Enrollment up in East Jordan, Boyne Falls, down in Boyne

According to the fourth Friday counts in the Char-Em school district, enrollments fell again for the eighth straight year. Boyne City schools lost 51 students from a year ago, while East Jordan and Boyne Falls had gains.

Overall, the intermediate school district was off nearly 225 students from last year, according to Char-Em figures.

East Jordan, with an increase of 31 students may be eligible for state aid, according to Superintendent Thomas Rossler. After all the executive mandated cuts the district may get $30,000 more in aid.

Boyne Falls showed a gain of 9 students in grades K through 12. There are a total of 278 in school this year compared to 269 at last year's count day.

Boyne City, with the third highest loss of students in the Char-Em district won't prompt any teacher layoffs or curriculum changes according to school officials. The high school showed the biggest loss of the schools in the district said Principal Rick Casper.

East Jordan showed the biggest increase for all the schools in the Char-Em district. The only other school system showing an increase was Cross Village which increased their student population by four, and Littlefield which increased by three.

City purchase policy criticized

A citizen challenged Boyne City's procedures in buying police cars Tuesday, Oct. 5 at the city commission's noon meeting. Skip Sheaffer asked the commission why they didn't take local bids, noting that East Jordan has bought their police cars in the county.

Sheaffer said the city is not required by law to purchase cars, as it does, from the state police.

He said he checked with Tallberg Chevrolet in Petoskey and found they had not received specification applications from Boyne City in over two years. Further, he said, neither has Bob Mathers.

He said Tallberg's bids in other cities have run only about $100 over the state police bid. This would be more than offset, Sheaffer said, by the circulation of money within the area if the car were purchased locally.

City manager Tim Clifton pointed out that three years ago the city had sent specs to Tallberg's and Tallberg said he wouldn't bid.

The bid requests are announced, he explained, and anyone can respond. He said also that the commission agreed on buying through the state police because those cars are built to specifications whereas local dealers must have the special police car requirements added on.

The result of having a car from the state pool is that the cars last three years, Clifton said, instead of two, and they cost about $2,000 less.

Trial date set

The trial date for Herman Rasch's case against the city of East Jordan has been set for February 2, 1983.

Rasch's lawyer, Mark Risk of Gaylord, said on a phone interview the trial will be in the district court with Judge Martin Breighner.

Rasch, who was city superintendent until asked to resign a year ago last spring, is asking Risk said, "for contract damages—what he was entitled to when the contract was terminated."

Risk said Rasch had accrued fringe benefits, which he wants.

Further, "he believes he was wrongfully dismissed," Risk said.

Contract talks continue in BF and EJ

The story seems to be the same for both East Jordan and Boyne Falls in the continuing saga of contract negotiations. They meet, they discuss, and then adjourn.

Monday, Oct. 4 the Boyne Falls school board and teachers met with negotiator Bob Rombouts for about five hours, principal Carl Moser said, in their continuing contract negotiations.

They are working on a new two year contract. The old one ran out on August 31.

Moser said, "A couple of language issues remain, but the main thing seems to be economics."

The next meeting will be October 27.

In East Jordan, school board president Mary Jason said the board has been meeting with teacher representatives on their new contract.

"We don't know yet if it will be for two years," Jason said.

"Right now," she said, "we're reviewing proposals and condensing things."

This week's Homecoming activities lead off list of duties for Student Council, says Wendy Doyle, secretary

Boyne City high school student council has four big responsibilities, according to Wendy Doyle, student council secretary. The one that occupies them right now, Wendy said, is Homecoming Day, scheduled for Friday, Oct. 8.

Winding up Spirit Week, Homecoming will be highlighted by a parade at 1:30 p.m., a pep assembly afterwards, the night football game with Saulte St. Marie, and after that, concluded Wendy, the Homecoming Dance.

The parade will include class floats, the king and queen courts, the cheerleaders, and the football players. Wendy said the city may be involved in the parade, too.

It will go from the middle school down to Lake, up Water, and roundabout to the high school football field.

The pep assembly, she said, would be in time for the end of the school day.

At the halftime period that night at the game, the queen will be crowned. The king's coronation will come at 11:30 p.m. at the dance.

The halftime MCs will be Judge and Mrs. Harvey Varnum. And the MC at the dance will be last year's king, Bob Christy.

"All alumni are really super welcome," said Wendy. "That's why we have Homecoming."

Looking past the events of Homecoming, Wendy said, the student council has something of a cause to work on this year.

"We are trying to support the idea of working together—students, teachers, administrators, school board."

She said, one thing would be lots of communication, letting each other know about needs.

Council members will be going, as they have in the past, to leadership forums with other schools.

"They're really good," Wendy said. "Students teach each other." Guest speakers and workshop leaders set the directions, she said.

Boyne City teacher Carolyn Lauterbach is organizing a forum locally.

The third task of the student council is the support of other groups in the school. "And we try to keep track of fundraisers so that the town doesn't get hit too hard," Wendy said.

And lastly, "We are again planning to get together in early spring to build or purchase a marquee for the school's main door." Wendy said this effort had begun a year or so before.

