Powerlifter

Weightlifter Pat Slate is one of 13 members of the East Jordan Powerlifting Club who will be participating in a "lift-a-thon" this Saturday. The club is sponsoring the event from 1 to 3 p.m. at the high school to raise money for weight room equipment. Under the guidance of coach Bob Christiansen the club has been in existence for three years. Several lifters in the club are becoming quite proficient, Christiansen reports, and they will be participating in the Michigan Teenage Powerlifting Meet next month. See next week's Press for a feature about the local club.

McGoff buys ferry, plans 'dining ship' for Charlevoix

BY TRISH WRIGHT

CHARLEVOIX - A huge floating restaurant and nightclub will probably be operating as part of the Beaver Island Boat Company this summer. The Charlevoix County Press has learned.

But perhaps even more interesting than the dinner boat is the company's new owner—John P. McGoff.

A summer resident of Charlevoix, McGoff is president of Panax Corporation, a large newspaper chain which published 83 newspapers before its stockholders decided to start liquidation of the company in August of 1980.

In the last few years, McGoff has been a controversial figure. He was the subject of widely reported federal investigations regarding his involvement in a South African government secret propaganda fund scandal. He has denied allegations that he was an agent or a front man for that country, however.

According to Fred Annand, vice-president of the Beaver Island Boat Company, McGoff has acquired controlling interest in the boat company through a corporation known as Water's Edge, Inc.

Annand did not reveal how much McGoff paid to acquire the controlling interest. McGoff already owned some stock in the boat company, and one local stockholder told The Press that McGoff bought stock for $90 per share from 30 to 40 stockholders and now owns well over half of the 4,000 shares.

"Previous to McGoff's offer, there hadn't been an offer for more than $75 per share," the stockholder said.

Speculation that McGoff was buying and expanding the boat company has created a great deal of interest in the Charlevoix area due to the stock purchases, real estate inquiries and even a brief mention at a January city council meeting.

Charlevoix Mayor Sam Supernaw said he wasn't sure what plans McGoff has for the boat company. "We've just heard rumors," he said.

Supernaw added that "There was some discussion of (the ownership change) at a council meeting around the first part of the year. McGoff's name was mentioned then."

The city learned of the ownership change because the boat company has been negotiating its dock lease with the city of Charlevoix.

Inquires have also been made about acquiring real estate on Round Lake, reportedly to provide additional parking for the floating restaurant.

For some time, McGoff has been a boating enthusiast in the Charlevoix area, where he docks his 100 ft. yacht.

The yacht is often a highlight of the boat parade in the annual Venetian Festival.

One local businessman commented: "I think McGoff has just taken a fancy to getting into the boat business."

And an official with one of McGoff's remaining Michigan newspapers said McGoff has dreamed of starting a floating restaurant for 10 years.

"I'm glad he's finally doing it. That will be a great thing for the Charlevoix area," he said.

Annand said that acquisition of the several new boats, including the one to be used as the restaurant, will probably be finalized Friday at a meeting of the boat company board of directors.

The company already shuttles passengers to and from Beaver Island on passenger ferries, the Beaver Islander and the South Shore. New ferry service from Petoskey to the island is also planned this summer.

"We have looked at several boats for the Petoskey ferry, and we also plan to operate the dinner boat near Charlevoix that will serve dinner and provide entertainment on the nightly basis," Annand said.

Annand has been a summer resident of Beaver Island and he is also a neighbor of McGoff's in Williamston.

He owned his own security firm and worked as a private investigator for 27 years. Now he plans to move to the Charlevoix-Petoskey area and devote "full-time" efforts to the boat company. He has been on the board of directors for 16 years.

Annand said McGoff has been actively involved in arranging the purchase and expansion of the company, but the publisher would not take an active role in the day-to-day operations.

Boat company manager Eric Kammernann reported that the 1981 summer schedule for the Beaver Island ferries has already been printed. "I expect that we'll have a good year. Reservations have already started to come in. We should have a boat running out of Petoskey by Memorial weekend," he said.

Kammernann added that the dinner boat will be a floating restaurant with a passenger capacity of about 400. It will seat 200 for dinner and will have two dance floors and bars. "We may even have an orchestra lined up, and we might be ready to serve dinners by Memorial Day."

Some Charlevoix businessmen have been speculating that the boat company might begin using a hydrofoil boat for passenger service to the island. Annand said that buying a hydrofoil had been discussed but none have been purchased.

Salary freeze doesn't anger EJ city supt.

EAST JORDAN - Friction between council members and city superintendent Herman Rasch cropped up again last week in a special meeting to approve the proposed city budget.

Council members voted 4-1 to freeze Rasch's $27,500 a year salary.

