School Board gives 48 hours to find coach

The Boyne City school board gave Judi Kenyon a 48-hour extension on their drop-wrestling edict. Kenyon, a parent, was given the time to find a volunteer coach for the wrestlers.

The board had decided the lack of a qualified coach for the volunteer sport and the lack of student interest in it were sufficient reasons for the cancellation. December 2 is the date for the season's opener.

Kenyon came to the board meeting with a case against dropping the sport. She pointed out that some of the other sports had volunteer coaches who were not qualified in first aid. She said also the wrestling program was not more likely to produce injuries than the others if coached from the proper standpoint.

Wrestling is a poor man's sport, she said, because the student, who could not afford the expensive equipment necessary, say, to participate in skiing, had only to bring his muscles to practice.

Besides this, she added, wrestling makes a place for the student who is short on the co-ordination required in other sports. She spoke of the unusual improvement in physical achievement of one student in particular, due to the wrestling program.

Lack of interest this year, she said, was due in large part to the fact that students felt no one would be found to coach them. Eleven had signed up.

She asked for a postponement of the board's decision, so that she herself could try to find a coach.

The board on a six to one vote gave her the 48 hours, saying there were unfortunately a lot of sports the board could not properly support because of a lack of funds.

Five coaches were approved: Bill Fry for skiing, Rocky Rickard for ninth grade basketball (a volunteer position), Sarah Bricker for volleyball, Bud Beebe (volunteer) for seventh and eighth grade basketball, and Rob Polley (also volunteer) for sixth grade basketball.

No one has come forth to coach girls' cheerleading, principal Rick Casper said.

The student council report on the November 4 Student Froum was given by Wendy Doyle, student council secretary. She said after hearing general problems of students in other schools in the 11-school district, "We were really happy to be in Boyne City." She said the only significant concerns that the students felt they had were in scheduling and in the need to be challenged—by textbooks and by teaching methods.

The administration people, who participated mainly from the sidelines in this student-run endeavor, commented they were much impressed.

Over 500 attended the elementary school open house on October 28. Testing of elementary school children showed 93 percent reached 100 percent of the state objectives in reading and 90 percent reached the state's objectives in arithmetic, according to elementary school principal Ed Snyder.

Middle school's first two dances of the year went off without a hitch, principal Jack Cyr said.

High school students have been visited by seven college representatives and the Air Force van. Casper said the Air Force said, "If you're not a high school graduate, please don't waste our time."

It will always be Christmas in East Jordan now with this 25-foot blue spruce planted in front of the senior citizen quarters on Main Street. Senior citizen staffer Phillis Legato stands nearby to give an idea of the size of the tree donated to the city by the Bud Scott family.

Council says yes to suit against BVRR or whoever

Whoever owns the rails will be responsible in the civil suit approved Tuesday, Nov. 9 by the Boyne City city commission. The city wants the rails once used by the Boyne Valley Railroad taken out of street crossings now that the rest of the rails have been for the most part taken up.

City attorney William McTaggart said because "we have a problem knowing who owns them," the civil suit would be preferable to criminal complaint because it leaves the designation of the responsible party up to the judge.

McTaggart said in the event that the owners are discovered before the suit is heard, the city can always pursue a criminal complaint, which would be quicker and less expensive for the city.

What the city is after is costs for removing the rails and paving the area. The state has already done this where it has jurisdiction on Boyne Avenue. Whether they have recovered costs is not known.

Charlevoix County has repaired the crossings in its jurisdiction and also has a civil suit for costs against whoever is responsible.

McTaggart pointed out that costs, now estimated for Boyne City at around $3,700, may go higher as a solution to the problem is delayed.

With the formal opening of Water Street taking place shortly after last week's deadline, these interested councilmen and women lined up on the street watching while councilwoman Theima Behling cut the ribbon being held by two Water Street merchants, Art Gibbs of the Dairy Queen, and Welton [Mac] McNichols of the Boyne River Inn. Also watching on were representatives from the C.H. Smith Company, the general contractors for the improvement job.

Riprapping shoreline to be done in East Jordan

Riprapping of the shoreline from the corner of Memorial Park over to the boat launch on the other side of the bridge will be done, city superintendent Mike Dionne said, as soon as the six-inch iron sewer line is found.

The undetected sewer line held the project up originally when the park was renovated with the aid of a grant from U.S. Soil Conservation Service.

Dionne said in a later interview, "We may put in an alternate pipe line."

The riprapping, paid for with S.C.S.

aid, will help prevent erosion, Dionne said.

As for the other projects, the preliminary lighting plan for the airport is due in about 30 days, Dionne reported. And he said the splice-and-drive work on the city dock was complete. The rest of the dock reconstruction will wait on the water's freezing over.

A third project, the on-going Tourist Park improvement, is, Dionne said, about one-third complete.

The East Jordan city council meeting on November 2 took note of a series of updates, the first being a commendation for city young people on their almost universal fine behavior in celebrating Halloween. The commendation was given by police chief Joe Hammond.

The city council approved a $1,944 bid to rewire the police and ambulance quarters. Bids to reroof the main sewer plant and three lift stations were referred to committee for study. They ranged from $2,375 to $4,090.

Salmon fishing stirs up Jordan River, Lake waters

"I don't like putting dams on the river any more than you river-lovers do," a speaker for the Department of Natural Resources said at the East Jordan Chamber of Commerce public meeting on Thursday, Nov. 4.

Dave Borgeson, Assistant Chief of

Start construction on hangars

New airport hangars will go in at Boyne City Airport in three weeks. City manager Tim Clifton said surveying and grading are both underway for seven of the projected 14 hangars being built by pilots.

The old buildings will be torn down in the spring as their poor condition forces insurance up higher every year, Clifton said.

The other seven hangars may go up next year.

New bridge slated for Bear River Rd.

Bear River Road is expected to get closed in the near future because the bridge over the Bear River is going to be replaced, according to the State Highway director John Woolford.

The replacement is part of a 7.6 million dollar program that was approved last week. The bridges being replaced were recommended by a nine member committee under the Michigan critical bridge program.

