County will continue township zoning...

Charlevoix County will continue to administer zoning ordinances for townships which want it to—at least for another year.

Two townships—Melrose and Boyne Valley—now have the county planner act as their zoning administrator. Other townships and the cities have their own personnel to enforce zoning laws.

County planning commission members have been discussing, on and off, for several months whether the county should be in the business of administering local laws.

County planner Larry Sullivan has said the fees paid by the townships—$750 for Melrose and $438 for Boyne Valley—do not cover costs, which he estimated for 1981 to be about $2,000 to $2,500.

He said, however, the lull in building activity in recent months has reduced his zoning administration work to a trickle.

The planners, while saying they may talk more later about the practice, decided to continue administering the laws for those two townships for another year.

If other townships wish the county to administer their ordinances, too, the planners said, the county will do so (subject to commission approval).

Sullivan said an official from one of the three cities—he would not say which city—had informally approached him about the possibility of the county acting as administrator for that municipality, too.

The commission did not deal with that possibility since no formal request had been made.

A fee schedule will have to be worked out, commissioners decided. No fees for Boyne Valley or Melrose were discussed.

There are presently 18 different zoning ordinances at work within the county—one for each city and township. A county-wide ordinance was voted down in a 1973 election.

Whenever discussion of zoning administration takes place, the possibility of county-wide zoning administration—having the county oversee all zoning laws—comes up.

So does the possibility of preparing and enacting a new county-wide ordinance.

Commissioner Dennis Jason said at the June 3 commission meeting that county-wide administration may have merit without having county-wide ordinance. They are not interlocked items, he said.

The advantage of having county-wide administration, he said, is that zoning laws may be enforced more evenly. Resident-administrators would not have to worry about citing their neighbors for zoning law violations, he said.

Commissioner Arnold Hudson suggested that the zoning administrator work more closely with the building department, which inspects projects as they are built after they have met zoning standards.

He said the building inspectors have no way of knowing if zoning violations occur—citing the example of a person moving stakes after the zoning administrator has approved a site so the eventual building is not in accordance with the zoning ordinance.

Three hundred thirty-seven students graduated from Charlevoix County high schools last weekend. Pat Upton was the main speaker (above) during the Boyne City commencement on Friday night. There were 105 Boyne graduates. Seventy-five seniors graduated (left) from East Jordan High on Sunday. Rev. Gerald Blevins was the baccalaureate speaker. Rev. H. Forest Crum delivered the baccalaureate address to the 23 Boyne Falls graduates (below) on Saturday. There were 134 graduates at Charlevoix High on Sunday. They heard an address by Philip Loomis. The five Beaver Island graduates attended ceremonies a week earlier and heard L. Brooks Patterson.

.. 'City' assessor explains methods

General questions on property taxes were answered at the Boyne City noon commission meeting, Tuesday, June 8, by county equalization director Joan Blanchard.

Boyne City employs the equalization department staff to do the city's assessing.

One resident present at the meeting protested, saying, "I believe people would be more evenly taken care of if the city had its own assessor. The citizens would be better represented."

He objected to the fact that the county assessor can not appraise each property every year.

City manager Tim Clifton pointed out, "I don't know of a city with an assessing staff large enough to do every piece of property every year...They do it, one quadrant a year."

Blanchard explained assessing is done every three years, each area taking a turn. In between the department uses its land value maps and its Land Values Manual to determine the multiplier used to keep abreast of current values.

"We do not decide the taxes," she emphasized, saying her department was responsible only for the values on which local governments figure what millage to ask.