The city council approved a minimum of five percent raises for all other city department heads. Rasch was not present at the meeting.

Contacted later, he told The Press he was "not going to lose very much sleep about this. There are a lot more important things than this to be concerned about."

The main reason for freezing Rasch's salary was a feeling that Rasch was already making too much money. Councilmen Al Joseph, Russ Gee, Darwin Morris and Mayor Archie Nemecek voted to freeze Rasch's salary. Council member Pat Sweet opposed. Councilmen Cal Gotts and Gil Fox were not present at the meeting.

"I figured that Rasch was making way too much money for the job he was doing—way too much for this little town to pay," said Nemecek.

Gee agreed. He felt Rasch was making enough money and that council members had to "hold the line" with top personnel. He was pleased with the way the budget was balanced.

Morris and Joseph, however, cited job performance as part of the reason they felt Rasch's salary should be frozen.

"I felt Herman was paid enough," said Joseph. "Performance was part of my reason." Joseph preferred not to comment on specific areas where he felt Rasch should improve. He felt that was a personnel matter.

Councilman Morris felt too much city engineering was being hired out. He said Rasch was paid considerably more than previous superintendents because the council that hired him three years ago thought it could save money in the long run by having Rasch do most of the engineering himself. He felt that a city superintendent should not be paid such a high salary, because the city hasn't saved that much by hiring Rasch.

Although Morris felt Rasch had done a good job on the newly built civic center, he felt other city areas had gone downhill. He listed mowing the banks of the waste water lagoon stem, cleaning up the city property on Maple Street at the entrance to the new high school, and neglect of the water system for Christensen Ridge as examples.

Sweet, who supported a five percent pay raise for Rasch, said it was "unfair to single out one person when the council was already talking about relatively small percentage raises for all city department heads." She also felt that this topic should have been discussed when the full council was present.

Rasch attributed the salary freeze to politics, rather than criticism of his work performance. "I think they're getting misinformation from someone"—perhaps a disgruntled city employee.

EJ budget review is April 7...

EAST JORDAN - May 19, the date of the state election on property tax cuts, puts a crimp in city budget plans.

In East Jordan the budget hearing will be Tuesday, April 7, at 6:30 p.m. The city council is expected to vote on the budget following the hearing. But impact of the state property tax relief proposal on the city budget is not certain.

The proposal for the May 19 vote is to cut property taxes in half. Will this make a millage increase necessary? Will future millage requests be limited by the bill?

"No one has seen the final wording of the bill," reported Edith Beck, Boyne City's treasurer.

In East Jordan, city clerk-treasurer Fern Morris said they normally must stick to the budget adopted. She said, however, the state is working on how to permit modification.

Meantime the city's millage figure had to be a "guesstimate," Morris said, based on a projection of last year's millage. She said, "We've got to hope we've done a good guesstimate."

A look at East Jordan's budget details, shows that of the $1,348,350 budget, only $258,000 is property tax.

The rest—$1,090,350—comes from held-over and earmarked funds and from fees for such things as water and sewer services and the tourist park and so on. The fees pay for the costs of the services.

The earmarked funds amounting to $43,000 have been set aside for such things as Elm Point, harbor improvements, and the airport. These and the other saved amounts are the result of the council's policy for the last few years to set aside money for necessary, large expenditures scheduled for the future.

The largest single item in the expense column is streets. The total $149,150 includes $40,000 for construction and $25,000 for snow removal.

No funding is budgeted for CETA workers, Morris said, "because we have no promises."

...while BC hearing is April 14

BY BARBARA CRUDEN

BOYNE CITY - Residents and city commissioners have been looking at Boyne City's proposed $1.867 million budget line by line.

Budget review began March 12 with meetings on different sections throughout the month. Budget summaries for both Boyne City and East Jordan are printed on page eight.

A commission vote on the 1981-82 budget will follow a hearing Tuesday, April 14, the regular monthly meeting night.

Residents are invited to study the budget packet at city hall. "In our budget, everything is there," City Manager Tim Clifton noted in an interview with The Press.

He said this means the city operates without the flexibility customary in many government budgets.

"Our figures are based on actual cost," Clifton said.

The proposed budget is $233,000 above last year's. Over half the increase will be from the increased water and sewer rate change.

At a recent city commission meeting, Clifton pointed out that water/wastewater rates had not been changed since 1976. Since then, he said, there has been a 50 percent increase in inflation, but the average water bill will go up 40 percent.

Although the budget shows an increase, the millage will go down 1.05 percent.

Award winner

Ray Valentine of Valentine Studios in Boyne City recently won two awards at the 28th Annual Professional Photographers of Ohio convention and exhibition. "Discarded Cutter," above, won a red ribbon. A green ribbon was awarded to "Five Generations." The red award was for achievement and the green for honorable mention. Valentine had four photos accepted for exhibition.

