

After 3 years, BC planners ok zoning proposals

BOYNE CITY - After an exhausting three years, the city planning commission breathed a sigh of relief Monday and gave its recommendation to major revisions in the city zoning ordinance.

The revisions are now forwarded to the city commission which can make changes and approve or reject the document.

According to the city charter, two public readings of the ordinance must now be made at the October and November commission meetings. If approved, the new ordinance would take effect in January.

More than 30 city residents expressed their objections or concerns to the planning commission in three meetings, but compromises were worked out to satisfy most of the objectors.

A major change ironed out Monday included more liberal provisions for a number of businesses which were identified as "non-conforming use" cases in the new ordinance. The changes allow these property owners, mainly businesses in residential areas, to expand or rebuild their businesses if the zoning board of appeals agrees that the changes do not adversely affect the neighborhood.

However, Elmer Crain, the owner of a well-drilling business at 125A Stewart St., threatened to take the city to court if the new ordinance is approved.

He also said he planned to circulate a petition to run for the city commission himself in the Nov. 3 election.

Crain said the proposed zoning changes will hurt him because he bought several city lots when they were zoned commercial and now they are being rezoned to residential. The resale value of his land is now diminished, he said, because a buyer would be restricted as to what could be built on the property in the future.

EJ schools ask 3 mills

BY BARBARA CRUDEN

EAST JORDAN - The school board, at a well-attended special meeting Monday night, set a millage request of three mills to be voted on Tuesday, Nov. 3.

Superintendent Tom Rossler explained the date was changed from Nov. 2 because the city election is scheduled for the third.

Triggering the millage request was the student enrollment drop announced last week. At the meeting Rossler said that an update shows six more students have left the school, bringing the figure to 80 fewer students than were enrolled last year.

With the state's official headcount due on the fourth Friday (Oct. 2), Rossler said the present enrollment of 1,026 could still go up or down, but not significantly. This means that a cut in state aid goes with the lowered enrollment, or a loss of over $139,000.

But, although it was the most severe, this wasn't the only cut the school budget would suffer for the year. Rossler pointed also to the anticipated executive order from Governor Milliken to a cut amounting for East Jordan to over $17,000 of state aid over a period of several months.

On top of that, the governor's projected tax cut proposal could cost the school about one mill, Rossler said.

While these two actions are still in the indecisive stage, Rossler said, it is very hard to figure the school budget which runs from July 1 to June 30, while the state runs from Oct. 1.

As he announced last week, Rossler said the sharply lowered state revenue would mean cuts in school programs as well as in the teaching staff.

"There is absolutely no help coming from Lansing," Rossler said. It would have to be a local problem, he concluded.

Consequently the board agreed on the three-mill request. This is over the 21.2 operating mills already approved earlier this year.

But because of the uncertainties about state action on tax cutting and aid-reduction, the board committed itself to a reduction to 2.75 if, after the millage were passed, they found that these anticipated losses did not materialize.

The commitment will not appear on the ballot Rossler said, but the ballot would state that the purpose was to offset reductions in state funding and to partially reinstate programs.

Even without the projected state cuts, everything could not be reinstated for the approximately $153,000 the millage would bring in, Rossler warned, even though the figure more than covers the $139,000 loss. For one thing the levy would be reduced to 2.75. For another, with fewer students, there would be fewer teachers.

Layoff notices have already been given to 15 teachers as a precaution because 30-day notice must be given, although the exact number of teachers lost may be closer to 10. The problem is in figuring which ones have the least seniority.

Board president Mary Jason read a letter signed by students from the classes of '82 and '83, asking that their teacher, Maurice Seamon not be pink-slipped because, although lacking in seniority, his qualification as a science and math teacher was so high. But Rossler with evident regret, said seniority was the only measure in making layoffs, even though annual teacher evaluations are made. He added, however, that teachers who had served for many years were, in his experience, not necessarily less effective than teachers more recently trained.

Exactly what programs and what teachers would be cut if the millage did not pass has not been completely decided yet. Rossler said he and the principals had asked for 10 days to work it out. Their decision would come on Thursday.

Generally, the proposed cuts are to drop high school physical education (elementary and middle school physical education have already been cut), high school art, home economics, and counseling. Band, 3 1/2 teacher positions in elementary and 3 1/2 in high school would be cut, and the media center position.

The two weeks between the end of the teachers' 30-day notice and the Nov. 3 balloting would be particularly harrowing, Rossler said, in answer to a question from the floor. Schedule changes would have to go into effect.

The question as to how teacher salaries, not yet negotiated, would affect the millage could not be answered, Rossler said.

One other related topic was briefly discussed. It concerned the fact that public school systems may by law supply bus transportation to nonpublic schools at their request.

Jordan Valley Christian Academy avails itself of this option for their 72 students. However, legal advice has been sought because the academy lacks full qualification as a state recognized non-public school, as they have not as yet submitted the form showing the number and qualifications of their teachers.

Two elections on Nov. 3 in East Jordan

EAST JORDAN - The Nov. 3 school millage election has been changed from Nov. 2 in order to combine it with a city council election also being held on Nov. 3.

Now, voting for both elections will be held at opposite ends of the Civic Center. Separate voting booths and election clerks will be needed because the school district boundaries extend beyond the city limits.

Both the school and city will save some money by only paying once for the county board of canvassers to convene. That board approves the results of all elections.

Having the elections on the same day also should be a convenience for voters, who won't have to take time on two different days to cast their ballots.

Anyone who is not registered to vote, or who has moved since they voted last time, will have until Oct. 5 to register for the two elections. Citizens should contact their city or township clerk to register.

Street construction in downtown Boyne City continues to be a daily "spectator sport" for people of all ages. Youngsters from the Boyne City Nursery Center walked downtown last Wednesday afternoon. They were fascinated with the digging and pipe cutting involved in removing an old fire hydrant from the corner of Water and Lake Streets. This week, excavating work has begun in preparation for the installation of new sewer and water lines. The project, including new sidewalks and pavement, is scheduled to be finished by Oct. 30. (Photo by Tim Baumann)

EJIW plans layoffs; Closing reports untrue

EAST JORDAN - Like many other industries in the area, business is very slow for the East Jordan Iron Works these days, and a layoff is planned soon.