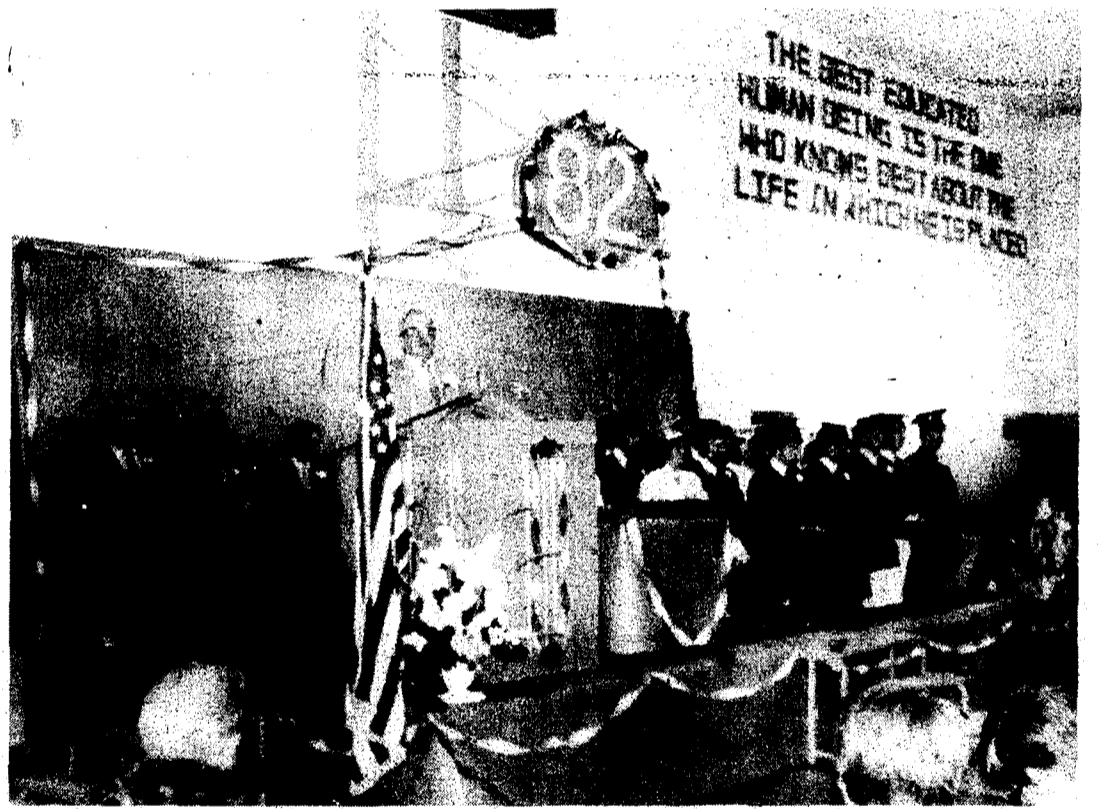

She said also the advantages of having the department do the assessing include the savings in clerical work and supplies, but more importantly, it saves on duplication because the department must perform some of the services necessarily performed by an assessor.

Another point was that an assessor would probably live in the area in which he works and suffer the criticism of supposed—or on rare occasions—actual sympathy for some of those assessed.

Clifton noted a city assessor would cost the city double the approximate $10,000 paid at present to the equalization department to have the assessing done.

Blanchard said she is often asked why

BF man killed in crash

A Boyne Falls man was killed Friday, June 4, when his pickup left the road and rolled over.

The victim was Michael B. Bernadyn, 39, of Boyne Falls. The accident took place on Romaniak Road in Melrose Township about 7:30 p.m.

Bernadyn was born July 8, 1942, in Melrose Township and lived his entire life in northern Michigan.

He is survived by five brothers, Joseph, Frank, Chester and Raymond, all of Boyne Falls, and John of Boyne City; three sisters, Josephine Rauszer of Detroit, Pauline Kudla and Rose Dawson, both of Warren; many nephews and nieces.

2 women arrested in armed robbery of BC store

Two Boyne City women were arrested following an armed robbery of the Edward's IGA grocery store, 5 W. Main, Boyne City, on Monday, June 7.

The pair, Annette Washburn, 33, and Thelma Thompson, 30, have been charged with armed robbery and possession of a firearm during a felony, said arresting officer Randy Howard.

The robbery occurred at 12:58 p.m. Twenty dollars was stolen.

An employee identified the suspects, Howard said, and they were apprehended a short distance from the store as they fled on foot.

The suspects were arraigned in 90th district court on Tuesday morning.

Washburn pleaded not guilty. Thompson stood mute and a plea of not guilty was entered on her behalf.

Preliminary examination is set for June 17. Washburn did not post bond, set at $5,000, and was remanded to the county jail. Thompson posted 10 percent of her $5,000 bond and was released.

Assisting in the arrest were Deputy David Kurchinski of the sheriff's department and DNR conservation officer Tom Sweet.

9-year-old state bowling champ

Nine-year-old Nikki Erber of Boyne City is a state bowling champion.

Nikki's 644 three-game series won her first place in the Peanut Division at the WBA State Singles Area Rolloff in Westland.

She had advanced to the finals by rolling a 675 series in regional competition at Petoskey.

Nikki is a fourth grader at Boyne City Elementary School.

She is the daughter of Henry Jr. and Donna Erber.

Kristen Anthony, formerly of Boyne City, also was a regional winner in Petoskey. The fifth grader rolled a 670 in the regionals.

Kristen has moved to Grand Rapids since the regionals.

Indians converge on EJ for pow-wow

The Day of the Eagle will be Saturday, June 12, in East Jordan.

The event is a pow-wow in which, according to chairwoman Gigi Antoine, Indian education, funded by Title IV-A, will culminate in a cultural event.

Indians from all over North Michigan will gather at the East Jordan High School soccer field (rain location—high school gym) from 1 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 10 p.m.