The road commission approved the process and the application Tuesday and if all the approvals are gotten from all the various groups concerned the bridge will be constructed next year in the late summer.

Fisheries Program for the DNR said, however, that small barrier dams about 16 inches high were going to be replaced to prevent sea lamprey from going up-river to spawn. He said further, if people in the East Jordan area wanted it, the barrier could also be adapted to prevent chinook salmon from spawning, and placed in the Jordan River.

About 115 attended the meeting at the Civic Center, arranged by the Chamber to open public discussion on developing East Jordan as a focus for salmon fishing.

Another speaker at the meeting, Jerry Dreihn, county extension agent in Manistee, noted that 10 or 15 years ago the Michigan economy was sufficiently prosperous and any effort to develop salmon fishing as a recreational attraction, was not considered.

But recently, Dreihn said, it was necessary to look at ways of increasing tourism, and salmon fishing was what Manistee had turned to.

According to panel member Steve Shulman from the Petoskey C. of C., "Salmon fishing is the single most important thing we could do."

Dreihn showed slides of the Manistee development, and noted the sharp, steep drop in industry employment there this year. He estimated that fishing brought Manistee a total of 2 1/2 million dollars last year, drawing people from as far away as Oklahoma.

Others commented that when salmon begin their spawning season in southern Michigan, the fishing boats cover the lakes near river mouths.

Dreihn said the salmon are fished especially when they gather in lake waters, sometimes for four or five weeks before heading upstream to spawn. Before that, the general conjecture is, they can be anywhere in the lakes or Lake Michigan.

Thus, according to Borgeson, planting fish in Lake Charlevoix could mean that some could be caught by people in Wisconsin, but, he said, enough stay or return to make planting viable. He said a plant of a million would return about 150,000.

Along with the planting, a barrier would have to go across the Jordan, to prevent salmon spawning and the ensuing problems. One problem, Borgeson noted, would not be snagging. Snagging is illegal now in this part of Michigan. The DNR policy is to move toward making it illegal throughout the state within five years, according to Steve Swan of the DNR.

Borgeson said further that if a weir went in, the DNR would strongly recommend that no salmon fishing be permitted between the weir and the mouth of the river. The weir, if it is installed, is planned for about one-half mile above Rogers Bridge. The restriction against river fishing would prevent trampling of the river banks by shoulder-to-shoulder fishermen.

Answering the concerns of trout fishermen, Borgeson said the weir would have a passage in season for trout spawning. The opening would be wide enough for canoe passage also, during the summer when the barrier was not needed against lamprey and salmon.

Temporary blocking of the Boyne and Bear rivers was also recommended to prevent the salmon spawn. With the planting, spawning would be too heavy for the rivers to sustain.

Panelist Gordon Guyer of the Michigan College of Agriculture noted that use of anti-lamprey chemical has been destructive to mayflies along with other insects and this has been hard on trout which feed on mayflies.

The DNR has used the chemical against lampreys every three or four years. Borgeson said that besides being hard on trout, it is also expensive, costing some $40,000 each time, and that is why they would rather go to lamprey barriers.

Starting with the lamprey barrier and adding what would be necessary for a salmon weir would cost a total of up to about $500,000, Borgeson said. This would probably include an artificial collection pond for harvesting the salmon, which would die anyway at the conclusion of their spawning. Harvesting would be bid out and the money would go to support the DNR fisheries program, he said.

Funding for the lamprey weir would come from the Great Lakes Fisheries Commission. The program is jointly sponsored with Canada.

Where the funding for additional construction for the salmon barrier would come from was not specified at the meeting, but it is understood that the DNR would be involved, and, if the community wants it, the DNR prefers the Jordan River for a beginning of the program, designed eventually for all rivers emptying into the Great Lakes.

Sea lamprey, of course, came in with the opening of the St. Lawrence Sea Way.

Borgeson stressed that the DNR is not participating in any economic choices. The DNR concern is to improve sport fishing. Answering questions on environmental impact, Borgeson said, "I see 95 percent benefits."

To the question by the Lake Charlevoix Property Owners' Association,

"Is there anything in the program that would cause deterioration of the water in Lake Charlevoix?" Borgeson answered, "No."

He said, "You don't just jump into a salmon program without consulting the people. If you want the program, we wouldn't be planting the salmon before next spring—not one-half million the first year, but we will be producing more. It takes about three years before seeing results from the first planting."

At the meeting three petitions were available, one by trout fishermen, and all directed toward having the weir. But some sport fishermen are concerned that salmon eat trout out in the lake.

Gill nets are not pulling in salmon in any numbers, Borgeson said.

Bringing the meeting to a close, Judy Shea, executive director of the East Jordan Chamber of Commerce, noted that hundreds of people here go south for fishing.

Addressing the public meeting in East Jordan on salmon fishing, Dave Borgeson, Assistant Chief of Fisheries Program, says his office believes sea lamprey weirs are an ecological necessity.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Parling

Bruneel-Parling united

In a ceremony at the United Presbyterian Church of Boyne City, Christine Lynn Bruneel and Thomas Lynn Parling of Lansing were united in marriage by Rev. Milton Walls. Christine is the daughter of Roy Bruneel Sr. of Boyne City and Diane Cherry of Dearborn. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Parling of Ithaca.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was wearing a gown of white chiffon featuring a fitted bodice that flowed into a ruffled chapel length train. A short jacket of Chantilly lace, trimmed in chiffon ruffles around the stand-up collar, cuffs and waist, accented the gown. She wore a full brimmed bridal hat trimmed with matching Chantilly lace and adorned with bridal illusion.

Christine chose JoAnn Carson of Boyne City as her matron of honor and Dave Saxton of Lansing served as best man. Brothers of the bride and groom, Roy Bruneel Jr. of Mt. Pleasant, and Gary Parling of Alma acted as ushers.

After a reception at Elm Pointe in East Jordan, the newlyweds spent their honeymoon in northern Michigan. They will live in Lansing and attend college in East Lansing where both are studying computer sciences.

Virginia Hegerberg was honored with a surprise combined birthday and retirement party on Friday night at the NMH auditorium by about 120 friends and co-workers. A beautiful buffet was served and a group of Indian co-workers presented a ceremony and gave Virginia the name "Ginaitkwa" meaning Boss Lady.

