

RR saved; Buyers want steam engine

BY JIM BAUMANN

BOYNE CITY - The Boyne Valley Railroad has been saved from the scrap heap, and the prospective buyers reportedly hope to buy a steam engine before next summer.

For the second time in five years, the tourist train has been saved from extinction in a last-minute effort.

And the train is running again - for the first time since the fall of 1979. Despite bad weather and a lack of publicity, the train hauled some passengers last Saturday and Sunday. It will continue to make three runs a day on Saturdays and Sundays through the fall color season.

The railroad has been for sale for more than a year, but no deals were finalized, and it looked as if the only interested buyers wanted it for scrap.

But last week, with the death of the railroad imminent, two different groups of buyers approached the railroad with purchase offers.

Nothing has been finalized, but a preliminary draft of a sale agreement has been drawn up, according to board member Pat Cassidy.

Cassidy would not reveal who was interested in buying the railroad. Art Single, a Ford Motor Company engineer

All aboard for color tours!

The Boyne Valley Railroad will be leaving Boyne City on color tours to Boyne Falls at 11 a.m. and 1 and 3 p.m.
Return trips from Boyne Falls leave at 12, 2 and a one-way trip at 4.

Tickets are $5 for adults and $3.50 for children under 12.

The train takes a 7.2 mile trip through hardwood forests and past the base of Boyne Mountain to Boyne Falls, and then returns over the same route.

from Plymouth has been appointed interim general manager of the railroad for the fall season.

Single told The Press he has no financial interest in the railroad, other than being one of about 300 people who own a few shares of stock.

Single said he has been a railroad buff since he was a child on Long Island, New York, when he walked down to the station to meet his father coming home from work on the train each day.

He said he had done a year's worth of research and background work to help a prospective buyer of the railroad, but "It looked like it was about to go down the drain because the board was about to sell it to the East Jordan Iron Works for scrap."

"Then two groups came out of the woodwork and offered to buy it at the last minute. They may end up as co-owners, or one or the other may end up owning it. But in either case, it looks like it is going to end up in good hands," Single said.

He said both groups of prospective owners hope to buy a steam locomotive for the tourist train - something the current BVRR board also wanted to do.

Single said the new owners will provide badly needed capital to keep the train on sound financial footing. "Although I think the railroad has been well managed, it has had a series of misfortunes, including a crooked locomotive broker who made off with some of their money."

Besides a steam engine, the railroad will need a building to store the engine and its passenger cars, since the old railroad building on the lakefront is slated to be torn down.

"We don't want to be a shoestring operation," Single said. "We're going to be a professionally run railroad that happens to have a steam engine and happens to be tourist-oriented."

Single said he hopes that the railroad will even be able to buy two steam engines, with one to be used as a back-up.

People will come from all over the country to ride a steam engine, he said, but if there is only one and it is down for repairs, the BVRR will get a bad reputation, he said.

What he'd really like to do is get the same steam engine that last operated for the Boyne City Railroad in the 1960's back again. That engine, Number 18, was built in 1920 and is now being used on a tourist line in New York State.

"They already have two steam engines and I've been led to believe that we could get it back here," he said.

Single noted that Dundee Cement Company deserved a note of thanks from the railroad for leasing a diesel engine to the BVRR for "a very modest fee" for the current color season.

He said the railroad is being run totally on volunteer labor this fall by himself, board members and other rail enthusiasts.

"The kids make it all worthwhile," he said. "A train ride really brings joy to a child's face."

Single is quite happy that the railroad could be saved because he thinks it makes Boyne City unique from other small towns. "It would be such a shame to lose it. It's quite a chunk of Michigan history," he said, noting that the railroad started as a logging line in 1893.

Cassidy said he is not sure how long it will take to finalize the purchase agreement with the prospective buyers of the railroad. It could be done within the week, he said.

The prospective owners "will purchase the share of current shareholders who want to sell, but they want those who don't want to sell to keep their shares. No one will be forced out."

In fact, Cassidy said, the fewer shares the new owners have to purchase, the more money will be freed up for capital investments like a steam engine.

