BC opens bids for Water St.

Bids for construction along Water Street's second block in Boyne City were opened Tuesday afternoon.

Seven contracting companies submitted bids, ranging from a low of $71,700.22 by C.H. Smith Company of Charlevoix to a high of $118,080.38 by Hodgkiss and Douma, Inc. of Petoskey.

City manager Tim Clifton said the bids would be studied Tuesday. At a special noon meeting Wednesday, Aug. 25, the city commission was scheduled to decide which contractor would have the job, which is scheduled to begin Labor Day.

A city request for a traffic light at East and Water has been turned down by the state highway department.

The department said the traffic pattern doesn't justify it, Clifton said, even though the traffic count itself is high.

Clifton also discussed with highway officials the Water Street construction, because Water is a state route.

The state wants about 400 feet more curbing than the city construction plans allows. The curbing would run in front of The Dilworth and the post office.

But, Clifton said, the state would not share costs nor assume them. Consequently, Clifton said, "I would say we do our plan (without the curb extensions) and ask to have their plan implemented in the future when funds become available."

"The city is not responsible for repaving the streets," Clifton said, where Sorrell Tie and Rail Company of Belmont wants to tear out tracks it has purchased from the defunct Boyne Valley Railroad.

Clifton said it's the firm's job to refinish the portion of the street it tears up. "It's something we have to address," he said.

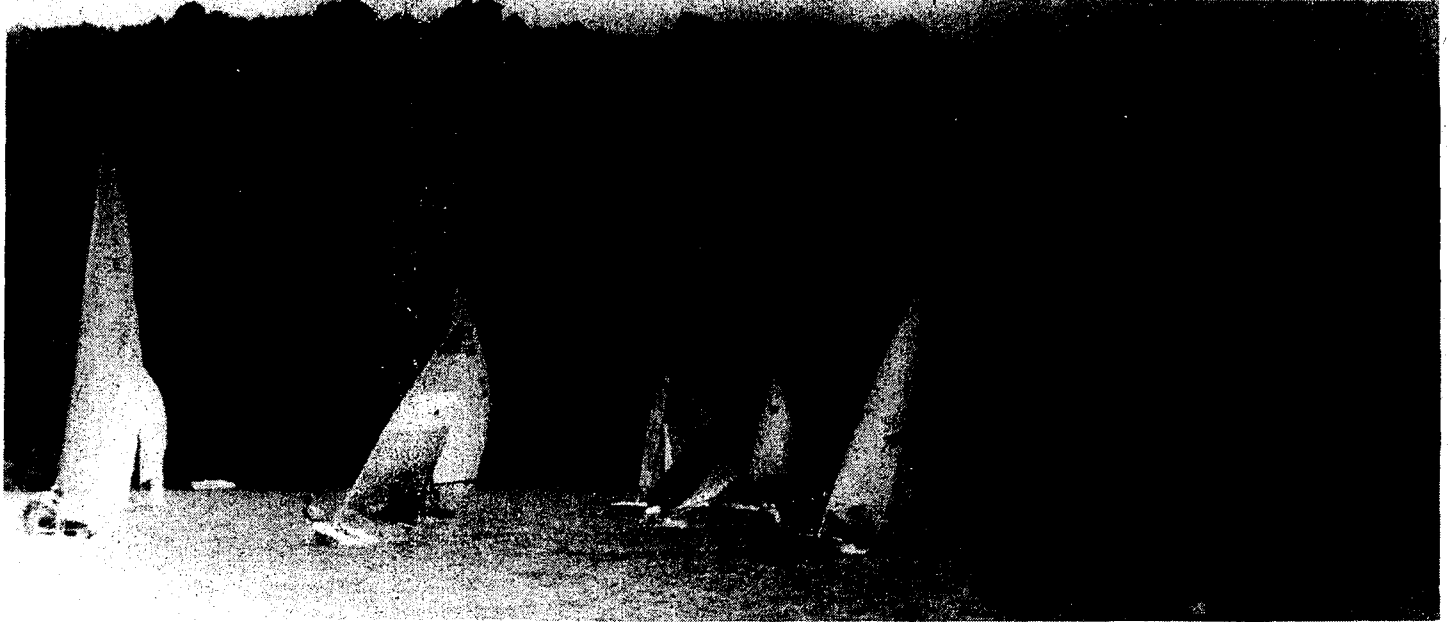

The tracks cross Lake, Ray, Park, East, Grant and Boyne Avenue.

The commission voted to have Clifton and city attorney William McTaggart meet with Fred Welch, engineer-director of the county road commission, and representatives of the track purchasers.

Welch is involved because the tracks cross state roadway.

Sorrell has already torn up rural portions of the track.

McTaggart said, "Potential purchasers of easements should procure title policies." He said that 99 percent of the railroad land was easements.

The West Arm of Walloon Lake was a crowded place on Friday, August 20, as boats from all around the lake took part in the annual all-lake sailing race sponsored by Camp Michigan. Boats from the camp, from the West Arm Sailing Club, the Walloon Lake Yacht Club and individual boaters were joined by an occasional speed boater and windsurfer for the event.

Auditors find BC Schools in good shape

Boyne City school finances passed the scrutiny of auditors from Robertson and Carpenter of Mio, according to their report to the school board at a special meeting Monday, August 23.

With a total revenue in 1981-82 of $3,126,000, the district was able to come out with a balance of $359,027—"a fair balance at this point," the auditors said, considering loss of state aid.

School superintendent Rich Kelly said, "We're planning to use some of that to meet our 1982-83 budget."

Noted on the 35-page report was the $42,737 spent on athletics, some of which was covered by gate receipts of $15,422.

The school hot lunch program showed a loss of $10,500, which was made up from the general fund. "We've been in the hole with the hot lunches for the past five years," Kelly said—a problem, the auditors said, that was shared by other school districts.

According to the audit, about one-half of the lunch cost is covered by state and federal aid.

The board approved the hot lunch policy for the coming year—a resolution needed to permit participation in the National School Lunch Program.

Part of the policy provides for free or reduced-cost lunches for children of families with low income.

The eligibility scale starts at $8,660 for a family with one child.

Tuition rates were set for students attending school from outside the Boyne City school district. From grades one through six, the rate is $2,674.38 for the year. Kindergarten is half of that.

From grades seven through 12, the rate is $2,767.98. Four students will be attending from outside the district.

The board approved the 10 course offerings for fall classes in the adult education program. They are: accounting, office skills, two English courses in grammar and writing skills, American government, science, consumer math, criminal justice, music theory, and drafting.

Both Boyne City and East Jordan will be served by this program.

The board approved an easement for the county along Griffin Road. The county will have the easement subject to eventual approval of other property holders along the road. It is needed for plowing snows for a resident at the end of the road.

The school district owns property along Griffin.

To replace Fred Rice, who resigned, the board appointed Rick Fowler to be cross-country coach. Dennis Starkey will coach boys' and girls' JV basketball.

Annual flower show at Ellenbergers'

Boyne City is brightened by flowers through the efforts of its garden club and of its residents, but nowhere in town is there a more colorful flower show than the one blooming year after year around the house on Lake Street, near downtown.

That is where Ralph and Mavel Ellenberger live. "Mabel does the house," said Ralph, "and I do the yard."

The Ellenbergers came here 40 years ago. When Ralph Ellenberger retired from Consumers Power in 1969, he had time to garden in a big way.

The vegetables and flowers grow side by side, starting at the sidewalk and running back 130 feet or so.

