Two 100 ft. tall cranes make quite a splash as they dredge out the Harborage condominiumized marina in Boyne City which is one of the first of its kind in Michigan. The marina which is being constructed in conjunction with the Harborage condominium housing units on Lake Charlevoix will eventually have 200 boat slips of 30, 44 and 60 ft. lengths. Decks will be installed sometime next week for the 16 slips of the first phase. (Photo by Trish Wright.)

They listen and care for the terminally ill

BY TRISH WRIGHT

Cancer—a word that strikes fear into all of us.

There is no other disease that affects our spirits and emotions in such an overwhelming manner.

Being bedridden with cancer and becoming totally dependent on others is a situation that no one wants to think about.

A Boyne City-based health support group called "Coping With Cancer" has recognized the fear and needs of people with cancer and is meeting regularly to share, listen and explore their health and emotional needs.

Rev. Kathleen Smith, Catherine Jessup and Geri Howard, leaders of the group, founded the organization that has been meeting since March. They've all experienced the disease or known well people who have it.

Catherine Jessup: "People are interested in a hospice for this area."

"It's an holistic approach toward health. Holistic means a concern with the spirit, mind and body," said Smith, discussion leader of Coping With Cancer? and a teacher of meditative relaxation techniques and levels of awareness.

Smith along with Jessup, a Boyne City commissioner, and Geri Howard, a registered nurse, lead the two hour meetings that offer a support system for people who share experiences and thereby move toward conquering their fears of cancer.

In a recent newsletter regarding the support group, Smith wrote: "There is a tendency to look at someone who has cancer as a victim, hopeless, helpless, and alone. This is an attitude not a condition, for while the body may be having its problems, the mind and spirit need not...there is within human beings the unique ability to adapt and grow through adversity. Coping? offers a helping hand."

At the July 22 Coping With Cancer? meeting approximately 50 people turned out to the special program devoted to "hospice," a concept of care for the terminally ill patient that helps to control and relieve emotional and physical sufferings.

Although there are many types of hospices including those that house the patients in a separate facility or in designated units of a hospital, Coping With Cancer? believes a program in individual homes would be the most likely for this area.

The hospice method of intensive concern and care is devoted to the terminally ill who have six months or less to live, but also choose to stay at home or in the hospice rather than to be hospitalized.

The concept is not new. It dates back to medieval times when sick and wounded travelers were cared for in hospice shelters. In 1967 a hospice facility was founded in London to provide support and comfort for the terminally ill and their family members.

A National Hospice Organization has since been founded in the United States and has worked toward promoting hospice guidelines and goals to meet individual community needs.

Coping With Cancer? sponsored the recent hospice forum with the Diocese of Gaylord Office of Aging to ascertain community interest and to explore possible services that would provide for the physical, psychological, social and spiritual care of dying persons and their families.

"Marion Luxon, director of the Michigan Hospice Organization spoke to us about hospice formation and its funding," said Jessup. "Over half of the people who attended the meeting indicated that they were interested in a hospice for this area."

Rev. Kathleen Smith: "While the body may be having its problems, the mind and spirit need not."

The hospice provides a team that includes family members, nurses, physicians, ministers and volunteers. A hospice team will consult with the patient's own physician, run errands, provide companionship, organize transportation, and even console the family after death.

Agnes Collier, home care co-ordinator for Hospice of Southeast Michigan who attended the Boyne City meeting, addressed the issue of how a community-based, volunteer home care program works," said Jessup.

"If one were to be established, we would work to gain the community's support and do as much as possible with volunteer work. Churches may pledge a number of volunteers to work with members of their own congregations who are terminally ill."

"The volunteer work has to be done

Condo election Monday in Eveline

BY TRISH WRIGHT

A referendum challenging the rezoning of a $10-million condominium project in Eveline Township will be held Monday, Aug. 8.

But the developer of the Hemingway Pointe project says he will take his case to court even if he loses the election—and he thinks he has an excellent chance of winning approval.

The vote was scheduled this spring when 123 township residents signed petitions opposing the project.

Hemingway Pointe Associates, a developing company headed by Art Seaborne of Petoskey, was granted approval by the township board for rezoning 4,000 feet of Lake Charlevoix frontage from R-1 to R-3 on April 14. The developing company requested it for the construction of 72 attached condominium units.

Seaborne says his court case against the township would be a "friendly suit," since the township board and planning commission have already gone on record supporting his project.

Then, it seems, it might be left up to the opponents of the project to decide whether they want to finance a court fight with Seaborne.

Even if they do, Seaborne says, his opponents don't have much of a case since the township does not presently have any land zoned for multiple dwellings.

One property owner who requested that his name not be used said, "We basically don't like to see large developments that move into an area and destroy the traditional, rural character of a township. And we've seen over-development like that in Houghton Lake and the Traverse City area. It moves up from downtown. We don't want that to happen here."

Seaborne said, "The total concept has changed. We had planned to build

If developer loses, he's confident he'll win in court only 72 units in the multiple housing complex, but we've changed that and will probably have even less than 72 units by going with single family residences."

"We've already been issued permits by the county and the DNR for construction and the township board had already approved the rezoning. We've spent over $100,000 on the private road and will spend in excess of $250,000 for the sewer and water system. I think the township planning board will be supporting us in the rezoning election."

"It's too bad the township has to bear the costs of the election when it isn't even valid," said Seaborne.

According to Doug Hilderbrant, Eveline Township zoning administrator, the multiple housing zoning is more desirable than single housing since it is possible that the property be divided up and become more densely populated than is planned for by Hemingway Pointe Associates.

"Our position is that the property was planned for development and this proposal for Hemingway Pointe would be less dense and conservative than if it were R-1 and divided up," said Hilderbrant.

Seaborne's project originally called for 72 units to be constructed on 170 acres of land near the Ironton Ferry on Lake Charlevoix. According to township zoning ordinances the land could possibly be subdivided for 170 units. But with the construction of detached units the density may be decreased to somewhat less than 72 dwellings.

Of the 170 acres owned by Hemingway Pointe Associates, 100 acres has been deeded to the township for a nature conservancy. Until 1920, George Hemingway, an uncle of Ernest Hemingway, had a tree farm on the property. By establishing the green belt, much of the tree farm would be preserved.

"Seaborne donated the property to the township even after he knew about the referendum to change the zoning," said Hilderbrant. "And he gave approximately two acres of land to four or five property owners whose well was located on his property."

Dr. Arnold Bauer of the township planning commission believes that the land will eventually be developed and that the petitioners refuse to realize that the Hemingway Pointe complex may provide less congestion.

"We would like to see the election defeated and the zoning kept at R-3," said Bauer.

One petitioner explained that the action of the township board on April 14 to change the zoning from R-1 to R-3 still stands unless reversed by the public referendum and therefore the election is justified.

"If the decision of the township board is sustained then Seaborne can again change his plans and construct the attached townhouses. He has already changed his plans once."

"We think a no vote on R-3 zoning will carry the message to township officials and other developers in the area that we prefer single family development. Our township zoning ordinances specify a lot width of 100 feet. The Hemingway Pointe Club has 4,000 feet and with 72 units that's not enough land. Density is the problem."