EJ school cuts depend on many factors

BY BARBARA CRUDEN

EAST JORDAN - School administrators have drawn up their recommendations to the school board for coping with the enrollment drop of about 80 students, but several factors are still up in the air.

The enrollment figure will be established this week on the state's required fourth Friday count.

The enrollment drop has resulted in a loss of about $139,000 of state aid. Superintendent Tom Rossler is also concerned about a projected executive order and the possibility of a property tax relief bill which will also cut into the school's revenue. He believes the extent of those cuts will be known by Nov. 3.

A millage request election was set by the school board for Tuesday, Nov. 3 at their last regular meeting. Meantime, 15 teachers were given notice, although only two to 10 may have to give up their positions, depending on the vote and the projected cuts.

The school must give a 30-day notice, Rossler pointed out. So the arrangements, subject to school board approval, are to operate the district till Oct. 30 and then make the cuts, Rossler said.

"If the millage vote is successful," Rossler explained, "we will reinstate the programs that the administration has recommended and the board will approve."

Some of the present programs will probably not be continued, however, Rossler said, because there may not be enough students to fill those classes.

Two elementary teachers will be leaving regardless of any changes in the funding picture, because of the reduction in enrollment.

Rossler added, "It's just terrible. The impact on the education of the children is severe...There's just no easy way out of the problem."

The high school - middle school band, high school art, home economics, gym classes, and media center are on the list of classes to be dropped unless money can be found to keep them.

The Oct. 30 cut-off date will mark the end of a school quarter. The administration is working on giving credits to the students for the period.

From Oct. 30 to Nov. 3, the school will operate on the reduced program. What follows Nov. 3 depends on the state cuts, and the millage vote.

Rossler said they have cut back three custodial hours at the school, and have reduced teacher aide time in the elementary school from 17 to 11 hours per day.

The number of cafeteria employees will be reduced and further cuts in non-certified staff are being anticipated, he said.

"All the employees of the district are really working together to try to solve the problems of the district, Rossler said. "I appreciate their efforts."

In connection with teacher-contract negotiations, Rossler noted a meeting is scheduled for Thursday, Oct. 12.

"I hope the millage and the negotiations will be viewed as two separate questions," Rossler said.

At least 3 challengers for BC commission seats

BY BARBARA CRUDEN

BOYNE CITY - Six candidates have declared for the three vacancies coming up on the city commission, and more may be coming by the Friday, Oct. 2 deadline.

The three who have been serving, Steve Moody, Catherine Jessup, and Keith Fitzpatrick, will all be running again. Their views were circulated in the Sept. 3 edition of The Press.

In addition, petitions have been taken out by Elmer Crain, Bill Grimm and Mike Handy.

Crain has had a well-drilling business in the city for 44 years. He has not served previously in city government, but he had presided over several clubs, most recently REACT—a safety C.B. emergency club, set up for a period by the county sheriff's office.

Crain spoke frankly that he was a candidate because he sees the city manager running the city commission instead of the commission doing the running.

He is against recent decisions—"the closing of the alley behind Lakewood Savings and Loan where everyone except one objected to it."

He thinks the city could have made more money on the sale of the old city hall, and he charges that they changed the rules in the middle of the procedure.

He objects to how he was zoned at the last planning commission meeting, and again, to the procedures there.

"If I promise something," he added, "I never go back on my promises."

He pointed out that while it is impossible to represent everyone's views, especially when candidates don't come from separate wards, still, "if I do get in, I would want to know what people want."

He explained he would make their views his focus, "not my views," he emphasized.

Bill Grimm is running for office because, "I have a chance to offer a difference in the kind of service and concepts (in a commission)." He added he had "no gripes with nobody."

Grimm is retired after 32 years serving two districts for the United States Department of Agriculture Soil Conservation Service. He served Emmet and Charlevoix Counties simultaneously.

He was in World War II in the Air Force. He has a bachelor's degree in science from the University of Wisconsin.

Grimm has lived in Boyne City for 31 years. He served a six-year stint on the Char-Em school board.

His views on the state of the city range from approval of the city manager type of government to a desire that the growth of the city be "slow and meaningful—a common sense approach."

