RASCH: 'He did a fine job' but personal relations lead to firing

EAST JORDAN - Even the council member who made the motion to fire City Supt. Herman Rasch acknowledged that he has "done a fine job for the city."

Despite such accomplishments as remodeling the Civic Center at a price far below contractors' bids, Rasch's personal manner with city employees and residents led to his downfall.

The superintendent had clashed with the city council on a more and more frequent basis since a new mayor and three new council members took office in January.

He was subjected to varying degrees of criticism on issues ranging from his $27,500 salary, to his living in Boyne City, not buying locally and sometimes spending too much time doing things that subordinates might have done. Rasch recently even received some of the blame for part of a sidewalk that had to be done over because it wasn't level.

His final undoing came Saturday afternoon during a closed meeting of the city council.

The council had convened for the special meeting over the question of a three-day suspension for Butch Breakey, city street foreman.

It was Breakey who asked for the closed session, in which, after discussion the council upheld Rasch's order.

The problem with Breakey was described by council members later as "insubordination." It was, they said, a recurrence of something similar that happened a few months ago.

Discussion following the vote on Breakey terminated in opening the meeting and the unanimous vote to dismiss Rasch, council member Pat Sweet making the motion. According to some reports, by this time Rasch and Breakey were no longer present.

Speaking to The Press later, Sweet said the problem with Rasch has been chiefly one of relating to city personnel and the public.

She said they have tried to resolve the problem, talking it over with him, because "it is a very important area" for one in his position.

She said it had been considered a problem for the past year and a half.

She also said, "Herm has done a fine job for the city."

Council member Darwin Morris would not comment on his vote on Rasch, and neither would Russell Gee. Gee said, "It was council's decision and that's all I'm going to say."

Mayor Archie Nemecek was not available for comment.

"I felt it was time," was Al Joseph's reason for his vote. "There were so many plusses and so many minusses," he said.

"Herm is a good speaker. He is a good negotiator," Joseph would not discuss the "minusses."

"I don't believe in putting someone down." He pointed out that most of the discussion was conducted during the closed session and therefore was private.

About Rasch's statement that he had not been informed as to why he was laid off, Joseph said, "I think if he thought about it, he would know why."

Rasch read the motion to The Press: "At a special meeting motion was offered by Sweet and supported by Gee that the three-day suspension for Breakey stand and that Superintendent Rasch's employment be terminated at the end of the month." He said he had no comment yet.

Councilman Gil Fox's first comment was, "I'm not to happy about it."

Fox did vote for dismissal, saying, "I think I recognized for the long run, it was time for a change...There were a lot of reasons, but I'd rather not go over them at the present."

He said the Breakey problem was not the reason for the dismissal. Looking mainly at the productive side of Rasch's service to the city. Councilman Cal Gotts said he voted for dismissal in support of the council's general consensus, but felt that the decision was made without enough consideration.

"I think we could have talked to him another time."

Gotts said, "I recommended he be allowed to continue for the year." But, he said, "nobody went along with that."

"I support him for the real fine job he has done for East Jordan...I'd give him 80-20 for his work," said Gotts. "It's his manner with the public..."

No replacement has been named for Rasch. Council members stated, "The position is open."

MOUCH: BF superintendent resigns for personal reasons

BY TRISH WRIGHT

BOYNE FALLS - Boyne Falls school board members accepted the resignation of superintendent Ray Mouch at their monthly board meeting Monday.

Mouch, who was to begin his second year as superintendent, said, "After long and serious thought I have requested that the board release me from my second year contract. It was not an easy decision."

After accepting the resignation, the board unanimously named Boyne Falls principal Carl Moser as superintendent.

"Mr. Mouch resigned for personal reasons," said school board president Art Saworaki. "We had a good working relationship with him and are disappointed that he is leaving so soon. But, I think we have a good person to take his place. We are very satisfied with what Mr. Moser has done as principal."

Moser, principal of the school for the past three years, commented that while he was surprised by the resignation, he felt prepared for the challenge.

"I believe that I'm fortunate in that having been principal of a small school district, I've been able to do much of the central office operation."

"I was acting superintendent for three months last year (before Mouch was hired) and had a hand in preparing the budget and in teacher contract negotiations, but my first responsibility will be to learn the job. Mr. Mouch will be working with me for two weeks," said Moser. "He was a good superintendent and a fine man. I'm going to miss him."

School board members also accepted the resignation of high school math teacher Guy Dame. "He had been offered a teaching graduate assistantship at Central Michigan University," said Mouch. "The board authorized us to seek a replacement."

The board set a budget hearing date of June 29 and a re-organizational meeting for July 13.

RULLMAN: Financially it won't always be this tough

BY BARBARA CRUDEN

In far away Galicia, a part of Spain, in a school called The Nation of Boys, the students run a gas station, a shop downtown, and their school. They are expected to learn responsibility, excellence, and a sense of service.

Maybe that's the advantage of private schools, Mel Rullman said speaking generally in an interview with The Press.

Rullman, who will be retiring this month after eight years as superintendent of Twin Valley and East Jordan schools, believes heartily, however, in the public schools idea, suggesting if public schools do the job, private schools could be unnecessary.

"Public education does reflect our society," he said. "A person can't change that, 'ambition or no.'"

"I guess our biggest challenge, in the nation and the community—is to assume responsibility."

Rullman spoke of President Reagan's push to put responsibility out of the federal government and onto local government, business, and volunteers.

Not taking sides politically, Rullman smiled, but said the success of education depends on attitudes. And the attitude that seems most important to him, he said, is responsibility.

If teachers don't show a strong sense of responsibility, it isn't likely students will care as much as they should about their school work, he explained.

A superintendent, trying to solve problems, would probably have to start with attitude. He said he felt most superintendents would try to promote anything that would have a positive effect on attitudes.

He described the job of superintendent as fundamentally different from that of office manager. "The product isn't paper work."

He hesitated, as he said, not wanting to sound bombastic, but the challenge of being involved in human life makes it "a job that requires total conscientious effort."

Rullman's idea is that education should reflect common sense: "What are our resources, how much do we have to do with in education? These have to be our questions."

Looking to the future, he said, "I think we will see a growth of private schools, because they are in a better position to bring out the proper attitudes that are necessary to continue education."

Referring to the fate of public education, he continued, "The result of lowered (financial) expectations is to look for alternatives."

He explained that rather than look for excuses for not doing something, we should look for new solutions. "We can develop what we have," in order, for example, to help a student pursue recognized abilities.

Rullman sees classroom teachers developing their own skills to teach art, music, and so on.

He said in the past, the school has also tried to bring in local business people to teach some vocational skills.

And, of course, they tried the Twin Valley School System in which small-school problems were to be resolved by shared classes in things like advanced math or language where fewer students in each city were enrolled.

Although Rullman's first responsibility as the then new superintendent was to engineer the demerging of East Jordan and Boyne City schools, he still feels the lack of extended programs and facilities to be a heavy drawback in education.

However, he said, "assuming that attitudes are promising," the lack of facilities is compensated by the fact that in smaller schools more people get to participate.

Financially, "I don't think things are always going to be this tough." Rullman believes the tax system will be changed towards more reliance on income and sales taxes.