"I believe this is the first time ever all will have gotten together," Antoine said. "We're honored to be host for the schools of Michigan."

The general public is also invited, Antoine said. "We want the community involved."

The program that follows the Grand

Entry at 1 p.m. includes the invocation, inter-tribal contest dancing, Indian songs and drum contests.

Among the drum groups participating will be The Four Winds, Bear River, Northern Singers, and Red Eagle.

From 5 to 7 p.m. an Indian banquet is scheduled. A menu including buffalo meat and wild rice will be prepared under the direction of Indian chef Rose Gaskin of Sault Ste. Marie. Local Indian children will help in the preparation.

Master of ceremonies will be Butch Elliott, well-known among Indians in Canada and the United States for efforts to preserve Indian culture.

The keynote speaker will be Bill Church, Title IV director in Sault Ste. Marie. Church, in his championship of education for Indians, has likened it to the final battle for a place in society for Indians.

In the evening, a second sequence of singing, drumming and dances will take place.

"Dancing is a way of telling stories," said Antoine. Often, she explained, a dance will tell the story of an event in the tribe's experience.

And how is the pow-wow to be regarded?

"Everything the Indian people do," said Antoine, "has to do with their religion."

She went on to say, "Indians revere Mother Earth. Anything they take from Mother Earth, they give back in one form or another. The most treasured gifts they give each other are from Mother Earth."

Antoine is Title IV project director for East Jordan Schools. She pointed out that Indians emphasize the need for education in their own values because these aren't apparent in standard public schooling.

Indian lessons stress meanings expressed in nature, rather than in the factualities of history and science as taught in public school, Antoine said.

The pow-wow date has been set aside by proclamation by Mayor Archie Nemecek.

"Everybody has been so helpful," said Antoine.

The Department of Natural Resources is providing the cedar, which, Antoine explained, is essential for a pow-wow.

The city, the Chamber of Commerce, the school board and superintendent Tom Rossler and principals Doug Shields and Don Peters have all been of much assistance, she said.

Indians serving on pow-wow committees are: Stan Antoine, Guy Williams, Bud Johnston, Ken Teeple, Jimmie McWatters, Steve Jenkins, Pat Muma, Frank Trojanek, Harold Kent, Tina Williams, Peggy Williams, Lois Johnston, Ginny Detloff, Brenda and Letha Minor, Vanessa Teeple, Melody Marble, Penny Stevens, Arleen Parker, Judy Eubank, Jackie Jenkins, Cindy Williams, Elizabeth Sylvester, Vicki Cutler and Linda Teeple.

Shelter site being sought

A permanent site is being sought for a temporary shelter for displaced families.

The Charlevoix County Advisory Committee of the Northwest Michigan Human Services Agency is looking for a house that could be used by families which have been burned-out or have otherwise lost their homes.

The committee is looking at ways to operate such a facility. Two options are being weighed: one would require hiring live-in directors; the other would utilize trained volunteers working in shifts. The committee is seeking possible locations for the shelter. Most likely, it would be a house the agency could rent.

Contact the agency at 1515 Howard Street, Petoskey 49770 with suggestions.

Smoking can be hazardous to your health

Wherein I stay out of jail....
I am standing on the corner of Lake and Water streets smoking my pipe. Some might say that I am loitering; others might wonder why my face suddenly appears more repulsive than usual.

None are aware that I have just drawn a little too hard on my pipe. I am suffering from a sharp slug of tobacco in my throat. A tobacco-stuck throat is screaming for blessed relief.

There are two things I can do. One is to swallow the stuff, fall down, flop around and breathe my last. (I long ago made up my mind that I was not going to die flopping around on the corner of Lake and Water streets.)

The other thing that I can do is to eject the slug Johnny on the spot by executing a forced hack, thus saving a life, a life which in later years might wise up and buy the Boyne City Railroad and make a lot of money. For these reasons I choose to eject the slug forthwith. I have to, for there is no time for a fifthwith.

However, it is against the law to spit on the sidewalk. Especially the brand new one the city just put in. So I spit on my shoe. Then I raise my foot and scrape the stuff off on the corner of Moore's Hardware. I would rather have Ralph Moore chase me down the alley than go to jail for spitting on the sidewalk.

It is this kind of quick thinking one must do when one has a slug of tobacco stuck in one's throat.

Oh, for a third mouth....
I now hear the reader asking: Why do you smoke? Don't you know what tobacco can do to the life support system? Are you nuts or something?

Three good questions I must meet head-on, just as soon as I can get my handkerchief out and wipe my mouth. There, now I'm ready.

If we tobacco users were to shun the stuff forever, we would impair the very life support system of the struggling farmers who raise tobacco for a living.

Now listen to this so I won't have to repeat it.

