Pilots to build hangars for BC

The six old and deteriorating hangars at the city airport will be torn down and 15 or more new ones erected, beginning some time this year, under a proposal worked out between the city of Boyne City and Boyne Area Pilot's Association.

City manager Tim Clifton said at the city commission meeting Tuesday, August 31, that a hearing on the plan would be held Saturday, September 18.

The public hearing, sponsored by the Airport Advisory Board, will have pilots from the association in attendance. Anyone interested in having a hangar is invited to attend, as well as residents with a concern about the airport.

The city plans to rent the land for the hangars to the pilots' association for one dollar a year.

The association will build the new hangars along the east side of the airport and tear down the old ones after the new accommodations are finished.

The west side will then be used as a tie-down area.

At present the six hangars that the city owns bring the city $40 apiece in monthly revenue, but insurance and maintenance are paid out of that amount.

Under the new arrangement, the original cost and the maintenance of the buildings will be borne by the association.

The city, however, has grossed most of its airport profit from the gas that is sold. Clifton said the figure is close to $50,000 gross a year. With the new and more numerous hangars, the city can expect much more in gasoline revenues.

The proposed contract between the city and the association will be for 20 years. The city's only cost in the new building program will be in clearing the site before construction.

The plans meet Federal Aviation Administration lines, Clifton said, and the building process would be checked by the city engineer.

The commission agreed on pursuing the association proposal. "Sounds great—moving forward!" said commissioner Bill Grimm.

Smith gets Water St. contract

C.H. Smith Co. is scheduled to begin renovating the second block of Water Street in downtown Boyne City on September 7.

The city commission awarded the $72,385 contract for the work to the Hayes Township firm at a special meeting Wednesday, August 25.

Smith submitted the lowest of seven bids, which went as high as $118,000.

The contract includes installation of new water and sewer mains and construction of a new roadway and sidewalks along Water from Park to East.

Last autumn, the block from Lake to Park was reconstructed.

The work is necessary, city officials have said, because new water and sewer lines are needed. The city has been losing hundreds of thousands of gallons a year from its water system just because of leaks in pipes.

The state health department has pinpointed the downtown area as the location where a disproportionate amount of that loss is occurring.

A substantial water savings has been noted since the first block was reconstructed and work was done on Front Street.

The city will also install decorative lights and trees along the block. The 10 lights will be the same as those installed last year on the first block.

The trees and lighting were not included in the construction specifications or bids.

The city had budgeted $112,600 for its capital improvement program, but that included $10,000 for putting traffic islands in front of the Country Star Plaza on North Lake Street. That project has been scrapped for this year.

With another $10,000 set aside for the lights and $15,000 for engineering, $77,600 was left for construction. Smith's bid was the only one that came in at less than the budgeted amount.

The money to pay for the project is coming from federal revenue sharing. The $10,000 not spent at the Country Star is mostly offset in the city budget by a $8,000 cut in revenue sharing.

The Country Star project, however, was put off for a year because merchants and the city could not agree on a plan, not because of the funding cut.

Other bids were received from Manthei Development of Charlevoix, $79,462; M.J. Cataldo Excavating of Flint, $92,348; M&M Excavating of Gaylord, $93,839; Hardman Construction of Ludington, $99,103; Schworm of Traverse City, $107,278; and Hodgkiss & Douma of Petoskey, $118,080.

Four other firms requested bid applications but did not return them by the Tuesday, August 24, bid opening.

Work is expected to be completed by the end of October.

BC businesses change

BY BARBARA CRUDEN

There's been a lot of business activity in Boyne City in recent months, much of it established businesses changing hands and new businesses opening.

Among those changing ownership have been Bogema's Pharmacy, The Li'l Pub and Gil Coon's Furniture. New stores to open in the downtown area have been Wickerville Station, Great Lakes Trading Co. and Next Door Neighbor.

Renovations have been made at the Boyne River Inn, Little Lena's Wine Cellar and the Railroad Building.

Next Door Neighbor, located in the theater block, is and is not a new business, because Anne Thurston and Mary Cassidy, her daughter, started making up patchwork kits about 10 years ago upstairs in the Railroad Building and retailing them through advertising in "Good Housekeeping" magazine.

They changed over to wholesaling, and now, with the opening of the shop, the two women cover the whole spectrum of marketing.

The shop is full of color—contemporary quilting is vivid, and applied to all manner of things besides bed quilts. "We're going to have a Christmas mitt in a fall issue of "Good Housekeeping," Cassidy said.

Much of their work is done by hand with help from needle women in the area. "We didn't have to go very far afield to find some excellent quality," Thurston said.

A third person shares the busy work rooms back of the shop—Cassidy's little daughter Laura.

Family-shared businesses are characteristic of downtown Boyne City.

The two sons of Rosetta Chase help her in the management of Wickerville Station, which opened this year. Chase's husband, Leo Chase, works for Consumers Power.

Chase said she is also helped part-time by Ann DiMartino.

Actually Chase also manages a similar store in Charlevoix. Describing the stores, Chase said, "A good word for us is import store."

Right now she is awaiting the holiday shipment—festive kimonos and other oriental fashions, children's toys, and holiday gifts.

Chase has a big greeting card department. And another popular feature is the Wishbook.

Customers may list their birthday in the Wishbook—or their wedding date or anniversary.

"Then we take you through the store," Chase said, "and you tell us what you like."

Later on, friends and family can come in the select something listed for that person and know they are buying what he or she would like.

Another business family is the Huff's who have bought Bogema's Drug Store. Robert Huff worked for Perry Drugs in Oxford for seven years.

Nancy Huff was a special education teacher.

Huff said when they found Bogema's was for sale, "that was it."

He said they will keep the jewelry and pharmacy departments, and "will emphasize health and beauty."

At the Grand Opening in September, customers will find the store will have added new lines in health and beauty aids, and radios and calculators, also.

And the winner at guessing how many pills there are in a large old pharmacy jar will take home a Kodak disc camera, Huff said.

While the senior Huffs are up front, their two children, Donovan and Charity, are busy in rooms at the rear of the store—in true Boyne City fashion.

Another well-known business is also changing hands. Gil Coon's Furniture has been purchased by John Streu of Bay City.

Streu is at present manager of a Bishop Young furniture store. As the new owner of Gil Coon's, Streu with his son, will continue selling furniture at the Lake Street address. A grand opening is planned for December 1.

Helen Coon, who until four years ago, managed her husband's business since his death in 1969, said she will miss the business and all its associations with the community. But she said she does feel that the store will be in good hands.

Gil and Helen Coon came to Boyne City in 1935. Coon was a salesman, then store manager for a Kalamazoo Furnace Company outlet in Boyne City. In 1962 he expanded the prosperous business to include furniture.

Starting on Water Street where Rainy Day Lady is located, the Coon's business moved several times before reaching its present location.

In the last four years since Helen Coon retired, the store has been managed by her daughter Janet Pearson of Gaylord.

Next door, a new Palladian exterior marks Lena's Wine Cellar, a restaurant where Little Lena's Pizza used to be.

But Gino Longo and Maurivio Bacchiocchi, who own and manage the restaurant, managed to keep Little Lena's in the process. One big wooden door is for pizzas and the other for restaurant dining.

Sister Lisa, Boyne City's first Catholic nun, will be formally introduced to the St. Matthews parish on Sunday. Her role within the church community will be quite different than the traditional teaching or nursing positions filled by nuns.

St. Matthews 1st nun 'pastoral minister'

By DON DIBLEY

Sister Lisa doesn't wear a habit. But she has been known to wear a clown suit — if that is what's needed to reach a young hospital patient.

The Catholic nun is the first sister at St. Matthews and St. Augustine, and parishioners in Boyne City and Boyne Falls are likely to find some changes in the church because of her presence.

First off, they'll find Sister Lisa in her office — or, more likely, out of her office.

That office is in the rectory — which traditionally has been the priest's home and office.

And instead of being cloistered in a convent, Sister Lisa lives in a log cabin in Boyne Falls.

Breaks with tradition run a lot deeper than that, though.

Sister Lisa will be a pastoral minister, aiding Father Dennis Stillwell in ways which nuns were not permitted to until a few years ago.

The idea of a pastoral ministry is relatively new in the Catholic church, she says, and many of the things she now does were once reserved for an assistant pastor.

Along with her other duties, Sister Lisa will conduct prayer services and give communion. Only ordained priests can celebrate the sacraments, she points out, but nuns in some diocese now handle many tasks formerly considered to be strictly the domain of the priest.

In her pastoral ministry, Sister Lisa is reaching out to the people of the parish. In her first two weeks here, she visited about 50 homes with the aid of Walter Gibes, whom she says has acted as her "navigator," converting rural route box numbers into homes.

This home visitation, she says, is also part of the change in the church since Vatican II. Fifty years ago, she said, the church centered around the pope, bishops, priests and nuns. Now, the emphasis is on the people of the parish.

"The people are the church — all together," she says.

"Father Denny," as Stillwell is known throughout the community, wants her to work with the people of the parish to help them see the need for their talents to be developed and to support them in using those talents, she says.

