

These Boyne Valley Railroad cars may have reached the end of the line if a scrap dealer buys the tourist railroad.

Can the railroad be saved again?

BY JIM BAUMANN

BOYNE CITY - It looks like it may take another last-ditch miracle effort to save the Boyne Valley Railroad. Five years ago, a group of investors was hastily pulled together the day before the tourist railroad was to be split up and sold at an auction. But unless something similar happens soon, the railroad may have to be sold for scrap.

The board of directors of the railroad met last week to learn that a local development group has decided to end negotiations to purchase the railroad. The board had for several months been discussing a possible deal with Lake Associates, a local condominium development group headed by Rick and Dave Smith. According to railroad board member Pat Cassidy, Rick Smith told the board last week that Lake Associates had regretfully decided not to invest in the railroad. Extremely high interest rates and an unfavorable marketing study were the main reasons the group decided not to purchase the BVR, Cassidy said. That leaves the door open for a scrap dealer to buy the railroad's 7.2 miles of tracks, Cassidy said, even though the board would like to sell it to someone who is interested in preserving the railroad. Cassidy said the sale of the railroad to either a scrap dealer or some other interested party is necessary because the BVR has debts to pay, and "Some of the stockholders are now in a position where they absolutely have to sell." He said the only way to possibly save the railroad at this point would be if an individual or group came up with a down payment of about $30,000 and paid off the additional estimated $100,000 value of the railroad within 12 to 18 months. Cassidy said one scrap dealer had estimated that the BVR rails alone would be worth about $60,000, and selling the railroad ties would net another $20,000. The dealer has made a bid to buy the railroad, and unless another offer is forthcoming the scrap dealer's bid may have to be accepted, Cassidy said. "There is a strong sentiment on the board to keep the railroad intact if at all possible, but we have to satisfy these debts. The indications right now are that this could be the end if somebody doesn't come forward right away."

Undersheriff well known figure

Drug bust sends a message

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY - Deputy sheriff Dale Boehm is a familiar figure in the county, having served in the sheriff's department for seven years. His appointment to the position of undersheriff for Charlevoix County by Sheriff George Lasater comes with Lasater's commendations. "Dale has proven to be an exceptional officer," Lasater said in making the appointment. He praised Dale for his loyalty to the profession and the people of the county. People in the county know Boehm also remembers every contact he has with each of them. Boehm will be responsible for the jail and road officers—"on call 24 hours a day," he said explaining an otherwise impossible work schedule. He is replacing present Undersheriff Bryon Stockwell, starting Saturday. Concluded on page 2

The lawmen who organized last week's major drug bust know they still have a long way to go to slow down drug use in the county—but they think they have sent out a strong message. "We know we didn't get all the drug dealers in the county and these arrests won't put an end to drug use here," said County Prosecutor Scott Beatty. "But, we are letting people know that we definitely do have a problem here. Hopefully, it will wake some people up," he said. "We're also telling drug dealers that we're not just going to stand by and let them get away with this type of thing," Beatty said. Beatty and Sheriff George Lasater coordinated a seven-month undercover drug investigation that culminated with the issuance of 86 warrants charging 68 persons with "feloniously delivering illegal drugs." Two-thirds of the 68 suspects were arrested and charged in an early morning raid last Thursday, Aug. 20. About 40 sheriff's deputies, city police officers and auxiliary police personnel from throughout the county assisted with the arrests, which began about 5 a.m. Suspects arrested in Charlevoix were taken to the county jail, while those arrested in Boyne City and East Jordan were handcuffed and taken to guarded school buses parked in the downtown area. When most of the arrests were made, the buses were driven to the jail. At the jail, District Court Judge Harvey Varnum arraigned the suspects in a day-long session. The drug investigation began when Sheriff Lasater authorized an exchange program of sheriff's deputies. A Charlevoix County deputy went to work undercover in another county, while a deputy from that county—which was not revealed—came to work on the undercover investigation here. "Once there, each deputy would obtain contacts with that county's drug dealers and secure evidence," Beatty said in a press statement. "Once the program began in Charlevoix County, the visiting deputy became well known to the county's drug dealers and was making numerous buys each week." The Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners cooperated with the investigation by providing funding for the undercover deputy to purchase drugs.

Beatty noted that without this support, the investigation would not have been as successful, since cocaine sells for about $2,000 per ounce. Also sold to the undercover deputy was marijuana at about $40 per ounce and LSD for "$3 a hit." The sheriff and prosecutor praised the police chiefs of Boyne City, East Jordan and Charlevoix who also assisted in the investigation by providing names of alleged drug dealers at the beginning of the undercover investigation.