"I'd like to see if (the city) have more spirit as it did in the 40's and 50's—a concerned spirit."

Mike Handy, 31, lost his bid for a city commission seat two years ago and wants to try again. A native of Boyne City he is unemployed and lives at 526 S. Park St.

He said he still feels as he did two years ago, that the commission takes action without enough regard for public opinion. "They do a lot of things that they don't consult anybody on. They just do it."

"They raised the water bills 40 or 50 percent, and they didn't really ask anybody, they just did it. I know the water system has to support itself, but there has to be a better alternative."

Handy would like to see more control of bicycles and their riders. Bikes ought to be licensed, and riders should be ticketed if they disregard traffic signals. "Somebody's going to get killed," he said, adding that bike paths might help control the problem.

One thing he says the city should be commended for is getting more senior citizen apartments, which are now under construction. More low-income housing units would also be desirable, Handy said.

Here's the homecoming court from Boyne City High School. Homecoming queen will be crowned at halftime of Friday's football game with Grayling, and the king will be crowned at 11 p.m. during the homecoming dance. King candidates, in

BOYNE CITY - City police and fire officials have a couple of requests that would make life easier both for them and for area residents.

Both are "chronic problems" that come up every year at this time, according to city manager Tim Clifton. Concluded on Page 3

New director for Boyne senior center

BOYNE CITY - Leanna Hardy will be the new director for Boyne seniors' activities. She is taking over from Phyllis Tison, director since January.

Leanna Hardy, married to Jerry Hardy, is the mother of five boys and a frequent volunteer in East Jordan at the Charlevoix County Senior Citizens' Center, located there. The Hardys live on Jaquay Road.

Tison took the position originally on a limited basis until May 1. When funding came through, she accepted a request to stay on till the end of September when the fiscal year ends for the center.

She said Title XX funding has just been cut down, so "we'll just have more volunteer work!"

Somehow they manage, she said and she described how David Straubel of the Department of Social Services sent young people on general assistance over to help—and to work out their grants. Couldn't have swung it otherwise, she said.

The center has just made awards for their own volunteer service, an end-of-the-year event. Tison said the seven awards went to Margaret Compton, Eunice Genson, Goldie Harrelson, Violet Mueller, Harry Munson, Erma Norton, and Bob Rumpfelt.

The director manages the calendar and activities and makes home visits. "I liked to work with the people," Tison said.

She will continue to participate. "My heart's in the Senior Center." But she explained her health does not permit her to take on a demanding schedule.

In leaving the job, Tison said she wants to see an established center for the seniors in the Boyne area. She referred to the solution found in Harbor Springs where seniors were looking for a location.

"Why have two buildings?" she asked. Their use of the Harbor Springs school facilities, "already paid for and heated, makes sense she said."

With dropping school enrollments, space could be found. The seniors would pay for the renovation of possibly a pair of rooms to make headquarters, she suggested.

"Let our seniors, who have the talent, help the teachers," she said. She noted how in Harbor Springs the seniors ate lunch with students and some took classes with them.

"Breaks the generation gap," she said.

And speaking of Hardy who will be the new director, she said, "I couldn't think of another person who could be better."

Insurance agencies seeking Junior Fire Marshalls in schools

Several insurance agencies are sponsoring a Junior Fire Marshall program throughout Charlevoix County during Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 5-11.

Junior Fire Marshall materials will be distributed to third graders throughout the county by Bill Lindsay Insurance of Boyne City, R. A. Campbell of East Jordan and the Charlevoix Agency of Charlevoix.

The campaign is actually intended to teach parents the facts of fire prevention.

The third-graders are encouraged to become Fire Prevention Week "pests."

Young participants are instructed to enlist the aid of parents in inspecting their homes for fire hazards.

To qualify as a Junior Fire Marshall, a youngster must inspect his home for fire hazards and pledge to observe certain fire safety rules.

In a letter which goes home with children taking part in the program, parents are asked to assist their child in completing the inspection report and so indicating on a signed statement to his teacher.

"Lessons learned in Junior Fire Marshall may one day save the life of your child or the lives of others in your family," the letter states. "Your interest and enthusiasm will go a long way toward insuring the success of this program."