But reports that the plant may be totally closing down—either temporarily or permanently—are untrue, according to executive vice-president Bruce Malpass.

Malpass confirmed that the foundry would be laying off some employees soon, but he said, "I can tell you we absolutely do not plan on closing the East Jordan Iron Works."

Like the economy in general, he said, "The construction business has been very dismal for the past two years, and we have to curtail our production schedules to reflect that."

This year has, he admitted, been slower than most. "September is usually a pretty good construction month, and it often spills into October and sometimes even November and December. And by then, if business is brisk, we would begin to build up our inventory for the spring."

"But the construction season is ending early this year—very early. And unfortunately it doesn't seem prudent to keep building up our inventory because the outlook for spring isn't particularly good."

Malpass preferred not to discuss the numbers involved in upcoming layoffs, because all employees hadn't been notified yet.

Including sales and other staff in offices outside of East Jordan, the Iron Works at one time employed 355 people with an annual payroll of $7.5 million.

One current employee who did not want his name used estimated the foundry now employs about 185, with 50 to 80 workers scheduled to be idled by the upcoming layoffs.

"We really feel bad about having to put people out of work," Malpass said.

"They're hard-working and willing to work, but we can't keep them on, and unfortunately there aren't a lot of places they can bounce to" to find other jobs.

Iron Works asks city to close street

EAST JORDAN - Now that the East Jordan Co-op has relocated its gristmill, the East Jordan Iron Works is asking the city to vacate the service road and the stub of Garfield Street, surrounded by iron works property, that formerly serviced the mill.

The council at its last meeting agreed to hold a hearing on Tuesday, Oct. 13.

Bruce Malpass, executive vice-president, brought the Iron Works request to the council, noting it had been discussed since July 27 with the various city agencies, and approved by the city planning commission and the Chamber of Commerce.

The only resistance to the proposition seems to come from people who have made various kinds of recreational use of these roadways that connect to the lakefront.

"We've never evicted anyone fishing there," said Malpass. He added, however, that the company had been obliged repeatedly to clean up garbage and other refuse left there and on Iron Works property by users of the lakefront. He said to Councilwoman Pat

Sweet, "If it had happened at your store, you wouldn't tolerate it."

Public penetration of the foundry property with its various machine shops, pattern shops, and storage areas, has also caused other problems, Malpass said, not the least of which is the attraction it provides to children for dangerous exploration and play.

At the council meeting Malpass drew attention to the amount of lakefront already provided by the city, which includes public boat-launching and restroom facilities. He contended that shutting off the use of Garfield was small in comparison.

Part of Garfield, between the stub on the lake in question and the rest of the street above, was closed off in the early 60's to allow expansion at the iron works, which owned the surrounding property. The stub was left because of the grist mill and some other operations by the co-op.

The unnamed 35-foot-wide connecting roadway, also used by the co-op, was deeded to the city by the iron works in 1962, but, as Malpass noted, it had always been paved, maintained, and snow-plowed by the iron works.

Malpass said the return of the 35-foot-wide road and the acquisition of the Garfield St. stub would facilitate foundry and machine shop procedures and security. He said a "control gate" would be put across the north side of William if the iron works request is approved.

According to the County Equalization Department, because Garfield goes to the water's edge, the request would also have to go to the circuit court. State law requires circuit court approval when 25 meters of street, going to the water's edge, goes into or out of municipal jurisdiction. So whether or not the city council votes for abandonment, the court would still have to act.

The city council also took up the matter of hiring another police officer on a permanent basis. According to the report by Councilman Al Joseph of the police committee, the benefit to the city of the temporary help this past summer of Daniel Bean, now hired by another Michigan city, was so noticeable that somehow means must be found to continue to finance the benefit.

"The problem," noted Clerk Fern Morris, "is we're down to where we can't just reach in," when backup help is needed.

Joseph said there is only one officer on duty at night.

The question was referred to the finance committee.

Out of 15 applicants, the city picked Ernie Mathers to be the new landfill operator at a salary of $228 a month.

The new superintendent of public works, Rush Cattell reported that the city sewer/water complex was functioning at a percent efficiency that compared well with other cities. He is hoping to be able to repair the large grill in the sewage process, rather than having to purchase a new one, costing more than $5,000.

A gift of $1,300 was given to the fire department. Chief Dick Barnett announced the donation, saying it was designated for the purchase of a hydraulic cutter for rescue purposes.

'Peninsula Beach' nears completion in Boyne City

BOYNE CITY - The new swimming area, informally dubbed Peninsula Beach, is progressing as the city trucks take loads of sand from time to time to connect sandy areas along the waterfront.

The city-owned beach will run about 50 feet wide for about two blocks, but the swimming area, to be marked off with buoys, will be limited to the area between The Harborage and the waste water treatment plant.

City Manager Tim Clifton has stated that water coming from the plant is clean enough to drink—"cleaner than the lake, even," he said.

Also, the swimming beach will be the only section which is accessible from the road, the rest of the two-block strip is backed by privately owned land.

Access will be by a landscaped parking area. Clifton told city commissioners at their Tuesday noon meeting that the Green Thumb organization would be working on the completion of the parking area, which will be gravelled.

Trees and shrubs at the entrance will obscure the sight of rows of cars. A turn-around will be at the beach end for unloading purposes, and parking will be marked by chained-down sections of railroad ties.

Clifton noted it will be ready before swimming season comes next year.

Cost for the project is minimal, since the dredging and the sand fill was supplied by The Harborage.

The Green Thumbers, a group of retired people, volunteer their labor.

City commissioners expressed their appreciation and pleasure at having a place open up at last for swimming.