Suspects range from 15 to 36

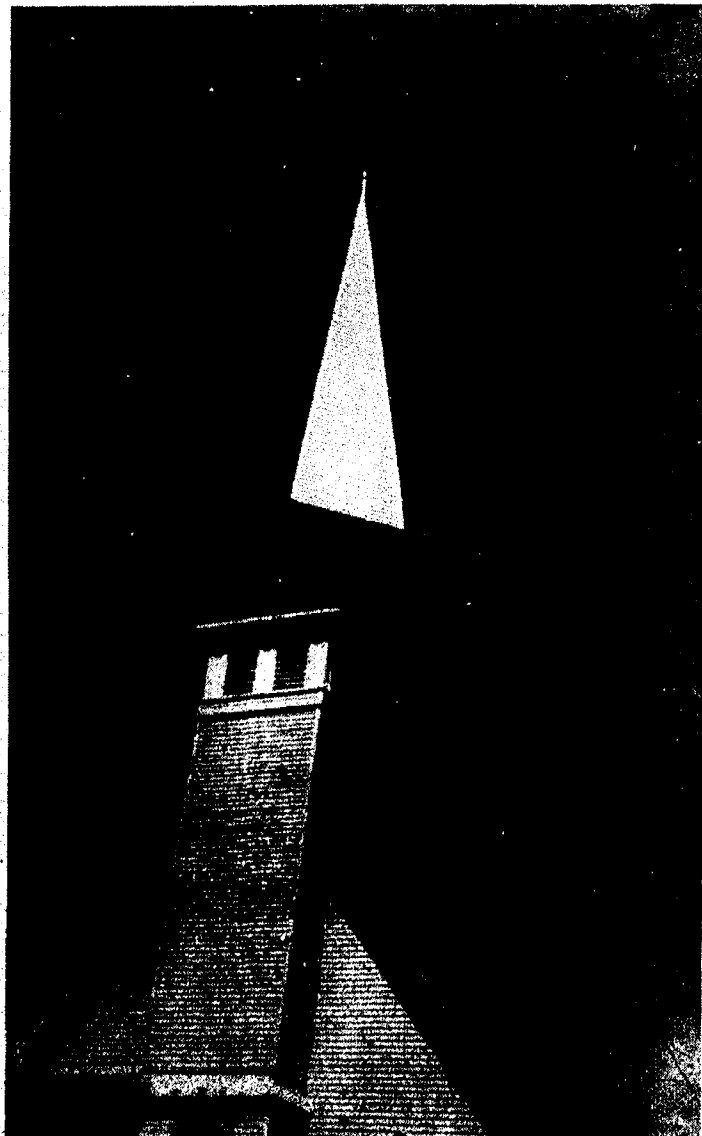

Those arrested in last week's drug investigation ranged from 15 to 36 years of age, Sheriff George Lasater said. Following are the names of those charged in the first arrests. This is not a complete list of those for whom warrants were issued, because some of the suspects have apparently left the area. Charged with delivery and manufacture of a controlled substance, marijuana, were Karen Marie Allen, 27, East Jordan, $5,000 bond with 10 percent allowed; Larri Gilbert Allen, 31, East Jordan, $5,000 bond with 10 percent allowed; Donald Richard Anderson, 24, East Jordan, $1,000 cash bond; Bryan James Boyer, 19, Boyne City, $1,000 cash surety; Mark Allen Castro, 26, Charlevoix, (three counts), $3,000 cash surety; Samuel Wayne Chipman, 22, Boyne City, $1,000 cash surety; Pamela Kay Denison, 18, Boyne City, $5,000 bond with 10 percent allowed; Benjamin Joseph Evans, 33, Boyne City (two counts) $1,000 cash

City to get swim area thanks to Harborage

BOYNE CITY - The dream of a city beach will be soon partly realized and with no cost to the city. But there's a story involved. Harborage, which will complete a marina to the east of its lakefront condominiums, has sought approval from the Department of Natural Resources to make a peninsula out into the lake instead of a main dock. The peninsula, like a small, landscaped park, will provide a partial breakwater and will have buried utility pipes for servicing boats. The DNR, preferring the dock, yielded to the peninsula idea if the city would, in exchange, put in a public beach immediately to the east of the marina on what is designated public land. Because Harborage is deepening the adjacent shoreline for its marina, it has agreed to put the dredged-up sand on the shoreline where the beach will be.

Harborage will also clear debris from under the water for 60 feet out from the shoreline. All of this at no cost to the city. The beach will be adjacent to the city's wastewater treatment plant, but the fact was taken into consideration by the DNR. City Manager Tim Clifton said there would be no problem because the wastewater going into the lake tests cleaner than the lake water. He also said the water at the beach will be monitored daily or weekly. Parking will be provided just off Front Street. The grounds will be prepared by Green Thumb—an organization of people, working with the city, funded by the federal government. It will remain for the city to contour the land and gravel the parking lot. At Tuesday's noon meeting the city commission approved the plan, noting that it was not intended to supplant the eventuality of a city beach—an eventuality which remains indefinite until some means of paying for it appear.

Schools are setting the fine details for opening day. Changes will be most noticeable in school lunch prices following the federal cut in support of the milk program. Aug. 29. Stockwell is retiring to Arizona.

For four of his seven years, Boehm has served as communications officer. More recently he has been officer in charge of the East Jordan sheriff's substation.

One of the innovations during his period of service is the institution of horse deputies. He has been one of two so far. More will be screened for the work by Deputy Michael West, he said.

They have been on duty for the concert season and are designated also for search and rescue.

In a different contact with the public, Boehm said he has put on driver education classes in county schools for two and a half years.

Coming from previous employment in a supervisory capacity, Lasater said in his announcement, Boehm is now studying for an associate degree in law enforcement at North Central Michigan

College, in addition to 600 hours in law enforcement training over the past four years.

Save the railroad

"It's a sad thing, though, because once it's gone, it will never be replaced," Cassidy said.

"The Smiths really tried hard to find a way to save it. They paid to have a detailed analysis of the railroad done, and anybody who wanted to buy it could probably get a lot of information from them. Unfortunately, the conclusion of their study was that it would take about three years to get the railroad to a break-even basis."

The railroad was run as a tourist operation in the early 1970's by Hollis Baker. After gasoline shortages slowed tourism, Baker ceased operations and later sold the railroad at an auction here in 1976.

A group of local business people raised enough money to purchase the right-of-way and enough equipment to again run the railroad as a tourist train. After operating for three summers, the BVRP encountered bad luck and a slow economy and again ceased operating due to lack of sufficient capital.

Boyer City Chamber of Commerce executive director Kate Schafer voiced similar feelings to those of Cassidy. "I'm really disappointed. It would be terrible for the community to lose the railroad. It would be like losing Avalanche Mountain all over again. Twenty years from now, the next generation will look back and ask how we could ever let that happen. "Yet, I realize the cold hard facts are that the railroad lost money and it can't be kept going forever," Schafer said.