Eagles 'have a heart' for transplant patient

Few people in Boyne City realize that on July 9 the 33 year-old niece of Robert Jahns was undergoing a heart transplant by a 10-member surgical team at the Mayo Clinic.

To help out with the enormous costs of such an operation, a fund raiser for Sharon Jahns will be sponsored by the Boyne City Eagles Aerie 1583 on Saturday, Aug. 8.

Robert Jahns, a member of the Eagles, has received total support from the aerie for the dinner dance that has turned into a club project. It will begin at 6 p.m. at the Eagles Hall on River Street.

"The proceeds will go towards Sharon's post-operative medical bills," said Jahns who has been distributing "Have A Heart For Sharon" fund canisters in the community.

Fund raising activities began by friends of Sharon in the Livonia area as early as last May. Approximately $17,000 was raised, but the cost of care will exceed that amount since Sharon must remain near the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn. for three months as an outpatient.

Sharon is married to Bill Jahns, the nephew of Robert. The couple have a 10-year-old daughter and 12-year-old son who are staying with relatives in California.

Jahns and his wife, Rose, have been overwhelmed with the support from friends and city officials in the Livonia area and are grateful for the enthusiasm exhibited by the Boyne City Eagles for the benefit.

"We even received a letter and a check from a woman in Charlevoix who was visiting her father at St. Mary's Hospital where Sharon had her operation. She met our nephew Bill there and sent us an encouraging letter and a check when she arrived home," said Rose.

"We deposited the check in the 'Have A Heart' account that has been set up for Sharon at Northwestern State Bank."

Self-addressed envelopes from the bank will be distributed in Boyne City, East Jordan, Charlevoix and Petoskey for residents who wish to mail their contributions to the "Have A Heart" fund.

Contributions for the Eagles benefit will come in the form of donated music from The Mountaineers and The Midnight Express, country and western bands who will play at the dinner dance.

Boyne Valley Printing donated the 500 tickets printed for the $3 chicken barbeque dinner. The Eagles purchased a one day liquor license and will staff the kitchen and bar.

"We're hoping for a good turnout," said Jahns. "Sharon deserves it."

Sharon, who is still under doctor's supervision at St. Mary's Hospital near the famed Mayo Clinic will soon be released to a near-by apartment where she will be closely watched by medical specialists for 60 days.

The 3 1/2 hour successful heart transplant was performed on Sharon who had suffered from cardiomyopathy, a rare disease of the heart muscles.

Anyone interested in donating to Sharon's account may make checks payable to Have A Heart Fund, Northwestern State Bank, P.O. Box 10, Boyne City, 49712.

Another disastrous year for corn farmers

BY JIM BAUMANN

A rainfall of .65 of an inch Tuesday morning was a welcome sight for county corn farmers, but for some it may have been too little, too late.

Only .74 inches of rain fell in the entire month of July, and even before this week's rain some farmers had contacted local Agriculture Department officials about possible disaster aid.

Helen Dietze, executive director of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said the local corn crop would be the most affected by the dry weather.

Bad weather has plagued county farmers for four of the past five years. Three years saw drought conditions and an early frost caused heavy damage another year.

Dietze says most farmers just can't take that many bad years all at once. She knows of two farmers who declared bankruptcy last year and she talked to an East Jordan area man last week who was forced to put his land up for sale.

Last year, the county ASCS paid out $80,000 in federal disaster funds for corn losses.

But those funds only pay a small percentage of a farmer's actual losses.

She fears more farmers may be forced out of business in the future if projected federal funding cuts are carried out.

In the past, loans have been available through the Small Business Administration and Farmer's Home Administration. But SBA loans for farmers were phased out two years ago, and FHA farm disaster loans may be cut or eliminated this year, Dietze said.

Bankers, too, were praying for rain after July's hot, dry weather. According to John Cutler of Northwestern State Bank, financial institutions regularly make loans to farmers in the $20,000 to $50,000 range just to finance spring planting costs.

"If the harvest is a bad one, that's quite a burden a farmer has to bear—especially with interest rates where they are right now," he said.

However, Cutler noted, he hasn't seen any alarming trend of financial failures because most farmers have considerable equity in their land and equipment to back up the loans.

Helen Dietze notes that any farmer who has a poor corn crop should contact her office at Boyne City Hall before destroying the corn or chopping it into slugs.

Her office can assess the damage according to average yields expected for a particular farm and apply for disaster assistance if it becomes available this fall.

BCHS student earns college credit

Performing with the Young Americans

BY BARBARA CRUDEN

When the show goes on, one of the performers on stage with the Young Americans this summer is Boyne City High School student Shayne Mariage.

Shayne auditioned and was accepted for a group number with five others in the Young Americans' production of "Showboat," now being performed in Petoskey through Aug. 9.

It is his first time to sing and dance—and wear a tuxedo—in a real musical.

He tried out last year for a part in "The Sound of Music," but was rejected, he says, because he looked too old for the part.

Shayne's family supports his efforts to become a professional. His father is John Scott Mariage, who owns a plumbing business in Boyne City, and his mother originated and manages Sharon's Silver Starlettes, a baton-twirling drum corps that performs widely. Shayne has had lessons in dancing for several years, this past year being taught by Eugene Hoovey of Petoskey.

But he has never had any special vocal training. His proficiency is the result of singing in the Methodist Church choir and of years of copying singers on recordings. He's a great admirer of the Andrews Sisters for their sharp vocal presentation and skill at harmonizing.

Now, however, he is actually studying theater with the Young Americans.

"This is like summer stock," Shayne says. "It's also a training experience. Not free. Shayne and others like him, who are accepted, sign up for a fee to take eight college credits worth of study in theater crafts.

"I'm not a Young American, myself," Shayne explains. "You have to have graduated from high school for that, unless you live near their winter quarters in California.

Shayne's audition number, when he competed with 150 others to take part in the Young Americans program, was his standby favorite, "Chattanooga Choo-choo," a classic done by the Andrews Sisters.

Another boy from the area was also accepted. Erv Moyer from Boyne Falls is in the Young Americans production this summer of "Jesus Christ, Superstar."

Shayne works in this production also, doing a pre-show number and then joining the pit singers for the show.

Pit singers, he explains, gather around microphones backstage. Their vocalizing adds to the sound depth of the performance on stage.

Except for the chorus members, those on stage wear tiny mikes that work with batteries. One of the things the performers had to learn, Shayne says, was to remove them when they went onstage.

When they forgot, their snatches of back-stage conversation were broadcast along with what was being said onstage...sometimes with unexpected effects! Shayne became interested in The Young Americans when he saw them a couple of years ago at Boyne Highlands.

It was a combination of two things—his love of theater and "They are all so nice," he says. These two set him on a course. He was determined to become one of them.

And it has been hard work. There were rehearsals, all day and half the night, plus dance lessons, and now the theater classes, in addition to performances.

The production of "Jesus Christ, Superstar" will go to Traverse City next.