A beach house will be built, Clifton said, when funds become available.

When iron was at Ironton

Ironton, Charlevoix county's peaceful summer resort with its sloping hills touching South Arm's fish-filled waters is a quiet vacation area enhanced by the short, entertaining ferry ride across the calm narrows of Lake Charlevoix, connecting the big lake with the little lake.

It is a summer haven to many people—an outstanding scenic setting where history now hides the community's back-handed involvement in one of the nation's most notorious financial scandals.

Looking down from manicured cottage lawns one finds it difficult to believe that 800 men once worked here, turning out a widely recognized superior product—iron for the tracks of the nation's historic Union Pacific Railroad that eventually completed the first transcontinental route from east to the undeveloped west.

The men of Ironton, with their pioneer Great Lakes region iron furnace, played no small part in the "opening of the wild west"—by railroad. But their efforts were short and the results disastrous.

When Robert Cherrie financed the Pine Lake Iron Company on the shores of Lake Charlevoix in 1878, he was not aware that he would be dealing with a group engaged in financial thievery. Today, it is known as "white collar crime".

Veteran railroad organizers knew that more money could be made from construction contracts than from the operation of a completed road. This was doubly true in the case of the Union Pacific, which was supported by federal loans and grants.

Busy developing his Ironton plant, Mr. Cherrie did not know that the railroad was granting construction contracts to seven members of its inner circle of trustees. The men paid construction costs and suppliers (like the Pine Lake Iron Company) distributing any profits among themselves.

The illegal maneuvers sped expansion of the railroad, but it also enabled the men to convert Union Pacific assets and credit into construction profits. It led to the railroad's over capitalization and to its impoverishment.

The end of a giant American company was in sight.

Not, however for the innocent Mr. Cherrie. Blind to such financial operations of a company with which he was to do business, he hurried to develop the Poine Lake Iron Company. Weren't fat iron contracts for construction of railroad tracks coming in?

Certainly! So he built a smelter and a battery of 30 or more charcoal kilns; and he constructed a lumbering outfit, along with a large company store in addition to a boarding house. The company owned a tug and ore boats as well as a railroad spur from Ironton to the mainline in Charlevoix. Here the iron was shipped to produce rails for the Union Pacific.

Eight hundred workers were housed in company-built dwellings arranged in orderly streets west and north of the Ironton plant.

Cherrie owned most of the great stands of hardwood along the south shore of Lake Charlevoix toward East Jordan.

As orders arrived from the expanding Union Pacific, the Ironton furnaces were sputtering, the mills singing, the boats puffing and the iron-loaded trains clicked 'em off on the way to Charlevoix

Ironton was a prosperous community. And it would continue to be so for many years to come!

That's what everyone thought. Within 15 years from the time the Pine Lake Iron Company poured its first iron, it was in the hands of the receiver. Like the Union Pacific itself, it had gone bankrupt.

Some blamed the panic of 1893. Historians feel, however, that it was more likely due to the constant bleeding of the Union Pacific assets by its owners.

The company's financial piracy erupted into a national scandal, with congressional investigations reaching all the way up to Rep. James A. Garfield, later to become president. It was said he had received favors from a company doing business with the government. But those in Washington were exonerated.

The purposely bankrupt Union Pacific Railroad apparently dragged the flourishing Pine Lake Iron Company down with it. Orders were canceled and the price of iron fell sharply.

If honest financiers had plowed money back into the railroad's maintenance and development, Ironton might possibly have become one of Charlevoix County's largest industrial communities.

But it was not to be. The plant was wrecked and salvaged. Workmen's houses were torn down. Those who chose to remain settled down to do what they could to survive.

Today, more than 100 years later, few landmarks remain at the pleasant summer resort to remind us of those hectic days when iron was at Ironton.

The canoe winner will be announced at halftime at the Nov. 6 game with Cheboygan. ## Are these the types of cuts we want?

Dear Editor,
On Monday, Aug. 24, adult members of foster families from East Jordan foster homes were invited to attend a brown bag picnic and boat ride sponsored by Charlevoix County Social Services. It was an absolutely perfect summer's day, the air warm—not hot, and all the colors of summer out there for their delight.

These people cannot attend church on their own or social functions. Most of them are house bound most of the time. Some do not have visitors. Without State Social Service sponsored foster homes, they would be inmates of an institution.

The young man from social services who volunteered the use of his boat, and conducted the tour, extended a very warm welcome to his guests. Some were a little fearful at first, but overcame it quickly, and from the way their faces lit up, thoroughly enjoyed the ride.

No, this service was not food, clothing, and medication essential. This service was more than that. This is the expressed charity that Paul spoke about in the Bible, that we go to church to learn and very seldom practice. We are much more apt to go home and tell each other how Welfare is at the bottom of all our ills, and that takes up our time and our mind until there is very little left for loving our neighbor.

Intentional Retake

RR future unclear; Board ponders options

BOYNE CITY - The future of the Boyne Valley Railroad remained undecided as this issue of The Press was being printed.

The railroad board of directors were to meet Tuesday evening to discuss the issue.

One board member told The Press that he did not want to comment on the alternatives now available, but he did say that, "The scrap heap is not the only option we're looking at."

With no other buyers coming forward, negotiations had been conducted with a party interested in buying the railroad tracks for scrap iron.

Some board members favored a plan to run color tours for several weekends this fall both as a means of generating revenue and also of calling attention to the possible demise of the BVRB.

But, as The Press reported last week, that plan was threatened because the scrap dealer was anxious to begin the salvage operation so the rails could be torn up before winter.

Therapist to discuss back pain at hospital

CHARLEVOIX - Back pain—excruciating, sudden, inexplicable—will be the topic at Charlevoix Area Hospital's free Community Education meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Sept. 28.

Bob Gorkiewicz, hospital physical therapist, will discuss the hows, the what to do's and the how to prevent of back pain.

Gorkiewicz offered some painfully familiar examples:

You lean over the crib to pick up the baby and suddenly you are stuck. You can't straighten up. You hurt.