Health planner's experience will help in new EJ job

EAST JORDAN - Chris Shea, a 32-year-old Saginaw resident, will soon be putting his experience as a health planner and grant writer to use as administrator of this community's health center.

Shea starts his new job at the East Jordan Family Health Center on Sept. 1.

For the past 3 1/2 years, he has been a health planner for the East Central Michigan Health Systems Agency, which serves a 14-county region.

Part of Shea's job with the agency was working with community boards of federally funded rural health centers like East Jordan's.

"I'm very sold on the concept of community health centers," he said in a telephone interview with The Press last week. "It works well, and it gives the people of the community a good opportunity to define their health goals and take action towards those goals."

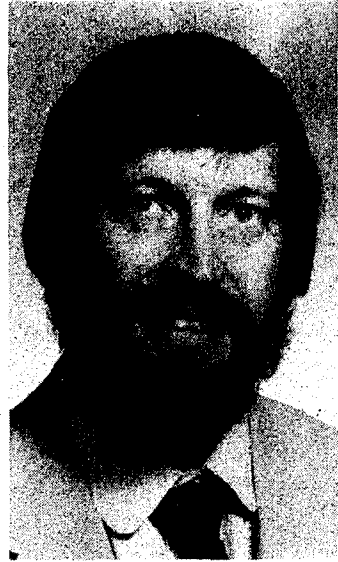

Shea said many small town health centers—including East Jordan's—were organized by nearby hospitals. But he thinks it is important that goals and decisions be determined by local residents once the center is operational. That, he says, can generate a lot of enthusiasm for local clinics.

He likes the idea of combining the Shea thinks the medical health portion of the health center will be self-supporting in a few years, while mental health and some other programs will continue to be supplemented by federal funds.

He said the East Jordan center "is one of the most fiscally sound clinics I've seen. Many others are pretty heavily in debt, but East Jordan has received a great deal of local financial support."

Bowers, Thorman exchange vows

Susan Joan Bowers of East Jordan and Glen Walter Thorman of Ellsworth exchanged wedding vows that united them in marriage during an afternoon wedding ceremony on Saturday, Aug. 22.

Rev. Gerald Blevins of the First Presbyterian Church in East Jordan performed the church ceremony. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, is the daughter of Donald and Shirley Bowers of East Jordan. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thorman of Ellsworth.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Kathy Thorman, sister of the groom. Kim Thorman, brother of the groom, served as best man. Other attendants included Gale Thorman, Kelly Knoop, Larry Thorman and Brian Stanek.

Besides working at the health systems agency in Saginaw, Shea has worked as a grant writer and program planner for a community action agency in Alpena, director of the Youth Services Bureau in Alpena, and staff member of a drug treatment center in Detroit.

Candlelight ceremony fetes the Wuerths

Cindy Eaton became the bride of Mark Wuerth at an evening wedding ceremony on Saturday, Aug. 22 at the Christ Lutheran Church of Boyne City.

Rev. Douglas Janetzke of the Christ Lutheran Church officiated at the ceremony in which the bride was given in marriage by her father. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marlin Eaton of Boyne City. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wuerth, also of Boyne City.

Shirley Jensen of Garden City served as maid of honor and best man was Dave Paulus of Petoskey. Other attendants included: Linda Eaton, sister of the bride; Kathy Stafford of Boyne City; Joe Howie of Boyne City, and Dave Peterson of Petoskey.  Present: Mayor Keith Fitzpatrick, Commissioners Jessup, Paul and Moody. Absent: Commissioner Thelma Behling. Also present: City Manager Timothy J. Clifton, City Clerk Tom Garlock, City Treasurer Edith Beck, City Attorney William McTaggart.

 Moved by Jessup, seconded by Paul, to approve the minutes of the meetings of the city commission as received in their packets.

Tuesday, July 14, 1981, at 12:00 noon.

Tuesday, July 14, 1981, at 7:00 p.m.

Tuesday, July 21, 1981, at 12:00 noon.

Tuesday, July 28, 1981, at 12:00 noon.

Tuesday, August 4, 1981, at 12:00 noon.

Roll call: All ayes. Motion carried.

Todd Sorenson, director of the Boyne City Housing Commission, presented a progress report on the construction of the 30 elderly apartments and 10 family homes. Project costs and a construction schedule was discussed.

City clerk read a petition containing the signatures of 30 residents requesting the installation of a four-way stop at the intersection of North Park and Vogel Streets. Also included in the petition was the request for an additional street light on North Park Street.

The city commission instructed the police chief to monitor the traffic flow at the aforementioned intersection and to report to the city manager the results of the traffic survey along with recommendations. Further, the city clerk was instructed to make application to Consumers Power for the erection of an additional street light on North Park Street between Vogel and North Streets.

Moved by Paul, seconded by Jessup, to authorize the city clerk and mayor to sign a letter of engagement between the City of Boyne City and William McTaggart for the provision of services of city attorney for a period of one year. Pursuant to the contract document, the city attorney is to be paid an annual fee of $6,000 plus $50/hour for court-time.

Roll call: All ayes. Motion carried.

Mr. McTaggart, the city attorney, discussed with the city commission the possibility of the city attorney retaining an assistant to act on the city's behalf during Mr. McTaggart's absence in cases involving traffic violations. The city attorney noted that this would not represent any additional cost to the city as the assistant city attorney would be working under the auspices of the city attorney and the expense would be accrued within the $50/hour court-time approved in the letter of engagement.

The city commission indicated no objection and the city attorney notified the commission that he will report back to the commission as more details are available.