Student council officers this year are Matt Chellis, president; Karen Houser, vice president; Wendy Doyle, secretary; and Mike Anderson, treasurer.

Karen and Wendy are also council representatives at school board meetings.

Allan Valkema, minister, businessman . . . . . and now pastor

BY JIM SILBAR

It all started because of a tire business he set up for his sons so that they would have something to do in this area and get a foothold. Just like so many other fathers who want their sons in business with them, or in a business the father can help them with.

"After some years up here in the ministry, serving the people at the Horton Bay Methodist Church, I saw Boyne City had a need for a full time tire store. And I thought that with my background, my family and I could fulfill that need," said Allan Valkema, now the owner of Riverside Tire Company and the former minister at the Horton Bay Methodist Church. "And I thought that my sons would give our family the manpower to run the business," he added.

"But, after setting up this business, I found that my sons would rather be in some other line of work. And the time I thought would be part-time, turned into full time," Valkema said, "much to my chagrin."

Valkema came to the tire business naturally as his family had been in the tire business for many years. "I learned from my father, and I thought I could pass my knowledge on to my sons," Valkema added. He thought it would be an easy business for his sons to learn, along with his help.

But, the world closed in on him. The church thought the business would take too much of his time and would interfere with church business. They asked him to make a decision he really didn't want to make. Leave the parish, or leave the business.

By this time, Valkema had his name as guarantor on thousands of dollars worth of tires he had committed for the family business. And the business had grown greatly because of his advertising downstate prices on generic and first line tires like Michellin.

"I finally decided to ask the Methodist Church for a leave of absence so I could sort this thing out, or sell the business or figure a way to get out of it as I still wanted to be a minister and work with people in the area as I feel my calling is to serve God the best way I can," he said.

But then he had another stroke of fate. The Methodist Church fathers denied his leave.

"They told me I could appeal their decision, which may take months and be under a suspension while this takes place," Valkema said. "Or, I could leave the Methodist ministry, walk away from it, and never be involved in a Methodist ministry again."

"It is probably the most difficult decision I have ever had to make, and I agonized over it for quite some time," he added.

But he did make the decision. He left the Methodist ministry a week ago.

Making that decision cost a lot; he has had to find a house to live in as he lost his residence in the church's parsonage, he lost his income as a minister at a time when the business wasn't quite ready to add a lot more to the payroll, and the "aura" of being part of the church, which was his life for many years.

Then, making another big decision, he is going to continue to serve God in the best way he knows.

Valkema is starting a new church in the area, calling it "The New Life Christian Mission."

The first meeting took place last Sunday morning when several friends got together for fellowship at the Seventh Day Adventist Church located at the corner of South East Street and Cedar Street here in Boyne City.

The Adventist's use their church on Saturdays and two weeks ago, agreed to let the fellowship get together in their church on Sundays.

Valkema invites everyone he meets to come to the new fellowship. It's too soon to call it a church, as the membership hasn't really "signed on," but all indications are that it will be a success story from a fiasco that happened here in Boyne.

And the business? Going great guns according to Valkema. "All you need is price in these times. More people are buying first quality generic branded tires instead of paying higher prices just for a name. All these tires," he added, waving his arm at a large inventory, "are made by the same companies as their own branded tires. If something is wrong, we send it back to the main factory," he said.

He added that if the right buyer came along, he would probably agonize over a decision to sell the tire business now that it is up and running pretty good.

Local tire shop owner, past Methodist minister and present leader of the New Life Christian Mission, Allan Valkema fixes a tire in between trying to work out the details of setting up his new church.

A sheer organza yoke was edged in a lace ruffle and accented with seed pearls, sheer bishop sleeves were cuffed in lace. An A-line skirt extended into a chapel train edged in lace and double flounce ruffle, ending in back in a cascade of ruffles. A fingertip veil was held in place by a crown of flowers. Along with a lace handkerchief from her grandmother, she carried a bouquet of white roses on a lace fan.

The bride chose Shelly Pease of East Jordan to be her maid of honor while Dave Walker of East Jordan served as best man. Heather Dipzinski of East Jordan was bridesmaid and Bill Knop of East Jordan, along with Mike Cihak and Jim Barnett of East Jordan served as ushers.

A reception followed in the church annex, with a wedding cake made by the mother and aunt of the bride and featuring the decorative top used on the bride's parents' wedding cake.

Squaw winter hasn't hit Boyne City yet. But when it does, Indian summer will move in for a few days. There's nothing like a warm Indian summer after a quick, snapping squaw winter. I sure hope we get everything in from our garden before the squaw snaps.

I like Boyne City and its people. It's a nice, quiet place to live. It has fresh water, fresh air, good food, good sewers, nicely kept homes, cable TV, good electrical service, phone service, gas and oil to heat your homes, good schools, a minimum of pot holes, a wonderful lake front, a nice river, street modernization, plenty of shops, a good bank, several factories, a city hall with a police department hooked to its rear end, a chamber of commerce, beer halls, churches and a good newspaper with a weekly column that flips lids all over town, lending a rather gray area to the lick-dab I've been trying to spread here.