Much of her work will be in involving the parishioners in the church. One physical change is already in the works. A wall has been removed so the choir, which was behind it, can be seen.

Sister Lisa, who arrived at St. Matthews in mid-August, will conduct special educational programs, participate in Sunday worship and prayer groups, be the director of the liturgy, counsel and "do whatever is needed" to bring the church and its people closer together.

"Doing whatever is needed" can take the form of counseling, educating or even a little clowning.

Soon after her arrival, Sister Lisa was called upon to visit a young girl at Charlevoix Area Hospital. But the four-year-old did not respond well to the nun's visit.

So Sister Lisa got into her clown outfit and returned — with the aid of Lynda Christensen — to the hospital, where Susie Sunshine cheered up the youngster.

Sister Lisa is a member of the Sisters of St. Dominic community in Grand Rapids. She entered religious life 29 years ago, in 1953.

Father Denny found out about her through a letter she sent the bishop at the Gaylord diocese. After he interviewed her, Sister Lisa signed a contract "with the priest and parish."

She will be formally introduced to the parish this Sunday, September 5.

Her assignment at St. Matthews is her second outside the traditional role of nun as teacher. For 6½ years she was the first nun at a parish in Manistee.

Before that she taught, mostly in high schools but some in elementary and college. Her fields were music and art, English and religion.

Besides Manistee, she taught in Grand Rapids, Alpena and Detroit.

Sister Lisa has been very active in diocese work, in the Detroit and Saginaw diocese and, more recently, in the Gaylord one.

She was a member of the Council of Religions in Detroit and is presently on a number of boards in the Gaylord diocese, which Boyne and Manistee are both part of.

Sister Lisa, a member of the diocese board of education, is impressed by the "very fine" religious education programs in the St. Matthews and St. Augustine parishes.

Summer 'recess' ready to end

Boyne City and Boyne Falls students will be heading back to class the day after Labor Day, while East Jordan students get one extra day of summer.

The first day of school will begin at 8:25 a.m. on Tuesday, September 7, for Boyne City middle school students. Buses will arrive at the middle school at 8:10. Classes will be dismissed at 3:15.

Elementary and high school buses will arrive at 8:15 with classes getting underway at 8:30. High school classes will be dismissed at 3 p.m. and elementary at 3:05.

In Boyne Falls, school doors will open for the first time at 8:15 on Tuesday, September 7.

High school students are to report to the gymnasium by 8:20 for a general orientation session while kindergartners through eighth graders will report to their respective classrooms.

The first full-day of classes in East Jordan begins at 8:30 on Wednesday, September 8. Students should go directly to their homerooms.

Classes will be dismissed at 2:45. Contract negotiations with the teachers' union are underway in East Jordan.

"We've met twice and plan to meet again this week," said school board president Mary Jason.

The negotiations are still in the planning stages, Jason said. The contract expired yesterday.

"It will be a mutual decision on how much would be opened," Jason said. Negotiators for the Michigan Education Association, the teachers' union, are Bob Snyder, Larry Gee and Roger Ransom.

Negotiating for the board are Jason, Bob Sherman, Tom Roesler and alternate Herb Griffin.

Patti-Kaye Covert, Lonnie Polk wed in Boyne City

Patti-Kaye Covert and Lonnie Polk were married July 31 in the garden at the Cora Brooks residence in Boyne City. Pastor Clifford Molnar of Faith Community Fellowship officiated. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Covert of Boyne City. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Polk of Pittsburg, California. The bride wore a long ivory Victorian dress with a picture hat decorated with silk flowers. She carried a cascade arrangement of ivory silk flowers. Maid of honor was Sheryl Covert, sister of the bride from Houghton. She wore a pink dress similar to the bride's. Best man was Tim Allore, friend of the groom from Harbor Springs. Flower girl was Shannon Covert, niece of the bride from Roseville. She wore a hand-crocheted dress and carried a basket of silk flowers.

Music was provided by Sheryl Covert, Susan Brown of Columbus, Georgia, and Charles Covert of Mt. Clemens. A reception was held on the farm of Cora Brooks. The couple will live in Harbor Springs.

Engaged?

The Charlevoix County Press publishes engagement and wedding announcements without charge.

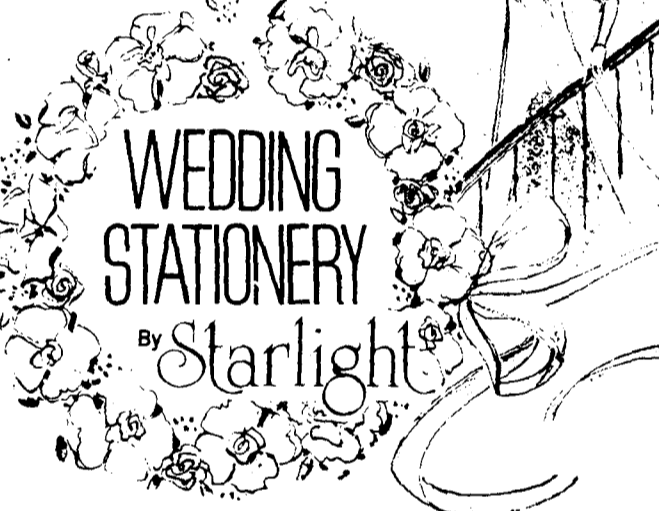

Pictures are welcomed, but we do suggest a few guidelines. Good quality black and white photographs, either of the couple or bride-elect, are preferred. All photographs are kept on file in the Press office and may be picked up at any time following publication; those pictures not picked up after six months will be discarded.

Wedding and engagement announcement forms are available at our office or will be mailed upon request and the receipt of a self-addressed stamped envelope.

While we try to publish each announcement the week that we receive it (and in the case of weddings, the first publication date following the ceremony), space constraints sometimes force us to delay the printing of the announcement for one or two weeks. Therefore, we ask that information be received at least two weeks before the intended publication so that we might better plan for its publication.

We will not accept wedding announcements received more than four weeks after the wedding.

Marshall Sayles

Marshall can't hack cold weather

The mercury and my spirits hit an all-time low Saturday. It was the first time our furnace had come on all summer. The in-house mercury rose to seventy, but my spirits just hung there, not moving up a notch. That's because science has not yet connected my spirit to a thermostat.

One way to shake a sullen mood on a cold August morning is to move your muscles and change your thoughts. So I went outdoors and looked around for a mood riser.

The solution seemed to be in that field across the road where vacant land is sprinkled with old apple and pear trees. I went over, picked a small pear and bit into it. It was green, hard and sour, just the rig to take my mind off the fact that science had not yet connected a thermostate to my spirit. Chewing and spitting out a green pear gets you moving around and thinking about something besides a sagging spirit.

Part of the pear stuck in my throat. Hacking would not bring it up. I was wont to swear, but I have never yet been able to stand in an old orchard and cough and swear at the same time. That pear had set up housekeeping in my throat for sure. Breathing became short, making it impossible to sit down, smoke my pipe and think this thing through.

I had read stories about people choking to death. At the dinner table, mostly. Not in a field of old apple and pear trees. Those who have must have been low in number for I had never ran across the statistics.

As the choking continued, my whole life passed before my eyes. For heaven sakes! Did I really do all those things? Look at that and that. Shame, shame, double shame.

During my thrashing and hacking I looked heaven-ward to see if St. Peter was actually beckoning. And what my wonderous eyes did see! A partridge sitting in that pear tree. Partridges do not sit in pear trees until Christmas-time. No wonder it was so cold. My spirits are never low at Christmastime. I do not allow it; and with a mighty hack I sent that piece of pear sailing through the air. Then I danced a little jig.

Wait a minute. What happened to Labor Day, Halloween, Thanksgiving and Howard Cosell?

Damn. I knew that green pears could make you sick, but I had no idea they could drive you crazy.

Jottings

It's a social event?

BY JIM SILBAR

It's a social event, a night out on the town, a whole lot of fun and you can even get to see some of the people you have been wanting to see for a long time.

What is it? It's an auction, and, like Jim Brannan says, everything is free until the last item is put on the block and sold. Auctions are happening frequently around these parts, especially since the Sherwood brothers opened up their auction house at the old Parrish Chevrolet garage behind the post office in downtown Boyne City.

Last Thursday night, over 150 people sat, stood, wandered, and bid on hundreds of items that were brought in and consigned to the evening's auction. One member of the crowd remarked that there weren't as many people at the auction that night as at the previous ones and put the cause on the Emmet County Fair which was having the stock auction at the same time.

"They're only so many people who will go to an auction and sit through the selling of a lot of items before the one item that attracts their attention causes them to bid," said another Thursday night participant. And then he put in a bid on a box of items that he thought might contain something he could use.

He proceeded to win the bid, and started sorting through the box before saying that some of the stuff he just bought would be thrown away, and the rest put out at his upcoming garage sale.

"Why is it that all the 'good' stuff is put out last," lamented another auction goer, while watching a table of glassware go up for bids. He evidently wanted to put in a bid on something else and wanted that item to go up next.

