Mary and Hugh Juday of Boyne City have had 70 dogs graduate from the Rochester Leader Dogs School. Three of their favorite females, a golden retriever and a chocolate and yellow labrador retriever pose with them.

Boyne City couple train 70 'graduates' to lead the blind

BOYNE CITY - Unlike many dogs, wanted as puppies but neglected when they've grown, the dogs trained to lead the blind have a long life of being appreciated.

Hugh and Mary Juday of Boyne City recently had their 70th dog graduate from training at Rochester Leader Dogs School which has been in operation since 1939.

The Judays have retrievers and breed them for puppies who will go to school after they are a year old. They share the puppy-raising with families in the area who have young teenagers or youngsters in 4-H clubs.

Mary Juday said they also contract with some people without children to raise puppies for the Leader Dog program. These adults, however, have to be people with time every day to give the dog the understanding and preliminary training needed.

"Families that quarrel—the dog will pick that up," Mary says, to explain how some families might not be much of an advantage to these special dogs.

The puppy stays with the contracted family until the Judays take it to Rochester for its four months of intensive training. With the family, the pup learns simple commands and becomes accustomed to a leash. "Like taking in a little foster child, you know," says Mary, affectionately.

In Leader Dog School, working with the one trainer the dog is assigned to, the dog learns to obey hand and voice signals, and, in turn, to signal its future owner about such hazards to the blind as curbs and low branches. A dog even learns to take the owner around puddles in the street.

Mary Juday says some dogs fail the program because of their inability to cope with the problem of stairs. The dog must stop at the top or the bottom of stairs. Stopping is a signal to the owner to slide a foot forward to discover the change of terrain—whatever it may be. After the dog's four-month training has been completed, the owner-to-be comes for four weeks of training with the dog. During this time, Mary says, the owner must earn the affection of the dog.

"The German shepherd is the prestige dog," she says, because the shepherd dogs were so often pictured in the early days of such organizations as "Seeing Eye."

"But golden retriever and Labrador retrievers—these are the ones trained now."

The Judays have added chocolate retrievers to the list lately because their graduation record is very high, especially those bred at Juday's.

Altogether the Judays have put 288 puppies out to contracting homes in their five years with the program.

Of course, many kinds of dogs are trainable, but Mary points out they have to be big enough to have the strength and the weight for the job. And in a Michigan winter, they can't be short-haired dogs like the newly popular Rhodesian ridgebacks.

The owners of Leader Dogs must be able to give the dogs enough exercise. Leader Dogs may be professionals, and when they wear the harness they are strictly business, Mary says. But off duty they need to run and play like any other dog.

Like other dogs, too, they thrive on being praised and patted, however, people wanting to pet a Leader Dog should always ask permission. The owner doesn't see someone is trying to stop a dog to pet it and the dog is taught to obey only its owner.

The Judays enjoy giving talks and showing films on their favorite subject to clubs and schools and informal groups. Mary keeps up on the subject. The book she most enthusiastically recommends even to non-dog-lovers is "Emma and I" by Sheila Hocken.

As always the question arises: Where does the money come from?

The cost of the Rochester school training and of the dog itself is paid for by the Lions Clubs of Michigan. Other organizations and individuals also donate towards the operation.

Locally, the Boyne Valley Lions provide funds to the Judays for veterinary fees and canned dog food. The supplementary two to three tons of dry dog food a year are purchased by the Judays.

People who take the puppies to raise, pay their expenses, which are tax deductible.

Children who have cared for these puppies are sad to see them go at the end of the year, but they also have learned something about doing for others.

Families sometimes can make the trip to the dog's graduation and meet the person the dog will lead.

Judays say their dogs are now in five foreign countries and 29 states. They speak with respect of these animals who have devoted their lives and their intelligence to the blind.

School board stands firm as recall election nears

BY BARBARA CRUDEN

Nearly everyone has been called on the carpet sometime for intentionally or unintentionally doing something wrong and knows what it feels like.

But how does it feel to people who believe they've tried to do something right?

How does it go with the four school board members whose names are on the recall ballot to be voted March 3?

They all say they did the best they could.

"I still believe in the position the board has taken," Bob Sherman said.

"I think it's the circumstances," Tom Galmore added to this. "I guess I regret being judged by the situation rather than by my performance. People aren't going down to the voting booth to judge how I voted—yes or no on dozens of questions over my term."

Mary Jason speaks of it this way: "There are days when I'm frustrated. Days I can carry on...I'm sure I've not lessened my involvement since the petition came up."

But, as Sherman said, it hasn't been pleasant. "It's been horrid a lot of the time," said Jason.

'It's been horrid a lot of the time,' said one board member'

"It's hard to deal with people I've had a high regard for who just don't speak to me anymore," Jason said.

Herb Griffin, like Jason, was on the board during the time the new high school was built. During this period, Griffin said they were visiting the building once or twice every week. But, he stressed, the board didn't do it alone.

"It was more of a community project," he said. It bothers him now that the community seems to be split. "We've always had a good community spirit...over the years you build up faith in a community." Has he lost it? "No."

The split in the community as the school board members see it, basically follows the split between the school board and the teachers.

"The worst thing about recall," said Jason, "is putting people on sides." But she adds, "Now that things have gone so far, it's probably a good thing to clear the air."

One of the reasons the recall is being asked for, according to the wording of the petition, is because the school board members failed to listen to the community.

Jan Hammond, one of those heading the petition drive, said, "When we called, they wouldn't be home."