Most fire officials agree that the majority of fires in this country are easily preventable. Most of last year's 11,600 deaths, 300,000 serious injuries, and $3.2 billion in property damage due to fire were unnecessary.

But everyone knows fire only happens to the other guy. Only when it touches one's own family or next-door neighbor does the possibility of fire become the threat of fire. And some people never change their blasé attitude—until it's too late.

What can you do? Mark this week, Fire Prevention Week, by checking your home for fire hazards and immediately removing or correcting any that you find.

Have your family practice a home fire drill, to be sure that each member would be able to escape from his own bedroom if there were a fire at night. (Eighty percent of America's multiple-death fires happen at night.)

Remember that the principal exit may be blocked by smoke or flames, so a secondary escape route is vital.

Schools offer night classes

Community education in East Jordan will also include two enrichment classes in photography taught by Richard Jackson, well-known local photographer.

Beginning photography will start Tuesday, Oct. 13 and an advanced class will start Thursday, Oct. 15.

In Boyne City enrichment classes are now under way, but the following still have openings: Holiday Craft, Income Tax Awareness, Karate, Model Rocketry, Stir-frying with a wok inexpensively, Yoga, and Map and Compass (how not to get lost in the woods.)

The fees vary for these classes, but they average about 75 cents an hour. For information — Shelly Cobe, 582-6765.

Chimneys, poles

First, firemen are asking that people clean their chimneys before they start using their fireplaces or wood stoves.

Creosote, a residue from woodburning, builds up on the inside of fireplaces and often catches fire when the build-up isn't scraped from the chimney walls.

Chimney fires have resulted in several costly false alarms for the fire department this fall. More serious fires can also start if the chimney becomes overheated.

More fall advice comes from the police department, which is getting calls about stolen fishing poles. Many fishermen are apparently leaving their poles unattended around the mouth of the Boyne River, and they return to find the poles stolen.

Police urge fishermen to stay with their poles or risk losing them.

Cal Gillespie of Advance found this 11-1/4 pound puffball mushroom in the woods near Whiting Park last week. The giant mushroom measured 50 inches around.

Tax-Free Interest

Northwestern Savings & Loan doesn't want you to lose interest while you wait for the new All-Savers Tax-Free Certificate, available October 1, 1981.

So we invite you to invest a minimum of $10,000.00 in our popular six month Money Market certificate right now. In return, beginning October 1, 1981, or after we will redeem, without penalty, your investment plus earnings and deposit the balance into a new Tax-Free All-Savers certificate. Act now because the Money Market certificate rates will change each Tuesday.

High degree of safety. Your investment is fully insured up to $100,000.00 by the Federal Savings & Loan Insurance Corporation. This investment is a regular Savings Certificate, however, if the Account is converted to an All-Savers Tax-Free certificate after October 1, 1981, Northwestern will waive any premature withdrawal penalty.* If you have an existing Money Market Certificate with Northwestern issued or renewed after April 1, 1981, your account will also qualify for the no penalty "treatment".

Here's how to do it without penalty.

Beginning October 1, 1981 or later, convert your Money Market Certificate plus interest to a new one year All-Savers Tax-Free certificate. There is no further paper work involved, or even the necessity of visiting your Northwestern Savings Office.

This Tax-Free Certificate will pay the highest rate allowed by law. The first $2,000.00 of interest you receive will be exempt from Federal Taxes; assuming you file jointly. If you file as an individual $1,000.00 is tax exempt.

The All-Savers Tax-Free Certificates you are issued on October 1, 1981 are deposits and are insured up to $100,000.00 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation. These certificates are available to individuals only. This offer is subject to final Federal Regulations.

It's what's left after taxes that counts.

*Federal regulations require a substantial interest penalty if your account is closed prior to maturity, and not deposited to an All-Savers Certificate.

New life for Boyne's railroad

Whew! The Boyne Valley Railroad has been saved again - just as it was about to be sold for scrap iron. Actually, the Boyne City tourist train isn't out of the woods yet, because a purchase agreement has not been finalized. But it looks like an unnamed group will buy a majority of the railroad shares. The group also reportedly plans to pump much needed capital into the company to get it back on its feet. Capital is something the current railroad board never had the luxury of having. They were always strapped with making purchase payments to the former owner, as well as scratching to meet operating costs.

