filled with ads. The advertising rates were listed and there was a "fictional" story about thieves. Completing that page was the general news from Northern Michigan.

Page three listed the local church directory, more general news and four and a half columns of ads. Under the church directory were two churches, the M. E. Church with the Rev. A. L. Thurston and the Presbyterian with Rev. John Redpath.

Page four contained news from Horton Bay and East Jordan. Also on page four was the masthead and other more "sensational" news. The masthead indicated the paper was published on Fridays in Boyne City by Miley and Chapin. No first names were given.

Under news from East Jordan was the sad story of a Mrs. Eliza J. White who had committed suicide by jumping into a 70 ft. well and breaking her neck. This had happened on Dec. 31 while Mrs. White was "temporarily insane," according to The Citizen.

In Horton Bay a dime social was being planned at the residence of Esquire Houghtalin. It was to be held "next Wednesday evening."

One interesting difference between the 1887 paper and the newspaper of today would be the guess work used in reporting "facts."

Apparently in 1887 one could decide in advance about someone's condition and report it. Note this story on page four headlined "Fatal Accident at Bellaire."

The steam chest at the factory of Richard & Bechtold burst this afternoon. Charles Richard was struck in the pit of the stomach by a missile therefrom, and besides was terribly scalded. His injuries are undoubtedly fatal.

Bank announces promotions

Northwestern State Bank has announced the promotions of seven staff members.

Stephen Weber was named vice president and comptroller. Weber, a graduate of Eastern Illinois University, worked five years as a national bank examiner before joining Northwestern State Bank in 1978.

Edward Nowak has been named assistant vice-president and manager of the Petoskey branch of Northwestern State Bank. He resides in Petoskey. Before joining Northwestern in 1978, he was employed for seven years as a loan officer for Citizens' Bank of Flint.

Nowak replaces Robert Prebble, who will assume the position of vice-president of business development. Prebble has been with the bank 23 years and is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin School of Banking. He lives in Boyne City.

Assistant vice-president in charge of personnel and training will be Ruth McDonald. Mrs. McDonald has been with the bank since 1977 and previously served as Eveline Township treasurer.

Gayle Andersen was named assistant cashier at the Boyne City office. She is supervisor of the Real Estate Mortgage Loan Department and has been with the bank since 1972.

Kathleen Wagenschutz of Boyne City has been named marketing officer. Mrs. Wagenschutz supervises the operation of the Anytime Teller machine, the bank's 24-hour automated teller in Boyne City. Prior to joining Northwestern in 1979, she was employed by banks in Virginia and Maryland.

Anthony Salmeto was appointed loan officer in the Boyne City office. He joined the bank in 1979 and has worked in loan collections. He is a graduate of the University of Michigan and lives in Boyne City.

Open house at BF Log Homes

America's first President, George Washington, will be honored on the anniversary of his birthday by a nationwide network of open houses at Boyne Falls Log Homes.

Log Homes and its 20 distributors are inviting the public to come for an inspection tour and to salute George Washington's memory with a cup of coffee and a piece of cherry pie.

The celebration will be held in the models of Boyne Falls Log Homes on U.S. Highway 131, just north of Boyne Falls. The time is 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Monday, Feb. 16.

Boyne Falls has mills in Michigan and Montana. The Michigan mill is the nation's largest producer of log homes using Northern White Cedar, while the western mill manufactures homes from lodge pole pine timber.

Owners moving; Shop to close

BOYNE CITY - Bill and Gail Morrow, owners of Boyne Sportswear, are in the process of a going-out-of-business sale as they plan a move to South Carolina. Their building at 108 Water St. is for sale.

"I've accepted a job with Sea Pines and I will be working as a real estate broker in Beaufort, S.C.," said Bill Morrow.

"Gail is going to retire after 17 years in the retail business, at least until our son gets bigger," said Morrow.

Following the sale, Morrow said he would be taking classes and exams. They plan to move at the end of March or early April. "I have to be on the job in April," he said.

Morrow said it was a tough decision. "It is a nice community with a lot of nice people," he said. "We tried to decide why we shouldn't take this opportunity and we couldn't find any reasons."

HOW CAN ONE FACE THEM?

Having failed to attend a friend's funeral service, one may experience great difficulty in facing members of the bereaved family without embarrassment.

So, too, may members of the deceased's family find it hard to face some one who did not pay their respects at the funeral service, the wake or other form of visitation.

To avoid such embarrassment, a person who could not attend the service ought to make a personal condolence call afterwards. He should also explain to the family why he could not attend.

Although one must make these decisions individually, as the situation requires, it must be pointed out that funeral attendance and condolence calls are social responsibilities. We occasionally observe this "loss of friendship" when a simple phone call might have prevented the hurt feelings.

If you are not clear about visitation etiquette or duties, feel free to call on us for assistance. We will be pleased to help you at any time.

BCHS students can really 'get to work'

BY BARBARA CRUDEN

"Get to work," has a special ring to it if you are a junior or senior in high school in Boyne City. It could mean you have a paying job as one of your courses, for which also you get high school course credit.

Seniors, especially, may have succeeded in all their studies and may consequently wind up with few required courses to take in their final year. This is only one reason for signing up for "Work Experience."

Another is students get to work with people and meet people on the job, a learning situation impossible to duplicate in a classroom.

These are the points Mark Gill will make in describing "Work experience". Gill says he does this "as an extra thing." His main job is to teach business courses in the high school.

He says he gets together with the student to work out what kind of job would relate to the student's line of studies, and also what kind of help the student may need.

Many of the needs, however, are covered in various business or home ec classes. How to dress, behave, be interviewed, and so on—"side skills," Gill calls them.

He has been fitting about 50 students a year to jobs in businesses in and around Boyne City, Boyne Falls, and Petoskey for nine years now.

Principal Rick Casper calls the program a morale builder. Small schools like Boyne City's can't offer an endless array of elective courses to keep students busy. The two or more hours out in the afternoon to go to the job is "a popular opportunity," he says.

Some get started on a job, and stay with it after they finish school. Others go for more training and come back to move ahead in the line of work.

And others are just happy to be earning money to put toward college. But they have had the chance to explore an occupation—something, as Gill says, college doesn't provide.

Part-time workers are desirable, he explains. And the state allows up to 48 hours of work and school combined per week. Students help out in banks, garages, restaurants, government offices, on construction, and work as bookkeepers, mechanics, tellers, and even as computer operators.

Other high schools in the area have similar programs. In Boyne Falls, Principal Carl Moser calls their "Co-op" program "a valuable tool if it's used correctly."

"It has to be a learning job," he explains. It has to require some skills and develop them.

Work-and-study is an ideal combination. As it is a bridge from school to work, it also could, in the adult world, be a bridge from work to more learning.

Small town life isn't all bliss

Trends show that city dwellers are returning to small towns and rural areas in ever-increasing numbers. They're searching for a simpler life away from well known big city problems like crime, drugs, pollution and traffic.

But a couple of feature stories we've done recently remind us that small towns can certainly have their disadvantages, too.

Editorial

A story on dating brought out the general consensus that our county—and perhaps small towns in general—isn't the greatest place to be if you're young and single.

Single women complain that there aren't enough single men and vice versa. And both sexes decried the fact that relationships are almost never serious.