CAN A MONUMENT OR MARKER BE MATCHED TO A VERY OLD ONE?

Yes, any kind of marker or monument can be matched reasonably well regardless of the age of the original one. This is one of the personal services that we offer.

The usual manner of matching an existing monument or marker is to make a rubbing of the original. By placing rubbing paper, similar to carbon paper, on the stone, the lettering and any decorative patterns are transferred by the rubbing process. This provides the pattern from which the matching piece can be made. Hand carving and other features can be duplicated, too.

After the pattern is taken, the measurements, height and other specifics are noted and used to match the original.

We advise that before this procedure is begun you contact us to help you with your memorial needs.

Remodeled Country House gets new owners, new name

The Country House has been closed for remodeling and change in ownership and when the doors open the first part of April, there will be a new name on the sign—The Tucker Inn.

"We'll have a two-pound charbroiled sirloin steak as our specialty," said Karen Thomson, one of the new owners, "and on Thursdays we'll have Mexican food with an all-you-can-eat Taco bar." Mrs. Thomson and her husband Kim are the new owners and managers.

Kim, Karen and "Tuck" Thomson, father of the new owner, are now remodeling the restaurant. Mrs. Thomson said the restaurant was named after her father-in-law, "But, yes, we'll have Cool Whip. Everyone asks us that."

"I'm backing them in this," Tuck said, "but they are the owners. They're the ones with the restaurant backgrounds." Mrs. Thomson previously worked for Mr. Steak and Kim worked for Victory Lanes in Petoskey.

The restaurant will be open six days a week, closing on Sundays. Hours will be from 5 to 9 p.m. for dinners, and there will be entertainment on Friday and Saturday evenings. Kim and Tuck Thomson are from East Jordan and Karen is originally from Petoskey.

Million dollar salesmen

At a recent banquet of the Antrim Charlevoix Board of Realtors awards were presented to the 1980 realtors who had sold and listed one million dollars worth of real estate.

From Boyne City those receiving certificates of membership to the Million Dollar Club were Gary Winters, Mark Kowalske and Gary Roberts, all of Ski and Shore of Boyne.

Charlevoix members include Rik Lobenherz, Suzanne Reis, Roger Shepard and Hagen Manker, all with Ski and Shore; George Richardson, Daniel Iannotti and Donald Snizik of The Real Estate Place; James Thomas with Thomas Real Estate; and from Charlevoix Properties, Inc., Eugene Steele, Brian Seymour and William Dietrich.

Boyne A&W opens with new owners

James and Marilyn Feagan have announced the purchase of the A&W Restaurant in Boyne City from Fred Mitchell. The Feagans plan to open the restaurant on April 1.

Originally from Boyne City, Marilyn Feagan is a receptionist at Control Engineering. Mrs. Feagan said that her husband had previously worked in construction but, "We wanted something where he could spend more time with the family."

Jim Feagan graduated from high school in Caro, and his construction work has kept him away from the family.

The couple have just graduated from A&W Restaurant management training school in St. Louis, Mo. Jim will manage the operation with evening and weekend assistance from Marilyn.

The A&W Restaurant chain is the oldest fast food chain in the world having served its first frosty mug of A&W Root Beer in 1919, said the Feagans. The local store is one of over 1200 restaurants worldwide.

News briefs

First morels

BOYNE FALLS - A week of 50 and 60 degree temperatures has already produced the first morel mushrooms of the season. On March 30, Billy Sparks, 14 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Sparks found the mushrooms at a "secret patch" near his home east of Boyne Falls on Camp 10 Road. Less than a half inch high, the mushrooms are the earliest his family has ever found. Last year they found their first morels on April 17.

The 22nd hunt

BOYNE CITY - This city's 22nd annual Mushroom Festival, properly known as the National Mushroom Hunting Championship, will be held this year on May 9 and 10.

Pieces of history

BOYNE CITY - More on the history of The Charlevoix County Press and Boyne City newspapers came to light this week as Elwood Hardy, Boyne City resident, brought copies of the Boyne City Times, Boyne City Bee, and the Boyne Citizen by our office. Mr. Hardy said he'd found these old copies while cleaning out a garage a few years ago. Check those old trunks and the attic—you may be able to add to our history, too. We appreciate these additions to our history and any you may make.

Public interviews

EAST JORDAN - Formal interviews for the position of East Jordan School Superintendent are scheduled to be held April 10, 11 and possibly 12. Interviews are open to the public and School Board President Mary Jason says that interviews will likely be held Friday evening and all day Saturday.