Some of the regular troupe are going on tour with Liberate for a month this fall, and some will be touring in France.

Shayne will come back to earth in the fall, and to high school studies, but like many others, he's been given a beginning in an unusual opportunity of professional training so close to home.

Determined to go on, Shayne says, "I want to be a Young American—forever."

with skill and assuredness. We would use the resources in the community to develop some of those skills," said Jessup.

Public Health Department or the Women's Resource Center in Petoskey.

"People need to share their feelings and be understood," Jessup said. "I took the empathic listening course from the Women's Resource Center and found it to be very helpful." Jessup has cancer and has been a guest speaker at the Petoskey Human Support Group's seminars on death and dying.

"If you commit yourself to someone who is dying you eventually think of yourself and come to grips with your own mortality."

Another hospice objective is the alleviation of pain. According to Nancy Bottomley, a registered nurse with the Public Health Department, the hospice team usually includes a medical person who can help control the patient's pain and discomfort.

"The Public Health Department is a certified home health agency but with its limited staff we're not always able to give the extra support some families need when there is a terminally ill patient at home. Hospice would augment the Health Department's home care program," she added.

Bottomley likens the philosophies of the Public Health Department and hospice as caring for people by listening to their needs and endeavoring to help the patient's family to cope with the illness as well as to help the person who is dying.

Vicki Patterson, a nurse co-ordinator at Northern Michigan Hospitals in Petoskey and member of the Human Support Group which may form a Petoskey based hospice, explained that the hospice team assigned to a terminally ill patient is deeply committed and even offers bereavement follow-up so that the family is better able to cope with the loss of a loved one.

"Bereavement follow-up is part of the hospice. Our core group has set up six-week death and dying seminars for the public. Now we have progressed to the point where we are selecting a board of directors and committees to set up the by-laws and funding programs of a hospice," said Patterson.

"There are no federal, state or local funds for hospice care now despite the fact that the hospice meets the needs of the terminally ill by working voluntarily to supply them with mental, physical and spiritual care," said Bottomley. A hospice must rely on involvement from community members and support from the area in which it serves to remain a vital caregiving service.

Funding the hospice may be its most difficult task. "There is some talk of Medicare eventually helping and Blue Cross may include hospice care in its insurance benefits. However, everything is at the planning stage now," said Kathleen Smith of Coping?.

"We would probably begin with the medical insurance people already own. That may help share the burden of care. A hospice would utilize services already in the community like Meals On Wheels, and although volunteers are not paid for their services there will have to be minimal funding for a part time co-ordinator and planning board," said Jessup.

"And we would hope to have community support because our support has been extended to them," she added.

Resale shop

BOYNE FALLS - "I think there is a need for a resale shop," said Jerry Kelts, who recently opened The Great American Garage Sale.

"The Great American Garage Sale is a resale store that offers assorted furniture, pictures, frames, dishes, old records, books, knick-knacks and some antiques. "We have something for almost everyone here," added Kelts.

The shop is located on the corner of Main and Center Streets in Boyne Falls and is open Monday through Thursday and Saturdays.

Kelts was inspired to open the store after living in San Francisco and being acquainted with a successful resale operation there. The Great American Garage Sale in Boyne Falls opened for business on July 23 and will be open year around. "We'll have special fun promotions throughout the year. During the Polish Festival there will be a sale of the store," Kelts invites the public to visit the shop and browse. Items may be taken to the store on a consignment basis.

New heating and cooling specialists

Hud and Pat Robinson of Boyne City have opened a new business specializing in air conditioning, heating and refrigeration. The full service shop, RBI Mechanical, offers free estimates for commercial, residential and industrial customers.

"My husband, Hud, is a sheet metal specialist," says Pat Robinson. "And I am the receptionist and bookkeeper. We actually opened in April but have just raised our sign and we're planning a grand opening celebration sometime this fall."

RBI Mechanical is located on M-75 between Boyne Falls and Boyne City and is open from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. The service department, under the management of Randy West, is open 24 hours daily by calling 582-2970.

Hospital plans stress seminar

CHARLEVOIX - Stress, a subject about which everyone can speak from personal experience, will be the topic at Charlevoix Area Hospital's community education program on Wednesday, Aug. 12.

The seminar will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the hospital's classroom on the lower level of the new wing.

Bill Everett, counselor with the Northern Mental Health Center and the East Jordan Counseling Center, will lead the program. He will define stress, discuss how to measure one's personal degree of stress, and offer techniques for managing stress, anxiety and frustration.

The program is free to the public. Stress was selected as the topic at the request of people who attended earlier programs in the hospital's series of education programs.

A nice project is proposed in the wrong place in EJ

In the interest of good city planning and trying to save a struggling downtown, we think it would be a mistake for the East Jordan City Council to approve a request to rezone a parcel of land on Mill Street (M-32) for a new commercial development.

The council will be holding a public hearing on the request by Bob Walker at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 18, at City Hall. The city planning commission has already recommended approval and the city council could make a decision on the project the night of the public hearing.

Editorial

Walker's project itself sounds great. It would be an asset the city could use. He wants to build a 36 by 145 ft. structure that would house four or five stores or offices. Parking for 26 cars would be included.

Unfortunately, he wants to build it along Highway M-32 on land that is already zoned residential. That in itself violates good principles of city planning and layout. It will extend a "strip business" development further down the highway, and it will add to traffic congestion on an already busy road. Neighboring homeowners would also be adversely affected by the ever-growing west side business strip.

The council ought to have some compelling reason for approving such a rezoning. After all, what good is a zoning ordinance if it is waived every time a request for new development is made?

In this case, there is no compelling reason to rezone the property, other than to accommodate a well-meaning local resident who has already purchased property and made plans for it.

A good reason might have been that the project absolutely needed to be at that location. Or that there was no other commercially-zoned land available for such a project. But that is not the case here.

In fact, the opposite is true. Just four years ago, the city council rezoned a large parcel of land for a new shopping center surrounding the new Glen's Market, on M-66 just around the corner from Walker's property. But the shopping center has yet to materialize. If there is to be new growth on the city's west side, this would be the most appropriate place for it.

Actually, though, we'd like to see a project like Walker's in the downtown area, which has some vacant storefronts and empty lots. Ironically, the city master plan includes a proposal for a "mini-mall" much like Walker's project to be built in the downtown to replace the older, rundown buildings.

The city has also passed a commercial redevelopment ordinance to encourage new business development and the renovation of older buildings in existing commercial areas—mainly downtown.

Hefty (50 percent!) property tax breaks are offered as incentive. Thus if Walker were to put his building in an approved area downtown, he would realize tremendous tax savings. If his building were worth $100,000, for example, he could save more than $1,400 per year for 12 years on his taxes—a total of about $17,000.

That savings would certainly ease the pain and expense for Walker if his project were turned down by the city council and he were forced to buy land elsewhere.

Unfortunately, Walker didn't know about this tax break until it was too late. Even more disappointing is that the planning commission didn't tell him about it when he brought them his rezoning request.