We newspaper people try to find figures to back up our suspicions. Although that was impossible for our dating story, we did find figures to support our story this week that Charlevoix County has one of the highest divorce rates in northern Michigan.

This is a particularly difficult phenomenon to figure out. We suspect the dating game is tough in most small towns. But why is our county consistently high in the divorce rate? Is it the air? The economy? Unemployment and the cost of living rose significantly during 1980, and the divorce rate jumped 38 percent.

Certainly there was no one factor causing the big jump in divorces.

It's very hard to figure out—much harder than trying to evaluate the basketball scores and the latest action by the school board or city council.

On one hand we have single people frustrated by the difficulty in forming lasting relationships...and on the other hand we have married people having a hard time keeping their relationships afloat.

Even if we can't figure them out, things like dating and divorce are all part of life in our community, and thus they are worthy of close examination. If nothing else, it sure makes you think—about life and our society in general.

Why so many divorces here?

Charlevoix County is hurting. Not only do we have one of the worst economic pictures in the state but we also have one of the highest divorce rates going. What's wrong?

The marriage counselors, teachers, social workers and Friend of the Court that I interviewed this week had statistics and evidence of the marital breakdowns in the county but could only guess at the causes. Failure to communicate and lack of commitment between spouses seemed to be the primary reasons.

But why should Charlevoix County have more divorces than Antrim or Cheboygan? No one seems to know.

There are more child abandonment and neglect cases than ever before. According to a counselor at the Women's Resource Center in Petoskey, spouse and child abuse figures are soaring in this area.

"I have heard that Charlevoix County has a very high percentage of divorces due to drinking," the counselor said.

"It's a cyclical thing. When there is a period of high unemployment, what do people do? They often drink. Alcohol is a depressive, so any bad situation is intensified. Resentments build as parents are unable to support their children as they desire."

As a result of resentment the family is the first to suffer. We take our aggressions out on the persons closest families and as human service programs are cut so will be the means to help them. It's a tragic thing to have happen."

Fortunately, some of the ramifications of unemployment—substance abuse, child abuse and broken homes have enough people concerned that avenues of help are opening. CHIP Counseling Center of Charlevoix has been awarded a contract to provide therapy counseling for substance abuse.

CHIP is the one resource for substance abuse in the Emmet, Charlevoix and Antrim county area. CHIP, which also offers marriage counseling, has branch offices in East Jordan at the Family Health Center and in Boyne City at the Boyne Valley Medical Clinic. Other offices are in Bellaire and Petoskey.

Although this counseling center is only four years old, it has recognized a problem that is touching many of the lives in Northern Michigan. CHIP and other counseling centers have all indicated that they are conscious of confidentiality. "It's imperative that we offer that for counseling," says one marriage counselor.

to us. And in too many cases that resentment is manifest in abuse. When people hurt the ones most dear to them, there is something drastically wrong.

"One out of every three to four families that we see here will have experienced child abuse. Last year we opened 150 cases and of those 95 mothers and approximately 285 children sought protection from their husbands in our shelter," the counselor said.

"We will be seeing more abuse cases," adds the counselor. "We have an increasing number of disfunctioning

The best of Sayles, Vol. 1

This week, as I was eating aspirin like peanuts and recovering from a hard-boiled case of the flu, I found it impossible to write a column that would match the intelligence of anyone who had gone beyond the fourth grade. In fact, I've been so wizen headed the funny papers haven't made sense to me for two weeks running.

So I decided to cheat. Swindle my readers by thumbing through 10 years of columns and repeating some of the one liners written long before the presidency went from peanuts to show biz. Some go back to when a man from Missouri quit selling neckties to become chief executive of a country that pays people not to work.

Here, then, are some of the things written with clear head and nose.

A friend said he had been reading this column and that he did not like it and he wondered out loud if I had ever given thought to suing my parents for giving birth to an idiot.

Ever since I was bumped on the head as a child I have known that Boyne City was made up of braggarts, wishers, talkers and doers, with the doers wishing the braggarts would quit talking.

All my life I thought the word "Diddler" was poolroom language; and now I find it means "A cheat" as in "He diddled you out of it." Heavens, I've been diddled several times without even knowing it.

Remember when women began wearing all those wigs? Heavens, how that got my nanny. Which was my own fault for leaving the darn thing lying around.

I was complaining to my wife that not enough readers were slapping their legs and belly laughing over this weekly offering to the Press.

Realizing that woman was born to guide men in times of stress, she came to me. "Look," she said, "It's tax time. Not very many people can pay their taxes and laugh at the same time."

She was right, of course. How nice to be toyed and kissed at the proper moment. What a nice wife I have for a woman.

Every time I think about the old Tannery property block-bursting argument I get sick and grumpy. And if I concentrate too long upon it I get grump and sicky.

I went into the bank to cash a check and they told me that inflation and bookkeeping services had wiped out my savings account.

So that's the column for this week. I showed it to my wife. "In the past you," she said, "have done better than that." You can see right there that I'm still not over the flu.

Advice from the lovelorn

Dear Abby,

Last week I wrote an article about single persons in Charlevoix County. The response was surprising and ranged from disbelief to mock anger. It started as soon as the paper came out.

Last Thursday I received a call from a gentleman who said, "The men of Charlevoix County want a recount. Chivalry is not dead and we want a chance to prove it." He seemed a little hot, but in a fun way.

"Pity us poor guys. It is tough for us to meet anyone out here who is interested in more than a one night stand, too...and a bar isn't the place to find someone interested in a meaningful relationship," he said.

Then I ran into a young man who told me he wanted an "old fashioned girl." He said he liked the picture we used with the story, but he really wasn't interested in anything that extreme. He also said it reminded him of his high school dances. (I did say a "young" man didn't? The picture is from the 1890's.)

In the grocery store I saw a single woman I know who said she enjoyed the article and she thought the story portrayed the dating game how it really was...or worse.

But the most delightful reaction to my story came from Everett K. Sayles who wrote a letter to the editor about my story.

One paragraph was edited from his letter but I'm reprinting it here. It reads: "I just can't believe it. It just can't be true that a good ole Texas gal — from Dallas yet — doesn't know how to get a rope on a skittish bronco from northern Michigan. That's got to be one for Dear Abby."

Well, Abby, that's why I'm writing. What I want everyone to know is that I just wrote a story that was assigned to me. I'm not looking for anybody. My husband wouldn't approve.

He was successfully roped and tied when we were both in Dallas. Of course, he always says it was a shotgun wedding.

After I had successfully lured him into dating me for about five months, my mother, who is a southern belle from Virginia and a shy and delicate creature, said to him: "You are going to marry my daughter aren't you? After all you two aren't getting any younger and you really should fish or cut bait."

God love those shy creatures. She talked him right into it. And for 10 years I've listened to him say, "When one of us dies, I'm going to travel."

Not to discredit any suggestions that Mr. Sayles may have made in his letter to the editor, but maybe in today's society some of these single women might take the plunge and ask the men out. To hear the gals tell it, it can't be any worse, so what have they got to lose?

Maybe what they need is to have their Mom do the asking for them?

Mr. Muma, your plan is not worth a darn if it doesn't inspire confidence. To inspire confidence you need to publish some pertinent facts. That was the base of several of my questions.

What about emergency food supplies you claim will be used? How many of your emergency workers are—or have been—farmers and are they imbued with enough intestinal fortitude to go into a herd of cattle containing a strange 1,600 pound bull? I've worked with cattle all my life and I wouldn't relish that task.