He hopes someday soon more will be done for the faster students.

Does that mean the more intelligent ones? No, he responded. He puts no limits on individual intelligence.

Rullman will turn to farming when he leaves his desk at the school. He said he spent a lot of his youth on a farm in southern Indiana. Apparently those were pleasant days. His eyes lighted up as he spoke of them.

His eight years in East Jordan include not only the demerging of Twin Valley, but also the building of the new high school, the development of a vocational

Boyne City plans 'racy' July 4th

BOYNE CITY - The Fourth of July Committee is now accepting entries for the annual raft race, tug of war, and running race, which are held each Fourth of July.

RAFT RACE

The raft race will start at 3 p.m. on Saturday, July 4, at the old city storage yards behind Consumers Power Company.

All rafts which enter must be homemade and participants must wear life jackets and shoes. Participants under 18-year-old must be accompanied by an adult or obtain a waiver from their parent or guardian.

A minimum of two people must man each raft.

There is a $1 entry fee. Entries must be made at City Hall by July 3.

TUG OF WAR

The tug of war will be held behind the railroad roundhouse building, at 5 p.m. on July 4. It is open to any team that wishes to challenge another team.

Teams will be paired as they were last year with businesses and clubs competing against one another.

Each team that enters must weigh less than 800 pounds total. Each team must have two women, two men, and a fifth person of either sex.

The tug will last for five minutes.

People wishing to enter a team in the tug of war should contact Kate Schafer at the Chamber of Commerce building before June 26.

RUNNING RACES

This year there will be an eight mile challenge race and a one mile fun race for joggers.

Registration fee for both races is $5 before June 26 and $7 after June 26. Each race participant will receive a T-shirt for entering the race.

Medals will be awarded the top three finishers in each race category.

Pre-registration forms are available also at the Boyne City Area Chamber of Commerce building.

WHY MAKE FUNERAL PLANS NOW?

With the fast pace of today's world it is hard for some people to deal seriously with funeral pre-arrangement. We set aside the question of death by saying "all life is uncertain."

There is a kind of panic that pushes people from one day into the next. The busy round of activities, trying to pay bills, trying to raise kids, worrying about job security, all are features of an environment that resists planning. There's almost no time to plan!

But, death, being certain, demands a time for planning. We know it is coming. To think about death is to think about certainties. Some of the "uncertainty of life" can be relieved by making funeral arrangements in advance. For instance:

1. Pre-planning allows you the freedom to have your wishes carried out.

2. You can achieve peace of mind through pre-planning by knowing that your family won't have to worry about it later.

Because we understand the importance of pre-planning, we are glad to answer any questions about funeral pre-arrangement you may have. Contact us anytime.

Boyne City Commission Minutes, June 9, 1981

MINUTES OF THE REGULAR MEETING OF THE BOYNE CITY COMMISSION DULY CALLED AND HELD AT THE COMMISSION CHAMBERS ON TUESDAY, JUNE 9, 1981 AT 7:00 P.M.

Present: Mayor Keith Fitzpatrick, Commissioners Catherine Jessup, Martin Paul, Steven Moody and Thelma Behling. Absent: None. Also present: City Manager Timothy J. Clifton, City Clerk Tom Garlock, City Treasurer Edith Beck and City Attorney Harvey Varnum.

Moved by Jessup, seconded by Paul to approve the minutes of the following commission meetings duly called and held on:

Tuesday, May 12, 1981, at 12:00 noon.
Tuesday, May 12, 1981, at 7:00 p.m.
Tuesday, May 19, 1981, at 12:00 noon.
Tuesday, May 26, 1981, at 12:00 noon.
Tuesday, June 2, 1981, at 12:00 noon.

Roll call all yeas. Motion carried.

The mayor opened a Public Hearing at 7:05 p.m. to consider the alley vacating running north and south off of North Street and east and west in the same location between the intersections of North/Park and North/East Streets.

Kathleen David inquired as to the exact location of the vacating of the alley and issued no objection upon learning that said alley closure would not affect access to her property.

The city manager stated that he had received no letters or personal contact opposing the vacating of the alley.

The mayor declared the Public Hearing closed at 7:15 p.m.

Moved by Moody, seconded by Jessup, upon the recommendation of the planning commission to authorize the vacating of a 10 foot wide alley running north and south between Lot 10 on the east and Lots 11 and 12 on the west for 131.4 feet in length abutting to Lot 13, Terrace Addition, City of Boyne City and the 19.45 feet on the west adjacent to Lot 13, running 70 feet east and west to a point measuring 19.5 feet, abutting original platted alley, running north and south, Terrace Addition, City of Boyne City.

Said petitioners, Mr. and Mrs. James Edwards to assume responsibility in the recording of said vacation with the Register of Deeds as well as any expenses involved.

Roll call all yeas. Motion carried.

Robert Johns, spokesperson for the residents of Jersey and Arthur Streets, presented a petition requesting that the city pave said streets, because of a washboard effect, wash outs and excessive dust. He stated that there is excessive traffic in this area, creating these problems and with the addition of more family housing at the end of the street, the situation will worsen.

The city manager was directed to investigate the matter and to have the police chief undertake a traffic count, so that a more accurate count of actual traffic can be arrived at for a better overview of the problem. A report of the findings will be made to the commission at the next regularly scheduled monthly meeting on July 14, 1981 at the Boyne City Public Library.

Moved by Paul, seconded by Jessup to approve the Ambulance Reciprocity Service Agreement between the City of Boyne City and the City of East Jordan, and authorize the mayor, city manager and ambulance director to sign said agreement on behalf of the city.

Roll call all yeas. Motion carried.

Moved by Moody, seconded by Behling to authorize the purchase of a mobile radar antenna for the police department in the amount of $700.00 from Decatur, Electronics with funds budgeted for this purpose in Account Code 101-301-975.05 of the FY 81/82 Budget.

Roll call all yeas. Motion carried.

The city manager presented a report recommending amending the Fiscal Year 1981/82 Budget. Since the budget was adopted prior to the vote on Proposal A, a restriction would have been placed upon municipalities as to the amount of revenues raised and mills levied. As a result, to guarantee adequate revenues for the expenditures previously tentatively approved by the city commission within the fiscal year 1981/82 Budget, it was necessary to increase the preliminary budget from the recommended 18.05 mills to 19.10 mills. This represented an increase of $30,000 in the total 81/82 budget from $1,867,229 to $1,897,229.

Moved by Behling, seconded by Fitzpatrick to amend the 1981/82 Fiscal Year budget downward by levying a millage of 18.05 to produce a revenue of $1,867,229, representing a reduction of 1.05 mills per $1,000 of assessed valuation on each resident's city tax bill. Further, the $30,000 difference in the two budgets was placed in the contingency fund in the General Services Department. Therefore, the $30,000 will be subtracted from the contingency fund reserve and thereby result in a decrease in the general services budget by $30,000 to the figure of $297,900.

Roll call all yeas. Motion carried.

The city manager presented a report on a component of the Fiscal Year 1981/82 Capital Improvement Program—Water Street Project—the purchase of 10 historic street lighting fixtures for the restored section of Water Street. By purchasing the light fixtures and posts as opposed to having the contractor purchase them, the city receives a municipal discount and is exempt from sales tax. By ordering and purchasing the light fixtures now, delivery will be assured in time for construction the day after Labor Day.

