

Welfare recipients are put to work by county

BY BARBARA CRUDEN

While "general assistance worker" is a new term to many, more and more general assistance workers are taking jobs in government agencies in Charlevoix County.

The general assistance worker is someone who is working off all or part of the financial aid given him or her by the county social services department.

Services supervisor Vasco Zucchiatti said, "We've been doing it for almost a year now."

Actually, Zucchiatti said, the department has been finding jobs for people prior to this year in what was called W.I.N. (Work Incentive Program) which was recently disbanded after eight or nine years, Zucchiatti said.

In the W.I.N. program, people who were on ADC (Aid to Dependent Children) did not have to go out to work if they were the sole support of a child under six years of age.

Since the disbandment of W.I.N., Zucchiatti said, the ADC person must accept a work assignment if the child is over six months old. However, he added, the department has not applied such pressure to people until the child reaches six.

Zucchiatti said GA (General Assistance people) are now at work on various sites—the Animal Shelter, the Senior Center, and other such non-profit organizations. Their insurance is covered by the Social Services Department.

City superintendent Mike Dionne said that East Jordan will start with six GA people, and put on more if it works well.

Dionne plans to have them working at the Tourist Park, the landfill, and at Sportsman's Park. He said the DPW work force, working along with them, will be supervising the GA workers at the same time.

This typifies the way other governmental units are cooperating. The Social Services Department, Zucchiatti said, expects to be able to place 80 to 150 people on work sites, but would like to find work sites for all the 290 people on assistance now who qualify for doing various types of work.

"It's not to be busy-work," Zucchiatti pointed out. He said it often turns out to be good work experience for the GA person, and "it seemed to weed out the free-loaders."

Some, who can't find employment, are glad to be doing something for the financial assistance they receive, some just tolerate it, Zucchiatti said.

He explained the pay is figured by taking the amount received per month, divided by minimum wage. This also determines the number of hours the GA person works.

The funds come from the state through the county social services department.

"And there are sanctions—such as, assistance would terminate for a certain amount of time," Zucchiatti said, if the worker's performance was not satisfactory.

He said the program originated in the State Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act, and that, although the staff size at the county department has been frozen, they still hope to enlarge the program.

Sherk bar verdict in 10 days

A decision is expected within 10 days on whether state liquor laws were violated at Chuck's Place in East Jordan on Christmas Eve.

A five-hour hearing was held April 22 by the Michigan Liquor Control Commission.

Two city police officers say the bar violated closing rules, while bar owner Chuck Sherk has filed complaints against one policeman for allegedly submitting a false report and for acting in an improper manner when he entered the bar that night.

Sherk said he will hear by letter whether the LCC decides his bar was in violation.

The report that was sent to the commission on Dec. 29 by police officers Ron Malinowski and Paul Timmons made four charges, claiming the bar was serving after hours and to an intoxicated person on Dec. 24.

Sherk has maintained the violation report is false in every respect and, in fact, before the report was made public, had submitted his own complaint against the police to the city council on Jan. 5.

He acted as lawyer in his own defense at the hearing held at the Cheboygan County courthouse.

His 15 witnesses were allowed into the hearing room to testify, one at a time. The two policemen also testified.

"I did not expect it (the hearing) to be so formal," Sherk said. "I didn't expect my witnesses to be cross-examined so gruesomely."

If the hearing officer declares Sherk's bar guilty, of a first offense, a fine and/or suspension could be levied.

Meanwhile, the city council police committee was scheduled to hold its own hearing—on Sherk's charges against Malinowski—Tuesday night.

Good News

Shop projects are winners

Several students from East Jordan and Boyne City high schools have advanced to state competition in the Michigan Industrial Education Society contests.

They took first or second place awards last weekend in Kalkaska at the regional project competition.

Two Boyne students received first place awards, while four from East Jordan were first-place winners.

ped canoes. Stuart Goodall received an honorable mention for a pedestal table.

For East Jordan, David Rosensteel took a first with an etched tray and Rick Sutherland was first with a body hammer. Todd Wiltjer's body hammer and Russ Rasmussen's cannon also were awarded first place.

Earning second-place awards for East Jordan were Tracy Segraves and Jim Roberts, both with cannons, and Mike Ciszewski and Ruth Trojanek, both with etched trays.