If one of the keys to having a successful auction is the spreading of the good stuff with the junk, the auctioneers who control the sale had better be experts. Everything brought in has to go on the block and keeping the auction fast paced and moving is just part of the auctioneer's show.

Some auctioneers add a little humor just to break up the chant, slow the pace down, or up, and probably catch a short breath as they are constantly talking up a storm trying to get the highest prices they can for the merchandise on the block. Others just vary the things that are brought up to the table so nobody will get bored.

The items brought into the sale last Thursday included a couple of cars, a 16 foot counter with stools, silver plated dishes, watches and even old coins. Along with all the "junk" as some people call it.

Estate auctions are a little different in that the person holding the auction owns everything. The one person idea auction is used to sell off unneeded tools, clothing, furniture, toys and other things they have accumulated over a period of time. The consignment auction works a little different in that not everyone has a lot of items to sell and they bring them to the auction house along with dozens of others to make one large sale.

There are hundreds of different kinds of auctions depending on what the items sold are used for like farming equipment, housewares, animals, and lots more.

"Almost everyone could use an auction to sell off everything including the land the auction is held on," one auctioneer said.

Where else can you go to see your friends, have a good time looking over things you may need and things you don't, and maybe get them at a ridiculously low price. After all, it's free until the last item is sold.

It's almost time for getting an answer to the "I wonder syndrome". I mean there are some questions one doesn't ask while the vacationers are up North like, is the whole Northern part of Michigan built on a base of sugar? And not glacial outwash like all the books say?

What do the tourists think when they drive into almost any town here in the North and they see all the fudge shops beckoning and calling out that we have the best and that you ought to try it now.

Practically every major town has a fudge making facility. It just seems like the shops have gotten loose from the "Island". Most of the shops even advertise "Formerly from the island", "Island style", when they set up their shops on the mainland.

It seems that the fudge shops are branching like banks in a major city, buying old gas stations to convert into tourist traps with gift shops and, of course, creamy fudge.

I am not exactly what you would consider a connoisseur of that delectable creation, trying to watch my weight like I am to get in shape for ski season, but I sure do enjoy a piece or two, or three, or four, oh heck, just give me a couple of pounds.

Barbara Cruden

One of the best places

The children were stomping around the nursery schoolroom. But it was to a purpose. Actually, several purposes. The stomping had everything to do with why children go to nursery school—besides learning to be with other children and giving their mothers or fathers some time off.

These kids were pretending to be giants. (It's hard to be a giant at home with larger, more practical people all around.) And they were acting out a story. A tom-tom provided the beat for slow, heavy strides. Thus they were also learning that a musical sound can be interpreted, that they could do a rudimentary dance, and that a rhythm was there for them to harmonize movement to.

When the tom-tom beat changed on the eighth stomp from slow to fast, they scurried with it, for the witch had decreed that if they took more than seven giant steps, they would be changed into little people, hurrying to get anywhere.

They, of course, knew about little people, but what they hadn't known before was the actual process of counting.

The little people ran so hard, the narrator said, they had to all fall down to rest. Children adore all falling down at once. The tom-tom stopped; the children dropped.

The next moment, when they "awoke," they were giants again, and the story went on and on till they all arrived at the castle.

The teacher didn't say, "When you go too far, you find something gives away." But the witch in the story did say the giants were trampling her golden forest and that's why she cast the spell of seven steps.

Someday the story's meaning may come through.

Meantime, the children were learning the harmonies of dance, rhythm, acting together, and imagination. And they were learning to count. They were also deliriously happy.

A nursery school is a great time for these things. No giant of institutional procedures stands over the class and says, you must sit at desks to learn to count. You must now clap your hands to the count—but not too loudly, there's a class in the next room, and so on.

No culture giant says, the only dancing we do in this country is social dancing, except for people who do it on a stage as a profession.

Oh, yes, there is more to nursery school than meets the eye.

Or ear. When children sing, "White sheep, white sheep on a blue hill," it isn't only a pretty song that teaches them to match a pitch, carry a tune, stay together, and memorize—all valuable skills.

But it's also an important song because it uses metaphors: white sheep means clouds, blue hill mean sky.

Poetry is made of metaphor. Science progresses by metaphor. It is valuable to become at home with metaphors.

In nursery school, the teacher can single out all these important skills and combine them in a nursery school activity.

A nursery school that does less is wasting children's time.

Visitor appalled by BC cemetery

Editor,

A few week-ends ago we returned to Boyne City, my home town, for a family visit and chance to pay our respects to my parents with a visit to the cemetery.

If you have visited the city cemetery, you know what met our eyes. I was appalled at the conditions I found there. The grass was dry and brown, and the weeds in need of being mowed.

We walked through the cemetery reading the names on the tombstones and were reminded of the care and love these people gave to the community. Their homes and yards were well-kept and a thing of beauty for all to enjoy. How sad it is to see their final resting place so poorly maintained!

We have visited many towns this summer from Michigan to California and noticed the care given to cemeteries. Even desert towns gave the impression of that of an oasis of peace and beauty.

I am not sure how the cemetery association is organized, or who should be contacted, but do hope that those in charge will be notified, and steps be made to make the improvements needed.

How new tax law will affect you

By BOB DAVIS
Area Congressman

While most of the provisions in the recently-passed tax bill are aimed at reforming tax laws and closing tax loopholes, there are portions that will affect individuals which you should know about.

Most of these measures go into effect January 1, 1983, and therefore will be reported on your 1984 income tax returns.

The tip reporting provision for people who work in restaurants means that for establishments with 10 employees or more, at least eight percent of gross receipts must be reported as tips for employees who get tips.

Unless the employee voluntarily reports such income, the employer is required to include eight percent of the establishment's income on the employee's W-2 form for tax purposes.

There are changes in allowable medical deductions. A person will be able to deduct medical expenses which are more than 5 percent of the taxpayer's adjusted gross income, instead of the current three percent.

Casualty losses will be deductible if they exceed 10 percent of the person's income, and after 1983, a person will no longer be able to deduct prescription drug costs over 1 percent of their income.

There will now be restrictions on deductions for contributions to corporate pension plans, many of which are used as tax shelters for wealthy people. The bill lowers the allowable deductible pension contribution from $45,475 per year, to $30,000, but increases the allowable contribution for the self-employed from $15,000 to $30,000 after 1983.

Other corporate plans are also affected. What this does is keep a lid on the use of pension plans to avoid paying taxes on wealthy incomes.

Federal employees will now be required to contribute to Medicare. Federal employees will pay the 1.3 percent tax for Medicare coverage.

While federal workers do not now pay for Medicare, about 80 percent of retired federal employees over 65 are covered by Medicare because of previous non-government employment, or through spouse coverage.

The bill provides a replacement for the existing minimum tax on wealthy individuals. The system is designed to prevent citizens with large incomes from "wiping out" their tax liability with large deductions.

The bill raises the current one percent telephone tax for 3 percent for three years, and drops the tax entirely in 1985.

The tax bill doubles the current federal excise tax on cigarettes from eight to 16 cents a pack.

Finally, the bill requires the withholding of 10 percent of interest and dividend payments. However, exemptions have been included for certain low-income and elderly individuals and tax-exempt institutions. This provision becomes effective on July 1, 1983.

Many of these provisions in the bill are ones that I opposed. Unfortunately, we were unable to vote on them separately, although I supported efforts to do so.

State jobless pay debt near $2 billion

By Ralph Ostling
103rd District State Representative

Michigan's unemployment compensation insurance debt to the federal government, which may reach more than $2 billion at the end of this year, will continue to worsen, according to a bulletin issued by the Citizens Research Council of Michigan.

The council forecasts that the debt could increase to nearly $4 billion by 1985, even with a declining unemployment rate.

Even if the current unemployment rate of 14.4 percent should decline to approximately 9.7 percent by 1985, there will still be a gap of almost $650 million a year between the amount paid into the employment security system to the amount paid out.

The Michigan Employment Security Commission estimates that unemployment would have to fall to 6.5 percent before the system's income and outgo would be equal.

Since 1980, average benefit payments have risen from $102 to $160 a week, and they are expected to climb to $196 a week by 1985.

To bring the disparity between benefit payments and payroll taxes into line with it would require more than a 40 percent reduction in benefits or a 75 percent increase in payroll taxes, or some combination of the two, the council said.

These actions would simply hold the accumulated debt at the 1982 level of $2.2 billion and further benefit reductions or tax increases would still be needed to pay off that debt.

Another severe problem facing Michigan and its unemployment compensation fund is the payment of interest on the debt to the federal government. Before April 1, 1982, loans from the federal government were not subject to interest.

A state could borrow from the federal government without interest and later repay the loan with inflation-cheapened dollars. Now the federal government charges 10 percent interest on new borrowing.

The MESCC estimates that by the end of 1982, the amount of interest-bearing loans will rise to $641 million. This will increase to $1.2 billion in 1983 and to $2.6 billion in 1985.

As of September 30, 1985, the annual interest charge would approach $200 million.

It is obvious that the unemployment compensation crisis is an issue that will affect everyone in Michigan. If the state cannot repay its current debt to the federal government by November 10, an additional payroll tax will be imposed.