Despite the renovation of the Civic Center and a number of stores, East Jordan's downtown business district still needs help badly. On paper the city master plan and commercial redevelopment ordinance both recognize this and promote the need for a stronger downtown.

But these documents are worthless if they are not backed up by the city council in real life situations.

Boyer City Community Services director, Thelma Behling, recently accepted a $1,000 check from the local Jaycee organization for the Christmas baskets which are packed and distributed to the needy and shut-ins by Community Services each December. The Jaycees have donated $3,500 to Community Services over the past four years from their weekly bingo games which are open to the public. Presenting the largest single check ever donated to Community Services from the organization were Grant Gilbert, at left, JayCee president, and Dean Kleinschrodt, at right, chairman of the bingo games.

Christmas spirit lives in August

Just about the last things that would enter most people's minds during the hot summer months are Christmas trees, shopping lists and Yule parties.

However, Christmas—or at least the spirit of that season—lives on throughout the year and occasionally someone or something reminds us of the generosity we muster up for the holiday season only to be lost by the time the old year passes by.

Well, here it is only five months until Christmas and I realize that I haven't been nearly as generous with my time and energy as others have been with theirs.

The Boyne City Jaycees have admitted that they had fun at the bingo games they sponsor weekly, but, I doubt their merriment exceeded that of Thelma Behling's, community services director, who recently received a $1,000 check from the JayCee bingo proceeds for her Christmas food baskets.

And not even the senior citizens who played bingo could derive as much pleasure from the games as do the needy and shut-in recipients of the food and toy boxes delivered to them each December.

Thelma says that she is delighted with the efforts of "her boys" and will soon begin her basket packing program that involves many volunteers in the community.

Volunteer programs are not uncommon here. But perhaps the newest and one of the least visible programs is Coping With Cancer, a human support group which lends an ear and a hand to people with cancer.

Rev. Kathleen Smith, Catherine Jessup and Geri Howard have offered their time and talents to people who have been stricken with cancer and their family members.

So successful has been the venture that the group is endeavoring to form a hospice or 24 hour care program for the terminally ill in the area. The nucleus of the hospice program is comprised of volunteer caregivers whose concerns are for those who cannot do for themselves.

Coping With Cancer directors believe that with a small dosage of funding they may be able to establish a hospice that would deliver maximum doses of care to those whose time is so precious.

Another organization has captured the Christmas spirit and will even celebrate it at a benefit for a most worthy cause.

This Saturday the Eagles Aerie 1583 will host a fundraiser for Sharon Jahns who underwent a heart transplant in July. The price of that operation is too costly for her family to afford alone.

Bob Jahns, a member of the Eagles, has organized the benefit with other aerie members for his niece Sharon. The barbeque dinner and dance should benefit not only Sharon Jahns but everyone who attends the pre-season Christmas party.

A girl, a book and a shirt

She was a slender, pale blonde girl. Her rather poetic looks were contradicted by the fact she was in the lowest track in senior English in a country high school.

In one of those after-school chats with the teacher, putting off going home, she said, "I can't understand what use it is to read a book about some kid going down the river on a raft, and it never even really happened."

Not noticing the aghast expression on the teacher's face, she continued, "If I spent the hour making a shirt, I'd have something." She emphasized the "have."

Another girl, one who was in the top track in English, happened to be lounging on a desk nearby. Before the teacher could come up with a strong response, the second girl took up the cause.

"Then you just live in one world," she said, "when you could live in many."

There was a pause. The two girls had known each other since first grade.

The second girl laughed and said, "Well, then, why don't you go on home and sew a shirt."

Clearly the gap between reader and non-reader was getting wider. The teacher stepped in and tried to explain.

The tale is true, and I was the teacher.

I remember a few days later, I rather fearfully prepared for the low-track class by copying a poem on the blackboard.

Fearfully, because the class was mainly composed of the roughest kids in school.

Barbara Cruden

After they came in for class and sat down, I went to the back of the room and, standing behind them, read the poem out loud.

I don't remember what poem it was. I just remember the absolute hush in that room that followed the reading.

We do need other worlds. The easiest, most various, nearly limitless, and yet most detailed and exact, and most moving worlds are found through reading books.

But back to the girl and the shirt. People who are active and often also, wise, kind and good, but who say they just never could settle down to read, do lack at readers as being somehow lazy and off the hook.

Contrastingly, readers know what non-readers are missing.

As a teacher, I would say we were meant to be not either a reader or a doer, but a good blend of both. Even though it may take some effort at first.

I know my world—and I say this without exaggeration—is 10,000 times bigger because of books.

And half of them came from public libraries.

Which brings me round to the point that most of our local libraries here in Charlevoix County are operating on shoestring budgets.

East Jordan's public library raised $340 at its annual tag day last week, but still needs another $160 by Dec. 1 to complete a drive to raise money for a new set of encyclopedias.

The library's most current set of encyclopedias is now five years old, and in these fast-paced times an updated set is certainly in order.

You can help out by making a donation to the library or by buying used books that are on sale at the Senior Center (the library is too small to hold them.) You could also donate old books which could be used or sold by the library.

Women need not begin sharpening their pencils for next spring's election just because they are now assured the amendment permitting women's suffrage has carried in Michigan...as a matter of fact it will probably be a year from next spring before they will have an opportunity to exercise their right of suffrage.

The amendment voted for last Tuesday, and which has probably carried, does not carry with it the right to vote...Now it is up to the legislature to amend the election laws so that the ballot may be given to women.

Out-flocked by the Falls again!

I wish Boyne Falls would quit that. They are forever beating us to the punch, leaving us in the lurch.

Their annual Polish Festival out-flocks Boyne City's 4th of July celebration. Most any winter weekend there are more people flocking around Boyne Falls and Boyne Mountain than in all of Boyne City's beer gardens stacked side by side.

And now, once again, we have felt how the lurch hurts.

It comes with the news that Boyne Falls secretly held a Mushroom Festival that drew 100,000 people last May—the same weekend the National Mushroom Festival was being held in Boyne City.

How did they bamboozle 100,000 people into flocking there without anyone in Boyne City knowing about the bam, let alone the boozie? Heavens, we're only two hay fields and a cemetery from "the Falls."

I know they horned in on our hoopla because it said so in the Detroit Free Press; and the Free Press does not lie on Sundays.

The story was written by Peter Gavrilovich in "Michigan Report." They used his picture like the County

Press uses mine, except he had a serious look that gave a flavor of truth to the story. In my picture I'm sort of grinning, which means that much of the truth I write is false.

Marshall Sayles

Let's hear from Peter: "In May.... 100,000 flocked to tiny Boyne Falls in northwestern lower Michigan for, yes, the Mushroom Festival."

That's one hell of a lot of flocking.

The startling information leaves Boyne City in a quandry at a time when we are in no position to wrestle with another quandry. We've got three or four hanging out to dry right now and that's enough.

If Boyne Falls can fool 100,000 people into flocking to a Mushroom Festival after we've held one every May for nearly a quarter century, attracting maybe three to four thousand, it's time we wadded up the bag and sewered it into the Boyne River.

The Falls of Boyne can out-polka us and out-ski us. But out-mushroom us? Never.