Griffin's response to this was that he was glad to answer the phone whenever he was home from work. He said he had 28 calls favoring binding arbitration and eight against.

Galmore, whose job at his family's business makes him fairly accessible, especially to people going to the post office next door, said he has talked to past school board members, past teachers, and others from the community nearly every day.

He said most of the people who do approach him are in support of the board. When they aren't, he takes the time to discuss it.

The other objection raised by the petition is that the board refused to give the teachers binding arbitration.

Jason said that last Sept. 26, when the board did accede to the teachers' demand, the recall petition then became false. She said the teachers agreed verbally to the board's offer as it was made in a court house negotiating session.

She explained that a petition may still be voted on even though circumstances have changed.

But, as Jan Hammond said, the petitioners continued to collect signatures. "It didn't change things, because (the binding arbitration offer) had strings," she explained.

In addition, "people were unhappy with the board because of the money situation. They were not on top of things," she said.

She also said the board should have started in May to negotiate, instead of putting it off until August.

But school board members said although binding arbitration was put up as the main point, it was really not the main point.

Galmore said it's common knowledge teachers unions will go for a strike and then go for a recall. It's standard procedure, he said.

"It wasn't, 'Can we work this out.' It was, 'You're going to give me,'" he said, adding that although negotiations are a two-way street, he didn't see any compromising on the part of the union.

According to Griffin, "If all the facts were known, there would be a different light on the subject." But once negotiations begin, negotiators may not prejudice the negotiations with public disclosures, Griffin explained.

Of the seven board members, three had served in their terms less than the six months required to be possible subjects of recall. It is for this reason that only four of the seven members'

What if the board is recalled?

What would happen if any of the four school board members were recalled?

If there were a majority still left on the board, the board would appoint whatever replacements would be needed to act until the regular election.

Should the board fail to appoint within 20 days, the Intermediate School Board would do the appointing.

But if the recall should remove all four, there would not be a majority left on the board. In that case, they would have to call a special election, unless the regular election were to be upcoming in four months.

Since the regular election will be June 8—less than four months away—and because no seat may be left vacant more than 20 days, it would devolve upon the Intermediate School Board to appoint replacements.

Would new board members be more lenient about teacher raises?

Sherman commented, "The new board would have no more access than the old to solutions," and further, "It would lack experience."

Galmore said he believed the present board's months of experience would be essential in choosing a new superintendent, another major task which must be accomplished before July 1.

"To recall them now and leave the board with a total of one and one-half years of experience....Not that people would be poor at the job, but experience is vital," Galmore said.

And he added, "That's why not all members are elected at one time."

Solar heat

Boyne City Public Librarian Janet Waldner, center, shows new solar panels in the library to members of the Advisory Council of the Northland Library Co-operative who were visiting the local library last week. The solar panels are just some of the new energy saving devices added this year at the library. Other changes include insulating window panels and ceiling fans. The library originally had $2500 for storm windows, but with the encouragement of an energy consultant and a CETA work crew the money was extended to cover other saving devices.

Pre-paid pre-plan or not - What's the difference?

One's pre-planned funeral need not be paid for in advance. Funeral arrangements may be made in advance—music and Scripture readings selected, funeral service details all noted and casket chosen, price range fixed—all without spending a dime at this time. This manner of pre-planning becomes a guide for your family to follow. It is an expression of your personal wishes. But it is a guide only, until payment is arranged. Your family can take care of pre-payment in advance of - or at the time of need. If you make pre-payment arrangements in advance, you have assured yourself your wishes will be followed exactly and to the letter. You have the peace-of-mind in knowing the chore is taken care of now. It will not be thrust upon your family in their time of emotional stress. You may stop by or call for full details.

Sherman, on the board for nearly two years, said the recall attempt doesn't change his position. "The problem," he said, "is dollars....People say pay more and get it settled, but the system is losing dollars." "I don't think we can pay unless we sacrifice the financial responsibility we have."

Thanks to tightening purse strings in the state, Jason said, "we have less money now to deal with than we had three months ago to settle contracts." "It isn't that I'm unsympathetic, I'm not," Galmore affirmed. "But the people in town just do not understand how little power we have." Faced with millage defeats, dropping student enrollment, past contracts, and so on, "You can't make things happen the way you want."

He spoke of inner distress of having to tell people they must give up a position in the school, and of his concern that "I have to take away from the students to pay for the raises."

None of the four board members believe that those who started the petition last September were sufficiently informed of the board views. They said the petitioners and those who signed the petitions had not previously approached board members with questions and had not previously involved themselves with the school system. So how did it start?

Hammond said it was during the stress of the strike and "someone mentioned recall." She and Star Raymond looked into it. And then "concerned people around town started popping up...." 22 at the meetings, none of whom were teachers, she said.

It was a new and hard experience and, she said, there were times when she felt like quitting, but her family was supportive.

"I personally don't blame the teachers for striking. I'm not going to say they should have everything they ask for. Binding arbitration yes, but as far as salaries—that's between the teachers and the board."

What about the recent rumor the remaining three board members might be put on a petition for recall?

Hammond knew no details about such a move, but said, "If someone wanted to start a petition, I'd certainly back them."

Like the school board members, Hammond found that most of the people who called were those who were in agreement. Hustlers were few, and she explained to them, "We're not a vindictive group. We don't think of them as enemies."

Nevertheless, board members admit it has "taken a lot of restraint" to cope with remarks they've heard of about themselves and their families.