Dill, oriental poppies, zinnias, and petunias make such a rich border that one could believe the flowers were downright eager to please their gradener.

Ellenberger said he didn't know what the dark reddish plants were that frame the corner.

"A man gave me the seeds about 20 years ago," he said. "They've been growing there ever since."

On the other side of the house, the main attraction is dahlias. The colors glow.

Then there are the squash-onions-tomatoes and all. "My father was a farmer," Ellenberger said. "I learned from him."

The soil along Lake Street is a kind of yellow-sandy, but at Ellenbergers' it is black.

"I use compost," Ellenberger explained. "My dad said you can't take off without putting back, or you'll find your land worn out."

Ellenberger piles the weeds and finished crop plants in a bin, waters them sometimes, and leaves them there a year. By then they have decayed almost to the point of being soil again.

Black, soft, and full of helpful bacteria—that's compost. He puts it out on the garden the next fall.

Chemical fertilizers—he uses a little of them. "But you've got to know how to use them," he said.

So the cycle goes in Ellenberger's garden. And year after year the flowers greet Lake Street passersby.

Ralph Ellenberger is dwarfed by a sunflower in his front yard. Ellenberger's Boyne City yard is easily spotted during the summer—it's the one that looks like a fresh-air florist shop.

Dock straightening idea works in EJ

Out on the East Jordan city dock, Lake Construction of Charlevoix has been testing whether the wavy structure can be saved by splicing the pilings and driving them 10 feet deeper.

City superintendent Mike Dionne said at the August 17 city council meeting that the idea will work.

He said the city dock is obviously in need of the attention. "We are waiting," he said, "to see how to fund the operation."

There are 16 more pilings needing to be secured.

Dionne received council approval for the purchase of a vibrator-compact, costing about $1,000. He explained the machine would make it possible for the city to do more of its own contracting. The purchase will be advertised for bids.

Clerk Fern Morris announced that new voter registration cards would be going out to voters already registered. The new cards are required because of the county's redistricting following the 1980 census.

Sunday, September 12, is the date for fire hydrant testing and inspection, chief Dick Barnett said.

The crew will start at 7 a.m. and finish the job in the one day.

Residents are being alerted because the testing might cause rust to appear temporarily in water.

EJ hears county plan for future of landfill

The East Jordan city council has been filled in on what completion of the countywide solid waste disposal plan means to the city.

County planner Larry Sullivan, acting as spokesman for the 13-member planning committee, said the 20-year plan resolves the problem of unlicensed landfills by calling for transfer stations in the cities.

The waste would be compressed and trucked to either a licensed private landfill in the county or public landfills which have been licensed in adjacent counties.

In June, East Jordan commenced this kind of operation, using a packer truck and covering over past dumping. The city landfill site will still be used for demolition trash and brush, which do not pollute.

Sullivan said a city, a group of cities, or the county could open a major transfer station eventually, and the 20-year plan looks toward that solution. He said no countywide franchise could be given to a private company, however, as anti-trust laws forbid that.

Committee member Dennis Jason, also at the meeting, said cities might do well to let private businesses take care of solid waste.

He said, "Solid waste is going to become more expensive every year."

But, he added, it is of great importance to keep Lake Charlevoix and adjacent ground water clean.

A public hearing will be held at the Charlevoix County building on September 30. The county commission will review it, and each municipality will vote on it.

If 67 percent approve, the plan will go to the State Department of Natural Resources for final review.

No-till deadline nears

Farming people in Charlevoix County have till September 1 to sign up for special project funding for reduced tillage and/or no-till corn, according to Helen Dietz, director of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office in Boyne City.

Dietz said that even though more people have already signed up than the original funding could provide for, the additional applicants will be served by transfer of unused funds from other counties. If necessary, Agricultural Conservation Program funds, assigned into 1983, may be applied. Dietz reported that all conservation funds allocated to the county so far in 1982, have totalled $74,000, compared to last year's total of $67,000.

She said also that the farm storage facility program has been reinstated for farmers wanting corn cribs, grain bins, or even storage buildings.

Low interest loans are available up to $25,000 for five years. The interest, she said, will be determined at the time of the loan as it varies. Right now, she said, it is at 13 1/2 percent.

Sheree Wilson, James Pearsall wed in Muskegon

Sheree Wilson and James Pearsall were married June 19 in Muskegon.

Both were 1975 graduates of East Jordan High School.

The bride is the daughter of Dennis and Nancy Stepke of North Muskegon and Ted Wilson of Rockford. The groom's parents are Robert and Barbara Pearsall of Manton.

The bride, who was given in marriage by Len Terpstra, wore an ivory gown with an empire waist. It had a high neck with lace and the bodice was lace with pearl buttons. The cuffs were also of lace and had pearl buttons.

She carried violets, lily of the valley and daisies, while she had babies-breath and violets in her hair.

Matron of honor was Tami VanAvery, sister of the bride. The groom's brother, Ed Pearsall, was best man.

Bridesmaids were Linda Pearsall and Lisa Stepke. Groomsmen were Bob Pearsall and Mark Wilson. David Wilson and Greg Stepke were ushers.

A luncheon buffet was held at the Breakwater Restaurant in Muskegon. The couple then left for an 11-day honeymoon to Puerto Vallarta and Acapulco, Mexico. They will make their home in Milan.

The bride is employed at Bechtel Corp. in Ann Arbor and the groom works for REMS Corp. in Ypsilanti.

SHEREE AND JAMES PEARSALL

Lisa and Erik united in East Jordan

Lisa Ann Fox and Erik Charlton Herholz were married August 14 at the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints in East Jordan.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Fox of East Jordan. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald M. Herholz of East Jordan.

Officiating at the ceremony was Elder Mercer Carey of the East Jordan R.L.D.S. church. The bride wore an Oriental silk dress with a bateau neckline and an asymmetrical hemline topped with a chiffon over-bodice with elbow length sleeves trimmed with satin ribbons and lace. A pink satin ribbon accented the waist.

Maid of honor was Kathy Jones of Victoria, British Columbia. Best man was Matthew R. Koontz of Charlevoix. Bridesmaids were Kathi Postma and Lori Fox, both of East Jordan. Groomsmen were Bob Oliver and Jim Archer, both of East Jordan. Ushers were Dave Crawford of Boyne City and Eric Hanson of East Jordan.

The bride's brother, Steven Fox, was ring bearer and the groom's niece, Rhonda Wilhoit of Fenton, was flower girl.

A reception held at the East Jordan Snowmobile Club was catered by the women of the bride's church. The couple went on a wedding trip in the eastern Upper Peninsula.

Both are graduates of East Jordan High

LISA AND ERIK HERHOLZ

Lionesses to put on show

The Boyne Valley Lioness Club will hold a variety show at 8 p.m. Sunday, August 29, at Boyne City Lanes. Tickets may be purchased from any Lioness member or at Jake's Shoe Shop.

CF drive chairwomen

School. The bride attended college at Graceland College in Lamoni, Iowa, and at North Central Michigan College in Petoskey. The groom will go on active duty in the army in September and will be stationed in South Carolina.

Chairwomen have been named for the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation's annual Breath of Life fund-raising campaign. Boyne City chairwoman is Lenore Gavetsky. Boyne Falls chairwoman is Gayle Hansen. And Charlevoix chairwoman is Ann Mikulski. Volunteer help for the money drives is being sought. Contact the local chairwoman if interested.

Boyne's naked telephone poles

I saw the strangest thing the other day. I went down town and counted several telephone poles without a single garage sale sign on any of them. They looked sort of naked. What's Boyne City coming to anyway?