The city administration recommended the acquisition of an asphalt saw to assist and expedite excavation to repair damaged water and sewer lines within the road right-of-way.

It was moved by Jessup, seconded by Fitzpatrick, to authorize the purchase of an asphalt saw from Tilton Equipment Company in the amount of $575 within the Water Department Operations Division—Account Code 592-592-975.03.

Roll call: All ayes. Motion carried.

The city administration presented a recommendation and bids for the installation of heat reclamation ceiling fans in the City Hall garage. The city commission inquired as to the size of the fans, the associated motors to operate same, and the electrical efficiency of the units. So that the city manager could investigate this matter, the purchase of the ceiling fans was tabled until the requested information could be forwarded to the city commission.

Moved by Jessup, seconded by Moody, to authorize the city manager to sign a Letter of Agreement between the City of Boyne City and Johnson, Johnson & Roy on behalf of the city for the purpose of retaining JJR for the provision of professional planning services during Fiscal Year 81/82.

Roll call: All ayes. Motion carried.

CHANDLER TOWNSHIP Notice of amendment to zoning ordinance

Effective August 27, 1981, Section 4:16 of the Chandler Township Zoning Ordinance has been changed to read as follows:

Recreational vehicles shall include campers, travel trailers, motor homes, tents and the like, which do not meet the minimum floor area requirements of zone districts.

When this type of dwelling is used as the principal building on a piece of property, it (Recreational Vehicle) can only be used as a dwelling for 90 days in a calendar year. The recreational vehicle being used as a principal dwelling has to meet all other requirements for that zoned district such as side yard and front and back yard requirements.

The use of a recreational vehicle as a dwelling, requires a permit that has to be renewed annually. This can be obtained from the township zoning administrator.

If a recreational vehicle is to be stored on property that has a house and/or barn or such building that meets the requirements as a principal dwelling then that recreational vehicle does not need a permit. Effective 8-27-81.

No proposal for the purchase of less than all of the notes or at a price less than their par value will be considered.

SECURITY: The loan is in anticipation of the OPERATING portion of the School Tax for the fiscal year July 1, 1981 to June 30, 1982, which tax is due and payable December 1, 1981. The Board of Education has voted and pledged as security for the tax note borrowing to levy taxes for school operating purposes in an amount not less than $1,600,000.

The Board of Education has created a separate depository account designated 1981 TAX ANTICIPATION NOTE RETIREMENT FUND "A", and moneys to be deposited into the fund are specifically earmarked and will be used solely to pay the principal and interest on the notes when due, and has pledged to set aside in said fund, for the payment of principal and interest on the notes, a portion of each dollar of taxes remaining to be collected for the current fiscal year beginning July 1, 1981, which is not less than 125% of the percentage that the principal amount of the notes bears to the amount of taxes to be levied and anticipated to be collected for operating expenses, delinquency in collections being taken into account, until the amount so set aside is sufficient for such payment, and the moneys in said fund shall be used for no other purpose.

The notes will be a General Obligation of the School District, and if tax collections are insufficient to pay the loan when due, the School District has pledged to use any and all other resources available for payment of such loan. The School District does not have the power to levy taxes for the payment of the notes in excess of its constitutional and statutory tax rate limits.

The rights or remedies of noteholders may be affected by bankruptcy laws or other creditor's rights legislation now existing or hereafter enacted.

ADDITIONAL BORROWING: The School District reserves the right to borrow additional moneys to meet current operating expenses and payroll during the remainder of the fiscal year 1981/82. Any future borrowing against the 1981 operating taxes will be secured by a lien equal in standing to the lien herein created against such operating taxes.

GOOD FAITH: A certified or cashier's check in the amount of 2% of the par value of the notes, drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company and payable to the order of the Treasurer of the School District, must accompany each bid as a guarantee of good faith on the part of the bidder to be forfeited as liquidated damages if such bid is accepted and the bidder fails to take up and pay for the notes. No interest shall be allowed on the good faith checks and checks of unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned to each bidder's representative or by registered mail. The good faith check of the successful bidder will be immediately cashed and payment for the balance of the purchase price of the notes shall be made at the closing.

LEGAL OPINION: Bids shall be conditioned upon the unqualified opinion of Thrun, Maatsch and Nordberg, attorneys of Lansing, Michigan, which opinion will be furnished without expense to the purchaser prior to the delivery thereof, approving the legality of the notes.

DELIVERY OF NOTES: The School District shall furnish notes ready for execution at its expense. Notes will be delivered without expense to the purchaser at a place to be mutually agreed upon between the purchaser and the School District. The usual closing documents including a certificate that no litigation is pending affecting the issuance of the notes, will be delivered at the time of the delivery of the notes. Accrued interest to the date of delivery of the notes shall be paid by the purchaser at the time of delivery.

THE RIGHT IS RESERVED TO REJECT ANY OR ALL BIDS.
ENVELOPES containing the bids should be plainly marked "Proposal for School District Notes."

Adults can learn survival skills

Charlevoix County older youths and adults who want to learn more about wilderness survival may participate in a new 4-H Challenge wilderness adventure training program, says Leah Green, Charlevoix program assistant.

Through the 4-H Challenge program, participants learn a variety of skills, including climbing and mountaineering, hiking and backpacking, canoeing, cross-country skiing, orienteering, and wilderness cooking and survival.

County residents interested in becoming part of the Challenge program and after training serving as group leaders for youth, should sign up now.

The 4-H Challenge leader orientation session will be held Sept. 18-20, at Kettunen Center, the state's 4-H leader training facility near Cadillac.

Leah Green says that anyone wanting to become a Challenge leader must attend the orientation session and seven additional weekend intensive training sessions, pass a comprehensive written test and take a Red Cross first aid course.