Such a tax could hurt Michigan's ability to bring in new business.

There will be no easy solution to this problem. It is time to consider tightening eligibility requirements and to eliminate benefit indexing. We must take steps this fall to deal with this complex issue before it worsens.

All of us in the Legislature must work with business leaders throughout the state to develop an effective and fair solution to one of Michigan's most difficult long-range problems.

The unemployment compensation debt is a roadblock to future economic health for our state. The decisions we make in the coming weeks will determine the future of our state's economic well-being.

A special day at Bennett School

BY DORIS HUCKLE

It's an old and scenic route, driving from East Jordan over what used to be known as the "Hogs-back Road" to Central Lake or Bellaire in Antrim County.

The road is now county-signed "Kidder Road" and it leaves M-66 two miles south of East Jordan, curving and winding through the hills. Beyond a few curves the driver passes a little red schoolhouse and a log cabin built by area pioneers. Both are still in use.

The cabin is a private residence, but the Bennett schoolhouse is a community affair. When school consolidation took place in 1946, stockholders put up $10 a share to save it. They also maintain the building.

The schoolhouse recently was the site for a special birthday party, Goldie Bennett's 85th.

All afternoon people arrived juggling dishes to pass for a supper of homemade foods. By 5 p.m., 11 relatives, neighbors, city friends had signed guest register.

Out in the schoolyard young boys played horseshows while an ecumenical pick-up band from rural and city churches led in the singing of Goldie Bennett's favorite hymns. There were guitars, banjo strummers and a mouth organist.

They brought back memories of her youthful years, earning her way in the kitchens of northern Michigan lumber camps where she worked with her late husband, Sam.

Old time residents remember Sam. He was one of nine Bennett boys, all from one family, known throughout the northland for their famous winning baseball team near the turn of the century.

Sam's grandfather built the first log school on the site, and later in 1889, his father built the present

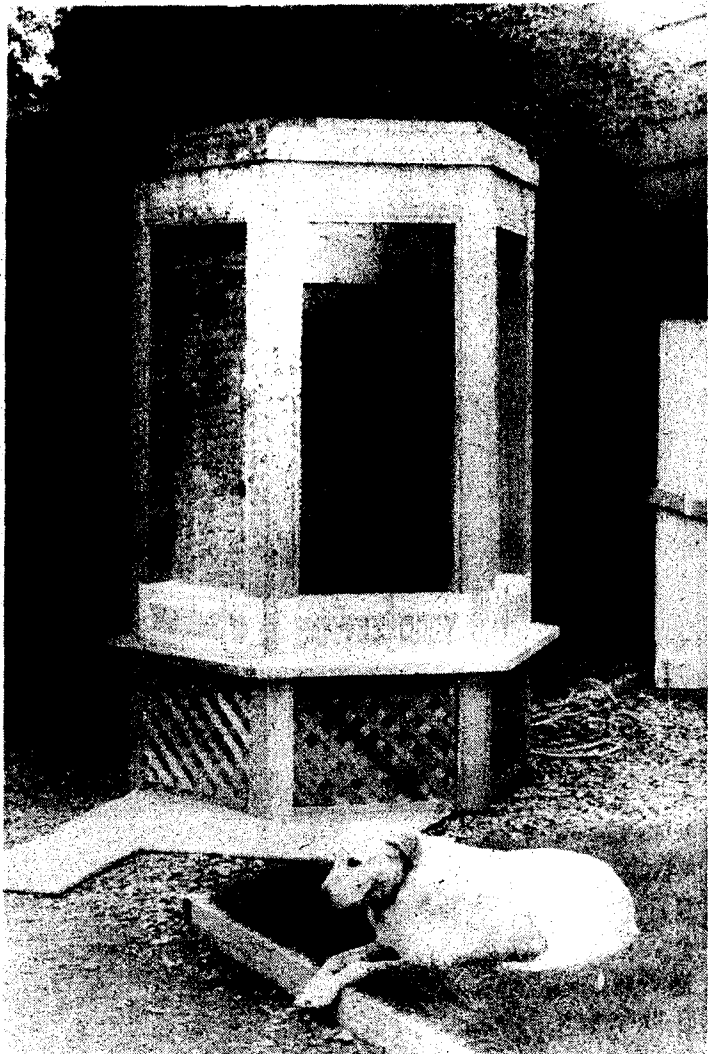

A pick-up band of musicians from local churches serenaded Goldie Bennett at her 85th birthday celebration.

Clubs meet

The New Horizon Club of East Jordan, which includes several members from Boyne City, went to Central Lake last week for a picnic. The group is planning a three-day camping trip to Torch Lake on September 8-10. Anyone interested in going may contact Helen Juilleret at 547-2287.

The Boyne City Friendship Club met August 23, with 40 people present. Plans for the October color tour were made.

This kiosk will soon be placed in downtown Boyne City so messages and notices can be placed in a central location. The kiosk, which is presently being painted at the Wood Shop, will be put in front of the Ben Franklin store at Water and Park. Chamber of Commerce executive director Kate Schaefer said it would not be placed in position until after the construction work on the second block of Water Street is completed. That is supposed to be the end of October.

Sorority raises funds for hospital

A special fund has been established at Charlevoix Area Hospital to raise money for new equipment in the intensive-coronary care unit.

The first donation to the fund came from the Kappa Sigma chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority which raised the money at its house tour in July.

The chapter gave $1,000 to the hospital, earmarked for the intensive-coronary care unit.

"We see this as seed money. We hope others in the community will join us in donating to this fund, so our ICCU can purchase the equipment it needs, now that it is 10 years old," house tour chairwoman Suzi Reis said.

"We chose the hospital's intensive care unit because this is one thing that touches everyone's life in Charlevoix, whether they are natives.

one. A few miles away Sam and Goldie moved into her present farm home in the first year of the depression, 1929.

Among the 20 names on the World War II honor roll which hangs in the school are five "Bennetts," three of them Sam and Goldie's sons.

Until two years ago, Mrs. Bennett kept her own milch cow; now her henyard and a sizeable garden keep her busy "among other things."

Warned by a minister present at her birthday party not to get too tired, that he expected her in Sunday school the next day, she nodded assent. Neither he nor any of the other guests knew that earlier in the day she and one of her sons had scrubbed the schoolhouse floor, "because the downstate party planner was going to be there too late to do it."

Mrs. Bennett made it to Sunday school at nearby Vance chapel the next morning. The following day she worked at an auction sale, helping at the food concession, prepared by Bennett stockholders. They were raising money needed for repairs at the Bennett schoolhouse.

NOTICE PUBLIC HEARING VILLAGE OF BOYNE FALLS

A public hearing will be held September 13 at 7 p.m. at the Boyne Falls Village Hall for the purpose of discussing the proposed amendment of the Mobile Home Ordinance No. 20, Section 3.

Section 3.1:

Anyone living in an existing "Mobile Home", may replace said existing "Mobile Home" with a new (meaning never previously used "Mobile Home"), to be used as a residence only, provided:

a. That previously existing "Mobile Homes" must be completely removed from the premises, upon which it was situated.

b. That the new "Mobile Home", must be affixed to the land in the same manner as provided in Section 3.a, subparagraph c.

c. That the location of the new "Mobile Home", on the premises must be the same as the location of the previous "Mobile Home", except in length and width variations, which may occur due to the differences in sizes in the two mobile homes.

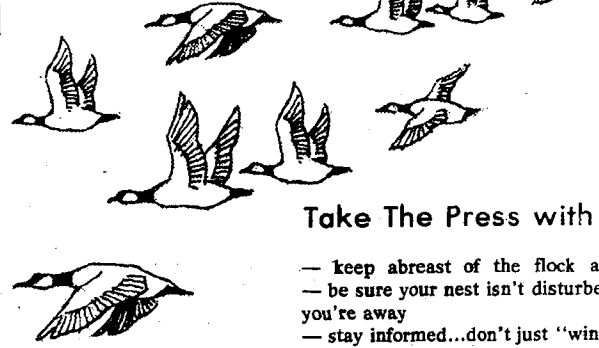

d. That the owners of the new "Mobile Home" shall be the same owners of the old mobile home.

e. The installation of the "Mobile Home" must occur within 14 days after the removal of the old "Mobile Home". Provided, however, that the owner of the land may request of the Village Clerk an extension of said time, based upon the inability of the owner to have the new foundation installed, or, the new "Mobile Home" delivered to the site. The owner shall request of the Village Clerk an extension for a specified time. If the Village Clerk deems that the time period is reasonably required for installation of the foundation and delivery of the "Mobile Home", they may grant the extension or grant an extension for a shorter time period which is reasonably sufficient for installation of the foundation and delivery of the "Mobile Home".

This Amendment shall become effective 20 days after its adoption.

BC business changes

The entire complex includes also Sportsman Bar.

Marie Stokes, who does a little of everything there, said renovation started last fall with the partitioning of Little Lena's and an addition to the rear of the building.

The scrubbed brick walls in the restaurant interior are made from the torn down walls of the old railroad roundhouse, only a few steps away.