She is retiring after 26 years as head of the house keeping department and received a watch as a token of appreciation, many cards and letters, a beautiful orchid lei from her son Thad in Hawaii, and a happy birthday and happy retirement chorus, via telephone from her daughter Pam and Dick Schmidt and three boys in Missouri.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd VanAlstine and son Tim returned over the weekend from a three week hunting trip in Montana. Lloyd got a 280 pound trophy size mule deer and Tim got a 180 pound one. The VanAlstines also spent three days at Yellowstone National Park. Their daughter Tina stayed with her grandmother, Mrs. Trace Halst and aunt, Mrs. Robert Segrauco.

Evangeline Chapter No. 95 O.E.S held the regular meeting Nov. 1 with worthy matron Evelyn Gould and worthy patron Allie Chipman presiding. The altar was draped for past grand patrons Leland Barnes and D. LaVerne Courtney.

Installing officer Juanita Erber installed Marcelyn Hamlin as electa. Irene McGeorge was granted dual membership. Merla Vought gave a complete report on her activities as sunshine chairman.

Reports from the October Grand Chapter session were given by worthy matron Evelyn Gould, worthy patron Allie Chipman and junior past matron Ruth VanHoesen.

Refreshments were served by past matron and patron Thelma and Bob Klevorn.

Dolly Buckingham Past Matron Club O.E.S. met Nov. 3 at the home of Dorothy Christensen. Josie Fern's devotions were memories of thankfulness and an Indian blessing for this Thanksgiving month.

I was decided we list our meeting dates on the community calendar. Each of the 17 members gave a brief resume of the things for which they are most thankful.

The Christmas-December-meeting will be at the home of Leah Waggoner with an exchange of gifts and Thelma Klevorn in charge of devotions.

Mrs. Irene Tunison of Charlevoix recently spent one week at each of her children's homes. They are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Morrison and family and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Corwin and family of Northbranch. Also Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Corwin and family of Mt. Morris.

Wade Jenkins of East Lansing was home over the weekend to help his mother Ann move back to Lakeview Village for the winter and to attend the wedding of classmate Danny Sevnski to Cheryl Tazelliar and the reception in Vanderbilt.

Penny Hardy was a medical patient this week at Northern Michigan Hospitals. Mary Green of Boyne Falls was a medical patient.

Lelia Voelker and Mr. and Mrs. George Voelker went to Traverse City on Sunday to attend the 50th wedding anniversary of their cousin, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Reincke.

Mrs. Jean Korthase returned home over the weekend after having spent a few days last week in Northern Michigan Hospitals with pneumonia.

The Harvey Varnums had an early Thanksgiving dinner over the weekend as their daughter Pam and husband Mike Smith of Westland were here for the weekend. Others attending were Keith and Peggy McGeorge and family and Jo Wolff.

This week's bingo winners at the senior center were Joe Nesson, Ione Ploughman, Dorothy Nowland, Felix Spaniak, Ida Archer, Kathryn Spaniak and Margaret Meyers. The cover-all went to Helen Wertz and the door prize to Jenny Jodway.

Free Methodist Women's Fellowship International (WMFI) held their monthly work meeting at the Litzendurber Apartments on Thursday with about 11 present. Margaret Frantz led the devotions. Plans were made for the Thanksgiving baskets which are given to shut-ins. Lelia Voelker was the hostess. After a noon potluck they tied off a quilt and stuffed toy dolls.

Ida Archer moved into her new home on Trent and Lake Street over the weekend from Deer Lake.

Joe and Beth Stutzman of Pontiac visited his brother Robert Stutzman and family over the weekend.

E.J. Chatterings

A party of twelve went with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baker Sr. of East Jordan to Sault Ste. Marie, Canada to play bingo.

Mrs. Eva Hosler came home from the hospital on Oct. 27 and is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hosler of East Jordan.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baker Jr. and family of Traverse City spent the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baker Sr.

Mrs. Mildred Hart and Mrs. Irene Dougherty of Boyne City and Mrs. Evelyn Graham and Mrs. Elma Prause went to Bessemer, Alabama on Oct. 20 to visit Mrs. Hart's son Walter Hart and family and Mrs. Dougherty's brother.

Mrs. Elma Prause visited her daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Alexander of Traverse City over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Swanson of East Jordan visited their daughter Joan Swanson over the weekend. Joan is attending Aquinas College in Grand Rapids.

Mr. and Mrs. Lance Jones and son Zach and Dan Swanson visited relatives in Milwaukee over the weekend.

Oh Boy! Now that Jim Blanchard is governor of Michigan and the recession is finally over, we're thinking about spending some time in Florida on borrowed money. All hail the Democrats!

All that talk about slowing down as you get older is a myth. The older I get, the more there is to do. Wednesday is spent worrying about the government taxing social security; Thursday my wife goes shopping while I wait in the restaurant cussing myself for almost buying several shares of railroad stock; Friday is taken up with hauling garbage out to the end of the driveway; Saturday is the deadline for this column; and Sunday I read the papers and damn the National Football League. The rest of the week is jammed packed with looking out the window. I have no idea how much longer I can stand living in this fast lane.

It has been some time since I have asked what left handed women do on Monday morning—or what bald headed men do in February. My wife is right handed and I am hair headed. Otherwise I doubt that I would have brought the subject up.

Q—Now that you lost ninety percent of your voting in the election, how can you hold your head up in public?

A—I am better off than most. Ten percent of everything I do is right.

Q—Last week's column was all mixed up. Isn't that more than a ninety percent failure?

A—No, it isn't. A large number of people who swear they never read it, called to say it was all mixed up.

Q—What's that got to do with anything?

A—It means that I am a better judge of my readers than I am of those running for office.