3 years running

CHARLEVOIX - Employees of Consumers Power Company's Big Rock Point nuclear power plant have earned the utility's top recognition for safety for the fourth year in a row. The President's Award was developed in 1948 as a part of the company's accident prevention program. The facility has completed three years without a lost-time injury.

Branching out

Dr. R. W. Mansfield and Dr. M. F. Engel have opened a branch office on Bridge Street in Charlevoix. The office is located in Dr. Robert Martin's old office adjacent to Dr. Robert Tollas. "We would also like to announce our association with Dr. Donald Trimper in our new office," Mansfield said. "We feel with this branch office we will be able to better serve the public by more availability of office hours in both locations."

Public TV

For the first time, WCML-TV, public television channel 6, reached and surpassed their entire goal with on-air pledges during their "Festival Nights '81." A total of $220,062 was raised during the 16 day fund drive. The Walloony birds of Walloon Lake had quite a fun time with the festival and there were nine pledges from there. Other totals in Charlevoix County were 13 pledges from Boyne Falls, 41 from Boyne City, 34 from East Jordan and 70 from Charlevoix.

Weather

95 inches

Besides producing early mushrooms, our extra-early spring has kept snowfall for the season down to 95.5 inches. According to statistics kept by Keith Peters of East Jordan, we had received 91 inches by Feb. 11 but between then and March 17, only one inch of snow fell.

Etc.

Charlevoix County Transit, with funding from the federal program Green Thumb, will be taking applications for a bus driver with mechanical knowledge. The driver must be aged 55 and within poverty guidelines. Those interested may apply at the Transit office in Boyne City Hall, from 9 to 11 a.m. on April 6.

Congratulations are in order for Mark Kowalske who was recently appointed Director of the Michigan Chapter of the Institute of Certified Business Counselors. Mark is serving a second term as director.

"The Onlooker" in the Lansing State Journal reports that (Homer) Lee Talboys, former Boyne City resident and cousin of Boyne City Police Chief John Talboys, has just produced a new record album. "Carryin' On" features Talboys playing three saxophones, two electric organs, and singing. Sounds like you'll have to hear it to believe it.

April Fool's Day must be one of those good days to start exciting projects. Fourteen years ago on April 1 Fern Morris started work as the deputy clerk in East Jordan. Just 10 years ago March 30 in a special meeting of the city council she was appointed clerk-treasurer. And just 30 years ago on April Fool's Day a future editor of The Press made his arrival on the scene. He came in screaming and it's never stopped.

Costs up, millage down in BC

mills from last year's 19.1, making the proposed millage 18.05.

The budget is up, Clifton said, because of an average 30 percent increase in costs. Just the new cost of stamps moves administration postage from $1,800 to $2,200.

Police protection, which takes gasoline, will go from $194,300 to $216,400.

Clifton explained that although higher property values have created higher property taxes, the increase is absorbed by increased costs.

In his budget message to the city commission, Clifton wrote, "As costs continue to rise, a results-oriented decision making process...is mandatory..."

He continued that it required the city to ask anew what are the purposes of the city. In this, the budget becomes a "planning and management process," involving re-examination of all expenditures.

With future revenues from local, state, and federal sources expected to shrink, Clifton's message was that the budget "is not fashioned assuming incremental growth in expenditures."

The necessary comparison of proposed figures to the past year's expenditures, brings to attention what has been accomplished in the past year.

Clifton's list included the comprehensive plan for the city, the sale of old city hall, the successful application to the Department of Housing and Urban Development for a $2 million grant to build more senior citizen and low income housing, and the new computer for city records and bills, among other things.

There have been disappointments too. The hope of a beach off the park will have to be postponed indefinitely with money no longer available from Coastal Zone Management funds.

Also the application for a grant from Housing and Urban Development for repair of water lines and home improvement narrowly missed being approved. Clifton said it would be resubmitted next year.

An additional tool for planning and management will be the new capital improvement program, which looks ahead five years. With costs coming from the general fund on a year-to-year basis, the program is a priorities list of where the city is going in such matters as street, water line, and sidewalk repair.

Is the budget too big? Clifton said, "The cutting of the budget is up to the citizenry. It's what they ask for."

Eveline Township condos may be approved soon

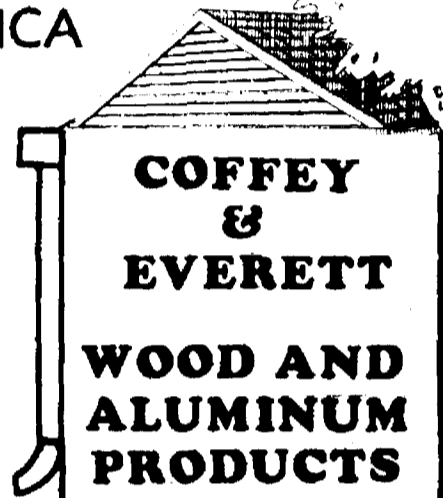

A condominium proposal called Hemingway Pointe goes before Charlevoix County Planning Commission at their regular meeting, Thursday, April 2.