It's spring and you've just turned the garden. Hours later you are in agony. It's never happened in all the springs before; but now, you have an unbelievably painful muscle spasm in your back.

Of, you do something completely inconsequential, such as reaching for a Kleenex and you think you've received a karate kick to your back.

For some people this is an occasional experience. For others, it is all too frequent.

Gorkiewicz will not only explain why this happens but what to do when it does and how to prevent it happening again.

Using slides, he will explain how the human back is designed and what happens when either you try to lift an abnormally heavy load or when weakened tissues react to what was once a normal load.

Once in the throes of back pain, there can be relief. Gorkiewicz will discuss appropriate pain relieving remedies, including back supports, ice, heat and gentle stretching exercises. A staff physician will be on hand to discuss medications.

Most importantly, Gorkiewicz will discuss how to maintain "a pain free state," including body mechanics, how to lift, how to increase your ability to carry a load, and how to strengthen support muscles.

The program, free to the public, will be conducted in the new classrooms at the lower level of Charlevoix Area Hospital's new wing. Gorkiewicz cautions, this presentation is about "mechanical back pain, not arthritic or structural problems."

The program is another in a series of Community Education and Preventive Medicine Programs that the hospital offers as a service to the area.

Sheriff station still open in EJ

EAST JORDAN - The Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department sub-station for East Jordan was reported closed at the last city council meeting. Sheriff George Lasater countered this when The Press checked with the sheriff's department by phone.

According to the department clerk, the office in the basement of the East Jordan police station continues to operate as formerly, with Officer David Burris covering the area temporarily.

He is acting until a replacement is named for Officer Dale Boehm is named. Boehm, who until recently headed the sub-station, was promoted to under-sheriff.

"We are in the process of getting applicants to fill that office," Lasater said, adding he expects to name a replacement sometime in the first week or so of October.

Police Chief Joe Hammond was not at the council meeting. He said later he was waiting on Lasater to hear what the status was.

Farm market ends Saturday in Boyne

BOYNE CITY - This Saturday will be the last week for the Farmers' Market held in Old City Park.

The market is sponsored and organized by the Boyne City Senior Citizens Center.

It is open from 8 a.m. to 12 noon, usually with 13 to 17 sellers.

Local gardener George Sackett will be selling tickets on a 50-pound Hubbard squash that he grew in his garden. He says it is the largest he's ever grown of that variety. Proceeds will be donated to the senior citizens.

Candidates must file by Oct. 2 in Boyne

BOYNE CITY - The Oct. 2 deadline looms for people planning to run for any of the three vacancies on city commission this fall.

Petition forms may be obtained at City Hall. Signatures of 20 voters are necessary to make the petitioner a candidate for the Nov. 3 election.

Two of the three commissioners whose terms are up have stated they will run again. They are Catherine Jessup and Steven Moody. Mayor Keith Fitzpatrick says he will probably not go on the ballot.

The only other announced candidate is Elmer Crain, who operates a well-drilling business. Crain told the Press he would be circulating a petition this week.

Local post offices observe first stamp collecting month

"Discover Stamp Collecting - The Hobby of a Lifetime," is the theme of the first annual National Stamp Collecting Month, to be observed Oct. 31. Postmaster Frank Jasinski of Boyne City said this week.

"The fall observance will include issuance of a special souvenir card, unusual post office lobby displays and philatelic items especially designed to attract newcomers to the hobby," Postmaster Jasinski said.

"Millions of Americans recognize that stamp collecting generates increased knowledge of geography, biography, history and science. Children who engage in this hobby have a good time acquiring new or used stamps, and the hobby stimulates their intellectual growth. Teachers tell us that boys and girls frequently use their stamp collecting information in preparing and presenting class projects."

The Postal Service is sponsoring the month-long observance in cooperation with the council of Philatelic Organizations (COPO) which includes national, regional and local organizations involved in all aspects of stamp collecting. A number of local collateral activities are being planned by Boyne City adult and youth stamp clubs and school teachers.

"An adult who introduces a youngster to the hobby is giving that child a lifetime gift," Jasinski said, "because stamp collecting does not depend on age, stamina or the weather."

"Many families treasure stamp collections and pass them along from generation to generation."

Probably half the residents of the city of Boyne City "died" in a disaster drill held last Tuesday evening, Sept. 15. The occasion was a leak of deadly chlorine gas from the city sewerage treatment plant on Front Street. The mock disaster was used as a training exercise for local emergency services personnel, and most of them had no advance notice of the drill. This photo was taken by Press Publisher Jim Silber, who was also a "victim" of the gas leak.

So we invite you to invest a minimum of $10,000.00 in our popular six month Money Market certificate right now. In return, beginning October 1, 1981, or after we will redeem, without penalty, your investment plus earnings and deposit the balance into a new Tax-Free All-Savers certificate. Act now because the Money Market certificate rates will change each Tuesday.

High degree of safety. Your investment is fully insured up to $100,000.00 by the Federal Savings & Loan Insurance Corporation. This investment is a regular Savings Certificate, however, if the Account is converted to an All-Savers Tax-Free certificate after October 1, 1981, Northwestern will waive any premature withdrawal penalty. If you have an existing Money Market Certificate with Northwestern issued or renewed after April 1, 1981, your account will also qualify for the no penalty "treatment".

Here's how to do it without penalty.

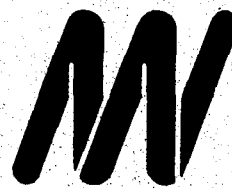

Beginning October 1, 1981 or later, convert your Money Market Certificate plus interest to a new one year All-Savers Tax-Free certificate. There is no further paper work involved, or even the necessity of visiting your Northwestern Savings Office.

This Tax-Free Certificate will pay the highest rate allowed by law. The first $2,000.00 of interest you receive will be exempt from Federal Taxes, assuming you file jointly. If you file as an individual $1,000.00 is tax exempt.