But the hardest things, they said, have been the delay of school during the strike, seeing the children's education hurt, having to let good people go, and watching the curriculum they'd worked hard for slowly draining away.

And what do you tell your children when they ask you about "recall"?

Jason said, "I think if anything good came out of it for the children, the lesson has been learned that there are some things—if you believe in them, you are willing to stand up and be counted."

One yes vote for television from Boyne middle school

Students at the middle school in Boyne City are studying a TV script these days. It's for English, of course, and the script is for the television film, The Pride of Jesse Hallam, to be shown by CBS on Tuesday, March 3.

The Detroit Free Press, for 10 cents a copy, delivered 200 copies of the script, giving the students an advance reading of Johnny Cash's lines in the role of Jesse.

Jesse, a widowed coal-miner and farmer, is struggling to raise his youngsters and help them fulfill their promise. This leads them to the big city and challenges, among which are the fact Jesse can no longer conceal his inability to read. This challenge to his pride is resolved, and in turn resolves the other difficulties.

So if your children want to watch TV Tuesday night it's ok—they will be doing their homework. Perhaps you can help them with it.

Student named to city recreation commission

BOYNE CITY - "Not a token kid," chair-woman Pat Wulff stressed, in explaining why high school student Lester Crandell, Jr. was elected to full membership on the city Parks and Recreation Commission.

Wulff said it was a "joint idea" that the commission needed a young person on the board. "The kids will be the ones to use the parks. The parks will be theirs in the future," Wulff said.

Crandell fills the term vacated by Chris Todter, who went to Australia.

As far as Wulff knows, this is the first time a student has served on a commission, although students have attended school board meetings for several years, Mark Phillips now holding the spot.

Crandell's work on the Avalanche Ski Classic Committee was one thing that recommended him.

He is also a student in the high school forestry class, and planning for Avalanche's 340 acres is an important concern of the commission.

Viewpoints

Recall would serve no purpose

We don't feel any worthwhile purpose would be served by recalling four members of the East Jordan Board of Education next Tuesday.

While recall elections are often an indication that the electorate is alive and healthy, at other times they are the result of the action of a special interest group which has a single issue in mind.

We feel that the latter situation is definitely the case in East Jordan.

Recall petitions were started by a parents' group shortly after the East Jordan teachers went on strike last September. The petition wording—and also the wording on the ballots in next week's election—state that school board members are not "acting upon the will of the citizens...as it relates to granting their employees binding arbitration for their grievances."

The recall threat was a legitimate attempt to force the board to offer binding arbitration, which the teachers stated was their main reason for striking. This newspaper editorialized in favor of granting binding arbitration, in fact.

The board did eventually offer binding arbitration for most grievances and the teachers felt they were close enough to a settlement to return to classes without a contract.

At this point, the recall effort died down. Our news staff checked with the parent organizers week after week, only to be told the same thing—that the drive was still considerably short of its goal and not much was being done to gather more signatures.

Another millage election failed in October, and teacher negotiations were stalled again. As a pressure tactic, teacher negotiations were stalled again. As a pressure tactic, teachers discreetly joined the recall effort, making numerous phone calls to round up more support—but always making sure that it was the parent "organizers" who brought the petitions to be signed.

The necessary number of signatures were gathered shortly before a December deadline, forcing the recall issue to a vote in March.

Now the recall organizers say that even though binding arbitration has been offered, the board should still be recalled. Their main criticism now is the board's handling of its budget.

Editorial

In retrospect, we too can find fault with the way the board handled its finances. But most of the criticism from us, from citizens and from teachers has centered on the board's communication of its fiscal situation. There have been no substantiated charges of illegalities for misuse of funds.

Besides the same unpredictable problems that most families have with their budgets these days, the school board also has to deal with such hard-to-figure factors as student enrollments, negotiated salaries, voter-approved millages, and a politician-approved state aid formula.

And even the state aid formula, which isn't known until after the budget year is well under way, can, and has been, changed according to the ups and downs of the state economy and further whims of politicians.

Which is to say that, given all the variables, it isn't hard to be $100,000 or $200,000 off in a $2-million budget. And even though the school board and administration have made some mistakes, they cannot make money appear out of thin air.

It took three millage elections before voters would even approve a renewal of the tax rate which provides operating revenue for the schools. A fourth election asking for an increase was defeated.

To the school board, the repeated millage failures show that voters want a bare bones budget and minimal raises for teachers. The economic situation in East Jordan may be one of the worst in the state in terms of lost jobs in the past year.

With these economic facts at hand, the board must negotiate with teachers who feel cost-of-living economic pressures of their own. The teachers feel they need decent raises.

As we have stated in several previous commentaries, both of these positions are defensible—and this is what has caused the long stalemate. Both sides remain entrenched. The school board won't give in, and the teachers have felt the need to retaliate by criticizing anything they can—and by supporting (however discreetly) the recall effort.

But the community has already been badly split by school politics this year, and we don't see how the humiliation of recall of four school board members will help to heal that split.

In the "middle" of negotiations and also of hiring a new superintendent, it would be quite damaging to lose a majority of the school board—and the members who have the most experience, at that.

We recommend a "no" vote in Tuesday's recall election.

Letter to the editor

Many good reasons to recall board

Editor:

On Tuesday, March 3, our school district is having a special recall election.

This is to recall four school board members, Mrs. Mary Jason, Mr. Tom Galmore, Mr. Herb Griffin and Mr. Bob Sherman. This pertains as to whether you as concerned citizens feel these school board members have done their jobs in a proper manner.