Moved by Paul, seconded by Jessup to authorize the purchase of 10 street lights and posts from Welsbach Lighting Products Company, Inc. in an amount not to exceed $10,000 with funds budgeted and approved within the Fiscal Year 1981/82 Budget in Account Code 101-958-984.

Roll call vote: Yeas: Fitzpatrick, Behling, Paul, Jessup, Nays: Moody. Motion carried.

The city manager noted that the financial report would be forwarded to the city commission at the end of the week as adjustments were still being made by the auditors.

Moved by Jessup, seconded by Paul to appoint Kathleen Smith to fill the expired term of Charles Kessler on the board of review. Term ending March 1, 1984.

Roll call all yeas. Motion carried.

Moved by Jessup, seconded by Paul to appoint Bertie Ellis to fill the unexpired term of Robert Winters on the board of review. Term ending March 1, 1982.

Roll call all yeas. Motion carried.

The Second Reading of Ordinance A-64, an Ordinance to regulate handicapped reserved parking for owners and operators of shopping centers within Boyne City, was conducted.

Moved by Paul, seconded by Jessup to adopt Ordinance A-64, as read and as published on May 21, 1981. Ordinance to become effective June 24, 1981.

Roll call all yeas. Motion carried.

Moved by Paul, seconded by Jessup for the meeting to adjourn. Meeting adjourned at 7:45 p.m.

Update

EJ candidates

EAST JORDAN - No one will be running against Mayor Archie Nemecek, nor against second ward councilman Al Joseph on the ballot for next year's city council.

Deadline for submitting petitions to run for office was 4 p.m. Tuesday, June 16.

At that time, besides the petitions of Nemecek and Joseph, two petitions had been submitted for Gil Fox's first ward seat. One was from Joe Rebec, and one from Preston Kenny, who was on the council a year ago.

In third ward, incumbent Pat Sweet has an opponent—Russell Dietrich has also petitioned to be on the ballot.

Because there are no more than two candidates for any one seat on the council, no special election will be held this summer. Candidates will be voted on at the regular November election.

Basketball camp

BOYNE CITY - Boys and girls interested in attending a one week basketball camp starting July 6 can save $5 on their entry fee by registering early.

Yes I Can Basketball Camp registrations received by June 26 will be $25. After that, the fee will be $30.

The basketball camp will be held from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. daily, and it is open to students in grades 5-10. Registration forms are available from Taylor by writing him in care of Wolverine Camp, Wolverine MI 49799.

Summer sports

BOYNE FALLS - An activity program sponsored by the school is getting underway with pigtail softball for girls, fifth through eighth grade. Necessary equipment is tennis shoes and softball gloves.

Soccer—again with proper running shoes—is offered for boys and girls, sixth grade and over.

For boys and girls, age five through seven, there is T-ball softball. Again, tennis shoes and a baseball glove if possible.

Volleyball will be for boys and girls, fifth grade and up.

Arts and crafts will welcome children, ages four through eight.

For information call Kelly Spencer, director, 549-2211.

Horse show

The Masonic Lodge of Boyne City and Order of Eastern Stars are again sponsoring their annual Spring Fling Horse Show on Sunday, June 21.

Thirty classes are offered with ribbons to the top six places. Trophies are also given for champion, reserve and showman awards. Registration fee is $2 per class.

The Bieganowski property on Deer Lake Road (C-48) and the 4-H Arena is the scene of the show, which begins at 9 a.m.

Jim Maxwell of Beaverton will be the judge for the sanctioned show.

Merchants have donated door prizes, including a $50 savings bond from First National Bank.

Participants are asked to bring their own water.

Rullman leaving after 8 years

program, and the reorganization of middle school.

His retirement announcement, given a year ago, came as a surprise, board president Mary Jason said, although Rullman said he had been thinking about it for some time.

"Not because of any frustration," he said then, adding he wanted to look into some other occupation.

Superintending has become more and more difficult, according to an article in a recent Wall Street Journal.

Not because the job is that much more complex, but according to Douglas R. Sease, the writer, demands for programs and salaries have increased while tax restraints are pulling in the opposite direction.

Sease concludes that the superintendent's job has become "the toughest and most thankless of any public office," and cites an unprecedented number of superintendents changing jobs the last three years.

So what does Mel Rullman say as he goes out and Tom Rossler comes in to be the new superintendent?

"I guess I would say I would encourage the people who are conscientious about their youngsters and about children to become involved—or stay involved—because that is the way our society works."

"I urge that, because many well-meaning people feel they don't want to rock the boat...and just make the assumption that the good things will evolve naturally."

Rullman leaned forward. "But they don't," he added. "They require work."

The strain of public jobs

We are again reminded of the difficulty of holding a public job this week, as we learned of the firing of the city superintendent in East Jordan and the resignation of the school superintendent in Boyne Falls.

To top that off, two school administrators who had announced their resignations earlier have (or are about to) wrapped up their final responsibilities.

Circumstances surrounding the departure of these four public officials are different for each individual...

Editorial

but it would be reasonable to conclude that the mental strain of holding a public job was a factor in each case.

It seems to us that public service jobs offer extremely gratifying rewards, but at the same time they can be personally devastating when things don't go just right.

What could compare to the pride and thrill that East Jordan City Supt. Herm Rasch must have felt when his Civic Center pet project opened a year ago? And Mel Rullman, the East Jordan School superintendent, will also be able to point with pride to the attractive and functional high school building that was his pet project a few years ago.

Yet both of these men, despite significant accomplishments, are leaving their jobs after being subjected to considerable pressure. The pressure on Rasch came mainly from the city council, and that's why he was fired Saturday. Criticism of Rullman came more from school staff, and despite apparent support from his school board, he chose to wait until the pressure subsided and then quietly gave a year's notice of his resignation.

Boyne City Community Education Director Judy Johnson and Boyne Falls School Supt. Ray Mouch are both leaving their jobs for personal reasons. Neither was a controversial figure, but they still went through the same type of highs and lows as Rullman and Rasch.

There were recent highs like graduation exercises and recent lows like millage defeats and budget cuts.

By their very nature, these public officials have all dealt with large scale, significant programs that affected us all. And most public officials are paid well—but most of them deserve every penny because of the additional strain they must endure by having to be accountable to many bosses—school boards or city councils and hundreds of residents and taxpayers. Additionally, they are living in an age of growing mistrust of government, staggering inflation and a nearly universal desire to cut taxes.

Public officials, unlike factory owners, are constantly open to public scrutiny and must be accountable for their actions. It takes a special kind of person to be able to handle all of the divergent roles and still emerge pleasing most of the people most of the time—including himself or herself.

So we'll keep on searching for new administrators to tackle the highs and lows that we create.

And, as one of the previously mentioned public officials told us: "There will always be some young buck eager to jump in and take a crack at it."

Indeed! Boyne Falls School, which has now had five superintendents in six years, attracted 52 applicants for the position when Mouch was selected less than a year ago. And East Jordan had nearly 100 applicants for Rullman's job in a district which had just gone through a teachers' strike and four unsuccessful attempts to raise tax rates.