A Detroit man told me that when he finally got the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow, it wouldn't even make the down payment on a condominium.

I'm often asked where I get all the ideas to write a column each week. Actually it began as a coincidence or phenomenon. I was going with a girl in high school back in the day when only poor people lived in those houses along the lake. We were out one night and I somehow got to thinking some rather odd thoughts. She looked at me saying, "The very idea". With that, she left me to go with boys whose minds did not run to odd thoughts. Sore as a touched boil, I said to myself, I'll show her. And I've been getting odd ideas ever since. (I could have made that story more believable if I knew the meaning of the words coincidence and phenomenon.

Schools around the country that have collected enough tax money to open this fall are shining things up and getting ready to operate. Some in the larger cities are really being modernized. I read in the paper where many of them are now prayer-conditioning the classrooms.

I get better mileage when my tank is more than half full. I've measured the mileage when my tank was full and also when it was less than half full. Some people don't believe me, but it's true. Try it yourself sometime and see how far you get when you're less than half full. You'll be amazed how much further you get when you're over half full. It depends, of course, upon how far you want to go with this thing. And also the make of your car and your driving habits. If you have a driving habit, you had better straighten that out before you measure how far you get when you're only half full. I'm pretty sure I know what I'm talking about for I haven't had a drink in twelve years.

A friend, who is getting a divorce, told me that when he married he thought he would live happily ever after. He said he was quite shocked to learn that "happily ever after" is merely something talked about before the marriage.

What's green when it's red and black when it's picked off? What's black and white and read all over? If you had said a blackberry and a newspaper, you're wrong. It's a man who went to East Jordan and tried to tell them what's wrong with the place.

Jottings

Remembering 'Cannonball'

By JIM SILBAR

I hardly knew him, but I know I will miss him every week as we send the newspapers over the road to East Jordan. His name? Probably doesn't matter much as not a whole lot of people knew him by his real name of Roy, but to all those who did, he'll be missed.

He'll be missed by all those he would meet on the street when he went out to sell the County Press every week, all 150 of them. And never a return. In fact, one of the best stories I have heard about him was told to me by Mel Howard here in Boyne City.

It seems that when he was out selling papers, he asked Mel if he wanted to buy one. Of course Mel did, and he noted that the newspaper was a couple of weeks old. When he told Roy that the paper was old, Roy asked a question. "Have you read it?" he asked. "No" was the reply Mel gave. "Well then, it's gonna be news to you," Roy said and went on down the road looking for another customer.

I am sure there are lots of stories that have gone around about this man from East Jordan. It seems we remember the humorous ones more than the ones which indicate grief and tragedy. And I am sure that Roy would want to be remembered for those stories.

Sure he had his problems, and he was a lot older than I took him for when I met him last fall for the first time. He sure acted a lot younger and more cheerful than many others I have met in the North.

He will be remembered as one of those characters of the North and will most certainly be remembered by his nickname of "Cannonball" rather than his real name of Roy Reinhart.

Spaced out in Nebraska

A home among the trees is sufficient for many of us who consequently live in Michigan. But days when the sky is blue down to the ground, my thoughts fly out to Nebraska where sky is the main thing.

People who drive across Nebraska on their way west may not quite realize that particular quality of sky because car windows reveal only the long view of the land going on and on to the horizon. It is a view that speaks mainly of hours of dull driving.

But if they stop the car (where it says "emergency stops only" because they must emerge in order to get the full impact of sky, they then have the experience of their lives.

We are so accustomed here to looking at something that looking at space at first seems meaningless.

When we look at a face, the trees, or even the mountains, we are looking for their statement to us.

In looking up into a cloudless sky, however, we find the statement has to come instead from us. Not that the sky, or space is nothing, but rather that communication with the quality of sky is asking what are we doing within to match immensity. Yes, what are we doing there.

Another difficulty in sky-gazing is the impossibility of seeing the whole thing at once.

I remember as a child, even under the less-encompassing Illinois sky, lying in the grass, I would try to open my eyes as wide as I could in an effort to see all of it at once.

If only I could back off a little farther,

I would think.

When I went to school and learned I was standing on a ball, I was getting ready for Nebraska.

Not till Nebraska did I ever know the feeling of standing on a planet. Indeed, in Nebraska is no hiding place from that certitude.

I stood on the silent treeless, houseless plain, and rode the planet in its rush through space like a surfer on the sea.

Back in Michigan I looked out at the other planets rising along their path through the sky—Saturn, Mars, Jupiter, and, before dawn, Venus—how steady they go, our distant brothers, riding the same great wheel with us. Nebraska's lesson is the sky's immensity. That makes room for the stars.

Cooking

Meat and potatoes -- and satisfying

There is an old Chinese saying that anything that satisfies the appetite is good food.

Sometimes just meat, potatoes, a simple salad and good bread "hits the spot."

This is a menu easy to prepare and very satisfying. If you cook the potatoes ahead of time and set out the sour cream so that it will be at room temperature, you can prepare this meal almost as quickly as you can fry the bacon.

Quick potatoes with sour cream
Apple and celery salad
Your favorite bakery or home-made bread

Ice cream and cookies, if still hungry
Quick Potatoes in Sour Cream
3 tablespoons butter or margarine (you could use part bacon grease for flavor)

1 small onion, minced
About 4 medium potatoes, cooked, peeled and cut into 1/2-inch slices
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
Dash of hot pepper seasoning or finely minced chili peppers
1 teaspoon dill weed
1/2 cup dairy sour cream at room temperature
Melt butter in large skillet. Add onion and saute until tender. Add potatoes, salt, pepper and hot seasoning.

Cook over medium heat stirring carefully with a pancake turner about 5 minutes until potatoes are heated. Stir in sour cream, sprinkle with dill and serve at once. Serves 4.