If the new owner is able to buy a steam engine, the railroad ought to be able to attract riders from throughout the midwest. Even without a steam engine, the BVRR pulled more than 15,000 passengers one summer and fall. It would be a shame to lose a living, breathing, moving piece of history like the railroad, which dates back to 1893. It sets Boyne City apart from other towns, giving it a truly unique attraction.

We commend the members of the railroad board for their patience in these hard economic times. It was tempting to sell the railroad for scrap after two years of not being able to operate it. But somehow the board held on just long enough to have some interested buyers take notice.

No more loveable oddballs around

There is some cause for regret that Boyne City no longer has any entertaining oddballs.

Back when whiskey, black eyes and hangovers took the place of television entertainment, Boyne City was fortunate to have happy eccentrics who provided a refreshing break after those 12 hour work days.

If the "characters" weren't dancing a paper and comb jig on Saturday night, they were wearing a mixture of uniforms in the Fourth of July parade, claiming that they had died in three wars.

One "character" signed his name to an ad in the Boyne paper that said, "My wife has left my bed and board. I will no longer be responsible for her." Everyone knew the nice lady; and the ad was solid, small town stuff that gave some direction to the community's conversation. Wives didn't leave husbands in those days, whether they were bedded and boarded or not.

When I say "oddball" I'm not talking about today's "characters" who, when they sneeze, the government rushes to wipe their nose. No. I'm talking about men who day labored or even had their own small businesses—the kind who entertained the town on the side without realizing it.

Take the family that loaded their household goods into a wagon and headed for Young State Park for the summer. The father drove the team and the mother rocked in a chair amid the furniture as the kids clung to her.

When the wagon passed through town it got mixed up in a city parade. After the folks arrived at the state park a man went out there to give them $5 first prize money for the most original float in the parade.

Now that's small town stuff. It's funny. And it's a damn shame things like that don't happen any more. What's the matter with Boyne City, anyway?

The loss of Boyne City's oddballs has caused some distress for its evenballs.

We no longer have those lovable eccentrics to "chew the rag" over so we can stop people from pointing at our own foibles. Even I am guilty. I would not care to have the public standing around pointing at my foibles.

However, I think it's a tragedy the way our modern, hyped-up society has changed our lives. Boyne City still has its oddballs but there isn't a one of them that will get right out there in public and prove it.

The fun of living in a small town is just about shot.

Preparation for the season

Autumn leaves bring visitors here from southern regions. I never gave it much thought beyond realizing that people really will drive for miles to see the trees set like thousands of lanterns on the hills.

I never till now imagined what their effort would be like. Would people prepare for it as a ritual behavior, like writing Christmas cards, or would they in a bustle of eagerness rush about, buying film, putting their house plants into the bath tub, and digging out heavy sweaters for the trek, bumping into each other on the stairs, and dining each other with suggestions on how to pack the car.

We up here in the north don't have to make such preparations—we're already ready, at least, physically. Still there are preparations. At least, to get the season's worth.

It is a kind of preparation to throw a glum, go-to-work feeling out the car window to make room for the message or whatever it is an autumnful morning has.

Autumn is like the climax in a play or symphony. All the powers of spring and summer burn before our eyes in this last act of the play. I believe in burning too, as someone would who has paid a lot for a ticket to a great concert.

I will pay this winter, of course. Meantime the applause. Meantime the pleasure in light shining on or light shining through the leaves; the pleasure of red, yellow, gold burning even in the rain and mist.

Trees that modestly blended their greens together all summer now stand out separately in turn. A tree that was just another tree now shines red, contrasted with the yellow or green of its neighbors, its form suddenly identified—a specimen maple, big and rich.

And over there the once scrubby field of sumac is suddenly electric with color. Some people say autumn is sad, but how can that be when everything seems to be caught, as though with a still camera, in the midst of a dance. To music just beyond the edge of our ear's hearing.

It's like this: You hear an unexpected knock, open the door to see the beaming faces of a cluster of children, delighted over their impulse to visit you. It's an impact of joy.