Standing in the hospital lobby at Petoskey the other day a very attractive woman came over and asked,

"Why are you staring at me like that?" I told her that I was keeping myself ready in case an idea struck me. She said if I didn't stop looking at her like that she'd find somebody who would.

This column doesn't appear in large dailies because they want writers who are well known. It's said that I'm less than well known. Which means I must start from less than well known and work myself way up to the point of obscurity; then I can start from there.

I was watching some men fighting in Boyne Falls the other night when suddenly a Polka dance broke out. I no longer tell stuff like that about Boyne Falls unless I know what I am talking about—otherwise I'd be thrashed to the hilt. My hilt is still tender from the last thrashing. Those who go over there and don't know what they are talking about best hold their tongues. I've seen more people holding their tongues in Boyne Falls than any other place I've been.

I now belong to the International Dull

Men's Club of Rochester, New York. I was asked to join after a member read this column of some time ago when I asked Congress to set aside a national "He hasn't done anything week." I thought that people who have never done anything should be recognized nationally. The Dull Men's Club thinks I'm a prime candidate for membership. I like being a prime candidate. It makes me quietly proud.

If this recession doesn't end soon I'm going to place an ad in the personal columns of the classified section: Notice. To whom it may concern. After this date I will not be responsible for any debts contracted by myself.

Aren't you glad that everything that has gone into your head hasn't come out? I am. If I were to let all I've heard around Boyne City come out of my head, I'd never survive the swift uppercuts. And if there's anything I can't stand it's not surviving. It lasts too long for me.

Barbara Cruden

The ideal pet is not a dog. One loves dogs dearly in spite of that fact. And others love cats, who also are not ideal pets.

But the ideal pet is not a dog or a cat—it is a proper rooster. The proper rooster never turns into one of those fanatic birds who attacks anyone entering his territory.

A proper rooster is nevertheless a creature of splendor—gold, dark green, purple, brown, bronze, all topped with the red corcomb.

He struts, but without vanity—only because it is appropriate for such splendor.

But he also has many other endearing characteristics, not the least of which is an independence of spirit.

Once had such a bird. Boca-bella, he was.

Independence is part of why he was such a good pet. I could go away for a week and he would fend for himself, consoled by a bowl of grain.

Once he fended for himself for over a month. It was his idea, though; he left the day I brought home two nice black hens. Perhaps they looked too much like fluffy cocker spaniels.

The day after the fox got the hens, Boca-bella reappeared out of the woods.

Neighbors said they had seen a rooster with a wild hen pheasant a time or two, in the field back of the woods. Ah, Boca-bella.

I once thought I would train Boca-bella not to crow around the environs of the house. That was his only fault. His crow was a harsh shriek. It sounded as though he were yelling for a "Mr. Baxter," hitting the "Bax" with ear-piercing intensity.

There were some in the household that couldn't stand it.

Well, you can't very well spank a rooster. So I determined I would douse him with a pan of cold water each time he crowed. Sometimes I just heaved the water through the screen door at him. I admit I laughed to hear the crow break off with an "awk" at high C on the "Bax."

But he had the last laugh.

I saw him stalk stealthily to the door. "Mr. Baxter!" he shrieked, and then dashed off before the water could wet his feathers.

End of training. When I moved away, I took Boca-bella with me in an open box on the bront seat. He would pleasure himself by greeting pedestrians at traffic light stops.

"Mr. Baxter" he would shout just to see everyone turn and grin.

He spent the night on the shower rod at the motel, but I had to rise very early.

While he had the supervision of two hens (a different pair), they allowed him to pretend to be the leader on their food-hunting tours. He boldly struck down two cats who pursued them, using the long spurs on his legs.

And he would call the hens whenever he had a great food-find. They would come running and he would step back to let them eat their fill, even when he was, I know, quite as hungry as they. Boca-bella, the gallant, the humorous, the splendid, was part of my life for 10 years, and he was at least five when I got him.

He never chased cars, bit guests, soiled carpets, or killed birds as other pets did.

And when he died of old age, I lost the best pet I ever had.

Help on the way to find 'missing' kids?

By BOB DAVIS

Northern Michigan's Congressman

According to government estimates, there are 150,000 unsolved missing children cases every year.

Committees in both the House and the Senate have now completed work on legislation to allow the government to do more to help find these children.

In 1967, the National Crime Information Center was established to keep criminal history records and to gather information on such things as missing property and wanted criminals.

In 1975, the system was expanded to store information on missing persons as well. State and local police authorities were allowed to enter information into the computer system about the people they were searching for.

Currently these files include only statistical information. The records list the missing person's name, address, height, weight, age, and drivers' license or social security number.

The bills now before Congress would allow and encourage more detailed information to be submitted about missing persons, and especially missing children.

The legislation would allow such data as blood type, dental records, and physical characteristics such as scars to be added to the computer's records. Authorities agree that such information would make the search for these missing children more effective.