As we (the recall committee) started out, the issue was based on the fact that the school board would not give the teachers binding arbitration in their contract.

Later after a long strike when the board offered it, the teachers turned it down because of the limitations involved but went back to class.

Since all (recall) was in progress we find that many other things aren't up to par—such as—

1. School board has not settled contract.
2. Board did not act on recommendation of judge, regarding binding arbitration to settle remaining issues of contract.

3. Board has lacked the ability and knowledge to foresee future financial needs in order to prevent present crisis. On October 29, 1979 the board projected a fund balance for 1980 in the amount of $213,393. At the end of the year, the actual balance was only $92,123. This discrepancy is unbelievable—poor financial responsibility, no foresight.

4. They exhibit lack of preparation and decision-making at board meetings—after all, each board member receives an agenda beforehand. As witnessed at the last board meeting, several issues were tabled.

These are a few things for all citizens to be concerned about. After all, it is our school.

Remember on March 3 to vote yes to recall these four board members.

Search for newspaper history has been intriguing

Every now and again a particular story or series of stories really gets under my skin. It becomes addictive and the craving to read more, talk to more people, and seek out information becomes almost obsessive.

Currently I'm working on a couple of things which have affected me that way. One in particular is the search for the genealogy of the Charlevoix County Press. It has excited not only me but the people that I've talked to.

There was real excitement last week, when after receiving and printing a letter from Eula Martin about her long and arduous task of getting old issues of the Boyne City Standard and Statesman on microfilm. I received a call from the public library to say that missing copies of the microfilm had been returned to the library. The earliest issues are now all on microfilm at the library.

I hurried over after receiving the call only to find that Nancy Fulkerson had already beat me to it and was reading the early issues for genealogy on families. We agreed to share, and for the last few days we've taken turns at the microfilm.

On Saturday, I spent some time at the library in East Jordan (I've already been to the Charlevoix library) and looked over the few existing copies of the old East Jordan papers there...and there aren't many.

Wait. "Stop the presses!" In the midst of writing this column (it is

Kathy Johnson

Saturday) I thought I would take one more trip upstairs in our office to look through the boxes and boxes of old papers, time cards, ledgers and other items accumulated in 100 years of doing business.

I found them. They're really there. After four or five trips through that stuff I found some boxes I hadn't been through before and located the "real" papers, not microfilm, from the past 100 years.

The oldest paper on microfilm at the library is March 25, 1881...and here in my office, I'm looking at the real thing. I told you it was exciting. So, we now have copies of the old Boyne Citizen, Standard, Statesman, Evening Journal, etc. What we haven't found yet are any copies on the East Jordan side of our family.

But, we're on the trail...so if you like a good mystery or a game of hide-and-seek, why not get your deerstalker cap and magnifying glass and join the search. We're looking for any copies of the East Jordan Enterprise or the Charlevoix County Herald...and the March 11 and 18, 1881 issues of the Boyne City Standard.

Join the fun. Call those friends and neighbors you think may have old issues of the papers. Help the county preserve its newspaper heritage before it's too late.

And if you'd like to get into the mood for our birthday and for the 125th birthday of Boyne City, why not drop by our offices or the Boyne City Public Library and take a look at some of these old issues.

Here's a chance to read about Smeltania in 1938, the planting of 128 Chinese Elm trees, the burning of the Lakeside Hotel on Walloon Lake in 1918 and plans for the summer Chautauqua program.

Is history the absolute truth?

History. Nostalgia. A sentimental look at the past. They are all part of the community's plan to celebrate its 125th year next July.

This is also true at the Charlevoix County Press as it prepares to celebrate 100 years of Boyne City newspapering next month.

While thinking about this, a thought came to me.

If the writers of our history were to tell the absolute truth about some of the things our ancestors did, they would be hung from the nearest lamp post until death forced them to quit recalling stuff like that.

Like the man said: "Most of us want our history to be a set of lies agreed upon."

Being bold, and believing that the truth should be told if our history is to be recorded accurately, I now cite a small part of the personal fabric that helped weave the antics of our glorious past.

Some will laughingly recall this true story while others will have personal reasons for swearing that it never happened.

So you've come to me for a divorce? Yes, I can't stand him any more. Will you have difficulty supporting yourself?

I haven't had time to think about that.

Marshall Sayles

Why did you marry him in the first place?

It was a mistake.

You married a mistake? I had nothing to do with it. He fooled me into it, even though he was a confirmed drunkard.

Marriage is a two way street. You are both to blame, you know.

He's the one causing all the trouble. How long have you two been married, anyway?

Forty-seven years, come June the first.

After all these years you want a divorce? I'm afraid you have some explaining to do.

The East Jordan branch of our family

BY KATHY JOHNSON

It is the Boyne City side of the voix County Press family tree that is celebrating its 100th birthday this year, but our paper's East Jordan "ancestors" are nearly as old.

The Press is a direct descendant of The East Jordan Enterprise, which started publishing almost 99 years ago.

In April of 1882, E.N. Clink began The Enterprise as the first newspaper in East Jordan. The Enterprise was located on the second floor of a frame building where the Colwell Realtor office now stands at 111 Mill St.

In 1883 W. F. Palmeter bought half interest in the newspaper and on Nov. 18 of that same year the building burned.

Clink retired at that time to take up the study of law and a Mr. Nelson, along with Palmeter continued, to publish the newspaper until 1890 when C. L. Lorraine and sons Bert and Roy purchased the newspaper.