The federal government needs our tobacco tax. The huge amount of money stolen from smokers is used to subsidize the tobacco grower, giving him a healthy life support system. And as a fringe benefit it guarantees a good mess of votes that keep southern politicians in Washington.

If you passed the third grade with flying colors, you now know that our government has two mouths. One mouth says to the American people, "Quit smoking or you shall pay dearly for it by withering away on the sidewalk in front of Moore's Hardware."

The other mouth says to the tobacco grower, "Here is the tax money we have collected. Grow all the tobacco you want."

I have long wished that our government had a third mouth. One that would say to me, "Quit smoking and we will give you all the money you want."

This, of course, is not going to happen. We have a two-mouth government and we are stuck with it.

Just as I am with this damn pipe. Sorry about that, Ralph.

Don't beat the drum slowly

The Equal Rights Amendment, not yet approved, is in its last inning for this game.

It could make it. But it seems most strange there should, after all, be any doubt. Or indeed, ever any need.

Meantime a few women are conducting a fast in Illinois where in a couple of weeks the state legislature will be voting on whether to join the other states that have approved the amendment.

Illinois has rejected the amendment before. The vote will be close. The women hope their fast will persuade legislators of the desperate desire for equality shared by so many women, and so invisible to men.

Already three weeks have gone by. Some legislators are reported so angry about the fast that it seems merely to have intensified plans to oppose approval of the amendment.

As I talk to acquaintances about it, however, I hear praise for the courage of the women. I hear the deep anger that the ancient tyranny goes on in this country, supposed to be the jewel of democracy.

It's similar to Russia where the only recourse of the voteless oppressed is a hunger strike.

Without representation in the legislature, women are at this point voteless in Illinois. A resort to a hunger strike seems almost natural. The law won't let you go up and throttle the men who are using the power voted to them to act so unjustly.

Imagine—our laws supporting injustice. (Not the only time, of course.)

Further, fasting was the resort of the British and American suffragettes back in the early 1900's, for the same reasons.

But now we have the vote. We should have gotten women into that legislature before this.

That's true, but it's even harder to do than to fast. The fight for power demands political sophistication, connections, money—and equality.

I regret that the women are fasting. Even though I totally sympathize with them, I can't support compelling a vote by fasting any more than by any other threat.

But I also can't support tyranny by sex.

lections, money—and equality.

I regret that the women are fasting. Even though I totally sympathize with them, I can't support compelling a vote by fasting any more than by any other threat.

But I also can't support tyranny by sex.

Do intervenors speak for me?

Editor,
Re: the June 2 article in the Charlevoix County Press on the Big Rock hearing on spent fuel.

My first reaction on reading it was—Here we go again! Then I thought awhile and tried to discover why these so-called intervenors act the way they do. Do they want attention? Did they not receive enough love in their lives and this is a way of seeking notice and approval? Who asked them to speak for me? Do they think Consumers Power would deliberately kill off their customers?

I know they are not nuclear experts since they keep parroting the same old jargon. Then I realized they must all be younger than I, the generation that cannot say a clear-cut Yes or No; a generation brought up on fear. Every new product or act today is prefaced by such terms as: our tests seem to show, there is a possibility, we are led to believe, it might be wise to avoid this or that, a great many perhaps or maybes. Perhaps? I should feel sorry for them it must be dreadful to be constantly frustrated.

They could move to Alaska where there are no nuclear power stations. They must feel uncomfortable using electricity that might have been produced by nuclear power. See how catching it is?

EJ seeks paint bids

The cost of painting East Jordan city vehicles was one of the expenses discussed at the June 1 city council meeting.

The maintenance painting work will be bid and the street committee will decide on whether to proceed with the approximately $10,000 job.

Committees will also study costs of reroofing the city garage and purchasing a mower for the Tourist Park.

Purchase of a greenbox for $725 was approved although $250 had to be taken by council resolution from the general fund to cover the short in landfill funds.

The greenbox will be located at the landfill to hold any overflow until the packer truck is emptied.

City superintendent Mike Dionne said the date for starting the new fee schedule at the landfill has not yet been set.

Dionne added information on the prospect of East Jordan's building its own power plant. He gave $24,000 as a possible start-up grant from the state, with $6,000 supplied by the city to be repaid from revenues.

Dionne said the cost of power from present sources will probably double in the next few years.

Finger piers have been built along Memorial Park shore. Dionne said the piers for public tying up were made of lumber from previous dock structures.

Dionne reported that some posts are sinking, bringing the docking down with them.

Assessor...

a privately-done appraisal is so often quite different from the public assessment.

One reason, Blanchard said, is that the appraisal is done on the one property for that one week.

The department must generalize, or as Blanchard put it "make appraising uniform." She said it was more complicated than just averaging.