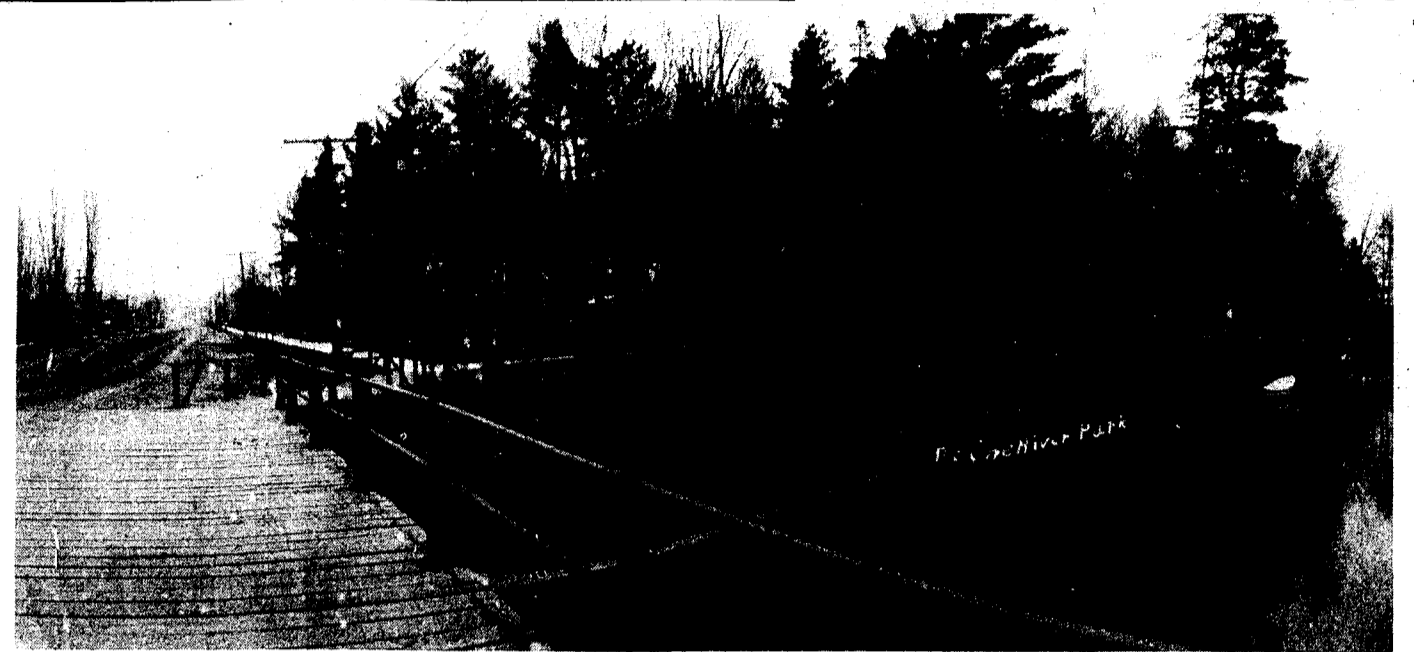

Q—Am I correct in thinking that you are ninety percent nuts?

A—Only when I go to the polls and vote Republican.

A dealer suggested that I take advantage of the current low price of a new car. He would give me a good trade for my ramrod eight. I looked at the sticker price and told him that I have never paid ten thousand dollars for anything without a basement under it.

A while ago I told a man that I would meet him at the bank. He went down and waited at the building's River Street entrance. It was three days before I found him.

Many people living outside of town do not know that most of us use the bank's side entrance. So they won't understand the above twister. In fact, there are a lot of other things about Boyne City that people living out of town do not understand. If they want to understand Boyne City's jokes, they've got to live here to know them.

With deer season upon us it seemed appropriate to let the hunters in the area know that we used to have deer almost right downtown. That was many years ago when the Boyne River Park, now called City Park located on Park Street and the Boyne River held a deer pen. It is difficult to see the deer in this picture as they probably moved too fast for the old time photographer who took this picture. You can see the fence posts that held the deer in, and yes, the Park Street bridge, located just behind the Dairy Queen, was "paved" with wood planks. This picture was probably taken in the early 1900s as the street was not paved and the style of the boat was of that era. If you have any pictures of the old days you would like to share with our readers, bring them to our office so we can make a copy.

Barbara Cruden

Maybe you have seen some of the photographs taken locally and exhibited at art shows. Maybe you have been fortunate enough to buy some.

Long ago, before photography was invented, painters did the work of preserving grandpa's heroic expression in fitting portraiture—indeed, in preserving for us, as well, even portraits of whole families.

And artists were called in to illustrate books or newspapers, usually with engravings.

Then came photography. And while photographers were doing the portraits and illustrations, they also bethought themselves of art and beauty.

The question, ever since, has been: are photographers artists?

The answer is no, they are not artists, and photography is not art. But wait! Don't get excited, dear photography friends, because photography is a thing all its own, and that, to be much esteemed. Here, let us go beyond its unarguable (almost) value as a record-keeper.

Let's talk of what photography has done for sensitivity, for the appreciation of uniqueness and beauty.

How many people now can look at a scene and realize that it is worth just looking at, because they have been taught to do this by pictures they have seen in magazines. Pictures even in advertisements, showing the darting, serpent-like twigs of a tree silhouetted against a yellow sky. Or showing the humps of cobblestones, multiplied across the page.

Pictures of elegant gowns catching the light (and the eye) in fashion magazines.

Pictures in how many Wildlife Magazines of everything from a dew drop or a beetle to a walrus or an iceberg.

These pictures can be compelling teachers. The famous photographer of mountains, Ansel Adams, compels one by his pictures to be awed by vast arrangements of peaks and glacier valleys in real life.

Photographs teach people to appreciate the vistas and the details that they might otherwise have not considered to be wonders at all.

Photographers are like the witch who opened the eyes of a king so wide that he nearly stepped through them. He never afterward wanted to go back and just sit on a throne.

But photography is not art. Those paintings of Italian noblemen in the 1500s or of English children in the 1700s and so on are really the portraits of the painters' view of life, more than of the people who posed. The painter selects or omits, the painter arranges—as no photographer can, even though he or she has been ever so discriminating in light, emphasis, composition, focus, and purpose.

It is because the painters' heart is speaking, and it is art because the painter can connect the heart to the paint brush.

A photograph is a photograph, and one can perceive that even through a painting made from a photograph.