And how about out-flocking us? If 100,000 people were to descend upon Boyne Falls they would tramp down all the mountains, put them out of business and raise the distribution of food stamps.

I hope that I'm not looked up on as the wicked witch of the north. For that fouled-up news story was not Boyne Falls' fault. It's just that the Free Press was held hostage and brainwashed by an over-enthusiastic phone call from the Michigan Travel Bureau. Our friends in Lansing have always tried to make things look bigger in the newspapers.

But why pick on Boyne Falls? (I picked on Boyne Falls once and when those Polacks got through with me I was in such shape the funny papers didn't make sense to me for a month.)

I can say this. The annual Polish Festival will be held this weekend. And as sure as God made crabapples our fun-loving polka friends are going to out-flock us, leave us in the lurch and make an "also ran" out of Boyne City festivals.

That's kind of ok, I think. But does the Free Press have to jump on the story, heavy up the bag and blab it all over the state?

Absolutely. And I can see it now, just as though it had happened tomorrow.

EJ reunion

Thirty-two class members attended the 20 year reunion of the Class of 1961 from East Jordan High School Saturday evening at the Tucker Inn.

Family reunions

Good times, good food

Every year in August we went to our family reunion. Cramers and McNiels from all over the southern part of Michigan met at North Lake or Lake Pleasant.

What good times we had and the food was out of this world. Mothers, aunts and grandmothers prepared their favorites. Mother took home made rolls, potato salad, fried chicken and apple pie.

Uncle Ed Mason always showed up with a huge watermelon and a knife large enough to cut it. Ice cream was always furnished; however, I was more interested in the swings, slides and the chance to go swimming.

I remember mother warning me to be careful and not to tear my clothes off. I suppose she was thinking of the time I fell in the watering trough for horses when we had the reunion at Uncle Jim Butlers.

Here is a delicious dish to fix for that family reunion that is coming up. My friend Joan Davis brought this to a family gathering a short time ago and everyone wanted the recipe.

I was happy to receive this the other

Cooking Yesterday & Today

with Bea Smith

Add the salad dressing, celery, eggs, and corned beef. Set in refrigerator until cold and firm.

This salad is good just like it is but there are several options: add onion, vinegar or horseradish for flavor. Radishes, olives or green pepper add both flavor and color.

day as it is perfect for supper on the porch or to pack in a picnic basket. Add corn on the cob, sliced tomatoes or a dish of baked beans along with some rolls and you have a real picnic supper. Corned beef salad is something you can fix in the cool of the morning for later, which I like to do these hot summer days.

Joan's Corned Beef Salad

- 1 1/2 cups boiling water
  - 1 - 3oz package lemon gelatin
  - 1 cup salad dressing
  - 2 cups chopped celery
  - 4 hard boiled eggs, chopped
  - 1 can corned beef, chopped
- Dissolve the gelatin in the boiling water, cool until it is syrupy then beat.

EJ football coach leaves for downstate A.D. job

EAST JORDAN - Frank Holes, community education director and high school football coach, has resigned to accept a position in a larger downstate school.

Holes submitted his resignation last Friday and will be leaving East Jordan this Friday for his new home and job at Birch Run, a Class B school south of Saginaw.

His football teams won 24 games and lost only two in the three years he coached here. He was named regional coach of the year in 1979 and 1980.

Holes said he applied for the position when he was pink-slipped along with a number of other school staff members last spring. "I didn't hear anything from them until about two weeks ago," he said.

He decided to accept the position because he could be a full-time athletic director and coach. It is also closer to his family in Bay City.

"It's really hard to leave East Jordan," he said. "I don't think I'll ever have three years like I had here."

Holes said he did not know who his coaching or community education successor would be. But he speculated that since there are no teaching openings in the school district, it would probably be someone now on the staff or someone who has been laid off recently.

Primitive weekend for sportsmen

EAST JORDAN - Primitive camping, musket shooting and tomahawk throwing contests are planned for this weekend in the annual Jordan River Sportsmen's Rendezvous.

Club president Dave Gaunt says the public is invited to watch the old-time events and tour their grounds, which will resemble a fur trader's camp. The public is invited from 9 a.m. to 12 noon on Saturday, and from 9 to 2 on Sunday.

Club members and their families will be camping in teepees and lean-tos. Games are also planned for the kids, and contests will be held for the women, with events like apple peeling and frying pan throwing.

Gaunt notes that the club is still looking for volunteers to serve as the target in the frying pan throwing contest.

The events will be held at the club's rifle range on Boyne Road south of the Tucker Inn.

Gym open for basketball

BOYNE CITY - The high school gymnasium will be open for men's basketball two nights a week through the month of August, Recreation Director Kari Streefman reports.

The gym will be open from 7 to 10 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays. A $1 donation will be taken at the door.

Park building, courts dedicated

The multi-purpose sports building at Rotary Park in Boyne City was formally dedicated during a co-ed softball tournament Saturday. The building was built and paid for by the Boyne Valley Lions Club, and Lion officers Roy Brunel and Ralph Gillett, at left, were on hand to hand over the keys to parks and recreation commission member Lynda Christensen and City Manager Tim Clifton. At right are Juanita Hadix and Lee Bennett, who are the widows of deceased Lion members Everett Hadix and Bill Bennett. The building was dedicated to the memory of Hadix and Bennett, who were instrumental in getting the building project off the ground. Also during the ceremonies Saturday, the Rotary Park tennis courts were dedicated to City Commissioner Catherine Jessup, who played a major role in planning and raising money for the courts as a member of the city's Bicentennial Commission in 1976.

Boyne all-stars

Polish Festival begins Friday

The Polish Eagle tops this year's Boyne Falls Polish Festival float. Riding on the float are this year's honored people: Little Miss Amy Marie Smith, Little Mister Eric Franckowiak, Grand Marshall Ethel Rewald, Honored Citizen Louise Magee and Grand Marshall Clarence Rewald.

Last year about 15,000 people turned out for the Polish Festival according to festival publicity chairperson Janet Rewald.

"The polka tent holds about 2,500 people," Rewald says.

The festival began in 1975 with the Boyne Falls Centennial and in 1976 with the nation's bicentennial. It was officially dubbed the Polish Festival in 1977.

"Most of the people around here are Polish, so that's what we decided to call it," Rewald said.

And the festival has quite an organization. It has a formal committee of 12 people who work on the festival all year long.

"But the week before the festival, virtually everyone in Boyne Falls and people from the township help us make the final preparations," Rewald said.

Profit from the festival goes back into the town in civic projects. Currently, the committee is working on fixing up the village.

Here is a schedule of the many events during the three days:

This is youth day. Children's activities begin at 9 a.m. and continue until 5 p.m. (See related story inside for details.)

At 10 a.m. the beer tent opens. Music begins at 1 p.m.

The booths, concessions and carnival begin at 11 a.m. There is also an old time threshing and steam engine show at 11 a.m. by Bernie Kondrat of Boyne Falls and A.D. Graham of East Jordan. This will take place behind the beer tent.

At noon on Friday is the consignment auction next to the school.