How many emergency vehicles do you have available?

I would have no faith in any plan that hasn't had a real live workout. So how about turning on the siren, unannounced, and let's just see what would happen. Where I worked they decided on such a plan.

When the alarm sounded all the foremen were supposed to come to a certain point. After a few unannounced alarms they had cut the time in half for everybody getting to that one spot. You seem to think that people are going to be calm, cool and collected. I've seen many a person panic in much simpler circumstances.

You say you want public input. I asked what I thought were pertinent questions. I suggested some hypothetical situations that seemed much more appropriate than a truck accident 20 miles away. You chose to throw rocks at me and only answered one question.

While one of the reports discussed the feeding and care of livestock, your booklet does not even mention anything agricultural. Why? If I were a cattle farmer near Charlevoix I would be quite concerned.

I would hope that future statements will be a little more concrete and do something to inspire confidence.

Letters to the editor

Found: The oldest newspapers

(Editor's note: This year marks the 100th anniversary of the Charlevoix County Press and its newspaper ancestors. In a recent story about our anniversary, we asked readers if they knew of the whereabouts of any of the earliest issues of the Boyne Citizen or the Boyne City Standard.)

The oldest copies on microfilm files at the Boyne City Public Library are from 1887, although it is known that The Standard began publishing in March, 1881. Here is a response to our request for information. Thanks to the letter writer, we have verified that copies of pre-1887 Boyne City newspapers are on microfilm at Central Michigan University. Microfilm of the pre-1887 newspapers is apparently not available at the Boyne City Public Library, but The Press will be attempting to arrange that this microfilm be made available locally.)

This is in regard to old newspapers published in Boyne City.

About 10 years ago I began researching, with the aid of Mrs. Fred (Dorothy) Leslie of Boyne City for information about early churches in Boyne for a history we planned to write commemorating the 100th anniversary of the United Methodist Church of Boyne City.

We had quite a collection of material for the last half century, but nothing for the early years. Our only source of information for those early years was from old newspapers of the village.

We were delighted to hear that all the old newspapers belonging to Gregg Smith had been put on microfilm and the Boyne City Library had copies. The library allowed us to borrow the microfilms and take them to Petoskey and Traverse City to read them because we did not have a microfilm reader in Boyne City.

Gregg Smith thought he had newspapers going back to 1879, but when we searched the microfilms we could find none earlier than 1887. Mr. Smith said Central Michigan University had early ones, since they had done the microfilming, so we went to Mt. Pleasant.

Their supply was the same as the Boyne City Library's, beginning in 1887, so we went on to Lansing hoping to find the earlier ones. The same was true there. None of the early papers were on microfilm.

We asked Mr. Smith if we might search the old papers in his attic for older copies, and he said, "Sure. But it's an awful mess up there!"

He was right. It was! But we started searching up there. The dust was so thick we had to wear handkerchiefs over our mouths and noses to keep from breathing in the dust of 93 years of newsprint.

If anyone had glanced through those high old attic windows draped with shrouds of dust and had seen us with our faces and hair covered with big bandana handkerchiefs, they would have thought they'd found Patty Hearst's hideout! It was the time everyone was searching for Patty.

But it paid off! We found papers all the way back to 1881 and found a lot of information we could use in our church history. However, as we worked we had a feeling that we would be the last persons ever to see those old newspapers, and it really got to us.

So we asked Gregg Smith if we could sort them out and take them down to be filmed. In our searching, we had found that not only the early years had been omitted, but also a lot of newspapers of later years had been missed.

Next we went to Mt. Pleasant and explained the situation to John Cumming, who was in charge of the project

Still no confidence in plan

(Editor's note: In a Jan. 15 letter to the editor, Maurice Hartung raised questions about Charlevoix County's plans for dealing with emergency evacuations such as an accident at the Big Rock Point Nuclear Plant. Earl Muma, the emergency services director for the county, responded in a letter on Jan. 29. Now Hartung is commenting on Muma's response.)

Editor,

I would like to answer Mr. Muma's questions and accusation. I hope I do a better job of it than he did at answering mine.

First off, he asks, "How can he comment on a booklet he hasn't even read?" Well I just have to ask "Can you read?" I expressly stated that I was asking questions based on comments he had made over radio station WKHQ and to items in the local news media accredited to him. Who's throwing the rocks anyway?

The only question he answered was in regard to the children and he used two column inches to do that. And the figures were rather confusing. So I called Mr. Olach and he said more in one sentence. My question: "Can the buses carry all the children in the school system?" Answer: "Yes, each bus can carry over 100 pupils—crammed yes but possible—and there are 20 buses." So really that would only necessitate about 75 per bus.

Mr. Muma asks: "Why didn't you come over to my office and get my information?" That's what I thought I was getting via the airwaves and local newspapers. Also according to a national car rental agency it costs about 28 cents per mile to operate my car. That means it would cost about $10 to come over and get it.

Someone sent me a copy and after reading it I wouldn't drive that far to get it. For one thing the picture of the man, wife and child waiting to be picked up looks like they are waiting for Grandpa to come along and take them on a weekend outing. And horrors! Can you imagine anyone standing out in supposedly radioactive atmosphere with so much of their skin exposed? Really we should have learned that long ago if we have been following items published in nationwide publications.

He says "We have a plan, trust us!" Well I can be reckless enough with my own welfare. I am not about to trust it to a stranger.

Blame our 'unisex society'

I was intrigued and not a little amused by Kathy Johnson's front page article on the trials and tribulations our young people are experiencing in that ever popular pastime called dating.

I have spent high onto 50 years in double harness with the same stable mate and I know of what I speak. I have been hearing the screams of our young people for years, screaming about discrimination, the E.R.A., equality, equal this and equal that.

Well, they have succeeded in creating an almost unisex society that has robbed them of their very own individuality. They have forgotten how to be feminine. How can a gal ever hope to get that bronco to stand ground-hitched if she can't even get his attention? Status jeans won't do it.

Bars have always been the traditional territory of the self-employed gals and they just don't take kindly to trespassers. Most boy-girl conversations end up with but one question open to discussion: your place or mine?

I can't help but believe that most guys want their dates to look feminine, act feminine and even smell feminine. In return they might even learn to tie a necktie. If I were an undated gal in northern Michigan I'd sure give it a try. It used to work just fine.

To expect chivalry you must earn it. Remember that a nice meal always tastes better off of the good china than it does off of a paper plate.

Oscar Wilde must have been mulling over a similar situation some hundred odd years ago when he remarked that people experience two great tragedies in life: one, not being able to have everything they want and the other being able to get it.

Grateful for road plowing

I am grateful and I marvel.

I am grateful to the crew that plows the snow off the streets of Boyne City. Of course, it is their job, but somehow it is done efficiently and effectively to make our travel easier. Thank you.

I marvel at the skill with which they find their way down unplowed roads in the middle of a blinding snow storm, unerringly uncovering the roadway hidden from view. They do this at times when I can hardly see across the road. Indeed, I do marvel and I am very grateful.

Gourmand finds happiness at Rowe Inn

BY KATHY JOHNSON

When was the last time you made a Doboschorte? A Crown Hazelnut Torte? How about a Ham and Fennel Seed Terrine?