As Congress continues to work on a program designed to replace the expiring Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA), a study has been released which shows that, as a nation, we are becoming increasingly ill-prepared for the changes coming in the job markets of the future.

For instance, the report says that one in five adults in the U.S. are functionally illiterate—unable to read a job notice, fill out a job application, or even make change.

Also, as many as 10 to 15 million manufacturing workers possess skills that will be obsolete in 20 years.

Another problem we face is a potential lack of skilled workers when the workers we trained during World War II retire in the next several years.

Recognizing these problems is the first step in solving them. Any solution will, of course, not be the kind which comes easily or quickly, but a "national training strategy", as called for in this report is needed.

Proposed law would favor state firms

By RALPH OSTLING
State Representative

I believe state government should "say yes" to Michigan corporations. That's why I'm backing legislation requiring agencies to give preference to home-based businesses when awarding contracts. The bill, which received broad bipartisan support, will be considered in the House Committee on State Affairs.

The state has embarked on a multi-million dollar media campaign to lure businesses and tourists into Michigan. Yet when it comes to awarding contracts the government consistently goes outside Michigan to seek goods and services.

Michigan taxpayer dollars are being spent to support the economies, the businesses and workers of other states at a time when our economy is a shambles, businesses are closing down at a record rate and more than 600,000 men and women are out of work. It's a counterproductive policy that should be changed.

The legislation would not mandate that all contracts be awarded to Michigan firms, but that preference be given to them.

In other words, if a bid comes in from a Michigan firm that is very close, yet still higher than an out of state bid, the state firm would get the contract.

We must remember that these are taxpayer dollars we are spending. There is a strong and growing sentiment that Michigan dollars should be spent in Michigan to support Michigan business. I agree, and that's why I am supporting this bill.

Remembrances

When Boyne City was one of the logging centers of Michigan, the trees were cut farther and farther from town. This meant that the logs would have to be transported by rail to the mill. In this picture, taken during a winter-time about 1910, shows how the logs were piled on the railroad cars. A permanent A frame was set up, and the logs winched up and on to the pile ready to go to the mills. If you have any old pictures of Boyne City and the area around here, and want to share them with our readers, just bring them in and we will see that everyone gets a chance to see Boyne a long time ago.

Alternative Energy Workshop to be held by 4-H Foundation

An alternative energy workshop will be held October 15-16 for adults and teenagers at the Kettunen Center, a state-wide training center operated by the Michigan 4-H Foundation.

Subjects to be covered include free and low-cost resource materials, the nature of the energy problem and long-range supply and demand situation, alternative technologies, and ways to provide leadership in energy activities.

A tour of an earth-sheltered home on the property is also planned.

The workshop will begin with dinner at 6 p.m. Friday, October 15, and conclude at 2:15 p.m. Saturday, October 16.

The cost is $9 per person, which includes meals, lodging and conference attendance.

Michigan State University specialists will conduct sessions on such things as wood, wind, super-insulated homes, alcohol and vegetable oils, solar housing, solar hot water heating and solar food drying.

To register or to find out more about the workshop, contact Leah Green at the Cooperative Extension Office in Boyne City hall or call her at 582-6232. Registration deadline is Monday, October 6.

It was Hadix's daily custom to take his folding chair and his radio and sit by the door. City housing director Tod Sorenson said people miss Hadix's being there to wave as they go by.

St. Jude's bike-a-thon riders sought

Boyer City Bike-a-thon chairman Mary Gasco is looking for Boyne City residents to participate in the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital "Wheels-for-Life" Bike-a-thon on Saturday, October 9, at the Boyne City Memorial Park. The event runs from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Volunteer workers and riders are needed for the Bike-a-thon to raise funds for the world-famous research center and its battle against childhood cancer and other catastrophic childhood diseases.

"We're looking for people who will contribute some of their time and energy to help children live," Gasco said. "We will also be asking some of the local businesses to donate some prizes for the top riders. We really need bike riders, since they are the ones who can make this Bike-a-thon successful."

In the Bike-a-thon, riders enlist sponsors who donate a sum for each mile completed. Riders who raise $25 will receive a St. Jude t-shirt, and those raising $75 will receive a barrel tote bag, said Gasco.

Sponsor forms are available at Boyne City Lanes or the Boyne City Police Department.

Interested persons can contact Gasco at 419 N. East St., Boyne City, or by calling 582-2262.

St. Jude Hospital was founded by entertainer Danny Thomas and operates primarily from public contributions.

Hospice 'on track' say organizers

Charlevoix County Hospice directors now project they will begin offering home care and support to terminally ill people and their families by late spring.

Hospice is a concept of alternative care for the terminally ill which "maximizes the quality of life when the quantity of life cannot be extended," according to Dr. Josefina B. Magno, executive director of the National Hospice Organization.

The idea of bringing a community-based hospice program to Charlevoix County, in which patients would receive care and support in their own homes, began in June, 1981. Now organized with a Board of Directors, plans are underway to begin training hospice volunteers soon after the new year, according to Kathleen Smith, interim executive director of Charlevoix County Hospice, Inc.

