School debt levy lowered in BC

The Boyne City school board lowered its debt retirement millage by 4/10ths of a mill Monday night.

The tax, which pays off the coming year's portion of building construction indebtedness, was set at 2.8 mills (a mill is $1 of tax for every $1,000 of assessed value of property).

"We can lower the debt retirement millage by 4/10ths and have approximately the same cash balance," superintendent Rich Kelly told the board in recommending the reduction.

The decrease will show up on summer tax collections made by Boyne City. The township only collect taxes once a year—bills go out in December.

Summer bills will be for the 9.1 mills of fixed, allocated tax and the debt retirement.

In all, because the board last month lowered by 1/10th of a mill its requested voted millage, school taxes for the year will drop 1/2-mill from last year's level.

The 21.3 mills of voted tax will go before voters for renewal on June 14.

The Boyne City commission on Tuesday approved continuing the summer tax collection.

The debt retirement millage, Kelly said, will bring in about $257,000. That and a $167,000 balance on hand will cover two fall bond payments, he said.

Kelly also said that since Boyne was not on state aid formula this year, it received a cut of 66 2/3 percent in aid to "categoricals," a separate state aid category that goes to all schools, regardless of the formula.

"Categoricals" is fund assistance for transportation (buses) and vocational and special education.

"We knew when we built this year's budget that we might be cut in categoricals," Kelly said, adding that the budgeting for these items was covered without the state aid.

Schools like East Jordan, still on the state aid formula, did not receive the 66 2/3 cut on their categorical aid.

In line with the policy to allow text book purchases after three years of budgeted austerity, elementary school principal Ed Snyder asked the board to approve a $3,340 purchase of social studies texts for grades three, four and five. The books are "People and Their Heritage" series with "In Communities" for grade three, "The People" in grade four, and "The Country" in grade five.

Fourth grade will also spend one semester on a study of Michigan history.

Another $250 was approved for business law textbooks for the high school, updating studies now based on 1976 texts.

Board president George Shiotelis questioned the reading level of the "People and Their Heritage" series which runs about five months under grade level. Shiotelis said, "We've been pushing for better reading skills and now we're just falling back."

Snyder explained the need for comprehension in the subject matter was the important thing and that the lowered level was deliberate.

The board approved the textbook requests, but tabled discussion on updating texts for the class in aviation.

Some of the board members wanted to cut the class as less academically important than some of the basics which

Litzenburger annex dedication slated May 23

Dedication of the new two-story apartment annex to the Litzenburger Place will take place Sunday, May 23, at 2 p.m.

Boyne City Housing Commission director Todd Sorenson said the $1,284,750 addition funded by Housing and Urban Development, a federal agency, is designed for senior citizens with low incomes.

Also qualifying will be people who are handicapped. According to the federal requirements, one out of every 10 apartments must be planned for the use of a person using a wheelchair or otherwise handicapped.

Sorenson said 74 applicants now are on the waiting list for the 30 apartments which will be ready for occupancy Monday, May 24.

Asked whether any more low-income housing will be built in Boyne City, Sorenson replied, "Sure hope so. At this point, however, there are no funds."

The housing commission also negotiated with HUD for 10 houses for low-income families. These are now nearing completion and bring the total HUD funding to $1,713,000, Sorenson said.

Both the annex and the housing now belong to the Housing Commission under a 40-year contract with HUD to maintain them for rental to low-income people.

Building began July 7, 1981, with Petrie Construction Co. as general contractor.

Sorenson said sub contracting was given to area businesses whenever possible.

Boyne seeks well grant

The state health department is concerned about water supply limitations in Boyne City, according to department engineer Tim Benton.

"I want to emphasize how important we think it is that Boyne City go ahead with its capital improvement program," Benton told the city commissioners at their noon meeting, Tuesday, May 11.

Agreeing that the present water supply would not cope with any significant future development, city manager Tim Clifton said the health department could possibly turn down any such plans.