Anyone interested in signing up for the 4-H Challenge leader certification program should contact Leah Green at the Charlevoix County Cooperative Extension Service office, or call 582-6232.

St. James harbor spectacular—ideal for water skiing

BY DAVID GLADISH

The activities that bring people to Beaver Island almost all focus on the island's greatest feature—plenty of uncrowded land, water and sky.

That's not to say you can't find two gift shops, a shipwreck furniture shop, two historical museums and a toy museum here, or have a good time in a variety of bars and restaurants. Or shop for your own land at three different real estate offices.

But the outdoors is big and open. Those who come in their own boats can tie up at the Municipal Yacht Dock with electric and pump-out service, or at Beaver Haven Marina, where fuel, repairs and boating accessories are available.

Those who didn't bring their own boat but want the use of one can rent boats and motors at Island Sports and Rental. Also, bikes, mo-peds, fishing tackle and practically anything else it takes to enjoy an outing.

The shores of St. James' spectacular harbor almost form a circle, half a mile across and a mile long, so it makes an ideal place to water ski, sail and, of course, moor in almost complete security. It's also a jumping-off place to tour the shores of Beaver Island itself or visit other islands for fishing, sight-seeing, just plain boating, or diving on shipwrecks.

And speaking of diving, even air fills are available, at Beaver Island Taxi and Car Rental. So is taxi and car rental service, as you might guess.

Besides a generous amount of undeveloped or lightly developed Lake Michigan shoreline, the island has six or seven inland lakes, and the larger ones offer bass, pike and bluegill fishing.

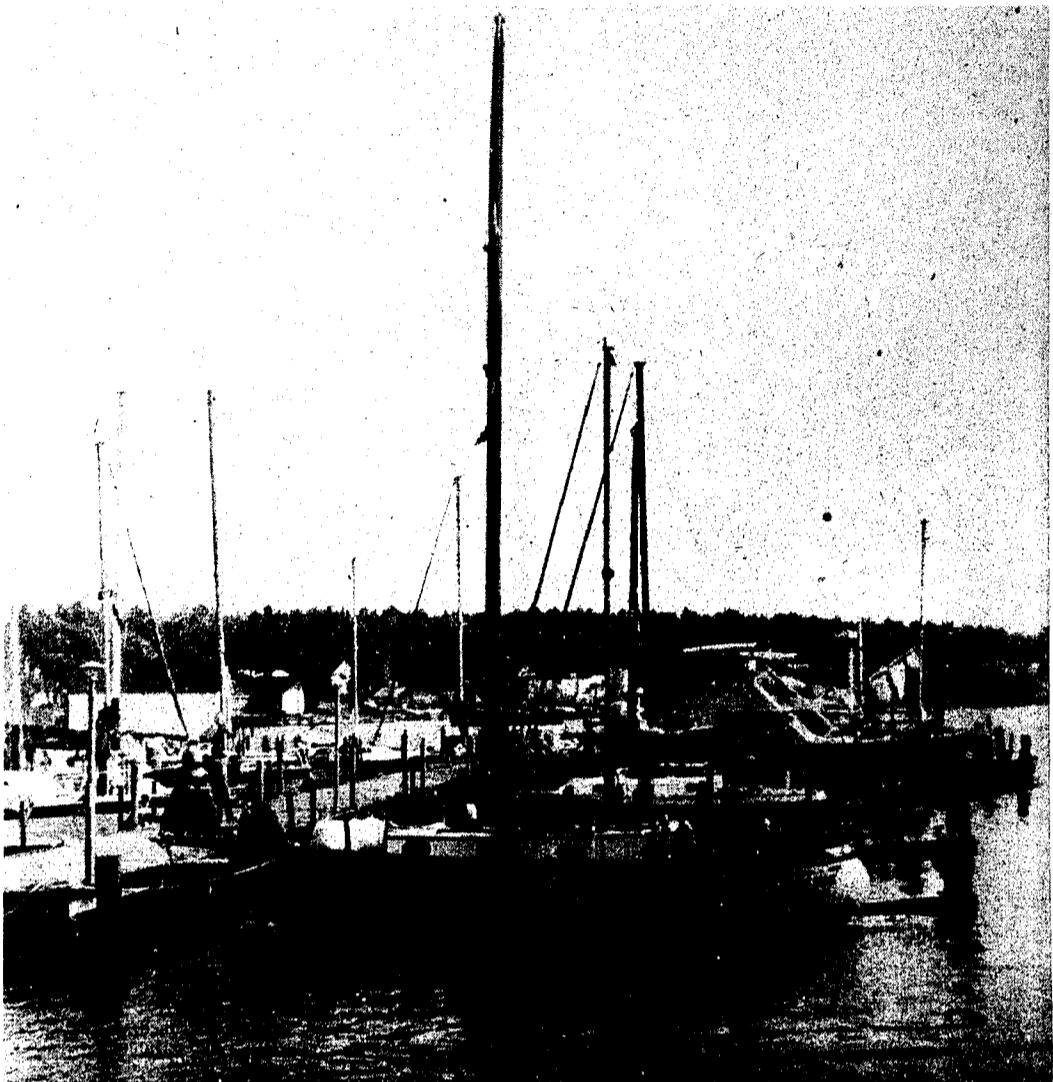

Beaver Island has two public campgrounds. One is outside the village of St. James, at the north end of the island. It is provided by the township and has a shelter, a beach and space to camp.

The other is a state campground about eight miles south of town, on the island's east shore. It has a good swimming beach on the lake, pit toilets, tables, a hand pump for water and a pleasant, quiet floor of red pine needles. Sorry, no plug-ins, but you'll like it.

OK, you don't like to fish, swim, boat, camp, bike, party, buy souvenirs, see museums or wander the outdoors. All you want to do is play golf. Not to worry.