At 5 p.m. once again there will be an old time threshing and steam engine show.

At 8 p.m. there will be a teen dance in the school gym, for seventh through twelfth graders.

At 9 a.m. is the annual non-resident family and non-family road and river relay which begins in the park next to the pond on U.S. 131.

At 11 a.m. the booths, concessions and carnival open. There is also a chicken dinner at the fire hall by the St. Augustine's Women's Guild.

At noon the beer tent opens. Music begins at 1 p.m.

The Van Buren County Folk Dancers will also perform at 1 p.m. in the school gym.

At 1 and 5 p.m. there will be old time threshing and steam engine shows.

At 2:30 p.m. the resident family and non-family road and river relay will be held beginning in the park next to the pond on U.S. 131.

At 2:30 p.m. there will also be a woodcutting and logging exhibition and competition next to the school.

At 8 p.m. there is a teen dance in the school gym for seventh through twelfth graders.

Fun activities slated

This weekend, people can find lots of fun in Charlevoix County.

In Boyne Falls it's polka time at the Boyne Falls Polish Festival which will be going strong Friday through Sunday.

Boyne City hosts the Eighth Annual Boyne Country Regional Antique Auto Club of America Show. More than 60 antique cars are expected to be in Boyne City at Veteran's Memorial Park.

There will also be a flea market with nearly 100 different booths. The auto show and flea market will be open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

The circus is coming to Boyne City Sunday, Aug. 9 with shows at 2 and 4 p.m. in their tent next to Boyne City High School.

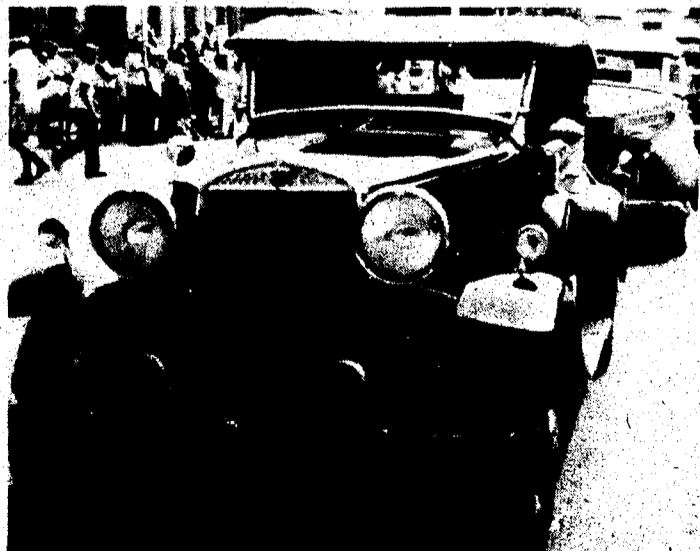

Charlevoix will host the 23rd annual Waterfront Art Show in East Park on Saturday. Over 150 artists will be displaying their artwork.

Charlevoix County offers a wide variety of activities this weekend. Enjoy yourself!

Clowns

Clowns will cheer up the Boyne Falls downtown during the Polish Festival parade at noon on Saturday. For more details see pages 2-4.

Festival honors local people

Five local residents are being honored this year during the Boyne Falls Polish Festival.

Traditionally, a couple which has been married a long time is chosen to be grand marshals of the parade.

This year's couple is Clarence and Ethel Rewald, who have been married for 45 years.

"We didn't know what we were getting into!" said Ethel Rewald. She was referring not to her long marriage but to the number of parades she and Mr. Rewald have already participated in on the Polish Festival float! Clarence and Ethel were born and raised in Mancelona and they have been residents of this area all of their lives.

In 1942, they settled down in Boyne City where Mr. Rewald worked for Consumers Power until he retired in 1971. He served on the Boyne Falls school board for 12 years.

Mrs. Rewald was a member of the Boyne Falls School Mother's Club during her children's school years.

The Rewalds have two children, Janet and Chuck, both of Boyne City. They have one grandchild, Nikole.

Louise Magee is the 1981 Polish Festival Honored Citizen. She has been a lifetime resident of Boyne Valley Township.

Magee was cook and manager of the Boyne Falls School cafeteria for many years until her retirement in June of 1976.

Many former Boyne Falls students remember the huge cinnamon rolls and delicious lunches she prepared.

Currently, Magee is the Boyne Valley Township clerk.

She was married to the late Roy Magee and they had two sons, Russell and Leslie. She has two grandchildren, Amy and Joshua.

This year's Little Miss and Little Mister are Amy Marie Smith, almost 5, and Eric Franckowiak, 7.

Amy is the daughter of Pat and Christine Smith. She will be attending kindergarten this year at Boyne Falls Public Schools.

Eric is the son of Mrs. Gerald Franckowiak. He is in second grade at Boyne Falls.

Kids' activities slated Friday

Friday is children's day at the Boyne Falls Polish Festival. Festival committee member Jeanette Giehn has planned a day packed full of activities for the kids. From 9 a.m. to 12 noon, there will be face and hand printing for pre-schoolers, and face painting for pre-school through sixth graders. Fifth and sixth grade races will be held from 9 to 9:40 a.m. From 9:45 to 10:30 will be the third and fourth grade races. First and second graders race from 10:30 to 11:15.

At 11:15 will be a candy scramble for pre-schoolers through sixth graders. The scramble will be divided up into different age categories so the pre-schoolers will not be competing with the sixth graders. After lunch at 1 p.m. kids should bring their toes to the big toe contest for pre-schoolers through second graders. At 1:30 it's bubble blowing time as pre-schoolers through sixth graders will be judged on their bubbles.

Watermelon eaters should be around at 2 p.m. for the watermelon eating contest for pre-school through sixth graders. At 2:30 the third graders will challenge the fourth graders to a tug of war and the fifth graders will challenge the sixth graders. The Bigger and Better Treasure Hunt begins at 3 p.m. Third through sixth graders will be divided into teams. Each team begins with paperclip. They will travel from house to house in Boyne Falls asking for something bigger and better. At 4 p.m. it is time to decorate bikes for Saturday's parade. Anyone who would like to decorate their bikes to ride in Saturday's parade should go to the Boyne Falls Fire Hall. All materials will be provided. All children's day events except the bike decorating will be held in the vacant lot near the high school on Maple and Center Streets.

Horse pull

Old-fashioned horse pulls will be held at 2 p.m. on Saturday during Boyne Falls Polish Festival.

The Polish Festival Committee recently built this pavilion in the Boyne Falls park near the pond.

Committee donates pavilion

The Boyne Falls Polish Festival Committee has already spent about $28,000 building a pavilion and new picnic tables into the park on U.S. 131 in Boyne Falls.

"We're planning to do more," says Gert Niedling, the Festival committee chairwoman.

Each year they hope to do more to fix up the park with the profits from the Polish Festival.

They plan to put in playground equipment for the kids and some permanent grills. They'd like to do some landscaping.

"If we have a good year this year and next year, maybe we can even put in some tennis courts," Niedling said.

All profits from the Polish Festival are put back into civic projects in Boyne Falls.