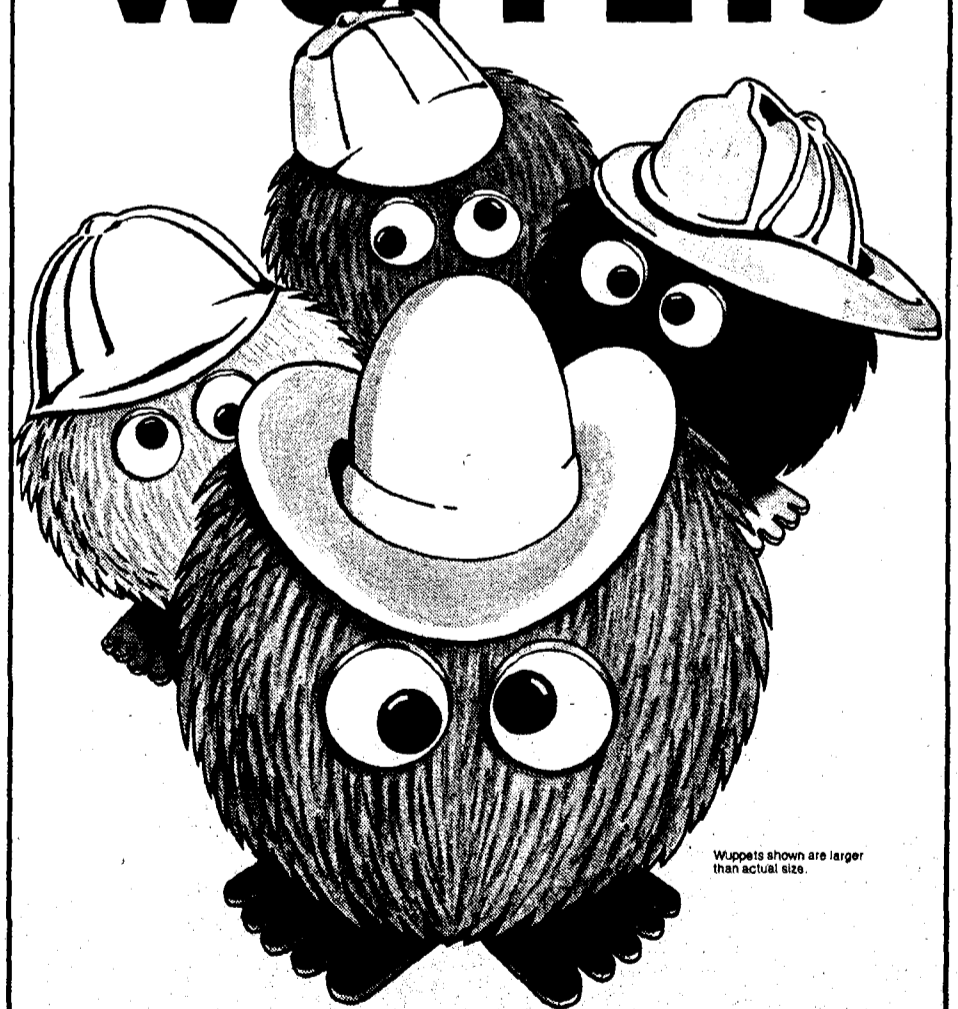

Try some prunes and nutmeats in the apple and celery salad.

Interest rate drop encouraging sign

BY BOB DAVIS
Area Congressman

I was extremely encouraged and pleased at the recent continuing trend of lower interest rates. This week the prime rate dropped to 14 percent, compared to its rate of 20.5 percent exactly one year ago.

Economists are predicting that interest rates will continue to fall through the end of the year as well, perhaps below 10 percent.

This is not, of course, going to mean instant economic recovery. We all have learned that our economic problems cannot be reversed overnight.

However, I am encouraged that the Federal Reserve Board's loosening of its monetary policy is helping to bring interest rates down, and that this move cannot help but spur the kind of personal investments the housing and auto industries are waiting for.

The Federal Reserve Board, which was troubled by excessive growth in the money supply during the first half of this year now has begun to encourage faster money supply growth and lower interest rates by making credit more available in the banking system.

Since July 30, the Federal Reserve has announced three different reductions in the discount rate—which is the interest rate the Reserve charges on loans to financial institutions—and those reductions have signaled the easier monetary trend which economic analysts are predicting will continue for several months.

I will indeed be months, I think, before this economic turn of events takes hold at the individual investment level—when we all start buying and building houses and purchasing new cars—but I am confident that we are moving along on the road to recovery.

While Congress often takes a lot of criticism about its lack of environmental concern, a recent General Accounting Office report concludes that environmental issues are being addressed at the federal level.

Concerned over the erosion of environmental quality, the nation made a commitment in the 1970s to a series of ambitious programs to maintain and restore the quality of our air, water and land resources.

According to the GAO report, we have made significant progress toward meeting our established goals. The air is significantly cleaner, more wastewater now receives the required level of treatment, and most of our nation's

Rezoning plan protested by neighbors

A hearing on a proposal to build seven lakefront cottages in East Jordan generated so much discussion it was extended to a second date.

A rezoning is being sought by Jim and Marie Yettaw of 508 North Lake Street.

The Yettaws propose building summer cottages on their 105-by-117-foot lakefront property which is at present zoned R-1.

They are asking for C-2, as recommended by the planning and zoning commission, which approved their plan before it went to the council for final decision.

They would also require variances in the set-back requirements.

Neighbors brought an attorney to the city council hearing on August 17 to help them oppose the request. One neighbor said he had copied dimensions of 74 feet, 10 inches, by 105 feet from county records. He said these would make it impossible to build cabins on the land.

Others said the proposed cottages would not degrade the neighborhood.

Yettaw's position is that the area needs new cottages for tourist accommodations. He said he was trying to improve things for long-time residents.

The Yettaws live on the property next door. They hope to build seven cottages, taking down one cottage standing there now. The land is served by the city sewer line.

The city council asked city attorney Tom Anderson to review the question. Anderson and the planning and zoning commission were asked to attend the extended hearing on Tuesday, August 24.

NOTICE PUBLIC HEARING VILLAGE OF BOYNE FALLS
A public hearing will be held September 13 at 7 p.m. at the Boyne Falls Village Hall for the purpose of discussing the proposed amendment of the Mobile Home Ordinance No. 20, Section 3.
Section 3.1:
Anyone living in an existing "Mobile Home", may replace said existing "Mobile Home" with a new (meaning never previously used: "Mobile Home"), to be used as a residence only, provided:
a. That previously existing "Mobile Homes" must be completely removed from the premises, upon which it was situated.
b. That the new "Mobile Home", must be affixed to the land in the same manner as provided in Section 3.a, subparagraph c.
c. That the location of the new "Mobile Home", on the premises must be the same as the location of the previous "Mobile Home", except in length and width variations, which may occur due to the differences in sizes in the two mobile homes.
d. That the owners of the new "Mobile Home" shall be the same owners of the old mobile home.
e. The installation of the "Mobile Home" must occur within 14 days after the removal of the old "Mobile Home". Provided, however, that the owner of the land may request of the Village Clerk an extension of said time, based upon the inability of the owner to have the new foundation installed, or the new "Mobile Home" delivered to the site. The owner shall request of the Village Clerk an extension for a specified time. If the Village Clerk deems that the time period is reasonably required for installation of the foundation and delivery of the "Mobile Home", they may grant the extension or grant an extension for a shorter time period which is reasonably sufficient for installation of the foundation and delivery of the "Mobile Home".
This Amendment shall become effective 20 days after its adoption.