You drive out of St. James and down a scenic gravel road past some old log cabins, and pretty soon you're at the Beaver Island Golf Course. An intricate, par 35, nine-hole course, it's "a little bit of Scotland on the Emerald Isle," according to the owners, Trudy and John Works.

"The roughs are really rough," Trudy adds, "but if you don't find your own ball, you'll find someone else's." Golfers find it challenging and sporty. Relax! Enjoy!

The Beaver Island Yacht docks are one of the first things you see when you come to the island.

Discover peace on Beaver Island

This week the Fun & Sun theme is Beaver Island. The articles in this section are written by David Gladish, Fun and Sun's Beaver Island correspondent.

Gladish is a former English literature professor. He and his wife decided nine years ago to move to Beaver Island to live full time.

They have not regretted the decision since they made the move.

The Gladishes and other people on the island are delighted with the easy lifestyle pace, the friendliness of the people and the beautiful beaches which can be found on the island.

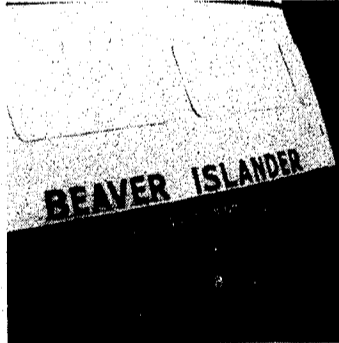

In this Fun and Sun are articles featuring the transportation, recreation, businesses and musicians on Beaver Island. There is also a picture series on island people at work.

What every visitor should know

BY DAVID GLADISH

There aren't any symphony concerts, expensive nightclubs or block-long shopping malls on Beaver Island, so it's not as easy to spend your money here as in your more urbanized settings.

But you can do it if you try. And I must say I think you'll be pleased with what you get.

Of course, it depends on where you come from, but even though all groceries are shipped in by boat or air, many people have told me that prices average about the same as in many places on the mainland.

And, speaking of groceries, you have two choices—Rafferty's General Store, just across from the boat dock, and McDonough's Market, tucked into the wooded north shoreline of the harbor.

But the chances are that your first stop will be the Shamrock. You can get a drink, a snack or a full-course meal, and at night in the summer months, you're almost sure to hear live music. All this less than a block from the ferry boat.

Also an easy walk from the boat for a hungry visitor are The Chuck Wagon—sandwiches, snacks, soft drinks—the Beachcomber—pizzas, meals, ice cream—and Tootale's Pilot House, a little diner with good smells and some of the tables outdoors.

For fine food, wines and liquor in a country atmosphere, you can call the Circle M Dinner Club and they'll pick you up in town or at your motel, or wherever. The Circle M is a romantic-looking stone rectory, formerly, that stands on a windy hill a mile or so out of town. You'll want to catch their help-yourself brunch and their exciting evening smorgasboard, then stay to dance or sing-along if it's the right evening.

The village of St. James is on a narrow neck of land between the harbor and the north beach of Lake Michigan. You cross this neck of land to get to the Beaver Island Lodge, "the only lodge on the island where you can eat, drink and sleep under the same roof," as owner Dick Bailey puts it. It's a secluded atmosphere with shipwreck furniture and a sensational view of Lake Michigan while you eat carefully prepared food. If a quarter-mile walk is a little too long, call them for a ride.

Where can you get a room or a cabin? Take your choice, but make reservations.

Even before the boat docks, you will have noticed one of Wojans' two Harbor View Motels, perched on a gentle rise right in the center of town. You can't miss the massive rock terrace and the swimming pool in front of it—only pool on the island. The other Harbor View is right down by the lapping waters.

So is Archie and Frances LaFreniere's Isle Haven Tourist Court. You get plenty of space in the clean units and apartments and the lake is practically at your doorstep.

The Erin Motel is also at the water's edge. It's just as popular with hunters and sports fishermen as it is with scholarly ladies who come to study island history. Terry Van Arkel owns it, and he's a professional guide. He can tell you where to fish, dive on shipwrecks, hunt, trap or just have a good time partying.

The King Strang Hotel features the charm and quaint nostalgia of two stories with rooms along the halls, old varnished woodwork and a huge front porch, right across the street from the harbor. It's been a hotel since 1903.

Individual housekeeping units are available at the Rustic Villa, a cluster of cabins on the quiet north shore of the harbor.

The newest lodgings on the island are in McCafferty's Inn, only about two blocks from the boat dock. Convenient and comfortable, it was just completed and opened this summer.

There are plenty of places to stay on Beaver Island. But do make reservations ahead of time.

High school student Paul Cole made this display of fishing nets for the Beaver Island Marine Museum. Pictured above is a trap net which commercial fishermen now use.

4-Her's tough it out on Beaver Island

A primitive campground situated on three wooded ridges rises above the sandy shoreline of Beaver Island. It was to this destination, the Charlevoix Public School lighthouse property, that 60 Charlevoix and Emmet County 4-H members recently journeyed.

The campers, ranging in age from nine to 18, were transported by the Beaver Island Boat Company over water and land to the south tip of the island for four days of "getting in tough" with nature.

According to Leah Green, 4-H program assistant from the Cooperative Extension Service, the purpose of the camp was to learn more about nature and oneself by living and working in a remote and primitive environment.

Activities were simple and primarily required only what nature had to offer. The 4-H campers received swimming instruction from Jayne Thomas, WSI from Petoskey, made sand castles, hiked on nature trails and were introduced to leathercraft by Claudia Grutsch, Charlevoix County 4-H leader and charcoal drawing by Jan Hamp, Emmet County 4-H volunteer.