Children know what joy is. Why do we grow old and let ourselves forget joy, I wonder.

I intend to spend the autumn in a front row seat, and disregarding world news or fuel bills, or the tendency to fret over rust on my car, I will applaud the season to the last vermilion leaf.

And—hello, there!—I notice quite a few front seats already filled.

Boyne City Girl Scout activities underway

Boyne City Girl Scouts are off and rolling again...three Brownie troops of second and third graders, two returning Junior fourth and fifth grade troops, one new sixth grade Junior troop and one new Senior troop. First graders will have their roundup in late October.

"Scouting isn't just cookies, crafts, camping or meetings," said local scout leader Donna Moll. "It is learning and growing in an atmosphere of fun and opportunity. Goals of scouting are geared to deepening each girl's awareness of self as a unique person or worth."

A large group of volunteer leaders makes this happen. The scouts are led by a Service Team of Mrs. Moll, Von Seamon, Nancy Northup and Penny Hardy.

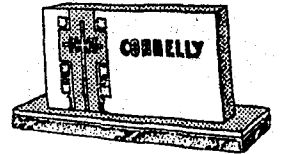

Twenty-one busy women are the leaders of scout troops. Returning leaders are Connie Lingle, Sherry Willson, Elaine Grunch, Darla Evans, Venita Abel, Sandy Pelton, Rose Ann Amley, Lynda Christensen, Mary Ellen Pierce, Wendy Stadt and Peggy Suedhoff.

New leaders are Jean Slack, Sherry Krichmer, Cynthia Kramer, Carol Haige, Marsha Towne, Vivian Woodcock, Kay Brochette, Cathy Leist and student helper Pam Kenyon.

Despite overtime loss

Rambler spirits are high for homecoming

BOYNE CITY - The Ramblers lost their third close game in a row Friday, but Coach Bob McCullough says their spirits remain high.

This Friday, Boyne City will try to change its luck by hosting Grayling for homecoming at 7:30 p.m.

The Vikings are 1-2, but the losses were close games with Roscommon and Petoskey. Ted Methner is Grayling's leading runner, and McCullough says they also have a good passing game.

"It'll be a tough game," he said. "Grayling has a pretty good outfit."

Last week, the Ramblers led Charlevoix for most of the game before losing 26-20 in overtime. Boyne is now 0-3 with all three losses coming by eight points or less.

But McCullough said they don't think they're jinxed. "I told the guys that if we think we're snakebit, we will be. But we're not feeling down. I certainly think we played as good or better than Charlevoix. We definitely outscrapped them."

After the game ended in a 20-20 tie, Charlevoix won on a fluke play in overtime. On their first play from the 10 yard line, Rayder quarterback Scott Kelly lofted a pass into the end zone. Boyne City defensive back John Tompkins batted the ball away from the intended receiver and into the hands of Ross Carey for a touchdown.

The Ramblers then had a chance to even the score on four plays from the 10, but failed. Quarterback Tompkins was thrown for a 10 yard loss on first down, and wasn't able to make a completion on the next three plays.

Boyne scored first in the game when Tompkins hit Boyer on a 12 yard pass play early in the second quarter.

Charlevoix then took an 8-6 lead with a TD and conversion. But Boyne got the lead right back on a 64-yard "flea-flicker" play.

Tompkins made a quick pass to flanker Brad Musser, who is also the second string quarterback. Musser then stepped back and threw the ball to Bob Christy, who was wide open downfield. A pass to Christy added the conversion for a 14-8 Rambler lead at halftime.

The Rayders tied it at 14-14 with 50 seconds left in the third period, but Boyne again regained the lead in short fashion as Todd Rickard ran back the ensuing kickoff 80 yards for a touchdown.

Charlevoix then tied the score at 20-20 as Kelly ran 2 yards for a touchdown with 8:21 left in the game. Boyne drove to a first down at the Rayder 17 with less than two minutes left in the game, but Charlevoix stopped them on fourth down at the 10 yard line with 40 seconds remaining.

Rickard ended the evening with 82 yards rushing (not counting his kickoff return), and Tompkins had 51 yards. Tompkins also completed 7 of 15 passes.