OFFICIAL NOTICE OF SALE $900,000.00 EAST JORDAN PUBLIC SCHOOLS COUNTIES OF CHARLEVOIX AND ANTRIM STATE OF MICHIGAN TAX ANTICIPATION NOTES (GENERAL OBLIGATION LIMITED TAX)
SEALED BIDS for the purchase of the above Tax Anticipation Notes will be received by the undersigned at the Office of the Superintendent, 401 Williams Street, East Jordan, Michigan 49727, until 2:00 o'clock, p.m., Eastern Daylight Time, on the 7th day of September, 1982, at which time and place the bids will be publicly opened and read. Award of notes will be made by the Board at 7:00 o'clock, p.m. on September 7, 1982.
NOTE DETAILS; INTEREST RATE; PAYING AGENT AND PAYING AGENT FEES; AND DENOMINATION: The notes will be dated September 1, 1982, will mature April 1, 1983, and will bear interest at a rate not exceeding 18% per annum. Both principal and interest will be payable at a bank or trust company located in the State of Michigan to be designated by the original purchaser of the notes, which paying agent qualifies as such under the statutes of the State of Michigan or of the Federal Government with paying agent fees, if any, to be paid by the purchaser of the notes. Denomination of the notes to be at the option of the purchaser.
PRIOR REDEMPTION: The notes shall not be subject to redemption prior to maturity.
AWARD OF NOTES: For the purpose of awarding the notes, the interest cost of each bid will be computed on a 360-day year, 30-day month basis by determining, at the rate specified therein, the total dollar value of all interest on the notes from September 7, 1982, to their maturity and deducting therefrom any premium. The notes will be awarded to the bidder whose bid on the above computation produces the lowest dollar interest cost to the School District. No proposal for the purchase of less than all of the notes or at a price less than their par value will be considered.
SECURITY: The loan is in anticipation of the OPERATING portion of the School Tax for the fiscal year July 1, 1982 to June 30, 1983, which tax is due and payable December 1, 1982. The Board of Education has voted and pledged as security for the tax note borrowing to levy taxes for school operating purposes in an amount not less than 200% of the amount of this tax note borrowing as approved by the Municipal Finance Commission.
The Board of Education has created a separate depository account designated 1982 TAX ANTICIPATION NOTE RETIREMENT FUND "A", and moneys to be deposited into the fund are specifically earmarked and will be used solely to pay the principal and interest on the notes when due, and has pledged to set aside in said fund, for the payment of principal and interest on the notes, a portion of each dollar of taxes remaining to be collected for the current fiscal year beginning July 1, 1982, which is not less than 125% of the percentage that the principal amount of the notes bears to the amount of taxes to be levied and anticipated to be collected for operating expenses, delinquency in collections being taken into account, until the amount so set aside is sufficient for such payment, and the moneys in said fund shall be used for no other purpose.
The notes will be a General Obligation of the School District, and if tax collections are insufficient to pay the loan when due, the School District has pledged to use any and all other resources available for payment of such loan. The School District does not have the power to levy taxes for the payment of the notes in excess of its constitutional and statutory tax rate limits.
The rights or remedies of noteholders may be affected by bankruptcy laws or other creditor's rights legislation now existing or hereafter enacted.
ADDITIONAL BORROWING: The School District reserves the right to borrow additional moneys to meet current operating expenses and payroll during the remainder of the fiscal year 1982/83. Any future borrowing against the 1982 operating taxes will be secured by a lien equal in standing to the lien herein created against such operating taxes.
GOOD FAITH: A certified or cashier's check in the amount of 2% of the par value of the notes, drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company and payable to the order of the Treasurer of the School District, must accompany each bid as a guarantee of good faith on the part of the bidder to be forfeited as liquidated damages if such bid is accepted and the bidder fails to take up and pay for the notes. No interest shall be allowed on the good faith checks and checks of unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned to each bidder's representative or by registered mail. The good faith check of the successful bidder will be immediately cashed and payment for the balance of the purchase price of the notes shall be made at the closing.
LEGAL OPINION: Bids shall be conditioned upon the unqualified opinion of Thrun, Maatsch and Nordberg, P.C., attorneys of Lansing, Michigan, which opinion will be furnished without expense to the purchaser prior to the delivery thereof, approving the legality of the notes.
DELIVERY OF NOTES: The School District shall furnish notes ready for execution at its expense. Notes will be delivered without expense to the purchaser at a place located in the State of Michigan, to be mutually agreed upon between the purchaser and the School District. The usual closing documents, including a certificate that no litigation is pending affecting the issuance of the notes, will be delivered at the time of the delivery of the notes. Accrued interest to the date of delivery of the notes shall be paid by the purchaser at the time of delivery.
THE RIGHT IS RESERVED TO REJECT ANY OR ALL BIDS.
ENVELOPES containing the bids should be plainly marked "Proposal for School District Notes".

Hardware has new owner

"Hardware" it says in old-fashioned letters above the door of a store in downtown East Jordan. For some 30 years it was Eva Healey's hardware store, and then in other hands for five or six years.

But now it's JD's, said Judy Bernier, the new owner and manager.

"My husband (Dave, who runs Dave's Mobile on the nearby corner) decided I should have something to do. He decided it would make the ideal birthday gift—that and six gallons of paint!" So now Judy Bernier studies catalogs by night to learn merchandise, and runs her new store by day.

"People come in and say, 'We're going to try you first,'" Bernier said. "People have been wonderful."

The store runs the gamut from wedding presents to tools, and has been open under the new management for five months now.

Shiny new BMX bikes stand on the scrubbed old board floor. "I want to keep the old look," said Bernier.

She keeps a good supply of fishing tackle and ammunition, mainly on the basis, she said, of customer preference.

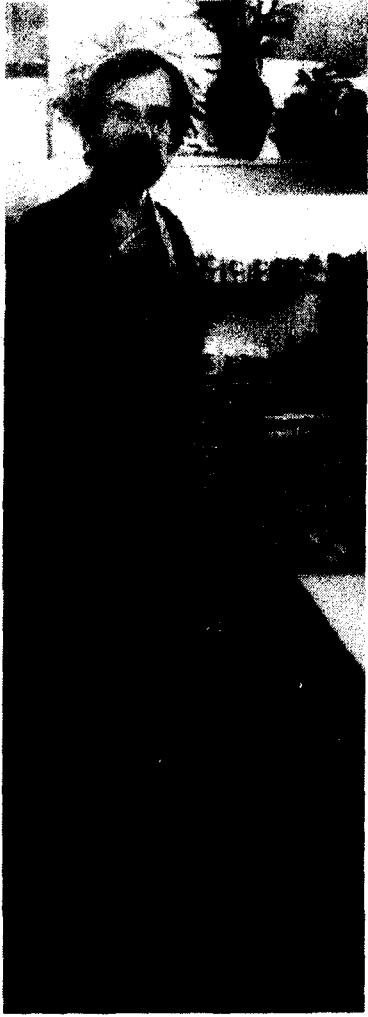

And she tries to keep prices right for local people, she said.

"Eva Healey has been so much help. I want the place to be like it was when Eva had it," she explained.

In the room at the back of JD's is another service—Les Staley's Shoe Repair. Staley also mends canvas and, well, you bring it.

"I've seen some miracles come out of that room," said Bernier.

The family has pitched in with the painting and setting up, and younger son Wayne helps out in the store as his older brother helps out at the gas station.

Jill Everest and her pet chicken were the winners in the "most unusual" category at the pet show during the Moonlight Madness sale in Boyne City last Thursday. Other winners were: youngest entrant, Country Angel and her toy collie; smallest pet, Jerry Matelski's hermit crab; largest pet, Jenny Schaefer's Labrador retriever; best behaved pet, Tim Stevenson's large frog. Honorable mention was given Billy Brooks and Jeannette Barker who had pet iguanas. Merchants reported brisk sales during the three-hour event and some, like Bob Huff of Bogema's, at left, got into the nighttime spirit of the event. Chamber of Commerce executive director Kate Schafer said the sale was the best ever for downtown merchants.

Big Rock workers set safety record

Employees at the Big Rock Point nuclear plant have set a company safety record by working five years without suffering a lost-workday injury.

The length of time involved, August 3, 1977, to August 3, 1982, sets a record for safety among Consumers Power's electric generating plants.

Employees at Big Rock Point worked 1.166 million manhours during those five years without one on-the-job injury that caused an employee to miss a day on the job.

Big Rock Point employs approximately 135 people. The 75,000-kilowatt plant is observing its 20th anniversary this year.

Big Rock Point was the fifth commercial nuclear power plant in the nation and the first in Michigan.

"This is an outstanding safety achievement within Consumers Power Company and within the nuclear utility industry," said plant superintendent David P. Hoffman.

"More important than the record books, though, is the fact that no employee has had to suffer through the pain of a serious on-the-job injury. This is a safety performance we will work very hard to maintain."

John J. Popa, maintenance superintendent at Big Rock, has accepted a one-year position with the Institute of Nuclear Power Operations in Atlanta, Ga.

INPO was created by the nuclear utility industry to improve the management, operation and safety of nuclear plants. The organization is establishing industry-wide standards in areas such as plant operations, management, operator training and emergency preparedness.