We can only hope for the best as we go about replacing the latest "casualties."

Out of hand and into print

Wherein a number of things get out of hand and into the newspaper:

She: I'm leaving you.

He: But you vowed to stick with me come thick or thin.

She: Not when it comes to a thick head and a thin pocketbook, I didn't.

Wanted: Huffer and puffers.

There's a sign along the highway asking people to come to the Dilworth Hotel. And they do. They walk up the steps, shake the locked door and peer into the dirty window. Then they discover that it has been closed for months.

They not only vent their anger at the hotel, but at Boyne City itself. Someone should huff and puff and blow that sign down.

It's something like those advertising signs tacked to telephone poles. How many are still there long after the sales are over?

And how about those politicians who put up "vote for me" signs on anything they'll stick to? Many of them clutter up the countryside after the election is over. Sign pollution. Ugh. (End of editorial about signs that should be huffed and puffed at.)

I hate to gossip about people, but I enjoy those who do it for me.

Boyne City's hot off the press history book says that the Dilworth Hotel (nee Wolverine) was constructed for $40,000. With today's labor prices and material costs one would be hard put to build much more than a fancy chicken coop for that amount. In addition, there's a law against allowing chickens to cluck within the city limits. Unlike the old days, if high costs don't get you a city ordinance will.

All my life I've tried to arrange things so that trouble will happen to someone else; and I'm still trying to get the hang of it.

Mother-in-law: Why don't you go find a job and support my daughter like you promised?

Son-in-law: I'm waiting for cooler weather. It's too hot to do anything today.

Mother-in-law: It isn't the heat, it's the relative stupidity.

Having used up my energy on this column, I shall now sit back, have a cool glass of bubbly, and watch a baseball game on television.

(Editor: if the players are back when the paper comes out readers will not see the humor in that last remark. But if the strike is still on, they will think I'm nuts for watching a ball game that isn't there. I find it quite tiresome being looked upon as either humorless or nuts. I've a mind to quit writing this column and start another bank in Boyne City. Then they'll see how smart I am.)

That backyard phenomena

"Roll out those lazy, hazy, crazy days of summer. Those days of soda and pretzels and"...yard sales.

The natural end to spring cleaning is collecting all those uncollectables around the house, debating on their relative worth and finally displaying them for sale at a yard sale.

They lavish more time and attention on these odds and ends that are destined for resale than they may be worth.

These conclusions come from experience. I advertised and helped organize a yard sale last week that involved 10 people. Our inventory included everything from baby clothes to a portable john.

Bolstered by the axiom that proclaims one man's junk is another man's treasure, I arrived at the sale expecting to have sold out by the first afternoon.

At 1:30 p.m. I was falling behind my partners. My tally sheet was devoid of masking tape price tags. Toys and children's clothes were selling as fast as we could brown bag them. My little linens and cooking utensils were cooling it on the markdown table and the red, barrel back chairs were so conspicuously untouched that it hurt.

By 3 p.m. I realized that there is a science to yard sales. Fall and winter clothes don't sell in the summer no matter how low they are marked and orange and brown sheets give way to white.

All those years at Macy's didn't help me one bit. Suggestive selling only lessens your success when trying to sell someone something you won't use in your own home.

However, one by one, my salvage pieces started to disappear and when I made a deal on the barrel backs, I shouted hosanna, for my ads were then paid for.

Day Two - rain and more rain. When the sun finally did come out the second day staff had a nearly uninterrupted picnic in the midst of rummage.

I didn't covet anyone's tally sheet that day. In fact, I didn't even have to use a calculator to cash out.

So, what I did on my summer vacation may not have been packed with adventure or even lucrative. But, it offered a glimpse at the mysterious, clearing house merchandising program called yard sales.

I've taken a few classified ads for garage or yard sales over the Press page and just can't resist taking notes on the when, where and what's in it of a sale.

A parent's view of education

The following comments were made as a speech by Lillian Lewin to her fellow graduates during adult education graduation ceremonies Saturday in East Jordan.

Here we are today, how many years later, on graduation day. We probably thought our day would never come!

Being a parent and graduating many years later was probably not easy for some of us.

There were obstacles to overcome—schedules, babysitting, jobs and just finding the time.

With all things worthwhile we just consider: do we really want this after all these years?

Let's look at what education should mean for us. Thirteen years is a long time to pursue something with a prize at the end.

Many parents think that since teachers are paid to educate their children, the teachers should be able to do it. Yet surprising as it may sound, the quality of a child's education depends more on parents than on the teachers or the school. Experience is the best teacher, as is often shown.

When parents instill in a child a desire to learn, and the ability to sit quietly and pay attention, the child learns much better than does the undisciplined, unmotivated child.

Families make the difference! If parents expect their children to become good learners, they need to take a real interest in their education.

This involves more than simply seeing that their children get safely to and from school. It also means taking a genuine interest in their progress in class.

When parents fail to respond to their children, they fail to respond invariably to the discipline, and are poor students because they don't care. Every child needs love, interest, discipline and righteous principles.

Parents are charged with the responsibility of training their children, and children are required to be obedient to their parents in everything that is not in conflict with God's clearly stated requirements.

Parents, you can help your children in a number of ways...first, by starting to read to your children when they are infants. Then as children grow a little older, let them pronounce the words along with you.

Reading skills are vital to learning. As your children grow older, create a climate in the home that cultivates a respect for knowledge, and places a high value on learning.

When children are helped to use and appreciate such publications as encyclopedias, dictionaries and especially the Bible, and Bible study aids, they usually become good learners.

Teachers, it is a real challenge today. I know. Teaching is not easy. But, parents, if you really love your children, you will do whatever you can to help them to learn.

In view of the conditions in today's schools, this is more important than ever before. Training for schooling begins at home, not in school. Discipline begins at infancy, not in grades K-12. We as parents have this responsibility.

Let parents and youths plan together for an adequate secular education that will enable young people to meet their life interests and goals in a wholesome, honorable way. The well-trained youths of today will become tomorrow's mature, hardworking young men and women.

A balanced viewpoint of education can help make life enjoyable.

Now 23 years later and nine children down the line, here am I, the big day. Graduation.

Settlers to Sidewalks

Bay Springs and the railroad

A new history of Boyne City is now available, just in time for the celebration of the city's 125th anniversary during the week of July 5-11.

Middle school history teacher Bob Morgridge has published an 84-page book titled "Settlers to Sidewalks: A History of Boyne City from its Beginning to the End of the Booming Lumbering Era."

The book is now available for $8 or $7 for senior citizens, but the price goes up to $10 after June 30. It can be purchased at The Charlevoix County Press, the Chamber of Commerce and several other locations.

Here is another in the series of excerpts from the book:

Bay Springs was platted by Hiram B. Chapman around 1883. It was appropriately named because of the beautiful bay and the numerous springs that punctuated the side of the banks bordering Pine Lake. For a decade before H. B. Chapman arrived, this area, now called North Boyne was an active community. One of the first persons to come to Bay Springs was Frank M. Abraham in 1874. Abraham bought some land, stocked goods in a small building near his dock, and bartered for wood and bark. A few years later Russell M. Cadwell bought Abraham's business. Ephraim Shay, an inventor especially noted for his design of the Shay locomotive, owned a dock, sawmill, and machine shop. Shay sold his sawmill to L. C. Clayton of Cadillac. Clayton later sold half interest in his mill to William T. Addis, and they formed the business known as Addis and Company.