A Charlevoix defensive back nearly makes an interception in the end zone during the final minute of fourth quarter of the Boyne City game last Friday. The ball fell incomplete, however. The pass was intended for Boyne City halfback Shawn Almesbury (20), at left. As the scoreboard in the background indicates, the score was tied at 20-20. Charlevoix went on to win in overtime.

Charlevoix edged Boyne City with an overtime touchdown on this freak play Friday. John Tompkins (12) of Boyne City is knocking down a Charlevoix pass intended for number 21 of Charlevoix—but unfortunately for Boyne City, the ball dropped into the hands of Ross Carey [not pictured] for a touchdown. Also looking on is Boyne defensive back Bob Christy. (Photo by Jim Baumann)

Boyne junior varsity loses but squad shows improvement

BOYNE CITY - The junior varsity football team lost to Charlevoix, 43-6, last Thursday.

Boyne City, now 0-3 for the season, scored first against the Rayders.

Todd Fall ran 55 yards for a first quarter touchdown, on Boyne City's second play of the game. The Ramblers had taken possession by recovering a fumble on Charlevoix's first play.

"I thought we played pretty well in the first half," said Coach Dave Bricker. Boyne trailed 18-6 at halftime and played mostly reserves in the second half.

"We are still improving," Bricker said. "Despite the score, we played much better than in our first two games of the season."

The Rambler JV travels to Grayling for its next game this Thursday, Oct. 1. On Oct. 8, Boyne City hosts Rogers City.

More tough games ahead for Devils

EAST JORDAN - "As soon as Steve Graham got hurt, I told our players that we're not going to have an easy game all year," said Red Devil football coach Buck Cihak.

Now, three weeks after his all-state fullback was injured and lost for the season, Cihak remembered his prediction as he tried to get his squad ready for this Friday's game with Harbor Springs. It starts at 8 p.m. in East Jordan.

East Jordan had just lost its first conference game since the 1978 season, a 6-0 upset at the hands of Pellston, and the Devils now must face even tougher competition. One poll ranks Harbor Springs sixth in the state among Class D teams.

"We've won the league for three years in a row, and everybody is always charged up when they play us," Cihak said.

Graham's injury isn't the only one that has contributed to the Devils' problems. Starting halfback Barry Mumich missed the Pellston game with a severe thigh bruise, and he might not be ready to play against Harbor Springs this week.

Two more starters, Bob Sherman and Mike Brennan, played in the Pellston game, but they missed the previous week's practices with injuries or illnesses.

Starting halfback Tom Peters is the latest casualty. He suffered a bruised kidney and had to leave the game in the fourth quarter after gaining 99 yards last week. Cihak isn't sure if he'll be ready to play this week against Harbor.

That leaves fullback Bill Spence as the only sure starter among the four players who were East Jordan's top runners at the beginning of the season.

Spence has been a workhorse so far this season. He passed the 100-yard mark for the second week in a row last Friday with 104 yards against Pellston.

Juniors Rick Newville and Dan Nachazel will be the halfback replacements if Mumich and Peters aren't at full strength this week. Nachazel played quarterback for three quarters last week, and he was moved to halfback when Peters was injured. Kevin Russell then took over as quarterback.

Cihak said a bad week of practice contributed to the loss to Pellston. With the injuries, he only had 15 players practicing, which meant the offense really didn't have a defense to go against.

A number of errors and penalties, plus missed blocks and tackles, were obvious in the loss. "Every time we got going, penalties would put us in a hole. Then we were forced into a passing situation, and we just don't have that good of a passing game," Cihak said.

Looking on the bright side, Cihak said he thought his team played good defense, holding Pellston to six points after the Hornets had averaged more than 40 in their first two games.

"We're still in it," he said in reference to the league championship race. Pellston, Harbor Springs and Gaylord St. Mary are all strong this year, and if they succeed in knocking each other off, a team with one loss could still win the league or tie for first place.

"Maybe this loss will help make us better," Cihak said. This Friday's Harbor Springs game will tell a lot.