The last time? Until recently I wasn't even too sure what they were.

I can't cook. I admit it. But I can eat and do enjoy fine food. The dictionary says a gourmand is one who takes hearty pleasure in eating. I qualify.

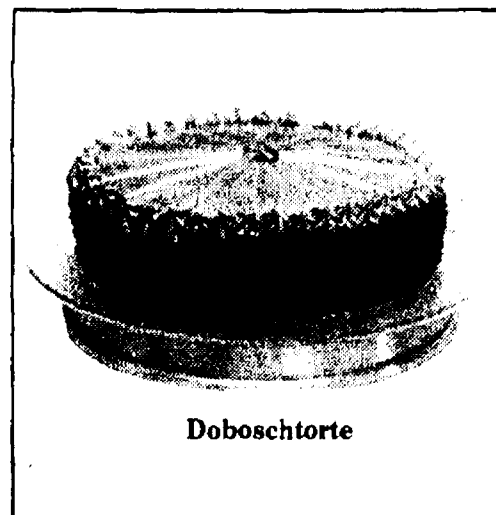

After all, you don't have to know how to make beer to appreciate a good one. Or make wine to delight in a bottle of Chateau Mouton Rothschild.

Recently the Rowe Inn, which represents the finest dining in northern Michigan, held one of three culinary events planned for 1981. Participants not only enjoyed three days of the very finest dining, but attended classes held by the Rowe Inn chef, Pete Peterson.

They were also treated to accommodations at the Jordan Inn, pottery demonstrations at Russ and Sue Bolt's in Charlevoix, cross-country skiing, and the Fiddler's Jamboree in East Jordan.

Participants wined and dined royally and enjoyed several interesting culinary demonstrations. And we all had fun. The ambiance was made even more enjoyable by the table conversation. Food, wine, and food.

One of the more familiar comments came from owner Wes Westhoven. "You've got to empty one of your wine glasses. I've got this wine I want you to try." Not once, twice, or thrice, but all weekend the comment prevailed.

Among items savored that weekend included wild rice soup, cabbage and bacon quiche, almond rice cream, ballotine of duck, whole wheat citrus bread and honeyed cheese.

And the weekend included demonstrations of the Doboschorte, the Crown Hazelnut Torte, and Ham and Fennel Seed Terrine, and the eating thereof.

First the tortes: two of the loveliest creations ever seen. They are both basically cakes made with real butter, eggs, and a variety of other goodies. My favorite is the Doboschorte which is comprised of seven one-eighth inch layers baked on the underside of a cake pan. Between each layer is a filling of dark sweet chocolate and rum, and the cake is topped with a caramel glaze and butter cream. Around the sides of the cake are chocolate shavings.

Pete Peterson spreads the caramel topping on the top layer of the Doboschorte. Final steps will be to score the caramel and remove it from the cookie sheet to be placed on top the other six layers.

The terrine is made by taking a baking dish and lining it with bacon or leaf pork fat. Then the dish is filled with veal and pork and topped with ham and pistachio nuts.

Needless to say, these are simplified instructions and the torte was one of those creations taking all day to make...but it was well worth the effort. For someone who enjoys fine foods, the three days at the Rowe Inn were a delight.

The sessions were made even more delightful by the hospitality and congeniality of owner Wes Westhoven, Pete, and kitchen helpers Jean Muhi and Greg Vasao. Everyone was so very nice that all the guests talked seriously about having a "class reunion" next year to learn some new epicurean delight.

The next scheduled event at the Rowe Inn will take place May 11 through 14 and is described as "Morel Mania and French Fantasies." Plans are for the "class" to go mushroom hunting and to prepare such items as morel stuffed chicken and morel soup. They will also be cooking some fruit sorbets and scallop timbales.

Timbales. Is that anything like a kettledrum? Can't be. Could it?

500 years 'from your Valentine'

BY KATHY JOHNSON

"Roses are red, violets are blue, you're cute as a pig, and I love you." For some 500 years the valentine message has been sent by lovers to express that precious message from the heart, "I love you."

But the origin of valentines must be traced back beyond 500 years, and there are several stories to choose from.

One legend has valentines going back to ancient Rome and the Feast of Lupercalia, on Feb. 14. During that festival, young women would write messages of love and place them in a large urn. Then young men would draw a name and message from the urn. During the next year they would court the maiden whose name they had chosen.

This same ritual occurred as recently as the 1700's when the custom was for young men to draw a young lady's name from a hat or bowl. He would then fix her name to his sleeve, hence the saying "He wears his heart on his sleeve."

While there are at least eight St. Valentines in history, one of whom was beheaded as a Christian martyr on Feb. 14 (the pagan holiday for the goddess of love), the most popular story takes place in 269 A.D.

A young Christian priest is credited with performing valiant service in helping Christians during their persecution by Claudius II, The Roman Emperor. The Romans made it a crime to provide aid and comfort to the Christians.

According to history, Valentinus (the Latin form) was thrown in prison. His one comfort in the prison was the jailer's blind daughter. She would bring him food and deliver messages. Ultimately the priest was doomed to be beaten with clubs, stoned and executed. But, before his death, he is credited with restoring the sight of the jailer's daughter and converting the jailer and his girl to Christianity.

On the eve of his execution, the priest wrote a message of farewell to the girl and signed it "from your Valentine." His execution was carried out on Feb. 14, 270 A.D. According to legend, a pink almond tree blossomed near his grave, a symbol of abiding love.

The phrase "from your Valentine" has carried across the centuries as a message of friendship, affection and sharing. The earliest known valentine was sent in 1415 by Charles, Duke of Orleans, to his wife. This valentine is now in the British Museum.

in popularity and crudeness at the turn of the century. By that time the penny dreadfuls and the lace and flowers were being replaced by novelty cards. These were mechanical, three-dimensional, and contained moving parts.

Today's valentines have moved on from the mechanical through sweet messages of love. According to Alan Doan, senior editorial manager for Hallmark Cards, a leading publisher of valentines, the ever-popular traditional valentine appears to be losing ground. New valentines with modern graphics and unusually candid and personal prose sentiments are growing in demand.

"These newer valentines often express love in the context of modern situations," said Doan. "Many people seem to be taking their annual valentine statements of love more seriously. They're telling us they don't always need to adorn expressions of love with flowery rhyme and frills."

Traditional valentine designs, hearts, flowers and lace, are being touched by more contemporary approaches. Cupid, the embodiment of romantic love for centuries, is being seriously challenged by the butterfly as the symbol of love for the modern valentine consumer.

These new approaches tend to belie the tradition that a valentine isn't a valentine unless it contains hearts and flowers and long rhymed verse.

Instead of rhymed verse your card this year may read: "Sweetheart, My love for you is so beautiful that it defies description...I can only say that nothing in my life has ever been as wonderful."