Math experts take prize

Mike Lercel, a seventh grade student, won the second place trophy at the sixth annual regional math competition which included about 500 competitors. The April 19 competition, sponsored by the Michigan Council of Teachers of Mathematics, was held at the Traverse City Middle School.

Mike was part of East Jordan's team of eight middle school math whizzes which included Nate Jason and Colette Staley from sixth grade; Charles Drapeau, Jamie Bartlett and Steve Plite from seventh grade; and Max Gibbard and Joe Kornowski from grade eight.

Joe, Colette and Steve placed in the 25 top competitors, so they, with Mike, will go on to the state competition to be held May 22 at Central Michigan University.

In Boyne City, Mike DeShryver took fourth place. Mike, a sixth grade student, was part of a team of six from Boyne City Middle School which included Debbie Gipperich and Chris Reich from eighth grade; Debbie Molnar and Derek Smith from seventh grade; and Peter Smith from sixth grade.

Peter placed 25th, so he and Mike will be going to the state competition.

From Faith Lutheran School in East Jordan, a seventh place winner, Sharon Carter, will also be competing at the state level. Because she tied with two other seventh place winners, she was asked to draw straws and came away with the eighth place plaque.

Tourist Park phase II gets go-ahead

Phase II of the East Jordan Tourist Park improvements is due this year. City superintendent Mike Dionne said the Coastal Zoning grant through the state will amount to $25,000. The city's contribution will be $5,000.

The funds will be used, Dionne said, to dredge out the eastern portion of the lake shore and build up the little island there.

The dredging will also be used to build out the point to form a protective arm so that the deepened water may be used as a little harbor.

About 1,000 feet of sidewalk will be put down along the eastern shoreline to facilitate use by the handicapped, and the parking area will be enlarged.

At the April 20 council meeting discussion surfaced again about the moratorium on mobile homes staying in the park.

Councilman Bud Kenny asked if anyone knew which had originated the moratorium—the Tourist Park committee or the grant agency.

A check following the meeting revealed the stipulation in the Coastal Zoning grant application.

Dionne explained, "Coastal Zoning grants can't fund for the private sector." The agency required the removal of the mobile homes before allowing funding. They have till December 1982.

Another complaint has been the possible loss of campsites if a new road is put in.

Dionne said the road proposed for Phase II will not be built. Instead there will be some repaving of present roads.

No sites will be eliminated, he said.

Whether or not the park can be self-supporting is open to question right now, Dionne said, partly because the park has been torn up for the improvements, partly because of the economy.

The park is also a public park for the local people, Dionne pointed out, and the mobile homes were taking up the lake front. Nevertheless, he said, the city is still hoping to make the park pay for itself as it has, more or less, in the past.

Mobile homes will have to be out of the Tourist Park by December. Phase II of the improvement project for the park is set to get underway. Orders to move the mobile homes have caused some controversy in East Jordan. For one park dweller and city councilman's view, turn to the Opinion Page.

Opinions

'Think local' to help yourself and neighbors

It may always seem there's not enough money to go around, but we can do something about changing that.

We can make a diligent effort to keep what we have in the area for as long as possible.

And the way to do that is to deal with local businesses — shop for clothes and groceries here, visit the dentist here, eat at local restaurants. In short, think local.

More than 6,200 businesses around the nation have failed since the first of the year, according to Dun & Bradstreet, the respected financial reporting service. The rate of failure is 56 percent higher than last year — and that was a bad year.

Businesses are going under at a higher rate than in any year since 1933 — at the height of the Great Depression.

Local business means local jobs. And with the county's unemployment rate over 20 percent, we all know how important it is to preserve what jobs there are and to do what we can to stimulate the local economy.

We can't wait for the federal government to bail us out of the mess we're in, because it put us there and it still doesn't know the way out.

We'll have to do it ourselves.

An advertisement for a county bank says every dollar spent locally works like five dollars. It gets used over and over in the community before being handed over to someone outside our area.

Sure, we have to do some business with those outside our local community, or even outside Charlevoix County.

If you can take the time to look, you will find practically everything you need right here in our own community. You may not find a store carrying a left hand knutting valve, but after a drive to other cities, you'll find they don't have one either. They can order it and get it in a couple of days, but so can our local stores.

But there's a lot more here than most people stop to think about.

So before jumping in the car and heading off to Petoskey or Gaylord, or down to Traverse City, check out what's available here.