The All-Savers Tax-Free Certificates you are issued on October 1, 1981 are deposits and are insured up to $100,000.00 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation. These certificates are available to individuals only. This offer is subject to final Federal Regulations.

*Federal regulations require a substantial interest penalty if your account is closed prior to maturity, and not deposited to an All-Savers Certificate.

Fall colors make gas worth the price

There's no scenic adventure quite so thrilling as northern Michigan in autumn. The splash of woods color is often breathtaking on an October Sunday drive. And, as this is written, the maples and oaks are beginning to make gasoline worth the price.

But there's something else about our fall colors; and I hope you will pay attention so it won't have to be repeated.

Every year about this time I make the statement that frost and cold weather have little to do with the leaves turning color. If the temperature were to remain at 50 degrees or more the leaves would color up anyway. Even though that is true, few people seem to pay any attention to what I say every year about this time.

Fall is also the time for an occasional field mushroom as well as those other large, white things that puff up like a ball.

Two people live in our house. One of us went for a walk the other day, returning with a round white fungi as large as my kneecap. I had not gone for a walk. So I was not guilty of bringing that poisonous hunk of whitewashed kneecap into the house.

"What in the world are going to do with that?" I asked.

"I'm going to cook it," she said, washing the dirt off.

Several years ago I had mistakenly eaten a few castor beans and lay deathly poisoned for two days. Not wanting to lay deathly poisoned for two days, I spoke up. "I'm not eating that puffball. It's poison."

"Oh hush up," she said. "These things are delicious if they're cooked right." Suddenly I had visions of the doctor pumping my stomach as I lay checking through the pages of my will.

The puffball was washed, sliced and cooked in flour, eggs and butter—smelling delicious. I had never sniffed a poison that stunk so good.

When supper was ready I checked the clock. I had heard that my food digests in about one-half hour. So I figured that if I wasn't dead in 30 minutes, I could put my will back into the trunk.

I ate the puffball in little, cautious bites so I wouldn't be poisoned all at once. If there's anything I can't stand it's winding up dead before I know it.

I'd much rather linger in agony, thinking up some wise remark so my last words could be properly recorded. It's pure hell when your last words are not etched on a plaque for posterity to chew on.

But then an odd thing happened. I didn't die hardly at all. When supper was over I walked around the living room stretching my arms and patting a full stomach. I felt strangely good and healthy.

There's no better feeling than that brought on by not dying from eating a poisonous puffball your wife brought into the house after going for a walk.

Oh, well, there will be another day. In fact, if I'm not mistaken there's one coming up tomorrow.

There's still time for an 'again'

"Everytime we get here, that lady is just getting out of her car!"

My little friend, only eight years old, was beginning to discover some of the tricks of time.

What she noticed was true. We arrived each week for church at the exact same moment that the woman was stepping out of her car, pulled up in the church drive as a courtesy to her considerable seniority. What my friend was trying to say was that time was whirling like a ballet dancer who fixes her gaze at the same spot each time she spins around, in order not to get dizzy.

It is also like this moment at the end of summer. The sunflower heads are bowed just as they were last year. The crackles are clucking as they flock by overhead. And there's the school bus at the end of the drive again. As though I blinked and someone pumped time back one notch to show the scene again.

Thanksgiving and Christmas are like that. At least we try to keep them that way. One blink and—ah, there they are again, those dear faces together once more, looking the same and saying much the same things—the family jokes and aphorisms.

Once I saw a filming of one of those medieval clocks of Europe in which the chiming of the hour brought forth a parade of carved, life-sized human figures, each mechanically pumping, hammering, or tilting a bucket. Pumping, hammering and tilting, they would circle back into the clock tower again, and the doors would shut until it was time (ah, the word) to strike the hour again.

We used to live on a hill where we could see the street curving down past the houses of the neighborhood to the thoroughfare below.

When the alarm would wake me in the early morning, I would sit up to look out the window to the view below, and it hardly ever failed—there would be a glimpse of the newsboy as he passed between the Burts' and the Fellingins' houses. The milkman would just be backing out of the Simons' drive. At the Clarks' the window shades would be snapping open. Mrs. Clark, faintly visible beyond, like a morning cloud.

And...would it happen? Yup! Bill Goethe would just open his front door to set off for work.

Each morning the precise scene would be enacted again like the precise same scene each time the clock would strike for the pumpers, the hammerer, and the figure tilting a bucket. We love this rotation and returning. And—my small and observant friend has just stashed away the first valuable impression of the process. Years from now, it may come in handy. She may just have returned from one of your short, typical, fast-as-light excursions into the next solar system. A mere blink in time.

She will open the door of her spaceship. They say she will be only a few hours older than when she took off at 2 o'clock, but the earth and everything in it, they say (it's so inconceivable!) will be decades older.

I wonder how she will feel, remembering Sunday and how she had wondered what had happened to the week.

I'm so glad that now there is still time for an again.

ZUCCHINI SQUASH AND OTHER VEGETABLES
Our grandmothers always found some way to make good use of the produce from their gardens and orchards. They canned, dried, pickled and stored all of their vegetables and fruits. They also made many different kinds of pies.

I think it would be very interesting to know what they might have done with

Last week to subscribe at our reduced rates the zucchini squash which has become so popular in this country since their time.

Would they have outdone our granddaughters in their use of this versatile vegetable? I wonder.

I have had requests for zucchini cookies and my neighbor, Helen Chihak, gave me this recipe. They are delicious.

ZUCCHINI COOKIES

1 cup grated zucchini
1 teaspoon soda

1/2 cup shortening
1 egg
2 cups flour, sifted
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped nuts
1 cup raisins

Mix the zucchini, soda, sugar, shortening and egg until light and fluffy. Sift the flour, cinnamon, cloves, and salt; add to the zucchini mixture. Add nuts and raisins. Drop by teaspoons on a greased pan. Bake at 375 degrees until they start to brown. 12 to 15 minutes.