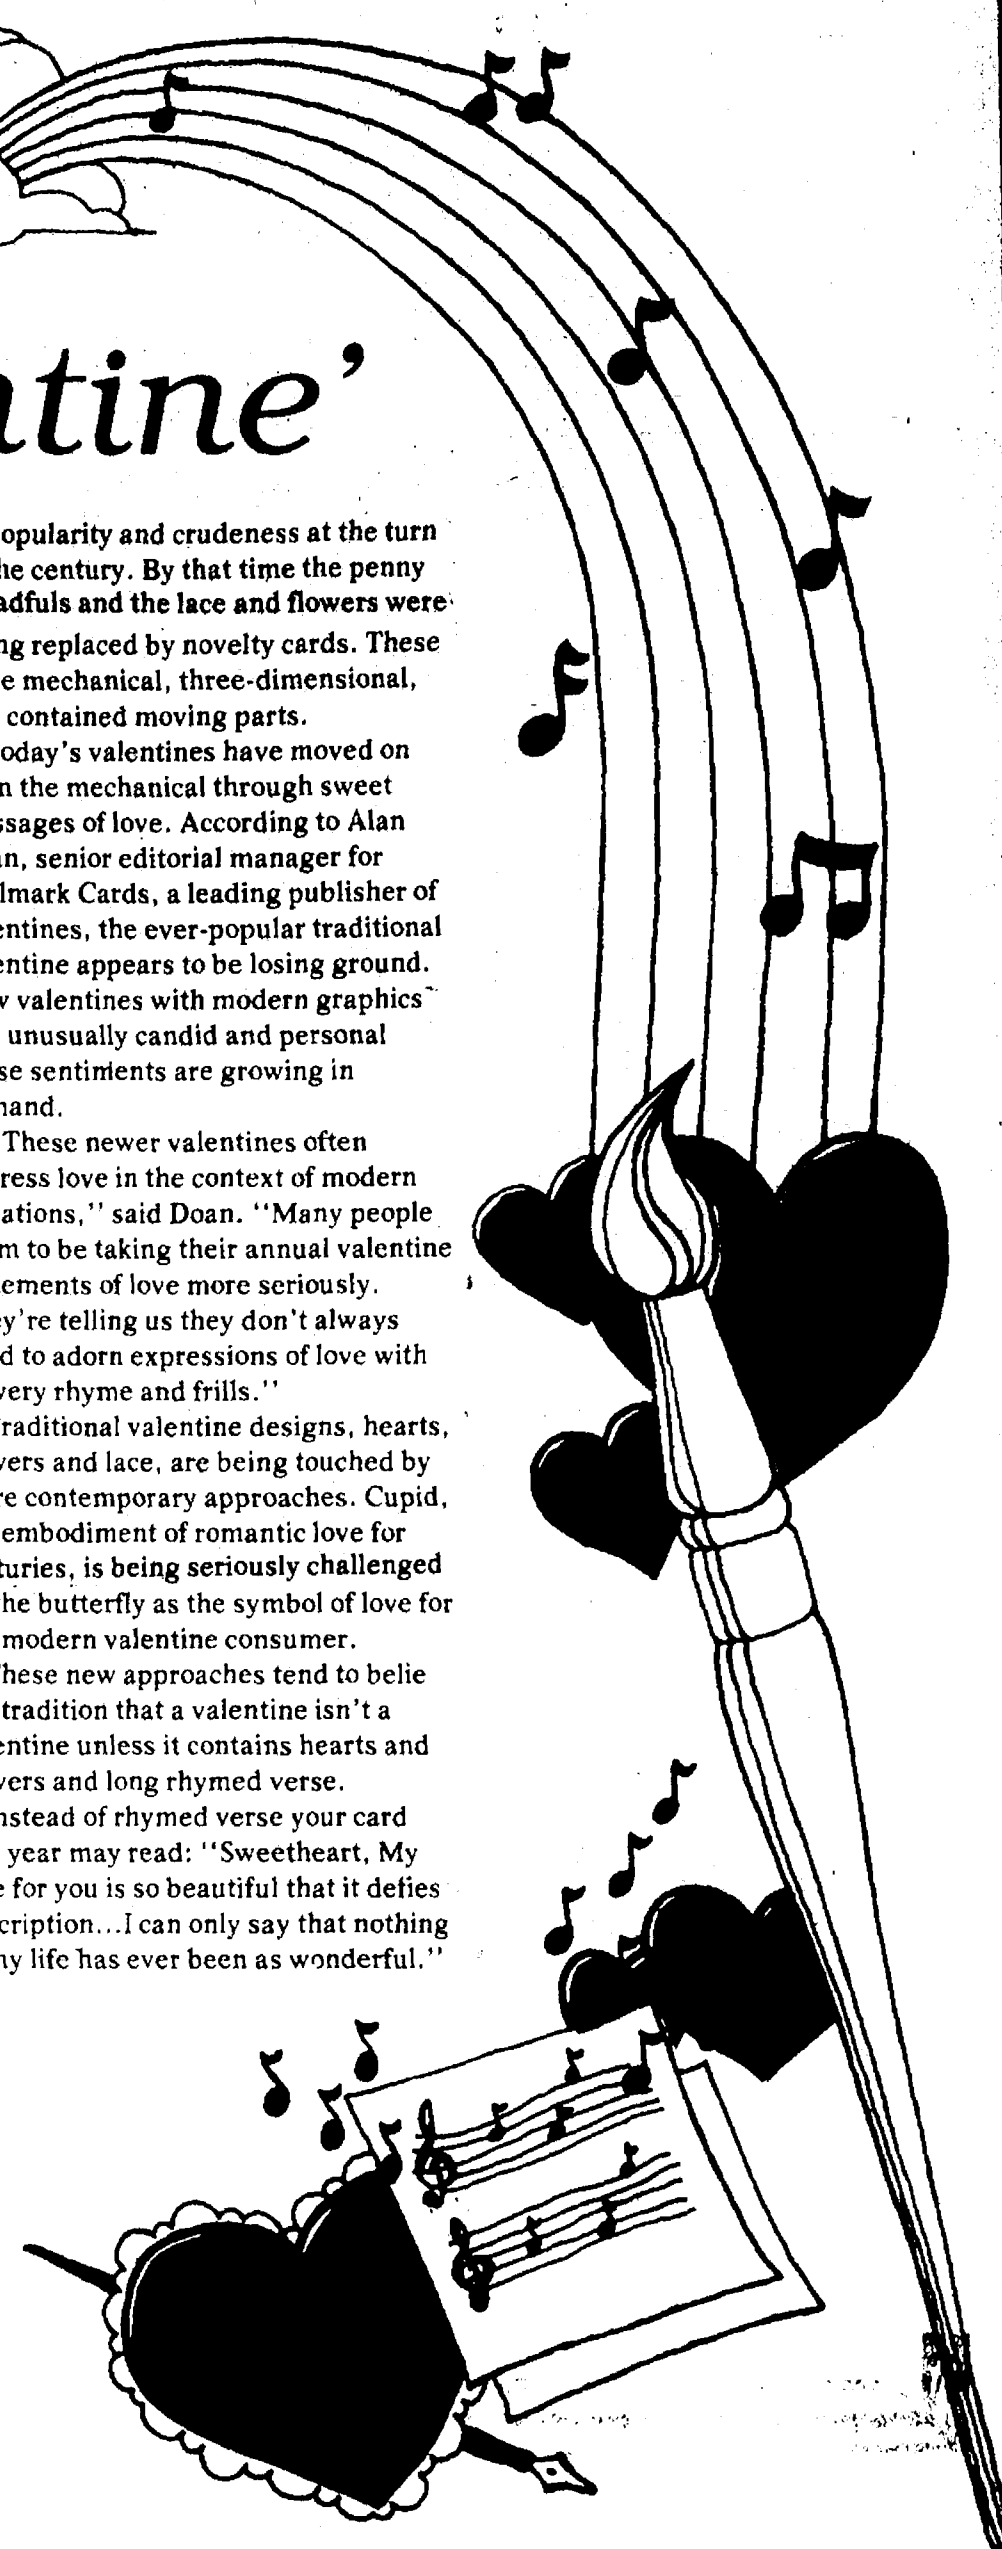

Many valentines from the 1740s to the 1840s are valuable collectors' items today. These valentines were made from lace, locks of hair, feathers, dried flowers, chips of mirrors and ribbons. The first printed valentines were from copper plate in 1800-1810. Following that there were woodcuts, engraving, stone lithography, and printing.