Shirley Gladish, a member of the Beaver Island Historical Society, explained the history of Beaver Island to the 4-H group and Larry Kaster, caretaker of the lighthouse tower, conducted tours of the lighthouse.

Campers walked the shoreline with John McKinney, regional agent for Sea

Grant, a federal program for marine education administered by the extension service.

"The youngsters stayed in two groups for two nights each, slept in tents and cooked their own meals on campstoves. The relaxed atmosphere of the campout coincided with the learning experience," said Green.

The memories of singing and sharing stories around the campfires each night have made next summer's campout an anticipated event for the 4-H campers who participated in "Get In Tough" on Beaver Island.

Island musicians compose and perform island music

Island musicians Edward Palmer, David Gladish and Dick Burris get together to jam.

BY DAVID GLADISH

It's hard enough for a self-taught amateur accordion player to play his first tune of the evening sitting down. Standing up increases the problem exponentially, especially if you've only had one drink.

That didn't bother good-natured Albert. "Stand up!" he coaxed, waving his trumpet in the air and fingering the valves restlessly.

I stuck to the security of my chair by Pat's organ, and said, "This is fine." It was a sing-along evening at the Circle M Supper Club on Beaver Island, and the crowd was impatient for another tune.

"No-no-no, stand up!" Al insisted, laughing but adamant. Jack made a few noises on his drums.

I held my ground and struck a hopeful chord or two.

"David!" Al commanded. "Stand up."

I saw I couldn't fight it and stood up. "Siddown!" roared a voice from the crowded tables.

Fun is music, and music is fun on Beaver Island. There are occasions like this when practically everybody's welcome to join in. If you have an instrument you can sit in with the musicians. If you don't, you can bawl out the words to the songs you know. Or just bawl out the musicians. Nothing is wrong but not to enjoy it.

But, turning to the sublime, wait till you hear the island's Sweet Adelines sing barbershop harmony. The musical Rafferty family put the group together. Over the past three years they've changed from a few women who just felt like singing, to a polished, professional-sounding twenty, who are now close to a charter in the national organization.

The Good Time Boys, who make dances at the Parish Hall exciting with their country sound in that special Beaver Island style, have just this year produced an album. It's called, appropriately, "On the Beach of Beaver Island." They play lots of country favorites, waltzes and polkas—including the title song, which is their own.

Songwriting is no new thing on the island. There are songs islanders have written about island people and events going back as long as there have been Irish here—sad songs about shipwrecks, funny ones about things like sinking through the ice in an automobile, witty ones about things like the new used fire truck. Anything is apt to get immortalized in song.

In the summer season and for special occasions throughout the year, there's almost always live music at the Shamrock. Barb Beckers gets professionals from far and wide to play blue grass, country, folk—you name it.

You'll look far to find a community this size that loves music the way this one does—and makes so much of it so well.

Beaver Island People at work

Meg Works is the receptionist for Dr. Leonard Sludara at the Beaver Island Medical Center.

Get some goodies from Harriet Rafferty. She has owned the Rafferty General Store for almost four years.

Floss Frank from Amherst, Mass volunteers her time during the summer at the Beaver Island Marine Museum. She is holding the Beaver Island Historical Cookbook which is hot off the presses and filled with recipes for delightful Beaver Island specialties like the Shamrock Bar Blarney Stone Stew. It sells for $5 on the island and $6 if you would like it mailed to you.

When Bob McGlockin isn't at work at the Circle M. Restaurant, he can be found out in back working on his car. On this particular day, McGlockin was working on his radiator.

Tootsie Szymanski came to Beaver Island at the beginning of July, fell in love with it and bought what is now a thriving business with a wide variety of food on the menu—Tootsie's Pilot House. She only cooks the kinds of foods she likes. Happy birthday, Tootsie. [Her birthday is Aug. 28].

Beaver Islander's Butterscotch pie

The oldtimers on Beaver Island will remember the O'Donnells, an Irish family who settled on the island after the Mormans left.

Patrick O'Donnell was born on Beaver Island on St. Patrick's Day, 1899. Pat's father died at an early age leaving his mother with a family of boys to raise. In the winter she taught school on Graden Island and if the boys needed to contact their mother they had to walk from St. James to Garden Island on the ice.

Cooking

Yesterday & Today

with Bea Smith

Pat grew up on the lakes and for many years was the captain of the Coast Guard flagship. During World War II he was made a Lt. Commander in the Navy and served in the Pacific for the duration of the war. He was married to my husband's niece, Leona. Walter said that Leona seemed more like a sister to him than a niece since she was just three years younger than he. She always called him "Uncle Walter" which made him feel very proud.

Pat and Leona are both gone now and their daughter Mary Ellen La Plame lives in the old home place in Bendon, Michigan in the summer. It's a place for the whole family to meet.

Ever since I have been a member of this interesting family, I have heard people rave about Leona's butterscotch pie. Mary has tried to make pie like her mother did. The last time I saw her I told her that I would try to find the recipe for her mother's butterscotch pie.

She said that cooked brown sugar filling would not do and neither would butterscotch pudding mix. She thought that her mother made a caramel syrup for it.

A friend found this recipe for me in an old Better Homes and Gardens magazine. I made this for my daughter's birthday. She loved it. And she is my severest critic. This pie tates very rich but not too sweet.

Mary and her brother, Walter, were reminiscing about a time that there was a pie social in their community and Walter and Mary coaxed and cried to go. But Leona said that they could not because she needed to stay at home with her mother who was ill.

So Leona made butterscotch pies for the children to eat at home. Walter and Mary told how the two of them each ate half of a pie, then argued about who had eaten the biggest half.

They wonder now how they ever did it. Mary Ellen, maybe no one can make a pie that will taste like the ones your mother made, but here is a delicious substitute. Hope you like it.