Cloth napkins and tablecloths make a pleasant setting. The patterns coordinate with window draperies and waitress uniforms.

Renovation in town has also brought new faces to the Railroad Building.

In the new section of the old building is lawyer Tom Anderson, who moved his office this summer from East Jordan.

Anderson, who continues as East Jordan's city attorney, has a general practice.

"Anything that comes through," he said. "Probate, real estate, divorce..."

Anderson earned his bachelor's at Michigan State University and his law degree at Thomas M. Cooley Law School in Lansing. Before coming to Charlevoix County, he was prosecuting attorney in two south Michigan counties.

Anderson likes his new quarters. "The office was furnished by my clients and myself," he said, and explained the chairs were from the board of directors' room at General Motors.

John Buick, Jerry VanTreese, and Dick Wulff have extended the possibilities of the old Railroad Building by putting partitions in the waiting room area, taking care that they match up with the original beaded ceiling board. And keeping the old radiators.

VanTreese, sitting at the huge double desk made of oak which came from the old Boyne City newspaper office, said they had applied for state certification of the building as a Historic Structure.

They will then apply for federal certification, he said, adding it would be, to his knowledge, the first to be certified in the city.

VanTreese moved into one of the offices this summer, where, he said, he wears several hats. One is in the continuance of H. and R. Block. Another is as one of the principals of Shanley-VanTreese Agency, Inc., a general insurance agency.

A third hat is the Mutual Service Corporation, a regional stock broker-dealer, specializing in municipals and the tax-sheltered area.

And fourthly, the Northwest Michigan Title Company of Hoffman, Hoffman, VanTreese of Charlevoix now has a branch office in Boyne City, there in the Railroad Building.

Another renovation, taking advantage of the city's natural beauty, is the Boyne River Inn's deck overlooking the Boyne River.

Charity and Donovan stand with their parents Nancy and Robert Huff in their drug store, recently purchased from Bogemas in Boyne City.

Janet Harris of the BRI said the deck, built this summer, seats about 20 people.

R&D money for small businesses

Small businesses have an opportunity to tap into the award of federal research and development grants and contracts as a result of a new federal law.

As a result of the new Small Business Innovation Development Act, federal agencies with research and development budgets exceeding $100 million must begin this October to earmark 1.25 percent of these funds for small business contracts.

It's anticipated that some federal agencies will begin soliciting grant proposals under this new program as early as December.

The program, to be phased in over a four year period, is expected to direct up to $450 million in federal research and development awards to small technology-oriented firms by 1987.

The law is intended to stimulate technological innovation and encourage the participation of small science and high-technology firms in government research.

A booklet, "Government Research and Development Opportunities for the Small Innovative Firm," contains details on how small science and technology-based firms can compete for federal research and development dollars and how they may participate in the new program.

Copies of the booklet can be obtained by writing to Senator Mitch Irwin, State Capitol, Lansing 48909.

EJ cabin decision expected

A vote is expected at the East Jordan city council meeting Tuesday, September 7, on a request to allow construction of seven cabins on Lake Charlevoix.

The request has drawn so much discussion a public hearing had to be continued on a second night.

Marie and Jim Yettaw want lakefront property rezoned from R-1 (residential) to C-2 (commercial). The request had been approved by the planning and zoning commission.

Time ran out at the first hearing date, August 17, as residents and a neighbor objected, saying that the seven modern tourist cabins the Yettaws propose to build would change the character of the neighborhood. The property is on M-66.

Lysle Johnson, the nearest neighbor, complained at the August 24 continuation, "The planning and zoning commission didn't come to see me at any time about changing the zoning...It seems to me in all fairness they would want to see the other side."

He added that allowing one C-2 property would open up the neighborhood for further commercial development. And what would happen, he asked, if the Yettaws had to sell the business to some less desirable operators.

Former councilman Harry Watson picked up on the same theme, saying further that the city zoning code was a form of guarantee for neighborhoods.

Former planning and zoning commissioner Dennis Jason concurred, and said that the town needed, in addition to zoning, a master plan.

Keith Kenney, a candidate for city council, said tourism is the business of Michigan. What the Yettaws would do would enhance the area, he said.

Besides the zoning change, the Yettaws would also need a variance to the 50-foot setback requirement.

Yettaw's point was that a resort isn't necessarily a detriment. "Lake property is too expensive to deteriorate," he said.

"There's very little land available to build cottages," he said, adding that the trend is toward tourism.

"I would hate to see a developer come in," he said.

Marie Yettaw noted that tourists ask, where is the nearest grocery store or drug store. They ask for the nearest dentist or car repair place.

She said she knew from experience the cabins would benefit local economy.

City attorney Tom Anderson said a special use permit would not be possible as the R-1 stipulations do not include rental cabins.

Councilman Al Joseph explained that although the request was for rezoning, it could not be described as "spot zoning" in which a property owner is allowed to do something entirely out of keeping with the rest of the neighborhood.

In this case, he said, there are other rental cabins in the area, although they are beyond the city limits.

Chamber hosts stag night

The Boyne City Area Chamber of Commerce's fifth annual stag night will be held Saturday, September 14, at Springbrook Hills.

There is also an optional golf outing for stag night ticket holders. It will be a four-man scramble tournament, complete with prizes and trophies.

Tickets for stag night are $17.50 and are available at the chamber office.

Lawyer Tom Anderson is pleased with his new office in the old Railroad Building in Boyne City. Anderson, too, is new in town, having moved from his East Jordan office this summer.

Extra jobless pay OK'd

Up to 48,000 jobless Michigan workers could be eligible for up to 10 weeks of additional unemployment benefits starting in September.

Another 60,000 now receiving extended benefits could be eligible as they exhaust their EB before year's end, according to S. Martin Taylor, director of the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

The new program, called federal supplemental compensation, will be in effect from September 12 through March 31, and was included in a federal tax bill recently passed by Congress.

Taylor estimated the program could mean as much as $162 million in added benefits to the state's unemployed through the end of 1982 alone.

To qualify for these new benefits, jobless workers will have to meet these requirements:

—They must have exhausted all of their regular state benefits and extended benefits after June 1, 1982;

—They must have had 20 or more qualifying weeks prior to applying for the regular state benefits they exhausted;

—They must continue to meet all state and extended benefits requirements (they must be unemployed and be able, available and actively seeking work and provide a written record of their job search).

The MESC will begin taking claims for the FSC program on September 13. Since MESC has individuals report every two weeks, the earliest could receive their first FSC check will be during the week of September 26.

Weekly FSC checks will be for the same weekly amount as the individual received in extended benefits and for up to a maximum of 10 weeks.

Money pledged in station bid

Communities and public agencies are putting money behind an effort to attract a federal aviation flight service station to Charlevoix County. Charlevoix County has contributed a total of $7,000 to the project, while the city of Charlevoix and the Charlevoix Economic Development Corporation have each pledged $2,000. Charlevoix Township has approved a $1,000 expenditure. The county's share came in two pieces, with a $2,000 pledge being made early in August and a $5,000 contribution being approved last week.

The lure of the automated flight data center for aircraft is an annual payroll estimated at $1.5 million for about 60 employees. This translates, according to supporters of the effort, into $3 million or more in increased money circulation in the immediate area. A group of individuals headed by engineer Alvin Ranger of Charlevoix has spearheaded the drive to get Federal Aviation Administration approval to put the center near the Charlevoix Airport. Charlevoix is one of about 40 cities in the state which are trying to attract the FAA facility. About 400 smaller centers around the nation are being merged into 60 larger facilities. It took a $1 a year lease for Terre Haute to win Indiana's flight service center. The winning community must provide a 10,000 square foot building on a 20-year lease. The money being given by governmental agencies is to go toward development of a presentation to convince the FAA Charlevoix is where it wants to place the center. When Ranger approached the various governmental bodies a couple months ago, he said Charlevoix County might have an advantage over the other communities if it did its "homework" early. Representatives of the group have visited the Terre Haute and Green Bay sites which won FAA approval and preliminary work on preparing a bid has been done. By contrast, Otsego County - which wants to put the flight center in Gaylord - has publicly stated since April that it wanted the facility but waited until August to do anything about it.

Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners Minutes

JULY 14, 1982

A meeting of the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners was called to order at 9:35 AM by Chairman Clyde Cunningham.

ROLL CALL
Roll was called with the following members in attendance: Commissioners Ingalls, Cunningham, Haggard, Bieganowski, Matthew, Harmon, Breakey, Annear, Sutliff, Loding, Meggison and Ward, 12. Excused, Davis, Toton and Moerland, 3.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE
The pledge of allegiance to the flag was led by Commissioner Bieganowski. Communications to the Board were read and placed on file or referred to appropriate committees.

APPROVAL OF MINUTES OF JUNE SESSIONS
It was indicated that page 32 of the minutes should reflect that Sam Kosci of the Act 258 Board was present at the meeting and that page 33 should indicate that the Grandvue Auxiliary has offered to purchase dining room tables rather than chairs. Moved by Commissioner Ward and supported by Commissioner Harmon that the minutes be approved as corrected. VOICE VOTE: all present in favor.