JV win streak ends with tie

EAST JORDAN - "Pellston was a thorn in our side all week long," said junior varsity Coach Bob Rebec after seeing the Hornets stop his team's 31 game winning streak last Wednesday.

Then, of course, the Pellston varsity added insult to injury by giving East Jordan's varsity its first league loss in three years on Friday night.

The JV team still hasn't been defeated for more than three years, however, because they tied Pellston, 6-6.

Pellston scored first in the game, and the Red Devils tied the score in the second quarter as Joe Buick hit end Richie Raymond with a 43 yard pass.

Rebec said fumbles and interceptions, eight or nine turnovers in all, were responsible for his team's sub-par performance in the game.

Next on the schedule for East Jordan's JV team is a Wednesday, Sept. 30, game at Harbor Springs, and a home game with Mancelona on Wednesday, Oct. 7.

EJ cagers roll to 4-2; Looze sets rebound mark

EAST JORDAN - DeEtte Looze set a school record and the Red Devil girls' basketball squad raised its record to 4-2 last week. East Jordan opened Ski Valley League play with narrow victories over Bellaire and Pellston.

DeEtte Looze, East Jordan's 5-10 junior center, broke the school rebounding record by grabbing 31 rebounds as the Devils beat Bellaire on Sept. 22, 47-42.

Looze's effort broke the old mark set last year by Yvonne Grant. She also led the scoring attack against Bellaire with 14 points.

East Jordan led 25-22 at halftime and 35-34 after three quarters before outscoring the Eagles 12-8 in the fourth period.

Also scoring in double figures for East Jordan were Kim Etter with 12 points and Gail Crick and Joelynn Ingalls with 10 each. Sophomore Anne Crawford also contributed 11 rebounds. Against Pellston last Thursday, East Jordan fought back from a 20-15 halftime deficit to win, 37-33.

Coach Mike Bos said his squad shot poorly throughout the game, but improved defense and rebounding in the second half, enabled them to pull out a victory.

The Red Devil scoring was balanced again with Ingalls and Etter leading the way with 11 points each. Looze and Crick both had seven points, while Looze again led the rebounders with 14.

DeEtte Looze

The Red Devil scoring was balanced again with Ingalls and Etter leading the way with 11 points each. Looze and Crick both had seven points, while Looze again led the rebounders with 14.

East Jordan's junior varsity kept its perfect record intact last week as underclassmen improved their record to 6-0.

The Red Devils edged Bellaire 25-20 on Sept. 22 and rallied to beat Pellston 38-28 on Sept. 24.

Against Pellston, East Jordan trailed 18-14 at halftime, but they outscored the Hornets 9-4 in the third quarter and 15-6 in the fourth to win again.

"They really pulled together and showed me what they're made of," said Bos, who is also coaching the JV squad. Bonnie Testa has been the team's leading scorer so far, and last week she added 13 points against Bellaire and 12 against Pellston.

Roxanne Hoffman chipped in 10 points against Pellston, and Bos said he was happy to get more scoring from his other starters.

Logger cagers split; Season record now 4-2

BOYNE FALLS - The Logger girls came up with a split in basketball action last week.

Their record is now 4-2 after losing to Johannesburg-Lewiston on Sept. 22 and beating Wolverine on Sept. 24.

Against Johannesburg, Boyne Falls lost to what Coach Joel Donaldson as "a real good ball club."

"We were within about 10 points most of the game, but we dropped back in the fourth quarter," he said. The final score was 67-35.

"They had a couple of girls who were about 5-11, and they were very agile as well as tall," Donaldson said.

Kim Mikula led the scoring with 11 points, and she also added 10 assists. Pat Frankowiak had nine points and 11 rebounds, while Sandy Payton added 11 rebounds, and Karen Sevenski had 10.

The Loggers had a much easier time with Wolverine, winning by a 53-20 margin.

Sharon Franckowiak hit 10 points and grabbed 12 rebounds, while Sevenski had 18 rebounds and eight points. Also scoring eight points were Pat Frankowiak and Maureen Harmon.

Upcoming games for Boyne Falls will be Tuesday, Oct. 6 at Alanson and Thursday, Oct. 8, at home against Mancelona.