LEONA'S BUTTERSCOTCH PIE

- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup boiling water
- 1/2 cup packed brown sugar
- 1/3 cup all-purpose flour
- 1/8 teaspoon salt
- 1 1/2 cups milk
- 3 beaten egg yolks
- 2 beaten whole eggs
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 9" pastry shell, baked and cooled
- 3 egg whites
- 1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/3 cup sugar

In a small skillet melt the 1/2 cup sugar till golden; gradually add the 1/2 cup boiling water, stirring till mixture is blended. In saucepan combine brown sugar, flour, and salt. Stir in milk and caramelized sugar syrup. Cook and stir till thickened and bubbly.

Combine yolks and whole eggs. Gradually stir about half of the pudding mixture into eggs. Return to saucepan, cook and stir till bubbly. Stir in butter or margarine and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Pour into pastry shell.

Beat egg whites, cream of tartar and the 1/2 teaspoon vanilla till soft peaks form. Gradually add the 1/3 cup sugar, beating to stiff peaks. Spread over hot filling, sealing meringue to edges.

Bake in 350 degree oven for 12 to 15 minutes.

Betty's has more than home cooking

While most of the summer has been spent visiting family restaurants, we've also covered several that serve some of the finer meals in Charlevoix County.

Betty's Restaurant in Boyne Falls is known for its fine "home style" meals, but some of their specials step up from home style and into "real fine dining."

Dining Delights

By Kathy Johnson

One recent evening Hal and I took a jaunt to Boyne Falls for one of Betty Kelts' home-cooked meals and got a lot more. I had the day's special—prime rib. (Put prime rib or a good steak on the menu and I'm ready.) Excellent.

Cooked just right and very tender, juicy and flavorful.

Hal decided on the fish plate which smelled wonderful and he said, "really hit the spot." Both meals came with salad and choice of potato.

And—as long as we'd made the trip—we couldn't leave without trying some of Betty's famous homemade pies. Hal tried the blueberry and I went for the pecan pie (next to Mexican food pecan pie is a southern staple) with ice cream.

That was some really good eatin'. Betty's menu has a good variety and the prices are quite reasonable. There are daily specials and the home cooked pies really can't be beat.

The restaurant is open from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily, serving breakfast, lunch and dinner. The price for dinner for two with all the trimmings was around $16. A trip to Boyne Falls has to include Betty's.

Lifelines

They supply island

BY DAVID GLADISH

What rhymes with "stag or a phobia?" The answer is agoraphobia. Agoraphobia is what you have if you panic when you find yourself surrounded by big empty spaces—like millions of acres of water. It's the opposite of claustrophobia, which is what you have if you panic when stuck in a little place you don't think you can get out of—like an island.

To keep people from feeling there's too much space on the one hand or too little on the other hand, Beaver Island has ferry boats plying Lake Michigan all day and two air taxi services winging back and forth day and night.

First, boats. Years ago the absentee owner of the only ferry boat serving the island took his boat elsewhere and left the island high and dry. Maybe high and dry is a good way for an island to be, but cars and lumber and mail and people can't get back and forth without transportation. The island people got their own ferry boat and saved the day.

History repeats itself, and the boat company has again been bought by mainland ownership, only this time it has meant not fewer boats, but more. There are two and sometimes three of them making regular daily runs in the summer months, and one to two, depending on the need, through spring and fall.

But from about Christmas until April the Harbor is locked in ice, and air service becomes the island's only lifeline. The township's airport, where Phillips Flying Service lands, has a paved, lighted runway and a comfortable terminal building—a far cry from the two turf runways of earlier times.

But in old times and modern, it's the airports that bring the people and take them off in winter. And the mail. And lumber and feed and cement blocks and chainsaw parts and groceries. Cases of beer and liquor come by air, and game goes off by air.

I remember my surprise, followed by a sense of the logic of it, during trapping season one winter, when a Phillips pilot opened the nose compartment and I saw a frozen beaver staring glassily out at me.

The other airport on the island is the base of Welke Aviation, a brisk family business with taxi, charter and freight service, too.

Pilots get used to the unusual. Recently, Welke flew to the mainland in the middle of the night with an expectant mother in labor, and many a baby has its first plane ride coming home from the hospital.

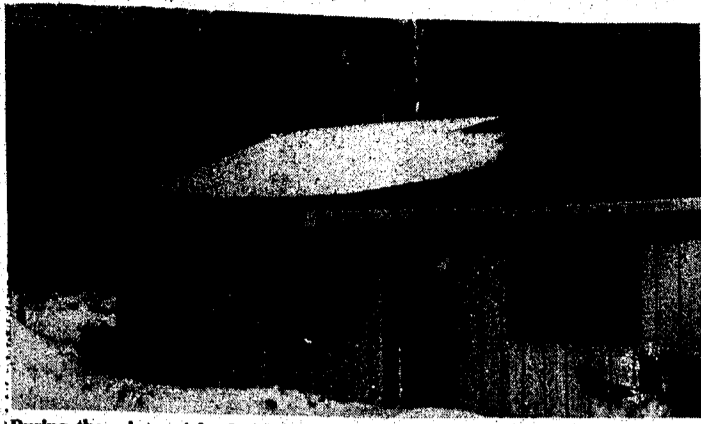

Just the other day someone cut a finger nearly off with a table saw. The victim and the finger were loaded on a plane and rushed to a hospital, where they were successfully reunited, thanks to quick action.

Ferry boats and planes are what keep the people supplied and healthy on this agoraphobic island.

The Beaver Islander has just docked. Here is a typical dock scene of people unloading from the ferry boat which is one of Beaver Island's lifelines.

During the winter, islanders rely on air transportation. The two townships on Beaver Island are proud of the public airport that they built.