Now is the time to make use of that fresh cauliflower. My niece makes this.

CAULIFLOWER COLESLAW
2 cups shredded raw cauliflower
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1 cup thinly sliced celery

For dressing she uses mayonnaise or oil and vinegar dressing with 1/2 teaspoon salt and 1/8 teaspoon black pepper.

I like to make this dish when the tomatoes are ripe.

CARMELIZED TOMATOES

6 tomatoes
1/2 teaspoon salt 1/8 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Sauce:
2 stalks celery
1/2 green pepper
1 small onion
1 cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Start your oven at 375 F. or moderate. Skin tomatoes, cut the hard center core out, arrange tomatoes in a baking dish. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Dot tops with butter and bake about 20 minutes. While the tomatoes are in the oven make the sauce: Chop celery, green pepper and onion very fine. Mix the chopped vegetables with sugar and cook over a low heat for 10 minutes. Make a smooth paste of flour, salt, lemon juice and just a little water. Stir into vegetable mixture and cook until slightly thick and smooth. Spoon over the hot baked tomatoes.

Cookin'

A friend from East Jordan gave me this recipe for these luscious

1/2 cup butter or oleo
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup white sugar

1 teaspoon vanilla
1 1/2 cups flour
1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
2 cups shredded, peeled zucchini
1 cup shredded coconut
1/2 cup chopped nuts

Cream butter until light and fluffy, beat in sugar, add eggs one at a time. Beat in vanilla, stir in flour sifted with the baking powder. Mix in zucchini, coconut and nuts, spread evenly into a greased 15x10x1 inch cookie pan. Bake 30 to 35 minutes at 350 degrees. Frost with powdered sugar frosting while still in pan, cut in squares.

Boyer City Commission Minutes

Boyer City Commission Minutes Tuesday, September 8, 1981

RECORD OF THE PROCEEDINGS OF THE REGULAR MEETING OF THE BOYER CITY COMMISSION DULY CALLED AND HELD AT THE COMMISSION CHAMBERS ON TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1981, AT 7:00 P.M.

Present: Mayor Keith Fitzpatrick, Commissioners Thelma Behling, Martin Paul. Absent: Commissioners Catherine Jessup, Steven Moody, City Clerk Thomas Garlock. Also Present: City Manager Timothy Clifton, City Treasurer Edith Beck, City Attorney William McTaggart, Acting City Clerk Yvonne Seamon.

Moved by Paul, supported by Behling, to approve the minutes of the meetings of the city commission as received in their packets which included the following:

1. Tuesday, August 11, 1981, at 12:00 noon.
2. Tuesday, August 11, 1981, at 7 p.m.
3. Tuesday, August 18, 1981, at 12:00 noon.
4. Tuesday, August 25, 1981, at 12:00 noon.
5. Thursday, August 27, 1981, at 12:00 noon.
6. Tuesday, September 1, 1981, at 12:00 noon.

Harold Johnson, Box 1731 Lakeshore Drive, brought to the attention of the City Commission the traffic hazard in front of his house. The contour of the road is such that when there is precipitation a large pool of water forms on the edge of the road making it extremely dangerous for car traffic especially in the winter when it freezes. City Manager Clifton advised he will look into this matter.

Florence Hollaway, 822 First Street, thanked the City Commission for allowing angle parking on the west side of North Lake Street directly across from the Masonic Temple thereby making more parking spaces available for functions at the Temple.

Andy Andricks, representing the Veterans of Foreign Wars, requested use of Veterans Memorial Park for parking self-contained campers on October 1, 2, 3 and 4 in conjunction with a VFW Convention at Boyne Mountain. Commissioner Behling expressed she had no objection to this. Commissioner Paul presented the fact the City Administration had concern regarding the continued use of Veterans Memorial Park for this purpose since there had been numerous complaints. After a brief discussion, it was determined that the area in which these campers would be parked would be the parking area fronting the lake behind the Little League Baseball Field and a limited number of campers would be allowed. This was agreeable to all concerned.

Moved by Behling, supported by Paul, to purchase four (4) ceiling heat reclamation fans for the City Garage from Bowers Electric in the amount of $1,000. Funds were budgeted in Account Code 101-265-975.01 - Ceiling Fans - within the Public Buildings Budget.

This item had been tabled from the previous meeting to ascertain adequacy and efficiency of the units considered for purchase. City Manager Clifton advised these units were the same as recommended by the Great Lakes Energy Systems Alternative Energy Technology Study.

Fire Chief Butch Erber made a presentation regarding the fact our present portable pump is 17 years old and in need of replacement. Three bids had been received and it was both his recommendation and the City Administration's recommendation that the bid from West Shore Service - Allendale be accepted for purchase of a 12 HP pump in the amount of $1,325. This pump may be operated both by an electrical starter or manually and has capabilities of producing 280 gallons per minute for use in loading the tanker from streams or lakes. Monies were budgeted in Account Code 101-336-975.01 in the Fire Department Budget.

Moved by Behling, supported by Fitzpatrick, to authorize the above purchase.

ROLL CALL: Ayes: Behling, Fitzpatrick, Paul. Nays: None. Absent: Jessup, Moody.

City Manager Clifton advised that funds were initially budgeted in FY 81/82 for a pickup truck and a truck chassis for use by the cemetery but costs far exceeded estimates so consideration for purchase was never presented to the City Commission. Upon checking with the mechanic, the Cemetery Truck has been repaired to the point it will last until next fiscal year and purchase of both a chassis and box for the Cemetery Department will be budgeted at that time. The present Wastewater Department 1972 pickup truck has been scheduled for replacement for two years and at present maintenance and insurance exceeds the actual worth of the vehicle.