In addition, he said, the state's safe drinking water act gives the city until 1985 to follow the law requiring having a back-up well of equal capacity, in case something goes wrong with the producer well.

Boyne City has the large South Boyne well, built in 1970, plus the South Boyne back-up well, but the latter is not big enough to service either North or South Boyne if something should go wrong with the main wells. North Boyne's main well is somewhat smaller than South Boyne's.

Thus, a new well, equal to the present South Boyne production well, is necessary. The new well would cost about $100,000.

Representing the city engineering consultant, Granger and Company, David Rommelmann reported that Boyne City's circumstances indicate a good chance at obtaining a full-funding grant through the state from the Small Cities Block Grant Development Program.

Rommelmann said at present $14 million is in the kitty for public works that eliminate major problems. One factor in the city's favor, he said, is the new water rates—which, being high, could not be increased further to finance the well.

The council voted to apply for the grant, noting at the same time that the city's capital improvement program would have to take care of replacing the small, crumbling 80-year-old mains.

It is the condition of these mains, Benton said, that make chlorination of the water supply necessary in Boyne City.

Neighboring East Jordan uses no chlorine, having laid in thousands of feet of new pipe mains in the '60s," Benton said.

Housing director Todd Sorenson looks at the kitchen appliances in one of the new low income houses being finished under the HUD grant.

Weather cheats morel hunters

The weather wasn't very kind to last weekend's morel hunters.

Lack of rain in the days before the 23rd annual National Mushroom Festival kept the supply of morel mushrooms low and the contestants away.

While the event drew mushroom hunters from as far away as California and Florida, there were only 102 registered for the chance to win cash prizes.

That was the second lowest turnout in the history of the event, which is sponsored by the Boyne Valley Lions Club and the Boyne City Area Chamber of Commerce.

The winners in each of four categories (men, women, resident and non-resident) received a 12-by-18-inch wood morel trophy and $75. The second place finishers received $50 and the third place finishers $25.

The top five hunters in Saturday's competition returned to the fields Sunday for the finals.

The men's resident winner was Tony Williams of Boyne City, who collected 112 morels on Sunday after finding 201 on Saturday. Second was Gary Roberts of Boyne City with 67 Saturday and 77 Sunday. Third was Dana Schaler of Boyne City with 57 and 67.

The women's resident winner was Irene Mackie of Walloon Lake with 141 Saturday and 82 Sunday. Second was Susan Madison of Boyne City with 44 and 49. Third was Brenda Lindsay of Boyne City with 34 and 39. Men's non-resident winner was Tom Wycoff of Plainwell with 44 Saturday

The winners of the 23rd National Mushroom Festival the men's resident winner and overall top hunter, won for the morel-picking contest were, from left, Thomas Wycoff, third straight year. Mildred Gilliam, Irene Mackie and Tony Williams. Williams, and 74 Sunday. Second was Paul Whipple of Nunica with 85 and 40. Third was Robert Barber of Kentwood with 33 and 36. Women's non-resident winner was Mildred Gilliam with 47 Saturday and 20 Sunday. Second was Martha Armstrong of Cardington, Ohio, with 4 and 5. Third was Robin Armstrong of Cardington, Ohio, with 3 and 4. The contest had entrants from California, Florida, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Arizona, New York and Ontario. Honors were also bestowed over the weekend for the paintings done on downtown store windows by art students from Boyne High.

Brenda Lindsay has her mushroom "catch" counted following the championship round on Sunday. Lindsay finished third in the women's resident category with 39 mushrooms found on Sunday.

First place went to Lisa Cunningham, Lisa Judkins, Melanie Sims and Lorrain Sims for their Garfield painting on the Ben Franklin window. Todd Valentine was second with his painting on the Valentine Studio window, while Karen Winters and Wendy Everest were third for their work on the Gil Coons window. There were 26 windows decorated in mushroom festival motifs by the students.