Mrs. Smith, an ordained minister with the Universal Center of Awareness Auxiliary, is a group discussion leader with "Coping?". She recalled the enthusiasm with which the idea of a hospice was met. The desire to bring the hospice concept to Charlevoix county began in the "Coping?" group. By the fall of 1981, she remembers, a planning board was organized with the help of the late Katherine Jessup. The board included Renate Smith, Carol McTaggart, Richard May, Eleanor Stackus, Dr. Michael Engel and Nancy Bottomley, R.N.

By the spring of 1982, by-laws were drawn. Then a series of meetings were held around the county to spark interest and membership. Soon after, the Board of Directors was elected, with Carol McTaggart of Boyne City as President.

Members of the Board and officers are: Vice President, Camille Green (Charlevoix), Treasurer, Mike Engel, D.O., (Boyne City), Secretary Nancy Bottomley, R.N. (Bell-Aire), representing the Health Department, Lyn Jenks, representing Northern Michigan Hospitals, Kathryn Bos, R.N., representing Charlevoix Area Hospitals, Richard May (Boyne City), Linda Mansfield (Boyne City), Phyllis Malpass (East Jordan), David Yingling (Charlevoix), Renate Smith (Boyne City), Charles McDowell (East Jordan), and Sara Gay Dammann (Charlevoix).

The immediate concern of the organization is to achieve tax exempt status in order to receive donations and grants to underwrite its work. Currently there are 64 members. Annual dues are $3. Meanwhile a training program is being designed for the volunteers who will be the backbone of the effort, helping patients and families.

There will be volunteers who will do good-neighbor type activities which may include light house work, reading, letter writing, helping with meals or just being a companion to the patient when the family needs to go out. These volunteers will help with anything that is needed.

Other volunteers will be professionals from agencies, such as counseling, mental health, social services, attorneys, insurance companies or the loan closet of the Easter Seal and American Cancer Societies. Every patient will have an interdisciplinary team of the professional volunteers who will oversee their care.

All volunteers will receive up to 22 hours of training focused on dealing with death and dying and the arts of communication and listening.

Mrs. Smith pointed out that Hospice is a growing concept world wide. It has taken different forms in different communities. In some, Hospice means a place, such as a hospital or special facility. In other areas, like Charlevoix county, the emphasis is on bringing the concept of Hospice—its emphasis on the quality of life—to the home of the patient.

Volunteers needed

"Membership has been decimated," city manager Tim Clifton said in speaking of the need for three people to be on the annual Avalanche Ski Classic, scheduled this year for January 29.

The committee is down from five to two because of members' moving away, Clifton said.

Hosting Anderson

Charlevoix County Republicans are hosting a Meet John Anderson Wednesday night, October 13, at Duffy's of Charlevoix. Interested people are invited to attend and learn the candidate's position on several matters.

In Service

Beth A. Lauterbach, daughter of Dick and Carol Lauterbach of Walloon Lake, Mich., recently completed a U.S. Air Force ROTC field training encampment at Charleston Air Force Base, S.C.

During the encampment, cadets receive survival and small arms training and aircraft and air crew indoctrination. They also have the opportunity to observe careers in which they might wish to serve as Air Force officers.

Hospital Guild seeks volunteers and members

The Charlevoix Area Hospital Guild, an organization of men and women, is seeking volunteers and members.

The Guild assists hospital staff and patients through a variety of services.

The organization, which has 200 members, provides volunteers to help patients and staff by delivering mail and lunch trays, helping write letters for patients, visiting patients to see if they wish the chaplain service, working at the Showcase Gift Shop, decorating the hospital on holidays and performing other jobs.

A new Guild project for this year is a telephone reassurance service, through which people who are living alone will receive daily calls from volunteers.

The callers will provide a friendly contact for people who might not have anyone else to check on their welfare. The Guild is seeking volunteers for this project.

The Showcase Gift Shop, in the hospital's front lobby, is the Guild's main source of income.

Money raised by the Guild is donated to various hospital funds for equipment.

Garage construction halts zoning dispute

A potential zoning dispute has been defused by the construction of three garages behind townhouses at the lake end of Charlevoix Avenue in Boyne City.

The townhouses themselves were the focus of a court battle about three years ago.

Richard A. Campbell, representing One Southern Exposure, appeared before the city planning commission in June to request a "conditional use permit" which would have allowed the construction of three more housing units behind the three placed on the waterfront following settlement of the court fight.

Planning commission members told him the city's new zoning ordinance, which went into effect in March, did not allow such a use and, therefore, they could not even consider the request.

Campbell was given several options, such as going to the city zoning board of appeals or changing the plan to meet ordinance requirements.

Construction of three detached garages began in mid-September.

City manager Tim Clifton told planning commissioners during site plan approval proceedings that the garage construction cuts off future development of anything more than single-family homes or duplexes on the remaining property.

Fishing improvement meeting set

Executive director of the Chamber of Commerce Judy Shea asked the East Jordan city council to support an open meeting on improving fishing in the area.