William Addis saw a need for a railroad to Boyne Falls to connect with the Grand Rapids and Indiana Railroad. He proposed to construct a narrow gauge track to Boyne Falls at the cost of $35,000 if the local residents would support his efforts by raising $3,000 to help finance the project. Although there was much controversy among the residents, the people approved the plan and raised the money.

In early 1882, work immediately began on the Spring Harbor and Boyne Falls Railroad. In the middle of June, Addis advertised for more help offering to pay workers $30 a month.

Topolinski family holds reunion

A Topolinski family reunion was held over the weekend with a Saturday night dinner at the Holiday Inn in Petoskey and a picnic on Sunday at Whiting Park. About 100 out of 199 living descendants attended from Washington, California, Ohio, Wisconsin and Michigan. The oldest relative was Mrs. Mary Smith, 90, from Madison, Wisconsin and the youngest was three-month-old Nicolette Clark.

Several dedications were made during the Sunday morning service at the Methodist Church. Candleholders were dedicated in the memory of Henry and Catherine Floodquist. A speaker system was dedicated in the memory of Lem Wilber, and a Communion Fount in memory of Duane Seelye. A lovely luncheon with over 100 Seelye family members and friends followed the service.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Burrows and family of Wyoming were here over the weekend for the funeral of his father, Frank Burrows, on Saturday. Their son, Ray Jr., will be staying here a couple of weeks visiting his grandmother, Medora Griffen.

Steve Kenyon of Traverse City spent the weekend with his family the Don Kenyons.

Sherry Wilson and daughters, Diane and Tracy, left this week to visit her mother, Mrs. Margaret Hill, in Orlando, Fla.

Mrs. Ann Rider and two children of Arizona have been visiting her parents, the Norval Korthases, this week.

Carol Dougherty returned home this week after having spent a few weeks in Grand Rapids visiting friends.

Hilda and Royal Watkins, Glennie Kane and Joan, Vasco and Damon Zucchiatti went to Ann Arbor to attend the open house held for Jim Hartlep, son of Amy and Jack Hartlep.

Guest speaker at the joint installation ceremonies of the Boyne Valley Lion and Lioness Club held at Whiting Park last weekend was district governor elect Ken Reeves. The Boyne Valley Lioness Club presented the Lions with a $500 donation toward their Rotary Park projects.

Winnie Fairchild returned to her home on Monday after having spent the past 10 days as a patient in Northern Michigan Hospital.

Jean and Bill Korthase held a family dinner over the weekend. Attending were Mrs. Sherry Edlund and two children of Grand Rapids, Jim and Nancy Anthony and children, Mrs. James Anthony, Bill and Debbie Korthase and children and Mrs. Ann Rider and children of Arizona.

Bonnie and Gordon Kane spent a long weekend in Inlay City visiting their daughter Sherry and Bud Jolly and family.

Garlock, McCutcheon wed in Boyne City

Wearing a long ivory taffeta gown and carrying a bouquet of roses, azaleas, baby's breath, and ivy, Patti Garlock was married to Alan McCutcheon on May 16.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Tom Garlock of Boyne City, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ted McCutcheon of Walloon Lake.

Libbie Talboys, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and John McCutcheon, brother of the groom, was best man.

Lissa McCutcheon, the groom's niece, was bridesmaid. Another niece, Sarah McCutcheon, was flower girl.

Ring bearer was Jeremy Snyder, son of the bride.

Ushers for the wedding were Tom Mackie and Dennis Hass of Walloon Lake.

Mrs. Garlock, the mother of the bride, made all the flowers for the wedding.

A reception and dinner was given by the bride and groom at the UAW Hall in Boyne City. Pennie Garlock and Debbie Riddle, sisters of the bride, cut the cake for about 100 guests. The cake was made by Mrs. Bertha Lehto.

For their honeymoon, the couple went to Cedar Point.

Boyne City graduate gets doctorate in California

Don Holzschu, a 1969 graduate of Boyne City High School, will receive his doctorate in micro-biology from the University of California at Davis on June 18.

He attended North Central Michigan College in Petoskey and graduated in 1971 with an Associate of Science degree.

He received a B.S. degree in micro-biology from Michigan State University in 1974. In 1977, he received his master's in biology from Georgia State University in Atlanta.

Holzschu will be now doing post-graduate work at Davis.

He is married to the former Sharon McCarty, and they have a daughter, Beth Ann. He is the son of Bob and Kate Holzschu of Ferry Road, Boyne City.

Don and Sharon will arrive in Boyne City on June 21. There will be an open house for them at the Bob Holzschu residence Saturday, June 27, for friends and relatives from 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.

NMU student weds

Terrie Scott, a Northern Michigan University student from Boyne City, was married to Kenneth S. Waldbillig of Iron Mountain on June 13.

The bride is the daughter of Mike and Sally Scott of Boyne City, while the bridegroom is the daughter of Margaret Waldbillig of Iron Mountain.

Rev. Wayne Bullock officiated for the afternoon wedding at the Free Methodist Church in Boyne City.

Miss Scott wore a white chiffon gown accented with pearls. It had an empire waistline and a chapel length train. She carried white silk roses with blue and white carnations and baby's breath.

Cindi Scott of Boyne City, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor, and Carl Waldbillig, Jr., of Gainesville, Fla., the brother of groom, served as best man.

After the wedding, the bride's parents hosted a reception at Whiting Park. The newlyweds will be living in Marquette after taking a wedding trip to Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Bible school to start next week

BOYNE CITY - Christ Lutheran Church will hold Vacation Bible School for children each evening Monday through Friday, June 22-26.

All sessions will be held at the church, which is located at the corner of M-75 and East Jordan Road. For further details or enrollment information, call the church office, 582-9301.

Superintendent of the Vacation Bible School is Diane Kelly. The school is open to all children of the community from age three through seventh grade. Adult classes will also be offered.

The classes will include games, puzzles, songs, Bible stories, refreshments and take-home projects.

Tie one on for the library

BOYNE CITY - Tag Day is June 19 for the Boyne City Public Library. Volunteers will be stationed around town to accept donations and give a tag in exchange to tie onto one's shirt.

Library board member Ruth Rivard said donations are part of the library's life blood. Other infusions come from the city and the state.

The city approves the library's annual budget, which this year will include a new furnace as well as new books.

Last year, to bring down heating costs, in the old building, the library acquired two new solar windows and also extra window insulation to prevent heat loss. Rivard said a tag is given for a small donation as well as for large ones, and checks would be fine.

Back for a visit after 40 years

Jennie Franseth of Washington, D.C., an East Jordan native who hadn't been back to her hometown for 40 years, returned for a visit and a surprise party with some old friends recently.

Jennie was a graduate of the Class of 1920 at EJHS, and classmates Eleanor Carson and Alberta Vogel attended the surprise get-together at the home of George Secord on Sunday, May 31.