Their action on Eveline Township Planning Board's recommendations is advisory to the township board. It will be up to the township board to vote on whether to rezone in favor of Landmark Development Company's 72-unit proposal. Their decision may come as early as their regular meeting, Tuesday, April 14.

Truce—or surrender—needed in EJ council, supt. conflict

We hope that the freezing of the East Jordan city superintendent's salary turns out to be the end—rather than a continuation—of the prolonged conflicts between him and the city council.

The latest series of hassles between the council and Superintendent Herman Rasch began in January when a new mayor and three new council members took office. An attempt to fire him barely failed early this year, and they've had a pretty rocky road ever since.

Editorial

The major criticism of Rasch now and at that time was that his $27,500 annual salary was too high for a town the size of East Jordan.

There has also been a certain amount of discontentment with Rasch by some members of the council. In fact, the council held a special closed meeting with Rasch last week which hopefully cleared the air on past problems.

We are certainly in favor of airing gripes, if they are legitimate. And with four of seven members of the city council being new this year, it could be expected that the council and the superintendent would take awhile to adjust to working with each other.

But adjusting to each other has deteriorated to public bickering at times—and that's what we'd like to see stopped.

The mayor tried and failed to fire the superintendent. Hopefully, the recent closed meeting helped both parties understand each other better. Now, those who feel Rasch is overpaid have had their say by freezing Rasch's salary. Rasch doesn't seem angry about the freeze, and he admits he must now "tread softly" and communicate better with the council.

All concerned have had their say. The "battle" has gone on long enough. If there are a significant and legitimate complaints about the superintendent's performance—and they continue beyond a reasonable "adjustment period" then both sides ought to conclude that the arrangement should be ended because it is no longer working.

We hope that won't be the case. We'd much rather see the city council and its highest paid administrator working happily and harmoniously for the good of East Jordan.

Letters to the editor

NRC says emergency evacuation info is weak

Editor,

By law, Consumers Power is responsible to have in place by April 1, 1981, a public education and information program to the people the Big Rock plant could affect in an emergency.

The regulations are very specific on what that information is to be. We are to learn and understand how to protect ourselves in a radiological emergency and are to have a general understanding on how to proceed, should an evacuation become necessary.

For most facilities the radius to disseminate this public education is an approximate 10 miles, however, Big Rock may use an Exposure Planning Zone of only 5 miles, for the facility is licensed as an experimental and research facility and below producing 250 MGW.

A pamphlet was printed by Consumers Power in December 1980, to meet above criteria and given to the emergency directors and sheriffs of Emmet and Charlevoix County for distribution.

The NRC has not yet approved this pamphlet and feels that it is generally weak in providing useful information about radiation hazards. (Letter Feb. 20, Director of Emergency Preparedness, Brian Grimes, NRC, to me)

The Concerned Citizens are truly disturbed over the illustration in the pamphlet, that portrays a family OUTSIDE in summer clothing, waiting to be evacuated. Should that suggestion be followed during an emergency that releases radioactive elements outside containment, people would get highly exposed and face potentially severe health problems. There is no understanding on our part at all for that illustration.

The whole idea why such a pamphlet has become necessary for people living around nuclear installations is mocked by such misleading illustrations.

We urge the public not to trust the information that is given in this pamphlet, pertaining to physical protection in radiological emergencies, but instead obtain a free copy at the Charlevoix Post Office and local bookstore, that is called "Protection in the Nuclear Age," by the Defense Civil Preparedness Agency, Department of Defense.

That booklet presents unbiased and correct information as to how to protect yourself from radiation.

Christa-Maria Charlevoix

Evacuating One's Home or Property

For most Charlevoix and Emmet County citizens, having to evacuate their homes or property may be the most unsettling consequence of a natural disaster, a hazardous material transportation accident, or a serious incident involving Big Rock Point Nuclear Power Plant. Your county government is required to act in the event of such emergencies, and has developed comprehensive plans to safeguard both people and property.

We need another Fanatorium

Fanatorium. I've been trying to spell that word for a long time. It's not in any of my nine and one half dictionaries. Not under the F's, the Ph's, the Fan's or anything else. I could not find how to spell it or discover its meaning.

So I was stumped. (I looked that word up. It means "to be hung in doubt." If I'm going to be hung, I want the hangee to know why he's doing it. It would be rather upsetting to be hung in doubt.)