In 1896 Harrison Mitchell began publishing a second East Jordan newspaper, the Charlevoix County Herald. That newspaper was sold to Moritz Thimmig in 1900 and he then sold it to Roy Lorraine in 1901.

Apparently this left both newspapers in control of the Lorraine family for a period of time. Brothers Roy and Bert may have been publishing competitively for a short period of time because when the East Jordan Enterprise stopped publication on Jan. 30, 1920, Bert Lorraine was the publisher.

On Feb. 10, 1904, G. A. Lisk purchased the Charlevoix County Herald and he published the paper until 1952 when his son Paul took over.

On July 27, 1953, Paul Lisk sold the newspaper to Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Sayles and the name was changed at that time to the East Jordan News-Herald. Lisk is still an area publisher, as he owns the Central Lake Torch.

In 1967 the paper was sold to A.

Gregg Smith of Boyne City and his son, Gregg P. Smith, became the editor and publisher.

In October of 1968 the News-Herald was merged with the Boyne Citizen and the name was changed to the Northland Press. In 1974 that paper became the Charlevoix County Press. In 1977 Frank Noverr purchased Gregg Publications from Gregg and Margaret Smith.

In November of 1977 George Colburn and Paul Marcus purchased the Press from Noverr. Marshall Sayles, past owner of the East Jordan News Herald, is currently a Press columnist.

Editor's note: We have been unable to locate any of the old East Jordan newspapers. If anyone knows where the old papers might be stored, or if they have any old issues of the East Jordan Enterprise, Charlevoix County Herald or the East Jordan News Herald we would like to hear from them.

SPECIAL SCHOOL ELECTION EAST JORDAN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

NOTICE OF SPECIAL RECALL ELECTION OF THE ELECTORS OF EAST JORDAN PUBLIC SCHOOLS CHARLEVOIX AND ANTRIM COUNTIES, MICHIGAN TO BE HELD MARCH 3, 1981

at this time means to be taken advantage of. You, your children, and this school district will most assuredly be the loser.

East Jordan Teachers Association or East Jordan Community - take your pick.
Thomas C. Galmore, Jr.

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE SCHOOL DISTRICT:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that, pursuant to the directions of the Charlevoix County Clerk, a Special Recall Election will be held in the School District on Tuesday, March 3, 1981, for the purpose of submitting the following propositions to the vote of the electors.

THE POLLS OF ELECTION WILL OPEN AT 7:00 O'CLOCK, A.M., AND CLOSE AT 8:00 O'CLOCK, P.M.

REASONS FOR DEMANDING RECALL OF OF THOMAS C. GALMORE, JR.

He has improperly exercised the prerogatives of his office and failed to act in the best interest of East Jordan Public Schools by not listening to and acting upon the will of the citizens in the School District as it relates to granting the employees Binding Arbitration for their grievances.

STATEMENT OF JUSTIFICATION OF CONDUCT IN OFFICE OF THOMAS C. GALMORE, JR.

I absolutely feel that I have acted in the best interest of the citizens of the East Jordan School District and especially for the students, whether some parents realize it or not.

The bottom line of this issue isn't whether you like me as a board member or not, it's who is going to run the school district. I, like the other three, ran for the school board position as a way to help the community and to do my part as a civic minded citizen. To be on recall is a humiliating thing and it discourages people with clean motives from running for the board. As the downgrading process continues it leaves the job open to those with selfish and financial motives in mind, namely the N.M.E.A. This in turn results in a decline in the quality of personnel, which we see evidence of now, and eventually a bankrupt school district.

Experience is something you cannot afford to be without. Lack of experience

I. RECALL PROPOSITION

Shall Thomas C. Galmore, Jr. be recalled from the office of school board member of East Jordan Public Schools, Charlevoix and Antrim Counties, Michigan?

REASONS FOR DEMANDING RECALL OF HERBERT M. GRIFFIN

He has improperly exercised the prerogatives of his office and failed to act in the best interest of the East Jordan Public Schools by not listening to and acting upon the will of the citizens in the School District as it relates to granting the employees Binding Arbitration for their grievances.

STATEMENT OF JUSTIFICATION OF CONDUCT IN OFFICE OF HERBERT M. GRIFFIN

The statement on this ballot is totally false. As school board members we offered the teachers binding arbitration in negotiations.

Throughout the negotiations, the board has attempted to offer proposals and compromises which will be responsive to the expressed desires and concerns of the teachers while at the same time ensuring that the administration and board have retained sufficient management authority to enable them to run the school system in a manner that is both economical and efficient and will guarantee a quality education for East Jordan children.

The board has done its best to reconcile its responsibility to the taxpayers with its legal obligation to bargain in good faith with the teachers. We have done our best and granted as much to the teachers as the Board members feel in their hearts they can give without violating their responsibilities to the taxpayers who elected them.

Rev. Milton Walls was more than a little surprised at a "This is Your Life" ceremony given during the 51st Blue and Gold anniversary of cub scouting. Cubmaster Janice Kimbler of pack #49 arranged the surprise.

Rev. Walls, 'This is your life'

BY KATHY JOHNSON

Cub Scouts and their families received a special treat at the 51st Blue and Gold Anniversary ceremonies held at the Boyne City Elementary School last week.

Pack 49 of Boyne City and the families of members were enthusiastic as Cub Scouts not only received their hard-earned badges, but Rev. Milton "Buzz" Walls became part of the ceremony with a "This is Your Life" program dedicated to him.