Mass production of valentines began around 1830 in Europe. America followed in 1840 with Turner and Fisher of Philadelphia being one of the first companies.

In 1848 valentines known as "penny dreadfuls" originated and were quite popular for a number of years. One such valentine was titled "A Cheap Tin-Horn Sport and Gambler." The valentine read, "The gambler in his best estate, most people do not highly rate; while the low-down species, such as you, would be juggled for life, if they got their due."

These valentines reached their peak

NORTHERN MICHIGAN ELECTRIC COOPERATIVE

Northern Michigan Electric Cooperative, Inc. (N.M.E.C.), 1050 Division, Boyne City, Michigan 49712 and Wolverine Electric Cooperative, Inc. (W.E.C.), 302 S. Warren, Big Rapids, Michigan 49307 are announcing they have made application to the Rural Electrification Administration for approximately $3,500,000.00 each, in guaranteed insured funds for joint participation with the Department of Energy DOE and Electric Power Research Institute (E.P.R.I.) in a Storage Battery Electric Energy Demonstration (SBEED) Project.

The purpose of the ongoing DOE-EPRI development program (they will furnish about 68% of the necessary funds) for the proposed application of the energy storage battery in the electric power industry is to provide a more economical means for leveling power output from generation sources.

The Plant, the world's first large scale application of storage battery technology, will be located on a 48 acre parcel of land owned by WEC on which its Hersey Generating Station is already located. The plant will have a rated charge of 10 MW (10,000 kilowatts) for a 3 hour period.

The plant will charge from relatively inexpensive off peak power purchases from the interconnected Michigan A-C power grid through power converter. The stored D-C power will be discharged back through the converter during system peak conditions. The Plant will operate automatically by remote control from the Michigan Municipal-Cooperative Pool operations center.

A Borrower's Environmental Report, which indicates anticipated environmental effects, has been prepared for the proposed project. A copy of this report can be reviewed at the Cooperative's addresses listed above or at the offices of the Rural Electrification Administration by contacting Frank W. Bennett, Director, Power Supply Division, Rural Electrification Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250. The Cooperatives do not believe the proposed project will have a significant effect on the quality of the human environment. The Rural Electrification Administration will make its own independent environmental assessment prior to granting financial assistance.

If there are any comments on the environmental aspects of the proposed construction, they should be submitted to the cooperatives at the above addresses within thirty (30) days of the publication of this notice. A copy of all comments received by the cooperatives will be sent to REA for its evaluation.

Charlevoix County Public Notice Tentative Equalization ratios and multipliers

Section 1, Act No. 206 of the Public Acts of 1893, as amended, being Sections 211.1 to 211.157 of the Compiled Laws of 1948, is amended by adding Section 34a to read as follows:

Sec. 34a. The equalization director of each county shall prepare a tabular statement each year by the several cities and townships of the county, showing the tentative recommended equalization ratios and estimated multipliers necessary to compute individual state equalized valuation of real property and of personal property. The county shall publish the tabulation in a newspaper of general circulation within the county on or before the third Monday in February each year and furnish a copy to each of the boards of review in the county and to the state tax commission. All notices of meeting of the boards of review shall give the tentative ratios and estimated multipliers pertaining to their jurisdiction. The tentative recommended equalization ratios and multiplying figures shall not prejudice the equalization procedures of the county board of commissioners of the state tax commission.

A delicious winter brunch

It is always a high point in my trips to Indianapolis to visit with Jerry and Kate Boyce. They really became part of our family when their son married my granddaughter.

They have one of those dream homes in the hill country south of Indianapolis. Jerry, who is head of the art department at Indiana Central, designed it himself. It blends perfectly into the beautiful hills and woods that surround their place.

Kate raises all of her own vegetables, makes bread, preserves everything, and what delicious meals she prepares!

She served brunch for us New Year's Eve day. We sat in front of the fire with our choice of beverages and cheese and crackers, looking out of the windows for cardinals and woodpeckers on the bird feeder.

Flying the flag

Boyne City VFW Post 3675 regularly provides American flags to be flown over a number of locations throughout the community, including schools and the Little League field. Last week, the VFW presented a new flag to be flown over Litzenger Place, the city's senior citizen apartment building. Presenting the flag, at left, are Leonard Zarembo, assistant quartermaster, and Ed Gunderson, senior vice-commander. Accepting the flag are Bill Hadix, who raises and lowers the flag each day at the apartments, and Catherine Howe, a resident of Litzenger Place.

Ramblers in second ...but still in the race

BOYNE CITY - With two weeks left in the regular season, the Ramblers still cling to hopes for a conference championship.

Since they are two games behind Petoskey, Boyne's only chance will be if the Northmen lose at least two of their four remaining Michigan-Huron Shores Conference games.

Although Petoskey has won nine of 10 league games so far, the Northmen have an extremely tough schedule at the end of the season.

Petoskey must play three of the top contenders—Charlevoix, Cheboygan and Grayling—on the road in the final two weeks.

For Boyne to get a share of the title, Petoskey would have to lose two games. But as optimistic Rambler Coach Bob Taylor says, "Petoskey has to win two out of three tough road games to win the title outright."

Taylor says the league champion could be decided in the last game of the season when Petoskey plays at Grayling.

Of course Boyne's chances also depend on the Ramblers winning all four of their remaining league games. If they slip up, that would leave the door open for Cheboygan or Grayling, who share second place with Boyne City. All three teams have three league losses.

Grayling's homecourt loss to Charlevoix last Friday was a pleasant surprise that gave Boyne City "new hope," Taylor said. He had thought Grayling had a good chance to edge out Petoskey for the title because Grayling had an easier season-ending schedule.

Boyne City's toughest tests in the remainder of the season will probably be Cheboygan and Charlevoix. Next Friday, Feb. 20, the Ramblers host Cheboygan, and on Feb. 27, Boyne plays at Charlevoix. They have already beaten both teams this season.

Boyne also has relatively easy games remaining at Gaylord (3-12) this Friday and at Rogers City (1-13) on Feb. 24. A non-conference home game with Mancelona is scheduled for next Tuesday, Feb. 17.

Last Friday, the Ramblers won their ninth game in their last 10 tries as they whipped St. Ignace 78-60. After trailing 32-28 at intermission, Boyne City piled up a 50-28 advantage in the second half.

Junior Brian Vroman turned in another sterling performance with 27 points, 18 rebounds and four assists. Also chipping in were Kerry Kruzul with 12 points and five assists, Daryl Tims with 12 points and 10 rebounds, Larry Jarema with 7 points and four assists, and John Tompkins with six points and eight rebounds.

Happy homecoming for Boyne Falls

BOYNE FALLS - The Loggers won their first homecourt game in three years Friday night to make their homecoming a happy affair.