No, you won't always find exactly what you want, but most times you'll get something just as nice — and even better, and most times at less cost when you consider car expenses.

And you'll be helping yourself and your neighbors by keeping money in the area.

Reconsider plans for Tourist Park

Editor,

I would like to have these facts placed before the people of East Jordan about the moratorium placed on the mobile homes in 1977.

We (mobile homes) will have to vacate the (Tourist) park. The park permits were for 41 mobile home sites which were all filled until the moratorium was put into effect. Then with the knowledge that in five years they would have to vacate, many started leaving the park, usually taking a loss on their mobile home.

My regrets are that at least 12 different families left this park and located themselves in the Lakeview Mobile Home Park in Boyne City. Milton Meredith, a former mayor who lived in East Jordan all his life, would have loved to have been allowed to live in a mobile at our park but could not with the moratorium on. So the businessman's losses due to the moratorium was Boyne City's gain; pertaining to groceries, churches, gas stations, taxes, etc.

Taxes? I have the impression many people believe their tax dollars are supporting the mobile homes and the owners.

I would like to clarify this. When there were 41 mobiles in the park they were all paying $3 per month taxes, $2 for school tax, $1 for city government, this equals $1,476 a year, for approximately 3 1/2 acres that the mobiles sat on.

The park had no school-age children. When this park is set up for tourists only, there will be no income from taxes, as tourists with license plates are not required to pay any tax.

Per budget figures the revenue from rentals for year 1980-81 totaled $27,817. As of 3/1/82, of this figure, $9,997 came from tourists and $17,820 from mobile homes.

Phase I of tourist park grant has been completed and Phase 2 will start this spring. Under Phase 1 twenty-two tourist sites were eliminated due to the berm along M-66. Phase 2 is supposed to eliminate twenty-two more sites due to a new road. That eliminates 44 sites. Is this feasible?

In the past there has always been enough room for everyone; tourists, tenters, and mobile homes, but with 44 sites being eliminated it poses a different situation. The new road would parallel an existing road. Why not resurface the old road and retain the 22 sites that will be eliminated?

Many people with children have suggested that Phase 2 should be the elimination of Phase 1. This way they could park their cars at the beach and still watch their kids swimming, as there now is no parking in this area.

The park behind the community building where they can not see the beach and quite often can not park, due to less parking spaces, due to the renovation that took place last summer. My theory has always been that if there wasn't room for everyone, even over the 4th of July, I would have withdrawn my objections as to what is planned in the future.

But in my five years in the park I have never seen an overflow, with a lot of the tourists we do get, turned away from Young State Park or Whiting Park and told to try East Jordan.

In closing, I hope the committee will reconsider.

I sincerely hope that the East Jordan residents realize that there will be no guaranteed income for park upkeep or school tax income which is currently realized through payments from the mobile homes in the park.

The "phase out" of mobile homes leaves the maintenance of the park a full responsibility of the taxpayer.

County seeks funds for planning

Charlevoix County is seeking $11,114 from the federal government to help with updating the county-wide comprehensive land use plan.

The funds are being sought through the Coastal Management Program, which is administered by the state Department of Natural Resources.

The county would have to match the grant. It would do so with "in-kind" services — time and services of planning department personnel. The money is available to communities which lie adjacent to coastal waters. Because of the way they access by Great Lakes vessels, Lake Charlevoix and the South Arm are considered coastal waters, as is Lake Michigan.

Because of the way the coastal area boundary is determined, all three cities and 10 of the 15 townships — including the two Beaver Island townships — in the county fall within the classification.

Many municipalities within the county already have their own comprehensive plans and all have their own zoning ordinances, which are used in conjunction with the Boyer Falls seventh and eighth grades will be hosts for the first time of the annual regional Math Bowl on Wednesday, May 5.

Participating are 10 schools of similar size from as far away as Forest Area Schools.

Teams will consist of six members each, three on the floor, answering the questions, and three ready to sub.

An overhead projector will show the problems so that spectators may work along if they wish.

The Boyer Falls eighth grade team members are: Kristin Moser, Neil Wasylewski, Amy Morgan, Joy Wilson, Scott Winhusen and Dianne Massey.

Eliminations aren't complete yet on the seventh grade teams, but so far the team members are: Lisa Winhusen, Beverly Howard, Henry Baumgartner, Chanda Ramstadler, Renee Reynolds, Art Vallad, Debbie Gillespie and Nicky Sparks.