Cubmaster Janice Kimbler, the first woman cubmaster in the Boyne City area, was mistress of ceremonies as she called Rev. Walls to the stage in a surprise announcement. Then followed a few memorable moments of Walls' 31 years in cub scouting, recalled by friends and family.

Father Adalbert Narloch from Boyne Falls said he could always depend on

Rev. Walls for transportation to scouting events... "Sometimes I thought your foot was in the carburetor," he said.

Father Narloch said that Rev. Walls, who is minister of the Presbyterian Church, was unable to take some scouting jobs at camp because he had to return for his Sunday services. Narloch said he would be happy to fill in for Rev. Walls anytime.

In Rev. Walls' 31 years he went from being a den leader to scout chaplain. His latest achievement was being made patrol leader in 1980. Rev. Walls holds the highest honor an adult can receive in scouting—The Silver Beaver.

The ceremonies were completed after George Newson, another long-time scout worker and friend of Rev. Walls, lead the more than 125 participants in a "bear hunt." He and Rev. Walls took the entire group on the "verbal" hunt with hand motions.

Boyne couple to wed

Susan M. Bennett, daughter of Earl and JoAnn Bennett, and James L. Rostar, son of Frank Rostar, have announced their plans to wed on June 20 in Bay Shore.

Rev. Wall of the Boyne City Presbyterian Church will officiate at the private wedding. The bride-elect graduated from Boyne City High in 1980 and is currently a student at North Central Michigan College in Petoskey.

Her fiancé is employed by Burger King in Petoskey and was a 1979 graduate of Boyne City High School.

BC wrestler nearly qualifies for state

BOYNE CITY - Mitch Kruzel took third place in the regional wrestling tournament Saturday, a finish that would have qualified him for the state meet in previous years.

In the past, the top four wrestlers from each regional advance to the state meet. But the rules were changed this year, and only the top two finishers go to state.

"He was really wrestling well," said Coach Rick Fowler, noting that it was unusual for a third place finisher from the district to also finish third in the regional.

Kruzel, a freshman in the 98-pound weight class, finished his season with a 20-5 record.

In his first match Saturday, he lost to Pat Boyd of Lakeview, the eventual regional champ, by a score of 21-2.

Kruzel won his next two matches, 10-8 over Kevin Kettering of Whitehall and 6-2 over Al Winterhalter of Kelloggville. Then he lost 9-3 to Jim Wyant of Hesperia, the eventual second place finisher.

Despite the fact that Wyant was older and more experienced, Krusel had him on his back twice in the match, Fowler said, and the score was 0-0 heading into the third and final period.

E. Jordan keeps winning and hoping

EAST JORDAN - It's been the same story for the last three weeks. The Red Devils keep winning...and hoping that Harbor Springs will lose.

So far, no such luck. The last chance comes on the last night of the regular season this Friday.

To keep winning, East Jordan must beat Gaylord St. Mary to end up with half of the Ski Valley League title, East Jordan also needs Harbor Springs to lose at Mancelona.

If Mancelona is going to help out, though, they'll have to play much better than they played last Friday when East Jordan beat them 79-62.

East Jordan hopes the home court advantage will help, however. They beat Mancy in East Jordan, but this weekend, the Ironmen host the Rams in Mancelona.

Meanwhile, East Jordan could have its hands full at home with Gaylord St. Mary. A month ago, St. Mary nipped the Red Devils 74-73 on a last second shot in triple overtime.

After all the smoke clears in the league race Friday night, the Red Devils jump into district action at 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday at Bellaire.

East Jordan, 13-5 faces Ellsworth, 8-8 in the first round game. EJHS beat the Lancers in their only previous encounter this season, 69-61, in East Jordan. The winner of Tuesday's game faces Alba, 7-11, on Thursday night.

If East Jordan makes it that far, they'll be in the tournament finals on Saturday, March 7, against Mancelona, 12-6. Bellaire, 6-12 or Central Lake, 13-6.

In last week's win over Mancelona, the Red Devils expanded a 36-30 halftime lead into a comfortable 55-38 cushion by the end of the third quarter and coasted to the 79-62 victory.

Good balanced scoring was again in evidence as Todd Root tossed in 19 points, Randy Morris and Del Ingalls 17 each, and Mike Brennan and Mike Spence both had eight.

BC loses bid for league title, sets sights on tournament

BOYNE CITY - The Ramblers finally fell by the wayside in their quest for a conference championship last week, and set their sights on next week's district tournament at Charlevoix.

Boyne City, 14-4, drew Traverse City St. Francis in the first game of the district at 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday.

St. Francis, usually a powerhouse in basketball, is suffering through a 2-15 season. The Gladiators are rebuilding, as they don't have a senior in their lineup.

Leading scorer for St. Francis is 6-2 junior forward Bob Tafelsky, who is averaging 14.9 points a game. Rich Eikay, a 6-3 sophomore center is scoring 13.4 a game, while junior guards Dave Meachum and Mark Ludka are scoring 9 and 10 points per outing.

If Boyne beats St. Francis Tuesday, they will be in the district finals at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

In all probability, the Ramblers will be playing Michigan-Huron Shores rival Charlevoix in the finals. To reach the finals, the Raiders, 10-7, will have to get past Elk Rapids, 9-7, on Monday and Kalkaska, 6-11, on Wednesday.

Boyne City dropped out of contention in the conference Friday, losing an 80-72 contest to Cheboygan. That put the Ramblers two games behind league leader Petoskey with one game left.

Cheboygan and Grayling are still just one game behind the Northmen, and the league could end in a three-way tie for first if Grayling beats Petoskey at Grayling this Friday, and if Cheboygan beats St. Ignace.