Polka in the tent

The Boyne Falls Polish Festival Tent will feature five different polka bands during the festival, beginning at 1 p.m. each day.

On Friday, the Michigan Polkateers and the Polka Towners will play.

Saturday, Judy and the Stuehey Brothers, the Harmony Jacks, and the Polka Towners will play.

Sunday, the Harmony Jacks, Judy and the Stuehey Brothers and Renata and Girls will perform.

Each night there will also be teen dances in the high school gym. Music will be by the Wires.

The dances start at 8 p.m. all three nights and end at midnight on Friday and Sunday and at 1 a.m. on Saturday.

Enjoy the Polish Festival beer tent in downtown Boyne Falls Friday through Sunday.

Bring your chainsaw, enter the contest

Bring your saw and come to the Polish Festival chain and crosscut sawing competition on Sunday, Aug. 9, next to Boyne Falls School.

"This is the second year of competition," says Doug Drake, the event organizer. "We had a good response last year."

This year there are men's and women's competitions in chain sawing and crosscut sawing. The saws are provided on the site.

There is also a new category which was requested by several people last year. It is an unlimited chainsaw competition open to everyone. For the unlimited competition, people are asked to provide their own chainsaws.

Several exhibits of saws both old and new will also be featured. Chainsaw dealers will be represented with the latest in chainsaw equipment.

The competition begins at 2:30 p.m. It is open to anyone 18 years old or older.

People can register at the Polish Festival information booth or they can register on the event site, just before the competition begins.

A busy day is scheduled for Saturday, Aug. 8, starting with an arts and crafts show at 9 a.m., kiddie games at 2:30 p.m., Oxford Galleries Art Auction at 2:30 p.m., whitefish dinner beginning at 4 p.m., and dancing with "The Polish Kid and Company."

One popular event on Saturday is the antique car parade, beginning at 1 p.m. The graceful cars of yesterday, both antique and classic, will motor down Third Street. Last year more than 50 cars participated, and officials hope this year's parade will be as successful.

Sunday's highlight will be the grand parade at 1 p.m., followed by dancing and a chicken barbecue at the big tent in Lakeside Park.

Sports fans at the festival will want to attend the Northern Michigan Presque Isle County Softball Tournament on Saturday at 10 a.m. and Sunday at 2 p.m. Again this year, approximately 40 teams are expected to enter the double elimination tournament, making it one of the biggest in Michigan. About 1,200 ball players and their families, around 2,000 in all, are expected to attend.

Collecting antique cars

It's time consuming, but worth it!

Collecting antique cars is a passion for Boyne City Ford dealer Bob Mathers.

Currently he owns a 1930 Hudson (thought to be one of only three left in the United States), a 1922 Model T Roadster pick-up truck (which took the best of show award in the Boyne Falls Polish Festival last year), and a 1931 Model A four-door Phaeton.

The 1931 Phaeton has chauffeured Boyne City Fourth of July parade marshalls in recent years.

"It took me 15 years to collect all the parts to build that Phaeton," Mathers said.

He and Bud Sabin, the mechanic at his Ford dealership, are now re-building a 1938 Ford four-door convertible. There were only 1000 of these cars originally manufactured.

Mathers stores his cars in a two-story, four-car garage at his home.

He finds parts for his cars all over the United States, through the Hemming

Motor News catalog or car club magazines.

Sometimes when the prices for a part are outrageously high, Mathers will fashion his own part.

Mathers has been working hard with other Boyne Country Regional Antique Automobile Club of America members on the upcoming Antique Car Show.

The Boyne Country Club designs and makes by hand all the trophies they give away at their show. They are very special.

One trophy featured a brass tire pump pumping up an old tire. Model A grilles, taillights, spare tires—all have been trophy designs.

"Most clubs charge admission to their shows," said Mathers. "This is a nice thing about the Boyne City Show—it's free for people to enjoy."

The Antique Auto Club meets monthly. In the summer, they have family picnics in various spots.

Mathers has been a member of the Boyne Country auto club since 1964.

"When I got up here, Bud Sabin and Harvey Varnum were interested in starting an old car club, Mathers said.

"First we were the Model A Restorers' Club, Charlevoix and Emmet County chapter," he said.

Then, in 1973, they changed to their current affiliation with the Antique Automobile Club of America.

Collecting antique cars is a time-consuming hobby. But it's worth it, says Mathers, when you drive down the street or highway and people honk, wave and get a chuckle from the old car you are driving.

Antique autos come to Boyne City this weekend

The eighth annual Antique Auto Show will be held at Veteran's Memorial Park in Boyne City on Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 8 and 9.

Over 60 antique cars, from all over the state will be on display from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. both days.

There will also be a flea market with nearly 100 booths in the park. Antique auto club members will have a food concession open.

Stop by the park anytime during the two days to browse at the flea market and to enjoy the antique cars.

Bob Mathers and Bud Sabin work on a rare 1938 Buick four-door convertible in the Mathers' garage.

Bob Mathers shows some of the handcrafted trophies he has won at the Boyne City Antique Auto Show.

Waterfront Art Show

Artists to exhibit their work in Charlevoix

Fine artists from around the United States will gather in Charlevoix on Saturday, Aug. 8, to exhibit and sell their works during the Charlevoix Waterfront Art Fair.

Now in its 23rd year, the one-day art fair is one of the oldest of such fairs in the country.

Every year close to 1,000 artists seek admission to the fair which is purposely limited to about 150 exhibitors in order to maintain high quality.

Some 40 to 50 artists are selected for invitations to exhibit each year because of the high quality of their work, explains art fair committee member Sally McNamara. These artists are chosen from among the previous year's exhibitors by committee members who critique each fair.

"They are chosen for the consistent quality of their work. These are people we know work very hard to upgrade their work, experiment with new colors, different approaches. These are the innovative artists whose work enhances the fair," McNamara said.

All other exhibitors are screened through an intensive jurying process covering several months in early spring.

Although there are no quotas designating the numbers of painters, jewelers or weavers, McNamara observed that the jurying generally results in a balance.

"This year people should be aware that we have an unusual number of fine jewelers," said committee member Suzy Reis.

The variety of the art, the range of technique, and the array of colors across the park, makes the Charlevoix fair a spectacular visual experience.

Abstracts to landscapes, fine art photography to intricate woven wall hangings, the scope of the fair is broad.

Attracting artists with national reputations, the Charlevoix Waterfront Art Fair also draws artists to the area as permanent residents, many of whom have opened studios locally.

Judith and Norman Brumm, long-time exhibitors at the fair, have studios just south of Charlevoix from which they sell their porcelain wildlife pieces nationwide.

Russell Bolt's watercolors are in collections from California to Vermont, Norway to Israel.

And Bonnie and Bill Staffel who came to the Charlevoix Art Fair in 1960 with the fine porcelain and pottery now operate a studio south of Charlevoix.

"This year's Waterfront Art Fair looks better than ever," says Suzy Reis. "We are concentrating on building an intensely high quality show with an eye to 1983 when we will celebrate our 25th anniversary with a truly spectacular collection of fine contemporary art."