Bill Aten, Boyer Falls math teacher, will be designing the questions with suggestions from teachers in participating schools.

"Competition should be keen," Aten said. Last year Boyer Falls was only a few notches away from placing.

McCune Center's community room opens for parties

BY BARBARA CRUDEN

Swinging into its second year, the Virginia M. McCune Community Arts Center celebrates with the opening of its new Community Room—a place where Charlevoix and Emmet County people may hold receptions, card parties, catered luncheons and dinners.

The 48 by 24 foot room is also used—and may be used—as a dance studio. Eugene Hovey, a teacher of dance, donated the practice bars and the wall of mirrors.

A mural of larger-than-life Indians covers a second wall. The mural was donated by Little Traverse Hospital for whom it was originally painted.

The huge painting on canvas by Robert Bushnell Hyman of New York was originally presented to the hospital in 1939 by Mrs. Robert C. Wheeler and N.A. Owings, both of Chicago.

The Community Room was just painted by five men who were working off community service sentences handed down by the circuit court.

In fact, according to center vice-president Edith Gilbert, all the furnishings of the room, except for the paint itself, have been donated.

The window blinds were donated by Jim Behans. One of the center founders, Jack Perry, donated the 12 round tables that can seat eight people each.

Gilbert provided the tablecloths. Stafford Smith of Bay View Inn gave the chairs, and Bill Conn gave the china for 100 place settings.

Funds from tickets for a center banquet paid for the flatware.

The Community Room kitchen has been approved by the health department, Gilbert said.

Gilbert pointed out the room may be rented separately or with the kitchen and said it is an ideal as a place for a reception in conjunction with use for weddings held in the McCune auditorium at the center.

"We see there is a real need in the community for this," Gilbert said.

"In fact," Gilbert said, "Bruce Janssen of Boyne City will be the first to have a wedding here since the arts center opened."

The auditorium, seating 250, is equipped with a new baby grand piano. The original stained glass windows cast a glow from two sides of the high-ceilinged room.

The center is already a busy place with the Youth Art Exhibit going on now and the second annual juried art exhibit coming up for the month of May, along with concerts, art classes, a sales gallery, and artists' studios all housed by the center.

EJ area to pay more for ambulance

Townships around East Jordan will pay more for ambulance service and fire protection in 1982-83.

The reason, according to East Jordan clerk-treasurer Fern Morris, is that operating costs have gone up.

Half the operating costs are paid by the city, the other half is split up among the townships, which include Wilson, Jordan, Echo, South Arm and Evelyn. Parts of adjoining areas also receive protection. While fire protection costs went up eight percent, ambulance went up 25 percent.

The fee for an individual ambulance call is $35 plus mileage, but the fees do not cover total costs.