Popa will join the plant evaluation and assistance division at INPO. He will be a member of a team that evaluates performance and objectives at

Red Cross has new name

The area Red Cross organization has a new name—the American Red Cross Wolverine Blood Services Region.

The organization collected a record amount of blood in the 12 months just ended.

Formerly known as the Flint Blood Services Region, the 27-county region serving most of central and northern Michigan became, on July 1, the Wolverine Region.

Senior Olympics

The fourth annual Michigan Senior Olympics, sponsored by the Northwest Michigan Area Agency on Aging, will be held September 9 and 10 in Traverse City.

This year's Senior Olympics will be dedicated to the memory of Sylvia Grossman, who was an outstanding senior citizen and sports-woman from Petoskey.

Registration forms are available by calling the Area Agency on Aging at 1-800-442-1713.

Same operation - 10 years later

Ten years ago, Dr. Allen Damschroder performed northern Michigan's first total hip replacement on Elizabeth Pierce. This month he performed the same operation on her second hip.

"The surgery has progressed remarkably in the last 10 years," said Pierce of Charlevoix. "The first time, I was in the operating room for eight hours and spent 30 days in the hospital. This time, the surgery took only two hours, and I expect to go home after only 10 days in the hospital."

Damschroder, a Burn's Clinic orthopedic surgeon describes the changes in the procedure. "In the past ten years, we have performed several hundred total hip replacements at Northern Michigan Hospitals.

"While the surgical technique has not changed much in that time, some design changes have been made in the artificial joints used. These have resulted in a prosthesis which is stronger and restores a greater range of hip function."

Total hip replacement is generally performed on older patients who are experiencing severe pain and disability due to arthritis, other diseases or injury.

The patient's natural hip socket is replaced with a cup made of a plastic called high-density polyethylene.

The patient's femoral head (the ball at the top of the thigh bone) is also removed and replaced with a highly polished stainless steel ball. The ball is connected to a stem which is cemented into the thigh bone.

WL Association names officers

H. Jerome Noel, longtime Walloon Lake resident, was re-elected president of the 550-plus member Walloon Lake Association at the association's 21st annual meeting August 19 at the Walloon Lake Country Club.

Other officers elected were Leon H. Fish, vice president; Howard C. Weber, treasurer; and Tom L. Walenta, secretary.

Named to a three-year term on the board of trustees was Allan M. Cameron Jr. Elected to the unexpired three-year term of Dr. Alan Dam-schroder was Joseph E. Lung-hamer.

Re-elected to the board of trustees for three-year terms are incumbents William A. Heisel, Leon Hall Fish and Peter R. Rentschler. Leaving office after a three-year term is John J. Devine Jr.

Fish reported that the recently constructed dry hydrant prototype in Resort Township is working and will be demonstrated to the public on Thursday, August 26, at 8 p.m. The prototype is located at 6272 Lake Grove Road.

The dry hydrant makes it possible for fire trucks to pump water out of the lake year-around.

The association will not be involved in any further construction of these dry hydrants around the lake, but will make the specifications available to local governments wanting to construct them.

Awards were presented to Deputy Dave Burris of the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department and Tom Rigg of the Emmet County Sheriff's Department.

Noel presented lifetime membership awards to the following persons making substantial contributions to the Walloon Lake Trust: Dorothy Munson Krenrich, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Graham, Dr. and Mrs. Raymond C. Hausbeck, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Lincoln, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Lotspeich, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Matthews, Cynthia W. Ottawa, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Pohl, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Wolf, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Wilson Jr., Joseph L. Brubaker, Hugh E. Brubaker, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald J. Wright and Mr. and Mrs. William B. Hargreaves.

Pageant, art show in St. Ignace

Labor Day weekend in St. Ignace will begin with the Father Marquette Black Gown Tree Pageant on September 3, 5 and 5 at Kiwanis Park.

On Saturday and Sunday, September 4 and 5, the Mackinac Arts Council will sponsor the fifth annual Arts Dockside.

On Monday, September 6, the annual Labor Day Mackinac Bridge walk from St. Ignace to Mackinaw City will cap off the holiday activities.

Early registration for the fifth annual Arts Dockside on Dock No. 2 in downtown St. Ignace suggests an exciting variety of arts and crafts will be on display.

Artists from throughout Michigan are already registered for spaces at the fair with the participants expected to surpass the record number registered last year.

Arts Dockside entries include some unusual art forms such as native American crafts, wood carvings and traditional arts such as painting, jewelry, ceramics, hand-painted cups and mugs, patchwork, photography and lapidary.

Springbrook: For a quiet walk

Isn't an ooh-ahh park with views like the one from Deadman's Hill down in Jordan River State Forest, but Springbrook Pathway is probably, just for that reason, pleasantly unpopulated.

You can take your flower book, or your scouts and their flower books, and drive up past the Thunder Mountain ski resort to the park to hike about, one and off trails, without seeing anyone and also without getting very lost.

The reason for the flower book is that the variety of terrain provides a wide range of plant growth, from British soldiers lichen to round-leaf hepatica. One field looks straight out of Arizona with a host of tall mullein plants, resembling a miniature desertful of saguero cacti.

As you wander off the sandy two-track and try to leave no trail of your own through the ferns along the cedar swamp, you may cross the trail of someone who was not so careful.

Your sharp eyes lead you along where the plant stems have been recently bent or broken. Who could it be?

A few yards farther in a grove of poplars you catch a glimpse of a brown deer.

By cracky, you're a tracker!

In spring, you will hop across streams, here and there. Be sure to bring along some insect repellent if you come before June.

Now, in summer, you may be glad for a canteen of drinking water.

You'll notice that there's no littering.

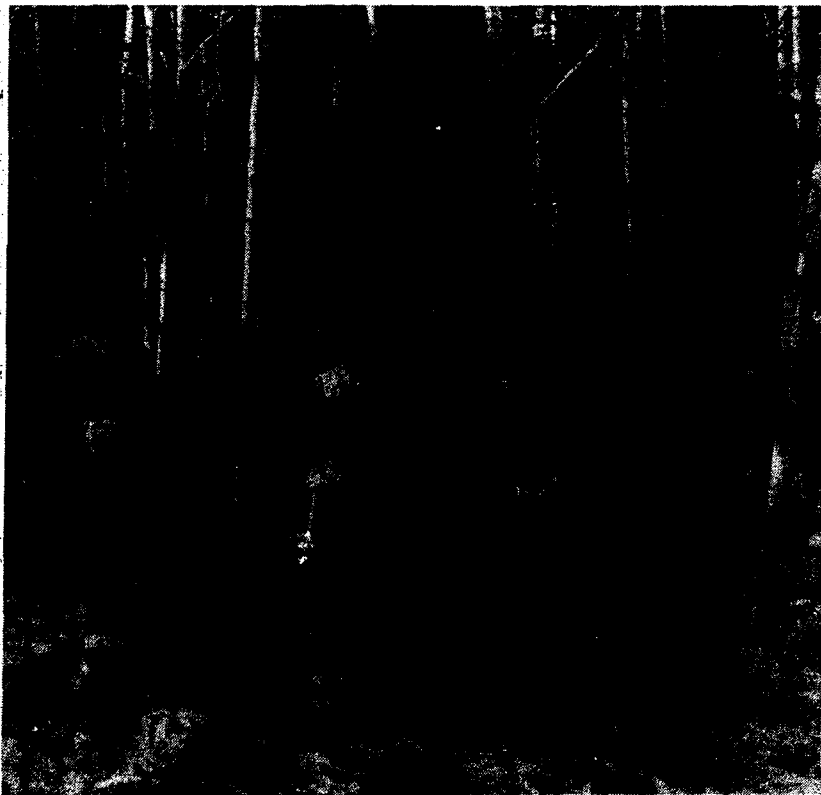

One more nice touch for a good country-hiking day.