Also attending were Ed and Winnie

Barrie, Al and Alice Nesman, Jason and Lois Snyder, Martha Wagbo, Ann Wagbo, Olga Wagbo, Aura Stevenson, Marie Hughes and Alma Larson.

Some brought yearbooks from 1920, 1921 and 1922 for an afternoon of reminiscing.

Jennie was driven to East Jordan with her niece and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Fletcher of Midland.

NOTICE OF SUCH HEARING HAVING BEEN PUBLISHED IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE REQUIREMENTS OF THE STATUTES AND LAWS OF THE STATE OF MICHIGAN:

1.) A permit issued by the Charlevoix County Road Commission shall be obtained prior to any person, partnership, association, corporation or governmental entity, performing any work within the right-of-way of any county road in Charlevoix County.

2.) In the event any person, partnership, association, corporation, or governmental entity desires to construct a driveway or replace an existing driveway entering onto any road under the jurisdiction of the Charlevoix County Road Commission said person, partnership, association, corporation or governmental entity shall first obtain a written permit from the Charlevoix County Road Commission.

3.) The Charlevoix County Road Commission will issue a permit for a driveway only on the following conditions:

(a) That a plan is submitted indicating the width of the driveway to be constructed, drainage, slope and any other conditions required by the Road Commission as it deems necessary to protect its road and right-of-way.

(b) The driveway permit shall provide for the proper construction, drainage and slope as per the specifications of the Charlevoix County Road Commission. In the event a driveway is constructed and does not meet the specifications set forth, the Charlevoix County Road Commission shall notify the party obtaining the permit that the specifications have not been satisfied. In the event the specifications are not met within thirty (30) days after written notice is sent by the Road Commission to the party being granted the permit, the Road Commission shall have the option to perform the necessary correctional construction or have the work performed by a qualified contractor to conform to the requirements set forth by the Charlevoix County Road Commission in granting the permits and the party being granted the permit shall forthwith reimburse the Charlevoix County Road Commission for all costs involved.

(c) In the event a permit is not obtained and a driveway is constructed the Road Commission shall notify the property owner, lessee, and/or Land Contract vendee, that a permit must be obtained and the construction completed according to Road Commission specifications. In the event a permit is not obtained and the proper construction, as herein set forth, completed, within thirty (30) days from said written notice the Charlevoix County Road Commission shall have the option to perform the necessary correctional construction and to charge for same as set forth in sub-paragraph (b), Paragraph 3, hereof.

Legal notices

The Charlevoix County Road Commission may, at its discretion, require a bond in an amount sufficient to cover the costs of construction and any repair thereof prior to granting any permit.

4.) In the event a driveway is constructed without obtaining a permit in accordance with the terms herein set forth, the owner, lessee, or Land Contract vendee, shall be liable to the Charlevoix County Road Commission in the amount of FIVE HUNDRED AND NO/100 ($500.00) DOLLARS to cover costs of checking the area, providing plans for grading, construction and drainage; expense of administration and paper work. Said $500.00 shall be in addition to the actual costs incurred to perform the necessary correctional construction as referred to in Paragraph 3 herein.

5.) In the event a permit is issued by the Charlevoix County Road Commission to allow work within the right-of-way of any County Road in Charlevoix County, the Charlevoix County Road Commission may require a bond in an amount sufficient, in its discretion, to cover liability for personal injury and property damage prior to granting any permit.

6.) There shall be no fees for granting permits as herein set forth. Dated June 8, 1981

Board cuts 10 teachers

EJ won't ask for millage again

BY BARBARA CRUDEN

EAST JORDAN Following the defeat of Propositions II and III in the June 8 school election the East Jordan School Board reluctantly voted to dismiss 10 full time teachers.

The names of those laid off are: Ted Jeffery and Bill Purdy from the high school; Pam Allen, Jim Everest, Phil Goebel, Kay Holley, Brad Jones, and Donna Tisron in middle school; and Diane Frykberg and Mary Murray from elementary school.

Since then, it is possible that in addition, Mary Simpson may be reduced to half time.

The staff cut was based on seniority—a complicated arrangement, when teachers have been shifted around in the general effort these past few years to cope with budget cuts.

Administration and school board members do not hold out much expectation of another try to pass the separate millages requested to maintain past programs in art, music, reading, and athletics.

They say the four efforts in 1980 were all voted down in spite of unusual effort by citizen committees, and they point also to similar failures in neighboring districts.

The dismissal of the 10 1/2 teachers relates to the move to reschedule classes in the high school and middle school which makes one more class per day, by shortening all classes 10 minutes and permits fewer teachers to conduct the basic program.

In the elementary school, staff reassignments will result in all teachers teaching art and music to their own classes.

Teachers who are laid off will receive one month of unemployment insurance. Following that, they can continue the compensation for one year if they wish to make the small payments necessary.

The school would rehire teachers if any vacancies permit.

Mary Murray, called by The Press, responded that she wasn't surprised when the confirmation came.

She taught first grade this year, and has taught other grades in the elementary school in her total of three years on the East Jordan staff.

"Every year they told me I might not have a job the next year," she said. The warnings were the result of continuous budget-cutting, Murray has tenure.

Jim Everest, middle school physical education teacher, was five years from retirement when he was given notice. He doesn't know what he will do now, but said he "very definitely" would go back if the opportunity came about.

School board president Mary Jason spoke after the meeting June 9 of the distress the board felt in making the large staff cut, saying it would have taken so little to have kept them.

She and other members noted that besides the effect this has on their careers, they also have families and homes in this or nearby communities.

Bill Purdy was building his house when he was reached for comment. Purdy has been an industrial arts teacher.

Like the others, he hasn't had time to decide what to do. He said he was laid off at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo because of declining enrollment and again three years later from the St. Joseph school system because of declining enrollment.

And now, after moving here three years ago he is again, as low man on the seniority pole, faced with job loss.

In memoriam

In loving memory of our Dad Everette E. Griffin, who passed away on Father's Day, June 15, 1980:

Our father was a quiet man.

Beloved by one and all.

Everyone who knew our dad fond memories can recall.

He lived a very humble life content with what he had.

We never heard him once complain

This man who was our Dad.

He farmed the land most of his life and planted seeds in season;
The seed he sowed the deepest grows in our heart and reason.

He taught us right from infant up,
and in his gentle way,
He really drove the lesson home.
By living it each day.

He gave us many gifts in life that money cannot buy.

The gifts of honesty and truth

We treasure very high.

He taught us to be thankful for whatever things we had;

But most of all we're Thankful that we had him for our Dad.

Judy, Janice, Dixie, Donald

Susan, Sandra and families.

Supplement to the Charlevoix County Press

Festival promises excitement for all

BY JAMIE BAUMANN

Train rides, Sousa concerts, barber-shop singing, ethnic dancing, ice cream socials, Indian pageantry, antique cars, boats, Victorian fashion shows, home tours, historic building tours, and much more will be going on as Petoskey hosts its second annual Little Traverse Historic Festival this Thursday through Sunday.

TRAIN RIDES

Alanson is also joining in the celebration. An excursion train will leave Petoskey's Pennsylvania Park at 9 and 11:15 a.m. and 2, 4:30 and 6:45 p.m. It will take passengers to Alanson where there is a host of activities for them to enjoy. Train tickets cost $5.50 for adults, and children under 10 ride free as long as seating is available.