Boyne Coach Bob Taylor said Cheboygan was the best team he has seen this year. "We beat them by 17 points on your court (in January), and we played better this time," he said. "It was like Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde—two different teams."

Boyne has a relatively meaningless game with Charlevoix on the Raiders' home court this Friday to wrap up the regular season.

Auto-Owners for Real Replacement Value Insurance

If you have personal possessions stolen or lost, most insurance companies will only pay you the original cost of that article, minus depreciation. Even though it may now cost much more to replace it.

But with Auto-Owners new Replacement Cost endorsement, we'll pay you the whole amount it will cost to replace the article that was stolen or destroyed (not to exceed 400% of actual cost value). And, it can be easily added to your present home-owners policy.

So talk to your local independent Auto-Owners agent. You could make beautiful music together.

County teams should do well in tournaments

The state basketball tournaments—often referred to as March Madness—begin Monday, March 2.

The term "madness" can be attributed to many aspects of tournament play. Fans throughout the state follow the games passionately. Much of the madness occurs on the court, where anything can happen on any given night—regardless of regular season records. The players' and fans' emotions can become quite high when every game means do or die, and a loss means the end of the season.

The madness can eventually consume an entire community if a team advances far enough along Tournament Trail. Remember when Boyne City went to the state semi-finals in 1977?

This special Winter Fun section of the Charlevoix County Press focuses on the four high school teams from Charlevoix County—Boyne City, Charlevoix, East Jordan and Boyne Falls.

One district tournament is being held in our county, as Charlevoix hosts Boyne City, Elk Rapids, Kalkaska and Traverse City St. Francis. Our local representatives, Boyne and Charlevoix, are the favorites to win the trophy.

The East Jordan Red Devils are playing in a balanced Class D tournament in Bellaire. Others playing there include Mancelona, Ellsworth, Alba and Central Lake. Most observers give East Jordan the edge in this one.

Boyne Falls, the other team from our county, will be competing at Vanderbilt. The Loggers aren't a favorite, but they are a darkhorse in a field where there is no truly dominating team. Others in this tourney are Gaylord St. Mary, Inland Lakes, and Wolverine.

A page is devoted to each of our county's teams. There are stories, team pictures, rosters and a game-by-game rundown of each team's season record.

Another page gives tournament schedules, pairings and game times for the three tournaments that involve our county's four teams. All games start at 7:30 p.m., and admission is $1.50 for all seats.

We've even included our regular Out & About listings of more Winter Fun activities—like where you can go for drinks and entertainment after the game.

We hope you enjoy the tournaments! May the best teams win!

East Jordan Red Devils

EJ is the favorite at Bellaire

EAST JORDAN - The Red Devils must be rated as one of the favorites in a strong, balanced field in the district tournament at Bellaire.

With one game left in the regular season, East Jordan had a 13-5 record, while Central Lake was at 13-6 and Mancelona was 10-7. Ellsworth stood at 8-8, Alba 7-10 and Bellaire was 6-12.

The Red Devils have won six of seven games against their district opponents. In the regular season, they beat Central Lake and Mancelona twice, Ellsworth once and split with Bellaire—but nearly all of those games were close.

East Jordan is blessed with the Ski Valley League's leading scorer, a well balanced back-up squad, and good depth.

Senior Del Ingalls is the team and league's best scorer, averaging 20 points per game. His 41 percent field goal shooting is tops on the team.

Although he is only 6-1, Ingalls plays center for the Devils and his 10.6 rebounds per game leads the club.

Other starters are playmaker guard Randy Morris, a good shooting senior who is scoring 8.7 points a game and leads the Devils in assists and free throw shooting percentage.

Mike Spence (6-0), Todd Root (6-0) and Mike Brennan (6-1) provide excellent rebounding strength from the forward and wing positions. All are averaging 5.8 to 6.8 rebounds a game.

Spence is scoring 9.7 points a game. Root 7.3 and Brennan 5.0.

First reserves to see action are solid forward Bill Spence (5-9, 198 pounds) and guard Tom Peters. Both are juniors.

Coach Bill Chase, in his first season as varsity coach after five years with the junior varsity, says he is "quite happy with the way we've progressed this season."

"Our offense has improved a lot as time passed. Ingalls and Morris have become good shooters and consistent scorers."

East Jordan is used to playing under pressure, which ought to help them in the tournament.

They played a number of close games in the first half of the season. In the second half they found themselves in "must-win" situations as they chased Harbor Springs for the league title.

Boyne City Ramblers

High scoring BC has best record

BOYNE CITY - The Ramblers have the best record among the five teams in the Charlevoix District tournament.

That's nice in a way, because that makes them a favorite to take home the trophy. But it also makes them the target other teams will be shooting for.

Boyne City stood at 14-4 with one game left in its regular season. The Ramblers were in the thick of the fight for the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference crown all season, finally dropping out after a loss to Cheboygan on Feb. 20.

Since they missed a share of the league title, the Ramblers are hungry for the district championship.

Coach Bob Taylor thinks Charlevoix will be hard to beat for their third straight district crown, especially since the tourney is on the Rayders' home court.

The other three teams in the district are darkhorses, but anything can happen when tournament time rolls around. Kalkaska, Elk Rapids and Traverse City St. Francis all have losing records heading into the district.

Boyne City is averaging more than 75 points a game thanks to a fast-break, run-and-gun style offense.