But let us, nonetheless praise photography. It teaches us beauty. It can even move us emotionally.

There are so many beautiful pictures. There is such skill among photographers. So, let us be thankful for we are living in the great Age of Photography.

Remembers Armistice Day

Editor,

As Armistice Day appears, it brings sadness. It was year 1918 when people were rejoicing and whistles blowing that someone brought the telegram that our Albert Martin Rebec was killed in action.

It has been many years, yet the memory brings the same grief. I was only 14. My brother was a dear kind brother. He helped me with many bumps—like school tests and how to light firecrackers and put bait on the hook.

He also took me to my first dance. We walked to what used to be the Catholic hall. It's now someone's home. And that night I learned to square dance. Imagine any young lad 17 years old taking a sister to a dance.

My brother is buried in the Pesek Cemetery. Again much sorrow was involved when his body was brought home. I remember the cold day and muddy road.

It seemed very peaceful after the casket was placed in the one big room. Just before the funeral someone spoke harshly to my father, that he "may be burying a stranger or just stones."

I was so proud of my father. He said, "If we bury someone else's son, someone else will bury ours."

My mother said, "No one can say that this is not my son."

She walked to the casket and lifted the flag which draped the casket. She pointed to my brother's dog, lying underneath. He never moved. (What was so strange was that dog never was a house dog.)

Also the very first night the casket was there, and everyone in their beds, my mother and I were on a sofa in the same room with the casket. Mother was so peaceful, praying. When suddenly my brother's horse, Snippy, stuck her nose against the window and whinnied loudly.

My mother put her arm around me soothing me that the horse came to welcome her master. Our soldier was home.

Wants kiosk moved

Editor,

Since I first heard about the kiosk to be built in replica of the old band shell, I have excitedly awaited its completion. So it was a thrill to go downtown recently and see it standing in place, on the corner of Water and Park Street.

Undoubtedly, I speak for all Boyne residents when I say it is truly a beautiful piece of work, and we are fortunate to have such a master craftsman in our town.

Thank you to all who made it happen. May I express one opinion? The kiosk doesn't look "right" surrounded by concrete and modern stores. I picture it near the Chamber of Commerce where it would have a setting of green grass, trees and the lake.

Many years ago, that is where the original band shell stood. An actual picture of it can be seen on page 23 in the book "Settlers to Sidewalks" written by Mr. Morgridge, stating that the band shell was located on the northwest corner of Lake and Water Street.

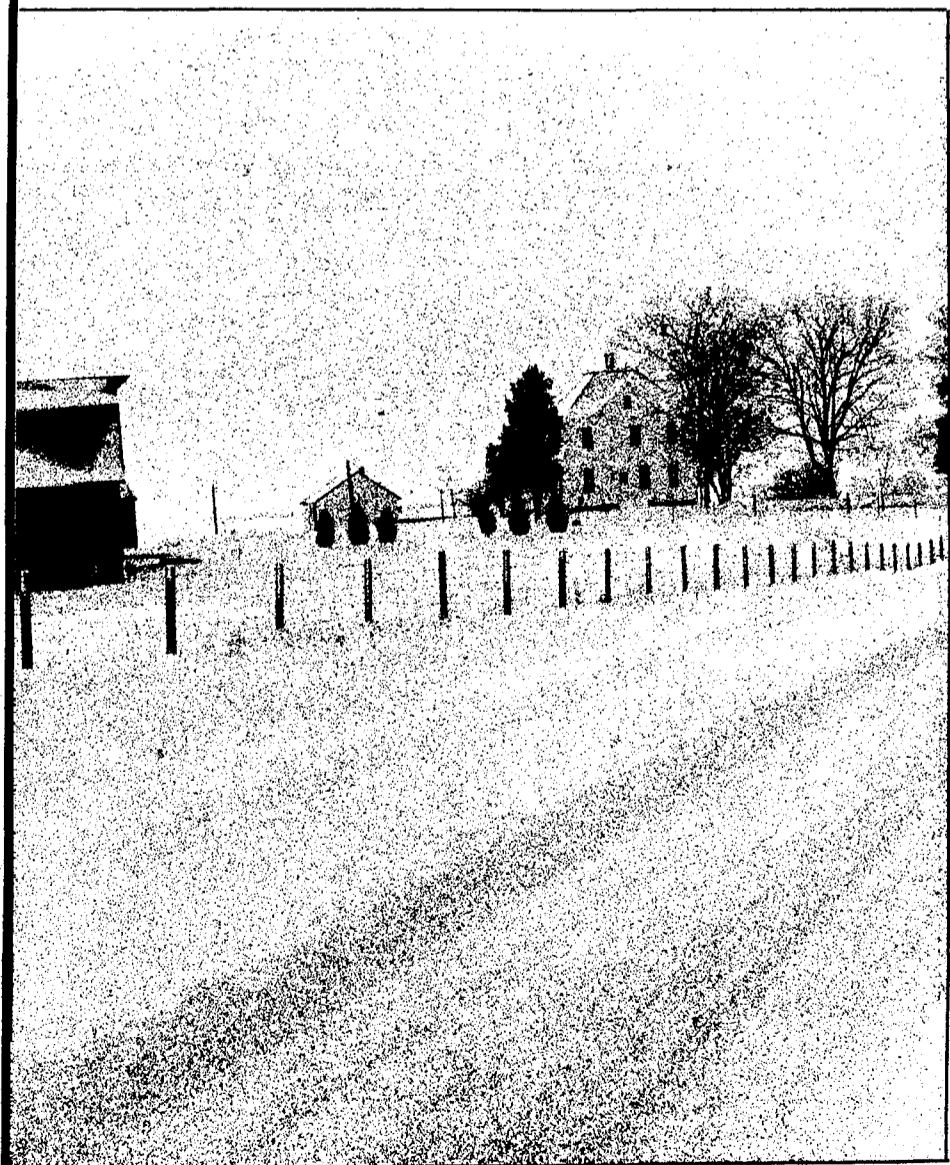

Does anyone else have any thoughts on this?