Finally, I gave up and phoned my encyclopedia. Everyone should have an encyclopedia to call up when they are hung in doubt.

"Look," I said over the phone, "there used to be a poolroom back in the 20's where Mr. J's restaurant is today. For the life of me I can't spell that name."

"Just a minute," he said. "I've got it right here. Yes. It was the Fanatorium run by J. Greenman."

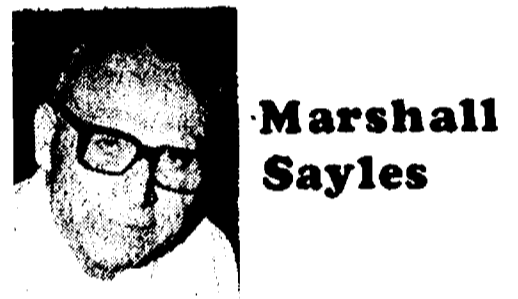

"Thanks," I said. It was George Secord of East Jordan. What he doesn't have in his head, he's got at his finger tips.

I knew that old time poolroom had an "orium" in its name, but I couldn't spell the "fana."

One Boyne City business is using the name "Tannery" to keep nostalgia alive. And I think it would be appropriate for some business to latch on to the name "Fanatorium."

If we are to develop Boyne City into a greater tourist mecca, we should incorporate some of the old with the new. Old and new create glamour. Just plain new is sort of blah.

You can see new blah everywhere you go these days.

It's kind of old hat.

A reader figures that I scratch off this column each week to display my pride, vent my hostilities, express my envy, perk my ego and to seek sympathy for my misfortunes. Heavens, it sounds like maybe I'm running for a seat on the city council.

There's a story going around about Boyne Falls. When I heard it, I decided to drive over and check it out.

"Look," I said to the girl at the restaurant. "They're saying in Boyne City that you can tell when you're in Boyne Falls by those pails hanging on telephone poles. Is it true? Do you Polacks try to get maple sap from telephone poles?"

"Listen good," she said. "When Boyne City quits lying about Boyne Falls, we will stop telling the truth about Boyne City."

"The truth about Boyne City? What do you mean?"

"Remember last winter when it was so cold in Boyne City the street workers had to pry dogs off fire hydrants?"

"No, I didn't hear about that."

"Of course not," she said. "And I'll tell you another thing about Boyne City."

If there's anything I can't stand it's another thing about Boyne City. But I heard three or four before I could stop her.

Coming home, I wondered why I had driven way over there when there were so many unbelievable truths right here under our noses and feet.

How come you are reading this? The column ended up there with that Boyne Falls stuff.

Everyone knows service organizations often hold fundraising events, and our organization thought the public might be interested in knowing how we returned the money we made to various community projects.

During 1980 the East Jordan Lioness Club earned a total of $4,873.67 on projects such as our Vegas Night, 4th of July activities, raffles, bake and book sales, as well as two bike-a-thons.

Our donations included $375 for public service groups in the East Jordan community and $425 to national organizations such as Leader Dog, Eye Bank and Better Hearing.

We also donated $657.75 to projects such as the Blood Mobile, Camp Daggett (we helped send 27 kids!), monthly Grandvue parties and fire losses for local families. We raised $1,178.57 for the East Jordan Civic Center and $1,500 for the Cystic

Who has the right to make judgments on how the dying or their families should feel or what kind of emotional reactions they are entitled to? That is each individual's choice.

I believe no one has the right to set down rules about death and funerals. It is infringing on a very personal and private part of our families' lives.

It was self-defense after all!

In honor of the 100th birthday of The Charlevoix County Press and the 125th anniversary of Boyne City, the following items are reprinted from past issues of ancestors of The Press.

Readers are invited to drop by our office and see an original "Boyne City Standard," dated March 25, 1881. The Press is still trying to locate a copy of the "first" paper, dated March 11, 1881 and any issues readers may have of the Boyne City Bee, Boyne City Times, or Evening Journal.

THE STANDARD
2/17/82 - On the 11th Mrs. Hiram Welch, a Charlotte "crank," attempted to shoot her husband with a revolver.

2/24/82 - Mrs. Hiram Welch, of Charlotte, charged with assault with intent to kill her husband, was examined Friday and discharged. It was shown that her husband made the attack and she used a revolver in self-defense.

9/1/82 - We hear it rumored that East Jordan will soon have a windmill for the purpose of pumping water into a large tank, which will be used as a sort of protection against fire.

10/20/82 - Frank James, brother of the late Jesse James, and his partner in unnumbered crimes, is in jail at Independence, Mo.

11/3/82 - Last Friday evening a few neighbors of the Rev. Mr. Howe met at the residence of Mr. Hill, and after consultation proceeded to the parsonage, and effecting a forcible entrance, required the Rev. Gentleman to get out of bed to receive a pounding (? ) that he will not forget for sometime.