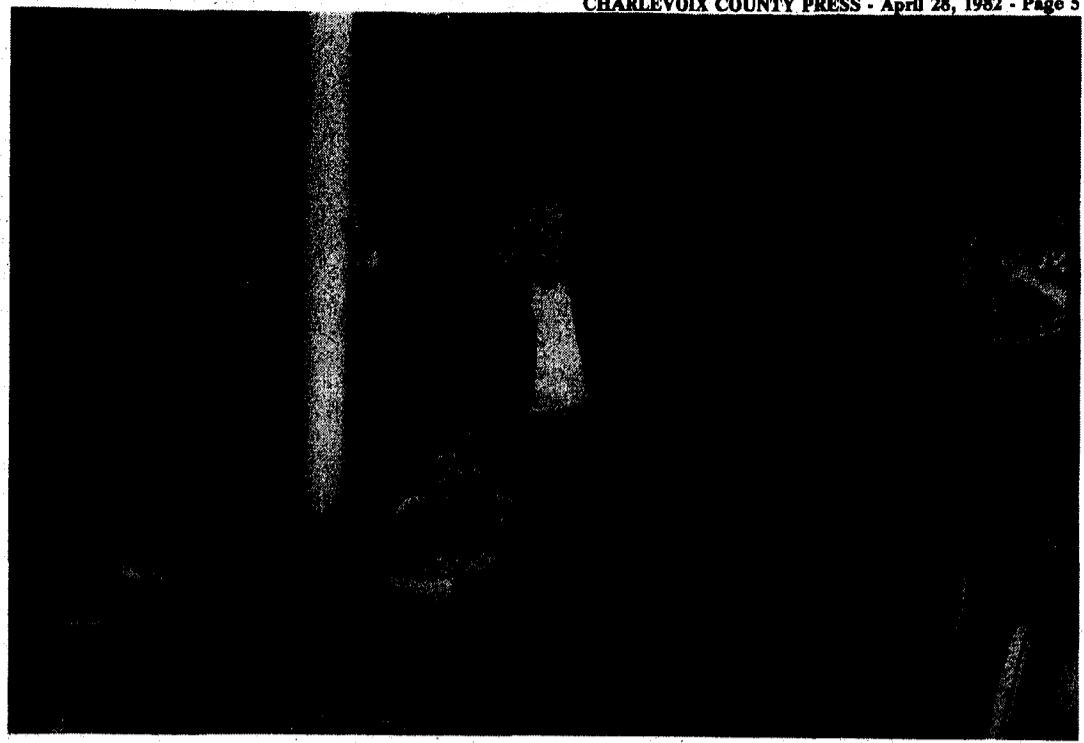

Morris noted such expenses as around-the-clock phone and driver service, medicare rates, and higher vehicle service costs.

The life-and-death standard of East Jordan's ambulance service also requires a response even if the victim does not survive until the ambulance arrives.

In this case, Morris explained, the call is not charged to the household.

Morris said the expense of the new ambulance, purchased last year for around $16,000, is not included in the operating costs the townships pay half of.

Edith Gilbert stands before the mural donated to the McCune Center by Little Traverse Hospital. The painting was done by Robert Bushnell Hyman of New York and presented to the hospital in 1939.

City garden interest polled

The Boyne City parks and recreation commission is still looking for people interested in having lots at a community garden.

The commission has proposed dividing an area at the Avalanche Preserve into 20- by 30-foot lots for individuals to use as garden plots. The fee to obtain a plot would be $5.

To let the commission know if you would be interested in gardening there, call city hall at 582-6597 by May 4.

If enough people in-dicade an interest in the project, the commission will contact them with a date the area will be plowed and planting can begin.

Civic Center fee schedule questioned

A resident of East Jordan questioned the city council Tuesday, April 20, on the fees charged for use of the Civic Center.

The resident, Bill Cook, indicated he wasn't the only one who thought civic organizations should not have to pay for using the tax-supported Civic Center.

He said that even if the use was for a money-making event, the funds collected would still go back to the city.

"These organizations aren't making money for themselves," he pointed out and added that their activities were boosting the city.

"I was of a similar contention," said city superintendent Mike Dionne to Cook. "We have some fine civic groups in town."

The council had established the fees after review of what the public schools charge for the use of their facilities. The fee schedule was worked out last year by the council's Civic Center committee and approved by the council.

As recreation director Pat Berlo explained later, the fee schedule takes into account a number of factors such as, is the group a profit or a non-profit organization; local or out of town. Is the event private or for the public? Will tickets be sold or donations asked?

Nothing is hidden, Berlo said, on why certain charges are asked. Applications are at the city clerk-treasurer's office.

She added that the council has approved the prohibition of smoking and drinking inside the building.

Another thing that should be made clear is that the Civic Center and the Senior Center are two separate entities. Renting the Civic Center does not automatically include the option of renting the Senior Center's kitchen, Berlo noted.

Those arrangements, she said, have to be worked out with the Senior Center for the particular occasion.

At the council meeting councilman Al Joseph said, "The council has the right to waive fees."

Berlo said that the Fiddlers' Association fee had been waived because of its donation. The Lionesses, as another example, had theirs waived for the Christmas party they gave to the children of the city.

People can always come to the council, Joseph said, if they think their fee should be waived.

Cook complained that the center had been used only four or five times a year by civic groups. And Dionne added that if they made more use, the seniors could possibly earn more by providing the refreshments. "With all the recent (federal budget) cuts, they could use that," he said.

The council consensus was that the fee system provides some control on the use of the building. They did not propose a change in the fee schedule.

Earlier in the meeting, the Rotary Club, represented by Charles Mason, presented the Civic Center with a check for $150 for the purchase of equipment. He also presented a plaque to be hung at the center.

The plaque honors Howard P. Porter for his service to the community.