There are other hikes also, listed in the paper under "Things to Do."

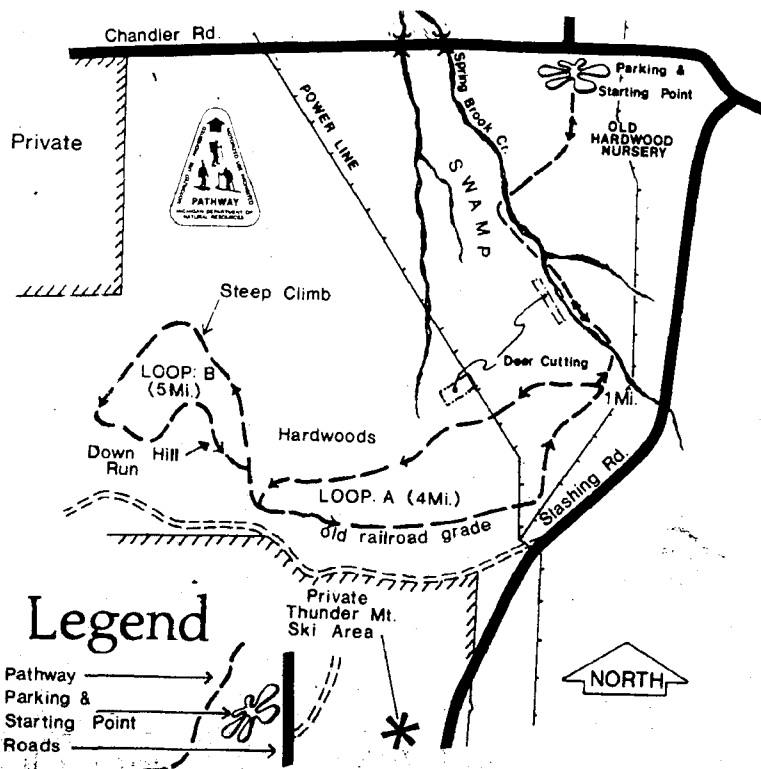

The Springbrook Pathway provides plenty of nature to look at and enjoy. Here Heather Silbar, left, and her sister April enjoy a tree along the trail. The state-owned property near the Thunder Mountain ski area consists of two hiking trails—one four miles, the second five miles—and plenty of room for roaming on your own.

Labor Day tourism expected to equal last year's

Tourism watchers across the state predict the upcoming 78-hour Labor Day weekend should follow the summer-long trend and equal the 1981 level, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

Mileage projections, campground reservations and other barometers show a strong Labor Day building for tourism operators, despite the economy, according to Auto Club's travel operations manager James Drury.

"There even are some predictions of holiday travel possibly exceeding last year's pace," Drury said.

If the weather is warm and sunny, the Michigan Department of Transportation said motorists could travel a record 715 million miles during the holiday, which runs from 6 p.m. Friday, Sept. 3, to midnight Monday, Sept. 6.

Last year the department predicted a 700-million-mile holiday, but bad weather put the actual figure at 600 million miles traveled. A record 695 million miles were traveled during the four-day 1978 Labor Day weekend.

Business at the Grand Hotel on Mackinac Island is up approximately five percent from last summer, and management there predicts Labor Day tourism will remain consistent with that increased level.

Also, summer crossings at the Mackinac Bridge are running two percent above last year, an increase expected to continue through the Labor Day weekend.

The Upper Peninsula Travel and Recreation Association expects Labor Day weekend will bring in the same amount of travelers as last year, and if the weather is good, the region could see a two percent increase. U.P. tourism officials report an increase of group tours and out-of-state visitors this year.

In West Michigan, a tourist association spokesman said Labor Day tourism should equal last year's. Hotel and motel operators who keep rooms available for walk-in guests should see an increase in business over last year if the weather is pleasant.

State Travel Bureau officials expect Labor Day activity to correspond to summer tourism—equal to last year's levels.

Public and private campground use Labor Day weekend also should equal last year's levels, if the weather remains dry.

Forty-nine of 71 state park campgrounds are expected to fill by Saturday morning this Labor Day weekend, with no vacancies expected at the 21 state park campgrounds in West Michigan.

An Auto Club survey also shows that 13 of 18 east Michigan and 12 of 14 south-east Michigan state park campgrounds should fill.

Holiday vacationers should find plenty of camping space available in the Upper Peninsula, where only three of 18 state park campgrounds are expected to fill.

Approximately two-thirds of Lower Peninsula and one-half of U.P. private campgrounds should fill during the Labor Day weekend.

"The biggest drain on Michigan tourism this summer has not been the prolonged recession, but the World's Fair in Knoxville," said Drury.

The Auto Club reports that its out-of-state travelers' requests for Michigan routings are down 8.9 percent through July from last year. Much of that business has made its way south to the World's Fair, Drury said.

While the World's Fair apparently has drained some of Michigan's tourist activity, the amount is not as much as the United States Travel Data Center predicted in its June 1982 report.

The center estimated the Great Lakes-region would have a 9 percent drop in the number of people planning vacations there and an 11 percent drop in vacation flow.

Red Fox, Triangle deadline nears

Registration for this year's Red Fox Regatta and the Budweiser Olympic Triangle sailing races ends August 30.

The races are held on Lake Charlevoix.

The Olympic Triangle begins at 4 p.m. Friday, September 3. The skippers meeting will be at 2 p.m. at the Charlevoix Yacht Club.

A full Olympic course will be sailed. It consists of 1.5 miles windward, 1.06 miles starboard reach, 1.06 miles port reach, 1.5 miles windward, 1.5 miles leeward and 1.5 miles windward for a total of 8.12 miles.

Race organizers say that length should be "long enough to develop optimum performance, but short enough to be relatively unforgiving of tactical errors."

The Red Fox will begin at 11:10 a.m. Saturday, September 5. It concludes Sunday.

On Saturday, sailors will race from Charlevoix Yacht Club to the Boyne City marina. They will have a beer and corn party at the Boyne marina on Saturday night. Racers must provide their own meat and table service; charcoal fires will be furnished.

On Sunday they will race back to Charlevoix.

The skippers meeting will be held at 9 a.m. Saturday at the yacht club.

Scoring for both the Red Fox and the Olympic Triangle will be all-handicapped PHRF, with scoring based on corrected time for each race and overall based on total points.

Each of four divisions will have first, second and third place flags awarded each day for the Red Fox and first, second and third place trophies for overall finish.

Contact the Charlevoix Yacht Club at 547-9285 for information on registering.

Something new, something fun for kids

BY BARBARA CRUDEN

Something new to do, something fun, something to prod the mind or imagination—that applies to children even more than to their vacationing parents.

Maybe it's just end-of-summer and they're ready for school as the only new thing left.

Or maybe it's raining. In the summer cottage the children miss having all their playthings.

Or maybe it's the long trips in the car.

So here are some ways of occupying children.

On a long vacation trip, if the children are little, stopping frequently to chase them around the rest stop beats miles of restless fussing in the car.

Another trick is gathering stones at the side of the road—stones too big to get swallowed—and cutting a hole in an empty cereal box to push the stones into.