Commissioner Matthew reported on a variety of matters covered at recent meetings of the Emmet County Fair Board and indicated that fair week for 1982 will be August 22-28.

Commissioner Ingalls reported on a meeting of the Social Services Board held June 16. An up-date on lay-offs was presented and it was indicated that Ray LaVoie will be evaluating the Grandvue waiting list. The purchase of dining room chairs was authorized.

Commissioner Bieganowski reported on a recent letter to the Board concerning the Sheriff's Department. According to the Undersheriff, all materials requested were mailed to the attorney together with a statement for $12.50 for services rendered.

The Board recessed at 10:30 AM, reconvening at 10:55 AM. Gerald Chase, Administrator of District Health Department #3, passed out his agency's annual report and reviewed it with the Board. Dean Mikulski and Larry Levensgood of the Health Department staff reviewed some of the activities of their respective fields.

The Board recessed at 11:45 AM, reconvening at 1:30 PM.

AFTERNOON SESSION
Roll was called with 13 members in attendance. Excused, Davis and Toton, 2. RESOLUTION--JUDGES' SUPPLEMENTS (#82-030)

Moved by Commissioner Ward and supported by Commissioner Annear that the following resolution be adopted: WHEREAS, the State requirements for County supplements for salaries paid to Judges of the Probate, District and Circuit Courts in order to qualify for state pass-through reimbursements has caused an undue burden on Charlevoix County revenues; and

WHEREAS, revenues from the State of Michigan are being decreased, thereby placing a greater burden on local raised revenues; and

WHEREAS, the general economy has been in a state of deterioration and local revenues are becoming increasingly burdensome to continue funding state-mandated programs;

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that Charlevoix County cease to provide salary supplements for judges of the Probate, District and Circuit Courts at such time that each office shall be up for re-election.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that copies of this resolution be mailed to Gladwin County Clerk, Michigan Association of Counties, Governor Milliken, Senator Mitch Irwin, and Representatives Ostling and Andrews.

Submitted by Resolutions Committee, Commissioners Ward, Annear and Harmon. ROLL CALL VOTE: Yeas, 13. Nays, none. Excused, Davis and Toton, 2. Motion carried.

RESOLUTION--OPPOSE SUMMER TAX COLLECTION (#82-031)
Moved by Commissioner Ward and supported by Commissioner Harmon that the following resolution be adopted:

WHEREAS, House Bill No 4150 is a bill to amend Section 1611 and 1612 of the School Code of 1976 as amended. The purpose of said change would be to change the procedure for tax collection in municipalities through out Michigan; and

WHEREAS, said change procedures have, as their stated purpose, the improvement of school finance in the State of Michigan by providing the potential for twice yearly tax collections in all local jurisdictions in Michigan; thus avoiding the necessity for large scale borrowing by school districts at current high interest rates; and

WHEREAS, the County of Charlevoix recognizes the existence of the problem and concurs with the desirability of achieving the stated ends, i.e. avoidance of large-scale borrowing and payment of correspondingly high interest payments; and

WHEREAS, House Bill No 4150 contains the potential to provide incentives for school boards across the state to place intense pressure on small units of government to engage in prohibitively expensive dual tax collections; and

WHEREAS, the practical effect of said bill is to, in some cases, make needed improvements in school cash flow at the expense of damaging the cash flows of certain categories of citizens;

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners opposes House Bill No 4150 in its current form. While recognizing the need for legislative reform to avoid the borrowing, and interest problem for schools, the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners hereby goes on record in urging the legislature to develop a better solution to the stated problem; such as a single tax collection period for all units of government within the state, coordinated with a standard fiscal year for all units of government within the state.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that copies of this resolution be forwarded to Senator Mitch Irwin, Representatives Ostling and Andrews, the Michigan Association of Counties, the Governor's office, the Marquette County Clerk, and all Charlevoix school districts.

Submitted by, Resolutions Committee, Commissioners Ward, Annear and Harmon. ROLL CALL VOTE: Yeas, 13. Nays, none. Excused, Davis and Toton, 2. Motion carried.

RESOLUTION--TRANSFER OF FUNDS, GRANDVUE (#82-032)
Moved by Commissioner Sutliff and supported by Commissioner Ingalls that the following resolution be adopted:

WHEREAS, the Charlevoix County Social Services Board has requested the transfer of funds from the Grandvue Depreciation/Capital Account to the Social Welfare Fund in the amount of FOUR THOUSAND SIX HUNDRED TWENTY-TWO AND 50/100 ($4,622.50) DOLLARS for the purchase of dining room chairs ($2,556.00) and the purchase of dining room floor covering ($2,066.50); and

WHEREAS, the Ways and Means Committee of the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners concurs in the request;

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that the Charlevoix County Treasurer is hereby authorized to transfer the sum of $4,622.50 from the Grandvue Depreciation/Capital Account to the Social Welfare Fund for the purpose stated above.

Submitted by, Ways and Means Committee, Commissioners Sutliff, Ingalls and Matthew. ROLL CALL VOTE: Yeas, 11. Nays, Matthew and Ward, 2. Excused, Davis and Toton, 2. Motion carried.

RESOLUTION--SUPPORT OF MELROSE TWP BRIDGE REPLACEMENT (#82-035)
Moved by Commissioner Breakey and supported by Commissioner Haggard that the following resolution be adopted:

WHEREAS, it has come to the attention of this Board that the Charlevoix County Road Commission and Melrose Township are applying for funds under the Highway Bridge Replacement and Rehabilitation Program for the replacement of the Bear River Bridge; and

WHEREAS, because of load limits, snow plows and county trucks cannot traverse the bridge, requiring considerable detours to service the area; and WHEREAS, the bridge is closed from mid-November to April because of the inability to remove snow, severely limiting emergency services to the twenty-five (25) families living in the area; and

WHEREAS, the replacement of this bridge will provide for the public safety, health and welfare of the residents of Charlevoix County;

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners does hereby support Melrose Township and the Charlevoix County Road Commission in this endeavor.

Submitted by, County Roads Committee, Commissioners Breakey, Meggison, Haggard and Bieganowski. SHOW OF HANDS VOTE: all present in favor. Absent, Ward and Matthew, 2. Excused, Davis and Toton, 2. Motion carried.

Commissioner Haggard reported that he has been in contact with the high bidder for the county's airplane, but that the purchaser has been unable to come up with the money to cover his bid. Commissioner Haggard requested Board authorization to re-advertise the plane, this time requesting a 10% deposit at the time of bidding. It was moved by Commissioner Annear and supported by Commissioner Ward that the Committee re-advertise for bids for the airplane. VOICE VOTE: all present in favor. Motion carried.

Commissioner Haggard also indicated that there is a need for a new county map. He pointed out that the amount set aside for maps in the advertising budget is slightly less than will be required to produce the maps. It was moved by Commissioner Annear and supported by Commissioner Bieganowski that the matter be referred to the Ways and Means Committee to see if they can locate additional funds to be transferred to the Advertising budget to cover the cost of the maps. VOICE VOTE: all present in favor. Motion carried.

Moved by Commissioner Meggison and supported by Commissioner Moerland that the meeting be adjourned. All present in favor.

Next meeting, Wednesday, July 28, 1982 at 7:30 PM.

JANE E. BRANNON, COUNTY CLERK

CLYDE CUNNINGHAM, CHAIRMAN

JULY 28, 1982

A meeting of the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners was called to order at 7:45 PM by Chairman Clyde Cunningham.

ROLL CALL
Roll was called with the following members in attendance: Commissioners Ingalls, Cunningham, Haggard, Bieganowski, Matthew, Harmon, Breakey, Annear, Toton, Sutliff, Loding, Meggison, Ward and Moerland, 14. Excused, Davis, 1.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE
The pledge of allegiance to the flag was led by Commissioner Breakey. Correspondence to the Board was read and referred to appropriate committees or placed on file. Included was a letter from Richard Krueger, administrator of Charlevoix Area Hospital, asking the Board to assume a portion of the cost of installation of additional telephone lines into the Sheriff's Department. The matter was referred to the Sheriff's Committee for study.

Larry Sullivan, County Planner, summarized the Solid Waste Plan under development for the county. A question and answer period followed.

Alvin Ranger met with the Board to review requirements for the Automated Flight Service Station which some people would like to see located in this county. He passed out a voluminous document detailing specifications for the station and expressed what he considered to be some of the advantages of having the station located in this area.

RESOLUTION--FLIGHT SERVICE STATION (#82-034)
Moved by Commissioner Haggard and supported by Commissioner Meggison that the following resolution be adopted:

WHEREAS, recent economic conditions have harmed the economy of Charlevoix County; and

WHEREAS, there is a pressing need to stabilize and increase employment in Charlevoix County; and

WHEREAS, the federal government is seeking a site to place a flight service station; and

WHEREAS, the placement of the FAA flight service station in Charlevoix County would result in an annual payroll of $1.5 million; and

WHEREAS, such an annual payroll would stimulate the economy and it is believed this to be for the good of all Charlevoix County; and

WHEREAS, a number of citizens from different sub-units of government in Charlevoix County have formed an ad hoc committee to pursue the placement of a flight service station in Charlevoix County;

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners go on record as vigorously supporting efforts to bring the FAA flight service station to Charlevoix County.