PUBLIC HEARING—REVENUE SHARING

In compliance with applicable federal statutes, a public hearing was conducted to discuss compliance with federal statutes and the relationship to the general county operating budget. VOICE VOTE: all present in favor. Motion carried.

The Ways and Means Committee was directed to review and organize the scope of areas to be covered in a general county audit and report back to the entire board.

Michael B. Davis, Director of the Youth Activities Program, reported on a letter the Board received from the DNR. Mr. Davis explained that the letter does not necessarily imply that the county will have to have a comprehensive recreation plan. He indicated that the state's goal has been to have such a program in each county but that many of the recreation programs have been dropped or cut back because of the state budget problems.

The Board recessed at 12:10 PM for committee work, reconvening at 1:40 PM.

Larry Sullivan, County Planner, presented a proposed grant application for a Charlevoix County Coastal Management Program. The total amount of the grant would be $20,000 with Charlevoix County required to match the grant in the amount of $10,000. Mr. Sullivan explained that some of the advantages would include work in high risk erosion areas (Charlevoix County has 10 of 15 townships that are on coastal waters); the grant would allow for planned zoning and architecture along coastal waters and would have a positive economic impact on sports fishing in the area. The Board agreed to consider the matter and review it further at the March 24 meeting.

Commissioner Ward presented a proposed resolution on the Recreational Planning Services Agency. It was moved by Commissioner Toton and supported by Commissioner Bieganowski that the procedural policy as established by resolution #80-035 be waived to allow Commissioner Ward's resolution to be acted upon at the present time. 1,000 attend Catholic youth rally

BY SUSAN BUICK

The 1982 Diocesan Catholic Youth Rally was held at Boyne Mountain on Wednesday, April 21, for the fourth time.

St. Matthews and St. Augustine, of Boyne City and Boyne Falls respectively, were the host parishes. The theme of the rally was "heart to heart."

Bill Morford and Sister Mary Ann Barrett put the rally together, as they have each year, with the help of other youth ministers of the diocese.

St. Matthews and St. Augustine youth groups worked on rally preparation during three classes plus a few hours outside class. The class is taught by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Franchino and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gretis, both couples from Boyne City. Preparation by the two parishes included making posters for the altar for the mass at the rally, making a poster that represented their group and making hundreds of name tags. They also decorated the civic center at Boyne Mountain before the rally. Attending the rally were about 1,000 10th, 11th and 12th graders and their group leaders, compared to 350 the first year, 500 the second and 800 people the third. Sister Mary Ann believes that the number of people this year is*the maximum amount to expect in years to come. Introduction for the day involved body reflex exercises and the parish litany —introduction of all 66 parish groups.

Guest speaker Dr. Ray Short gave an hour and a half presentation on "love or infatuation?" After lunch, Short, a professor of the University of Wisconsin, answered questions for 20 minutes. Another speaker followed him with a talk on the abortion issue.

The rest of the afternoon included messages from the Word of God and a mass.

Eight priests from throughout the diocese and Bishop Robert John Rose of the Diocese of Gaylord were present for the mass. Music was provided by the Guardian Angels and the theme of the mass was Body of Christ. Students participated in the mass.

Girl Scouts visit New York

The sixth grade Girl Scouts of East Jordan's Troop 287 returned recently from a week-long jaunt to New York City.

This is their second trip to a city. Last year they visited Chicago, "and got so dizzy looking up at a building I fell off the sidewalk," reported Shawn Knapp, one of the touring scouts.

Others in the group were Kristi Burt, Barbie Jensen, Kristi Miller, Shannon Merritt, Dorothy Miner, Tracie and Shellie Gardner. Chaperones were Patty Knapp and scout leader May Bavers.

According to the girls, everything was wonderful —the trip up the Empire State Building and to Chinatown where people on the sidewalk wore Chinese clothes; to the Museum of Natural History, and to the United Nations, the World Trade Center, Times Square, department stores, and the Broadway play "Annie"—which was "so good!" according to Kristi Burt.

Other highlights were Niagara Falls, visited on the way there, and Corning Glass where they watched glass-blowing on the way home.

The scouts earned the money for the trip by selling cookies, light bulbs, and stuffed animals. They also, Shawn said, worked at sixth grade dances.