DOLORES AND ARNOLD KOTESKEY

Schantz, Koteskey wed

The nation has been buffeted by an inflation rate that has pushed the Consumer Price Index up 135 percent since 1970. Prices have escalated for almost everything including clothing, food, homes, electricity and heating fuels. In fact, it would take $2.34 today to match $1 worth of 1970 buying power. Consumers Power Company's electric rates have increased more slowly than the Consumer Price Index. Still, inflation has taken a heavy toll. For example, a typical residential electric customer of Consumers Power Company using 500 kilowatt-hours paid an average of $12.12 a month in 1970. Any electric customer can tell you he is paying much more than that in 1982 dollars. Restating today's bill in 1970 dollars shows the reason is inflation. If inflation could be eliminated, under our current rate structure an average monthly electric bill for 500 kilowatt-hours would only be $12.50 or $11.37 today, depending on the customer's lifeline rate. Without inflation, the price of electricity has remained virtually unchanged for the last 12 years.

Marshall ponders repeat performance

The mushroom festival is over, and according to a careful search of our back forty, so are the mushrooms.

Someone tapped a telephone pole and hung a pail on it. A sign on the pail says: "Polish syrup." It's across the street from the city hall.

Apparently someone wanted to remind folks about that old story concerning the Polish people of Boyne Falls tapping telephone poles to get maple syrup.

One of these days Boyne Falls is going to pull a zinger on Boyne City. I hope I'm not around when it happens. If there's anything Boyne City can't stand, it's having its zinger pulled.

You can't win. Just as we got one of those souped-up color TV sets the Boyne Theater went back to showing talking pictures.

Ann Landers used many of her columns over and over for several months, giving her time to meet speaking engagements. I have a speaking engagement coming up and I had thought about repeating one of my old columns to give me time to think about it. I was going to re-run that column where I told about pushing a wheelbarrow into the bank to draw out enough money to buy a week's groceries. But I decided against it. It was funny when I wrote it, but prices have gone up so high since then that everyone is doing it and it isn't funny any more.

Because of high interest, taxes and inflation, this is a splendid time to start a new business. The general economic conditions will greatly shorten that awful period of floundering by causing you to fail much quicker than normal.

Erv Worthing is charging one dollar per pack for cigarettes. Back when barbershops eliminated the singing quartettes and raised the price of haircuts, I used to buy a pack from him for 10 cents. If he had charged one dollar in those days, I would have smoked corn silk much longer than I did.

The television is on as I write this. The commercial is telling about a new and improved way to remove grease from your trap. Ha! I know of only one way to remove grease from my trap. And it works every time.

A reader wanted to know how much longer I was going to write this column. I told him I was going to write it until there wasn't a drop of ink left in my quiver.

Quiver? I'll be darned! I hadn't thought about my quiver in years.

That isn't so strange, really. A lot of men have something they haven't thought about in years.

East Jordan Little League players held their sixth annual jelly sale on May 4 at Murphy Field. On hand were 100 players and parents. The players sold over 700 jars of jelly. ## 'In the nice ear of Nature...'

On a spring morning, the woods full of green and white dots looking like a painting by Seurat, sunlight shining up and down trunks of trees, and distant hills floating in shades of blue—it seems inappropriate to suggest that one thing is more beautiful than all others. But there is one thing.

Is it that voice of peace, the morning dove? Or the elf-song of the indigo bunting just returned today?

There is a host of candidates, each taking a turn to solo.

There is a special place forever for the chickadee's haunting spring call, and for the meadowlark's upswinging cinquains.

Mornings like this when dew hangs on the arched-over tips of grass, blazing scarlet amber, green, and gold, and that prince among birds, the rose-breasted grosbeak, whistles from one tree after another, we are suddenly vastly wealthy, inheriting, yet another spring.

But out of all nature shining in the spring sun, the finest gift is the song of the wood thrush.

Writing about a wood thrush in these times is a peril. Writing in any times about a bird or a daffodil is considered the proper province only of poets.