The meeting will be at the Civic Center on Thursday, Nov. 4.

"There seems to be an awful lot of interest," Shea said. She said the majority of people who stop at the chamber booth on M-66 question the neglect of trout fishing around East Jordan.

She emphasized the meeting is not being held to support a particular method. The idea is to look for useful ideas.

"If East Jordan doesn't move, other areas will," she said.

Shea will be visiting Platte River, Manistee and similar places to observe what is being done.

She asked the council to co-sponsor the event.

Department of Natural Resources people will come with informational films, she said. There will be a movie on salmon fishing and speakers.

Input from local people is desired and the main reason for the meeting, she said.

Ramblers have case of turnovers —lose to Charlevoix 29-12

By PAUL ZINCK

Costly turnovers by Boyne City and a one man four touchdown team from Charlevoix were key factors in keeping the Ramblers from the winning column in last Friday night's game with Charlevoix ending up the victor, 29-12.

The Charlevoix Rayders won the toss and started out with a case of fumbitis bobbling the opening kickoff and losing it to the Ramblers. They started off hot and took the ball 39 yards in their first possession to score at 1:31 in the first quarter.

The drive started on the Charlevoix 39 after the fumble by Pat Mitchell. Boyne's Brad Musser took the ball on the next two downs and moved five yards before his brother, Rob Musser ran for the first down taking the ball down to the 29 yard line.

A 15 yard penalty on that play moved the ball back to the Rayder 44 yard line. On the next play quarterback Brad Musser tossed a touchdown pass to Tom Moody giving the Ramblers the first blood of the night. A penalty on the conversion attempt by Boyne kept the two points off the board leaving the score 6-0.

Charlevoix came back on the ensuing kickoff taking the ball on the 31 yard line and driving up the field with runs and passes. Pat Mitchell carried the ball for five yards, then quarterback Tim LeBlance completed a 14 yard pass to Jeff Trimper. Mitchell then had four consecutive carries for 16 yards before a late hit penalty against the Ramblers moved the ball to the Rambler 19 yard line.

Mitch Druzel intercepted LaBlance's pass on the two yard line, ran it back to the eleven but was stripped of the ball by a Rayder lineman. Dave Batdorff recovered the fumble for Charlevoix.

Rayder Pat Mitchell then ran for 6 yards, moving the ball to the five. He went off tackle on the next play to score for Charlevoix. Shannon Reynolds kicked the point after, making the score 7-6. The conversion put the Rayders in the lead for good with 6:12 left in the first quarter.

Rambler Rob Musser returned the following kickoff 16 yards to the Boyne 33 and that provided the only excitement in this Boyne possession. On the next play Brad Musser's pass to Moody fell incomplete. Musser was then sacked for a five yard loss on the next play. Things got worse for the Ramblers as a penalty pushed them back another five yards. Running back Stacy Reinhardt got caught behind the line for a two yard loss and Kevin Fitzpatrick was brought in to kick the ball away.

The 23 yard kick took the ball out to the Rambler 47 and Boyne hoped the Rayder team would have a similar fate on their possession. On the first play, a five yard penalty pushed them back over the midfield line before LeBlance completed a fifteen yard pass. But a 15 yard penalty took them back to where they started. LaBlance tried to pass on the next play, couldn't find anyone open and scrambled upfield for 15 yards. He then got sacked for a loss on the next play, forcing the Rayders to punt.

Boyne started to move the ball and appeared to be building a good drive when Musser's pass to Moody resulted in a fumble on the Rambler 44 yard line.

It only took two plays by powerman Mitchell to score, a three yard run followed by a 41 yard breakaway. The extra point attempt went wide, leaving the score 13 to 6, Charlevoix's advantage.

The Ramblers had only one play before losing the ball on a fumble at the 25 yard line. Then the Rayders put the ball in the air, only to have Rob Musser intercept it in the endzone.

From their own 20, the Ramblers started a drive highlighted by Kimo Kuheana's 15 yard and Reinhard's 25 yard runs.

A sack of the quarterback put the ball into the Rayders hands where they took it to the forty yard line and punted it away with only seconds left in the first half. The gun went off ending the half with the Rayders up by 7 points.

After the half time show, the Ramblers took the kickoff for a run back of fifteen yards. One play later, Boyne threw the ball into Rayder Jeff Trimper's hands. This was the third interception thrown by Musser and the fourth turnover for the team.

After a series of downs, Rayder LeBlance scrambled 20 yards to the Rambler 9, and two plays later Mitchell had third touchdown of the evening. The conversion was good making the score 21 to 6.

Reinhardt had a good runback picking up 25 yards on the kickoff return and the Ramblers were on the move. They drove 57 yards in just over two minutes to score on a 20 yard pass to Fitzpatrick.

In the third quarter, the Rayders from the other end of the lake managed to open up some holes in the Rambler defense. Mitchell again was the ball carrier finally taking a two yard plunge to make the score 27-12. The Rayders tried a two point conversion and added two more points.