Submitted by, Airport Committee, Commissioners Haggard, Bieganowski, Breakey and Meggison. ROLL CALL VOTE: Yeas, 14. Nays, none. Excused, Davis, 1. Motion carried.

Commissioner Moerland reported that the transportation contract for fiscal 1982-83 is expiring and that a new contract needs to be approved.

RESOLUTION--TRANSPORTATION CONTRACT (#82-035)
Moved by Commissioner Moerland and supported by Commissioner Loding that the following resolution be adopted:

WHEREAS, pursuant to the contract provisions of the Michigan Department of Transportation it is necessary for the County of Charlevoix to make known by formal resolution its approval of a contract to continue its public transportation program; and

WHEREAS, this contract will be between the Department of Transportation and the County of Charlevoix; and

WHEREAS, the timely approval of this contract is required to obtain financial assistance beginning August 1, 1982;

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that said contract Grant No G82-0595T-1B be approved; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that Clyde Cunningham, Chairman of the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners be authorized to sign the contract. Submitted by, Health, Codes and Planning Committee, Commissioners Moerland and Loding. ROLL CALL VOTE: Yeas, 14. Nays, none. Excused, Davis, 1. Motion carried.

Moved by Commissioner Meggison and supported by Commissioner Breakey that the meeting be adjourned. All present in favor.

120 In Memoriam

In loving memory of our son and brother who passed away three years ago on Sept. 2, 1979.
Dear David, Little did we know when we awoke The sorrow the day would bring. The call was sudden, the shock severe To part with one we loved, so dear. You bid no one a last farewell, Nor even said goodbye. You were gone before we knew it. And gave us strength and courage to bear the parting blow, But what it meant to give you up only He can know. Please God, wrap him in your arms, And forgive our silent tears. Others have sorrows, this we know. But he was ours and we miss him so. Sadly missed by: Parents, brothers and sisters

Sierocki wins tournament

Terry Sierocki of Boyne City won the tournament held Saturday, August 28, at Ye Nynne Olde Holles golf course. There were 95 entrants in the event. Sierocki shot a 76 to take the club championship and first place in the championship flight.

He edged two former club champions as Ken Hocquard of Cheboygan shot a 78 and Lon Kowalski of Boyne City came in at 79.

Other flight winners were Fred Lehto of Boyne City, Mick Kane of Charlevoix and Hud Sommerville of Boyne City.

Roger Jones of Boyne City and Joe McDermitt of East Jordan each won a membership for 1983 by finishing with an adjusted low net score of 59.

Two long drive contests were held with Mike Cummings of Boyne City and Hocquard taking the honors.

Les Portridge, 83 years old, and Tom Carey, 77, both of Boyne City, not only walked the entire 18-hole course but also shot adjusted scores close to their ages.

The Country Star market in Boyne City sponsored the tournament and gave out more than $1,000 in cash prizes and many gifts.

New basketball coach leaving Boyne City

Boyne City's new basketball coach has asked to be released from his contract so he can take a teaching job downstate.

Jerry Ernst, who was to coach the boys' and girls' teams, informed superintendent Rich Kelly he has accepted a position with the Deckerville Schools in the Thumb area where he would be able to teach and coach.

Ernst came to Boyne City this summer from Sandusky, Ohio, as the

Boyne did not have a teaching position open, so Ernst was going to coach and work in private business, Kelly said.

Kelly said Tuesday morning he was contacting school board members to find out if they would release Ernst from his coaching contract and how they might want to proceed in seeking a replacement.

The girls' basketball squad is set to open its season Tuesday, September 7, at a tournament in Central Lake. Junior varsity coach Dennis Starkey is filling in for Ernst for the time being, Kelly said.

The boys' team does not open play until December.

Pet care service put on wheels

"Linda's Pooch Parlor" has a light-hearted sound to it, but actually Linda's pet care service is built on a serious two years' experience working for someone else, and before that a serious year studying pet care in London, England.

"Linda" is Linda Williamson Drenth of Horton Bay. When she decided to go into business for herself she put it on wheels—an idea she heard was being used out West.

Her motor home office takes her to customers—as far south as Kalkaska and as far north as Alanson. She says, however, it takes a minimum of five appointments in one day in these cities to make a trip worthwhile.

Her usual pattern is to go to one city a day, and meet with the various dogs and cats of, say East Jordan, who have appointments.

The service for an average dog includes all or any of: bathing, brushing, clipping, clipping nails, and fancying up with ribbons and perfume.

Care for an English sheepdog, she said, could cost as much as $35. A little chihuahua's bath would be $6. Show dogs, of course, get more elaborate treatment.

Linda said if she bathes cats, it's mainly because there may be a problem of fleas or of the cat having gotten into something.

With Linda, it has always been a case of liking dogs and cats, always having the ambition to work with them.

In turn, the animals seem to like her. "I get along well with them," she said. Only once did she have a dog she could call "vicious."

She has a Dandy Dintmont terrier—an unusual breed in the United States. But in England, she said, a household may have five or so of them.

She also owns a basket-cocker spaniel cross and a criss-crossed puppy from these two parents.

Linda's husband is Gordon Drenth. Both are from East Jordan. Drenth works for Tri-City Asphalt.

5 get Alma scholarships

Four Alma College students from Charlevoix County are among the upperclass students whose scholarships to attend Alma have been renewed for the 1982-83 academic year. One other Charlevoix County student received a trustee honors scholarship.

Alma's renewal scholarships are awarded to students showing intellectual promise and superior academic achievement.

Trustee honors scholarships are awarded on the basis of superior academic and extracurricular achievement.

Elizabeth Walls, 1981 graduate of Boyne City High and daughter of Rev. Milton and Diana Walls, is receiving a renewal scholarship.

Jackie Bartley, 1981 graduate of Charlevoix High and daughter of Kenneth and Carol Bartley, receiving a renewal scholarship.

Teresa Noirot, 1981 graduate of Charlevoix High and daughter of Alva and Evelyn Noirot, receiving a renewal scholarship.

Kristy Mathews, 1980 graduate of Charlevoix High and daughter of Vernon and Andrea Mathews, received a trustee honors scholarship.

Sharon Blevins, 1979 graduate of Staw High School in Ohio and daughter of Rev. Gerald Blevins of East Jordan, received a renewal scholarship.

Real estate course starts

An advanced course in real estate principles and practices will be offered in Petoskey this fall by the statewide real estate program of The University of Michigan.

This course begins September 14 and runs Tuesdays for 11 sessions from 6:30 to 10 p.m. It will be held at Petoskey High School.

Real Estate Business II is an advanced residential brokerage course designed for established salespersons and brokers. It will cover advanced financing, appraisal techniques, taxation, investment real estate, construction, property management, and closings.

Although advance registration is advised, students may also register at the class site prior to the opening session.

On dean's list

Fifteen county students made the Dean's List for academic achievement at North Central Michigan College in Petoskey during the spring semester.

Anita Drapeau of East Jordan and Rhonda Zimmerman of Boyne Falls finished the semester with perfect 4.0 grade point averages.

Also making the list were Robin Anee, Marianne Behling, Susan Erickson, Dayle Gill, Roberta Korhase and Paul Skornia of Boyne City.

Sharon Himebauch, Tom McNamara, Jacqueline Mabee, Gloria Olash and Douglas Young of Charlevoix made the list, as did Jeanine Boyer, Russell Hofman and Constance Krepps of East Jordan.

Carol Bearss of Boyne Falls was also named to the Dean's List.

In Service

Sgt. Michael D. Crick, son of Judith Wood of Boyne City, has arrived for duty at Fort Stewart, Ga.

Crick, an ammunition specialist with the 24th Infantry Division, was previously assigned in Schweinfurt, West Germany.

'Don't forget what dollar you're at'

BY BARBARA CRUDEN

It's hard to imagine an auctioneer chanting away in ancient Babylonian, but then maybe that's what it sounds like even today.

Auctioneer Jim Brannan said it's an old business, so sold it goes back before Bible times.

Brannan's auctioneering goes back 28 years. "I followed auctions before that," he said. "And then I decided to be an auctioneer."

He is helped by his brother, Sam Brannan, and by sales rep Reva Eggers. The team especially likes auctions in real estate although they have slowed down lately.

His biggest job was the Blue Dot Race Horse Farm, he said. But anything can be auctioned off, he said. Like antique tractors.

"A man flew in from England and bought two," Brannan said, but his eyes only twinkled when he was asked how he managed to advertise so widely.

Brannan's travels have taken him to auctions in Europe and Australia.

Over there, he said, the English or the Australian auctioneer keeps crying the bid he has. "Here," he said, "we keep all the chanting asking for the next higher bid. Consequently, in America we get more—are more successful."

And we start from the bottom—but a Dutch flower auctioneer starts at the top. Brannan explained. "You push the button at the lowest price you dare."

Brannan attended Reich American School of Auctioneering. He recommended getting training.