Clarence Schaaf, the Wastewater Treatment Plant Superintendent, spoke regarding the use to which the vehicle will be put including use by other departments. He recommended the purchase of a 1982 Dodge 1/2-ton pickup from Bollingers, Inc. in the total amount of $6,970 with funds budgeted within the Motor Pool Department - Code 661-000-975.03. Although this bid exceeded the other submitted by $164, it was felt the 1982 rather than the 1981 model would have a better resale value; Dodge equipment has proved to be more economical in terms of durability, maintenance and control and the 1/2-ton as opposed to the 5/8-ton would bring about a cost savings in gas mileage.

Moved by Behling, supported by Paul, to purchase the 1982 Dodge 1/2-ton pickup from Bollingers, Inc. in the total amount of $6,970 from Account Code 661-000-975.03 in the Motor Pool Account.

City Manager Clifton expressed gratitude for the $50 cash donation by Gertrude and Martin Paul towards construction of a pavilion at Veterans Memorial Park which will tie the park with the downtown area for a picnic area and expressed the hope that other contributions would be forthcoming to complete this project.

Moved by Behling, supported by Fitzpatrick, to accept this donation on behalf of the City with the City Manager to write a letter of thanks from the City Commission.

ROLL CALL: Ayes: Fitzpatrick, Paul, Behling, Nays: None. Absent: Jessup, Moody.

City Manager Clifton indicated to the City Commission the numerous problems surrounding the preparation of Job Descriptions together with the fact of having them being accepted by both the employer and employee alike if prepared by the City Administration to be objective, and to meet with the Union's approval. It was felt that a firm trained to perform such Job Descriptions would be invaluable.

Because of the fact the Michigan Civil Service is operating under a grant at present whereby Federal funds will pay for 50% of such a project, it was recommended that they be commissioned to prepare the Job Descriptions for the City of Boyer City in an amount not to exceed $2,000. The Michigan Civil Service advised they would be able to begin immediately and finish prior to the end of this year. Whereas funds have not been budgeted, monies would be derived from the Contingency Account of the General Services Budget - Account Code 101-101-985.

After a brief discussion concerning surrounding communities policies improving the relationships between employer and employee, it was moved by Paul, supported by Fitzpatrick, to authorize the City Manager to sign the contract between the Michigan Civil Service and the City of Boyer City with funds from the Contingency Account of the General Services Budget - Account Code 101-101-985.

A bill has been presented to the City covering masonry work accomplished by Fred Franchino in the total amount of $744.76 at the Rotary Park Concession Stand. This project was to have been completed prior to initiation of Fiscal Year 81/82, consequently, funds were not budgeted for this purpose and must be derived from the Parks and Recreation Department within Account Code 101-691-730.15 (Grounds and Landscaping) and Account Code 101-691-730.16 (Buildings Maintenance and Im-

After another narrow defeat

Boyne hungry for victory at Charlevoix Friday

Kevin Crandell, a 5-8, 152-pound senior, recovered two fumbles for the Ramblers in their one-point loss to Tawas last week. Crandell has now recovered three fumbles in two games this season.

Todd Rickard gained 101 yards for Boyne City in last week's game, including an 82 yard touchdown run. Rickard is a 5-10, 165-pound senior fullback.

BOYNE CITY - After two losses by a total of nine points, the Rambler football team is hungry for a victory this Friday night at neighboring rival Charlevoix.

The Rayders are "extremely tough," says Boyne City coach Bob McCullough, but he predicts a close game in the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference opener for both teams.

Charlevoix has a good backfield and a much bigger line than Boyne, he reports. "The outcome could depend on the line play. If our linemen continue to improve, we'll give them a good game."

The Ramblers' latest loss was a thrilling 15-14 decision to visiting Tawas.

Despite the loss, McCullough said, "It was an outstanding football game. We weren't even supposed to be competitive with them."

Boyne fell behind 7-0 early in the second quarter but fought back with two touchdowns later in the period to take a 14-7 halftime lead. Tawas won it with a fourth quarter touchdown and extra point, both run by halfback Kelly Moffet, who piled up 207 yards for the game.

Boyne scored its first touchdown on an 81 yard run by fullback Todd Rickard. Rickard totaled 101 yards for the night in only four carries.

John Tompkins set up the Ramblers' second touchdown with an interception and a 40 yard return. On offense, Tompkins continued the drive by passing 16 yards to end Ed Boyer for a first down at the three yard line.

Kevin Crandell ran the final three yards for the score. Crandell also starred on defense by recovering two fumbles.

Crandell was moved into a starting position as a halfback, while Shawn Aimesbury was moved from halfback to split end. Next week, McCullough said, he may also move halfback Bob Christy to end, making room for junior Brad Musser at halfback.

All in all, McCullough thought his squad was much improved over their season opening 8-0 loss at Harbor Springs. The Ramblers expected a strong passing attack from Tawas, and they effectively stopped that threat, holding them to one completion and an interception in 11 attempts.

But Moffet's 207 yards on 31 carries, mainly on option plays, were unexpected. "We really weren't looking for them to run the option play that well. If we had been able to stop the quarterback from pitching out to Moffet, we would have totally shut them off."

JV drops close one too

BOYNE CITY - The junior varsity gridgers are suffering the same fate as the varsity—narrow defeats.

After a 12-6 opening loss to Harbor Springs, the Ramblers lost an 8-6 decision to Bellaire last Thursday.

A 60 yard run on the first play of the game was all it took for the visiting Eagles to take home a victory.

Boyne City scored in the third quarter on a quarterback sneak by Mitch Kruzel. The conversion attempt failed as Kruzel threw an incomplete pass.

This week, Boyne City hosts Charlevoix at 6:30 p.m. Thursday.

EJHS is getting cross-country team

EAST JORDAN - Training up their running legs, six East Jordan high school students over the summer have been preparing for the chance they might be a cross-country team.

Monday night at the school board meeting, their coach Paul Michael asked the board to approve the team, so far made up of five girls and one boy, and sanction their participation.

He told the board there would be no expense involved for the school. Transportation and his own services would all be volunteered.

Superintendent Tom Rossler said, "What worries me is the cost of operating an athletic program in the future, when the boosters may no longer be able to raise sufficient funds. It's easy to add programs..." He added that it would be painful to drop any.