The Ramblers also pride themselves on aggressive defense, and they have good depth. The reserves have seen plenty of playing time because the Ramblers have won seven games by 29 points or more.

Taylor says his team's only problem is "the lack of a dominating big man." No starter is over 6-3. "If I had a big man, I'd make hotel reservations for Ann Arbor," he says jokingly in reference to the state tournament.

The Ramblers are led by all-state candidate Brian Vorman, a 6-3 junior who is averaging 20.1 points and 17.8 rebounds a game.

"Brian has to be all-state," Taylor says. "He'd even be scoring a lot more, but he only plays half the game when we win by 30 or 40 points. He does it all—scoring, rebounding, defense, and he's an incredible passer. He really gets our fast break started."

The Rambler guards are Larry Jarema, an all-conference sharpshooter, and Kerry Kruzal. Jarema is averaging 13 points a game and is one of the quickest and best defensive players in the North. Kruzal is averaging 7.4 points a game.

Junior John Tompkins and senior Darryl Tims both average about eight points and eight rebounds a game on the front line. Both are 6-1.

First to come from the bench are seniors Jim Plachta, Brent Sweet and Mike Toffolo. Also seeing considerable playing time are juniors Ken Wilson, Todd Rickard and Shawn Aimesbury.

Rayders try for third straight title

CHARLEVOIX - The Rayders rate one of the favorites in the district tourney not only because they are playing well lately, but because they have the homecourt advantage and a tradition of doing well in post-season play.

The Rayders have won the district the last two years in a row.

This winter they had a 10-7 mark with one game left in the regular season.

Two of those losses were one-pointers to Petoskey and a four point loss to highly-regarded Grayling. The Rayders later avenged that loss to the Vikings with an impressive 92-86 win.

Charlevoix has a young team, which explains why they have played better during the second part of the season. After starting out 5-4, the Rayders won six of their next nine games.

"We struggled a bit at the beginning of the season," said Coach Dave Moyer. "We lost two close ones in the league, and that knocks down your morale when you have a young team. It took awhile to get back our confidence."

"Defensively, we've played well all year. Now our offense is starting to get going, too. We like to run when we can.

"The mistakes are starting to correct themselves," Moyer said. "Early in the season we were averaging over 25 turnovers a game, and now we're down in the teens. Now the turnovers are turning into points, and that has made a big difference."

The Rayders have been getting balanced scoring from a starting line-up of two seniors, two juniors

Junior Gary Drury, 6-2, is scoring 11 points a game, while 6-1 sophomore Craig Klooster is hitting at a 10.8 clip.

Senior Paul Hoffman, a 6-2, 195 pounder, is the starting center. The guards are 5-11 senior Jeff Drury and 5-10 junior Dave Buday.

The reserves who see the most action are all juniors: Ross Carey, Scott Kelly, Jeff Greene and Mike Loper.

Moyer rates Boyne City as the favorite to win the district tournament. "They've got great speed and great shooters—especially (Brian) Vroman and (Larry) Jarema," Moyer said. "They're definitely the team to beat."

The other three teams in the tourney must be rated as underdogs. Kalkaska, Elk Rapids and Traverse City St. Francis all had losing records during the regular season.

Boyne Falls Loggers

Darkhorse Loggers are improved

BOYNE FALLS - The Loggers don't have an impressive won-lost record, but they improved greatly as this basketball season progressed.

Boyne Falls had a 5-11 record with two games left in the regular season, but three of these victories came in their last five games.

They got revenge for 11 and 12 point losses to Wolverine and Alba early in the season—turning the tables with 13 and 14 point victories.

"We started to put it all together toward the end of the season," said Coach Dale Reinhardt. His players have been improving, but is has also been a matter of adjusting to his coaching style.

This winter is his first year of coaching after taking four years off.

Reinhardt says his team's strengths are rebounding and teamwork, and both have improved greatly in the final months of the season.

"We've been getting much better shots because we've been working together a lot better," he said. The Loggers have been getting 15-17 assists per game lately—quite an improvement from six or seven earlier in the year.

"We've also been outrebounding most of our opponents," Reinhardt said.

Leading Boyne Falls in both rebounding and scoring has been 6-4 sophomore center Tim Smith. Smith is scoring 19.1 points a game, and he is pulling down an average of 16.2 rebounds.

Starting guards are seniors John Hausler, averaging 7.9 points, and Pat Harmon at 6.2 points. When they need a rest, junior Paul Fiel fills in.

Three other Loggers play about equally at the forward positions. Jim Spencer, a 6-0 senior, is getting 7.7 points and 9.4 rebounds a game.

The other two forwards are juniors Bruce Crouterfield, scoring 6.2 per game, and Norman Mahanke, 4.5 points per game.

Other top varsity reserves have been Jay Gee, Scott Niedling and Irv Moyer. Moyer will miss the tournament due to an illness, however.

Six players have been brought up from the junior varsity; junior Kevin Reynolds, sophomores Tom Towne and Clarence Stark, and freshmen Cliff Leazier, Chris Matelski and Curtis Carson.

Coach Reinhardt rates Gaylor St. Mary as the team to beat in the tournament. The Snowbirds, are, in fact, the only team in the Vanderbilt District with a winning record—9-8 with three games left.

Others in the tourney include host Vanderbilt, which Boyne Falls has defeated three times this season; Wolverine, which split with Boyne Falls; and Inland Lakes, which had only three victories to its credit with a week left in the season.

Game times and opponents for Boyne Falls and other teams in the Vanderbilt District tournament are listed on page 3.