In addition the county assessment goes for three years. But if a particular area is undergoing unusual change, the department does not wait, she said, but goes ahead with a special study before the three years are up.

Speaking of appraisals, Blanchard said anyone with a complaint for the board of reviews should have an appraisal made first, or at least some evidence of the value of the land.

One of the difficulties for arriving at values in Michigan is that assessors are not allowed legal recourse to sales prices, although they sometimes receive information in forms sent out when they know a land contract transaction has occurred.

"There's no way anyone can be exact (in assessment)," Blanchard said, "but we are within 5 to 10 percent."

She said, "The state samples our samples," and the department must be closer than 10 percent to state figures.

In answering another question, she said that an individual sale price does not change the assessment. The general pattern, however, is affected by individual prices.

The department staff is at work on the new assessment for Boyne City to be applied to next year, checking individual property in the city.

Residents may not see the assessor in 20 years, Blanchard said, but even though the owner was absent on the day of call the assessment was made.

And you can paint your house without being concerned that your taxes will rise. Blanchard reminded the residents there is a law which allows maintaining the value of the house with repairs and repainting without the penalty of a tax increase.

Announcing GARAGE SALE SAVINGS at COOK'S in Petoskey

In the very near future we're going to be moving our Petoskey Store to a new location. So right now we're doing what a lot of people do before they move.

We're having a Garage Sale.

And, very honestly, the less we have to move, the happier we'll be. We've gone through our Petoskey store marking special "Garage Sale Prices" on all kinds of items: appliances, televisions, audio, video, the works.

The whole idea is to make the prices so low that you'll move most of our merchandise out for us. And save us the problems of moving it to our new store.

But hurry.

Quantities are limited. And Garage Sale prices will apply only to the items that we have available in our Petoskey store. Chances are, the "early birds" will get the best selections.

The sale is going on right now. The sale prices are on our merchandise right now. So hurry in right now for these special savings.

It could be a very moving experience for both of us.

4-H camp to be on Beaver Island

Charlevoix County 4-H youth summer camp applications are available. All 4-H's on the mailing list have received camp announcements.

Applications may be obtained by calling the Cooperative Extension Service at 582-6232 or going to the office, 319 N. Lake Street, Boyne City.

Camp will be held on Beaver Island at the primitive campground owned by the Charlevoix Public Schools.

Two sessions will be held. They are July 25-28 for those who attended Beaver Island camp last year, and July 28-30 for first-year Beaver Island campers.

John McKinney and Steve Stewart, Sea Grant agents who work through the Cooperative Extension Service in Michigan.

Campers will have classes in crafts with Jackie Krieg, swimming instruction and free swim time with Pam Parsel, and drawing and T-shirt decoration with Penny Lewis.

They will build a table for the campground as a service project with Nelson Green. Meals will be under the direction of Claudia Grutsch.

The 30 campers in each session will live in tents and cook outdoors during their stay with suppers being prepared over the campfire each night.

Other adults will be on hand to take on various duties such as evening programs, cook groups, beach duty, etc. They are volunteer Nancy Brooks and 4-H staff members Betty Horrocks, Sheila Swaby and Leah Green.

Cost for the camp is $28 for Session I and $22 for Session II. This includes a boat ticket, camping fee and food. One large tent is lent by the Emmet County Fair, and campers take other tents and equipment.

Dairy farm open house

An open house will be held from 12:30 to 5 p.m. Sunday, June 13, at the dairy farm of Bill, Gene and Roger Korthase.

The open house is in honor of National Dairy Month.

There is no charge to tour the dairy farm. Each year a different farm is used for the open house.

The Korthase farm is, on Korthase Road, about two miles south of Deer Lake Road.

Adults going back to college for week

Albion grads

Four days of college life—classes, dorm rooms, new friends and extracurricular events—are in store for Agnes Clark, Louise, Hart, Muriel Zulek, Leanna Hardy, Norma LaRosa and Jane Wolf from Charlevoix County on June 21-24.

They will join more than 1,300 others at College Week at Michigan State University, said Sheri Rhoads, Charlevoix County extension home economist. "The program is designed to be an informal learning experience in a university setting," said Rhoads.

Participants can choose from more than 60 classes offered through the week.

The classes cover a variety of topics—nutrition, exercise and weight loss, self-development, relationships with family members, financial planning, coping with inflation and community involvement.

Many of the sessions are designed for reteaching, Rhoads added, and allow College Week participants to share what they've learned in their communities.

The four-day program also includes special workshops, tours, film festivals, theater trips and a variety of other leisure time activities.

The event is sponsored by the family living education program of the MSU Cooperative Extension Service.

Scholarship

Sarah Underhill of Boyne City has received a $500 Ferris State College Merit Scholarship for the fall term. She will be a freshman at the college.