As for the Athletics Boosters Club, Michael said, he told them what he and the runners were trying to do. He said it was his impression that they favored the idea.

The board took a vote and approved the program unanimously. President Mary Jason noted that runners train a long time for their short season.

The five-meet schedule is over by the end of October. The first meet is this week. Glendora Murphy will assist Michael with the coaching.

While the boosters will not have to give financial support to the cross-country team, they have agreed to pay the salary for an athletic director. The board appointed Bill Chase to the position.

Bill Spence [40] eluded this tackler and others enroute to a 15-yard touchdown run with 48 seconds left in the game.

Two touchdowns for Spence 'Rookies' help EJ get revenge, 24-14

EAST JORDAN - Playing with "rookies" at quarterback and halfback, the Red Devils knocked off highly regarded Houghton Lake 24-14 last Friday.

The victory was sweet revenge for East Jordan, as the Bobcats had been the only team to beat them last year. EJHS Coach Buck Cihak said, "I've never seen so many kids reach down to the bottom of the well so many times as our guys did. We were outnumbered, outsize and outmanned, but we beat them."

The outcome was in doubt until the final minute, when Red Devil fullback Bill Spence ran 15 yards for a touchdown with 48 seconds left in the game. Before that, East Jordan led by only a 16-14 margin.

Spence was the star of the game, picking up two touchdowns and 105 yards rushing on 19 carries. He was playing fullback, a new position, as he took over for all state runner Steve Graham, who was lost for the season in the previous week's game.

Also performing well in the clutch were junior quarterback Dan Nachazel and sophomore halfback Barry Munich, both playing their first varsity games as starters.

Munich ran for 68 yards, including a 35 yard touchdown sprint in the second quarter.

Coach Cihak also praised the clutch play of Nachazel, who had only one day to prepare for being thrown into the starting quarterback slot when Kevin Russell was suspended for a week for disciplinary reasons.

"He did a wonderful job. It was his first varsity game as quarterback, and he also played well defensively," Cihak said.

Nachazel completed two passes to Mike Brenman and one to Tom Peters for crucial conversions after all three Red Devil touchdowns.

Cihak singled out Mike Boyer as a defensive standout. Boyer came in off the bench to lead the team with 10 tackles.

The night before the varsity game, East Jordan's junior varsity extended its winning streak to 31 games with a 46-0 trouncing of Houghton Lake. No further details were provided.

Next week, East Jordan starts its quest for a fourth consecutive Ski Valley league championship when the Red Devils host league foe Pellston.

The Hornets are 2-0 this season with a pair of decisive victories over Hillman and Mackinaw City.

Pellston is an experienced team that could give East Jordan problems, Cihak said.

Boyne City girls edge East Jordan

Neighbors Boyne City and East Jordan met on the basketball floor last Thursday, with the host Rambler girls pulling out a 55-52 victory.

Boyne outscored the Red Devils 19-11 in the third quarter to take a 41-32 lead, but East Jordan caught up late in the game.

Boyne City held on, however, by making four out of four free throws in the final 30 seconds as two East Jordan players fouled out of the game.

Michelle Russell led the winners with 16 points, while center Lori Paquette added 12 points and 17 rebounds. Judy Upton had 12 rebounds and Liz Sturm grabbed 8.

For East Jordan, DeEtte Looze grabbed 17 rebounds and scored 19 points, including 9 of 13 free throws. Joelyn Ingalls added 12 and Gail Crick had 9.

The Red Devils won the junior varsity game over Boyne, pushing their record to 4-0.

Earlier in the week, East Jordan pulled off an upset of highly regarded Ellsworth, 49-47, in overtime. Gail Crick scored the final four points of the game, including a 10 ft. jump shot at the buzzer which won the game.

Crick ended the night with 12 points.

while Looze had 13, Kim Etter 11 and Rambler were unable to overcome an Ingalls nine.

Boyne City lost a 58-51 contest to Harbor Springs last Tuesday. The early 10-point deficit. Paquette had 14 points and Sheila Smith 11.

Cold 4th quarter gives Loggers first loss

BOYNE FALLS - The Logger girls' basketball squad lost its first game of the season last Thursday, dropping a 40-25 decision to Alba.

The loss came in the finals of a four-team invitational tournament at Mancelona.

Coach Joel Donaldson said Alba "played a very good game, and we played very poorly. I'm looking forward to getting a chance to play Alba again later this season."

The game was close until the fourth quarter when Boyne Falls went stone cold and Alba outscored them 12-0 to finish the game.

Karen Sevnski led the Boyne Falls team with nine points and 11 rebounds, while Pat Franckowiak had eight points and 10 rebounds.

The Loggers reached the finals by beating Mancelona 40-33, although Donaldson said his team didn't look sharp in that outing either. He said part of the blame may be the switch from Boyne Falls' small home court to a larger floor.

Kim Mikula led the scoring in the Mancelona victory with 14 points, while Sharon Franckowiak added eight.

Auto-Owners for Car Insurance

Are you afraid that even the most insignificant ticket will result in a significant raise in your insurance rates? Stop worrying. At Auto-Owners we won't automatically raise your rates just because you run into bad luck. Even if the bad luck is your fault. Our rates are based on long term performance. And Auto-Owners auto policies have other unique extras too. Just ask one of our agents. It just might be the ticket.

Glen's Save-Share

"Helping to Build a Better Community Together"

Louise Hart receives a check in the amount of $107.67 for the Swan Sues.

This is one example of a non-profit group making use of the Save-Share Program to help raise funds. There are many more groups using it too.

Glen's wants everyone in East Jordan to know about Save-Share and hopes more groups will use it to raise funds.

All a group has to do is register with the store manager and begin saving the green cash register tapes. Glen's will pay 1 percent of the total qualified amount of all tapes brought in by any registered group; and not just once, but each time a group brings in $25.00 worth of slips or more.