Petoskey and Alanson are celebrating their turn of the century roots with four days packed full of events with something to please everyone's taste.

For the history buffs there are antique auto shows, antique shows and sales, antique quilt sales, Victorian fashion shows, and historical bus tours.

FOR HISTORY BUFFS

Of special interest is the historical home tour of Bay View followed by an informal tea and Victorian fashion show at the Terrace Inn in Bay View. The home tour costs $8.50.

Double deck bus service to the home tour leaves the Chamber of Commerce building on Mitchell Street at 12:15 p.m. Thursday, Friday, and Saturday afternoons.

The Bay View Archives and a John Korab historical photo exhibition will be on display at Hitchcock Hall in Bay View from 12 p.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

A glass lantern slide show called "The Making of Petoskey" will be shown at the Little Traverse Historical Museum at 7 p.m. on Thursday and Friday nights.

A stained glass display of Howard Street in the 1900's will be exhibited at First National Bank Thursday through Saturday from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

On Saturday, muzzle loaders will hold a demonstration and competition from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

FOR ANTIQUE LOVERS

Antique lovers will enjoy the antique auto display Thursday through Saturday on Lake Street between Howard Street and the railroad tracks. Cars will be displayed from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

An antique quilt show and sale is scheduled at Bay View's Terrace Inn each day of the festival from 12 noon to 5 p.m.

There will be an antique show and sale at the Petoskey Middle School on Saturday and Sunday from 12 noon to 8 p.m.

FOR SPORTS ENTHUSIASTS

For those who love to watch good competition, there are several good matches during the festival.

The most famous competitive event will be a tug of war between the Harbour Inn and Stafford's Bay View Inn on Saturday morning at 9:30 a.m. Two teams will be tugging a rope across 2½ miles of Little Traverse Bay. Last year's winning team was from the Harbour Inn.

The Bear River Scramble is another event for sports enthusiasts. Four-man teams compete in this most unusual race. One runner, one bicyclist, and two canoeists compete on each team.

A "competitive race" will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday and a "fun race" will be held at 1 p.m. at North Central Michigan College.

Joggers can enter the Little Traverse Pepsi Challenge. There will be runs of Indian powwow

Twenty-two month old P.J. Naganashe from Petoskey is dressed in his bone beads and porcupine hair cap. He'll be dancing at the powwow at the Emmet County Fairgrounds June 20 and 21.

10 and 4.1 and 1.1 miles.

The races will be held at Northfield Stadium on Standish Street at 10 a.m. Sunday. For entry information for the Little Traverse Scramble or the Little Traverse Pepsi Challenge call 347-2261 between 9:30 a.m. and 6 p.m.

LOTS MORE, TOO

For those who just like to have a good time, there are plenty of other activities planned. A variety of entertainment is scheduled in three different places from noon until dusk throughout the town.

There will be dancing under the stars on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights.

For those who prefer watching the sun set on the lake, there are moonlight cruises on Little Traverse Bay beginning at 8 and 9:15 p.m., which leave from the city dock and cost $4.50.

On Sunday at 1:30 p.m. there will be a parade down Mitchell Street.

On Friday, Saturday and Sunday hot air balloon rides will be available in Pennsylvania Park from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

There will be an authentic Indian powwow at the Emmet County Fairgrounds from 2:30 to 10 p.m. on Saturday and from 2:30 to 7:30 p.m. on Sunday.

A wide variety of children's activities is also scheduled each day on the waterfront. On Saturday and Sunday there will be an arts and craft show also on the waterfront.

Informal antique fashion shows [above] will be held daily during the festival from noon to 5 p.m. at Bay View's Terrace Inn.

Dakota Shanaquet, age 6, [above right] wears her costume for the powwow. Her head band was beaded by hand.

Train rides met with musket salute

Alanson has joined the Historic Festival spirit by hosting many of its own activities throughout the four-day festival.

Muskets will greet each train which comes from Petoskey to Alanson during the festival. Ragtime music and fiddling will be heard on Main Street from 11:30 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. Thursday through Saturday.

There will be float boat rides on Crooked River and hay rides available. Lumberjacks will enjoy a woodcutting demonstration and competition from 11:45 to 2:30 p.m. Thursday through Saturday.

On Friday from 7 to 9 p.m. there will be a square dance demonstration on River Street and on Saturday there will be a country-western street dance on River Street from 8 p.m. to 11 p.m.

Complete list of events at Chamber.

A complete schedule of events for the Little Traverse Historic Festival can be obtained at the Petoskey Chamber of Commerce Building. The Little Traverse Historic Festival information phone number is 347-0200.

Continuous entertainment scheduled each day of Petoskey's Historic Festival

There is a wide variety of entertainment daily located in three different spots in Petoskey. The music will be playing in the Elks parking lot from 12 noon to 6 p.m., in the Bear River Park Gazebo from 12 noon to 5 p.m. and in Pennsylvania Park from 12 noon to 4 p.m. Thursday through Saturday.

Street musicians and organ grinders are included in the festivities.

Each evening there is a dance under the stars in the Elks parking lot from 8 p.m. to midnight.

Thursday

Thursday night is polka night with the Red Hearts and the Kuchnick Brothers.

Friday

Friday night is old-time square dance night with music by the Bosom Buddies. There will be a square dance demonstration by the Eaton County Drain Cloggers.

Saturday

Saturday night is big band night with the River City Jazz Band.

Don Walker will be the official greeter during the festival.

This organ grinder is just one of the many street corner entertainers featured daily during the Historic festival.

Indian powwow teaches families old traditions

Indian drummers, singers and dancers from throughout Michigan, Canada and surrounding states will be coming to Petoskey during the Little Traverse Historic Festival to take part in the fifth annual Petoskey Powwow.

The powwow will be held at the Emmet County Fairgrounds on Saturday and Sunday, June 20 and 21.

The powwow will feature the Great Lakes singers, Ottawa and Chippewa drummers from Muskegon, George and Sid Martin from Hopkins, Mich., will be the head dancers and John Bailey from Lansing will be the master of ceremonies.

The powwow is sponsored by the Tri-County Indian Center and the Michigan Council for the Arts.

"The public is invited and encouraged to come," said Debra Wiatrolik from the Tri-county Indian Center. "We would like people to meet our elders and to better understand our traditions and cultures."

A powwow is a social gathering which brings Indian families together. It is a ceremony which honors the people who attend.

The costumes are different for different tribes. "For example, the Sioux costume is feathery, and the Ottawa and Chippewa costumes are more natural looking," Mrs. Wiatrolik said.

Arlene Naganashe, who has been dancing for the past 10 years said that powwows feature traditional and fancy dancing.

"Traditional dancing is the traditional dance style each tribe has used," Mrs. Naganashe said. "During a traditional dance, you will notice women dancing all different ways. Each is doing the traditional steps of her tribe."

Fancy dancing is more competitive and more athletic. Fancy dancers use the most intricate steps of all the tribes and combine them. Mrs. Naganashe said.