New hours set for free blood pressure checks

A free blood pressure screening clinic is being offered for people on their way home from work the second Thursday of each month at the Seventh Day Adventist Community Center on Park Street in

Boyer City. The clinic, put on by the Charlevoix County District Health Department, will be holding hours from 2:30 to 4:30 in the afternoon. Anyone wishing more information may call the Charlevoix office of the health department at 547-6523. This new time is to make the clinic more accessible to the working people in the area.

Jim Mills is one of the many who stop in on their way home to have their blood pressure checked at the Boyne City Seventh Day Adventist Community Center on Park Street. The blood checks are done every Thursday between 2:30 and 4:30 in the afternoon by the Charlevoix office of the health department and other volunteers.

New officers elected at 1st Presbyterian

New officers have been elected at the First Presbyterian Church in Boyne City at their congregation meeting held Oct. 31.

Named to be elder-trustees were Julie Bradford, Bill Dunlop, Evon

Pluister and Sharon Stover.

Deacons elected included Helen Baumgarten, Phil Bowman and Helen Moyer. Named to the United Presbyterian Women's Board was Rena Newkirk.

Fran Bray, Greg Carpenter, Shirley Howard and Dave Willson were elected to the nominating committee.

Volunteers honored at banquet

The Sixth Annual Charlevoix County Department of Social Services' Volunteer Recognition Luncheon was held at Duffy's of Charlevoix to honor the 47 volunteers who have provided services to the needy of Charlevoix County. This year more than any previous year, the Volunteer Program has been important to the clients and employees of the Department of Social Services. Four employees were laid-off and the remaining employees were forced to reduce their out-of-office contacts. Volunteers helped by filing, scheduling, and organizing. Volunteers also brought clients to the workers since the workers were less able to make home calls.

Volunteers were assigned to 22 different programs. These programs provided services to delinquent, abused and neglected children and their parents; adult foster home residents; elderly and handicapped individuals and others in need.

Monthly activities for adult foster care residents included bingo games, a picnic, and a color tour. Isolated elderly and handicapped individuals were phoned or visited on a regular basis to provide social contact and reassurance. Parents were taught how to more appropriately deal with the problems that led to abuse or neglect of their children. Transportation was provided to doctors offices, hospitals, counseling centers, foster homes, etc. Money management instruction was given to individuals who were overwhelmed by their financial circumstances. Supervision and transportation were provided for public assistance recipients who were required to perform public service work in return for financial assistance. Special recognition was given to Mary Henderson and Leon Bolhuis, both of Charlevoix, for exceeding 200 hours and to Luella Barnes of East Jordan for exceeding 500 hours of volunteer service. It was noted that five other volunteers who have previously received similar recognition are still active volunteers. Jane Sooy and Charlotte Kline of Charlevoix, and Evelyn Thies of Ellsworth had previously exceeded 200 hours and Virginia Daniels of East Jordan and Ron Putman of Charlevoix had previously exceeded 1000 hours. Along with 33 veteran volunteers, 14 first year volunteers were honored.

County road personnel honored at dinner

Charlevoix County Road Commission personnel were honored recently at a dinner at the Grey Gables Inn in recognition of their fine safety record and for their years of service.

Those working out of the Ironton garage have had 920 days without an accident and the Boyne City garage 540 days, Fred Welch, engineer-manager said.

At the same time, employees were presented with pins in recognition of their years of service which are presented every five years.

Dr. Harry Custer of Charlevoix who had set up the safety program for the commission and Mrs. Custer were special guests at the dinner attended by 65 employees and their spouses/guests.

Edward Herndon of the Michigan Department of Labor presented plaques to each garage and commended the personnel for their fine safety records.

"Your safety record speaks volumes for you when you consider the fact that you are working daily with heavy equipment and on main highways in all kinds of weather, especially that of northern Michigan," Herndon said. Fred George of Petoskey, representing Michigan Mutual, the commission's insurance carrier, presented individual pins to all personnel and also commended the workers for their excellent safety record.

Receiving special recognition was James "Doug" Coblenz, a veteran of 38 years with the Charlevoix County Road Commission who plans to retire in July. He has been a truck driver and equipment operator with the commission and, at the time of his retirement, will have completed 39 years of service.

Donald Graham, who is retiring at the end of the year after 12 years as a member of the Charlevoix County Road Commission, presented Mr. Coblenz with a 35 year pin and expressed the gratitude of the commission for his dedicated service.

Other employees receiving years of service pins were Garrett Potter of Charlevoix and Donald Cole of Beaver Island who were presented with 25 year pins by John Kujawski of the commission; Leonard Zakrzewski of Boyne Falls, Ray Sloop of East Jordan, Charles Griffin, James McCarrey, Wilfred Nichols and Laverne Hall of Boyne City received 20 year pins from Robert Stowe, a member of the commission.

Joseph Martinczek and James Novotny of Charlevoix, William Ealy of Boyne Falls, DeVere Washburn of Walloon Lake, Lester McGeorge and Robert Dunnette of Boyne City received 15 year service pins from Mr. Welch.

Mr. Welch also presented 10 year service pins to Joseph Martin of Beaver Island, Walter Olson and Mr. Graham of East Jordan, Glen Anderson, Ronald Willis and Carol Hulett of Boyne City; and five year pins to Richard Stangis, Robert Baker, Melvyn Thayer, George Lochner and Robert Hammerberg of Charlevoix; James Downey of East Jordan; and Laverne Rouse, Randall Thompson and Thomas Webb of Boyne City.

Date Error

Up the middle and through the line, Boyne Ramblers tried time and again to come up with a winning combination at last Friday's game with the Petoskey Northmen. The Class B team proved to be too strong for our Ramblers and they lost 45 to 6. Boyne City is looking for next year as the young team has a lot of returning players who are now seasoned.

Season ends for hapless Ramblers

BY PAUL ZINCK

A fired-up Boyne City Rambler team traveled to Petoskey last Friday only to return with a burned out 0-9 record for the 1982 season, as they lost to the Northmen (7-2) in a 45-6 decision.

Boyne City received the opening kickoff and returned it to their own 21 yard line, but all that resulted from it was a two yard run by Stacy Reinhardt and a 23 yard pass from starting quarterback Brad Musser to Kevin Fitzpatrick, both of whom were playing in their last game as a Rambler. Boyne then had to punt the ball away. Fitzpatrick's punt was returned to the Petoskey 41 yard line.