A SIMPLE SOLUTION TO A COMPLEX PROBLEM — BOAT SLIP OWNERSHIP

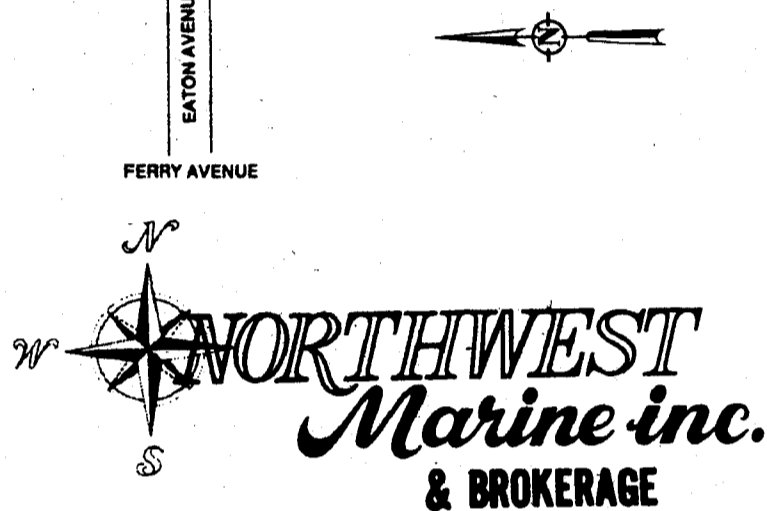

Northwest Marine Yacht Basin Condominiums...an idea that has come of age. This unique concept revolutionizes boat docking and storage by guaranteeing boaters the security of a permanent waterfront boat space for a minimal monthly payment. This equity-building, real estate investment is a viable, economical alternative to purchasing and maintaining a lakefront secondary home primarily for water access. And, an alternative to paying rent year after year and owning nothing.

Northwest Marine Yacht Basin Condominiums are nestled in the natural splendor of Lake Charlevoix and have a natural access to Lake Michigan. This boating paradise provides an escape from the everyday bustle and crowds and yet it is conveniently located 10 minutes from downtown Charlevoix. It will include a building complex with a three story atrium, offering diners at the third floor restaurant a magnificent view of the harbor and Lake Charlevoix. First floor businesses will include such shops as a delicatessen, bakery, party store and a boating supply store. An adjacent bath house facility will provide the clean, comfortable conveniences of home.

This spectacular development consists of two construction phases. The first phase includes sixty-six slips. Thirty-six slips will accommodate up to a 34 foot boat and thirty slips for boats to 44 feet in length. Special provisions for accommodating vessels larger than 44 feet may also be made. Each slip is individually metered for both water and electricity to ensure the independence of each owner.

For more information about Northwest Marine Yacht Basin Condominium and how to become a lakefront landlord on scenic Lake Charlevoix, contact Northwest Marine at 616-547-4088. OR WRITE TO: Northwest Marine, 104 Michigan Avenue, Charlevoix, Michigan 49720.

Tucker Inn serves good meals

If you are looking for a nice place to have a good meal and not pay a small fortune for it, we have found just the spot.

Last week our pick for dining out happened to be the recently remodeled Tucker Inn between East Jordan and Advance and we were pleasantly surprised by this tucked away spot.

The remodeling job has removed the old "club" look which prevailed. The menu, while small, offered a nice selection of steaks. There are a few other items on the menu like fish and shrimp, but the specialty is steak.

And it is special. I ordered an eight ounce sirloin. I requested that it be slightly charred on the outside and still pink inside, and that's just how it was served. It was wonderful.

You would think that there isn't anything that could be done to ruin a steak. Well there is. I've probably eaten more tough, bland tasting pieces of steak than anyone else—but the Tucker Inn is serving nothing but the nicest beef.

It was soooo tender it almost cut itself. And juicy. And $6.95. You just can't argue with that.

My husband is not a beef person and he decided on the shrimp. Shrimp comes only in a basket. So he ordered a baked potato and a salad with it, and converted it to a dinner. Very good.

The restaurant is comfortably decorated and the night we were there they

Dining Delights

By Kathy Johnson

had a large group—the 1956 East Jordan High School reunion. They had roasted a pig for the reunion and it was beautiful. Our mouths, while greatly enjoying the shrimp and steak, were watering while looking at that roast pig. After all at the reunion had been served we were offered a bite. Heavenly. I've never had pork that tasted so good.

The reunion crowd asked that the kitchen help come out for a round of applause and we joined them.

The menu is small and there is no gingerbread with Cool Whip topping (like the Tucker Inn on television)—but for $15 plus tip we had one of the most enjoyable meals of the summer. The quality was good, the price was right, and the entire evening was fun.

Oh and they do, as mentioned, cater private and large parties. (Order a pig, it was lovely to look at and wonderful to eat!)

Beaver Head Light

It's back in business

BY DAVID GLADISH

Beaver Island does not have a single stop light. But it does have a Head Light. This is the lighthouse at the Head of the island. The Head of the island is its southernmost tip, so that on the map the Head is at the bottom. Why this is called the Head I don't know, but it certainly is one place everybody goes.

The reason is that the restored Beaver Head Light is something of a rarity in these parts. Since the Coast Guard went to automation, the many lights on the islands are no longer manned, and without anybody there, they gradually get their padlocks smashed open or cut with bolt cutters. From then on it's not long till everything removable ends up on people's mantels and desks. Hunters break in and camp. Party-goers use the beds and stoves and leave a mess. The windows get shot out. Pregnant ducks fly down the chimneys to lay eggs.

That was the condition of the Beaver

Head Light in 1975. The swallows and bats and seagulls had taken over in a rude mockery of the military spit and polish that had characterized the structure before the Coast Guard decommissioned it, in 1962. That's right. It only took 13 years for all that masonry, built to exacting federal standards, to reach what was very nearly a point of no return.

Then a good thing happened. The buildings and the 64-acres that went with them were declared surplus federal property, and in October, 1975, it was deeded over to the Charlevoix Public Schools. At last, in 1979, CETA funds began to make restoration a reality under a work-study program for teenagers. It's become a facility for studying trades and nature.

And visitors are welcome to climb the spiral stairway inside the 50-foot tower to get a spectacular view of the lakefront and hazy islands in the distance. You can also see the spacious boat house, which is now a cafeteria, and the powerhouse on the beach, where they made steam for the fog horn.

Educational and supervisory staff live in the keeper's house, where perhaps someone will show you the reconstructed prism that incredibly magnified a little oil flame enough to sweep the vastness of Lake Michigan.

Metaphysics, or just a coincidence, the beacon makes a perfect symbol of the constant cycle of growth, decline and revival that dominates this whole, unspoiled bit of land. One year the hare is everywhere. Another year it's way down. Same with the deer and squirrels, and anything you can name. The woods mature, get clear-cut, and come back. People were two thousand strong here one time and fewer than a hundred another time.

Today the Beaver Head Light is back in business. This time it's enlightening students and history buffs instead of seamen. © by David Gladish