One hundred twenty-two incoming freshmen received the scholarships.

Two Charlevoix County residents were among the 448 graduates from Albion this spring.

Craig C. Askins of Boyne City was a philosophy and economics and management major. He is a Boyne High graduate.

Patrick H. Klooster of Charlevoix majored in physical education. He is a Charlevoix High graduate.

Harbor Springs home tour mixes modern, classic

BY BARBARA CRUDEN

The Harbor Springs Home Tour, taking place Monday, June 21, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., will provide an opportunity to see first-hand both contemporary and Victorian architecture in superb northern Michigan settings.

The tour has been arranged by Crooked Tree Arts Council, Louise Herlocher, Joyce Boydston, and Ina Williams, co-chairwomen.

Leaving the departure point at Birchwood Country Club, touring visitors will be able to see seven homes, located north of Harbor Springs.

Those on the tour may also choose to attend the tour luncheon at the country club. Herlocher said advance reservations will be needed for the luncheon. Friday is the deadline.

Children must be over 12 years old to go on the tour.

The oldest home on the tour is the Victorian home of Mr. and Mrs. William Cudlip, built in 1890.

It is believed to have been built by Meade, an architect who did many Harbor Point and Bayview homes.

The beautiful, tree-shaded lawns above Lake Michigan and the many antiques are the highlights of the Cudlip home.

Also along the lake shore are the homes of Dr. and Mrs.

THE CUDLIP HOME

THE HECKENBERG HOME

The architect is Richard Mier.

Built in 1979, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Jaslove is modern Tudor in style.

Most of the design is the work of Bonnie Jaslove, whose eclectic eye says how to use such items as the antique pressed tin ceiling in a building being torn down, and the railing from First National Bank of Petoskey, taken out when the bank was being renovated.

Another home on the tour that is owner-designed is that of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wood. Wood arranged the residence, the guest quarters, and lodging for horses in a comfortable complex. The home looks out over rolling hills.

The tour list is complete with the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Heckenberg, built in 1978, high up in the hills with a view of the lake.

Because it is reached by a

THE QUAIL HOME

Robert Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Franklin T. Quail.

The architect for the Quails' home, Don Paul Young of Bloomfield Hills, designed a boldly cantilevered living room. High on the lake bluff, it juts out like the prow of a ship.

Stone raised from the lake is used for the entryway and fireplace. Unusual curved concrete pillars support overhanging eaves and create a theme echoed in a curving deck.

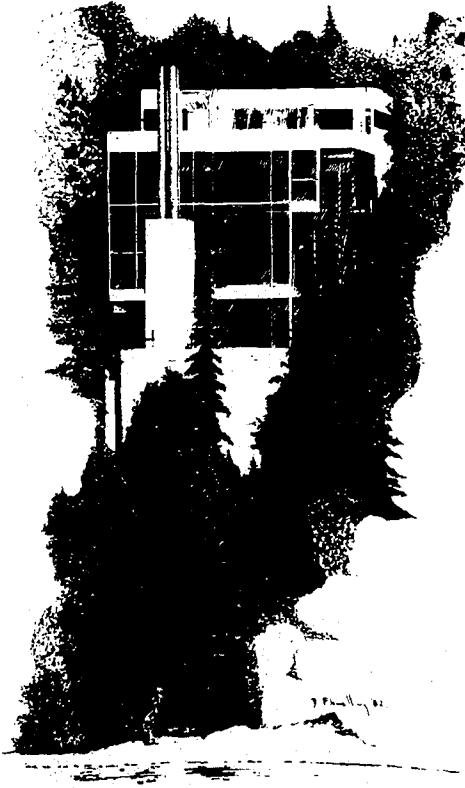

The home was built in 1976 by David Cummings.

Nearby, the Williams home is surrounded by woods. The house itself, designed by Traverse City architect Bob Seigel, is sheathed inside and out with cedar.

Unusual features are the magnificent copper and stone fireplace and an indoor golf practice range.

Another home that accommodates itself to both lake bluff and Michigan woods is the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Walstrom.

Called an architectural marvel, the home is said to be "one of the most significant homes of the past 25 years."

Welcome to the North

Summer is finally here....and with it starts another great season in the Northland. And are we ready for it.

The merchants have their shelves stocked to the brim with all the goodies the tourists will have to have this season.

The marinas are getting stocked up. Boats are filling the slips, boathouses are opening and docks are being put out.

The entire north country is ready and in shape for the summer, and, boy, do we need it.

If you tried to be up here in January or February, you may know why we're all looking forward to this summer.

Whether you are having fun here on a "real" vacation, or just a short weekend, we northlanders want you to have a great time.

That's because we enjoy the same things you do and we try to have a great time, too.