The Northmen took the ball 59 yards in just five plays including a six and 21 yard run by Dan Chilcott, who needed just 33 yards to complete a 1,000 yard season rushing, and a 32 yard run by Dave Schroderus. Chilcott then carried for a one yard pick-up before taking the ball in from three yards out with 7:05 left in the first period. He now needed just three yards to break the 1,000 yard mark. Tim Fought kicked the point after up and good out of Petoskey starting AB Tom Nelson's hold.

Boyne had trouble trying to move the ball and was forced to punt the ball away into a stiff wind. The ball carried just three yards and was downed on the BC 25. Schroderus took the ball 17 yards to the eight, Dean Schuch took it five and Boyne stopped Chilcott for a two yard loss before he carried it across from five yards out, leaving his season rush total at 1,001. The score also marked Chilcott's 22nd career touchdown. Fought's kick was good to put the score at 14-0 with 4:16 left in the opening quarter.

Rob Musser returned the kickoff 15 yards to the Boyne City 35 and the Ramblers were on the move. They fumbled on the first play but recovered it for a two yard loss. Petoskey then declined a motion penalty against the Ramblers to make it third down and 11 yards to go. Brad Musser completed a nine yard pass to Tony Napont but the Ramblers elected to go with a 15 yard pass interference penalty to give them a first down on their own 49 yard line. Petoskey then suffered from a 15 yard personal foul, before allowing 23 yards to a flea-flicker play from Brad Musser to Fitzpatrick to Reinhardt. The Ramblers, however, fumbled on the next play and Petoskey recovered on their own 15 yard line.

The Northmen took the ball 85 yards in 10 plays, including runs of 15, 22, and 10 yards by Schroderus. Chilcott took the ball into the endzone, carrying from the 11, with 9:27 left in the half. Fought's kick into the wind went wide to leave the score at 20-0.

Rob Musser returned Fought's kickoff to the Rambler 37 and Fitzpatrick took his reception to the Petoskey 39 before one of Brad Musser's passes was picked off on the 25. Chilcott had a 32 yard run, Schuch a six and a five yard run and Chilcott had runs of eight and 15 yards to take the Northmen all the way down to the eight yard line. A five yard motion penalty pushed them back to the 13 but Nelson broke away to the endzone for the fourth Petoskey TD of the evening. Fought's kick split the uprights to put the score at 27-0 with five minutes left to play in the first half.

Each team went through a series of downs without moving the ball far enough for a first down. The visiting Ramblers had the ball on their own 49 when a motion penalty knocked them back five yards. Brad Musser got it back with his six yard run before completing a 12 yard pass to Kevin Fitzpatrick. He then completed an 11 yard pass to Tom Moody, who was also playing in his last game as a Rambler, and completed passes of 11, 8 and 6 yards before pushing the ball across the goal line from one yard out. The conversion pass fell short and the Ramblers trailed the Northmen by a score of 27-6 and 26 seconds left in the half.

Petoskey returned the ball to the 22 but fumbled in the backfield on the first play. Boyne recovered the fumble on the 14 yard line and quickly called their last timeout, with seven seconds left to try to score. Brad Musser completed his pass to Fitzpatrick but as Fitzpatrick dove to the goal line he was pushed out of bounds and time had expired.

Petoskey received the kickoff to open the second half and returned it to the 27 yard line. They didn't manage to pick up a first down and punted to Boyne. The punt was downed on the Boyne City 34 yard line and the Rambler offense took the field. Musser went back to pass on the first play but his attempted pass to Moody was tipped into the hands of Chilcott.

Schuch took the ball for a two yard gain before dashing 39 tough yards to score with 8:21 left in the third stanza. Petoskey then tried to fake the kick and run it in but the BC defense stopped them short of the goal line. The score was now 33-6.

Once again each team had a series of downs without getting a first down and the Ramblers had the ball on their own 30 yard line. A 15 yard personal foul penalty pushed them back to the 15 where it stayed until a Northmen player recovered a Rambler fumble on the 13. Chilcott took the ball in for a touchdown on the first play to extend the lead to 39-6. The conversion pass fell incomplete.

The Ramblers returned the football to their own 46 yard line. They could not move the ball, however, and they turned the ball over on downs. The Northmen then traveled 74 yards in just nine plays, including a 15 yard run by Chilcott, a 14 yard run by Chris Goodwin, a 16 yard run by Schroderus, and a 42 yard run by Steve Colwell. Schroderus went over the goal line from two yards out with 8:24 left to play in the game. The score was now 45-6 as it stayed throughout the rest of the final quarter.

Other Ramblers playing in their last game were center Tim Wandrie, tackle Darryl Johnson, and guard Bob Genson. It was the first game for sophomore Chris Howard at quarterback as he played the last 8 1/2 minutes.

Rambler coach Bob McCullough said, "Petoskey played exceptionally well. They had a good week. That's just what B's (class B schools) should do to C's (class C schools).

Parsons finishes 32nd in state

Steve Parsons, one of two Boyne City runners who qualified for the Class C Cross Country State Championships finished in 32nd place, while the other runner Mike Hulett, had to drop out at about the one mile mark after he became ill and could not finish. The race was held at Watervliet.

Looking forward to next season, coach Rick Fowler said he expects to have a good team as the team should be stronger than this year.

East Jordan fumbles, passes away last game to Inland Lakes

When you have to go up against a team that was fifth in the state computer listings, and they knew that they had to do well against their last rival in order to qualify for the Class D playoffs, what do you do? Well, if you are East Jordan, you play your heart out for the last game of the season, and hope you can do well and maybe even beat the team that high in the standings, Inland Lakes.

And that is what happened last Saturday afternoon when the Red Devils traveled up to Indian River to take on the team slated to go to the playoffs. East Jordan did well against those odds, finally succumbing 30 to 12.

East Jordan appeared to be nervous during the whole game causing fumbles, and intercepted passes. Inland Lakes took seven of them in the game they dominated. The nervousness was apparent for the Bulldogs too as they lost a few fumbles to the East Jordan defensive crew.