12/29/82 - The shrill noise of the whistle was heard for the first time from the sawmill at Deer Lake on Christmas morning. The first log was sawed on last Tuesday.

1/5/83 - George R. Thamer's sawmill at Advance was burned Tuesday night about 12 o'clock...The people in the vicinity will feel the loss to quite a degree as many were engaged in getting out logs for Mr. Thamer. Loss about $5,000.

3/2/83 - The members of the Charlevoix ladies' cornet band are doing exceedingly well under the able tutelage of Prof. G.M. Bice, who is a good citizen as well as a first class musician.

THE STATESMAN
4/20/83 - J. E. Darrah, supervisor of Melrose, and William Niles have been in Boyne City this week.

5/23/83 - Boyne City contains thirteen mercantile houses of different kinds, and of those thirteen there are five whose advertisements can be found in The Statesman...Is there, among those eight who do not advertise, one that would be willing to see the paper suspended in consequence of their failure to aid in its support?...Isn't it strange that merchants and others living in adjoining towns find it to their advantage to advertise in The Statesman when people living right here in Boyne City are blind to the fact that it is to their interests pecuniarily to make use of our columns.

6/8/83 - In Boyne Falls the millinery store of Mears & Austin, the barn of William A. Nelson and the grist mill of C.H. Horn are the buildings in process of construction at present.

One memory that won't fade

Monday night I pulled out my metal strongbox and took an old invitation and a fading snapshot from it. The photo was of a limosine with two couples riding in back. One of the women is wearing a pink suit. The invitation is to a "welcome dinner" which was never held.

That photo and the invitation took me back 17 years to a day in November when a chubby pregnant girl, working for a small Texas radio station, spent the afternoon talking with stations and newspapers around the country who wanted a "first-hand" (or at least a local) report.

This past Monday afternoon was just like that Friday in November—not a bad day by itself, but for my friends back in Dallas, this Monday must have been a special kind of hell.

No one can live the days we lived that year in November and not feel a particular kind of pain when a day like Monday comes. Certainly, you don't have to live in Dallas to feel pain, but we who spent those days there have an added kind of pain.

We loved our President and somehow we feel responsible for the loss. We killed Kennedy. Not Detroit, New York, Chicago or Boyne City. We did it. Dallas did it.

As the conflicting reports came in Monday of the attempted assassination of our new President, someone said to me, "Was he in Dallas?" It wasn't meant to hurt, but it did. And now we discover that the gun which was used to shoot Reagan is believed to have come from Dallas. That adds to the hurt.

My heart goes out to Mrs. Reagan, to the people of Washington, and to all those in Dallas. We all share the hurt that someone could even attempt to shoot one of our leaders.

Realism in BF government class

A young man in a three-piece suit was on his feet in a classroom that didn't look like a classroom.

Along one wall sat 12 thoroughly absorbed jurors. Appropriate flags and other accoutrements of a court trial were there.

Also witnesses, defendant, plaintiff in appropriate but un-classroomlike outfits.

The scene was a three-day mock trial in the Boyne Falls High School government class this year.

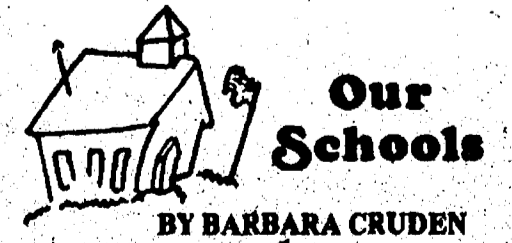

The trial scene followed days of preparation, which followed days—months—of study on law and trials.

The teacher is Joel Donaldson. He wrote up the trial situation. The students filled in descriptions of the characters. Nobody knew how the trial would turn out—innocent or guilty?

Donaldson had students from other classes fill the roles of jury men and women. That way the jury wouldn't be influenced by the class' previous discussion.

It was quite an occasion. The students prepared briefs. Facts and witnesses occupied the first days of the trial.

By the third day the lawyers made their opening statements. Ultimately, following the pattern of a real trial, the judge gave instructions to the jury.

And finally everyone found out how it ended.

Donaldson praised the students for how well they filled their roles.

"They are forced to think," he said, pointing out the difference between holding the trial and merely studying a textbook.

But it doesn't end there.

After the trial, the class took a trip to the Charlevoix District Court to observe—with practiced eye—the real thing.

High-performance students will get help after all

Often last on the list of services to school children is meeting the needs of the bright student. Probably rightly so.

Still it is a need, and in 1979 Boyne City's board of education, together with the boards of Charlevoix and Petoskey, hired a consultant, set up a committee, and began to study what was the best thing to do for this five per cent of the student body.