In addition, donations for the trip were made by the Elks in Petoskey and Girl Scouts of Charlevoix, and the girls took their own spending money. Apparently they hoarded it for special purchases, because Shawn reported they did a lot of walking—across Manhattan four times.

Would they like to live there? The girls thought they might. There was so much still to see.

Lynne Hawkins and Mary Ruhlman of East Jordan; and Patrick Camilleri, Eric Erber, Colleen Mol, Debra Potter and Gregory Wojan of Charlevoix.

10 EJ lettermen return

Ten lettermen are returning to the East Jordan baseball team this year, three of whom are pitchers from last year. The Devils will be trying to improve on last year's 15-5 record. The three returning pitchers are seniors Doug Peck and Kevin Mayhew and junior Rick Newville. Seniors on this year's team are Peck, Kevin Russell, Tom Peters, says, "I think we'll be real competitive. The pitchers should hold us. We do need good hitting but I think that will come as we play." According to Mayhew, the toughest teams to beat this year are the Gaylord St. Mary's Snowbirds, the Central Lake Trojans and the Pellston Hornets. The Snowbirds will host the Red Devils on Thursday, April 29, at 4 p.m.

Mayhew, Dave Morris, Tom Mason and Todd Ingalls. Juniors include Todd Chanda, Newville, Scott Meade, Glenn Trumble, Brad Mayhew and Allen Warren. Sophomores playing for the Red Devils this year are Joe Buick, Darrell Burt and Rich Raymond. The only freshman is Pete Zoulek. Coach Glenn Mayhew

Bike racing set to begin

Bicycle racing will begin a new season in Charlevoix County with a Sunday, May 1 opener. "One of the fastest growing sports in the country," according to track director Dan Miller, the Charlevoix area races are now in their third year. Called DMX Bicycle Moto-cross Racing, the non-profit group sponsoring the races is sanctioned, Miller said, by the American Bicycle Association. "These are pedal-driven bicycles," Miller said. "Strictly for amateurs here, although in some parts of the country professionals compete." The race track is located at Charlevoix Township Park, off Waller Road. A new track was completed last year, Miller said. The construction process cut down on the number of meets last summer, but this year they are planning on 10 races—one every weekend of good weather. Schedules and registration fee information are available from Miller at 547-2968 after 6 p.m. "Or," he said, "stop in at the Charlevoix Ben Franklin where I work." Another person who may be contacted is Paul Arnold, 547-4686 after 5 p.m. Miller said registration for the May 1 races begins at 1 p.m. and racing starts at 3 p.m.

Netters lose to weather

The weather has beaten the Boyne City Ramblers' tennis team twice already. Scheduled matches against Elk Rapids and Petoskey were called off because of poor weather. They will be made up at a later date. Seniors on the team are Martin Neumann, Todd Rickard, Todd Valentine and Alec Cosier. Juniors are Chris Kuhn, Sue Toffolo, Brad Musser, Michelle Breidenstein, Paula Avery, Chris Wright and Jamie Lindsay. Sophomores include Mitch Kruzal, Brenda Breidenstein, Shane Marriage and Doug Kenyon. The only freshman on the team is Craig Napont. Coach Fred Rice says the most promising players are Toffolo, Kuhn, Neumann and Kruzal. The number one doubles team of Rickard and Musser is also promising. "Our team is young and inexperienced," said Rice, "but we're competitive." Early Bird Bowling League Final Standings

EJ, Rayders split twinbill

East Jordan opened its baseball season by splitting a scrimmage doubleheader with Charlevoix. Both games lasted five innings. Kevin Russell threw a four-hitter at the Rayders in the second game of the twinbill to give the Red Devils a 2-0 win. A one-hitter by Mike Loper helped Charlevoix to a 11-3 victory in the opener. Rich Raymond had the lone East Jordan hit off Loper, while the Rayders pounded out 12 hits. They were led by Craig Klooster's double and two singles. Kevin Mayhew took the loss for the Devils. In the nightcap, the Devils collected just two hits but shutout the Rayders, who had four hits. The Boyne City boys' track team outran Gaylord in its season opener, by winning 10 of the 13 events. Jim Brabbs and Scott Stackus were double winners for the Ramblers in a meet where the final score was not recorded. Brabbs won both the mile and two-mile races, while Stackus was victorious in the high hurdles and the long jump. Other winners were Kevin Crandall, Jon Bragenzer and John Tompkins. The Ramblers also won all three relays.