The real people live in a world that lies elsewhere, in striving, cynicism, or pain.

Still, as today's strife becomes yesterday's dreary history, we persist in praising beauty—beauty as powerful when small as a jewel as is when big as a mountain.

So—as the knowing light of a spring morning touches deep into the woods, and green veils of leaves seem part of the still air around each tree, a thrush sings.

Woods were made for the song of a thrush. Woods stillness waits for those silvery measures, varied and meditative, sifting down through the early light—waits all winter for one fine morning.

One fine morning with the first song of a thrush.

Knowing how to find water

BY JIM SILBAR

Last Wednesday I had the privilege of going to the Michigan Well Drillers' annual convention at Boyne Mountain and wow, as a geology freak, I really learned a lot of stuff I probably will never be able to use.

Probably the most important thing was that if I ever need a well drilled, I had better call Ed Korthase or Elmer Crain or Leo Goldsmith or any of the other well drillers in the area.

I found out it's pretty difficult to "just pop a hole in the ground" so water will flow into the pipe and then into the house.

Learning this while walking around the displays, I also ran into some old friends from down below who were in the business. They also reinforced the idea that you use a company that knows what to do to find water.

One of the displays was from the DNR division of geology. As I was looking through all their brochures, I was finding out all kinds of things about water formations, bedrock, glacial drift, moraines and all the other stuff that make up our area.

One should be warned, though, if they plan on drilling their own well and live close to the lake, the glacial drift is only a few feet thick and you may hit bedrock. As you get towards Boyne Falls, most of the water wells are only down a hundred or so feet and the bedrock is about 200 feet down.

Because of the bedrock, you will need one of the $250,000 super rotary drilling rigs that look like miniature oil drilling platforms. Then you will need "drill" pipe, which is different than the pipe you put down to draw water out of, and probably only costs about a zillion a foot. Of course in order to drill into the bedrock, you will need a carbide-tipped Hughes Tool Co. original design rotary three-face drill.

You can save some money on that, though. Some of the companies that displayed them had some that have only been used once. Used by an oil driller who only used it for a thousand feet or so, in some deep well somewhere in Texas.

Used, that drill bit will only cost about $2,500 for an eight-inch variety. They do cost less smaller, but I would think there are few two- and four-inch oil wells around.

So now you know why I am not going to be drilling my own water well. I am going to use one of the local guys. They have all that equipment or know where to get it.

State senator salutes nurses

Editor,

As we celebrate Michigan Nurse Week—May 2 through May 8—I want to offer my personal appreciation to the nurses throughout northern Michigan for their outstanding work.

This year's theme "Nurses Make A Difference" is indeed appropriate. From providing direct care in hospitals to providing visiting nurse care, nurses certainly do "make a difference" in each of our lives. And while often placed under very difficult conditions, they always help pull us through, whether it be with immunizations for our children or home health care for our elderly.

I am especially appreciative of our north country nurses in my capacity as vice-chair of the Senate committee on Health and Social Services. Time after time, our nurses take the initiative to write me, phone me, and coordinate meetings so we can discuss key health care issues of special impact to rural outstate Michigan. And their efforts certainly continue to make a difference in formulating state health care policy.

On behalf of all the people of northern Michigan, I want to say "thank you" to all our nurses for their outstanding professional and community service.

Mobile homes not paying fair share

Editor:

As a taxpayer of East Jordan who lives on the lake, I feel I must respond to the propaganda being spread regarding the hardships being placed on the mobile home owners who are being asked to vacate the Tourist Park or who have not been allowed to move in.

They have been and are paying the fabulous sum of $120 per month when they occupy the mobile and $75 when it is just parked there, unoccupied. Subtract $3 tax from that and the price for parking space, lot rent, water, sewer, electric, lawn mowing, seeding, etc., is rather small.

Then, there is the subject of taxes. Each mobile pays $36 per year which is $24 for the school, $6 for the county and the city gets the other $6. Last year the city got $126.50 from all of them while my city tax was $282.90. The school received $506 while my school tax was $632. I don't have any school age children either.