An 18 yard pass ended the drive that started with an interception of a pass that was supposed to go to East Jordan's John Buick but was taken instead by the Bulldogs' Todd Juntunen. That 18 yarder finished up a 12 play drive for the Bulldogs first score.

But East Jordan came right back scoring on a Buick to Rich Raymond 48 yard pass that came on a fourth down attempt making the score 8 to 6. The Red Devils conversion attempt failing by an interception.

The Bulldogs added to their score on another long pass play that set up the score with a one yard run in for the touchdown. The two point attempt failed leaving the score 14 to 6 at the end of the first half.

The second half started with a fumble as East Jordan got the kickoff, ran a play and fumbled it away to Ernie Hartzell who scooped up the ball and ran it into the endzone for another six points for the Bulldogs. This time the two pointer attempt worked making the score 22 to 6.

Another interception by Juntunen set up the last TD for the Bulldogs when they took the ball in after six plays moving it downfield on passes and runs. Mike Newman took the ball in from the five on a slant play.

East Jordan tried to make a comeback and added their last points of the game on the last play of the game. The drive started when the Red Devils picked up a fumble with just a few seconds and two minutes left in the game, drove the ball upfield in nine plays and let Scott Meade, who normally plays tackle, line up as a back, run the ball in from the one yard line.

With eight seconds left, the Bulldogs just received the kickoff and waited for the end with lots of high fives, jumping for joy, and looking forward to meeting Rudyard next week at Cheboygan.

Sponsors needed

The Avalanche Cross-Country race committee is looking for sponsors for the sixth annual race to be held in conjunction with the Smeltania Festival next January.

Interested parties are asked to notify Tim Clifton at the City offices.

Falls falls to Alanson

BY PAUL THEISEN

After getting off to a slow start, Alanson built a 6-4 advantage over Boyne Falls and the Loggers fell behind and failed to catch up at last Thursday's game.

By halftime the Vikings had pulled in 19 points and the Loggers only had five because of missed baskets, turnovers and all the other things that can keep a team down.

Third period scores were much the same thing as the Loggers continued behind the Alanson quintet 36-23. The final score ended up being 66-40 with the Loggers at the low end.

For Boyne Falls, Sharon Franckowiak had 13 points and Kim Mikula added 7. Alanson's Dawn Gerber pulled in 18 points and Lori Hofbauer had 10 to complete the list of high scorers for the evening.

Boyne Falls takes Vanderbilt 55-35

BY PAUL THEISEN
 Tuesday night action at Vanderbilt, was a 20 point defeater for Boyne Falls. Although the Loggers were behind one point after the first period, they made consistent progress throughout the game. At the end of the first quarter the scores were 12-11. At the half the Logger girls had a 26-21 advantage over the Yellow Jackets, and at the end of the third period the points pulled up to 45-28. The final defeat over Vandy was 55-35. Boyne Falls high pointer for the evening was Kim Mikula with 19 points, and Sharon Frankowiak with 13. Lori Loshaw was Vanderbilt's high scorer having 15 points, while Lisa Fannon had 8.

BOYNE CITY ICE SKATING RINK SNOW REMOVAL

The City of Boyne City is accepting bids from persons or firms capable of clearing the snow from the City Ice Rink at the intersection of Jefferson and North Streets for the winter season of 1982/1983. Bids will be opened and publicly read on Friday, November 12, at 2:00 p.m. in the Office of the City Manager, City Hall, 319 North Lake Street, Boyne City.

Specifications:

1. Clear ice rink of snow by 9:00 a.m.
2. Rink to be plowed once per storm event. Should additional plowing be required, the City will notify. (A storm event will be the complete snow removal at the ice rink where snowfall accumulates two (2) inches or more.)
3. City reserves the right to terminate agreement should performance not be satisfactory.
4. The City reserves the right to reject any and all bids and to waive any irregularities.

City Manager
City of Boyne City

Bids Requested

BOYNE CITY Airport Snow Removal

The City of Boyne City is seeking sealed bids and proposals for the plowing of the Boyne City Municipal Airport for the winter of 1982/1983.

Contractors submitting bids are asked to bid a "per storm" price and an "additional" plowing rate. The combination of both proposals will be considered when awarding the bid.

The contractor submitting the most favorable proposal and ultimately awarded the bid will be required to enter into a formal contract with the City for this work.

SPECIFICATIONS ARE AVAILABLE AT BOYNE CITY, CITY HALL, 319 NORTH LAKE STREET.

ALL BIDDERS ARE REQUIRED TO ATTEND A PRE-BID CONFERENCE ON MONDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1982, at 2:00 P.M. IN THE OFFICE OF THE CITY MANAGER TO REVIEW REQUIREMENTS AND INSPECT LOCATIONS.

BIDS WILL BE ACCEPTED AT THE OFFICE OF THE CITY MANAGER, CITY HALL, 319 NORTH LAKE STREET, BOYNE CITY, UNTIL 2:00 P.M. ON FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1982, AT WHICH TIME THEY WILL BE PUBLICLY OPENED AND READ.

All bids shall be submitted in a sealed envelope clearly marked "Bid For Airport Plowing".

The City reserves the right to accept or reject any or all bids and to waive any irregularities.

swatting the Hornets of Pellston 49-27, in a game at the East Jordan gym.

The first quarter showed that the girls from both teams were off offensively as the score ended up in an 8 to 8 deadlock. The slow offense continued through the second quarter although East Jordan ended up with a four point lead going into the second half.

The sleeping Devils awakened in the third quarter, rolling to a 20-6 advantage in that period. They outscored the Hornets by four points in the final quarter, finishing up with a 22 point margin.

For Pellston, Jayne Schalsfreid had 13 points while the Devils were led by team scoring leader Joelyn Ingalls who had 15 points. Anne Crawford put in eight points and had nine rebounds. De-Ette Looze aided in the winning effort with six points.

This win pushed East Jordan's overall record to 11-5 for the season, 10-4 in the Ski Valley Conference race. This week East Jordan plays home and home games against Boyne Falls. Tuesday at Boyne Falls and Thursday at home.