Mitchell finished the game with 176 yards rushing in 24 carries to lead all yard gainers. Fitzpatrick was the best for Boyne picking up 76 yards. The big factor in the Boyne loss was the seven turnovers Boyne had to the Rayders' four.

Next week Boyne City stays home for their homecoming game against a tough team from Sault Ste. Marie. The Blue Devils lost to Petoskey last week and, like Boyne, will be looking for their first victory of the year.

Even cheerleaders have huddles at the football games, trying to decide what the next cheer will be. Boyne's cheerleaders help give the players some support each time they lead a yell.

East Jordan girls add two

East Jordan evened their record this week with wins over Bellaire and Mancelona.

Tuesday, at home, East Jordan led all the way holding a nine to five lead at the end of the first quarter. By halftime East Jordan led 19 to 12.

At the end of the third quarter the score was 29-16. Final score was 52-36.

East Jordan showed a balanced scoring attack with four players in double figures. They were Joelyn Ingalls, Kim Etter, Hanna Loyttyniemi, DeEtte Looze added 12 points and 11 rebounds.

For Bellaire Vici Balon had 17 points.

Thursday at Mancelona, after a slow first quarter, East Jordan rolled to a 58-26 victory. Everyone of the nine varsity players scored.

The Devils again showed balanced scoring with Joelyn Ingalls scoring 12, DeEtte Looze 10, and Hanna Loyttyniemi 10.

A good defensive effort led to many easy scores.

Coach Mike Bos said after the game, "The last three quarters the girls played as well as any team I've coached."

The coming week will find the Devils hosting Harbor Springs in a very important Ski Valley Conference game on Tuesday.

Thursday, the Devils will be away at Central Lake. Both games start at 6:30.

The results of the junior varsity games were as follows: Tuesday, Bellaire stomped on the Devils with a score of 37 to 17.

At Mancelona the JV's bounced back to win 41-22.

Danielle Baker led the team with 22 points.

Golfers lose to Soo 172-200

Boyne City's golfers took it on the chin last Thursday losing to Sault Ste. Marie at the Soo's home course. The final score was 172 to 200.

Medalist for the day was Dennis Meikle for the Soo team while Boyne's Mike Anderson scored the best for the Ramblers with a 45.

Breaking through for one of the few long runs in the Boyne City-Charlevoix game last Friday night, Stacy Reinhardt (20) takes a hand-off from Brad Musser (1) and heads around the Charlevoix melee.

Defensive battle ends, EJ 14, Pellston 8

"Defense, defense, defense" must have been the battle cry at last Friday's football game East Jordan had with Pellston. The Red Devils came out on top of the defensive game and moved to a 2-0 record so far this season in the Ski Valley League when they beat Pellston 14-8.

In the first period Mike Graham stormed the wall on a six yard romp to put the Red Devils on top of the scoreboard after a long drive down the field. Brad Mayhew kicked the extra point.

The passing attack came into play in the second quarter when quarterback Dan Nachazel tossed a 20 yarded to Rich Raymond. Mayhew's second attempt was good making the 14 to zip. That lasted until the final period when Pellston combined passing and running to a score. They tried a two pointer and it worked bringing the score 14-8.

The defensive battle ended that way with both coaches congratulating each others' team on their fine defensive work. Graham ended up with 101 yards rushing on 18 carries while Nachazel hit five passes worth 71 yards.

This weekend, the Red Devils take their winning record on the road to Harbor Springs for a key game in the league.

Betty Hubbard named to Flint Bowlers' Hall of Fame

Betty Hubbard, of Ferry Road, Boyne City has a past. And because of it, she was honored last weekend when she was named to the Flint bowlers' hall of fame.

Starting out bowling in 1945 in Flint, she is best known for her efforts with the Flint junior program which started in 1966. She worked with kids as a bowling coach for a year and then was put in charge of the developing Flint Junior Bowling Association. In the twelve years after that, she served as the secretary of the junior association, watching the participants grow from 600 bowlers to 6,200.

At the same time, she was also active in junior bowling on a statewide basis, serving as the state junior bowling association zone director for nine years. She was in charge of the MSJBA state tournament which was held in Flint in 1967.

In addition to her duties with the junior programs, she remained active in the Flint Women's Bowling Association, getting the vice presidency in 1966 and holding that position until 1978.

As a certified instructor, Hubbard conducted clinics, promoted and organized tournaments for years at several Flint Bowling establishments.

Her efforts, along with her husband Jim, made her the recipient of the Judge Donald Freeman Award for community service in Flint for 1979.

She continued to bowl, being a member of several leagues, serving in every capacity as a league officer. Her career highs were a 173 average along with a 263 game and a high series of 631.

She was a member of several league championship teams.

Horse patrol helps sheriff

The Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department has started a mounted horse patrol to work various special events where regular and conventional patrol methods have not been as effective.

The horse patrol began in an attempt to lower the number of sexual assaults reported in the parking lot area of Castle Farms Music Theater.

During the 1980 and 1981 concert seasons six criminal sexual assaults (rapes) were reported having occurred in the parking lot areas of Castle Farms. Since the initiation this year of the mounted horse patrol, no sexual assaults have been reported at the concert sites.