I am sorry that 12 families moved to Boyne City because they weren't allowed to live in the Tourist Park, if that was the reason. I understand that there is now a mobile home park in East Jordan. Admitted, it isn't on the lake but neither is Boyne City's.

I don't know where Bud Kenny got his figures for what the mobile homes paid in rent for the year but I watched Fern add the receipts, at my request, and the total was only $15,377.60 from April 1, 1981, through March 1982.

I'm not sure what Phase 1 and Phase 2 of the Tourist Park project is, but when Bud Kenny referred to people parking behind a building, I couldn't help but think about the tourists who have been parking behind mobile homes which blocked their view of the lake also.

Probably what bothers me most is that Bud Kenny ran for council, serves on the Tourist Park committee and votes on issues where, in my opinion, he should abstain. Since he is the only year-round resident of the park it appears he would have a conflict of interest.

The real issue, however, is none of the above. The issue is that the Tourist Park by its very name is a Tourist Park and should be a place where tourists, even local tourists who do not live on the lake, can spend a few days or weeks camped on the lake instead of behind a row of mobile homes.

Arrangement would let lawyer quit

East Jordan city attorney Roy Hayes will continue to pursue present city litigation even though a new city attorney may be appointed. Hayes submitted his resignation back on Jan. 5, but no new attorney was appointed because the city council wanted Hayes on the present case. At the May 4 council meeting Hayes said he would continue the case work at his usual case fee and forego the city attorney retainer fee, in favor of the new appointee, whenever the latter should begin work. No selection has been made yet, although Mayor Archie Nemecek said he was aware of an application from one lawyer and interest expressed by another lawyer who had not, however, submitted an application. With the Hayes arrangement settled, the council agreed to move ahead with the appointment of a new city attorney.

Students win at 'Olympics of Mind'

The informal regional Olympics of the Mind in Interlochen April 28 honored Boyne City Elementary School teams with a first, second and third place and East Jordan Middle School teams with second and third place awards.

The East Jordan entry had already been narrowed to one team in each category by a run-off at the middle school earlier this year.

Sponsored by Unlimited Potential, a group of parents and teachers, one team submitted an original earthquake-resistant structure made of 5/8 ounces of balsa wood. The other team submitted an original "Cruppet" (for creative puppets) show. The Cruppets team won the second place, being marked high particularly on the spontaneity of their presentation.

The earthquake structure, built of the requisite 1/8-inch thick pieces of balsa wood, held, on its slightly arched miniature tower, a total of 175 pounds before cracking at the "earthquake."

Anne Johnston, representing Unlimited Potential, said the students "were a lot of fun, hard workers, real keen..."

Boyne City's group came from the students enrolled for after-school enrichment classes, held once a week.

Phyllis Hosier, a first grade teacher in Boyne City, teaches the enrichment program to students who are advanced in their regular classroom work. She is aided by parent Renata Smith.

The program is supported by the parents.

Seven teams from the program participated at Interlochen.

The elementary students, whose team won in the earthquake competition, built a structure of balsa wood that held 98.8 pounds.