Now go out and enjoy, enjoy...and come back often.

Walloon fishing tournament underway

The 1st Annual Walloon Lake Fishing Tournament is taking place until June 27.

Mainly noted for its clear water and surrounding beauty,

Walloon Lake boasts outstanding fishing as well.

Both local and non-resident categories will compete for cash and other prizes, including vacations, fishing equipment, an Evinrude trolling motor, and much more.

Information on registration and area accommodations may be obtained by calling Springbrook Hills Resort at 535-2227 or the Boyne City Area Chamber of Commerce at 582-6222.

Handicapper trip guide

A booklet is available from the state to help wheelchair-bound vacationers make their trips more enjoyable.

It is the "Handicapper's Coastal Guide to Accessible Recreation Facilities."

Prepared during the 1981 International Year for the Disabled, it lists Great Lakes public recreation areas, describes those facilities available and specifies those that are accessible to the handicapped.

To receive a copy, free of charge, write: Michigan Department of Natural Resources, Division of Land Resource Programs, Coastal Management Program, P.O. Box 30028, Lansing, 48909.

Interlochen: Symphony, Shakespeare and soul

Interlochen Center for the Arts' National Music Camp has attracted such famous artists as the Warsaw Philharmonic, the Glenn Miller Orchestra, Mstislav Rostropovich, Andre Michel Schub, and Grammy Award winner Bob James for its 55th season.

These international attractions and many more are coming to Interlochen's 1200-wooded-acre campus to entertain the center's 2500 students, over 800 faculty and staff members and nearly 500,000 summer visitors as part of the Interlochen Arts Festival.

Students at the National Music Camp range in age from 8 to 18 and arrive at the campus from all 50 states and over 25 foreign countries. They study music, the visual arts, dance, and drama.

The results of their studies are seen in nearly 400 arts events spread over the eight weeks between June 27 and August 23. All student performances are reasonably priced.

Two student productions are reserved seat events this year. Rogers and Hammerstein's musical "Carousel" will be offered on August 13, 15, 18, and 20 with seats priced at $6. Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet" will be performed on August 14, 17, and 19 with tickets priced at $4.50.

Leading the list of guest artists is cellist, conductor and pianist Mstislav Rostropovich, music director of Washington D.C.'s National Symphony Orchestra.

Tickets prices for the Rostropovich performance are $10 and $8.50 and $7. All seats are reserved.

Interlochen will again offer the gold-medal winner of the 1981 Van Cliburn International monic has performed over 500 concerts on five continents.

Tickets are $10, $8.50 and 7. All seats are reserved.

Arranger, producer, director and pianist Bob James returns at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, August 10. James won a Grammy with Earl Klugh for an arrangement of "One On One." Tickets are $9, $7.50 and $6.

The "Marx Brothers of Brass" make their first appearance at Interlochen on August 17. The members of the Canadian Brass claim to be motivated primarily by an overwhelming "fear of being dull and boring."

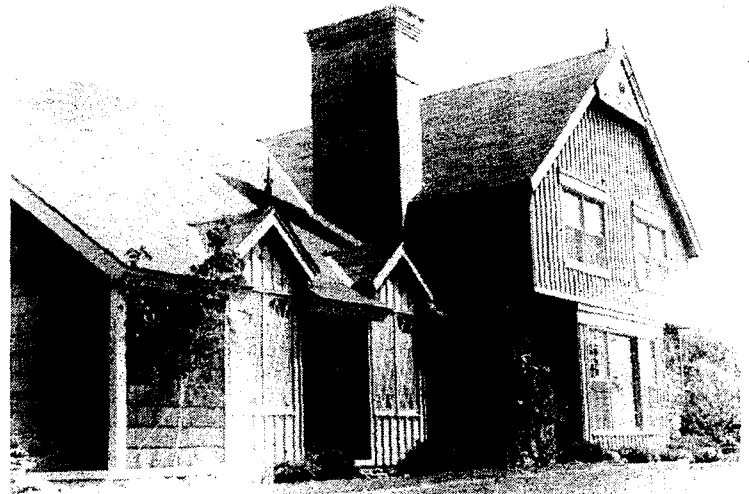

Professing to regard Fats Waller as every bit as fine a composer as Bach, they hope their audiences won't take them too seriously because that would spoil all the fun.

Tickets are $9, $7.50 and $6.

For the first time Interlochen is offering a "Festival Within A Festival," consisting of four chamber music performances at a subscription price of $15. Individual tickets are $5 each.

Included in the subscription price are performances by Michigan's official quartet, the New World String Quartet (July 10); the Concord String Quartet (July 25); the all-female Primavera Quartet (July 28); and the Mendelssohn String Quartet (August 3).