Vanderbilt was the victim for the third time this season. In fact, if it weren't for Vanderbilt, Boyne Falls wouldn't have a victory yet this season. They are 3-9.

But a good opportunity for another homecourt win is coming next Tuesday when the Loggers host Wolverine.

Boyne Falls lost to Wolverine 61-50 early in the season, but Coach Dale Reinhardt says his Loggers ought to win this time around.

That Dec. 16 win represents Wolverine's only victory against 11 losses this season.

Boyne Falls will also be hosting heavily favored Johannesburg-Lewiston this Friday. The Cardinals are ranked among the top 10 Class D teams in the state with a 13-2 record.

The Loggers used a hot streak in the third quarter to dispose of Vanderbilt last Friday. Leading 32-21 at halftime, Boyne Falls spurred to a 30 point lead before the end of the third quarter and coasted home to victory.

A 68-38 rebounding advantage was also a big factor in the game.

Sophomore center Tim Smith had his best game of the year, pouring in 32 points and grabbing 15 rebounds.

Senior Jim Spencer, who was crowned homecoming king before the game, had 17 points and 17 rebounds.

John Hausler added 12 points, while Norm Mahanke had six. Mahanke and Bruce Crouterfield each had 15 rebounds.

The Logger junior varsity improved their season record to 2-8 with a 45-29 victory over Vanderbilt in the preliminary game.

Last Tuesday, the Loggers fell behind early and lost to Forest Area, 64-50. A 19-4 first quarter deficit was too much to overcome.

Smith led the scoring with 15 points. Spencer added 11 and Hausler had nine.

John Hausler gets two points on a fast break layup for Boyne Falls in the Loggers' homecoming victory over Vanderbilt.

Devils stay close

EAST JORDAN - The Red Devils' last league road game comes up this Friday against a hot-and-cold Central Lake squad.

It's a big game for East Jordan, which trails Harbor Springs by just one game in the Ski Valley League.

Central Lake gave the Devils all they could handle when the two teams met in East Jordan on Jan. 13. The Devils escaped with a 65-63 overtime victory.

Central Lake has an 11-4 season record, and their 7-4 league mark is good for third place.

The Trojans have beaten Harbor Springs once this year, but they looked weak last Friday in losing to Mancelona, 97-65.

East Jordan Coach Bill Chase is hoping Mancelona stays hot when they host Harbor Springs. A Mancelona win would drop Harbor into a tie with East Jordan.

The Red Devils are coming off a good showing last Friday as they trounced Inland Lakes, 89-68.

Center Del Ingalls made 15 of 20 free throws and ended the night with 29 points and 21 rebounds.

Also getting in on the scoring against Inland Lakes were Todd Root with 12 points, Randy Morris with 11, Mike Brennan nine, and Bill Spence with six.

Mike Spence had 12 rebounds, Root nine, and Brennan and Bill Spence had eight each.

After this Friday's game at Central Lake, the Devils host Pellston on Feb. 17 and Mancelona on Feb. 20.

Frosh wrestler 2nd in league

BY RUSSELL TISRON
Student Reporter

BOYNE CITY - The wrestling team went to Rogers City to compete in the Conference Championships Saturday. Mitch Kruzul, a freshman, was the only medal winner from Boyne, finishing second in the 98-pound class. Scott Elzinga took a fifth place.

"Mitch did a great job for being a freshman. The level of competition in our conference is really tough and for a freshman to take a medal is a really super feat," Coach Rick Fowler said. Kruzul has a 14-2 record this year.

The matmen will be competing Saturday at Pine River in the championships.

"I think the team will do rather well, and we are ready for it. I'm really satisfied with their progress," Fowler said. He added that Kruzul has a good chance of going to the state finals.

Found: century-old newspapers

of filming Michigan's newspapers for the State Library in Lansing. He was surprised that so many had been missed when Boyne City's papers were filmed, and he said if we brought them down he would put the rest on microfilm.
We felt so deeply the importance of getting those papers microfilmed that we put aside our church history for the time being and spent one whole summer on the newspaper project.
First, we made a complete study of the ones on microfilm so we would know what ones were missed, taking the films to the colleges at Petoskey or Traverse City to scan for dates of issue. Then we spent all the rest of that hot summer in Gregg Smith's attic over the newspaper office on Lake Street, sorting those 93 years of newspapers and packing up the ones we were to take to Mr. Cumming at Central Michigan University.
By that fall we had them ready to go, and we packed them in the trunk and back seat of our old Mercury and hauled them down to Mr. Pleasant. We estimated that about one-fourth of the newspapers had been omitted from the microfilming, so there were several big boxes of old papers.

We also had run across a copy of an 1880 newspaper, The Boyne City Enterprise, belonging to Ivan Nowland of Boyne City, and he allowed us to take that one, too. It was the first copy of a newspaper that was published in Boyne City for a year or so. It then moved to East Jordan.
When we went to Mt. Pleasant to pick up the papers again after the microfilming had been completed, we were told that we were lucky to have brought them in when we did.
The project of microfilming old newspapers in Michigan had been scrapped as an economy measure, and if we had not taken that one summer to get the rest of those old newspapers filmed, it would never have been possible again.
Ours were the last ones to be filmed unless the project has been revived since that time, so we have been very thankful that we took the time when we saw the need.

This brought to our attention the need for a microfilm reader for Boyne City, and for several years the Boyne City Historical Society tried to earn money for a reader. We had nearly 100 years of old newspapers for research and nothing to read them with.
We also had a vast supply of other microfilms that we could borrow from the State Library in Lansing, so we really worked hard. However, we were such a small group that by the time we had earned a dollar toward a reader the price had gone up two dollars! Inflation had us in its grip.
We finally had to reach out for other help, and now, through a grant secured (I believe) by the Boyne City Library Association under the direction or with the help of the city manager, Tim Clifton, we have our microfilm reader!

So if you will go down to the library, you can read those old newspapers beginning with that one copy of the Boyne City Enterprise of Sept. 10, 1880. And you will enjoy it! It was truly a "home town paper" back in those days, and really printed "all the news that's fit to print" as their motto claimed, and probably some that was marginal!
Mr. Smith did a feature story on our search for the old papers in his attic, and I have a copy of it back in Michigan but I don't recall the date...in the mid-1970s, I would say. We used a picture from the story in our church history.
I started a record of the publishers and editors when we were working on the project, and if I can find it next summer I'll bring it in to you. But by then you'll no doubt be reading those old papers yourself!

Northwestern STATE BANK

Northwestern State Bank introduces "Check Save Now Accounts", a new concept in savings management that allows you to earn 5.25% annual interest on the money you keep in your checking account.

A Check Save Now Account is free at Northwestern State Bank as long as you keep an average balance of $1,000 or more in your account. If your average balance goes below $1,000, there is a flat service charge of $5.00 for that month only - but you will still earn interest on your entire balance - whatever it is - every day.

Some financial institutions do not pay any interest if you do not maintain the required balances.

With a Check Save Now Account you will receive a statement each month, along with your cancelled checks, showing all the transactions you've made during the month and all the interest your money has earned right up to the day your statement was prepared.

Stop in to any of our conveniently located offices today and ask us about opening a Check Save Now Account. Checking account convenience with savings account interest. Check Save Now Accounts from Northwestern State Bank.