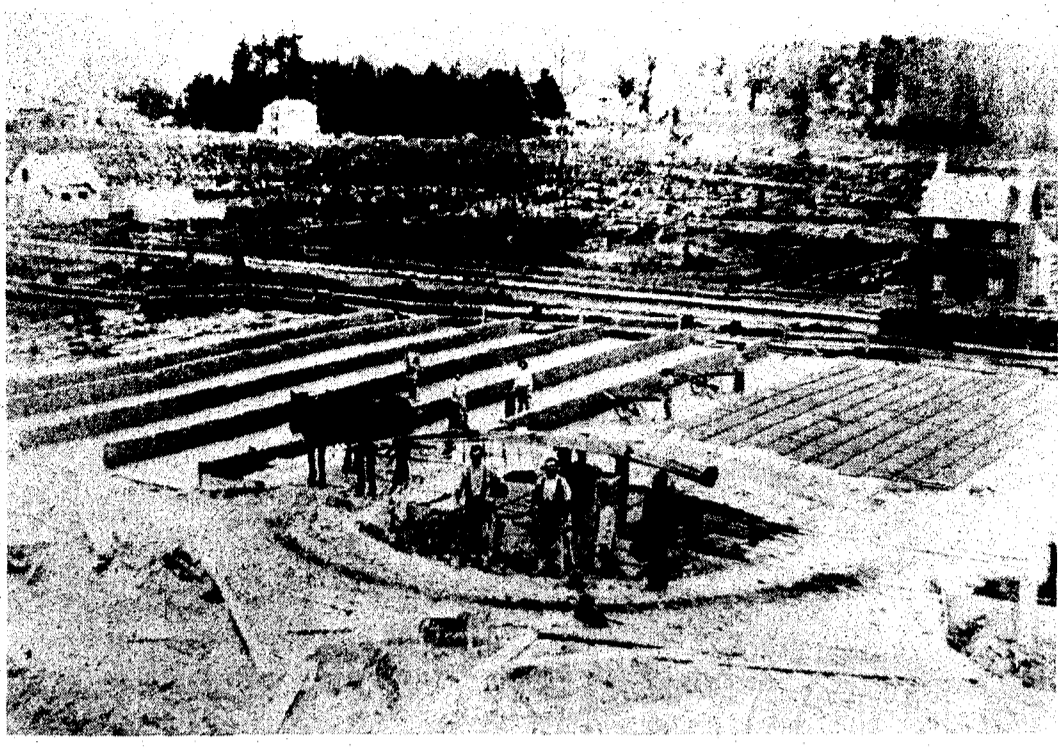

Hosier said, "The kids who achieve academically don't get cheered as the football team does."

This was a chance, she said, for them to have that kind of recognition.

Besides the school teams, a number of 4-H teams from the region participated. Johnston said next year the competition may involve high school students as well.

This year was a trial balloon, she said. With all the interest that was shown, they plan to expand and participate next year in a full participation in the national Olympics of the Mind.

Boyne City Middle School local history students will present a large picture of the Nicholls and Morgan Brickyard to the public library on May 18. The program will start at 7:30 p.m. at the library. Brickyard was one of the first businesses in Boyne City, operating from 1879 to 1894.

Dam has 'hazard potential' but is safe

The Boyne River Dam is one of 113 across the state labeled as having a "high hazard potential."

The dam has been inspected and found to be structurally safe, however, said Leon Cook, assistant division chief of the waterways management division of the state Department of Natural Resources.

Having a "high hazard potential," Cook said, means serious economic damage or loss of life could result if the dam were to give out. The rating was determined more because of development downstream, Cook said, not because of the condition of the dam itself. Boyne City is downstream from the dam.

The Boyne River dam was the only one in Charlevoix County which is included on the DNR's high potential list. Two in Antrim, both near Bellaire, were listed and neither of them is considered unsafe, either. No Emmet dams were on the list.

The dams were surveyed as part of a four-year project authorized by Congress after a dam collapse in 1977 led to the deaths of 49 people at a Bible college in Georgia.

Of the 800 dams surveyed by the DNR, 113 were determined to have high hazard potential and 37 were found to be unsafe. There are about 2,200 dams in the state.

The dams were rated as having high, significant or low hazard potential, Cook said.

Even though Congress authorized the survey, it has not provided any funds for repairs to any dams needing work.

NOTICE

Northern Michigan Electric Cooperative, Inc. and Wolverine Electric Cooperative, Inc. announce that they have made application for a loan guarantee from the Rural Electrification Administration (REA) which will provide financing assistance to Northern and Wolverine for a second deficiency loan for the purchase of a 20% share in the Enrico Fermi Nuclear Generating Station Unit No. 2, located in Monroe County, Michigan. The generating station is being constructed by the Detroit Edison Company and is now 90% completed. These funds are necessary because of fuel related costs that will be incurred until the projected commercial operation date of Unit No. 2 and for design and safety changes resulting from the nuclear plant accident at Three Mile Island. The approximate total amount of these loans is estimated to be $220,000,000.