The mounted horse patrol has also been used in attempting to deter larcenies at the Fisherman's Island State Park in Charlevoix Township.

The summers of 1980 and '81 had been busy for deputies and park rangers attempting to control large numbers of larcenies occurring in the park.

With the mounted patrol and conventional patrol efforts, larcenies were reduced by 80 percent this year. The mounted patrol has various advantages over regular vehicular patrol in certain situations, Sheriff George Lasater said.

He said the added height of sitting on horseback gives the officer a better unobstructed view of crowds and their general activity.

The added height allows more people to see that a deputy is in the area, Lasater said, creating a deterrent to potential criminal activity.

During patrol confrontations where a deputy was needed to keep the peace, the deputy on horseback had more versatility in getting to locations than a vehicle patrol unit would have, he said.

The mounted deputy was able to reach areas of concern in the state park, such as sand dunes where patrol vehicles would have difficulty patrolling, said the sheriff.

The sheriff plans to continue to patrol concert parking lot areas to expand park patrol to other parks, and to be available for special events, and available for Search and Rescue missions.

Sheriff deputy Michael Wheat and posse member Judy Wheat talk with a citizen while on mounted patrol for the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department.

The patrol was begun this year and has been credited with reducing crime at former trouble spots.

Volunteer Nancy Trumble asks "Does air weigh anything?" at the activity room for Unlimited Potential's unit on air at East Jordan Elementary School. Damon Bluhm of Heartwood School brought in an answer. The unit which is being presented with the public school's cooperation will go on with other activities, culminating in an air show Friday, Oct. 8, at the airport from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m.

State gets fishing funds

Michigan will receive nearly $3 million of the $82 million in federal aid funds apportioned for sport fish and wildlife restoration and hunter education programs, according to northern Michigan Congressman Bob Davis.

Michigan will receive $606,440 to finance fish restoration and $2,221,013 to finance wildlife restoration for fiscal year 1983. Funds will become available Friday, October 1, 1982.

Funds for wildlife restoration and hunter education programs, which come from excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition, may be used for state-approved conservation projects and land management.

Michigan ranks fourth in the nation with $2.2 million for funding of wildlife restoration, preceded by Alaska and Texas with $2.7 million, and Pennsylvania with $2.3 million.

are distributed on the basis of the relative population of each state. These funds may be used for the construction, operation, and maintenance of public target ranges.

Michigan is among 15 states to qualify for the full funding amount of $360,000. Presently, Michigan has 1,135,265 paid hunting license holders.

Fish restoration funds come from excise taxes on fishing accessories. These funds are distributed according to the number of fishing license holders—

Hallowe'en to be celebrated Oct. 31

Halloween will be celebrated in Boyne City on the calendar date, police chief John Talboys said. He has received a number of questions, he said, about celebrating it on Saturday.

But none of the other cities in the county are moving the celebration, he said.

The city commission agreed Tuesday, Oct. 5, to have the official Halloween on Sunday, Oct. 31.

Additional police officers will be on duty, as always on Halloween, Talboys said.

Apple Fest '82 starts this weekend in Charlevoix

Perhaps the last festival of the tourist season happens this coming weekend over at Charlevoix when the citizens celebrate the third annual Applefest.

"Events are scheduled almost all weekend," said Kitty Chase, the general chairman of the event. "Even if you don't like apples, though, there will be lots of other things to do."

The two days of the Applefest, October 9 and 10, start with booths for farm products and non-profit organizations at the East Park at 10 a.m. Included with the booths will be an art contest, with the awards to be given out around 1 p.m. The winners will then be displayed at Leutheuser's Restaurant.

WEZ radio station will be broadcasting from the park from 9 a.m. through to 1 p.m. At the same time, a Christmas bazaar will be held at the Market Mall featuring crafts and other items for all occasions as well as Christmas gifting. Both these events will happen on Saturday.

Saturday night WPZ and the American Cancer Society will be sponsoring a community Sock Hop at the Charlevoix Elementary School from 8 p.m. to midnight.

On both days of the event, Kyle Bremmeyr will be presenting his strolling magician act in the afternoons at the park.

Sunday morning the Charlevoix Volunteer Firemen will have a Pancake Breakfast at the American Legion Hall from 8 a.m. to noon.

So you will be able to spend one last weekend, strolling through the park, eating a roasted Bratwurst, a piece of apple pie, look at the art from the highschoolers and have a good time on a hayride. What a weekend for the Fest.

In Service

Navy Ensign Charles W. Davis, son of Edward J. Davis of 501 Groveland St., Boyne City, Mich., has been commissioned in his present rank upon graduation from Officer Candidate School (OCS).

State Senator candidate John Anderson made a point when he spoke in front of the local Chamber of Commerces' PAC meeting last Thursday night. He said he was in agreement with almost all of the recommendations the state chamber has suggested for the proposals on this November's ballot. State Senator Mitch Irwin had another commitment and could not make the meeting.