Figuring that the five per cent, or about 69 students in Boyne City, could be the future spark plugs of society if encouraged, the committee hoped for a half-day of enrichment studies for them once a week.

No students would be compelled to participate, and regular studies would be continued—that was how the proposal went.

And it would cost about $1,050. But then came budget cuts. However, the interest of parents of some of the children who quality was roused, and they got together, hired a certified teacher and will begin a series of classes after school, starting last week.

Students for these once-a-week sessions will be from fourth and fifth grades. Principal Ed Snyder said no IQ tests would be involved.

Star Wars—Asteroids—Space Invaders!

There may not be flying saucers with little green men, but one thing you can't argue with is that "space games" are doing big business at area clubs.

One admitted "fanatic" for the space games is Corky Price of Charlevoix.

Price says he plays anytime he comes to Boyne City, which is at least once a week. "I'm a middle of the road player," Price said, "but I keep shooting for what the other guys have got."

A visit Thursday night to the Tannery Saloon in Boyne City found Price and his friend Roger Schmidt both anxious to start play. "Asteroids has more challenge and more manipulation," said Price. Roger agreed, saying, "I've played that one the most."

"Terry and Mike Lynch have the record high score at the Tannery," said Margi Fortune, manager. Fortune said she had many fanatics who came in just to play the space games. High score on the Tannery Asteroids games is 58,000.

"79,000 is the highest score I've seen," said Price. "That's over at the Boyne River Inn."

BRI waitress, Janet Harris said, "The machines really do well. We've got one guy who spends $5 to $10 every day. He's here right now and he's already up to $7." Harris said the Asteroids game seemed to be the most popular.

Michele Ward at the Junction Inn in Walloon Lake said, "There are three machines here and they're going all the time." When she was asked who played them she replied, "Oh, kids from 18 to 40."

Happy couple shares 65th

Maurice and Alta May Fluckey, longtime Sho-Sho-Nee Beach and Boyne City residents, celebrated their 6th wedding anniversary with their great granddaughter Krissy Smith last weekend. The Fluckeys were married March 26, 1916 in Shelby County, Ill., at a small country church. Mrs. Fluckey said, "Out of eight weddings in my family, seven of us celebrated 50th wedding anniversaries. I'll bet you won't find that in your paper every day." The Fluckeys have two children, nine grandchildren, and three great grandchildren. Also helping to share their wedding anniversary was the couple's son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Fluckey.

Screening clinics to be held in EJ

Developmental Clinics for children who will be entering kindergarten in the fall of 1982 will be held in East Jordan on April 8.

Sponsored by the Charlevoix-Emmet

Intermediate School District, the purpose of the clinics is to provide parents with information regarding normal child development.

Parents also have an opportunity to interact with parents of other three-year-old children, and to have their child informally screened in order to identify any potential learning difficulties which may arise during the school years.

Parents interested in attending the clinic should contact Joan Smith at 547-9947 for further information. Those who reside in another district may also contact Smith for an appointment.

All-stater played everyday

BOYNE CITY - How do you get to be one of the top basketball players in the state?

Brian Vroman's formula was playing every day, nearly year-round, starting when he was about 10 years old.

"I practiced every day," the BCHS junior said in an interview shortly after he was showered with first or second-team all-state honors by nearly every poll in Michigan. "In the winter, I shoveled off the court at the park across from my house and I played with my gloves on."

If he wasn't able to shoot baskets for some reason, he would do a ball handling drill indoors.

Vroman transferred to Boyne City from Wolverine last summer and led the Ramblers to the Regional finals before losing to powerful Reed City. He had an average of 20 points and 18 rebounds per game through the course of the season.

When a player of Vroman's caliber transfers in after two years of high school, it is often because a coach has convinced him to do so...but not so in Brian's case.

He did change schools partly because of basketball, but Vroman did it on his own. In fact Boyne City coach Bob Taylor hadn't even been hired until September. The only urging came from Brian's uncle, Tim Hartwick, who starred for the Ramblers before graduating two years ago.

"Tim told me if I really wanted to be a basketball player, Boyne City would be a good place to go," said Brian. "But it wasn't just basketball. There were other reasons. My mom wanted to move here too, and she likes it a lot."

Brian, too, is glad he made the move. "I really like playing over here. The fans are great, and I think we had a good season. It was a pleasure playing with the other guys on the team...they were great guys. I'm really looking forward to next year. We've got some good players coming back."

He also says he likes all his classes and teachers. They must like him, too. Vroman got five A's and a B-plus in his courses last semester.

He plans to go to a medium-sized college and play basketball, but he's not at all sure which college he'd like to attend.