Notice of a Final Environmental Statement (NUREG-0769) for the proposed operation of the Enrico Fermi Atomic Power Plant Unit No. 2 prepared by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission's Office of Nuclear Reactor Regulation was published in the Federal Register on September 11, 1981 on page 45454. A notice of an Addendum to this E.I.S. was published in the Federal Register on March 19, 1982 on page 12001.

Because this is an ongoing project, and REA issued a "Finding of No Significant Impact" (FONSI) on April 25, 1980 for the previous deficiency loan, the Cooperatives believe that continued participation in the project will have no significant effect on the quality of the human environment.

If there are any comments on the environmental aspects of the proposed action, they should be submitted to the Cooperatives within thirty (30) days of the publication of this Notice. Additional information may be obtained at the Cooperative offices at the following addresses:

NOTICE
 Northern Michigan Electric Cooperative, Inc. and Wolverine Electric Cooperative, Inc. announce that they have made application for a loan guarantee from the Rural Electrification Administration (REA) which will provide financing assistance to Northern and Wolverine for a second deficiency loan for the purchase of a 20% share in the Enrico Fermi Nuclear Generating Station Unit No. 2, located in Monroe County, Michigan. The generating station is being constructed by the Detroit Edison Company and is now 90% completed. These funds are necessary because of fuel related costs that will be incurred until the projected commercial operation date of Unit No. 2 and for design and safety changes resulting from the nuclear plant accident at Three Mile Island. The approximate total amount of these loans is estimated to be $220,000,000. Notice of a Final Environmental Statement (NUREG-0769) for the proposed operation of the Enrico Fermi Atomic Power Plant Unit No. 2 prepared by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission's Office of Nuclear Reactor Regulation was published in the Federal Register on September 11, 1981 on page 45454. A notice of an Addendum to this E.I.S. was published in the Federal Register on March 19, 1982 on page 12001. Because this is an on-going project, and REA issued a "Finding of No Significant Impact" (FONSI) on April 25, 1980 for the previous deficiency loan, the Cooperatives believe that continued participation in the project will have no significant effect on the quality of the human environment. If there are any comments on the environmental aspects of the proposed action, they should be submitted to the Cooperatives within thirty (30) days of the publication of this Notice. Additional information may be obtained at the Cooperative offices at the following addresses:

Red Devils win 6th straight

The East Jordan baseball team is riding on a six-game win streak following a doubleheader sweep against Bellaire.

The Red Devils, who started the season slowly, have upped their record to 8-6 with the victory skeep.

In the opener, Scott Meade and Rich Raymond hit home runs for the Devils as they won 8-7.

Kevin Mayhew was the winning pitcher, striking out 11 Eagles. The Devils got a little breather in the second game, winning 13-3 behind the pitching of Doug Peck.

East Jordan pounded out 11 hits while Peck held Bellaire to four.

Mayhew led the attack with a home run and two other hits. Peck, Tom Peters and Dave Morris each chipped in a pair of hits.

Last week, the Devils downed Pellston by 2-0 and 5-3 tallies.

In the opener of that doubleheader, Mayhew threw a four-hitter while loser Rocky Swiss allowed just three Devil hits.

Both runs were scored in the first inning.

Raymond, Meade and Kevin Russell had the EJ hits. Raymond's was a double.

The Devils scored four times in the third inning of the second game to provide the margin of victory.

Peck was the winning pitcher, giving up seven hits.

Russell led the Devils with three hits, while Mayhew had two.

EJ outruns Bellaire

Three first place finishes by Kim Etter helped East Jordan's girls' track team clip Bellaire 69-53.