A new way to shop for your auto, home, or life insurance

Announcing "Quik Quote"

On January 1st, 1981, the R. A. Campbell Agencies of Boyne City and East Jordan installed special "QUIK QUOTE" telephone numbers.

Now, you can shop from your home, for your auto, home or life insurance, with no obligation.

When you call, one of our agents will take your present insurance information and other details needed to properly quote your insurance. We will then call you back with 3 separate company quotations for you to choose from. You can then choose the company and price you like or reject them all.

We think this service will assure you of having the lowest possible insurance costs at the touch of your fingertips.

Our agency offers every competitive rates from many companies, such as Aetna Casualty, Auto Owners and Riverside.

For a no obligation "QUIK QUOTE," call these special numbers:

PUBLICATION AND NOTICE OF HEARING
STATE OF MICHIGAN
PROBATE COURT
COUNTY OF CHARLEVOIX
FILE NO. 7154

Estate of MICHAEL JASON BEHLING, Minor.

TAKE NOTICE: On February 18, 1981 at 1:30 p.m., in the probate courtroom, Charlevoix, Michigan, before Hon. John T. Murphy, Judge of Probate, a hearing will be held on the petition of Zoe Jean Peck praying that the name of Michael Jason Behling, a minor, be changed to Michael Jason Peck.

February 2, 1981
Zoe Jean Peck
305 Third Street
East Jordan, Mi. 49727

Northern Michigan Electric Cooperative, Inc. (N.M.E.C.), 1050 E. Division, Boyne City, Michigan 49712 and Wolverine Electric Cooperative, Inc. (W.E.C.), 302 S. Warren, Big Rapids, Michigan 49307 are announcing they have made application to the Rural Electrification Administration for approximately $3,500,000.00 each, in guaranteed and insured funds for joint participation with the Department of Energy (DOE) and Electric Power Research Institute (E.P.R.I.) in a Storage Battery Electric Energy Demonstration (SBEED) Project.

The purpose of the ongoing DOE-EPRI development program (they will furnish about 68% of the necessary funds) for the proposed application of the energy storage battery in the electric power industry is to provide a more economical means for leveling power output from generation sources.

The plant, the world's first large scale application of storage battery technology, will be located on a 48 acre parcel of land owned by WEC on which its Hersey Generating Station is already located. The plant will have a rated storage capacity of 30 MWH (30,000 kilowatt hours) and will have a peak discharge of 10 MW (10,000 kilowatts) for a 3 hour period.

The plant will charge from relatively inexpensive off-peak power purchases from the interconnected Michigan A-C power grid through a power converter. The stored D-C power will be discharged back through the converter during system peak conditions. The plant will operate automatically by remote control from the Michigan Municipal-Cooperative Pool operations center.

A Borrower's Environmental Report, which indicated anticipated environmental effects, has been prepared for the proposed project. A copy of this report can be reviewed at the Cooperatives' addresses listed above, or at the offices of the Rural Electrification Administration by contacting Frank W. Bennett, Director, Power Supply Division, Rural Electrification Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250. The Cooperatives do not believe the proposed project will have a significant effect on the quality of the human environment. The Rural Electrification Administration will make its own independent environmental assessment prior to granting financial assistance.

If there are any comments on the environmental aspects of the proposed construction, they should be submitted to the cooperatives at the above addresses within thirty (30) days of the publication of this notice. A copy of all comments received by the cooperatives will be sent to REA for its evaluation.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE

Pursuant and by virtue of a Judgment by the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, made and entered on the 27th day of October, 1980, and a certain cause therein pending, wherein the Northwestern State Bank, a Michigan Banking Corporation was Plaintiff and Wayne E. Boss and Sandra L. Boss, were Defendants, Notice is hereby given, that I shall sell at public sale to the highest bidder in the lobby of the main entrance on the East side of the County Court House Building in the City of Charlevoix (that being the place of holding the Circuit Court for said County), on Thursday, the 26th day of March, 1981, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, the following described property: All those certain pieces or parcels of land situated in the Township of Wilson, County of Charlevoix, and State of Michigan, described as follows:

PARCEL # 3: A part of the Southwest Quarter (SW 1/4) of the Northeast Quarter (NE 1/4) of Section 3, Town 32 North, Range 6 West, described as: Commencing at the center of said Section 3; thence North 89 degrees 54'45" East 646.20 feet to the point of beginning of the parcel to be described; thence South 00 degrees 37'45" East 20.00 feet; thence North 89 degrees 54'45" East 637.16 feet; thence North 01 degree 05'17" West 678.31 feet; thence due West 649.44 feet; thence South 00 degrees 37'45" East 659.30 feet to the point of beginning, per survey prepared by Wayne E. Boss, R.L.S. #20703 and recorded in Liber 239, Page 254, Charlevoix County Records.

PARCEL # 5: A part of the Northwest Quarter (NW 1/4) of the Southeast Quarter (SE 1/4) of Section 3, Town 32 North, Range 6 West, described as: commencing at the center of said Section 3; thence North 89 degrees 54'45" East 427.73 feet to the point of beginning of the parcel to be described; thence continuing North 89 degrees 54'45" East 218.47 feet; thence South 00 degrees 37'45" East 20.00 feet; thence North 89 degrees 54'45" East 209.36 feet; thence South 01 degrees, 19'17" East 1311.24 feet; thence North 88 degrees 47'34" West 422.74 feet; thence North 01 degrees 32'43" West 1321.82 feet to the point of beginning, per survey prepared by Wayne E. Boss R.L.S. # 20703, and recorded in Liber 239, Page 254, Charlevoix County Records.

BOTH PARCELS ARE SUBJECT TO & TOGETHER WITH A PERMANENT EASEMENT DESCRIBED AS: Being a part of the Northeast Quarter (NE 1/4) of the Northeast Quarter (NE 1/4) and part of the Southeast Quarter (SE 1/4) of the Northeast Quarter (NE 1/4) and part of the Southwest Quarter (SW 1/4) of the Northeast Quarter (NE 1/4) and part of the Northwest Quarter (NW 1/4) of the Southeast Quarter (SE 1/4) of Section 3, Town 32 North, Range 6 West, Wilson Township, Charlevoix County. Said easement is a continuous one with that portion of easement located in the Northeast Quarter (NE 1/4) of the Northeast Quarter (NE 1/4) of said Section 3, being described as 50 feet in width on the portion which runs North and South and 66 feet in width on the portion running East and West, the center line of this section of easement (located in the Northeast Quarter (NE 1/4) of the Northeast Quarter (NE 1/4) of said Section 3, being described as a point on the centerline of Leroy St., said point being 48 rods 8 feet South of the Northeast corner of the West 6 acres of the Northeast Quarter (NE 1/4) of said Section 3; thence West 173 feet, more or less; thence South parallel to the West line of said 6 acres, to the South line of said 6 acres. The portion of easement located in the Southeast Quarter (SE 1/4) of the Northeast Quarter (NE 1/4) being described as the West 50 feet in width by the North 100 feet in length of a 1 acre parcel described as: Beginning at the Northwest corner of the Southeast Quarter (SE 1/4) of the Northeast Quarter (NE 1/4) of said Section 3, being the North 1/8th post on the East 1/8th line of said Section 3; thence running East on the North 1/8th line, 12 rods; thence