Other reserved seat events on this summer's arts festival schedule include: Benny Goodman on July 8 priced at $10, $8.50 and $7; Glenn Miller Orchestra on August 5 with tickets priced at $9, $7.50 and $6; and the Fred Waring Show with the Young Pennsylvanians on August 12 with seats at $10, $8.50 and $7.

Time sharing has advantages and pitfalls

An easy way to reduce expenses is to share them with someone else.

This idea has become a popular way of affording vacation housing, whether you use a formal time-sharing system, or buy or rent as part of a group. But you should understand what you are obligated to pay and what you should expect in return for your money.

There are over 270,000 owners of time-shares in the United States, and the prices for a span of 25 to 40 years start as low as $1,700 and spiral up to $26,000 per week. A yearly maintenance fee might be extra.

You are buying the right to use a dwelling for a set amount of time—say two weeks—every year for an agreed upon term of years.

Although some owners probably bought time-shares as an investment years ago, some counselors might advise against doing so. A major deterrent is a provision in some contracts that forbids selling at a profit, if you are allowed to sell at all.

Time-shares may be purchased or rented. If you buy, you may be buying either a share in the real estate and facilities, or the use of an individual unit for a few weeks annually. In most cases of ownership, you can buy, lease, will or sell your interest.

When you lease a time-share, you may be buying a membership in a club that owns or leases the real estate and facilities or you may be buying a lease for a set span of time. Subleasing may not be permitted.

A tax advantage of buying a time-share in a resort is that you may be able to deduct your percentage of the property taxes. Interest on a financing arrangement is also deductible.

Nevertheless, a time-share has shortcomings. It may limit you to one vacation spot for a number of years, and it may also confine your choice of time to the same period every year. Prices depend on the season.

If time-sharing isn't for you, investigate other alternatives such as group buys or rentals.

Although some resort communities discourage groups renting together, you may be able to buy a share with an already existing group. Real estate brokers report a growing number of singles and couples buying second homes together.

Real estate agents will have agreements for rentals, but if you're dealing directly with an owner or landlord, make sure a written statement exists.

For summer rentals, the entire rent often has to be paid in advance, or, at the latest, on the day you move in. If you cancel your reservation, you may lose any money you've prepaid. But, if the landlord cancels, you should be entitled to a refund. A security fee of 10 percent is not unusual for summer rentals. Discuss what the deposit covers and when it will be returned. It might be wise to make an inventory of the house furnishings and their condition to guard against disagreements later. If you plan to make improvements on the house, make sure you have the owner's approval, especially if you wish to be reimbursed for materials. Also find out who pays utilities and what appliances are provided.

When you rent as part of a group, you might want to designate one person to sign the contract and deal with the agent or owner. But make sure the landlord knows how many people will occupy the house or apartment.

Among itself, the group should agree what percentage each person pays of the rent and security, what that entitles them to, and how to account for damages.

Around Walloon

by PAT TAYLOR
535-2234

Kimberly Gross and friend Rick Beckman, of Ann Arbor, spent the Memorial Day weekend visiting Kim's mother, Louisa Gross. On Sunday, they enjoyed a cook-out. Attending were Mrs. Lynn Johnson, Rick and Mary, Teri Wagenschutz and Kathy Sipple of Petoskey and the Taylors.

Back at their homes after spending six months in Florida are Let and Effie Stevens, Pat and Ralph Taylor and Bill and Evelyn Gratsch from Arizona.

Willis and Judy Planck and children spent last weekend at the home of his sister and brother-in-law, Fred and Vivian Duncan of Port Huron. While there they attended the wedding of Willis' nephew, Gary Duncan.

David Wagenschutz, Brian Hull and Glen Planck spent three days at Camp Daggett with the sixth grade class. Judy Planck spent one day there with the boys.

Walloon Lake students graduating from Petoskey High School on June 10 are Dianna Hass, Carrie Lauterbach, Steve Haviland, Kim White and Darryll Hamlin.

Linda Hamlin graduated from Central Michigan University with a bachelor of science degree in education. She is the daughter of Harold and Marcellyn.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Zaberski have returned home from Milwaukee. While there Ted had open heart surgery at Mt. Sinai Hospital.

Alfreda and Robert Fontz of Ellicott, Maryland, will arrive June 13 to visit their daughter and son-in-law, Max and Debbie Hinkley, and two granddaughters for three weeks. Debbie and daughters will accompany them back to Maryland for a few weeks.

Tourist train to run

The operators of the Bay Queen tour boat will also be operating a passenger railroad service from Charlevoix to Petoskey this summer.

Three 70-seat passenger cars, leased from the Southeast Michigan Transit Authority, will provide four round trips on Saturday and Sunday from the first of July through Labor Day.

A bus or trolley will be operated on either end.