East Jordan won half the 14 events and powered its way to victory on the strength of good second and third place showings.

Etter's victories came in the long jump where she leaped 13 feet, 4 1/2 inches, the high jump where she cleared 4 feet, 8 inches, and the 200-meter low hurdles which she ran in 37.32 seconds.

Other first place finishers for the Red Devils were Melissa Parmer who won the mile run in 6:56.06, Beth Hribljan who captured the 440-yard dash with a time of 67.5 seconds and two relay teams.

The 800-meter relay team of Jenny Michael, Hribljan, Danielle Baker and Anna Crawford won in a time of 2:00, while the 440-yard relay team finished in 58.86 seconds. Running in the 440 were Tammie Smith, Michael, Baker and Crawford.

Mickey Puroll and Angela Noirot were second and third in the shot put, while Noirot was third in the discus throw. She also finished second in the 880-yard run.

Michael was second in the long jump, and Puroll was second in the low hurdles and third in the high jump. Crawford was second and Cammie Smith third in the 100-yard dash.

Laurie Sherman finished second in the mile run and third in the 880 run. Hribljan and Crawford took second and third in the 220-yard dash, while Parmer and Lisa Healey were second and third in the mile run. Baker was second in the 440 run.

Logger girls win twin bill

Boyer Falls' softball team defeated Wolverine in both ends of a doubleheader.

The Logger girls won the first game 19-9 and the second 23-15.

Pat Franckowiak was the winning pitcher in the first game and Kim Mikula was the winner in the nightcap.

Franckowiak helped her own cause in the opener with four hits, while Melody Wilson, Karen Sevenski and Rhonda Grubaugh each contributed two.

In the second game, Mikula had a home run among her three hits. Grubaugh had four hits and Wilson three in that game.

Last week the Loggers walloped Central Lake's junior varsity 29-11 and 11-0.

Franckowiak was the winner in the first game and Mikula the winner in the second.

Harbor downs BC in tennis

Harbor Springs four doubles matches. In the singles, Boyne's Chris Kuhn was defeated by Linda Topolsky 6-1, 6-1, Martin Nemann was stopped by Matt Menzi 6-2, 6-3, Mitch Krusel lost to Rob Menzi 1-6, 6-2, 6-4, and Sue Toffolo was beaten by Rob Fuhrman 6-1, 6-0.

Boyer's doubles team of Brad Musser and Todd Rickard was downed by Rob Kowalski and Don Haines 6-3, 4-6, 6-2, then Steve Rickard and Jamie Lindsay stopped Harbor's John Medicine and Charles O'Neil 6-2, 6-3.

Alec Cosier and Todd Valentine of Boyne took Dave Noggle and Brian Heathman 6-2, 6-1.

"I though the kids did a good job," said Ramblers coach Fred Rice. "There were several close matches that could have gone either way — hopefully our way next time."

BC sports dinner slated

The Boyne City High all-sports banquet will be held at 6 p.m. Wednesday, May 26, in the school cafeteria.

The dinner is for all athletes and parents. There are about 170 student-athletes.

Guest speaker will be Central Michigan University head basketball coach Dick Parfitt.

There is no charge for the dinner.

Heartworm tests urged

Area veterinarians are warning that this is the time of year to be concerned about dogs contracting heartworms.

Dogs are infected when bitten by mosquitoes carrying immature stages of the parasites which travel through the bloodstream to the heart where they develop into adult heartworms.

Early symptoms of the disease include decreased stamina and tolerance for exercise, shortness of breath and coughing. It takes six months from the time a dog is infected until the disease is detectable by a veterinarian.

Spring is the best time for testing, since the past mosquito season was more than six months ago. Testing involves taking a small sample of blood from the dog.

Preventive medicine is available for dogs which test negative. Vets caution against giving last year's medicine without first having the dog retested, because infected dogs may have a fatal reaction to the drug.

Dogs should be tested every year, the vets say. Most infections can be treated if detected early enough, the vets say.