The Sherwoods—Leonard, Pat and Leland [standing]—have been auctioneering for three years. They put on a public auction in the old Parrish Chevrolet dealership every Thursday night.

But he probably didn't learn his sense of humor in auctioneering school. Brannan spills over with jokes that brighten the business of making a sale.

"I like all shades of green," he said. "Green grass, green tractors—green money."

Charlevoix County has three auction businesses.

Besides Brannan, there is Frank Potter of Charlevoix and the Sherwood brothers of Boyne City.

Potter, who like Brannan is also in real estate, is listed in the phone book as Twin Shores Property.

He said he was "the most bashful kid in the country," but he wanted to be an auctioneer.

"My cousin told me I couldn't do it. That did it," Potter said.

Potter wears a cowboy hat and shirt in his role as auctioneer. When he's not wearing the hat, he said, nobody knows him.

With the hat, he runs farm sales, antique sales, all kinds of sales, including his auction barn every other Friday.

Potter's slow, easy speech contrasts sharply with his auctioneering rapid-fire chant.

"It has a rhythm," he said. "You learn to use your stomach instead of your vocal chords. That's why you can do it all day and not get tired."

Potter went to auctioneering school, but he said that's only the beginning. "You have to put it into practice."

His daughter runs the food concession. His son and daughter-in-law help him. His wife is cashier.

Auctions change as times change. People are now buying strictly what they need, Potter said.

But they also come for recreation.

His friend Bill Marme said, "I can have more fun than going to a bar."

Potter himself enjoys the scene, the people visiting with each other, the jokes he can draw from the crowd.

And things like the grange sale he just did—he donated his services so the grange could put in a well—"just to see all the people pitch in. That's something," he said.

Sometimes you have to help people who are new at bidding. "Some people will bid if you just look at them," he said. Some will raise their own bids.

Then there are the surprises.

"My boy bought a bunch of Bibles in a box," he said, "and found a handwritten letter from President Garfield."

And friends told him of buying a Chinese painting that nobody wanted—for the frame. They later found through the help of a professor that their five dollar purchase was worth $450.

Auctioneering, to hear Potter describe it, sounds exciting.

"Anyone could be an auctioneer," he said. "But you have to have a fairly fast mind...You have to watch your bidders, remember where they are, and not forget what dollar you're at."

Potter said, yes, there were some very successful female auctioneers.

The newest auctioneers in the county are the Sherwood brothers. Here again, help comes from the family.

Leland and Leonard Sherwood are helped by Len's wife Pat, who is clerk, Leonard junior, Leland's son Rodney, and Stepdad Paul Shively. Another helper is Dennis Kruzei.

The Sherwood brothers started three years ago, and two years ago graduated from Rice Auctioneering College in Mason City, Iowa.

Was there much to learn? Len said, "There were 26 different instructors."

The Sherwoods continue to study. Since anything can be auctioned, they study book lists on it all.

Still, the selling price is what the market will pay on the given day, Len said.

He said the main part of the work goes on before an auction, including besides study, the proper advertising and sale preparations.

The Sherwoods run their Auction Center at the former Chevy garage every Thursday. "It will go on through the winter," Len said, "if the public will support it."

He thinks of auctioneering as a public service. "With everybody on hand at once," he said, "items are sold a lot quicker at an auction than at a garage

Jim Brannan has been an auctioneer for 28 years. His business has taken him to such places as Europe and Australia, where he found auctioneering practices to be different than American ones. He thinks the U.S. way brings higher prices.

Frank Potter says he was a bashful kid whose interest in auctioneering was spurred by a doubting relative. His "uniform" for auctions is a cowboy hat and cowboy shirt.

Auctions

[Concluded from page 3] sale." People have to make their decision on the spot, he said.

As they have done in their housebuilding business, the two brothers find they work together well in auctioneering.

"And it gives people's ears a little rest," said Len. It cuts down on fatigue, too, when an auctioning job goes on for 10 or 11 hours, he said.

Long hours don't dissuade the auctioneers. They are unanimous that whether it's hatpins or houses, auctioneering is an enjoyable profession.

And satisfaction, said Len, especially doing it for people who couldn't otherwise get something sold.

In September 11, Traverse City's Cherry Capital Airport will be the site of the Michigan Paul Bunyan Air Derby (formerly Michigan Small Race).

In addition to the race, there will be a reunion of the Paul Bunyan Clan. The clan originated in Traverse City in 1940, was suspended during World War II and revived for a few years after the war.

This year's race will be conducted and sponsored by the four Michigan Chapters of the International Organization of Women Pilots (The Ninety-Nines), the Michigan Aeronautics Commission and Trans-Air Aviation Centre.

The Michigan Paul Bunyan Air Derby will be a handicap, speed race of approximately 250 miles nonstop with stock model aircraft of not less than 100 HP nor more than 570 HP.

Pilots from all over the country will be competing for a $2,000 purse and hand-carved trophies.

To make the weekend attractive to all aviation enthusiasts, there will be a planked whitefish dinner and initiation into the Paul Bunyan Clan with entertainment by "The Better Than Nothing" bluegrass band.

There will be clogging and square dancing "called" by Michigan 99's Betty Finout.

For tickets and additional information, call Jackie Scott at 271-3871 or Bernice Steadman at 947-2567.

Indian series presented at McCune

The Crooked Tree Arts Council will present a series of programs during September to honor contributions of local Indian culture to present-day community life.

The series will be called the Nishnabe Arts Festival, drawing its name from the Indian word which identifies members of the Three-Fires alliance of tribes indigenous to the Northern Michigan area—the Ottawa, Objibwa and Potawatomi tribes.

Some of the features of the festival will be:

—A gallery exhibition of American Indian art of the northern Great Lakes from ancient times to the present; September 4-29.

—A theatre presentation of native music, dance and legends performed by members of the Haskill Indian Junior College from Lawrence, Kansas; September 10 at 8 p.m., September 11 at 2 and 8 p.m.

—A series of demonstrations in which local Indian artisans will demonstrate traditional crafts, including Quill Box construction, beadwork, and basketry; September 11 and September 18, 1 to 5 p.m.

—On September 18, Tri-County Indian Center will host a sale of Indian Arts and Crafts at the McCune Arts Center, beginning at 7 p.m.

—A community banquet featuring foods prepared according to native American techniques and recipes will be held September 25 at 7 p.m. The dinner will be followed by Indian legends.

The festival, which will be presented in the McCune Arts Center in Petoskey, is funded in part by the National Endowment for the Arts.

About 50 sailboats are expected for the annual running of the Red Fox Regatta on Lake Charlevoix.

The Red Fox is a two-day race from Charlevoix to Boyne City and back.

In conjunction with the Red Fox, the Olympic Triangle race will take place Friday, September 3.

The Red Fox will be held Saturday and Sunday, September 4-5.

The race will begin at 11:10 a.m. from the Charlevoix Yacht Club. The skippers' meeting will begin at 9 a.m. at the club.

Sailers will race from Charlevoix to the Boyne City marina. There, they will have a party on Saturday night.

On Sunday, they will race back to Charlevoix.

Take a Labor Day stroll across Big Mac

The 25th annual Labor Day morning bridge walk will be dedicated this year to the silver anniversary of the opening of the Mackinac Bridge which took place on November 1, 1957.

More than 33,000 persons are expected to participate in the stroll from St. Ignace to Mackinaw City, the only day of the year when pedestrians are allowed on the bridge.

Governor William G. Milliken, who has led the bridge walk for the past 13 years will be making his farewell hike as Michigan's chief executive. It is expected that he will be accompanied by former governor and now associate supreme court justice G. Mennen Williams, who was recently appointed by Milliken as chairman of a committee to guide the celebration of the 25th anniversary of the bridge.

The International Walkers

Association, originally requested permission to conduct walking races over the bridge in connection with the bridge dedication in June 1958. Williams made that first walk with 55 other participants.

The IWA will once again sponsor novice races for men and women and boys and girls. Registration will take place until 7 a.m. Labor Day morning at a desk adjacent to the administration building at the fare plaza (north side). The entry fee is 50 cents. The races will commence promptly at 7:15 a.m.

The general bridge walk will start at 7:30 a.m. No starts will be permitted after 10 a.m. Participants are asked to get to the starting line at the fare plaza as early as possible.

The bridge authority will be operating more than 70 buses to transport walkers from Mackinaw City to St. Ignace starting at 6 a.m.

The boarding area is near the Traverse Bay Woolen Company on Huron Street. The fare is 50 cents for adults and free for children under 12 accompanied by adults.

However, bridge walkers are warned that they may have to wait in line for several hours for a bus ride. Efforts should be made to obtain other means of transportation to get to the starting line by 10 a.m.

The 144th Michigan National Guard from Owosso will maintain traffic and crowd control on the bridge, at the fare plaza and in Mackinaw City.

Personnel stationed on the bridge will enforce rules and regulations governing the bridge walk: no running, jogging, or roller skating; no climbing on bridge railings or walking in driving lanes; no bicycles pushed or ridden.

Walkers will use the two east lanes until 10 a.m. at which time they will be squeezed into one east lane so Labor Day traffic can be accommodated.