Children love it when the parent says in mock surprise, "Where are the stones!"

Shaking the box for their pleasing rumble is part of the game.

Or they can draw faces on the stones and think up funny names for them. Or act out a story with their lap for a stage. And have the stones hop into pockets.

This time can be used to teach a new song. Better still, to make one up. Simple—"Oh, the road is long that leads to home. Long, long, long. But we will make it shorter get, singing a song."

Six-year-olds will sing "99 miles to go" all the way down to about 56, if parents can just bear up and be glad they're not tearing the back seat apart. It goes:

99 miles to go;
99 miles to go.
Drive a mile,
And smile awhile.
98 miles to go.

Sign alphabet is an old favorite. Everyone tries to find an A on a sign along the road. Then, on down to Z. Very instructive, and it teaches honesty, too.

For older children and adults, the game of ghost is absorbing. It starts with the first person thinking of a word and giving the first letter (but not telling the word). The second person does the same thing with a second letter. The third carries on with a third letter.

From that point, anyone who adds a letter and thus makes a complete word, ends the round and acquires one letter in the word "ghost." In successive rounds, when they have acquired all five, they're out of the game.

The player has to have a word in mind, when adding a letter during a round, because he or she can be challenged. And if challenged and found out to be bluffing, the player gets another letter towards being a "ghost."

Older children can also keep a log of the trip, noting times, mileage, gas purchases, lunch stops, and so on as well as one-sentence descriptions of beautiful or unusual glimpses of things—like: "Six white geese stood together like six white question marks." Or, "The road began climbing, and went up like a ramp for nearly 20 miles."

At home or at the summer cottage, playing store is easy with whatever is at hand.

Suitcases or ironing board could be the counter.

It could be a grocery store with cans and boxes from the kitchen, or a department store with everybody's clothes.

The children can make paper money. Buttons can be the change.

This is an excellent opportunity to teach the protocol of shopping and counting money.

If parents can find a kind-hearted lumberyard owner—and they abound—they might be allowed to fill a carton with lumber scraps.

These can become doll chairs and tables, especially if you give the children a spool of masking tape. Taping wood together is easier than nailing.

Starting a hobby can be either important or just fun and is appropriate for nearly any age.

It could be collecting string, pressing flowers, making greeting cards, collecting postcards, or learning to cook.

Summertime is great for hobbies.

And the necessity to find something for the children to do can be the mother of new experiences while it rains outside or while the miles pass.

Tire care boosts safety on highway

Highways can be "safer ways" during the holiday seasons this year if motorists check their tires for proper inflation pressure, adequate tread depth and remember to use their seat belts, reminds the Tire Industry Safety Council.

"Proper tire air pressure, tires with adequate tread remaining and buckled seat belts should be at the top of every safety check list before taking off on a long road trip," said Council Chairman Donald G. Brotzman.

He noted that tires should be inflated to the vehicle manufacturer's recommendations as shown on the tire information placard in the car. At that pressure, tires not only help ensure a safer ride but improve fuel economy by up to three percent compared to tires whose pressure has been allowed to drop to low levels.

"By checking and adjusting the air pressure in your tires every month, you can save substantial amounts on your annual gasoline bill," Brotzman said.

"Those savings could mean up to 300 extra miles if you travel the normal 10,000 miles a year," he declared.

He pointed out that the chances of an accident are a lot greater if your tires are bald.

"Many accidents in wet weather are the result of vehicles skidding on bald or nearly bald tires," he said.

Tires with less than one-sixteenth inch of tread depth showing are dangerous and should be replaced, he said. When the danger point has been reached, wear bars will begin to show as narrow bands of smooth rubber across the tread at intervals around the tire.

Brotzman also said before putting the car on the highway every occupant should put on his safety belt to prevent serious injury in case of an accident.

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration says there are 6.7 million traffic accidents reported annually, of which 2.4 million involve injuries and 44,000 are fatal crashes. The NHTSA says that only 12 percent of the drivers and passengers involved in an accident used the available seat belts in the vehicle.

"NHTSA statistics show that if safety belts are used, half of all deaths and injuries to occupants of passenger cars, light trucks and vans could be prevented," Brotzman said.

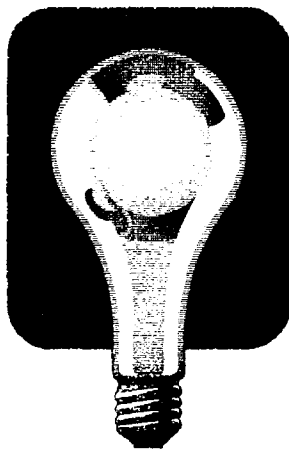

Brotzman listed these additional tips for holiday driving:

-Don't forget your spare tire. Check the pressure in your spare tire once a month and before long trips. The last thing you need is an under-inflated spare when you're miles away from a service facility.

-Take it easy on wet roads. Stopping on a wet road can take up to four times the normal distance on a dry road.

-Don't reduce air pressure after driving. Heat buildup during driving is normal and tires will cool down to proper air pressures on their own after you stop.

-Avoid excessive tire spinning. If your car is stuck in snow, ice, mud, or sand don't try to free it by racing the engine.

If you're a visitor or a vacation home owner, here's a bright idea that will save you money.

Tips to beat summer heat

Sweating summer heat can be uncomfortable at best. At worst, the cost of air conditioning can add a substantial expense to summer electric bills.

R. G. Dahlquist, Consumers Company's manager in the Cheboygan area, has some helpful hints to cut your cooling costs.

"Even if your home or apartment isn't air conditioned," says Dahlquist, "by following a few simple measures you can enjoy a more comfortable summer."

•First of all, take advantage of nature. A cool breeze is the cheapest form of air conditioning. Open windows wide at night to allow the evening air to circulate through the home, keeping in mind proper security of your home against trespassers, of course. Keep them open all night. Sleep with a blanket if you must. Then, close the windows when you wake up to seal in the cool air.

•Keep direct sunlight out by closing drapes and shades. Window and door awnings can also help keep the heat away.

•Avoid using heat- and moisture-producing appliances during warmer times of the day. Dry clothes on an outdoor line. Use your barbecue grill. Run the dishwasher at night. Any appliance with a motor gives off heat. Even a vacuum cleaner produces heat.

•Keep air circulating with portable fans. Use kitchen and bathroom exhaust fans to remove excess heat. Attic fans can vent heat to the outside, making the rooms beneath the attic cooler. With a properly installed attic fan daytime attic temperatures can be reduced 30 to 40 degrees.

•Insulation and storm windows keep your home warm in the winter, and cool in the summer. If storm windows are kept on year-around, make sure they can be opened to allow cool night air to enter.

•If you have central air conditioning, set the thermostat to the warmest comfortable temperature. Raising the setting from 75 to 80 degrees can save about 13 percent on your energy usage.

•While the air conditioner is operating, close off registers to unused rooms such as bedrooms, and keep doors and windows to these rooms closed.

•If you have a window air conditioner, shut doors to other rooms and close hot air registers to keep air from flowing to the basement.

•Air conditioning units should be of proper size for the area being cooled and should be placed on the north side of the house or in shaded areas.

•If you are buying a new air conditioner, select one with a high energy efficiency ratio (EER).

Malpasses, Peterson win

East Jordan's first tennis open, held Saturday, Aug. 21, wound up with Tad Malpass as singles champ and Pat Malpass and Denny Peterson winning the doubles prize.

Recreation director Pat Berto said the age range was impressive, with players all the way up to senior citizen years.

"We hope to have mixed doubles next year," she said.