Mrs. Naganashe started dancing when her children showed an interest in learning about the traditions of the past. Her handmade traditional dress is made of deerskin, bone beads, feathers, shells, and mink. Even her grandson, D.J. Naganashe who is almost two is learning to dance. His outfit has a head piece decorated with fur and porcupine hair.

During a powwow there are also social dances, said Mrs. Wiatrolik. Indian children have learned these dances from their parents and elders.

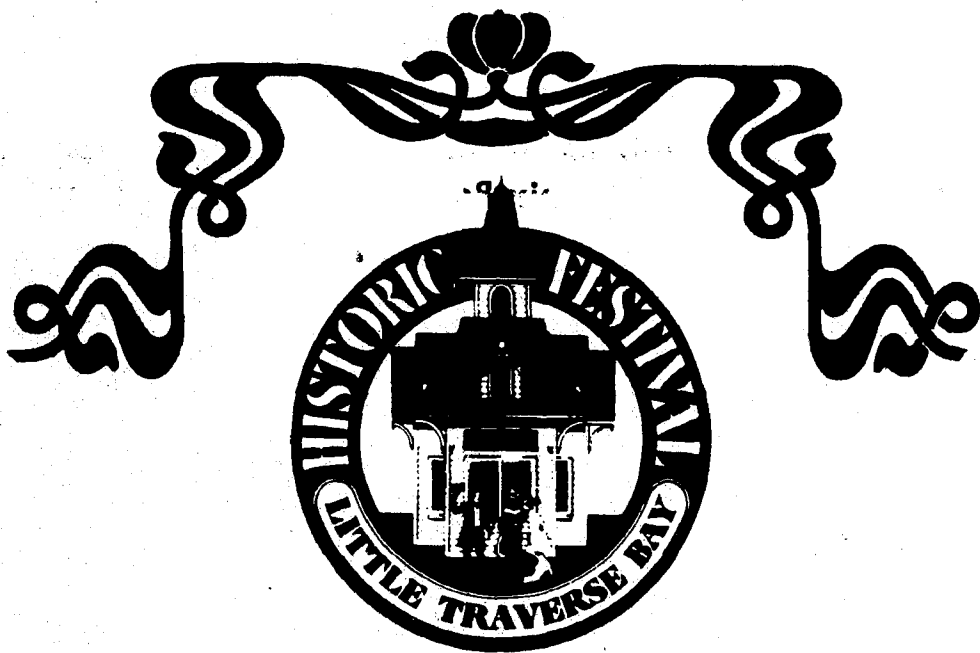

At the powwow there will be booths which will display and sell handicraft including beading, quill work, leatherwork, turquoise jewelry, basketry and Indian clothing.

There will be a concession stand which will feature Indian foods like corn soup, fry bread, rice, and fish. The powwow will last from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m. on Saturday and from 2:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. on Sunday. Admission fee is $2 for adults and $1 for children and senior citizens.

For further information about the powwow call 347-5392.

Arlene Naganashe demonstrates traditional Ottawa dancing while her daughter Lisa Naganashe and her grandson P.J. Naganashe watch.

Lots of activities planned for kids

One of the suggestions people gave the Little Traverse Historic Festival committee after last year's festival was to schedule more activities for children, committee secretary, Judy Honor, said.

This year we've put a concerted effort into having lots of activities for children to do, so the parents can be out for a half hour at a time to enjoy the activities without the youngsters, Mrs. Honor said.

The committee has indeed scheduled a large variety of family and children's activities. They have even set up a pre-school babysitting service. Parents interested in the service should call 347-5780 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Beginning Thursday, June 18 through Saturday, June 21 there is a Dune's Area Nature Hike at Petoskey State Park for the kids. The hike lasts from 9:30 a.m. to 12 noon. A bus will pick up the people interested in the hike at the Park Garden Cafe. Cost is $2.

The Humane Society is sponsoring a children's petting zoo in Pennsylvania Park from 12 noon to 4 p.m. Thursday through Saturday. There is no charge for the petting zoo.

Thursday through Saturday from 12 noon until 4 p.m. there will be supervised children's activities, games, crafts, and races. There is no formal charge for these activities, but donations would be welcome. New games will also be demonstrated on the waterfront from 12 noon to 3 p.m. each of these days.

The Diana Mason Dancers will perform the "Sleeping Beauty Ballet" on Thursday night, June 18 at 7 p.m. in the Petoskey High School Auditorium. Admission price is $2.50 per person.

Friday, June 19 there will be a children's music show from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. and historical folk dance for children from 3 p.m. to 4 p.m. Both activities are on the waterfront.

Saturday, June 20, on the waterfront there will be a clown make-up workshop from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.

Sunday, the whole family can enjoy an old-fashioned ice cream social from 12 noon to 2:30 p.m. in Pennsylvania Park.

Visit Petoskey's historical museum

Want to see a picture of Chief Petoskey and find out how Petoskey was named? Do you wonder what Petoskey looked like at the turn of the century? Stop by the Little Traverse Regional Historical Museum which is located in the old railroad depot on the waterfront.

Museum director Pat Heuvelhorst is happy to show people the work she and other members of the Little Traverse Regional Historical Society have done to preserve Petoskey's past.

In 1952 for Petoskey's Centennial, the Petoskey Historical Commission was formed. The commission donated various historical documents which at that time were stored just in people's attics or basements. In 1965 the group began to look for a building for a museum.

In 1970 the group now called itself the Little Traverse Regional Historical Commission and it leased the old railroad depot from the city.

The depot, which has now been restored, was built in 1892 by the Chicago-West Michigan Railroad, which sold it to the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad. Then it was abandoned in 1950. The city bought the building and decided to lease it to the historical society for a museum.

The museum was able to move into the building in 1974.

In 1976 as a Bicentennial project, the old town hall clock was installed in the depot. The clock was installed in the old town hall in 1902. In 1965 the town hall was torn down to make room for the current city hall building. The clock was kept in storage until 1976.

With donations from people in town, the museum has been able to fill its display cases with a wide variety of interesting information about Petoskey.

More and more people are coming to appreciate the museum, also. In 1980 more than 7,000 people from 44 states and 15 countries toured the museum. This was a 75 percent increase in museum traffic over 1979.

Heuvelhorst attributes part of the rise in museum traffic to the fact that people are becoming more interested in history. Also, inflation is hurting people and the museum is a good way they can spend a free educational afternoon with their families.

Downstairs the museum has several historical displays, but upstairs it is mainly a research facility. "We're willing to assist people with their historical research," Heuvelhorst said.

The Little Traverse Regional Historical Society recently received a grant from the Michigan Council for the Humanities to put together a slide presentation of historical photographs.

During the month of June they will be collecting historical photographs to reproduce for the presentation.

The society is also working on a book which will hopefully be finished in time for next year's Historic Festival. The book is a history of Petoskey including 21 different topics.

The Historical Museum is open from 9 a. m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and from noon to 4 p.m. on Sundays.

Museum director Pat Heuvelhorst will aid people with historical research.

This railroad depot built in 1892 houses Petoskey's museum. The old town hall clock was added in 1976.

Petoskey was named after Neayas Petoskey which means "The Rising Sun." He owned much of the land which is now Petoskey and was called Chief Petoskey by the settlers.
